Cosla Art

The paintings now on exhibition in the Student Life building are a part of the collection donated to the college last year by Dr. and Mrs. Costa of New York City. The thirty-four pictures are on loan to the college. They will be shown as an exhibit entitled "French Portraits from the Sixteenth-Century" beginning November 21 and lasting through December 17.

Mr. Virnacwia and Mr. Watlsh of the Fine Arts Department spent over two hundred and fifty hours working with students from both the Fine and Industrial Arts Departments preparing the portraits for exhibition. Some of the work involved included reconditioning and reframing frames, mounting the pictures, vanishing and cleaning the pictures for presentation at the exhibition.

Wapalanne Worries

Due to financial difficulties, Camp Wapalanne may not be able to offer a spring work week this year. The possibility may even exist that the work weeks be discontinued altogether.

In considering that food and lodging are provided for Friday evening wards, in addition to Saturday and Sunday, one can imagine the cost for heating the buildings, employing a staff, and allowing seconds and thirds on food. The chance, nevertheless, may even exist that the work weekends be discontinued altogether.

If no student members are interested in working for Wapalanne, the work weekends may be used to work on the college campus. The college committee, of which Dr. T. Norris is chairman, would be quite willing to provide an extra-curricular unit for students interested in working for Wapalanne. Naturally, a full time director would be necessary, and if students hold more meetings and social activities in Wapalanne, staff members would be required. However, if students hold more meetings and social activities in Wapalanne, staff members would be required. For those students, however, who enjoy getting away from the fast pace of college life to a different atmosphere and who appreciate a relaxing, enjoyable weekend plus a small amount of physical labor in the fresh air, it is hoped a Wapalanne work weekend will be held this spring.

To the Editor:

I would like to express the appreciation of a number of dormitory students to the faculty of the Dormitory Committee, for their meeting with us, and the selection and the quality of food that was available. Despite this, however, the cafeteria clocks were not replaced, and only a few students are refused admittance to the dining room. This is especially true when dealing with off-campus students who must rely on the cafeteria for their meals.
Engle Reads Poetry
In Assembly Program

Following an introduction by Mr. Janes Pettit of the English department, Paul Engle, noted poet, spoke on poetry from Iowa State, began his lecture by outlining the nature of the rhyming, homorganic expressiveness as a speaker at a women's assembly. Mr. Engle then proceeded to deny the popular conception of poetry as a floating out enjoying himself, I stated, rather, that literature is a blend of the past experiences of the author and their current state of extraneous utterance. According to this definition, poetry must enter into a great poem, some­thing, which, if I'm not mistaken, is to be fitted, quotes the poet's mind, and the poem is to be the integration of past experiences and new ideas. The poet writes in such a modified, natural language pattern to convey the reader the impact of his experience. If only the expression is employed, an emotional out­pouring conveys nothing of an inferior work of art. The heart must be tempered and controlled by the mind, by the accurate and characteristic expression, and to explain intensity in writing, Engle cited from Flasher! of Madrona Bailey, The passages where Em­3 told a story from her lover and later when she takes poison.

King of the Cretan urn[1] was then mentioned to examine the old ja­vism, I suggested that the reader of poetry as a "spontaneous out­pouring of the mind" which "seizes upon the moment" will be my love.

The evening was spent square dancing and sitting around the fire in Kittatay Hall (the school high school group that left early that afternoon).

There were a disappointing few who arrived that day to Wapalanne that Friday afternoon, but we were in high spirits because we anticipated at least two other groups of college students participating in the work-weekend event. We were definitely achieved our goal.
