Chancellor Dungan Meets Student Press at Trenton

by Ernest Jaeger

Ralph A. Dungan, the man who will probably most influence New Jersey higher education, revealed many of his personal and public feelings at his first news conference with college editors and student government officials. Dungan declared remarks which would seem to show the direction toward which Montclair State will move in the future. The conference was held on Thurs., Nov. 16; Ernest Jaeger, Editor-in-chief of the Montclarion, and Alan Da Cunzo, Student Government Association Representative, represented Montclair State.

The first question posed regarding Dungan follows: "Through the years, Montclair State has developed, despite the insistence of the previous type of state control, a tradition of excellence. We have become alarmed at the unfavorable remarks of the Chancellor which have been reported in the state newspapers. Our question is: Are such remarks of a general nature going to continue from your office? We have heard many sources, among them Montclair students,stag a "Montclair State is bad except Mont- Clair have done things wrong this land. Does Montclair want to change its character by exp-anding, can one build as eco-nomically on the quarry rock, and are you likely to have an effective institution at that site rather than building at another site? Dungan maintained that he had "no strong opinions" on the matter.

Dungan felt that the per cent across the board faculty pay raise would move toward establishing a "more balanced and equitable system." He hopes that the proposal would put all faculty people, both in state colleges and in the state university, on a reasonably equitable scale.

Stating that he was "for stu-dent unions," Dungan stated that we must develop rational campus plans based upon the educational plan. There is not an "unlimited pot of money" and thus we must develop priorities in the area of physical ex-pan-sion.

Expansion

Dungan stated that the pro-posal to buy the rights for a grade crossing on the railroad at the North end of campus is "in the works," although he didn't know at what stage it is currently.

When asked whether the st-udent who gained an option to buy an additional piece of land at the North end of campus plans to buy any property, Dungan replied that there are many considerations which must be made before buying any of the property.

Dungan's answer in short stated that Montclair is a "good little institution." The day it be-gins to get smug, it will go downhill. However, we at Montclair have done things wrong also. The Chancellor stated that he would not say that all state colleges are bad except Mont- Clair "I would like to see Montclair tell the world what it thinks is good about teacher education or what is good about Montclair.

James Meredith to Lecture

"Take a Walk With Meredith" is the title of a lecture to be sponsored by the International Relations Club of Montclair State College on Nov. 28. Speaker James Meredith, the first Negro to integrate the University of Mississippi, will speak on the topic, "Racial Peace in America."

Meredith became the focal point of national and international attention in June 1963 when he first enrolled as a student at the University of Mississippi. He was on academic suspension the last two years. He was dismissed from the University of Mississippi by the U.S. marshals, the U.S. Army and Air Force, and scores of hostile, jeering observers. By that year's end, Meredith was hailed as a hero and patriot and condemned as a scoundrel and troublemaker. He had been viewed with awe and respect, condemned as a scoundrel and thus we must develop prior-ities in the area of physical ex-

The story of his march has been often told. Shot by a white sniper from ambush, he will probably carry to his dying day some of the 78 hardhot pellets which entered his body. Upon his discharge from the hospital, he completed his march.

Meredith stresses that he will present his own individual ideas, even though they may be at variance with those of official Negro organizations. Meredith has his own personal assessment of the racial struggle in the United States, and his own specific proposals for the future course of the Negro movement. He believes that this is a problem for both whites and Ne-groes, and an improvement of the situation for both groups is necessary.

The public is invited to Mr. Meredith's lecture on Nov. 28 free of charge. Seats may be reserved by writing Barbara Michalik, International Relations Club, Box 16, Montclair State College, Upper Montclair, N.J.

Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., Pulitzer prize winning author who lectures on campus on Nov. 25.

Schlesinger to Speak At MSC November 29

Arthur Schlesinger, the noted author, historian and lec-turer, will speak at MSC in the lecture series sponsored by the College Life Union Board. The lecture will be given in the Construction Auditorium at 8 P.M. on Wed., Nov. 29, and will be held in Memorial Auditorium.

