The board's ninth member, Charles Greg 评级, publisher, was absent when the picture was taken.

It was announced recently that Dr. W. Lincoln Hawkins was appointed chairman of the board with Dr. William C. Warren as his vice-chairman.

Dumont Against Tax Rise
Speaks on More Funds For Higher Education

State Senator Wayne Dumont (Republican-district 15) spoke recently at Trenton Stage College in a panel discussion concerning higher education at the six state colleges. Also present on the panel were Assemblyman John Ewing and Wayne Schulte.

Senator Dumont noted that the largest percentage of New Jersey students are leaving the state to receive higher education. Approximately one out of two students travels out of state since New Jersey is now providing only nine centers of
No Tuition Rise, Says Richardson

Dr. Thomas Richardson has announced that no rise in tuition will take place at Montclair State College next year despite the recent increase proposed by Ralph Dungan, Chancellor of Higher Education.

At a recent meeting of the state board of higher education the board decided against such a proposal to increase state college tuition at all state colleges from $150 to $250.

The administration at MSC will continue to oppose such plans unless the state will supplement an equal or greater amount of money than that which would be provided by a tuition increase.

Dr. Richardson has stated, "We are in dire need of additional funds and any money looks attractive. I am strongly opposed to a tuition increase if that is the only action taken to improve the lot of the state colleges."

Upper Class Dorm Students Gain On-Campus Parking

Since there now exists a small number of unused parking spaces on the MSC campus, a committee was formed to explore the possibility of resident parking on campus. After numerous meetings and with the approval of President Richardson and other members of the college administration, a parking policy for resident students was drawn up.

The policy formulated will allow male resident juniors and seniors who perform any one of the various services for the improvement of the dormitories to purchase decals for their cars at a cost of $10 per semester. The services which qualify a student for the parking privilege include membership on the dorm council, resident assistant, deskmen and tutors.

RESTRICTIONS
Parking will be permitted only in the lot northwest of Webster Hall. Dormitory students will be subject to normal parking and traffic regulations; improperly marked cars will be ticketed. This area will not interfere with snow removal since residents will be responsible for snow removal in their own area.

Students not complying with resident parking regulations may have the parking privilege suspended. Parking may also be suspended when more spaces are needed for commuting students.

Architects Plan
Dynamic Campus

MSC recently acquired the services of three architects to implement a "master plan" for the college construction program. The architects are Max O. Urban, Leo H. Mahoney and Mr. J. Zvosec. Mr. Urban is employed by a New York architectural firm while Mr. Mahoney and Mr. Zvosec are employed by a New Jersey firm. The college is in the process of drawing up the contracts for these men.

Since MSC was founded there have been no master architects to implement our master plan. The planning itself was done by the administration. It is now hoped that this situation will be remedied. Through studies of the campus made by the architects, an attempt will be made to give coherence to future building plans. And further plans for academic development of the college will have to be coordinated with the plans of the master architects.

Mr. Calabrese of the business office asserts that the master architects will insure that the college grows according to an orderly and predetermined concept. Most of the future building construction at MSC will be based upon the eventual purchase of the quarry that is situated behind Webster Hall. A classroom building for interdepartmental use is the next structure to be built by the college.

In conjunction with the architectural plans, the firm of Andres, Miceli and Weed has been hired to give tone and character to the college landscaping work. The landscaping for the new Fine Arts building will be the first attempt to inject a character uniquely suited to the college into the landscaping.

STUDENTS TO EXPLORE INTERNATIONAL LIVING

(Montclair College News)

The Experiment in International Living, which began at 8 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium, was announced its 1968 scholarship winners from MSC. These top six students have been awarded $75 per cent scholarships, using funds supplied by SGA and the Faculty-Student Co-op for travel abroad this summer. They are Barbara Cattois, who will travel in Great Britain; Linda Cifelli, Denmark; Robert Cottingham, India; Janice Dime, France; Barbara Evans, Sweden and Robert Hillebrand, Switzerland.

Fourteen additional students have received approximately $400 each from SGA, they are Roseann Bostonian, Marilyn Cohen, Iris Goldenberg, Stanley Gurski, Richard Hessian, Kathryn Holup, James Hoyt, Carol Kranberg, Helene Margolin, Bonnie Marranca, Andrew Patrona, Suzette Sides, Jane White and June Williams.

The Experiment is a program for the education of people from one country to live with the people of another. Within his nine week stay in the country, the student lives with a family for about three weeks as a member of the household, participating in all family activities. After that he may join with a group of approximately 10 Americans and a family representative for a two week tour of the countryside.

At the conclusion of the tour, the student returns to the family for an additional two weeks. Following his stay he visits a major city in the area (Paris, Berlin, Rome etc.) for seven days. After a few days in a departure point, the student returns to the United States.

