Players To Present Pirandello Classic

"Six Characters In Search Of An Author"

On March 2, 3, 4 and at a special matinee on March 6, Players will present Pirandello's "Six Characters In Search Of An Author," a Pirandello's finest works but also the flowering of the absurd and the absurdity of it, a real life, with its subjective complexity and irrationality, defines the Gibil interpretation of the stage and ses actors. As much, in the twenty-century-tic, the Montclair State College has long been a haven for this "world's a stage/ and all the men and women merely players" and applied it literally and with a vengeance. The work presents a truly strange fact of an author who refuses to let some of his characters live though they have been born in his fantasy. The fact that these characters, now having life in their veins, do not resign themselves to remaining excluded from the world. Yet they are detached from the stage interpretations where these six characters come from, yet they live on the stage in a mixture of tragedy and comedy, fantasy and realism in a human situation. The drama is conveyed by means of the characters...characters which after the last spoken word have created a world of reality no one knows except the six characters themselves.

Pirandello introduces his six characters of reality as they infiltrate a rehearsal of their Pirandellian work. They seek to convince the director that they are real, that is theirs. Constantly interrupting the stage manager and the other actors, disapproving of all other stage interpretations and insisting upon explaining themselves, they break down the structure of the play until it becomes a series of alternating comic and tragic fragments. Pirandello has written a play to end all plays. All this comes from the fact that life, with its subjective complexity and irrationality, defines the Gibil interpretation of the stage and its actors. As such, in the twentieth-century-tic, the Montclair State College has long been a haven for this classic which is at war not only with the world, the thesis and the devil but with its own limitations. The cast includes: Father Louis Mascolo, Mother Sophia D'Aligiero, Daughter - Zantedelli, Son - Thomas Raiti, Director - Michael Sugianovits, Leading Lady - Lorraine Marq- ner, Leading Man - Frank Malio, L Eugene - Cynthia Garry, Madame Pace - Judith Bevens, Property Man - Robert Watson, Secretary to the Director - Carol Parisot. Boy - Thomas Sob- li, Girl - Sharon Sobolik, Second Leading Lady - Sharon Frei- man, Property Man - Pat Beaves, Junior Leading - Robert Lowy, Second Leading Man - Louis Hamrock, and Door Keep- er - Daniel Corey.

S P U Holds Peace Vigil

Demonstration Is Quiet

by Lois Rogers

Seven hundred years ago, Florentine author Dante Alighieri wrote in his Divine Comedy: "The hottest places in hell are reserved for those, who in a time of crisis, remain neutral." Since Montclair State College has long been suffering from the condition of acute apathy, it was a refreshing change to note the unity and cohesiveness as they took part in the vigil organized by the Student Peace Union.

Sixty people, twenty-eight of whom are faculty members, stood to- gether on south side of Sprague Library and silently protested the war in Vietnam for the follow- ing reasons given by SPU president, Joe Witalis: "The Johnson Administration may be responsible for continuing it this afternoon, and we will escalate the peace movement to whatever extent we can and see the long-winded end of the war so much closer to reality.

The vigil lasted from 11:45 un- til 1:00 and was carried through completely without incident. It must be noted that the meeting was called on peacefully a nd with an attitude that should charac- terize an organization such as the Student Peace Union and the other members of the group, who while they were not members of..."
Lambda Chi Delta Frat Begins Activity With Upward Bound Students

Every Saturday for the next ten weeks, twenty or thirty enthusiastic students from a Jersey City high school will meet with a group of equally enthusiastic college students on the campus of Montclair State College. The high school students are members of the Upward Bound program. The college students are members of Lambda Chi Delta fraternity who have elected to take the time to spend three hours with the Upward Bound students involved in the program. Last summer at MSC, they have participated in many of MSC's activities. The students are college preparatory students who are all interested in attending college or in some type of education beyond high school. Each week they meet at Saint Peter's College in Jersey City to receive help in preparation for the college board examinations. One of the students has been accepted at MSC for the term beginning next year.

