Bond Issue Would Give More
$$ To Roads Than To Schools

Immediately after voters of New Jersey flip the lever for their favorite nominee this November, they will be asked to vote on the largest BOND ISSUE in the history of the state: $990 million, spread over three needy areas. It is historical in another sense: it is one of the rare occasions that Governor Hughes and the legislature have worked toward the same cause.

Blanton Questions Need For Free MSC Campus, SDS Formation Rumored

By KARYN BYKOWSKY

"MSC in a political institution responsible to the public of New Jersey," Dean of Student, Lawton Blanton commented. "The State will not be as receptive to our needs if reactionary speakers come in to the campus." This was the feeling which prompted Dean Blanton to issue a personal memorandum to SGA president Bob Martinez, stating the SGA should remember to reconsider the open campus ruling passed last year. The Inter-Office memo left Martinez puzzled. "I don't know why Dean Blanton thought it necessary to mention this specific ruling," he observed. "Each new administration always reviews all past policies that concerns them. We would have done it anyway."

However, Martinez does not anticipate withdrawal of the ruling. "I personally think it is bad to reject any side of an issue without examining it first. It's also good for the image of the college to be open-minded," he said. "I don't think that there has been any change in the feeling of students on maintaining an open campus," he continued. Kuhn Hopes To Incite More Campus Political Activity

The "Revive and Survive Experiment" sponsored by the class of 1969 will be held outside Life Hall on Oct. 17. The senior class president, Harry Kuhn explains that "this year we intend to elevate and dignify our image as rationally thinking and responsible "college" students while we call in questions of state aid to higher education, academic respectability and responsibility, and finally the war in Vietnam and the draft." A long counter in front of the Student Life Building will be constructed so as to avoid congestion and to provide enough surface area on which the student may document his one-fact letter. The nature of the letter will determine to which legislator or to which Montclair State administrator it will be sent. After the letters have been mailed to the designated recipients, the senior class president will invite the recipients to come on campus with answers to the student body in an open forum. Harry Kuhn emphasizes that "we cannot afford to be irresponsible nor irresponsible to the victimizing pressures upon us." (Continued on Page 6)

Most Tuition Money Goes To Schools, State Aid Expected

The money obtained via the tuition hike at Montclair State, which was the undergraduate fee rise from $150 to $350 per academic year, is reportedly to be used almost entirely for the betterment of the school. Mr. Vincent Calabrese, director of business services, stated that very little if any of the students' increased tuition money would remain in the State General Treasury. The bulk of the money will be appropriated to the chancellor's office as a special fund to be used to upgrade the college. Specifically, the money will be utilized for purposes such as defraying the cost of operating the library efficiently, aiding the financing of first year faculty salaries, studying the long range academic future of MSC, making various capital improvements and assisting programs for the disabled.

McKnight Forecasts Future Activities

By MARTIN J. FUCIO

Life Hall has a new director and the College Life Union Board (CLUB) has a new advisor in charge of both of these activities is Jon O. McKnight. Mr. McKnight is a 25 year old graduate of the State University of New York at Geneseo. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in history and a master's degree in student personnel services. In his dual function, which began Aug. 1, Mr. McKnight helps schedule all

The first section provides $640 million for public highway improvements. $440 million for public roads. With state highways two years past completion, detours that confuse drivers and hundreds of deaths each year, the plan calls for 493 miles of new freeways. The other $200 million will be allocated for the purchase of railroad cars and equipment. Today the railroads are going under and if they fold, they will dump 60,000 more commuters on the roads.

The second appropriation is $337.5 million for education. Included in this money is two new state schools, vocational schools and educational TV. The largest chunk, $172.5 million, is for higher education. The reason? Today, less than 40 per cent of college age students can be college bound. Population, the key, grows by 50 per-cent of the population. Yet, even with a 119 per-cent increase in enrollment, 50 per-cent of the population will be served. This section would provide Montclair State with $8.3 million to construct new classroom buildings, as well as expanding parking and living facilities. In the coming four years, enrollment will reach 6500, the largest student body of the state schools.

