Chaplains Open New Offices In Campus Religious Center

The newly founded Inter-Faith Religious Center, the first of its kind on the New Jersey campus, was officially opened on Feb. 14, in the Cula room in the basement of Sprague library.

The center will be used for religious guidance as well as group discussions and meetings. Chapel services are sponsored by the campus in cooperation with the SGA. Participating clergy include the Rev. John Hargus of the Protestant Foundation, Rabbi Judah Schneier, advisor of the Star of David, and Rev. Father Thomas Madden, faculty of the Newman Apo­ doticle. Rev. Madden will be as­ ormerly a member of the Roman Catholic Immaculate Deception seminary in Darlington.

The establishment of the Inter-Faith Center is in response to an article by Joseph Kloza, pres­ need for a religious meeting place. Although no schedule of hours has been established, the center will be open several hours each day. Students will assist the center on a voluntary basis. The chaplains will be available for consultation several hours each week.

Reception To Fete Pres. Richardson

An informal reception will honor Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Rich­ ardson, upon Dr. Richardson's appointment to the Presidency of the college. The reception will be held at the Montclair Golf Club in East Orange on Wed., March 8, 1967 from 8:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. All faculty, staff, alumni, and members of the campus community are invited to attend. A donation of one dollar will be accepted at the door on the evening of the reception.

Guests will include representatives of the State College presidents and members of the New Jersey State Board of Education. Dr. Richardson officially assumed the responsibilities of the Presidency of Montclair State College on Sept. 1, 1966. Previous to that, he had been Acting President since Sept., 1965 when President E. De Alton Partridge took a leave of ab­ sence to take an executive po-­

Shandro Head 68 Yearbook

On Jan. 24, the La Campana Editorial board elected Robyn Shandro as the 68 year­ book. Robyn, a sophomore Span­ ish major from Manhasset, held the position of managing editor for the La Campana, 67. She is a member of Delta Omicron Pi.

Anita Garrity, a junior Eng­ lish major, has been selected as managing editor for the coming year. Anita, who is an active CLC member, is a member of Delta Theta Psi.

Other editorial and staff posi­ tions in the center were filled. All interested students should check in with the office of the student president, Tom Richardson.

Players To Present Pirandello Classic, 'Six Characters In Search Of An Author'

On March 2, 3, 4 and at a special matinee on March 6, Players will present Pirandello’s Six Characters In Search Of An Author, a Pulitzer Prize winner and a classic example not only of Pirandello’s finest works but also of the theatre of the absurd or that of the grotesque. Pirandello has written a play to end all plays. All this comes from the fact, that with its subjective complexity and irrationality, defies the glib interpretation of the stage and its actors. As such, in the twentieth century - the impotence of formal art, the investigation of nebulous but exploits its… an unconscious, and its relativist phi­ losophy, it is a monument to the self - torment in human intelli­

Fluorescent of the world. The work presents a highly strange fact of an author who refuses to let some of his char­ acters live through they have been bom in his fantasy. The fact that these characters, now having life in their veins, do not resign themselves to re­ maining excluded from the world. Yet they are detached from stage interactions but, where these six characters come from, yet they live on the stage in a mixture of tragedy and comedy, fantasy and reality in a hum­ man condition. The drama is conveyed by means of the char­ acters…characters which after the last spoken word into a world of reality no one knows except the six characters them­ selves.

Pirandello introduces his six characters of reality as they in­ teract with each other in the Pirandello work. They seek to con­ vict and the characters of the world. Life. Lambda Chi Delta Frat Begins Activity With Upward Bound Students

Every Saturday for the next ten weeks, twenty or thirty enthusiastic students from a Jersey City high school will meet with a group of equally enthusiastic college students on the Montclair campus. The high school students are members of Lambda Chi Delta fraternity who have elected to take the time to spend three hours with these high school students each week.