Those who are participating in the Saturday program: a general discussion, a tutorial, and a recreational period. During the general discussion period, the Men of Lambda Chi Delta will lead the students in a group discussion of their problems and achievements during the day. There is usually a total involvement in the discussion. Topics have included: "Why Teachers Get Off The Subject," during the tutorial session, the men of the fraternity tutor the students on either a subject of their interest or an area of their choice. The recreational period usually is spent in the Union Council on Economic Education.

Campus To Host Economics Group

The Center for Economic Education at MSC, which is the only one at the six state colleges sponsored by the New Jersey Council on Economic Education, will conduct for the Sixth Leadership Training Institute in Economic Education from June 27 through July 14. The program will consist of courses in general economic principles, marketing courses in a program of preparation for the school counselor. The courses will be instructed by graduates of previous institutes.

Applications for the three week institute are now being accepted. The institute is open to supervisors and teachers of grades K through 12 who are interested in economic education and are in a position to implement such a program in their school system.

Dr. Sidney J. Konchak, chairman of the Center for Economic Education at MSC, has announced that enrollment will be limited to 15.

Each student will receive a stipend of $75 per week and a $300 post institute stipend for the successful completion of an orderly project in the area of economic education.

Further information may be obtained from the Center for Economic Education, Montclair State College, Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

College Life Union Board To Present Tamburitzans at Panzer Celebration

The Montclair School of Physical Education and Hygiene at Montclair State College will launch the celebration of its 50th anniversary with a concert by the Duquesne University Tamburitzans on Saturday, May 5, 3 p.m. in Panzer Gymnasium. The group appears under the auspices of the College Life Union Board. The Montclair Tamburitzans are a collegiate troupe of 30 talented and highly trained folk artists dedicated to the preservation of Slavic folk arts in the United States. They trace their name from the musical instrument used in their concerts - the tamburin. The tamburin is an ancient multi-stringed instrument which is probably a descendant of the old lute family. It is found primarily in the Balkans where the cultures of the East meet and fuse with the cultures of the West. Besides being one single instrument, the tamburin is an also an entire family of instruments consisting of various combinations of drums, guitars, harps in a symphony orchestra.

The professional credits of Pittsburgh's collegiate performer include over 100 concerts annually in the United States and Canada. Serving as goodwill ambassador for the State Department, the Tamburitzans have performed in 115 countries, the Tamburin performs an exciting two-hour spectacle of color, music and sound. Featuring the individual performances of each player, the professional pit troupes present different instruments, dance and vocal ensembles with equal ease. A marvelous violin virtuoso may represent as a dynamic violinist, and later as a many-colored household drummer leading festivities with a lusty baritone.

Tickets to the Tamburitzans' concert are $1.50 for SGA and $2.00 for others and may be obtained by writing Gary Leo, Director of Life Hall, Montclair State College.

Montclair Proudly Presents Reveals Prestigious Alumni

The third member of the group, Rocky, portrayed by Victor Arnold, is the typical hood. He has his finger in every racket. The direct opposite of Queenie, it seems, and is suspected for perverted activities; but he turns out to be "the old man" of the group. His hard-ened appearance and attitude are only a shield for his true personalty. His acting, along with the rest, makes you believe he's a much more complex personality. Legislature Conference Addressed by Governor

The 1967 NJEA Legislature Conference was held on Saturday, February 24th, at the Trenton State Capitol. Among those present at the conference was Mrs. Elizabeth McGonigle, NJEA Presi-dent. She addressed the speakers for the day with Governor Richard J. Hughes, Congressman James J. Howard and Assemblyman Raymond H. Bateman, who spoke to the conference on the importance of legislative achievements and some of the next steps we might expect.

The morning session of the conference consisted of reports of various committees of NJEA with a few resolutions being presented. A great record was written by the NJEA Office of Government Affairs. First and foremost, 1967 will long be remembered as the year of legislation. It enacted a sales tax—get it?

This $100 million bond issue, listen to this one—this $100 million bond issue, plus the bond issue that provided the $30 million for new higher education facilities, culminates years of effort by NJEA and many friends of education.

