Clean-up Campaign
Set For Life Hall

A cafeteria clean-up campaign will go into effect Mon., March 13, 1967. The campaign is aimed at cleaning up the Life Hall cafeteria and snack bar. The cafeteria is used by the commuting students during the day and the dormitory students in the evening. Both groups of students use the snack bar at all times.

Syndic reading "Think clean," and "Hey, Hey, Throw It Away," will be placed on all tables and walls of the cafeteria. The committee has compiled the aid of the Inter-Fraternity and Inter-Sorority councils. A sincere effort and a change of student attitudes and behaviors is necessary for a successful completion of the campaign. Announcements will be made in the cafeteria by SGA president Joe Rivas and Dean Lawton Illiton. These announcements will aim at awakening the students to the need for concentrated effort in cleaning up the cafeteria.

URGE STUDENT COOPERATION
In a letter to the Inter-Fraternity Council, Gary Leo and Robert Foley asked that each student cooperate in the campaign by placing his coat and books in the storage racks located on the wall of the cafeteria and by clearing the tables of debris when he leaves. They went on to say: "As you can see the cooperation that we are asking for is reasonable and should not cause a great inconvenience to any student."

It is felt that a clean cafeteria will better accommodate the large number and at the same time it will serve to provide the student body with more pleasant surroundings."

The letter also stated that "at the present time these facilities are inadequate to comfortably handle the large number of students that use this cafeteria." The other members of the committee, aside from Mr. Leo and Mr. Foley, are Charles Bargarraga, Bruce Greenwood, Ellen Ektomn, and Tom Parcik.

Mr. Foley Receives Appointment
As New Associate Registrar

President Thomas H. Richardson has announced the appointment of Robert Foley as Associate Registrar.

Mr. Foley graduated from Newark State College with a Bachelor of Arts degree and received his masters degree from the University of Maryland.

While at Maryland, Mr. Foley worked in men's housing. Since he joined the faculty of Montclair State College in 1965, he has been actively engaged in helping the students of MHC to have a successful college career. In addition to being director of men's off-campus housing, Mr. Foley has supervised freshman orientation and worked with the Human Relations Laboratory. He is also the faculty advisor of the sophomore class and the Inter-Fraternity Council.

The new post was created because of the overload of work produced by the increased enrollment at Montclair. Mr. Foley's office will now handle the business of actual registration, while the Registrar's office will continue to be concerned with evaluation of student records and statistical research.

Mr. Foley believes that the majority of students at Montclair do not want a fully computerized registration such as that at some other state colleges, where the student must stand in line at the computer for service. For this reason, the registrar's office has undertaken an in a study to determine what measures should be taken to speed up the present method of registration.

IRC to Present 5 Day Seminar on Communism

Under a forceful and vibrant leadership and membership, the International Relations Club has planned a revolutionary approach to disseminating information to the students and faculty on campus. In an interview with the Keystone, vice-president of the organization and director of program planning, Sharon stated that the club was entering a new era of awareness, not only in a practical sense of reaching more of the campus population, but also in its scope and style of programs.

The main purpose of IRC is to prove more students and extend the discussion groups of the first of these programs will be held during the week of March 13-17 and will feature the "Seminar on Communism" focusing on the viewpoints and extermities of these two philosophies. "OTHER PROGRAMS. Other programs for the semester will include a Seminar on Democracy by the American Strategy Center and Mr. Timothy Wheeler, your editor of the Daily Worker. The discussions will focus on the basic ideas of communism and other forms of government and attendance is open to all students."

The program also features two main speakers: Mr. Frank Barnett, Director of the American Strategy Center and Mr. Timothy Wheeler, your editor of the Daily Worker. The discussions will focus on the basic ideas of communism and other forms of government and attendance is open to all students.

ISC Plans Open House

The Inter-Sorority Council will sponsor an Open House for all interested girls on Sun., March 13 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Life Hall. President Bonnie Cook and members of other sororities will be present to explain the different aspects of Greek life. The girls who will conduct the tour are: Mich. program; Shelia Basilo, Gordon Blevins, Margarita DeOliveira, Ron McCor-

IA Chairman and Theme Chosen for Carnival

Sophomores Lois Nick and Tom Stefanski have been appointed Chairman and Co-chairman for the 1967 Carnival. Lois is a business major, active in the SGA and a member of Delta Omicron Pi, Tom, a chemistry major, is a wing-counselor on the SGA planning committee for the new Student Union Building.