SGA has approximately $8,600 for this program. The Faculty-Student Co-op has contributed an additional $1,500. Prospective candidates are chosen by application, references and a "dear family" letter sent to the prospective overseas home where the student would live. These are judged by a committee from Patney, Vermont, home of the Experiment. This committee is composed of leaders who have had experience in the program, eminent psychologists as well as others. The Experiment in International Living each year sends over 8,000 people into 47 countries on five continents.

The judges then picked five finalists, each of whom was asked a pertinent question to be answered promptly. To the question "To what degree do you give attention to the likes and dislikes of your parents?" Sharron responded: "I have always tried to make my parents proud of me. I know what they like. I have tried to please them."

Sharron displayed her talent with an oral interpretation of the speech by Joan of Arc from Shaw's play, SAINT JOAN.

Students Quiz Faculty on Proposed Changes

Anytime a student has a question about policy at MCC, he can ask the administration. This was the purpose of the Open Forum convened by the SGA Thurs., March 7, in the Studio Theater. Administrators, including Dr. Richardson, Dean Moorhead, Dean Blanton, Dr. King, D. Bellagamba, Mr. Stover, Mr. Foley, Mr. McGinty, and Mr. Leo made themselves available for questioning by the student body.

The administrators arranged themselves in an informal semicircle in front of the student body. Queries, which were all directed to Dr. Richardson, began immediately and continued until 6 P.M.

The first question asked concerned state aid to higher education. Dr. Richardson replied to this question by stating that the Board of Trustees will draft a statement of dissatisfaction to Governor Hughes but beyond that, the administration "can't do much more." When asked if a student coalition could get more aid, Dr. Richardson said "emphatically yes," and that "everybody can do something." Dr. George King, Director of Admissions, then took the floor and stated that in an effort to obtain more funds for higher education, student activity should be "above suspicion." Related to this was an inquiry concerning the lobby fund which the administration hired to represent MCC in Washington. Dr. Richardson explained that through this man's efforts, MCC has obtained over a million dollars in federal funds. The members of the administration were then asked about the architectural design of the buildings on campus and why Rigolo has always designed them. To this Dr. Richardson replied that Rigolo does not do all the designing and that the architect is usually chosen by the Bureau of Purchasing Contracts in Trenton. President Richardson also stated that a master architect is now under contract with MSC and that he will design the master plan of the campus. Mr. Stover added that this architect is a member of the same firm that designed the new Madison Square Garden in New York City.

The following question concerned the status of the outdoor education program to which Dr. Richardson replied that due to previous problems, this program is being phased out of its operation and that MSC is no longer affiliated with Camp Wapapalanne; however, other outdoor education programs are being considered.

When asked about class sizes, Mr. Robert Foley, associate registrar, stated that the enrollment expected for fall 1967 was 4050 students but that actual enrollment was 4300 students including the transfer students.

Any man who says morning is the best time of day is either a liar or a meadow lark.

There is only one way to make morning enjoyable – sleep till noon. Failing that, the very best you can do is to make morning desirable. This, I am pleased to report is possible if you will follow these simple rules:

1. \textbf{Shave properly.}

I am nearly always I mean shaving quietly. Don't use a blade that whines and complaints. Morning being a time of danger and anger, use a blade that neither changes nor angles. Use a blade that makes no din on your chin. No splatter on your shoe, no blood on your neck, no rip, your lip, no waves while it shaves. Use in place Perkins Super Stainless Steel Blades.

2. \textbf{Breakfast properly.}

I assert that a Personna shave is the best of all possible shaving operations. I do not advocate the old values are return. Personna is a modest blade, an undemanding blade, Personna does not raas and tug, yelling, "Hey, look it!" No, sit not Personna! Silently, respectfully, confidingly, Personna whisks your whiskers with nary a whisper. It shaves your well and stubble without tell and trouble. Why you hardly know it's there, this well-bred Personna blades, this paragon of punctilio.

Moreover, this crown of the blade-maker – art, this epicute of epidermal efficiency, is available both as a Double edge style and Injector style. To your viewer a favor, get some.

The idea was right; the quantities, also, were not. When the Commander arrived, Bad, also, was so torpid that he could not raise his bloated arm in a proper salute. He was, of course, immediately shot by a firing squad. Today, he could not raise his bloated arm in a proper salute. He recognized that coffee and juice would sustain him, so he had a hitch of bacon, a clutch of eggs, a batch of bagels, a notch of ham, a bunch of butter, a swatch of grits, a hutch of honey, a patch of jelly a thatch of jam, a twitch of pepper, and a pinch of salt. Is Montclair Dead?

