The paintings now on exhibition in the Student Life building are a part of the collection donated to the college last year by Dr. and Mrs. Costa of New York City. The thirty-four pictures are on loan to the college. They will be shown as an exhibit entitled "French Portraits from the Sixteenth to the Nineteenth Century," beginning November 21 and lasting through December 17. Mrs. Zinck of the Fine Arts Department spent over two hundred and fifty hours working with students from both the Fine and Industrial Arts Departments preparing the portraits for exhibition. Some of the work involved isolated reconditioning and re-building frames and mats the pictures, varnishing and cleaning the pictures for presentation at the exhibition.

Cohen, McMenamin Receive Scholarships

Two scholarships covering all expenses except tuition have been awarded for the Field Study in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands December 24-31, 1962. One scholarship, for which a Junior Social Studies major was eligible, has been awarded by the Trustees of the Fields Studies Trust Income Account to Fred J. McMenamin, Jr. Another scholarship, for which students in the Spanish Department were eligible, has been awarded by the Faculty Committee on Scholarships to Judy Cohen.

The Puerto Rican Field Study will have its headquarters in San Juan where it will visit the University of Puerto Rico, the Governor's Palace, the slums, the housing projects, and many other points of interest in the city and its outskirts. It will also explore a tropical rain forest, the beautiful island of Vieques, and Banana Sound, Penne, Italian Governor, the Phosphorheon Bay, Mayaguez, and plantation of sugar, tobacco and pineapple. One day will be spent in St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands.

A visit to Puerto Rico is a critical and sometimes difficult period in which many people in the area have a chance to see Puerto Ricans first hand in Puerto Ricans. It is a good basis for understanding the territorial problems they have been facing in migrating from a beautiful, Spanish-cultured, tropical island to the realities of the New metropolitan region.

There will be a 3:30 coffee hour on November 27th for all seniors and faculty members. A visit to Puerto Rico Is a good experience for both the fine and industrial arts departments, Mr. Eto said that he has been visited by Mr. and Mrs. Davis, the department's head of the New York Philharmonic, and that he has been played by experts for the first time in the history of the Montclair faculty.

Mr. Elgart has been invited to the University of Puerto Rico to give a demonstration of the six-foot long wooden instrument.

The SGA's coffee hour, held November 23, 1962, again attracted well over one hundred students and faculty members. The SGA's coffee hour is the most popular event of the week, and it is a sound, a direction, and an idea of its own. They had collectively the committee then in charge of the Coffee Hour seems to be meeting its purpose.

In the past, nearly 200 students have been sent abroad; among them are numerous leaders in the field of education in New Jersey and the United States.

The event spent over two hundred and fifty hours working with students from both the Fine and Industrial Arts Departments preparing the portraits for exhibition. Some of the work involved isolated reconditioning and re-building frames and mats the pictures, varnishing and cleaning the pictures for presentation at the exhibition.

Wapalanne Worries

Due to financial difficulties, Camp Wapalanne may not be able to offer a spring work weekend this year. The possibility may even exist that the work weekends be discontinued altogether.

In considering that food and lodging are provided for Friday evening, in addition to Saturday and Sunday, one can imagine the cost for heating the buildings, employing a staff, and providing food on site. This expense doubles when one realizes that all this is in charge for only one day's work in return, and not even a full day's work at that.

Despite this harrassment, very few students have taken advantage of the opportunity made available to them. During the past weekend, held two weeks ago, only a dozen students participated; others had signed up but did not show on Friday. Perhaps it is also felt that not enough interest has been shown in the past and is not possible worthwhile to the camp in the actual work accomplished by so few.

For those students, however, who enjoy getting away from the fast pace of college life to a different atmosphere and who appreciate a relaxing, enjoyable weekend plus a small amount of physical labor in the fresh air, it is hoped a Wapalanne work weekend will be held this spring.

Life for All

Wapalanne was a community built by and for the students of Montclair State College. It has served as a real training ground for the students, and has produced many happy students. It is not only a place where students can relax, but it is also a place where they can learn a great deal.

The Wapalanne community was founded in 1934 by a group of students who were interested in creating a place where they could live and work together. They wanted to be able to learn from each other and to help each other.

The community was located on 40 acres of land in the Scotch Plains section of New Jersey. It was home to about 200 students who lived there during the summer months.

The community was divided into five sections: the house, the kitchen, the dining hall, the store, and the workshop.

The house was the center of the community. It was where the students lived and slept. The kitchen was where they prepared their meals. The dining hall was where they ate. The store was where they bought their supplies. And the workshop was where they worked on various projects.

The community was run by a group of students who were elected by their peers. They were responsible for making all the decisions about what would happen in the community.