BOSS To Unify, Involve Blacks; Dinner Planned

"Black Organization for Success in Society (BOSS) is a newly chartered student organization at MSC. Founded in 1967, BOSS is the only organization of its kind on a New Jersey state college campus. The organization hopes to achieve high goals for all black students at MSC."

The purpose of BOSS is twofold; first, to unify black students into one organization, and second, to involve black students in campus events. There are 33 active members currently involved in BOSS, with more expected to join from the class of '72. Two major events are planned for this year. The "Soul Dinner" will be held on Oct. 17 and is open to all students for a $2.50 admission fee. The other event is the "Soul Dance" on Nov. 23 in the Panzer Gym.

BOSS will be taking an active part in the Wednesday night seminars sponsored by the Newman Community. These seminars will educate students about life in the ghetto. (Continued on Page 7)

CINA chairman, Frank Cripps and two CINA members, Barbara Milhalick (center) and Bonnie Miller, discuss plans for upcoming open lectures.

The SGA ruling declaring MSC an "open campus" will be put to the test by the newly formed Parties Committee of the Council of International and National Affairs (CINA).

The Committee plans to issue a standing invitation to all existing major political factions. In this way political groups ranging from the Communist Party in America to the John Birch Society will be notified that representatives from their groups are welcomed at MSC.

Frank Cripps, president of CINA, said that the Parties Committee was formed because, "the open campus ruling has not been taken advantage of."

"There just haven't been any opinionated speakers since the ruling," Cripps continued. "Students were expecting action and they just didn't get any."

One of the reasons he offered for the inactivity was, "all the chartered organizations seem to avoid inviting someone with strong ideas." He added that campus organizations shy away from radicals for fear that the speaker's opinions will be imputed to the sponsor.

Dean of Students, Lawton Blanton, was wary about possible consequences of radical political groupings being represented. "I think that we really get enough of this type of oratory on television," he said. "I really don't think the college campus is the place for this, but if the students want it we can stand it." Rich Kamenecik, a member of the Parties Committee, stated the group's aims as, "being available to sponsor all speakers who want to express their ideas, whatever those ideas may be."

A form letter to be sent to representative groups is being planned. Other members of the committee include Gary Patnosh, Stan Gurski, Russ Layne, and Dick Treliland.

Chamber Symphony of Philadelphia
To Highlight Fall Arts Festival;
Literature, Drama, Art Also Planned

Two performances of the Chamber Symphony of Philadelphia will take place at Montclair State on Wed., Oct. 9. The concerts are part of the 1968 "Fall Festival of the Arts," Oct. 7-19. The Festival, which is being held in celebration of the 60th anniversary of the college, has been contributed to by several campus organizations (such as CLUB and MOC) and members of the English, music, and art departments.

The Chamber Symphony is a new ensemble which has become nationally renowned in the two years since its creation. Composed of 36 players, who are selected from leading U.S. and European musical institutions, it has a full complement of instruments and performs Baroque, Classical, Romantic and contemporary selections. The group has toured the country and performed at Carnegie Hall and Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

Its founder and conductor is Maestro Amahl Brusilow, who was formerly first violinist and conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra and has conducted for the Washington National Symphony Orchestra. He also hosted the Philadelphia television program PORTRAITS IN MUSIC for three years. His work with the Symphony has won critical acclaim for himself and the ensemble.

THE NEW YORK TIMES has repeatedly praised the group, terming it a "small and skilled orchestra which man for man is probably as good as any corresponding organization in the world."

The Symphony's 50 minute afternoon concert has been compiled especially with the student in mind. There will be no admission charge to Montclair students for either concert or any of the other events of the Festival.

Another highlight of the Festival will be the Studio Open House to be held on Oct. 7 in the fine arts building. Residents of the neighboring towns of Montclair, Verona, and Cedar Grove have been invited to tour Montclair's newest facility and view a special exhibit of art done by the fine arts faculty. That evening the Studio Theater will host "The World of the Guitar," featuring Jim Gold.

Also included in the Festival is a lecture on Oct. 8 to be given by Leonard Probst, NBC drama critic, followed by a performance of the movie THE SHOP ON MAIN STREET on Oct. 9.