The theme for Carnival and activities will be designed around the four sections of Adventureland, Frontierland, Tomorrowland, and Fantasyland. The title, Walt Disney, A Man and His Worlds, was chosen to pay tribute to the man who created Disneyland.

Carnival will take place on May 5 and 6 in the area between Annex 2 and College Hill.

MONTCLAIR STATE RECEIVES
OUTDOOR EDUCATION GRANT

A co-operative program involving Montclair State College, Gloucester State College, Trenton State College, and the New Jersey State School of Conservation, has been awarded a $109,500 grant by the United States Office of Education to prepare specialists in Outdoor Education and Conservation. The grant, under the Experienced Teacher Fellowship Program, is to cover two full graduate fellowship years.

The major purpose of the Experienced Teacher Fellowship Program is to improve the qualification of co-operative elementary and secondary school personnel who demonstrate potential.

Therefore, it is required that all applications for this program come through the recommendation of the local school superintendent, who not only supports the candidate's potential but who assures his or her return to district upon completion of the program.

The program is primarily aimed to assist New Jersey school systems, though qualified candidates from neighboring states will be accepted as space permits.

Each of the selected fellows will receive a basic stipend of $4,800.

The program will center on the Montclair State College campus during the spring semester, 1968, and the Gloucester State College campus during the spring semester, 1969, and also provide for specialized course work during either semester at any one of the three co-operating colleges.

The Graduate Office of Trenton State College will coordinate the program with Dr. Eugene Vivian, chairman of the science department at Gloucester State College, serving as project director.

The 25 participants will be chosen by a committee of four professors representing the four cooperating agencies.

The total program requires a minimum of 12 semester hours of graduate study during the year and permits election of graduate credit in the subjects and activities which are most useful and which are selected by each fellow.

Six Characters in Search of an Author

"We're the audience this time," exclaimed the Leading Lady when the rehearsal of a comedy is interrupted by six unusual characters who enter the theatre and proceed to explain to the audience in Memorial Auditorium, as well as to the "actors" and "director" on the stage, the tragic and comic story of their existence.

Laugi Pirandello's Six Characters in Search of an Author, presented by Players on March 23 and 24, 1968, explored the nature of pretense and reality. "You know well that life is full of infinite absurdities which, strange enough, do not even need to appear plausible since they are true," said the Father. The six characters were born for the stage; they are the product of the mind of their author who was unable and unwilling to put them into a play.

In their search for an author, the six characters (Father, Mother, Step-Daughter, Son Boy, and Girl) conflict with the actors who try to play their parts with the director who insists on playing the characters "into a neat little framework and then making them actable." Because of the conventions of the theatre, all is made-believe and pretense on the stage. The actors are "theatrical" and do not appear real when they attempt to play the parts of the characters. They are merely creating or acting their roles; the characters, on the other hand, have been created for the stage and live their parts.

Six Characters is an example of the "Theatre of the Absurd." It deliberately violates and disrupts the conventions of the theatre in an attempt to show the absurdity of human life.

All the action in the play occurs on a relatively bare stage. Before the show begins, three stagehands sit at a table playing cards. Later, they place scenery and props in full view of the audience. The constructionist view is a technique of illusion and "reality." "Forced perspective was used in the scenery to give an illusion of depth," stated Mr. W. Scott Mac Conallen, production designer. "But the audience soon became accustomed to this illusion and accepted it as reality.

Is the stage divorced from life? Can reality be presented in the theatre? Directed by Dr. L. Howard Fox, the Players production of Six Characters in Search of an Author presented the conflict existing between the "fixed reality" of the character, who must play the parts created for them, and the "changing illusion" of the actors, who can play many parts. "Acting is illusion," says the Director. "Truth up to a certain point, but no further!"