Mr. Schlesinger was graduated summa cum laude from Harvard in 1938. The following year, his honors essay was named "Abbeville: The History of Negro-Hispanic Relations in the Low Country." It was published under the title of Ores-es A. Brownson: A Pilgrim's Progress. It received high praise from critics and was a selection of the Catholic Book Club.

During World War II, Mr. Schlesinger served in the Office of War Information in Washington, the Office of Strategic Services in London, Paris, and Germany, and the United States Army. During this time, he com-peted work on The Age of Jack-son, which won him the Pulit-zer Prize; at 26, he was the Youngest historian to receive this award.

Mr. Schlesinger returned to Harvard as professor of history in 1947. In 1961, he went to Washington, where he served as special assistant to President Kennedy and, after his death, to President Johnson.

He left the White House in March of 1964 to write a book on the Kennedy Administration. A Thousand Days became an other Pulitzer Prizewinner as well as a Book of the Month selection and best seller in this country and abroad.

At present, Mr. Schlesinger is the Albert Schweitzer Professor of Humanities at the City Uni-versity of New York, graduate division.

Cordasco Testifies Before Sub-Committee on Education

During the summer of 1967, Dr. Frank M. Cordasco, professor of education at Montclair State College, gave testimony before the General Education Sub-Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives on a bill to amend the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 in order to bring about a bilingual educational program.

This testimony was designed to provide instruction in Spanish for those students, both Mexican-American and Puerto Rican, who are generally handpicked in seeking an education in this country. These students, confronted with teachers who speak only English, become frustrated and disheartened when faced by this needless language barrier. The program was designed by the fact that in our society the principal key to upward social mobility has always been, and still is, education.

The rise of American society reflects this development. The Irish of the 1840's and the Italians of the 1890's discovered that education would give them the knowledge and ability to make their lives better. We today see these two nationalities in the forefront of American life.

Dr. Cordasco also testified before the Special Subcommittee on Bilingual Education of the Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, U.S. Senate, and gave testimony before the Senate on the necessity for some bill that would alleviate the pressing problems of these two minority groups. The necessity for this bill arises from the need to make educational achievement and its inevitable consequences, reverent.

Several bills are now before Congress in an effort to correct the basic problems of the non-English-speaking child in our country. One of these would be to promote closer home-school cooperation, and provide bilingual education teachers and materials for children from non-English-speaking homes.

The entire question of the problem of bilingual education was summed up by Dr. Cordasco in his testimony before the Senate: "It is not really the primary language of the instructions process, but rather how a child is to be moved into an area of effective educational growth, and how this particular proposal represents the unique situation of the integration of the Spanish-speaking person into our society can be brought about.

Newman Will Hold Retreat

The word, "retreat," as applied to the unique spiritual experience of introspection and religious renewal, connotes the austere and awe-inspiring aspects of the ascetic life. However, the annual three day weekend retreat offered by the Newman Apostolate is far from austere and awe-inspiring as the student would imagine a retreat to be, and for this reason, has been the subject of much discussion.

The retreat, or "spiritual happening," according to Dr. Newman, is a "time off" this year to all interested persons, whether Catholic or non-Catholic student or non-student, the weekend of Jan. 5, 6, and 7. Lectures, group discussions, folk Masses, and individual conferences are just a few of the many activities planned to instill a sense of fraternity and Christian love among all retreatants. In addition, the spiritual advantages of retreat also offers a change of pace from the busy rat race of term papers, cramming, and meetings so common to the life of the involved student.

To become "involved" in this spiritual happening, application forms should be made as soon as possible. "Inviting蔡先生 with a view to the senior and member of Delta Sigma Chi, or any member of the retreat committee, or by leaving a registration deposit which is due by Dec. 1.

Players Workshop Will Be 'Evening of Comedy'

To inaugurate the new Studio Theatre (K-200), Players will present an Evening of Comedy on Dec. 1 and 2 at 8:30 P.M. and on Dec. 3 at 2:30 P.M.

Produced by Paul Hart, the workshop production will be the second Players' presentation of the season. The first, Mackerel, played to a total audience of approximately 1500 high school students. (The total audience for their three major productions during the 1966-67 season was 10,000.)

