T he Montclair campus is a busy place where students and persons come and go regularly. It is the place where students and teachers, faculty, and staff collaborate to build a community that fosters learning and growth. The campus is a constant source of activity and is the focal point of many real problems. The decision to centralize all campus operations is a constant source of stress and inconvenience for everyone. The campus is designed to accommodate the needs of the students, faculty, and staff, and to provide a safe and welcoming environment for everyone who enters its gates. It is a place where students and faculty can learn and grow together, and where the community can come together to celebrate its shared values and traditions. The Montclair campus is a place of learning, growth, and discovery, where the future is shaped by the dreams and aspirations of its students and faculty. The Montclair campus is a place where the community can come together to celebrate its shared values and traditions, and to create a vibrant and dynamic future for all who call it home.

Donation Made To CDF

The College Development Fund recently received an anonymous contribution of $500 for the works of the Art Program. The money goes to the Art Acquisition Committee, a faculty-student group organized to purchase art objects for Montclair State College campuses. Working diligently at this endeavor in the faculty represented by Dr. Hall, Dr. Calca, Dr. Earley, Mrs. Garland, Dr. Kampf, Mr. McGee, Miss Ponec, Mr. Sprei, and Dr. Wygant. The student body is represented by Gerald Goodman, David Fisher, George Schmidt, and Robert Schwetteler.

SGA Grant

"Our need was great. Rebuilding had been erected on our campus since the depression of 1929. Yet in those years our enrollment had grown to 1000 undergraduates and 400 graduate students. To teach and house them, we had no men's dormitory, no assembly hall, only an improvised cafeteria. In every way, classroom, equipment, offices, our plant had become totally outdated."

When these conditions, which were typical of many small colleges throughout the country, were brought to public attention, some action was finally taken. In New Jersey a bond was issued which provided these colleges with much needed cash. With this increased state aid and with careful planning and assistance, SGA has made great strides in improving its campus and facilities so that things are as we know them today. The SGA feels that the $10,000 allotment to the College Development Fund will become "the best possible college in New Jersey."

Wayfarers To Appear At MIT: Folk Group Hails From Montclair

by Frank Johnson

To those of us who have followed with delight the rather creative and energetic folk-singing groups as the Kingston Trio and others, it is pleasant indeed to hear that a new group of young men, it seems an impossible feat to be able to achieve their status of popularity and fame. Yet, we know there will be others to take their places and to follow in their footsteps. Folk-singing is not dead and plenty of people will stand (and record sales and personal appearance turns out to prove it) while the folk singer is not dying; on the contrary it is more alive than ever.

An even bigger evidence of the increased popularity of folk-singing groups is the springing up of literally hundreds of college groups. Right here at Montclair the who's who are battle groups for what may very well be the first hit folk-group. Although the four freshman music majors have formed an actual group under their own names; "The Wayfarers," they have moved over the boundary line of pastime and have stepped into professional singing. They have taken the initiative to carry their pastime one step further, which is not the result of the fact that they even try to present a program twice. They were received enthusiastically at the successful Freshman Dinner held last evening and were very impressive at the Freshman Assembly held Tuesday, January 8, incidentally, they were so good at the assembly program that they were called back for an encore of three additional songs.

It is evident that those who heard the Wayfarers already, were very pleased with the group. Already, they have obtained the encouragement and interest of President Partridge and Dean Blanton. After their engagements at MIT and Boston College, the boys will do a show at Castor Tech in New York. They have previously performed at Mount Carmel Church in Jersey City. At the present, they are in the process of working on details for an engagement in New York City.

The boys are very able musicians who are writing their own music and arranging most of it. Their scope will encompass folk songs from throughout the world, spirituals, popular hits, and new and thus a little "barbershop quartet music." Without support they have found here at Montclair and elsewhere, it is hoped the Wayfarers will go far. Let us all get behind this group of determined folk-singers and then see what happens.

The Wayfarers have been signed to sing at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and at Boston College. This is the step further mentioned before. Most college groups knock around for a while, sing a couple of times on their campuses and then fade out. For some reason they lack determination or support. But "The Wayfarers" have plenty of determination and are gradually earning support.

This is where we come in, as fellow students of The Wayfarers. As of now the group has appeared on campus twice. They were received enthusiastically at the successful Freshman Dinner held last evening and were very impressive at the Freshman Assembly held Tuesday, January 8, incidentally, they were so good at the assembly program that they were called back for an encore of three additional songs. It is evident that those who heard the Wayfarers already, were very pleased with the group. Already, they have obtained the encouragement and interest of President Partridge and Dean Blanton.

From Where I Sat ....

by Charlatna Petrus

"The Sun is Up" brings high quality of acting to the screen, the film as a whole leaves something to be desired. Produced and directed by George Stevens. "Place in the Sun" is based on an American Tragedy; a novel by Theodore Dreiser. The original theme has been updated and reinterpreted, partly for its own sake.