The Festival will conclude with the penetrating drama, THE BLOOD KNOT, by South African playwright Athol Fugard.

Project TRY
Who needs 06 Undergraduates

The MSC community is currently attempting to show that it "gives a damn" as Project TRY (Talent Recruitment) begins its first semester on campus. The program is designed to assist the unprivileged but bright students a fair chance to gain a college education.

Montclair is working on this project in conjunction with 14 other schools, three of which are out of state, and have poverty programs affiliated with them. A total of 363 students are enrolled in these 15 colleges under the auspices of the state and federal governments, financial backers of the project. At MSC, two of the TRY students, being 50 being enrolled in the evening division only. In addition at Montclair TRY arising from financial neediness students who gained admission through the admission channel.

According to Mr. Arthur Taylor, Director of Recruitment for Project TRY, the primary qualifications of the challenges. However, the adjustment referred to was not that of TRY students to the campus as one might expect, but of the campus to the TRY students. He said that the students have been relatively well because of the fact that they are simply glad to be at Montclair because being afforded them. Thus far, stated Mr. Taylor, the students of TRY, from both the in and off campus, have been quite enthusiastic. The recruitment of individual tutors for the TRY students is reportedly progressing well so far. At present about 25 TUTs are in the field volunteering their services after only the initial two days that the program began. They have been called "headquarters" in the Student Life Building. An additional two students are said to be enrolling tutors may soon be found in the TUB.

TRY tentatively plans on having LeRoi Jones pay a visit to the campus for the purpose of speaking to a "limited audience" composed of TRY students. Upward Bound students, teachers, working in conjunction with Project TRY, and a number of other interested students. For the most part, the MSC students, were "closed" one by one. A poet by trade, Mr. Jones entered the national sight for his work as a civil rights activist.

Fourteen Montclair graduate students are presently gaining valuable experience through Project TRY on various campuses within the state. These students, who are taking part in this training program in addition to their graduate level of study, participate in a three hour weekly seminar session. Components of the overall program are a "sensitivy training program," involvement in community projects, and counseling and guidance, and development of communication with students in urban areas who may be TRY students of the future.

Casting for the group's production will be open to all students regardless of their class or major.

Anyone can initiate the production of a play. It can be done by locating, through the director, a producer. The producer can then assemble a group of people he needs to produce the show. Mr. Jerome Rockwood and Professor Kevin Stidwell (the faculty advisor and student coordinator, respectively) will decide if Players shall finance the production on the basis of the following criteria: cost, feasibility, experience of the director, value of the experience and artistic merit.

Since Steve Keitz has said that "fleshing out the loss of free time, the only pre-requisite (for production) is interest," even an aqua show in the Panzer pool would fall under the interests of this experimental theatre group, if it amends the established criteria.

Even With Hangups, Orientation
Proves Its Worth to MSC Fresh

It turns some on; it turns some off; and it tunes some out — this freshman orientation has different effects on different people. So, regardless of its hangups, was it all worth it?

Those who felt orientation was useful got to the core of the alleged foolishness that went to the orientation, the "why," and went along. The student personal meetings and coffee hours, they found, were never reminiscent of an "headquarters" in the Student Life Building. An additional two students are said to be enrolling tutors may soon be found in the TUB.

The teachers and administrators of the Ocean Hill-Brownsville school district, on which the strike is focused, have determinedly stated that they will control their schools and who teach in them. They have demonstrated this policy by attempting to relocate the school’s "undesirable" white teachers out of the predominantly black school and hire 50 of the city’s black teachers who have agreed to back union leader Albert Shankar, “It will be a cold day in hell when we (the teachers) go back to work for a board of education," Shankar explained this fall and the ten teachers were kept from returning to their classroom.

The city has not ordered the teachers back to work, in the face of legal action against them and will not be hired and fired by the city’s Department of Education. Shankar said. According to union leader Rhody McCoy, unit personnel office.

The 19-member Ocean Hill-Brownsville board oversees eight schools. It dismissed the teachers last spring in a test of its power. "The community," explained McCoy, unit administrator, "lost confidence in those schools. Both the city and Shankar, "It will be a cold day in hell when we (the teachers) go back to work for a board of incompetence and ignorance."