Dr. Hanna Buehler will speak on simultaneous translation at a meeting of Overseas Neighbors of Montclair Wed., March 15, at 8 p.m. in the Guild Room of Central Presbyterian Church. Dr. Buehler is a visiting professor at George-town University, Washington, D.C. on leave from the University of Vienna. Her husband, the former Gerhard Buehler, spent a year at Montclair State as an exchange student from Austria. Students and faculty have cordially invited to attend the meeting.
A Human Relations Laboratory will be held at Camp Bernie in Washington, New Jersey, from April 20-23. The purpose of the conference is to enable students and faculty members to participate in an experience in social psychology and "group dynamics."

"The heart of the program involves the behavior of the teacher in the classroom," laboratory director Dr. Alfred H. Gorman stated. "In other words, you can have hours of aviation ground training, and tie for men. Casual Dress can be worn in the following places:

1. Classes (final decision is left to the faculty member).
2. Grounds of the campus (dormitories or buildings).
3. Lounges or Snack Bar.
4. Lunches and breakfasts.

Formal attire should be worn to the following events:
1. Music Concerts.
2. Plays.
3. Lectures.
4. Any formal program at the college (conventions and conferences).

Deviations from the previous Dress Code are:
1. The recommended new Dress Code suggests that sport clothes (sweats, Bermuda shorts) may be worn to class.
2. Women should wear a dress or skirt to MOC Concerts and conferences; men should wear a jacket and tie to the same events. With the passage of the bill it is hoped that more responsibility will be placed on the student in choosing the proper attire.

In many classroom situations experience should precede lecture, since purely verbal communication is often not enough to get ideas across to students and to effect their behavior. Group dynamics may be the coming "wave" in the field of education. Although in the past much of the research in the field of social psychology has been ignored, many educators now believe that training in human relations can help students become more effective teachers.

The Human Relations Laboratory began at Montclair State College in the fall of 1963. The purpose of this faculty-student group was to influence campus culture. Leadership workshops were conducted for officers of various campus organizations in order to help them become more democratic leaders.
Academic Freedom & Responsibility

By Daniel Brower, Ph.D.

One face of the academic life is that of freedom; another is that of responsibility. While the presence of the latter is often unwelcome and the absence of the former is pristine, both exist and are vitally important to the present and the future.

Faculty and students alike are engaged in this exciting academic adventure, but there is a clear difference in the insights of the past and the present. The reputation for intellectual and moral values, and the freedom of expression and exploration, is no longer just for the faculty. Students are just as much a part of this process.

The Warren Report, college grades, curricular matters at M.S.C., etc. What seems to be lacking is a balance in the academic freedom and responsibility, and finding meaning in the daily transactions of faculty and students.

1. Disengage ourselves from disengagement and reduce our apathy to public affairs. There is pleasure in participation!

2. Encourage each other to think and speak out on the controversial issues confronting our generation. There is mental stimulation derived from verbal stimulation.

Each of us is free to choose what we believe will work, what values he will use as navigational aids in guiding himself through the academic freedom and responsibility. Each of us owes everyone else the obligation and duty to express his views regarding these educational issues.

"Retreads" In Focus on Montclair Campus

By Louise D'Andrea

"Retreads" Dean Blanton calls them. You've seen them on campus - every almost class has at least one "retread". They are students of all ages. Once you notice them because they are older, more motivated, and absent from freshman life.

Retreads fall into three types. There are the "interrupted" who had some college credits before marriage, New Jersey tax on food but faculty members don't. Retreads whose children are college age or older encounter weird situations. Consider the mother whose daughter's applicant's mother was accepted. That created a full time job of child rearing and the instructor.

MONTCLAIRON

ONE OF THE IMPORTANT PROGRAMS EVER TO GRACE THE MSC CAMPUSS IS THE FABRICATING 27-HOUR Marathon. This event is entitled "Much Ado About Something," and will be held in Memorial Auditorium from 8 p.m. Fri., April 14, until 11 p.m. Sat., April 15.

The purpose of the Marathon is to attract the attention of the state and state legislature and thus secure funds for campus buildings. This is our determination—an answer to the call of higher education. MSC campus is the fast approaching 27-hour Marathon. The event, entitled "Much Ado About Something," will be scheduled to perform.

The 27-Hour Marathon truly is the pinnacle of campus activities. Administrators, faculty, fraternity, sorority and individual students are working together in true academic and social cooperation to make this an actuality. This is Montclair in action.