The Upward Bound program involved in the program spent last summer at MSC. This year they have participated in many of MSC's activities. The students are college preparatory students who are all interested in attending college or in some type of education beyond high school. Each week they meet at Saint Peter's College in Jersey City to receive help in preparation for the college board examinations. One of the students has been accepted at MSC for the term beginning next year.

In the Saturday program: a general discussion, a tutorial session, and a recreational period. During the general discussion period, the Men of Lambda Chi Delta are to lead the students in a group discussion of theUpward Bound philosophy. There is usually a total involvement in the discussions. Topics have included "Why Teachers Get Off The Subject." During the tutorial session, the men of the fraternity tutor the students in either a area of their interest or an area of their need. Tutoring includes such subjects as piano and guitar. The recreational period usually consists of games. The Upward Bound fraternity is hoping to have one Upward Bound function open during this period.

ANNUAL FOLLIES
Memorial Auditorium will be the scene on March 10 for the ANNUAL FOLLIES of the Economics Group.

The Center for Economic Education at MSC, which is the offshoot of the six college sponsored by the New Jersey Council on Economic Education, will conduct the ANNUAL FOLLIES for the Sixth Leadership Training Institute in Economics. The program will consist of courses in general economics designed to give a firm foundation in the subject. The courses will be conducted by graduates of previous programs.

Applications for the three week course are now being accepted.

The Center is open to supervisors and teachers of grades K-12 who are interested in economic education and are in a position to implement such a program in their school system.

Dr. Sidney J. Kronish, chairman of the Center for Economic Education at MSC, has announced that registration will be limited to 15.

Each student will receive a stipend of $75 per week and a $300 post institute stipend for the successful completion of a worthy project in the area of economic education.

Further information may be obtained from the Center for Economic Education, Montclair State College, Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

The members of the Tamburitans Dance Troupe

Campus To Host Economics Group

The professional credits of the Tamburitzans Dance Troupe (from the musical instrument used in their concerts - the tamburitza. The tamburitza is an authentic multi-stringed instrument which is probably a descendant of the Balkan householder leading festivities with a lusty baritone.

Tickets to the Tamburitans' concert are $1.50 for SGA and $2.00 for others and may be obtained by writing Gary Leo, Director of Life Hall, Montclair State College.

College Life Union Board To Present Tamburitans at Panzer Celebration

The Montclair State College will launch the celebration of its 50th anniversary with a concert by the Duquesne University Tamburitans on Saturday, March 5, at 3 p.m. in Panzer Gymnasium. The group appears under the auspices of the College Life Union Board.

The Montclair Tamburitans are a collegiate troupe of 30 talented and highly trained folk artists dedicated to the preservation of Slavic folk arts in the United States. They take their name from the musical instrument used in their concerts - the tamburitza. The Tamburitans is an ancient multi-stringed instrument which is probably a descendant of the old home family. It is found primarily in the Balkans where the cultures of the East meet one with the cultures of the West. Beside being one single instrument, the tamburitza is also an entire family of instruments consisting of various combinations of colors and thereby compatible in great measure to violins, violas, cellos, and string basses in a symphony orchestra.

The professional credits of the Tamburitans' concert are unparalleled musical experience based on authentic reproduction of Slavonic, songs and dances. Together they are presented professionally by talented performers disciplined in their art form. Using over 100 authentic costumes in each concert, singing in over a dozen different European languages, doing the dances and making music of as many countries, the Tamburitans performance is an exciting two hour spectacular of color, music, song and dance. Amazingly, the individual performer plays each play several different instruments, dance and voices with equal ease. A marvellous violin virtuoso may reassert as a dynamic warior.

To learn more about this program, attend the sophomore class meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 28 at 8 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium. You will be able to see a short film showing the Chico campus and you may ask questions of the panel composed of California state students and MSC "returners" of the exchange program.

The Student Education Association at Montclair will present Dr. Z. F. Bereday, from Teachers College, Columbia University.