It is obvious that the students of Montclair State College do not care. Clearly given the opportunity to express any questions and comments they held concerning any aspect of the college administration in a two-hour open forum with the college administrators, they ignored this invitation.

Of our glorious student body of 4300, only 53 people cared enough to attend the question and answer open forum held two weeks ago—yes, only one-eighth-third of the entire student body.

How many times have you the student complained about the lack of ample parking space or the problem of stolen cars, overcrowded classes or any one of a thousand other problems? How many times have you the student actually questioned these problems or tried to do something to alleviate them?

With all the so-called registration problems occurring during the first week of this semester, not one of you wrote a "letter to the editor" or took a few minutes of your precious time to investigate the situation.

With faculty sanctions, overcrowded Life Hall lounges and an irregular scheduling program, how many of you have questioned these problems?

With no reactions to these situations, we are forced to believe that the students of Montclair State College are DEAD and that MONCLAIR IS DYING. Even when an opportunity is thrown before them as this forum was, there were those who ignored it.

What kind of dynamism can students possibly hope to project as future adults and their future wishes to assign to them.

The complaints on this campus are numerous and in some cases, valid. However, the fact remains that they are excuses and who is to be excused from duty, that is, duty to oneself to be aware of his environment?

Nevertheless, approximately 30 students did find the time to attend the forum and they must be commended. They found no excuses; interest and spirit were two of the chief goals which prodded them into attending the open conference. In return for their interest, they received insight into the workings of the college. (not a bad exchange for such a small price). Thank you, students, for showing that you care.

Another View

"I didn't know about it!" "I had a class." "I had to work." "I didn't see the forum!" These are just a few reactions obtained from MSC students when questioned about their attendance at the recent Open Forum which discussed vital school issues.

Save Wapalanne

The much anticipated tradition of experiencing a week at Camp Wapalanne in the Stokes State Forest region of New Jersey has now ceased. We of the MONTCLAIRION must empathize with those who regret its loss.

This outdoor education program was indeed a welcome relief from the sometimes monotonous, nerve-wracking routine of classes, studies, work and sleep in whatever order and with whatever time value the individual wishes to assign to them. Moreover, more than this advantage, Wapalanne provided an opportunity to explore the wonders of both human and "Mother" nature. Camp Wapalanne in its beautiful surroundings exuded an atmosphere conducive to good human relations and provided an excellent area for the practice of group dynamics. Wapalanne was also a memorable and enjoyable experience, one which soothed stronger ties and better understanding among friends and one which brought many a chuckle, a sigh or a smile from the members.

We are sorry to see the departure of such an inspirational and enjoyable project and only hope that plans can soon get underway again for the revival of a similar project.

COMPLAINTS WITHOUT ACTIONS

Dear Editor:

For over two years I have heard complaint after complaint from MSC students concerning our administration, staff, programs, courses, and the college in general. At one time I felt that the MSC students really cared about our college to bring out such public condemnation of its policies, condition which I believed to be constructive.

Today I found that I was wrong. It seems that the typical student is always willing to criticize and condemn but it was proven this fall that he will not use his life to life his head above the stench of complacency and try to improve things by action. Thanks to the fine efforts of Tom Stepnowski, he had a chance to meet with members of the administration (at least ten ranking members were present) in open discussion and debate on campus problems. He brought up a turn-out of students that was appalling. Those who attendedŠone wonders why. Those who attended though few in number, must constantly fight the general apathy of MSC students to try to make this a real, functioning college.

To those who found this forum too trivial to attend I say you have forfeited your right to condemn or even complain. Complaints won't help MSC; only a student body which cares will every help.

Sincerely,

STANLEY JARUKIB

BLIND AND IGNORANT APATHY

Dear Editor:

March 7 there was an Open Forum arranged for the students by their SGA President, Tom Stepnowski. There were present approximately 15 administrators of this college and, at its peak, only 25 to 30 students. Students of Montclair, where were you? MSC students complain daily about the fact that the faculty of Montclair State, grive bitterly about the SGA, but when they are the beneficiaries of the fact, they don't accept the responsibilities along with the benefits.

Sincerely,

MARI LYNN DELL

MORALER' WAR

Dear Editor:

In your last issue you included a letter concerning the Vietnam War. I was amused to learn that one war can be "more moral" than another. Perhaps we may speculated about. And the fault will lie solely with the military men. Students of Montclair, campus leaders cannot carry long the fight for academic excellence without the support of the student body.

We need your help. Where is it?

Sincerely,

FINANCIAL AIDS

By ULRICH J. NEUWER, Assistant Director, Student Loan Programs.

Mr. William C. Nester, Director of Student Loan Program for the New Jersey Higher Education Assistance Authority, issued a memo to all advisers, financial aid officers, and administrators of applications for guaranteed loans for the coming school year.