Tickets will be sold at $1 and $1.50. Support your school—buy your ticket to educational progress and to make this endeavor a success.

Two Receives Fellowships

Prize fellowships in the field of education are available for the first time, commencing July 1, 1967. They are to be awarded to five candidates who have received degrees in education from the class of 1967. Selected students will be awarded stipends of $4,000 each for the 12 month period of study.

One of the purposes of the prize fellowship program is to provide the funds which will make it possible for these students to take part in a special advanced program leading to ten of the most promising seniors in science and mathematics education in the nation.

They have been chosen from among a group of outstanding students nominated by colleges and universities offering programs in preparation of secondary school teachers.

Students granted these prize fellowships in the past have demonstrated a competence of very high order. Last year, for example, the highest ranking student of 480 single degree candidates was among prize fellows. The student was a chemistry major at the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

Fellowships will be admitted to the Master of Arts in Teaching Program. In general, three quarters of the work will be courses in science offered by the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. Work at the master's level is considered to be the first step in a program of training leading to positions of special responsibility in teaching, supervision, or research. It is hoped that most award winners will wish to continue their work at the doctoral level, either immediately or after two years of teaching. For such students, work in the Master of Arts in Teaching Program will constitute the first year of a doctoral program.

On several occasions in these articles I have commented on the new role of the federal government in education. Today I would like to discuss another new influence which is becoming increasingly stronger in its effect on education. The inability of the educational profession to help to move towards the solution of society’s current problems is, in a small measure, the cause of things in a more limited way in an earlier period in our educational history.

The changes are inevitable and, indeed, some aspects of them will clearly benefit our profession. We do need to carefully examine what is happening, however, for the implications of our major business corporations becoming deeply involved in education are tremendous.

We need to ask the questions:

Will this change the method of decision making in education?
Will this change which will make the basic questions in education?
What will be the effects of the educational products of big businesses on student-teacher relationships?
What are the implications for our old ideal of local control in education?

Drastic Changes Seen

In my opinion, the educational institution in our society will be drastically different in the future. Much of the initiative in making this change has come from outside of our profession. Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:
For omitting their name in our column:

To the Editor:
Mr. Jaeger’s remarks in the March 14 issue of the Montclarion appear to be an appalling ignorance of campus events. Mr. Engler’s remarks in the same were far more appropriate and to the point. The gross misrepresentation of the administration and the themes of why students are leaving the university structure, and has yet to lose its place in the minds of students. Mr. Bereday’s view was simply an assurance to the students that the students at least would teach—simply that the students had direct control of the income of the professor—simply that if one did not teach a course well, one was not paid. Obviously, one cannot expect that agreement to apply to the students.

To the Editor:
It is, in a sense, rather humorous that young people (and I mean college students) are not aware that there is a need to provide a proper in attending a “State College” in descending order of the values of in league colleges.

ase notes: Since there is something wrong, no comment can be made.

To the Editor:
Mr. Kuhn’s remarks in this issue of the Montclarion are mere and character assassination, and political and ethnic slurs against the Montclair establishment.

Sincerely,

Joseph J. Winne

SEAM SLANT

I'd like to know what you've been missing. I've heard three speakers in the last two weeks who were not new MSC students were there. One, Dr. George Bereday, spoke at the SEMA meeting on March 1. His speech was about the usual problems with the usual solutions, etc., if you normally expect to hear about the status of the status. He was a pep talk about the change to be. He spoke, not about the change of the status, but of the new things coming tomorrow.

The change meant most to the people (and I mean college students) as a member of the administration, stolen from the people by better pay, Dr. Bereday is bagging for a new status quo— the instigator of change.

The second, Dr. Murray, speaking at the All College Conference two weeks ago gave a talk on teaching the disadvantaged child that should be a must for everyone. He described some of his experiences in working with the disadvantaged child. He told his listeners never to use tricks or short cuts with the disadvantaged and to realize that teaching is not just a way to earn a living. He ended his speech by saying that there is a need to salvage a large source of humanity, it is necessary to teach younger people (and I mean college students) to be translators or historians or anyone who wishes to do so. The bill will be introduced on Tues. March 14 at 4:00 p.m.