Education Legislation From this breakthrough came the most impressive education legislation of the decade:

School Aid — A $95 million school aid increase, providing an immediate $25 million for school improvements over and above the already determined school budgets for the current school year.

Higher Education Reorganization — Significant concessions were won in the reorganization of higher education, thereby lessening political control, greater institutional autonomy, more faculty involvement, and coordination with elementary and secondary education. A new College Dormitory Authority represented a major breakthrough in the handling of needed student housing, dining, and activity facilities.

Political Rights — Teachers won another protective shield in the fight for political rights. In a significant move, written in the NJEA office, it guarantees professional and paraprofessional school personnel the right to serve in the State Legislature, at a salary, including all abortions, of $5,000 per year.

Further Educational Legislation A new and comprehensive Special Education Program was passed, including types of physical and emotional handicaps, and guaranteeing 50 per cent of the cost of the program.

School Aid Study — The State Legislature, as expected, moved to study its own School Aid Study Commission, which had continued to study charges in aid formulas.

Penton Improvements — Improvements in the retirement system were among the most significant ever—with separation of Social Security in addition to full State retirement allowances assured, eligibility requirements lifted. The year’s legislative records. The year 1967 saw significant concessions, including the addition of legislation for law students, increased freight rates and the lowest revenue for new higher education facilities.

"Fortune and Men's Eyes" is taken from Shakespeare’s Son-net XXX. The bleak, grey stage is set, the ramps leading into the bars dominating the rear portion of the set. A nondescript, shoddy, unlit set, set to move in the "dorm," as they call it, says, "Hey guys—getta girl. I'm no quaker."
Part of the Weekly Crowd at Alley Club

SRO AS ALLEY CLUB GAINS IN POPULARITY

by David Keutgen

Montclair may not have a Dog Out or a Night Owl Cafe where ambitious musicians can get their break into the mad, mad world of show business, but our own Alley Club holds its own and has proven itself to be just what Henry Mancini ordered as far as weekend entertainment goes. Since its conception two years ago, the Alley Club has grown by leaps and bounds to a point where it is now too large for its second home, the Life Hall smoking lounge.

In the early days of Alley Club's existence, it had been housed strictly in the snack bar. Even then it was obvious that the weekly coffee house jam session would not last long in those strict confines. (Have you ever tried to drink a cup of coffee there at ten in the evening?) Occasionally, then, as now, Grace Freeman cafeteria would try to drink a cup of coffee. Joe Kloza, are now an integral part of Montclair's night scene. The group has an indescribable repertoire of those oldies and wiseass activities of the CIA, but they defended the subsidy as necessary to offset the influence of heavily financed and controlled communist student groups. Officials denying that the subsidy had limited the freedom of the organization or influenced its policies, they said, is "absurd to suggest that because a student organization was too impoverished to take part in international meetings, the CIA merely assumed the role of benevolent patron of youth."

The Times editorial advocated a speedy divorce of international educational affairs from government policy.
Quest For Learning

Another semester has begun at MSC. With its beginning, the amount of books stolen from coat racks, lunch tables and cars around the campus has greatly increased. It would seem that some students’ quest for learning has overshadowed their respect for their fellow students and their possessions.

Meanwhile, back at the library, amazingly large numbers of books have disappeared from the shelves. Obviously another proof of the magnitude of the problem of the thefts of student property.

There is something which the school can do about this large amount of thefts. It can place a guard at the library entrance so that he may check one’s possessions as one leaves the library. This is done in many universities and college libraries. It was once done at Montclair; but for some reason the practice was stopped.

Unfortunately the college cannot place a guard at every rack, table, and car around the campus. Thus in these instances some students will have to be trusted and become more trustworthy.

Welcome, Chaplains!

It is indeed our pleasure to welcome the college chaplains into their new offices on campus. We are extremely honored that they have chosen to be located in our student union and that they have always been grateful for the fact that such a fine spirit of cooperation exists between the administration and student body. We can all realize the generosity of such an action.