He wishes to call the following facts to the attention of all students.

1. It is suggested that students wishing to file an application for a guaranteed loan for the school year beginning September 1968 do so after June 1. Funds will be disbursed by the lender when needed by the opening of school. Applications normally cover financial needs for the entire academic year.

2. Students needing funds to be used during the summer months may file applications now. The usual regulations governing the loan program apply and this is treated as part of an academic year.

3. Students who want to obtain full-time loans must file an application are apt to experience delays. This could result in funds for being available for the opening of school.

Students desiring additional information regarding the Guaranteed Student Loan Program should see Mr. Neuner in the student Personnel.

Pleasant... But Soapy

By THOMAS RATZIN

"Death ends a life but does not end a relationship which struggles on in the survivor's mind towards something beautiful or touching finds." These are the words which open and close Robert Anderson's work, now first being presented at the Longacre Theatre.

The relationship under flashback examination is that of a middle-aged widower and his resentful widow, Hal Holbrook, giving a restrained but vibrant performance, plays the man who struggles with the desire to love his father, but senses he only loves him out of obligation. The father, acted by Alan Webb, is a crusty old man completely oblivious to the needs of his cardiac wife and hypersensitive son. The only pleasures in his pensioned life come chiefly from Shelley Westerns and lengthy discussions of his past.

Partly to blame for this father-son barrier is Lillian Gish, the mother with Oedipal attachments to her grown-up boy. Completing the family circle, Theresa Wright plays the brittle daughter who is driven from the household by her father because she loves a Jew.

Despite his tendency to lapse into occasional soap opera dialogue, Robert Anderson has written a warmly humorous, sensitive, domestic drama. The strong performances by the four principal characters help boost this play into the plus category.

On Broadway

Playwright Arthur Miller has woven an interesting character study around the life of the artist's father. Once again his focus is the family.

Two brothers confront each other in an aesthetic battle: the artist Boris Akerson. One brother, Victor (Pat Hingle) sacrificed his career to support his father when he had lost his fortune in the depression; Walter (Arthur Kennedy) is his brother, the successful doctor who let nothing deter him.

The plot is based on the exchanges which pass between the two brothers in their search for the meaning of choice and responsibility. Intermittently, the furniture dealer, superbly played by Harold Garity, offers his philosophic and practical advice. Arthur Kennedy's facility and grace is prompted by his many previous Miller-penned roles. Disappointingly, Pat Hingle makes one uneasy as he wavers in his characterization of the bohemian who is "always about to be." The fact that Broadway is overgrown by weedy offerings does not preclude the existence of some worthwhile plays. The PRICE is one of them.

MUSEUM WITHOUT WALLS

By JOHN HOMER

What is the role of the modern art museum in today's society? Has the museum estranged art from its function? Increased by modern archaeology, photography, and the diffusion of world culture, has out knowledge of art outgrown the limits of the museum's walls?

Andre Malraux in his new book thinks so. He says that with advancing civilization the offering of the world's great paintings and sculpture, a MUSEUM WITHOUT WALLS is evolving. Art was never meant to be imprisoned in museums. Its place in society is an immediate one - to be seen, to be touched, and to be enjoyed in our homes and places of business.

Malraux, the present Minister of Culture under Charles de Gaulle, who has not only held painting and sculpture but also come to a concept of modern art which will easily lose one that is not well versed in the subject. Although, this book is a work of tremendous philosophical importance, it is sometimes hard to follow. The work is definitely brilliant but full understanding cannot be gained with just one reading. MUSEUM WITHOUT WALLS is a book that must be re-read, lived with, and digested slowly.

New Discs Absorbing Film

BY MAURICE MORAN

Just a few thoughts on records and things that will be in the public's ear:

"The Very Much" to SCAFFOLD, a new English Group featuring Paul McCartney's brother, Mike McGear. It's a delightful tune, but what is the Aintree Front? Speaking of Paul, he and John Lennon again a great song "Lady Madonna" about an old woman who had so many children she couldn't feed. John's father, the late Alfred Braddock. The story opens with Benji Braddock returning from college back east to his swanky home in Beverly Hills. He is quickly, propitiously and his father's business partner's Mrs. Roberta Braddock. He then falls in love with her daughter, Elaine, played by Katharine Ross. The two escape on a bus.

The plot is overly simple but the director Mike Nichols has still managed to almost a convincing portrait filled with sarcastic barbs aimed right at the heart of society. Benji epitomizes the plight of a young man who has suddenly been thrust into a hollow world, similar to the one that T.S.Eliot's J Alfred Prufrock once inhabited, where there is a total lack of communication. Director Nichols seems to have placed a young country's ministrations upon the older generation, with their anti-intellectualism and frustration of never discovering their identity.