It's Your SGA

The Student Government Association Legislation passed a revised “Dress Code” for students on Feb. 28, 1967. The purpose of this revision was to provide for a more liberal dress code for students when in or attending the classrooms. The new revised dress code allows students to wear “loose clothing” and to have “any type of dress code” does not have the maturity to dress properly can have this maturity forced upon him. Some modes of dress which have been

New Dress Code in Effect

France had its Magnot Line, the SGA has its SGA Code. This is on paper, both are real. There are no sanctions for breaking the code. It serves merely as a guideline which can be ignored by anyone who wishes to do so.

A student dress code has been on the books for quite awhile and ignored or ignored for a time. A revision of the rules written and introduced to the SGA legislation by Bonnie Mannaro. The revised code was passed by the SGA in an 18 to 5 roll call vote. This new code states that casual dress can be worn in classes, lounges, and the grounds of the campus. Formal dress is required for such events as concerts, plays, lectures, and formal programs.

There are no sanctions for breaching the code. It serves merely as a guideline which can be ignored by anyone who wishes to do so.

Whether the SGA likes it or not, there is an underlying theme in SGA legislation that what is proper attire. President Joseph Kloza finds that the students who have decided that the services of the administration are no longer needed.

Quarterly Expands Through Workshops

Recent announcements by Paul Larson, Editor-in-Chief of Quarterly, and his staff mark an expansion in the operation and scope of the campus literary magazine.

Beginning on March 6, a series of Writing Workshops will be sponsored by Quarterly in which faculty and students may have the opportunity to read their own work and discuss it. Those who may be interested in writing for Montclair's campus are encouraged to attend in order to engage in a direct dialogue between author and reader. These workshops will be held in the Faculty Lounge in Life Hall from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. on March 22, April 5, 19, May 3, 17. In addition, a large-scale reading will be held following the publication of each issue of Quarterly.

Because of Quarterly's interest in promoting expression of all forms of good art, the magazine will sponsor the showing of Fellini's "8 1/2" in Italian on April 10 in Maloney Hall room 17. Admission is free.

Innovations have taken place, also, in the magazine's policy for evaluating submissions. After the end of the submission period, there will be an additional three days granted for consideration of the materials. This will enable the staff to give more attention to each piece.

Because of the large quantity of material that has been submitted this year, many good pieces of writing have not been included in Quarterly simply because of a lack of space. These holdovers will be re-evaluated in the future and will be given top-priority when material for the final issue of the magazine is to be selected.

A Quarterly bulletin board is presently in the basement of Life Hall.

Eighty MSC Students Visit East Harlem
Cordasco Views Trip As New Direction

There have been criticisms that Montclair State College graduates will not usually be found teaching in the ghetto school. There is a growing interest, however, in the disadvantaged community by certain faculty members and students who seem to believe this criticism.

Most recent evidence of this was a visit to East Harlem by Junior Class on February 28 sponsored by the Massive Economic Neighborhood Development, Inc. (MEND) and the Murray Division of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

The group—originators of this visit were Dr. Julius E. Golf Team Prepares For Spring Season

If one were to venture into Panzer Gym during the week, he would be greeted by the crisp sound of wood and iron meeting, as golf team prepares to start another hopefully successful season in defense of their championship.

The De Rosa boys have had a virtual monopoly on New Jersey State College Conference titles as they have amassed the crown in four out of the last five years with only Glassboro State spoiling a perfect record.

Last year the team was defeated in its initial tussle with May 2- Newark State; 4- New Castle; 8- Stroudsburg; 13- Upsala College; 12-14 Midland Avenue, Montclair.

This year's team has a strong nucleus in co-captains Gerry Me Glassboro State, and is also the circuit's defending singles champion.

TONY OVER FAIRLEIGH DICKINSON-KIWANIS CLASSIC WITH A BIG VICTORY

The varsity basketball team stayed in the ball game all the way but just didn't have that little extra that was needed and lost the New Jersey College Conference crown to an aggregative Trenton State College team, 71-76 before 3000 cheering fans at the Monmouth College field house in West Long Branch. The game also decided who would play in the NAIA District III finals against Monmouth College, who won their game against area Southern Connecticut, Eas.