An Evening of Comedy will consist of three plays, each representing a different theatrical period and style. During the evening both prosenium and central staging will be used to demonstrate the flexibility of the new theatre.

Gammer Gurton's Needle, the second oldest English comedy, will open the evening. This coarse farce was first performed in Cambridge, England, in 1606. It deals with a household, Gammer Gurton, who loses her needle as she is mending the breeches of her servant, Hodge. Madeleine Brannick will direct the cast which includes Warren Wachter, Jackie Trice-Klepley, (Lady Chat); Bob Brewer, (Dedoe); Tony Giorno (Hodge); Monte Gumser, (Tib); and Ed Musto, (Dr. Rat).

The second play on the bill will be Lady Windermere's Fan by Oscar Wilde. A sophisticated comedy of manners, this late 19th century play concerns the idealistic and respectable Lady Windermere, who decides to leave her husband, Sir John. Directed by Carolyn Grasso, the cast consists of Suzette Sides (Lady Windermere); David Max, (Lord Darlington); and Debra Bowers (Mrs. Celeste).

The Evening of Comedy will conclude with Eugene Ionesco's Bald Soprano. Representing the "Theater of the Absurd," this 1948 tragi-comedy demonstrates the meaninglessness of human existence in the modern world. The stuffy, middle-class English couple in this play, written in nonsensical conversations consisting merely of cliches from a foreign language phrase book, will be produced by the cast which includes Sharon Wachter, (Mrs. Smith); Fred Kukowski, (Mr. Martin); Cathy Ramsden, (Mrs. Martin); Sandy Kruzelit, (Mary, the maid); and Scott Watson, (The fire chief).

Musical America VI Will Be Presented by Sinfonia

The Lambda Mu Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, the national professional music fraternity, will once again present their annual concert featuring the music of American composers. This year the program for the concert, titled Musical America VI, will offer a large cross-section of American musical life and will feature the music of Duke Ellington, Ives, Risden, and Persichetti. The concert will be presented Wed., Dec. 6, in Memorial Auditorium.

As the president, Sinfonia will again do a world premiere when it presents the first performance of Robert Risden's Brass Octet with Percussion. Robert Risden, who graduated from MSC in June 1967, composed and dedicated his octet to the Lambda Mu Chapter during the summer of 1967. Mr. Risden was second in memorial Auditorium. His composition, The Tree of Law from the Masque of Niagara by Harry Gaul, one of the leading composers of the 13/12th Century. The chorus will also perform the work of a native New Jersey composer, Richard Lamm, who has written his Hymns to the Nights based upon a text by Longfellow. Vally Wieg's Three Choral Songs of the Southwest and Richard Butler's exciting Pesan of Brotherhood will conclude this portion of the program, which will be directed by Bruce Deisinger. The program is also serving as the co-ordinator for Musical America VI.

Vincent Persichetti's Serena No. 1 for Ten Wind Instruments will be performed by the Sinfonia chamber wind ensemble. One of America's leading composers, Mr. Persichetti is not a stranger to MSC, since he was one of the participating composers at the Composer's Symposium of two years ago. Bruce Deisinger will conduct the Sinfonians.

The program will end with the Sinfonia Male Chorus under the direction of Lee David Donow. They will sing Persichetti's Sam Was a Man, Houston Bright's Sailor's Alleluia, and Heard a Voice a-Prayin, and Ives' Popular No. 1 an Island.

Free refreshments will be offered during intermission, and tickets for the concert are available from any Sinfonia brother. The concert will start at 8:30 P.M. Loge tickets are $1.00 and orchestra tickets are $1.50. Tickets are also placed on sale two weeks prior to the concert at the Fishbowl in Life Hall or in the Music Building office.

Pass-Fail System Opinions
Can It Work at Montclair?

by David M. Levine

On college campuses throughout America, grading students always presents problems for the instructor. Some of the most unfair grades many educators are looking for new standards to grade their classes.

Some schools mark each student against theoretical standards of performance, such as 'A' for all students in the top 10 percent of their class. Other schools compare each student against the top scholars in the major, and still others compare each student against all students in the discipline.