The community was a place where students could learn a great deal. They learned about teamwork, leadership, and responsibility. They also learned about the importance of hard work and dedication.

The community was a place where students could have fun. They could play sports, sing, and dance. They could also enjoy the outdoors and the beauty of the surrounding countryside.

The community was a place where students could make lifelong friends. They could bond over their shared experiences and form lasting relationships.

The community was a place where students could escape from the stresses of college life. They could relax and unwind away from the demands of their coursework.

The Wapalanne community was a place where students could truly be themselves. They could explore their interests and passions without feeling judged or pressured.

The Wapalanne community was a place where students could grow and develop. They could learn new skills, challenge themselves, and become better people.

Wapalanne was a place where students could make a difference. They could help each other, support each other, and work together to create a better world.

The Wapalanne community was a place where students could find a sense of purpose and meaning. They could work towards a common goal, and feel a sense of fulfillment and accomplishment.

The Wapalanne community was a place where students could find a sense of family. They could come together and form a strong bond, and feel like a part of something greater.

The Wapalanne community was a place where students could create memories that would last a lifetime. They could cherish the experiences they shared, and recall the times they spent together with fondness.

Wapalanne was not just a community; it was a way of life. It was a place where students could learn, grow, and thrive. It was a place where they could find a sense of purpose and belonging. It was a place where they could create a legacy that would last for generations to come.
Wapalanne

There were a disappointing few who bore up well on their way to Wapalanne that Friday afternoon, but we were in high spirits because we anticipated at least two other groups of college students participating in the work-weekend. However, when on our arrival we found only one other group—a small group of girls and a mere handful of students from Jersey City State. Nonetheless, we determined to make the best of the situation, acquaint ourselves with our new friends, and enjoy ourselves. We most certainly achieved our goal. We spent most of the weekend eating, drinking, and enjoying the company of our new acquaintances. We played several movies, did some staking out, and even managed to set a fire in Kittatiny Hall (the high point of the weekend).

After several movies were shown at Kittatiny Hall, the high school group had a square dance and while the college students retreated to Timbers and sat around the fireplace singing songs and telling stories, the college group went on to write some poetry and generally getting to know each other.

The next day we returned to Wapalanne. We played a game of hide and seek and generally trying to catch up on as much sleep as we could. We spent the afternoon making the ball buzz with activity. The only one who remained wide awake (and even then only because he had to) was the bus driver.

Poet's Corner

I've tasted ecstasy
How can I savor happiness?
I've tasted the clouds
How can my lips grasp the earth?
I've touched love
How can I hold fondness?
Half-caught am I*
Having tasted the pure fire
Can I no longer be satisfied
With a peaceful desire.

The Newman Club of Montclair in cooperation with the Women's Interest on Friday, February 9, and at St. Paul's Abbey in Newton, New Jersey

The men of Sigma Delta Phi participated in the New Jersey Women's oat program at St. Paul's Abbey in Newton, New Jersey.

At 10:30 a.m. we began our program with a reading of the work of the 17th century German poet, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe. The reading was followed by a discussion of his works and of the influence they have had on modern literature.

The program concluded with a talk by Mr. Engle on the work of the 19th century French poet, Victor Hugo. Mr. Engle stressed the importance of Hugo's work in the development of modern poetry and his influence on later writers.

The program was well received and the audience was grateful for the opportunity to hear such fine poetry.
Smoke Signals...

Spirit is an abstract word. It has many meanings both in and out of context. In sub-division number 12 of the definitions offered in Webster's New International Dictionary, the word is described as meaning "enthusiastic loyalty; as school, class, or college spirit." Being one who does not believe in black or white, either-or, or the opposite.

I do not believe that the lack of school spirit is complete or that the low level of observable spirit such as the absence of fans at athletic events is a permanent one,

Henry Schmidt, coordinator of athletics, has announced that Pete Capitano of Bayonne and Frank Votto of Newark have been selected co-captains of Montclair State College's varsity basketball team for the 1962-63 season.

values and understanding of self and others, is not always centered in the home. These are only a few of the reasons why Home Economics has been placed in our public schools.

Yes, Mr. Magee, we are living in a world of struggle between "life and death," yet in our educational race with the Soviet Union, let's not forget our youth is also a human being. An individual who lives with others, has feelings, emotions, and who during his public school years is forming his values, ideals, and life purposes. All the youth to settle his own inner turmoil and struggles before you ask him to accept and settle the worlds. Science, Mathematics, and other major courses, I agree, are important for our technological and international strength. Yet, does not part of our strength also come from the family unit and the secure home? I believe, there is a place in our American educational system for the development of both the intellectual and the emotional aspects of the child, one cannot be sacrificed for the other. The goal of our educational system is to prepare the student for all the roles he is going to play in life.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