The Panzer School of Physical Education and Hygiene at Montclair State College is celebrating its 50th anniversary since its formation in 1917. It started as a private college for physical education in Newark in 1897. They were not able to continue running the school in Newark, even though they had been at the forefront of public education and physical education. Panzer who became director of the school was instrumental in moving the school to East Orange. When the school moved, it was a move away from its educational mission. Panzer later expanded the school to offer a four-year program and made it a part of Montclair State College. The school has undergone several changes over the years, including the addition of new programs and facilities. Today, the Panzer School is a part of Montclair State University and offers a variety of programs in physical education and health sciences.
There are over 250 graduates listed in the 1965 edition of the present booklet. Out of the 252 biographees, three-fourths of these biographees held positions in the universities and one-third were administrators or faculty members in public schools. Teachers in elementary or high schools, one-third were administrators or faculty members in public schools. Teachers in elementary or high schools, one-third were administrators or faculty members in public schools.

Other professions represented include lawyers, doctors, authors, editors, writers, engineers, occupation therapists, clergy, dentists, and psychologists. Four biographees have been conferred upon the Bishop of the Methodist Church, Washing­ton, D.C. Another has come to the attention of the Board of trustees of three universities and five colleges, and is a member of the Board of Overseers of Harvard College. One woman, an ordained minister, is the pastor of a New England church. Five lawyers, three of whom have been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States, and one or the Bar in New York and New Jersey. One Counsel­lor at Law has taught in sev­eral universities. Another has been an Assistant U. S. Attorney in the Department of Justice.

Of the 252 biographees, approximately eight per cent are in business and industry. In 1965, the School Journal, Columbia University, bestowed the annual "Teacher of the-Year" by a professional society; several have been honor­ized by the American Association of University Women, by local organizations. One bio­graphy has appeared in the Capital Page School in Wash­ington, D. C.; another, Head­master of one of the schools in Brooklyn, New York. The rest are the first Negro woman appointed principal of a public school in Newark and her husband, both doctors of edu­cation in a Newark school, college and in the grad­ual work. The first radar designed to explore the upper atmosphere and ionosphere of the Earth has been built at the Montclair State College. One professor, internationally known for his radio - meteorological research, was archi­tect of the radar project. The department of radio astronomy at the University of Minnesota is the site of the largest radio-telescope. Other Professions Represented

Legislature Conference Addressed by Governor

The 1967 NJEA Legislature Conference was held on Saturday, February 2, at the Trenton State College, with the conference consisted of reports and discussion about the progress made in 1966, and how the New Jersey Education Association works to serve in the State Legislature, at the Camps Campus of Rutgers University, 350 High Street, New­ark. The featured author is August Meier of the Institute of Arts and Sciences at New York University. The conference is sponsored by the Urban League of Essex County and the Urban League of New Jersey.

Montclair may not have a Dug Out or a Night Owl Cafe where ambitious musicians can get their break into the mad, mad world of show business, but our own Alley Club holds its own and has proven itself to be just what Henry Mancini ordered as far as weekend entertainment goes. Since its conception two years ago, the Alley Club has grown by leaps and bounds to a point where it is now too large for its second home, the Life Hall smoking lounge.

In the early days of Alley Club's existence, it had been housed strictly in the snack bar. Even then it was obvious that the weekly coffee house jam session would not last long in those strict confines. (Have you ever tried to drink a cup of coffee there at ten in the morning?) Occasionally, then, as now, Grace Freeman cafeteria would be used for a special "happening," but even so more space was needed.

Lenny Rovitz, coordinator of Alley Club's entertainment, has hinted that "another move is imminent in the future, especially if we continue to be as popular as we have been.

To say Lenny in his varied duties are Pat Compton, Donald Barrow, Donald Zirlo, all of whom are also active in the various other activities which the Carlisle Trio, Jane Bogossian, Bonnie Marranca, Paul Larsen, or Jack Carvon, who's who.

No list would be complete, however, without Montclair's own Duft Birds. Created from a variety of sources, the Birds have flown to new heights in the recent past by appearing at New York's Girdles of Greenwich Village, Inc.

