Thomas H. Richardson, offici­ally assumptiones the duties of President of Montclair State College, September 14.

Dr. Richardson, who is 45, is a vigorous, energetic man who often spends fourteen hours daily in performing his duties as president while maintaining as much contact with the students and their activities as possible. He believes that a college president's job is to know what is happening in his institution, and to have a sound working relationship with the students in the only way to cope with their needs and problems.

Dr. Richardson was born in Haverhill, Massachusetts, and received a bachelor of science degree from Oswego State College. He completed his master's and doctorate degrees at Columbia University Teachers College.

Before assuming his presidential duties, Dr. Richardson was a professor of education at Montclair State and dean of Jersey City State College.

Construction Program to Furnish College With Added Facilities

Montclair State College campus this fall has been changed drastically since last June. In an attempt to improve the physical facilities, the parking areas, and the cafeteria service, the College Administration has sponsored the largest single multi-purpose building campaign in the history of the college. This program has made available the return of football to our own campus, the building and expansion of the Fine and Industrial Arts building, and the construction of a new boiler house. As the facilities are completed the new boilers will be in evidence during the year.

The remodeling of College Hall is now within a week or so of final completion. Additional telephone lines have been added to College Hall.

The library has been completely reconverted over which foundation which will permit efficient drainage. A cyclone fence has been installed around the whole football field area for purposes of traffic control and regulated admission. This achievement is a credit to several different organizations. Of the total cost of over $94,000, $61,000.00 was contributed by the Margin for Excellence, $7,500.00 by the Student Government Associated, $6,500.00 by State resources, and well over $2,000.00 worth of services by the college maintenance staff.

New facilities under construction are the addition to Paxeus Gymnasium (including the swimming pool) as well as the Speech Department, and additions to the Fine and Industrial Arts building. Although tennis courts are planned for construction next spring, new playing fields located behind the Finley Hall Library area have been added. These facilities include fields for the varsity baseball and soccer teams as well as for intramural field hockey.

The remodeling of College Hall is now within a week or so of final completion. Additional telephone lines have been added to College Hall.

An addition to the Grace Freeman Hall complex, and new drapes have been purchased for the Life Hall area.

New bleachers have been added for faster food preparation. New ranges and ovens have been added for faster food preparation and more efficient clean-up.

Although several items of construction were scheduled for both Chapin and Russ Halls, only the new ceiling in Chapin Hall has been completed. Money has been allocated for new bath facilities in Russ Hall, and this construction was completed during the year.

One construction project which will be in evidence during the year is the new boiler house. This project will be completed while full service is maintained for the college, since the new boiler house is being built around the old boiler house. As the facilities are completed the new boilers will be lighted one by one, as each new boiler is put into service.

New two parking lots capable of accommodating over 700 cars have been added to offer spaces lost because of construction of other changes. One is located behind Mallory Hall and is linked with the Lifey Hall Library with the new access.

Ciao, Dr. Krauss, Ciao!

As we begin a new school year, we of the Montclarion are faced with one additional challenge. Not only must we adjust to new classes, schedules, and professors, but we are also faced with the task of publishing the Montclarion, a responsibility accepted by the competent advice of Dr. Russell Krauss.

Dr. Krauss advised the Montclarion for many years and was later forced for personal reasons to give up his column. During his absence, because of inadequate student participation and lack of faculty support, the paper was allowed to degenerate. Dr. Krauss was asked by the college administration in 1964 to again assume his duties as adviser. It was with his help and guidance that members of the present editorial board and past board members have been able to re-establish the Montclarion as the college newspaper and as an active voice for the students.

It was through Dr. Krauss that the Montclarion was freed from the peril of the Justinian. He had been allowed to co-exist with its present standard. It was from Dr. Krauss' guidance that the editors and writers and the enthusiasm to improve the Montclarion. When that staff member could take example without his assistance, the Montclarion staff could have succeeded in the hurried, somewhat confusing period of orientation.

But, it was not here that Dr. Krauss' involvement with the paper ended. The phenomenon, Dr. Krauss, became much more than a student-advisor relationship. It became a personal involvement for all with professional standards. The editors and writers were deeply influenced by this teacher. His guidance provided us with inspiration. The expression "Dr. Krauss!" was screamed in anger, mumbled in frustration, but above all, regarded with respect, love, and admiration.

Welcome, Freshmen!

As freshman orientation comes to a close we of the Montclarion will take this opportunity to welcome the Class of 1970. The hurried, somewhat confusing period of orientation should have made each freshman aware of the challenges of the educational system. Claremont is wonderful; it is refreshing. However, this challenge is at times difficult to recognize, although it is always present. The challenge of the classroom is constantly present; it is made by both the teacher and the student. Failure to recognize the student's involvement may often result in a lack of acceptance of the classroom challenge. Challenge is so evident in extra-curricular activities. Each freshman is involved in one of the many organizations and excites the extra-curricular challenge.

We hope that each freshman takes an opportunity to accept the challenge presented at Montclair State College during the next four years. We hope that each will find his own rewards in accepting the challenge. And we hope that the challenge of college never becomes a burden. To the Class of 1970—Welcome.