As Benjamin Bradock, Dustin Hoffman is outstanding. One might at first think the role is overplayed, but as the other characters come into play, a convincing contract is created. Ann Bancroft is excellent as she provides the opposition for Hoffman as the frustrated person who just couldn't cope with failure. Katherine Ross is outstanding in the role of a typical of hope in a loveless society. Done equally as well is the photography. Though a series of flashbacks and some interesting shots of Hoffman, the director was able to get a very perceptively the moment, as his starry-eyed gazed was often left to utter dejection to pure innocence.

In every respect the picture is a success and it is the performance of the medium that is the message or the message is the medium, this picture is one that must be seen.

Off Broadway

THE FOUR SEASONS THEATRE FOUR

The new Arnold Wesker play is an enjoyable night of theatre. Although it was not a theatre experience, it provides a strong social comment on human relationships. The two-character drama deals with a love affair between Adam (Paul Roebling) and Beatrice (Barbara Hayes). What at first seems another love story begins to move when the two escape on a bus. Wesker seems to be saying that any intimate relationship is a terrible ordeal from which, as both characters say during the play, "you never completely recover." The name of the play, THE FOUR SEASONS, is derived from a structural device that the author uses to gain condensation of action. The four seasons are the phases in a love affair. The winter is silence and strangeness between a man and a woman, warming into a spring which flowers into the heat of summer love.

The dialogue is artful and literate with some help through direct statements from Shelley, Whitman and Dylan Thomas. The characterizations which develop from this interwoven tapestry of different characters of Adam being more complete than Beatrice who seems a bit arch-romantic and not as plausible.

The acting by Paul Roebling is excellent but Barbara Hayes leaves a good deal to be desired. Arthur is, with ability, a good line; a way in the direction of the character the utmost. The set and lighting by C. Muraski were adequate. ROBERT MONDA

JACQUES BRELL IS ALIVE AND WELL AND LIVING IN PARIS, VILLAGE GATE

Once again Off-Broadway has eclipsed its more fashionable counterpart. JACQUES BRELL, a musical revue similar to STOP THE WORLD, I WANT TO GET OFF. A tenderly intimate and thought-provoking venture.

A young Belgian composer, Jacques Brell has woven his songs around a variety of themes: hate, love, war, old age, man. Shades of Baudelaire, Le Grand, Arnaud and Pasieva as both potent and simplicity, passion and indifference are expressed.

Many moods and themes are woven into the play moves smoothly from song to song. The soft trills of a piano-"we never learn until it's too late" abound as a love song is performed. In jeering tones the middle class is sung, "the middle class is just like pig/old they get off/dumb they get." A hymn to the elderly given the message of the time.

Clearly, JACQUES BRELL is an unpretentious, unconventional musical; for, all its beauty lies in its simplicity, its directness. At times, it can move you to tears. At times, it can make you laugh. At times, it can make you think. Most significantly, it will make you tell your friends about it.

STATEMENT
A COLUMN OF COMMENT

by CAUSE
Committee for Aid to Underdeveloped State Education

We are being starved! No statement is closer to the truth; higher education is certainly dying. Why? It is dying because our state is not permitting it to grow because of the lack of necessary funds. Higher education today is like a child which has to grow in strength and maturity, but to do this it must have the proper nourishment and environment. This we are not giving it, so like any living thing deprived of the materials for its survival it will either grow deformed or die. Are you prepared to let this be the fate of higher education for you or your children?

There is no need to impress upon you the problems we are facing, all traced to the lack of adequate state aid. What must be said is that something must be done (indeed must be done) about the coming tragedy. The time is long past for idle complaints,astic snack bar or hallway. The time has come where either something or something and under the plaques, the men of

Dear Sir:

In recent years, it has become known that the higher education system in New Jersey is appalling. Our state colleges are, for the most part, basically sound, however, they suffer from lack of funds so to such a degree that the student bodies of these colleges are up in arms and looking for someone to blame. It is becoming apparent that most people are blaming the present political structure in Trenton, and in particular, the present administration which makes the decisions concerning the amounts of money to be given to such an institution.

They will remember these things and many other things which have occurred in the past. The one thing that will stick in their minds is the lack of higher education in this state. These young people who now are to suffer from this lack of higher education will remember it as a curse.

Your participation in this effort will show the men in Trenton who appropriate the money exactly how the people of this state feel about this vital issue. If you are seriously concerned with the future of higher education and wish to do more, please come to the WVMS-CINA office in the lobby of Memorial Auditorium to obtain more information on the Committee for Aid to Underdeveloped State Education. We have prepared a comprehensive list of state legislators for your convenience.