By having made their stage debut at Alley Club a year ago, the Birds, headed in "by Rob Fedorichuk and Joe Kloza, are now an integral part of Montclair's night scene. The group has an indiscernible repertoire of those oldies and modern hits from the not too distant past plus many of the contemporary folkie tunes as well.

Students across the nation are shocked and appalled to learn that the NSA has been receiving huge subsidies from the CIA, according to Bob White, University of Oklahoma student and National President of Associated Student Government of the United States of America (ASG).

By a press conference Wednesday afternoon in Oklahoma City, White said that he was "appalled" to learn that NSA had taken the money from the CIA and subjected it to "a possible CIA front. For NSA, an organization that purports to exist as an agency "through which American students exchange ideas, express their views, and act on issues which affect them as members of a student and government organization when political and economic branches of government are involved." The implications of this action have been serious for the students and the nation. It has shaped an effort on their part which has been supported by various organizations including the Student Government of the United States of America (SGA).

February 14, 1967

Column Eight of the New York Times of Feb. 14, 1967 was headlined with the following statement, "A Student Group Discovers a Covert CIA Funds Action." The following is a brief summary of that article.

"It might be interesting to learn how NSA's staff members, who spend one or more years abroad, have been able to manage their education. A few years ago, when the agency decided to establish a CIA front, it was required to establish a CIA front. For NSA, an organization that purports to exist as an agency "through which American students exchange ideas, express their views, and act on issues which affect them as members of a student and government organization when political and economic branches of government are involved." The implications of this action have been serious for the students and the nation. Quest For Learning

Another semester has begun at MSC. With its beginning, the amount of books stolen from coat racks, lunch tables and cars around the campus has greatly increased. It would seem that some students' quest for learning has overshadowed their respect for their fellow students and their possessions.

Meanwhile, back at the library, amazingly large quantities of books have disappeared from the shelves. Obviously another proof of Montclair student's quest for learning. Again, it is unfortunate that some students completely lack a basic respect for the property of others.

There is something which the school can do about this large amount of thefts. It can place a guard at the library entrance so that he may check one's possessions as one leaves the library. This is done in many universities and college libraries. It was once done at Montclair; but for some reason the practice was stopped.

Unfortunately the college cannot place a guard at every rack, table, and car around the campus. In these instances some students will have to be trusted and become more trustworthy.

Welcome, Chaplains!

It is indeed our pleasure to welcome the college chaplains into their new offices on campus. We are extremely honored that they have taken the time to perform their many congregational duties to give their services to the students of the college. Surely, we can all realize the generosity of such an action.

We aspire the spirit of cooperation which has always been evident between the Montclair clergymen and the college. We have always been grateful for the fact that such a fine spirit of cooperation and understanding exists between the administration and student body must also be appreciated.

It is hoped to show that the members of the student body will be able to receive spiritual guidance at a time in their lives when it is most needed. We hope that the students will appreciate this opportunity.

Reading, Ritting, and Politics

We of the Montclarion have experienced the same shock as our fellow students throughout the country in the disclosure that the Central Intelligence Agency had been contributing to the support of the National Student Peace Union. We were particularly shocked because Montclair State College withdrew from the National Student Association about three years ago. The reasons for this withdrawal are unclear. However, we are sure that the organization's leanings to the left were not found to be satisfactory to the students at this college.

There are many unanswered questions which still remain in relation to CIAA's support. There is so much which is cloudy and upon which we cannot comment. We are, however, sure that we cannot tolerate the intrusion of a political body into the matters of educational institutions or organizations. With their intrusion, the CIAA has done the members of the NSA a terrible injustice.

The students of America and the world should be able to speak their minds openly. There should be a freedom which allows them to realistically evaluate their surroundings. Both the President and the Vice President should be able to speak their minds openly.

A Solution?

Recently it has been brought to the attention of several members of the Montclair staff that a program could be initiated to permit undergraduate students to take required and or elective courses in their leisure. While taking these courses the student would be eligible for the degree of B.S. from LSU. It is hoped that the dormitory and off-campus students would especially take advantage of this opportunity.

