Program Notes

Dance Capriccio (2011)

Dance Capriccio was commissioned by the Maxine and Stuart Frankel Foundation in honor of Lois Beznos, the President of Chamber Music Society of Detroit. The work was written for Peter Serkin and the Shanghai Quartet, who premiered the work on February 11, 2012, at the Seligman Performing Arts Center in Detroit.

Dance Capriccio is inspired by the dance folk music of Sherpa, a small ethnic group (population ca. 150,000) mostly living in western Nepal, in the high mountains of the Himalayas. In Tibetan language, Sherpa means “people of the east,” as it is believed Sherpa moved from eastern Tibet to their current site centuries ago. Sherpa are regarded as excellent mountaineers and guides for expeditions of the Himalayas, especially Mt. Everest.

Sherpa language is essentially an atypical dialect of Tibetan. The same phenomenon is reflected in Sherpa folk music, which is similar to Tibetan but with its distinctive characters and twists of melodic turns. Like the Tibetans, Sherpa people love to dance, and along with love songs and drinking songs, dance music is an important genre among Sherpa folk music.
In Dance Capriccio, I try to capture the various characters of Sherpa dance, from slow to fast, tender to raucous, even wild.

This work is dedicated to Maxine and Stuart Frankel, my dear friends and passionate patrons and promoters for arts and art education.

About the Artists

Shanghai Quartet

Renowned for its passionate musicality, impressive technique, and multicultural innovations, the Shanghai Quartet has become one of the world’s foremost chamber ensembles. Its elegant style melds the delicacy of Eastern music with the emotional breadth of Western repertoire, allowing it to traverse musical genres including traditional Chinese folk music, masterpieces of Western music and cutting-edge contemporary works.

Formed at the Shanghai Conservatory in 1983, the Quartet has worked with the world’s most distinguished artists and regularly tours the major music centers of Europe, North America, and Asia. Recent festival performances range from the International Music Festivals of Seoul and Beijing to the Festival Pablo Casals in France and the Beethoven Festival in Poland as well as numerous concerts in all regions of North America. The Quartet has appeared at Carnegie Hall in chamber performances and with orchestra; in 2006 they gave the premiere of Takuma Itoh’s Concerto for Quartet and Orchestra in Isaac Stern Auditorium. Among innumerable collaborations with noted artists, they have performed with the Tokyo, Juilliard, and Guarneri Quartets; cellists Yo-Yo Ma and Lynn Harrell; pianists Menahem Pressler, Peter Serkin, Jean-Yves Thibaudet, and Yuja Wang; pipa virtuoso Wu Man; and the vocal ensemble Chanticleer. The Shanghai Quartet has been a regular performer at many of North America’s leading chamber music festivals, including Maverick Concerts where it recently made its 28th consecutive annual appearance.

The Quartet has a long history of championing new music and juxtaposing traditions of Eastern and Western music. With more than 30 commissioned works, their recent premieres include Du Yun’s Tattooed in Snow (2015), Zhao Lin’s Red Lantern (2015) for pipa and string quartet, and String Quartet No. 12, Fantasia notturna by William Bolcom (2017). The Quartet’s 30th-anniversary season in 2013 brought five new commissions: Bullycide by David Del Tredici; Fantasie by Australian composer Carl Vine; a concerto for string quartet and symphony orchestra by Jeajoon Ryu; Verge Quartet by Lei Liang; and Scherzo by Robert Aldridge, commissioned by Yu Long and the Beijing Music Festival. Their 25th-anniversary season featured commission works by Penderecki (String Quartet No. 3: Leaves From an Unwritten Diary), Chen Yi (From the Path of Beauty), Vivian Fung, and jazz pianist Dick Hyman. The Penderecki quartet was premiered at the composer’s 75th-birthday concert, followed by numerous performances worldwide. They performed it again at the composer’s 80th-birthday celebration and for his 85th-birthday concert in November 2018, where the Shanghai Quartet performed String Quartets Nos. 2, 3, and 4 at the Royal Castle in Warsaw. Chen Yi’s From the Path of Beauty, co-commissioned with Chanticleer, premiered in San Francisco, with performances at Tanglewood, Ravinia, Beijing, and Shanghai. Other important commissions and premieres include works by Bright Sheng, Lowell Lieberman, Sebastian Currier, Marc Neikrug, and Zhou Long. The tradition continues during their 35th-anniversary season with Judith Weir’s March, premiered at the Quartet’s Wigmore Hall debut in London in February 2019; Tan Dun’s revised Feng Ya Song (String Quartet No. 1), premiered at Dartmouth’s Hopkins Center for the Arts the same month; and a forthcoming work by Wang Lei. The Shanghai Quartet has an extensive discography of more than 30 recordings, ranging from the Schumann and Dvořák piano quintets with Rudolf Buchbinder to Zhou Long’s Poems from Tang for string quartet and orchestra with the Singapore Symphony (BIS). Delos released the Quartet’s most popular disc, Chinasong, a collection of Chinese folk songs arranged by Yi-Wen Jiang reflecting on his childhood memories of the Cultural Revolution in China. The complete Beethoven
String Quartets, a highly praised, seven-disc project, can be heard on an acclaimed Camerata set, released in 2009.

A diverse and interesting array of media projects include a cameo appearance playing Bartók’s String Quartet No. 4 in Woody Allen’s film Melinda and Melinda, and PBS television’s Great Performances series. Violinist Weigang Li appeared in the documentary From Mao to Mozart: Isaac Stern in China, and the family of cellist Nicholas Tzavaras was the subject of the film Music of the Heart, starring Meryl Streep. The Shanghai Quartet is the subject of a documentary film, Behind the Strings, currently in production, to be released in 2019.

The Shanghai Quartet performs on four exceptional instruments by Goffriller, Guarneri, and Stradivari, generously loaned through the Beare’s International Violin Society, to honor the quartet’s 35th Anniversary. The instruments will be featured in eight cycles of the complete Beethoven String Quartets throughout the world. The Shanghai Quartet currently serves as Quartet-in-Residence at the John J. Cali School of Music at Montclair State University, Ensemble-in-Residence with the Shanghai Symphony Orchestra, and visiting guest professors of the Shanghai Conservatory and the Central Conservatory in Beijing. They are proudly sponsored by Thomastik-Infeld Strings and BAM Cases.