3. James Cafiero, assemblyman-R our state is not permitting it to grow because of the lack of necessary funds. Higher education today is like a child which has to grow in strength and maturity, but to do this it must have the proper nourishment and environment. This we are not giving it, so like any living thing deprived of the materials for its survival it will either grow deformed or die. Are you prepared to let this be the fate of higher education for you or your children?

CAMPUS RADIO STATION OFFERS ENTERTAINMENT

“[You are listening to] WVMS. 590 on your AM dial.” These words are familiar to the dormitory students who listen to the Voice of Montclair State, broadcasting Sunday through Friday from 4 P.M. to midnight.

During the past month, two taped programs were sent to Vietnam and were played on the Armed Forces radio. Five programs, including the second taped program of a long series sponsored by the Theta Chi Rho, were broadcast to the Voice of Montclair State and on Armed Forces radio.

In addition to broadcasting, WVMS serves as a public service to the campus and community. WVMS on Sunday nights sponsors “Ten Poets Read For Workshop.” The program, which originated in Canada, is specifically designed to give poets a chance to read their poems before a more formal audience. This program is a very popular one with students who would like to read their work, but do not have the courage to do so in public.

The siblings of Theta Chi Rho sponsored their Spring Tea on March 10. The tea was held in the club room of the fraternity. The menu included appetizers, sandwiches, desserts, and coffee. The entertainment included a magic show, a comedy act, and a slide show. The sisters also held a raffle, which included prizes such as a gift certificate to a local restaurant and a basket of flowers.

The Voice of Montclair State has nearly 150 members, who are rectified the additional experience is necessary. Although WVMS is a large organization with a large staff, more announcers and engineers will be needed to expand the programming schedule. Originally, the studio may broadcast from noon to midnight. Negotiations are also underway to obtain an FM frequency.

Any organization that wishes to advance its goals may be able to achieve them if it exploits the full potential of every event it sponsors. Faculty members may use the programs to supplement their courses, and students may use them to further their studies.

EXPANSION PLANNED

In additional to broadcasting, the Voice of Montclair State also publishes a monthly calendar of events, the COMMUTER CHRONICLE, which is mailed to over 2,000 commuting students.

PEACE UNION OFFERS CHOICE
By Russ Layne
The Montclair State Student Peace Union has been making an ardent effort over the past few weeks to inform the students of the campus of the increasing opposition to war. The predominant issue is the war in Vietnam. On March 10 and 11, the organization set up a table opposite the Navy recruiters in the Life Hall to enable passers-by to obtain free information on draft resistance, peace pamphlets and McCarthy leaflets and stickers.

Although many of the members of SPU have varying opinions and individual solutions as to the conflict in Southeast Asia, they all agree that peace is long overdue. It is also generally agreed among the members that MSC suffers from a bad case of apathy as far as pressing international affairs is concerned. Therefore, their main goal is in presenting a constructive alternative to war. By doing this they hope to encourage the students of MSC to seriously weight both sides of the issue with an open mind. Furthermore, as the graduates of MSC do become educators, SPU feels that future teachers should in turn exercise academic freedom by encouraging their students to become open-minded rather than dictators or impressing their own beliefs on them.

Just recently the SPU administered an opinion poll to 1,000 MSC students regarding the Vietnamese conflict. The results will be printed in the next issue of the MONTCLARION. SPU is also planning some very interesting activities, some of which include the showing of Felix Greene’s “Le Testament d’Orphee” at the Lyceum Theater in New York City. The play was written and produced by the APA Repertory Company. A bus will leave the campus at 1:30 P.M. and will return to Newman House for supper to be followed by a discussion of the play. For further information, contact Bob Brewer, Webster Hall at 746-9505.

An award was presented to the Newman Community of Montclair State College as the best Newman Community for the 1967-68 school year. A plaque was given to the Community by Jim Carroll, the newly-elected chairman of the New Jersey Newman Province.

On Sat., March 30, the Newman Community is planning a theater trip to attend a matinee performance of PANTAGUZAE at the Lyceum Theater in New York City. The play was written by Michael DeGheerode and is produced by the APA Repertory Company. A bus will leave the campus at 1:30 P.M. and will return to Newman House for supper to be followed by a discussion of the play. For further information, contact Bob Brewer, Webster Hall at 746-9505.

A day of recollection will be sponsored by the New Jersey Newman Province on April 7. It will be held at Saint Mary’s Benedictine Abbey, Morrisontown and will consist of an afternoon of discussion, meditation and liturgy. Anyone interested in attending should contact Mayann Kudemwicz at 744-7047 or the Newman House.

