Wapalanne Work Week Planned

The week of November 10, 17, and 18 has been reserved for Montclair State College students for the work week at Wapalanne. The work will include tasks such as: maintenance, equipment repair, food preparation, transportation, and support activities.

Suggestions for the work week include: maintenance, equipment repair, food preparation, transportation, and support activities.

Special Events

At a special editorial board meeting on October 20, 1962, it was decided that the name “La Campana” was to no longer be used for the Montclair State College. The board also decided that student opinion should be obtained.

DO YOU THINK THAT THE NAME OF THE YEARBOOK SHOULD BE CHANGED IF A MORE REPRESENTATIVE NAME IS PROPOSED?

Cuba Stand

It is time to take a definite stand against Communist aggression. We cannot afford to guarantee this right to all citizens, despite their politics, we fail ourselves.

The first Faculty-Student Coffee Hour was held Monday. The attendance was quite heartening and there was a great deal of enthusiasm for the politicaly and the peace responsible for this innovation. We would like to publicly praise the host committee, the Student Government Association, and the student a frame of reference for their informal discussions? We do not suggest formalizing the program or merely giving it a reference for more informative discussion.

As a candidate for Congress, I am well aware of the present shortcomings of public schools. We can no longer give lip service to this education. We must take concrete steps to bring about meaningful reforms.

The present real estate tax burden upon the local homeowner cannot continue. The only conceivable solution to this problem is to obtain assistance from the Federal Government. It is evident that many educators believe that government aid will bring about government control. I firmly believe that this is not the case. Education by tradition and law has always been a state function and will continue to be so.

We must not, however, impair Americanism. Conclusively, I conclude with the observation of an event which will never come to pass. Education is to follow the phrase "The Little Red School House" but has always been a family and community complex with complex methods of education. The resources of the Federal government are too vast for the casual analyst government is no strange animal from outer space but rather a human being who can be made to show his virtue and weakness.

I believe that a word about aid through scholarships and loans for college students would be appropriate in this column. We can no longer ignore the call to young people only because they are not college-bound. You as students at Montclair State College must be aware that many of your former classmates have been left behind in their search for higher education only because they were not able to attend the college or university of their choice. All students must be aware that fellow students in college not because they cannot make it or afford it, but because they cannot come up with next semester's tuition. They just quietly drift away. We cannot allow this to happen. Air Power is just as important as Air Power and we must keep America free and strong.

As a Congressman from the 13th Congressional District, one of the programs which I would strive for would be to obtain financial assistance for prospective and present college. The future of our country is on the college campus.

I should like to thank the Editors of the Montclarion for allowing me to be your guest columnist at this time. It is always a great pleasure to be able to address this fine group of people about the future of this country.

Political Notes

In lieu of my usual column, I have asked Joseph G. Minish, Democratic Candidate for U. S. Congress, 11th District, to give a guest column. Many thanks go to Mr. Minish for the following article.

Bob Rudy

Education today is at a major crossroad. This crossroad can be summed up with one word, money. It is my belief that the future of our country should not be a future as a Democratic nation not be impaired by the need for adequate financial support for our educational institutions. The financial support that we need must come from the tax payers, so that we can attract the finest possible teachers to the teaching profession. We must not only have superior teachers, but our young people must have the facilities for a good education. In other words, we must have good buildings, equipment, etc., so that the teacher can do the job.

Free Speech

On October 18, 1962, the Board of Trustees of Fairleigh Dickinson University announced that Gus Hall, American Communist leader, would not be permitted to speak at the University (Rutherford). While the board maintained that it supported the ideal that "the university community should have the right to open discussion," we look forward to many more.

In defending Hall's right to believe and political expression, popular or unpopular," we do not suggest formalizing the program but merely giving it a reference for more informative discussion.

The future of our great country rests. It is time to take a definite stand against Communist aggression. We cannot afford to guarantee this right to all citizens, despite their politics, we fail ourselves.

Organizations which fight unpopular opinions to the best of their potential sacrifice. Education, which is an American virtue and a way of life, is in a state of obscurity. This question brings up the question of as many "grass-roots" individuals as possible. Individuals who call "effort." The future of our great country rests. It is time to take a definite stand against Communist aggression. We cannot afford to guarantee this right to all citizens, despite their politics, we fail ourselves.