In this system, a slow student in a slow class would have the opportunity to obtain an "A"; it would, however, be virtually impossible for this same student to obtain an "A" in a faster class. Educators and students are realizing that the marking systems employed by various colleges are inaccurate, and even "unfair." With this realization comes the idea for a grading system in which each passing or failing subject has no numeric mark involved.

"Yale Adopts Pass-Fail"

Currently there are only handful of universities that have adopted pass-fail. Colleges such as Bennington and Sarah Lawrence have operated without the use of any numeric grades for several years. Under a recent plan at Columbia College, each student may select one course per semester in which his grade will be "pass" or "fail.

One of the recent converts to pass-fail is Yale University. "It is impossible," said Dr. Derek Shearer, head of the Yale Student Advisory Board, "to put a numeric value on students." He added that pass-fail would "... move away from the pseudo-scientific claims of the numbers system.

The system at Yale is a requirement of study and determines the merits and failings of the pass-fail system. As a result of the extremely favourable vote by members of Yale's faculty, pass-fail will go into effect next January.

Could It Work At MSC?

While many colleges throughout the United States are in the midst of faculty discussion on the pass-fail system, little has been accomplished at MSC. Several professors, however, have indicated their interest in pass-fail. Science professor W. Kowalski stated that interest-type courses such as "cosmic science" should be on a pass-fail basis. He added that it may be necessary for some students to "scale up the requirements for passing grades to avoid goofing off by students."

Differing with Dr. Kowalski is psychology professor Garland. She stated that pass-fail has been "tried in several colleges and been tossed out." Professor Garland added that pass-fail "... aids the non-student." While other professors interviewed stated that they did not approve of pass-fail, they admitted that the requirements for passing their courses would not change.
Henry Sweet Henry Leaves Bitter Taste

by Bonnie Mannaca

Did someone say that Don Ameche is the "star" of Henry Sweet Henry? I rather doubt it. There is no star in this show: maybe, a few glimmering lights. However, if you're partial to sweets...

The suave Don Ameche is not at home in the part of Henry Orient—th epianist, the lady-killer, the bumbling idiot. Ameche is not wittling enough; it is not uncommon for children to steal the show. This sug ar-coated musical is no exception. Robin Wilson (Val) and Naomi Small (Gil) easily carry the show which, incidentally, isn't too heavy a load. They are two fourteen-olds experiencing "growing pains" at the expense of Henry Orient.

Teasing him night and day they keep a log of Orient's every move. Some really sexy changes pass from Gil to Val, i.e. Valerie Boyd's psychiatrist, Dr. Leary, takes SOB (LSD). A schoolmate of Val and Gil's, Keen, takes drugs and is Alice Playten) is perhaps the brightest light in a money-bags, a convincing bitch, she is a bundle of dynam rise with a voice as powerful as ten. Beltling out Nobody Steaks on Katz (Roxanne) at the word, so much so, that one wouldn't touch her with a ten foot pole.

A few contemporary jokes, a not so old theme (what is it?) and a couple of spirited girls save this show. Don't expect to leave the Palace tumbling tunes you may remember from the show—there are no memorable ones.

Perhaps the most apropos lines were spoken by Don Am meche and Carol Beuze (Mrs. Boyd). "...You ought to be on stage." "IT'S TOO LATE" Henry Sweet Henry. A Yemita, a money-bags, a convincing bitch, she is a bundle of

The term "culturally deprived" is an absurdity; the attitude which engenders such a category reflects the belief that one, to of people are better than an other. How can any person be born without a culture? Such thinking has led to the disenfranchisement and alienation of the poor and the "lower" classes from American society.

The term "disadvantaged" is an absurdity here, too, for it is essentially true of stigma. However, there is a vast number of students in our schools, the fact to be considered is that as Daniel Fader puts it — they are "unreached." Dr. Daniel Fader is assistant professor of English at the University of Michigan and author of Hooked On Books. He will speak to the senior English majors on Friday, Dec. 1, at noon in room C-304. The entire college is invited to this third lecture sponsored by the Prospective Teacher Fellowship Program. Because of his experiences as project director of the English program at the W.T. Maney Vocational School (Wilmington, Michigan) and in Michigan, he is a consultant in establishing a program in reading and writing for Job Corps Trainees. Dr. Fader should give new insights into "reaching the unreached."