Tutors are still needed for the “Upward Bound” program on Saturday mornings. Anyone desiring to help with the program should contact Dr. Redd, extension 366, Maryann Kudemwicz, 744-7047, or Bob Martinez, 746-9059.

Dunkin, Jeff, a prime candidate for the varsity next season, led the team in scoring with 345 points. Besides leading the scorers, Jeff always knew what was going on during the action and this ability caused Elder to label him as the "coach of the team on the court." Willie Mon, a 6-4, 197 pound strongboy from Newark, is another player who will be seeking a varsity berth. Mon, a strong offensive rebounder, was slow coming around but he still was the number two scorer with 301 points for an average of 15.1 per contest.

Other members of the high scoring young Indians and point totals are: Bob Mooney 11.5; Jeff Hohneb 10.9; Ed Prather 10.8; Richard Bowen 7.3; Gabe Bonanno 6.7; Jim Masters 6.2. Chuck Archibacon 4.6 Bill Bradley 2.4; Paul Brown 1.1.

The victorious Indians were led by Bob Sienkiewicz who enjoyed perhaps his finest game as an Indian. Playing aggressively under the board, Sienkiewicz hit for 26 points twice. Other members of the high scoring young Indians and point totals are: Bob Mooney 11.5; Jeff Hohneb 10.9; Ed Prather 10.8; Richard Bowen 7.3; Gabe Bonanno 6.7; Jim Masters 6.2. Chuck Archibacon 4.6 Bill Bradley 2.4; Paul Brown 1.1.

The Colonels from South Hampton sealed their doom early by staying tight and never really recovering. Montclair State, on the other hand, regained its poise and took a commanding 32-13 half time lead. South Hampton was also hampered when Harold Arlen, the Colonels' tallest player at 6'7", fouled out with 10:45 left in the first half.

The turning point came early in the second half when the Indians got into heavy foul trouble quickly. Mike Oakes and Bob Gleason were soon straddled with fouls and team fouls. No better as the Hawks were shooting one and one with almost a second straight trip to Kansas City.

Golf Team Favored To Win College Conference Title

by ANTHONY TUCILLO

The Montclair State golf team is a strong favorite to win its second straight New Jersey College Conference title. Last year's squad was the only team from Montclair State to win a conference title. Great enthusiasm has been felt this year for golf. There are approximately 30 golfers competing for the 12 positions on the team.

Rich Grant, a social studies senior from Verona and the captain of this year's team. Last year he won most of his matches in helping the team to gain the conference title. Another top performer from last year's team is Bill Bittel, a speech major from Orange, is in his second year on the golf team.

Joe Petersen and Bob Rolack are both seniors and are also in their second year on the team. Petersen, a physical education major from West Orange, and Rolack, a social studies major from Green Brook, were two very important factors in last year's successful team. Another fine golfer in his second year is George Swastik, a physical education major from Maple Shade.

Perhaps the key to this year's success is Jeff Dillon, a freshman physical education major from Duane. Jeff is an outstanding captain - player of the freshman basketball team. Last year he was considered one of the ten best intercollegiate high school golfers in New Jersey. Other top freshmen are John Alberti and Allan Gallo. Gallo comes from Cedar Grove - last year's Piscataway Little League High School Championship team. Alberti was influenced greatly by his uncle who is a P. M. A. Pro at Jumping Brook Country Club in Neptune. Other outstanding golfers are Ruben Ryder and John Adams. These two juniors have shown tremendous possibilities in pre-season practice.

This year's schedule will consist of the most games ever played by a Montclair State golf team. Some of Montclair State's opponents in the coming weeks will be Fairleigh Dickinson University, Newark-Rutgers, and East Stroudsburg State College.

Women Fencers On Winning Streak

The March 13 victory over Rutgers Newark upped the Montclair State women's fencing team's record to nine victories, one defeat. Freshman, Karen Van Bavel won all four of her bouts, while junior, Barbara Berte, and sophomores, Nancy Miralda and Evelyn Hasse each won three and lost one.

This past week the Indians routed Hunter College, 10-6; New York University, 11-5; Brooklyn College, 13-3; and St. John's University, 9-7.

The junior varsity team, composed of Melanie Havryluk, Ramona Lanternman, Bonnie Levine, and Carol Ormby were defeated by Rutgers with a bout score of 10-6. Melanie Havryluk was the standout performer with a score of 34.

The JV record is 3-3, losing to Hunter College by one touch, Paterson State, 10-6; and Rutgers Newark, but defeating Cornell University, 14-2; Caldwell College, 14-2, and New York University, 11-5.

The team is going full speed ahead under the superb coaching of Mrs. Anthony Desiderio. The girls have to fence two more meets before entering the Intercollegiate Championships which will be held at Fairleigh Dickinson University in Rutherford on April 5 and 6.