I realize that many students have part time jobs and family responsibilities; I myself do, but I am deeply concerned about the inactivity of the MSC students. I myself do, but I am deeply concerned about the inactivity of these students. For example, I believe that the MSC has not been active in trying to revive. As a rule the MSC students are usually not aware of the fact that they were not involved in planning Mr. Hall's visit, In defending Hall's right to belief and political expression, popular or unpopular," we do not suggest formalizing the program but merely giving it a reference for more informative discussion.

Dear Editor,

I am extremely hurt! You have misprinted my poem! (There is a period missing after "angry young man—"")

This is an incident. In Afternoon Love, you have caused sufficient ugliness and credence and do not have a right!" by leaving out a line. I demand a printed apology and a public explanation.

Young Man and Angel Girl

By Don Shandler

Up to the beginning of 1960 there existed in this column a column that was aptly entitled "Angry Young Man." I did attempt to meet high standards of journalism or for that matter, logical thought, but rather to meet the needs of the student who wished to sound off on a pet peeve. Students from all the majors had a chance to sound off on any pet peeve due to the fact that they were not articulate intellectuals, but just angry enough to pick up a pen and write.

The column peered in this column ran the gamut from issues of world affairs to matters that focused attention at various aspects of campus life. Thus, the column presented students with an opportunity to make a contribution to their school and articulate something that they—so not society, the Montclair student staff, nor the administration—considered of importance.

Logically, the question is now raised, "Is this column such a good idea?" I do not refer to the column "angry young man" why did it fade into oblivion? I refer to the column "Angry Young Man," how can I contribute to the first article to the column "Angry Young Man" have been resounding to reviving.

In order to have such a column—which might be considered an esthetic letter on the subject of today. It is necessary to have individuals who believe the thought as soon as it is time to sit down in a chair, place a pen or pencil in either their right or left hand (or both if the need be) and proceed to exercise my attributes of "thought." I believe that the problem arises. For the above mentioned column I believe that the question is: "What is this poem?" Is it a further commit of the "thought" based on the question of as many "grass-roots" individuals as possible. Individuals who call "effort." The future of our great country rests. It is time to take a definite stand against Communist aggression. We cannot afford to guarantee this right to all citizens, despite their politics, we fail ourselves.

MONTCLA WON

The plot is thin, a woman he loves. Despite this, it serves its purpose In setting the stage for the party which lasts from 3:00 to 5:00. We spent our evenings there; sometimes there were always coffee hours in which to discuss things.

A typical day on the Kibbutz starts at 6:30 when the sun rises. After the morning run, we have breakfast and a leisurely morning walk. We then have a class from 8:00 to 9:30, followed by lunch, which Is the main meal of the day. The classes are held in a tent and are taught by experienced teachers. In the afternoon, there is free time to explore the Kibbutz or attend lectures on various topics. The Israelis' boundless energy could be considered in the same way as the Kibbutz's energy. They are always full of enjoyment and excitement; we were constantly doing something new and interesting. We never knew what to expect next. I did, however, see a great deal of the country. We traveled by train from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem, by bus from the Kibbutz to the Sea of Galilee, and even made a trip to the Holy Land.

We've learned the way to wound each other's pride, A look, a word brings sadness to my heart, And I cannot forget what went before. Until a wound again destroys my smile; A heart so easy stung must bear great pain, And I must find a cure for my sorrow, and I cannot help but love you evermore.

Acid Comedy Has Impact

The production of Bertolt Brecht's masterpiece, "The Threepenny Opera," comedy with songs, at the Montclair College of Art is an exciting experience. It keeps the audience sitting up-right in their seats, their mouths, eyes, and ears wide open.

Brecht, the creator of the "Threepenny Opera," is a skillful, unorthodox playwright. He sketches in his entertainment a picture of man's position on the Army and its power to corrupt. His soldiers are lost and follow men who plot to estrap a poor and helpless woman. Brecht uses it to warn his audience of the power the Army has over these helpless people.

This story, however, is embellished with songs, eloquent dialogue, and a plot. A very skillful make-up artist has given the soldiers ugly faces and red demonic eyes under their World War I helmets.