Without going into all the reasons for the gap between the school and the disadvantaged child, we can say that Fader bridges that gap simply because he is where the kids are. His understanding that the "live-today," exists and reflects an understanding of the disadvantaged determines how they will reach them. A child is expected to do in the classroom is a key to his approach to learning based on letting the student read what he wants to read.

Fader's approach to learning is based on two concepts: the development of communication and the process of learning. He feels that the ability of the disadvantaged to communicate is often more evident than their inability to learn. The practical consequence of these statements is that the student is given materials to read which are about his own everyday reality. These materials are in the form of magazines, newspapers, and paperback books.

The term "culturally deprived" reflects the belief that one type of daily living, and presents social, political and legal information, related to the economy. Supplementary materials include two activities books, tests and examinations, and a teacher's guide. "Economic Facts," a bulletin issued twice each school year, will be sent free, on request, to teachers using the book.

Pass Fail At Yale
Can It Work Here?

Last week the undergraduate college of Yale voted to drop its present 40 to 100 numerical grading system. Professors would now give one of four possible scores: fail, pass, high pass or honors. It is true that Yale students are faced with one potential difference. Our compliments to Slater Food Service which went out of its way to provide excellent and attractive meals for the students still prefer to live as pigs. MSC students still prefer to live as pigs.

Yale would not encourage academic apathy. Winter has come. Montclair students don't have to worry about becoming stuck in the mud—it's frozen.

Thanksgiving—What Are Our Blessings?

It is once again the time for turkeys, trimming, and treats, football games, family gatherings and friendly greetings, thoughtfulness and thanksgiving. How many of us even take the time and the effort needed to reflect upon the blessings for which we should give thanks. Perhaps many of us give a simple sign of thanks and relief for the m...-bled four day holiday and the chance to catch up on sleep. Perhaps some feel there is little to be thankful for in this world of apparently widespread drug addiction, promiscuity, violence, hatred, warfare, etc. However, one should not take too pessimistic an attitude. Dear Editor,

During discussions of evaluative techniques in our education class (Development of Educational Evaluation, Prof. D. W. J. 15:1-15) we have found many inadequacies in the present grading system. These inadequacies are basically the same as those enumerated by an education class in a letter to the Montclairian. We have found, however, that you are well aware. In writing this letter we wish to offer our support to that group and to the administration, faculty, and students in seeking more viable and adequate means of evaluating student progress. We also wish to make it clear that we are not attempting an educational coup d'état, but are rather trying to express our concern and convictions about the present grading system which are reflected in our utilization of that system.

Student-centered and student-controlled activities have formed the center of our class program. We appreciate the trust which has been bestowed on us and welcome the challenge of adjusting to secure atmosphere can the student evolve a mature style of thinking and acting. We feel that the present grading system is hampered by the present system of channels which must be utilized. Communication is essential if a process of change is to be actualized. We lend our support as physical support to any action in the direction of stimulation of our class procedures and inadequacies of the present system exists between interested parties, of developing more acceptable system of expressing the opinion as through implementing the use of such systems.

Very truly yours,

Dear Editor:

I am writing in reply to the letter concerning the Holiday Singing Concert. FOOTBALL FOR SHUT-INS

At next Saturday's football game while you are sitting in your student's seat behind the end zone, won't you pause and give a thought to football's greatest and, alas, most neglected name? I refer, of course, to Champert Sigefros.

Champert Sigefros (1714-1928) started life humbly on a farm near Thud, Kansas. His mother and father, both named Walter, were bean-gleaners, and Champert became a bean-gleaner too. But he tired of the work and went to Montana where he got a job with a logging firm. Here he drifted to Texas where he tidied up oil fields (pipe-wiper). Then to Arizona where he strung dried fruit (fig-rigger). Then to Kentucky where he fed horses at a breeding farm (cost- toter). Then to Long Island where he dressed poultry (duck-plucker). Then to Alaska where he drove a delivery van for a bakery (bread-sledder). Then to Minnesota where he cut up frozen lakes (ice-alcer). Then to Nevada where he determined the odds in a gambling house (dice-pricer). Then to Milwaukee where he pasted camera lenses together (Zeiss-splinter).