Many of the freshmen were green this year, but we hope that next season many of the players will blossom under the watchful eye of Mr. Donald Co- per. Our young and energetic junior varsity coach.

Congratulations to our team for its fine season. This year's team will be expected to play a key role in our move into national basketball prominence.

Judo Club Advances

AS MEMBERSHIP GAINS

The Montclair State Judo Club, one of Montclair's newest clubs, is rapidly growing in membership. The club's purpose is to foster and promote the sport of judo at Montclair State College and to encourage and further the spirit of sportsmanship in athletic competition.

The Judo Club originated in 1965 and is in its second competition and a comprehensive, examination last year. Three of these men started initially at the college club and gained enough experience to earn their belts.

The Judo Club last year held its first annual inter-club competition in the Panzer Gymnasium. First place was awarded to Gary Hellwig, second place to Joe Switras, and third place to Leroy Sheets. The instructor refereed the matches. This is a competition in which the members of the club compete against each other to find who is the best in the club.

Future plans of the Judo Club include participating in the National Collegiate Judo Tournament at West Point, March, 1967, competitions with Rutgers University and NCE; grading for new ranks; participating in the 27-hour Marathon and Carnival 1967. One of the club's major goals is to obtain varsity status from Montclair State College.

The club meets every Tuesday in Panzer Gymnasium number 4, 6:30 p.m. for the beginning students, and 7:45 p.m. for the advanced students. Visitors are welcome to observe the judo classes. Anyone wishing to apply for membership to the Judo Club should see anyone mentioned in this article.

In short, MEND is the realization of the provisions of the Office of Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. Because of the humanitarian ideals of the teaching profession it is no wonder that teachers, especially the newly-graduated, are taking an active part in work in the ghetto schools. It is almost ludicrous to believe that the school can possibly be divorced from the community in which it exists; if it is to be an effective means of education.

"If this is so for the middle class suburban school, it is even more so for the urban school which is the heir of the myriad complexities of a rapidly deteriorating central city..."

Students Enthusiastic

The favorable response of the student visitors to the East Harlem trip was overwhelming. Most of the visitors felt that there was a great difference between reading about the disadvantaged community and in visiting one, and that their interest in teaching to such a community was greatly heightened by the visit.

Gymnasts Complete Successful Season

Little known or appreciated by the student body is the men's gymnastic squad. Coach Savering has guided the boys to the best season that they have ever had. The squad has won four and dropped three meets.

From approximately fifteen men selected for each meet, for six days a week, September to June and during all holidays these enthusiasts try to develop their bodies and powers of concentration, both necessary to a successful gymnast.

According to Coach Savering, Rich Schwartz, a biology major, Joe Miller, a physics major, and Dave Green, a freshman distributive education major are the men to watch in the near future.

Coach Savering is trying to recruit the best high school gymnasts in the state for his future teams. Savering recently commented, "I know every gymnast in the state, his name, rank and serial number."

On Sat., Feb. 25 at 7:30 p.m., our team met West Chester College's team at home. On March 8 at 7:30 p.m., Montclair engaged in its last gymnastic meet of the season against Long Island University on their home ground.

Freshmen View

First Season

The amazing Montclair State College freshman basketball team directed by Assistant Paul Sorensen completed its season with an undefeated 15 and 6 mark.

In addition to terrorizing conference foes, the Freshmen defeated such highly regarded quintets as St. Peters and Wagner.

The main reason for the success of the team is its fine coach Paul Sorensen. In his two years of coaching at Montclair, Sorensen has turned in 45 victories with but three reversals. Sorensen stressed agressive team play, hustle and the technical aspects of the game on route to MSC's first undefeated basketball campaign.

Fine Play Enjoyed

Making Sorensen's job easier this season was the fine play of Bob Sinkiewicz. At 6'4", Bob was the strongest player on the team, in addition to grabbing his share of rebounds, he averaged close to 25 points per game. The team has two other fine big men: Dick McGuire who moves very well for a big man (6'7") and possesses a good outside shot, and Fred Kelmel who, although only substitute, averaged 10 points per game and was high in the rebounding statistics.

The two starting backcourt performers, John Grynba, and Frank Rosi, handled the ball very well and did an effective job of defending.