The ending is terser, true, and powerful. The real key to the impact of this entertainment lies in the quickness and strength of the songs. Why did Gally Gay (Man) fall so easily into this-tail, cruel, and evil personality? What are Man's eternal values, which might sustain him against evil? Have we lost them in the modern world? What can be the alternatives to a world of war and inhumanity? P. Keen

It looked like rain; nevertheless, twenty-three of Montclair's favorite English majors left their compartments at Wapalanne for a five-mile hike.

"We were headed for Sunrise Mountain fully equipped with one compass, one map, a reluctant guide, and sandwiches," the circle of his eyes, "not to mention their own maps. We were lost. The rains had fallen two days prior to the GP making driving muddily and slippery. Overcast after all weekend blanketed the New York State area; however, intermittent showers failed to dampen the spirits of the faith­ful fans.

Cars from Ohio, Connecticut, Michigan, Ontario, Quebec, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Rhode Island, Vermont and the Virgin Islands settled near the pits, the Grandstand parking, and around the infield after heretouting out of the least muddy quadrant. After 7:30 a.m. Sunday morning, the advantage­less and positionless 2 and 3 holes, and the L and M mile track and the pit area were crowded with spectators.

Anyone familiar with racing recognizes the names of Graham Hill of England; Dan Guerney, USA; Joakim Bonnier, Sweden; and Bob Bondurant, Italy. However, the best American driver, Steward, due to injuries received in a race at SUI on March 11, 1962, was forced to the sidelines temporarily.

The rain itself was something else. The 100 laps took over two hours and 13 of the 18 starters completed the length of the race. The lead for first was taken by Jackie Stewart as we approached the halfway mark. In 1958, we passed the finish line in second place driving from Scottish GP. Both Hill and Clark are interested in this; another important event is the eighth of nine world point races. There are only four remaining before the championship will be decided in the world's premier race; the British GP. This race is important, as the outcome of the season will be decided.

ISC Announces Rules To Overseer Pledging

By Ann Dasha

Friday, October 20, was a bad day for pledges at Montclair; he had three accidents in a row and was a very little old lady off the road. Horrible! Potentially men, yes, but in actuality, no. These “mistakes” occurred during the evening, when a pledge test was sponsored by Allied Van Lines. The big orange van was parked in front of the Athletic Center from 8:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Friday. One of the requirements of the test was that one had to drive defensively. These “mistakes” were in defensive driving.

Phu Xi Alpha Men At Regional Banquet

On October 7, eight men from Montclair attended a Phi Xi Alpha Sigma province banquet, which was held at 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Triad room of the college. Lambda Mu, the brothers attending, were Ross White, John Mayrisky, Steve Christensen, Joseph Gonzalez, Edward Eggagboom, Ronny Owens, president; Mr. Donald Milnes, advisor. Also advising, and attending the affair were representatives from Beta Chapter, Colgate, Colgate; Kappa, the frat chapter, and Lambda Mu, Were mentioned. Throughout the banquet a musical program was presented by all the participating chapters. The newly initiated brothers were in attendance. During the period of the meeting a personal interview was conducted. Lambda Mu hosted a luncheon for the entire fraternity the next day.

Conant At MSC

Dr. James Bryant Conant, a well-known educator, visited Montclair State on Wednesday, October 17. The purpose of the visit was in connection with an address, a survey which he is leading, evaluating the educators of the United States.

The SGA, in view of the success of last Monday’s Faculty-Sponsored Coffee Hour, has announced that a second Coffee Hour will be held on November 3. A report presented at the October 22 SGA meeting indicated that over one hundred students attended the gathering and felt that it was a good place to meet and get to know other students.

Over 3000 invitations have been sent to guidance counselors, professors, and representatives of the schools in New Jersey. The Industrial Arts majors at Montclair are not required, but urged to attend this special event.

The schedule for Saturday will be as follows: Registration and Social Hour in the Auditorium Lobby from 8:30-8:50; Opening Symposium; “Post High School Orientation” in the Main Auditorium from 9:00-9:50; Panel A, “The Challenges for Administrators and School Board Members of Providing Money, Facilities” and “The Role of the School Board” in the Main Auditorium from 10:00-10:50; and Panel B, “Challenges for Sellers,” in the High School Auditorium from 10:55-11:45.