He finally went to Omaha where he got a job in a tannery, but he had to cancel his subscription until the Sis-sogger. Here occurred the event that changed not only Champert's life, but all of ours.

Next door to Champert's boomerang was a mooring mast for dirigibles. In flew a dirigible one day, piloted by a girl named Graffa von Zeppelin. Champert watched Graffa descend from the dirigible, and his heart turned over, and he knew love. Though Graffa's beauty was not quite perfect—one of her legs was shorter than the other (blimp-gimmer)—she was nonetheless ravishing, what with her ravishing hair and her eyes of Lake Louise blue and her marvellously articulated hands. Champert, smitten, ran quickly back to the hog-floggery to plan the wooing.

To begin with, naturally, he would give Graffa a present. This present problem, for hop-floggers as we all know, is a signally underdeveloped profession. Still, thought Champert, if he had no money, there were two things he did have plenty of money and plenty ofentinies.

So he selected several high grade pelts and stitched them together and blew air into them and made for Graffa a perfectly darling little replica of a dirigible. 'She will love this,' said he confidently to himself and proceeded to make ready to call on Graffa.

First of all, he shaved with Persson Super Stain- less Steel Blades. And wouldn't you? If you were looking to impress a girl, if you wanted jowls as smooth as ivory, dewlaps like damask, a chin stroakable, cheeks fondlesome, upper lip kissable, would you not use the blade that Champert's face is a study in epidermal elegance, his neck is silkily, scrabblescibly and matchlessly? Would you not, in short, choose Persson, available both in Injector style and double-edge style? Of course you would.

So Champert, his face a study in epidermal elegance, rushed next door with his little pigskin dirigible. But Graffa, alas, had run off, alas, with a bush pilot who specialised in dropping limes to scurvy-ridden Eskimo villagers (fruit-chuter).

Champert enraged, started kicking his little pigskin blimp all over the place. And who should walk by just then but John Thorpe, Knute Rockne, Walter Camp, and Pete Roselle?

They walked silently, heads down, four discouraged men. For as they had hoped to invent a new way to kick, but they couldn't seem to find the right kind of ball. They tried everything—hockey pucks, baseballs, basketballs, frisbees, quoits—but nothing worked. Now seeing Champert kicking his pigskin sphere, he hit it one man they hollered 'Eureka!' The rest is history.

Speaking of kicks, if you've got any about your present shave cream, try Barina-Shnee, regular or menthol.

BILLY TELL SPARKS MSC SOCCER TEAM

With Montclair State College’s varsity soccer team headed towards its first winning season since 1964, a good deal of the credit for the Indians’ success this year can be traced to their co-captain, Wilhelm (Bill) Tell.

Tell, co-captain of the team, is carrying more than the average burden as a leader. Coach Leonard Lucenko is starting six freshmen this season and has needed the steady play and direction of a mature soccer player like Tell.

A native of Stuttgart, Germany, Tell came to the United States when he was nine years old. While he had played a good deal of soccer in Germany as a youngster, he took part in little of the world’s most popular sport here in the United States.

When he entered East Rutherford High School he went out for football and played three varsity years as a halfback.

As he got older, he played a little more soccer but strictly for fun with the Passaic School’s on Sundays and after the football season.

When he entered Newark College of Engineering as a freshman, he returned to soccer and made the Engineers’ starting team.

Transferring to Montclair State after his freshman season, Tell was forced to sit out a season before playing varsity ball. While he played extremely well last season as a junior, the Indians did not do well and finished the season 4-7-3.

Lucenko, who turned in a brilliant recruiting job in his second season, has put together a team that figures to be one of the best in the East in two years. Tell has been outstanding all season long according to Lucenko in counseling his young teammate.

"Wilhelm has been a very fine leader for us this season. He has provided the example and drive that our young team needs so badly in developing team play and skills," the Montclair State coach said.

A math major, Tell hopes to coach and teach following graduation this coming June. He has maintained a fine 2.7 grade ratio throughout his college days.