Tennis Team Back On New Courts

The little known and seldom seen game (at MSC) of tennis will become more than just a figment of the imagination, as this year's tennis team will emerge on campus as one of MSC's newest attractions. The colorful new tennis courts, located adjacent to the baseball field, will be the long awaited home of an Indian squad. They have worked hard in the past under difficult conditions to bring additional pride to Montclair State in the form of a conference championship in 1966.

TEAM MEMBERS

This year's team, captained by Gary Savercool, a junior biology major, has a fine nucleus with six lettermen returning from last year. They are: Bob Seiler, Fred Bittel, and Paul Wolfe, seniors; Gary Savercool, the lone junior; and Danny Sullivan and Chuck Marziano, two fine sophomores completing the list of veterans. The team would certainly like to baptize the new courts with a conference championship this year. It hopes to generate some excitement in a game requiring endurance and good reflexes. Also, the team hopes to create interest among the students. However, the new courts are not here just for a team, they are for all the students.

POLICIES FOR USE OF COURTS

1. To be used by MSC students, faculty, or staff.
2. Out-of-town guests must be guests of MSC students, faculty, or staff members.

Richardson Appoints Dioguardi
As New Director of Athletics

The appointment of William Dioguardi as director of athletics at Montclair State College was announced by Dr. Thomas H. Richardson.

Dioguardi, who has been acting athletic director since October, succeeds Henry Schmidt, who resigned recently due to ill health.

In making the announcement of Dioguardi's appointment, Richardson said, "I am pleased that Bill Dioguardi has accepted the position of athletic director at Montclair State. He brings to the job experience, enthusiasm and administrative knowledge that will be put to excellent use in the development of our athletic program."

The Montclair State president also had warm words of praise for Schmidt. "For over a decade Henry Schmidt has done an outstanding job as director of athletics at Montclair State. Under his direction the athletic program has made great progress in spite of many obstacles and we at the school owe him a great vote of thanks," Richardson said.

For the present, Dioguardi will continue as Montclair State's head baseball coach.

The new Montclair State athletic director is a graduate of Kearny High School and was a standout in basketball and baseball. He attended Montclair State for two years before transferring to Notre Dame University. He holds a bachelor of science and master's degree from the Indiana University.

Dioguardi has been head baseball coach at Montclair State for 19 years and has one of the finest collegiate diamond won and lost marks in the country with 272 wins and 133 losses. In 19 years he has had only one losing season.

In addition to baseball, Dioguardi has served as an assistant in basketball and football at various times at Montclair State.

The Notre Dame graduate has also been head football and basketball coach at Montclair College High School and has outstanding results. A leading collegiate basketball and football official, is married and the father of four children. Mariann 14, Gina 12, Billy Jr. 10 and Kenneth 7. The Dioguardi's live in Upper Montclair, New Jersey.

WRA Features Varied Sports

The Women's Recreation Association functions under the SGA and is financed through an appropriation from the SGA treasury. Every woman student automatically becomes a member upon enrollment in the college. This organization has been in operation since the first few weeks of school. Included in its program are the fencing club (5-1), basketball team (7-3), gymnastics team (2-1), other sports clubs and teams, along with the cheerleaders, twirlers and color guard.

On Feb. 28, WRA sponsored an ISC Volleyball Tournament, all 11 sororities being represented. The first-place plaque was won by Delta Omicron Pi, second place, by Mu Sigma, and third place by Delta Theta Psi.

This past weekend, the Montclair WRA hosted a meeting of the New Jersey Athletics and Recreation Federation of College Women. This meeting was held in the new Panzer lounge and was followed by a buffet luncheon.

Elections for next year's officers will be held the first week in April in front of Gym 1. All women who have participated in a sports activity are eligible to vote. Also, starting after Easter vacation, a wine and cocktail club will meet Wednesday nights from 6:30-8 p.m. All are invited to attend.

MSC Twirlers
Sponsor Clinic

The football and basketball seasons may be over, but MSC's twirlers haven't stopped yet. This year the twirling season is being extended to May 19, almost the end of the spring semester. It is on that day that the newly proposed twirling clinic is tentatively scheduled to be held in Panzer Gym.

The clinic will be organized by the MSC twirlers as a service to any high schools willing to participate. The events of the day include special features, demonstrations of fire batons, hoop batons, and three batons. Routines designed to achieve an exchange of ideas will be presented by each participating school. Added discussions will be held concerning uniforms, twirling and marching styles.

Besides organizing the clinic, the MSC twirlers are now preparing for a performance in Montclair's anniversary celebration to be held on April 27. The invitation was extended to the twirlers after they finished an exhibition at one of the local Montclair schools.