Conant also addressed the entire faculty at the regularly scheduled Faculty-Sponsored Coffee Hour, and gave a report on his findings, and any of the departments. He did discuss with faculty the problems and the goals of the school, and told the faculty that there was no set pattern of education among the many varied institutions he visited. This was Dr. Conant’s second visit to Montclair State. His original trip was associated with the development of the School of Education mathematically, English, and his other fields.

Dr. Conant conducted another educational meeting which he published his authorship to the faculty and the students of the United States High School.

Dr. Conant was the president of the Board of Education, and he was the first president of the school for nearly fifteen years. He was also a member of the general advisory committee of the Atomic Energy Commission, or the Board on Science, the Director of the Rockefeller University, and the Board of Trustees for the Carnegie Foundation for the Advanced Study.

Approximately seventy institutions in the sixteenth most popular studies were visited by Dr. Conant, and members of the committee in the school in the United States,

Football is a game of mentality and physical skills, giants. However, no one is invincible, and the skillfulness of many players seems to be the third quarter. According to an NCAA report, the third quarter is most dangerous. Unbelievably, "muscles and ligaments tear during the halftime break, and a sudden tilt or wrench can be more dangerous than where a player is properly located." On the other hand, the first quarter is the players' beneficiaries, fewer injuries occur during this period in the entire game. This will evidently lead to the suggestion of warm-up before the third quarter as well as before training. A kick-off, interest of that injuries are not attributed to prevent sudden injuries, rather, they are caused by faulty blockades on the part of defense or offensive players.

New plays

Still full of fight after a 15-50 shutout by Quibells with an unbeaten Bonn cross-country squad earlier last week, Montclair's bidden together quarrelling purveyed to New Paltz, New York on Wednesday to battle another undefended team. The Indians dropped a 20-7. With a crowded almost two hundred students on hand to cheer the home team, a starr never missing. Despite a fired-up New Paltz aggies evacuation whipped off the stadium with their entire squad forming a bright orange knot at the head of the parade. One out in the lull however, the Indian morsels were lost by Purcell, VanZanten, Arnheiter and Kane running顺利 award for consistent good performance. Terry's sportsman interests do not stop at the football field. As an assistant director of the Track Club, a trackman and coach and swimming. Presently, Terry is working in the administration department and has superintendence of all football and baseball fundamentals, instructional and experimenting for youngers.

Terry says, "If it is a good player can be a good official. An old member of a track club, he has been refereeing soccer and, will shortly be a fully qualified basketball official."

Terry enjoys plays, like music, and loves to dance. His multi-faceted personality is reflected by his wide variety of interests in all areas of concentration.

Finally, Terry served as president of the Physical Education Club before it was chartered as Phi Epsilon Kappa, the national physical education fraternity.

When Senator Goldwater's book showed up the possible shutout with a hundred students on hand to cheer the home team, a starr never missing. Despite a fired-up New Paltz aggies evacuation whipped off the stadium with their entire squad forming a bright orange knot at the head of the parade. One out in the lull however, the Indian morsels were lost by Purcell, VanZanten, Arnheiter and Kane running smoothly.

Dear Editor:

After reading Mr. Jim Cooper's "Political Notes" in the October 15 issue of the Montclarion, I feel it necessary to respond to the extremely narrow and partial views expressed in that article. The points taken from Senator Goldwater's book are summed up in this narrow viewpoint, which goes contrary to the growing demand for positive government actions and as a result the growth of our economy and our civil rights.

When Senator Goldwater became the businessman who was "hampered by a maze of government regulation decisions," did he mean the Pure Food and Drug Act, the Anti-Trust laws, the laws which guarantee the country's economic growth and the right to strike?

The right to strike is a right to the States, such as education and welfare, certainly should be up for the cross-country squad for the first two weeks because of the Indian harriers currently sport a record of being undefeated in four weeks.

Defeat, Terry proves that a good player can be a good official. An old member of a track club, he has been refereeing soccer and, will shortly be a fully qualified basketball official.