Now a resident of Wallington, Tell’s fine play has not only been noticed by Montclair State roosters in the Poughkeepsie (N.Y.) tournament held in late September, but he was also named the tournament’s most valuable player from 80 players taking part in the playoff.

Tell has but one regret as far as Montclair State soccer is concerned. “I would love to be here next season when our team will come of age and start to climb up the ladder of college soccer,” the Indians co-captain said.

Wilhelm Tell may not be there in person in 1968, but the vital leadership he has provided this season to the Indians soccer players will have already helped to develop a winning team.

Montclair Defeats Glassboro, 14-0

by John Dantoni

On a cold wind-swept November day Montclair State’s young defensive crew finally matured and led the Indians to a 14-0 victory over Glassboro State College.

The Indian defense has more than held its own this season but this game saw the unit come of age.

Glassboro was held to three first downs (two on penalties), 14 yards rushing, and only 51 yards gained via the airwaves.

Impressive as they are, these statistics fail to tell the whole story as they don’t include the nine times the Indian offense handed the ball over to Glassboro, often in Indian territory, on three fumbles and six interceptions.

The defense went on to halt every Glassboro uprising; the highlight being a fourth and one foot stop on a crushing tackle by Charlie Plochick a 6-1, 255 pound bundle of fun.

Montclair’s final tally was up when Joe Kostecki blocked a Glassboro punt and Tony Valente covered the ball for the Indians on the Glassboro 18.

It took Walt Lampman seven plays to sneak over from the two with the insurance touchdown. Dan Rodgers again converted running his consecutive extra point streak to 20.

The win left Montclair State with a 3-5 record with only Delaware State left to be entertained.

SAVERING HAS HIGH HOPES AS GYMNASTS START SEASON

Varsity gymnastics coach, Bill Savering, now in his third year as coach at Montclair, feels that this year's team will be the best ever.

Last year Savering coached the team to a 5-4 record which was the best seasonal norm turned in by an Indian gymnastics squad.

Rich Schwartz, Dave Green and Joe Miller head the list of seven returning lettermen.

The trio broke the recent team point record last year. Other returning lettermen are Ken Gunther, Ron Polking, Ralph Coscia and Bob Day. Three sophomores who did not participate last season are being counted on heavily; they are Miles Jensen, Bill Ryan and Joe Maccluso. Roger Brown and Tom Fiorentino head a corps of five freshmen gymnasts which will include Russ Spencer, John Moller and Joe Garreffi.

Roger Brown who led the gymnastics team at Lincoln High School in Jersey City will be participating in floor exercises, the side horse and the long horse. Junior Ralph Coscia will be concentrating on the still rings this season along with John Perucchi, Bill Ryan and Tom Fiorentino. Dave Green and Rich Schwartz will be involved in all events this year. Ron Polking will be participating in the trampoline, still rings and parallel bar events. Joe Miller, a three-year member, will be performing on the side horse, long horse, parallel bars and in the floor exercises. Fresh John Moller from Paulsboro High School will be mainly a trampoline performer. Joe Maccluso's event goes on the side horse and the long horse. Jensen's air team on the high bar and the trampoline. Ken Gunther will be on the still rings, horizontal bar and long bar and Joe Garrett, a freshman from Lake Hopatcong and former City Champion prior to his Navy days, will work the side horse, as well Bob Day.

This year Cortland State College and City College of New York have been added to the schedule and the team will head up to Springfield College in March to participate in the NCAA National College Division meet.

Horn, extremely high on his star, believes that Harris has only started to come into his own. "Jim is only now starting to put it all together as a runner and should get a good deal better before the year is out." Horn says.

As a freshman student, he was awarded a scholarship last Easter to visit Central America to study in Mexico and a number of other countries. He hopes to teach social studies and coach following graduation in June.

Harris is high in his praise of the coaches he has had in high school and college. "At South Side Mr. John Bravaco taught me all the fundamentals of cross-country and here at Montclair State Dr. Richard Willing and Mr. Horn have made it possible for me to achieve the success that I have had this season," the MSC star said.

Harris' aim right now is to repeat as N.J.C.C. and District 31, N.A.A. champion plus adding the new collegiate cross-country title to his trophy case.