Such a system would not only benefit the on-campus student who feels he can attend his classes with more leisure in the early evening hours, but would also save a lot of inconvenience for the commuting students who invariably get stuck in the rush hour traffic on the way home after a four or a five o'clock class. Such a program would also allow any ambitious students, either dorm or commuter, to take any elective course which he might have been desiring for which he previously had no time on his schedule.

For plans such as a program are still in the making; the above-mentioned proposal is merely a hypothesis of several members of the faculty and the administration and is awaiting further investigation as to its possible advantages and disadvantages.

We of the Montclarion staff can foresee the benefits of such a proposal and hope that steps will be undertaken in the near future to accomplish this goal.

SPU Vigil

The Student Peace Union has completed its first Peace Vigil. Approximately sixty students and twenty-eight professors took part in the silent vigil. They said little— their silence was obviously enough!

It is unfortunate that this vigil was heralded by slanted publicity in a local newspaper, this publicity tended to ignore the serious commitment which these demonstrators had for peace.

Fortunately, however, the members of this campus student body realized the existence of such a commitment. There were no incidents, showing a lack of respect of the demonstrators' opinion. This fact again showed the maturity of our student body and its respect for their academic freedom.

We are relieved that the SPU Vigil was regarded seriously by the members of the student body. We hope that such thought and responsibility continue to accompany the actions of both the Student Peace Union and the student body.

Occasionally a student will mention the fact that he is a little less than proud of attending a private institution, perhaps an ivy league college, and money was the only deterrent to his enrollment. Students who have this attitude about state colleges unforgivably deprive themselves of one of the most important factors which is so essential to a wholesome college life— pride. Much has been said in the Montclarion and elsewhere about the high competitive standards at Montclair and I will not pursue that point further at this time. Recently, I did receive some interesting information about the sources of the education of our high governmental officials, which very much bears on this question of the status of state colleges and universities.

The following information was obtained from the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, and it is interesting to note on you as far as proof that graduates of our kind of institutions play extremely valuable roles in our society.

The President and Vice President of the United States received all or part of their higher education at state institutions of higher education.

President John F. Kennedy received a B.A. degree from Harvard University and attended Georgetown Law School. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson received a Master's degree from the University of Texas and a B.B.A. degree from Southwest State Teachers College.

Fifty per cent (25 of 435) have received all or part of their higher education at state universities or land-grant colleges.

Sixty-one per cent received all or part of their education at state institutions of higher education, or at land-grant colleges.

All but four have received some education beyond high school. All of the newly elected senators have some higher education. Forty-nine senators received some or all of their education in institutions of higher education located in the states from which they were elected.

Representatives—Forty-eight per cent (219 of 455) received all or part of their education at state institutions of higher education or land-grant colleges.

Five per cent (25 of 435) have not attended any institution of higher education, compared to 6.7 per cent (29 of 435) in the 89th Congress (38 of 435 in the 88th Congress).

These data should interest us. The eastern part of the United States is not typical of the entire country in its attitude toward state colleges and universities. A broader perspective will promote an appreciation of these institutions and their true status in the American society.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

As manager of the College Supply Store, I believe it would be in my student body's best interest to have a SGA Office located in the Student Union. The SGA Office will be a convenient place for students to file complaints and get answers to their questions about the store. In addition, the SGA Office will be a place where students can voice their opinions and concerns about the store.

Sincerely yours,

[Signature]

Co-Chairman M F E

The Student Government Association has recently discussed the possibility of establishing a SGA Office on campus. This office would serve as a liaison between the SGA and the student body, allowing for more direct communication and feedback.

The SGA Office would be responsible for addressing student concerns, coordinating with other campus organizations, and ensuring that the needs of the student body are met. It would provide a platform for students to express their views and have a say in the decision-making processes that affect them.

The SGA Office would also be a place where students could come to learn more about the SGA and its initiatives. This would help to increase student engagement and participation in SGA activities.