We admire the spirit of cooperation which has always been evident in the establishment of these offices. Cooperation was perhaps most evident between the Montclair clergymen and the college. We have always been grateful for the fact that such a fine spirit of cooperation exists between the administration and student body and we are fully of the opinion that this is what is needed in order to maintain a wholesome college atmosphere.

We of the Montclairian have experienced the same shock as our fellow students throughout the country in the disclosure that the Central Intelligence Agency had disappeared our colleagues.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

As manager of the College Supply Store, I would like to thank the people who have been of service to me during the Spring Semester Book Sale.

Although the sale of books is not yet completed, we evaluate the procedure as being successful. Naturally, there are problems which arise, but we shall endeavor to solve them where possible. We only ask your cooperation.

Certainly, the success of this operation is due to the many factors. I would like to thank the college administration for their cooperation, and especially the college Maintenance staff for their help in transporting the books. Also, I would like to thank my staff and the students who have been so good to me. I am indebted to some of the men from Lambda Chi Delta and Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity for the tremendous job of setting up the Life Hall Book Sale following the Spring Semester Book Sale. This allowed us to keep the store open throughout the entire season, and all of those people who helped make this operation successful deserve your appreciation again.

Sincerely,
Mrs. B. Faber

To the Editor:

This letter is to express our sincere thanks to those students who so willingly devoted their time and effort to helping the Martha for Excellence in Art. I wish to thank the administrative staff of the MFA for their assistance. The catalog is doing this.

These individuals, many of whom are not on the MFA Student Senate, have put a lot of work into the planning and execution of the event. I would like to express my appreciation to all of those people.

Adding to their credit, this past season and the weeks preceding it have brought another batch of new students and a college union building they themselves will not be utilizing.

Sincerely yours,

SGA Report

By Stanley Gurski

The Student Government Association can sometimes be confusing if not frustrating if you look at the various subunits of the SGA. The Student Senate, the SGA Legislature, the Student Government Alliance, and the Student Life Union are four of the units that make up the SGA. Each of these groups has a specific role. It is difficult to keep track of them all.

For example, I would like to thank the college administration for their cooperation, and especially the college Maintenance staff for their help in transporting the books. Also, I would like to thank my staff and the students who have been so good to me. I am indebted to some of the men from Lambda Chi Delta and Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity for the tremendous job of setting up the Life Hall Book Sale following the Spring Semester Book Sale. "It's obnoxious...not so much the ringlets...as the frizzy ends. I've tried all kinds of things to get the curl out but nothing does it. I have to set it in great big rollers...and just keep my fingers crossed. Whenever it's even a little damp outside...the set comes right out. My hair just hangs sort of bushy.

"I've always envied kids who've had straight hair. I'd really love to wear those straight, collegiate styles. Do you really think CURL FREE can do that for me?"

"The bangs—that's the part I'm crazy about. And it's springy. You know...not limp or anything. I love it! It was simple, too. Mainly, I just applied CURL FREE and combed it through. Now I won't have to set it as much. It won't frizz up—fantastic!"—DEE DEE DOLAN.

Dave Watkins Spotlighted

As Successful Indian Coach

While his timetable is one full year ahead of schedule there can be little doubt that Montclair State College's youthful basketball coach, Dave Watkins, has already accomplished a major rebuilding job on the Indians.

With five regular season games left, the youthful Indians are 17-3 and are destined to be best team ever to take to the hardcourt for Montclair.

Like a great many cases the success of the Indians on the surface appears to be an overnight success. However, this could not be further from the truth.

Dave Watkins, who had been a highly successful soccer coach at Montclair State before being named to the basketball job in March, 1964, started at rock bottom.

Graduation left the Indian lineup thin and little or no recruiting had been done. One bright spot in the gloomy picture was the name of Bob Gleason, a topflight player at St. Aloysius, in Jersey City, started varsity his freshman year, and this was just the beginning.

While coaching in his first season, Watkins was on an 18 hour a day schedule scouting talent. He went all over the Garden State following down high school basketball tournaments scouting talent. He went all over the Garden State following down high school basketball tournaments scouting talent.