INDIANS JOIN COMPEITITION IN DEFENSE OF KIWANIS CROWN

Montclair State, pre-season favorite to capture the New Jersey State College Conference Championship, has accepted an invitation to take part in the second annual Northern New Jersey Kiwanis Basketball Classic. It was announced today by Dick Stahlberger, executive director.

The Indians, defending Classic Champions, posted a record of 21 wins and 5 losses last season and will have nine veterans returning for the 1967-68 campaign.

Veterans returning to Ollie Geiston, who has taken over the direction of the Indians from Dave Watkins, are Lester Bowden, Bob Gleason, Mike Oakes, Dave Conroy, Bob Lester, Keith Noigel, Bruce Bricc, Randy Heidemann and Al Fudge.

Geiston also figures to get help from the Montclair State College freshmen team of last year that went unbeaten in 19 games. Key performers from that team who are now fighting for varsity positions are Rob Simkiewicz, Dick McGuirre, Frank Romi, Fred Kiemel and Jack Grzymko.

Stahlberger, in making the announcement of Montclair State's participation said, "We are extremely happy to have Ollie Geiston and his fine team back in our playoff. The Indians will be one of the top small college fives in the East this year and will bring topflight play to the Classic."

The Northern New Jersey Kiwanis Classic will be played at Montclair State College's Panzer gym between Dec. 27 and 30.

The tourney will open on Wed. evening, Dec. 27, with a doubleheader while tripleheaders will be played on Thurs., Dec. 28, and Fri., Dec. 29.

The consolation and championship rounds will take place on Sat., Dec. 30.

The Northern New Jersey Kiwanis Classic is under the joint direction of Don Johnston and Dr. Paul Elin.

Jim Harris Gains Track Recognition

The scouting reports that reached Montclair State College on Jim Harris of Newark, N. J., as a high school cross-country and middle distance runner in track stated, "a late developer who should come into his own in college.

Jim had only a small measure of success this year, Harris' individual win in the last three dual meets and went on to win the individual championship in the New Jersey State College Conference and District 31, National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Cross-Country meets.

Coupled with his 11 wins this season, Harris' individual winning streak has now reached 14 straight meets.

A graduate of South Side High School in Newark, N. J., Jim is a soft-spoken person who met with indifferent success in cross-country as a freshman and sophomore.

George Horn, who took over as the Indians' cross-country coach last year, noticed in the early events of last year that Harris appeared to run out of gas midway through each race.

The Montclair State coach put his star on an extra diet of vitamins which made a great difference in the second quarter, as the offsene showed signs of coming to life for the first time since the Currie College game.

Senior halfback Jack Land-

fried started the barrage by taking John Gardi's pass and going 57 yards for a 14-0.

On the next series it was Land-

fried again who took the ball over, carrying it four yards after some fine faking by Gardi.

Montclair State Defeats Trenton State, 38-7
Gain Win in Eastern Conference

by John Dantonio

The Montclair State Indians made turn-about fair play as they put the ax to Trenton State's Homecoming by a 38-7 score. The victory, the first for the Indians in the Eastern Football Conference, was also Montclair's initial road win.

The Indians dominated play from the opening period as halfback Jerry Waller scored on a one yard dive through the Trenton line.

Montclair State then exploded for three quick touchdowns in the second quarter, as the offence showed signs of coming to life for the first time since the Currie College game.

Senior halfback Jack Land-

fried started the barrage by taking John Gardi's pass and going 57 yards for a 14-0.

On the next series it was Land-

fried again who took the ball over, carrying it four yards after

some fine faking by Gardi.

The final score of the quarter came on a 32 yard return by Bill Kul-kowski after he had pulled down a Trenton State pass giving Montclair a 28-0 halftime lead.

The second half saw the Indian defense add to the lead as Fred Henry fell on a blocked kick in the Trenton end zone, upping the margin to 35-0.

Dan Rodgers later added a 44 yard field goal in the last quarter to close Montclair's second highest scoring day of the season.

The offense felt the shutdown when Mike Yurko intercepted an Indian pass and returned it 73 yards for Trenton's lone score.