The SGA Office would be an important addition to the Montclair State University community, providing a valuable resource for students and enhancing the overall student experience.

Question: What is your reaction to the idea of having a 24-hour Marathon?

Pat Tessman, junior French major from Irvington:

"I think it's pretty good. It will make everyone aware of what's going on and just what kind of students we have at Montclair. It reminds me of the telethon that you watch on television."

Debora Showers, junior speech major from Newark:

"Because I'm going to be in it, I know a little about what's going to take place. First of all, it's a benefit for a worthy cause, the Margin for Excellence. I believe the Marathon is even going to be broadcast over the radio and we'll be able to reach a lot of people outside the college. These people will most likely appreciate the funds and this will really boost the prestige of the college.

Ariet Platt, freshman fine arts major from Fair Lawn:

"What is it? Oh, I'm in favor of it. I remember now. Isn't it something to do with a 'Stay Awake' Contest? Hey, guess what, John, I'm going to get my picture in the Montclarion!"

Carol Moore, junior business major from Metuchen:

"I think it will get school support and I also feel a lot of students will be willing to demonstrate their hidden talents. The performances will probably be well attended and a few really dedicated individuals may even make it to the early morning hour shows. The important thing is that we as present students shake the lethargy of the students and the surrounding community."

Bob Godlesi, sophomore Spanish major from Shrewsbury:

"I feel that any events which will make school facilities good and should be supported by all students. I hope that the students, contributions will be of good enough quality as to inspire further interest in this worthwhile project."

Financial Aids

Students are required to pay an insurance premium directly to the Authority in order to qualify for a loan. At the time the application is submitted to the lending institution, it must be accompanied by a check payable to "Treasurer, State of New Jersey" in an amount equal to 1/2 of 1 per cent of the requested amount of the loan. For example, if the student is requesting a loan of $5000.00 this amount would be $250.00. If the loan should be disapproved, this insurance charge will be returned to the student.

6. The bank interviews the applicant, reviews and forwards the application to the New Jersey Higher Education Assistance Authority. Normal ly, applications should cover the needs for the student's entire school year and should be submitted during the two-month period prior to the beginning of the academic year for which the loan is intended. They may, however, be made at any time.

7. The New Jersey Higher Education Assistance Authority reviews the application and then notifies the lending institution, the college and the student of its decision.

8. If notified of approval, the student signs a student agreement and note. Only the student's signature is required, except in the case of married students where the spouse must co-sign. Copies of the note are kept by the student and the lending institution.

9. If eligible, the student must also complete an Application for Federal Financial Aid which is mailed directly by the lending institution to Washington.

SNJEA Holds Conference

The problems of the disadvantaged child was the topic of the All-College Conference of the Student New Jersey Education Association, held at Jersey City State College on Feb. 18.

The keynote speaker was Dr. Walter Murray, professor of education at Brooklyn College. His topic was "Who the Disadvantaged Child Is." Another speaker, Bruce Harrison, discussed the teacher's responsibility to the disadvantaged child. M. R. Harrison is a member of the NJEA committee on the disadvantaged child and a counselor at Weil High School.

Seven students represented MSC at the Conference. They were: Robert Grace, SEAM president; Robert H. Mechan, SEAM first vice-president; James Walsh, SEAM second vice-president; James Murray, SEAM treasurer and SKJEA treasurer; Karen Sellick, SNJEA recording secretary and post SEAM president; Robert Cottington and Stanley Gurksi.

Other activities were a film, "Children Without" and various group seminars. Topics covered were: "From where does the disadvantaged child come?" "What are the factors that affect the disadvantaged child?" and "What are some of the common characteristics exhibited by the disadvantaged child?"

Dear Reb:

I'm a former World War I Ace, and when it comes to buying a new car, I can really fly off the handle. Frankly, the whole thing is a dogfight for me. I'm tired of piloting my present car and have got my sights set on a performance model that'll let me strut in style. But its price has got to be solo it won't shoot me down. I'm banking on you to help me find one, Reb.