The movie concerns a confused, ambitious young man, George Eastman (Montgomery Clift), who works in his rich uncle's hardware store. The clausious and wealthy girl with whom he is in love, Angela Vossler (Elizabeth Taylor), and the simple, overwhelming unattractive girl who threatens to take him down and destroy him, Alice (Shelley Winters), upon learning that Alice is pregnant, George keeps putting off the wedding. However, whereupon Alice calls him at Angeline exposure and threats to expose him, indecision. George plans to drown her, finds he can't, and is then found guilty of murder when she does drown. It is never really certain, even to George himself, whether or not he killed her.

Unfortunately, if one had not read Dreiser's novel, there would be a negligible amount of confusion surrounding George's back-ground. He is not exactly the usual hero. George is a superficial veneer that never goes very deep. He is supposed to be rather intelligent, but his behavior after the drowning certainly lacks reasoning; his character is Inevitable.

Elizabeth Taylor is well-suited to play the part of the extra-ordinarily unsophisticated socialite, and Shelley Winters gives an equally good portrayal of a character whose pathetic nature acts-ually becomes amusing to the audience as well as to George Eastman, although I doubt whether Dreiser ever expected for the part to be played in such a manner. Shirley also provides the experimental directorial technique, and he manages to set the atmosphere right, for lack of the fading out of scenes and ones that are not quite sure what effect he was striving for.

In short, the acting is good and the atmosphere is well defined, but I still have the feeling that new I would like to find a compromise between the somewhat, very American Tragedy and the rather superficial "Place in the Sun."

For quite some time now, many people have been speculating as to the fate of College Hall, built, in 1871, as the admimission building. There have been rumors that the state wishes to tear down the building, which is considered to be obsolete.

To many alumni of MGC, the old building, known as College Hall, was their whole

"college life." This was their stomping ground, their "Life Hall." To tear down the Ad Building now would be a blow to many students who are still in their tradition and feelings for MGC.

The controversy over this building has been carried on for several months, with the state deciding to hire a team of engineers to study the building and to report its findings.

The engineers have completed their study and have advised the state that the building need not be torn down. They further announced that under certain conditions the building could be restored to its original form.

Now the state has definitely indicated that the building will stay. Furthermore, President Partridge has announced that the building will be used as a library, and that the state is planning to give the building a complete renovation.

The first phase of the operations will concern the exterior of the building. This will consist of the installation of new windows on the exterior and the wooden window frames which were originally in the building. This, too, will be a major project, according to President Part-tridge and Mr. Shepler. They have project the work will be completed by the end of the regular spring term.

The second phase of construction will concern the interior of the building. This phase is projected to be completed by the end of the summer term.

In the building, the present university-owned and library offices will become the main libary and main entrance. Contrary to the present situation, the libraries will be on the second floor of the building, and an outside room will be used as the main entrance. Outside, there will be an entrance to the basement, where there is an entrance to the basement from the boiler room. A bridge, therefore, will be constructed extending from the main floor to the ground, where there is an entrance to the basement.

The significance of this project does lie in its invaluable aid to the college expansion program. By the time the remodeling program is completed, College Hall will be a library with four classrooms and lecture halls as part of the existing classrooms which are presently in use. As a part of this project, Montclair College will be able to accept approximately 460 more undergraduate students.

In any case, the building is in such a state of repair that it will be possible to get under way this summer, and be completed by the beginning of the fall term of the remaining side.

The four rooms which are now the offices will be converted to regular one-story rooms, two of them to be class-room space on the second floor.

Next there will be a rezoning of the four rooms on the me-sage sides of the building. The whole section will be two floors.

By the time the remodeling project is completed, College Hall

Montclair's grapplers pulled their last win of the season against Albany State 18-15, to remain unbeaten with one tie, here against Newark State on Jan. 29. There should be no excuse for having too much work; just get out and support your team. WRESTLING TEAM OFF TO A GREAT START

Meanwhile, the men were adding their second win to their season's schedule by defeating Albany State before a very good crowd. It looks like wrestling can bring a lot of interest. The team was off, establishing ball team In an over-coming with their brute strength.

SCORES IMPORTANT PIN

With two minutes left in the 147 pound match against Albany's Mike Bartley being held by Albany's John Sennett 8-2, But Bartley pulled a surprise reversal and gained a pin by decision; most points, 17, in the 137 pound weight class. The score of his match was 5-1. Now let's see what excitement good wrestling can bring. There are some outstanding individuals to form a very well rounded team at Montclair.

Comeay, 8-7. Pat had to fight from behind, for he was losing 7-4 to Albany's Art Brunelle. The match score was 13-10. Pat surprised the Albany fans when he had a terrific reversal In 1:27 of the third period. This was an important win for alba- ny for it gave them a 15-13 lead going Into the final match, heavy weight.

MOORE FIGHTS TO DRAW

Indian Bob Moore fought to a draw in the 147 pound class against Albany's Art Brunelle. The only points in the match were scored in the first period when Brunelle got a takedown for 2 points and Bob managed a reverse for 1. The final scoring end- ing at 5-2. Each team thus re-ceived 2 points. The match score now being 7-5, Montclair.

John Wytowid, of Albany, de- feated 137 pound Doug Tockue, 4-6. Albany's Wally only scored in the final period on a reversal, giving Montclair a lead by a point two matches, 5-4.