MAX, THE RED BARON

Dear Red Baron:

Sincerely, Reb

The '67 Coronet R/T is strictly a driving man's car, with a long list of standard performance features designed to give you cost-quick responsiveness on the road or the track. You've got your choice of four-on-the-floor or a three-speed automatic transmission. Heavy-duty brakes. Heavy suspension. Dual exhausts. Full-length point stripes. All standard. And on an option, you can have a dynamic 426-cubic-inch Hemi V8 under the hood.

Choose your R/T in either a two-door hardtop or convertible model. Check one out at your Dodge Dealer's soon.
"I've ironed my hair...tried lots of torchery things to get rid of natural curl."

"My bangs! The sides! Curl Free really took the curl out."

(This is how Dee Dee Dolan looked before using CURL FREE. And these are her own words.) "It's obnoxious...not so much the ringlets...as the frizzy ends. I've tried all kinds of things to get the curl out but nothing does it. I have to set it in great big rollers...and just keep my fingers crossed. Whenever it's even a little damp outside...the set comes right out. My hair just hangs sort of bushy.

"I've always envied kids who've had straight hair. I'd really love to wear those straight, collegiate styles. Do you really think CURL FREE can do that for me?"

"The bangs—that's the part I'm crazy about. And it's springy. You know...not limp or anything. I love it! It was simple, too. Mainly, I just applied CURL FREE and combed it through. Now I won't have to set it as much. It won't frizz up—fantastic!"—DEE DEE DOLAN.

Comb those natural curls right out of your hair with cool, creamy CURL FREE. Even if your hair is so curly it puts up a real fight—it will surrender to CURL FREE. Just keep using it and you'll see. Styling Freedom that lasts for months. That's CURL FREE.
The Air Force doesn't want you to waste your college education any more than you do.

Are you afraid of becoming part of the woodwork on a job? Your career cluttered by boredom? Few promotions in sight? You don't go to college for that. And it needn't happen, either. Because you can pick the United States Air Force as your employer. Career opportunities are too wide...you'll get a better chance to specialize where you want...in the forefront of modern science and technology.

Suppose, just for example, you want to work in Electronics. This area alone includes Communications-Electronics, Missile Electronics, Avionics, and others. And these, in turn, involve administration research, and other technical aspects. That's just one tiny part of the whole Air Force picture. Just one tiny part of the educational experience among many.

You'll enjoy good pay, promotions, chance to travel, active social life, fine retirement benefits. And you'll be serving your country, too. Or maybe you want to fly? That's great. The Air Force is certainly the place to do it.

As a college graduate, you want something extra out of life—in an exciting goal. So send in this coupon. Make sure you don't get stuck where nothing much is happening.

Recent Victories Boost Basketball Record To 17-3

The Montclair State College varsity basketball team upped its season record to 17-3, with impressive wins over Pratt College 107-53, Newark College of Engineering 98-74, Glassboro 102-97 and Paterson 97-91.

With all eleven players scoring, the Indians completely demolished the Pratt Institute Cannonneros, 107-53, at the Brooklyn Army Base. Bob Gleason, who had 20 points and big Bruce Biroc tallied 15. Montclair State established a new team rebounding record in a four-point loss to Pratt's 157. Bob Lester personally accounted for 24 against a team which was rated high in rebounding on the NAIA statistics sheet.

7th Conference Victim Falls 97-71

The Paterson State Pioneers visited Princeton Gym on Monday night for a make-up game but the Big Reds were not very hospitable and handed ISC their 14th loss of the year against six games, 97-71. The game was not as close as it appears - according to the score index, ISC enjoyed a 49-23 half time lead and gave a point lead by 43.

The Pioneers were able to pile up points at the end against the losing team and White reserves, Ltd. Bob Owen, Keith Neigel and Bob Conroy from the bench, showed some fantastic passing to set up many baskets.

Gleason and Conroy had 18 points apiece and Luther Brown tossed in 23. In rebounding, Gleason and Conroy picked off 15 each and Bruce Biroc gathered in 19.