Helicopter Ride

By DON PENDELE

"Are my eyes deceiving me, or is that a helicopter landing on the baseball field?" was the reaction of an MSC faculty member to that sight on Tuesday afternoon.

Well, it was a helicopter, from Romon Helicopters in Trenton, N.J., used to take aerial photographs of MSC's campus. Dave Fogg, editor of La CAMPANA, and Mr. Thaddeus Shrift of the Audio-Visual Co. attempted to two ultimately cancelled flights and were successful on Sat., Sept. 28.

The photographs were taken for several reasons, the most important being President Richardson's request for aerial photographs of MSC for use in conjunction with building plans at Montclair State. The pictures will also be used to study traffic control at MSC and as a three-page color foldout in the 1969 edition of the Montclair State yearbook, La CAMPANA.

A "Happening," sponsored by the Human Relations Laboratory, was held Monday night, Sept. 30, in Panzer gymnasium. Approximately 80 students participated. Advertised as a "mico-lab," it featured an informal atmosphere where thoughts and feelings were explored within the group.

Jean Bonitzee, an associate professor of education, led 16 groups, five people in each, through a series of tasks that helped the individual to show how he felt. One task, for example, was for a person in the group to move the others to any position he wanted. The individual then discussed his reasons with the group.

In another task each group picked out one person to whom they felt they would like to give a gift. They then proceeded to lift that person above their heads and lower them slowly in rocking motion.

In the evening's finale everyone laid on the floor in a circle and the gym was darkened. The participants slowly tensed and relaxed their entire body as they culminated the night's experience while listening to Phil Ochs sing "Changes."

Frosh To Assume Class Control On October 17

The freshmen, having the opportunity to become acquainted with one another, will soon face the decision of selecting their class leaders for the coming year. On Oct. 18 they will elect a president, a vice-president, a secretary, a treasurer and two Student Government Association representatives.

On Oct. 14, the campaign will officially open. Posters proclaiming support for the candidates will be permitted to be hung in the cafeteria at this time. During the freshman assembly, Oct. 17, each student seeking office will have an opportunity to present his views and plans to his classmates.

Finally, on Oct. 18 the freshmen will elect those students whom they wish to have represent their class.

On the petition, the candidate is to type his name, major and any qualifications he feels he possesses. A statement expressing his reasons for desiring a position in office is to be included on the petition. Two photographs, no larger than five by seven, are to accompany the form. The candidate must then solicit 100 freshmen signatures to show that they support his bid for office.

Students wishing to campaign for a position are requested to pick up a petition at the SGA office in Life Hall. These forms will be available Oct. 7, 8 and 9 between 9-4. They are to be returned Oct. 10 during the same hours. No late petitions will be accepted.

BUSINESS ATTIRE
The Council on International and National Affairs (CINA) has voted to sponsor an academic "open door" policy whereby representatives from various political groups can come to the MONTCLARION campus and expound their views. Information and lively discussions are sure to ensue. Although there might be question in the minds of some as to the advisability of such a move, the MONTCLARION sees no immediate danger inherent in such a proposal.

Freedom of speech is one of the basic rights upon which this country was founded. If Communists, Fascists, Klux Klux Klanners, Catholics, Jews, Protestants or John Birchers wish to have their voices heard, they have a basic constitutional right to do so. And their listeners have the same right to listen or not to listen. One is never forced to hear and believe what he doesn't want to.

And their listeners have the same right to listen or not to listen. One is never forced to hear and believe what he doesn't want to.

In the same vein, this right to express one's beliefs is also a privilege and, as such, must not be abused. If disorderly outbursts of any kind take place because of the misuse of CINA's proposed policy, then the MONTCLARION would be forced to condemn such future activities.

Student of the Year voting is an example of the spirit that is prevalent on campus. The program is open to the entire student body and is conducted on a Wednesday.

This attitude on the part of the students was disinterested by what was being said and left in groups of two's or three's. By the time the discussion was at an inopportune time and was long drawn out, but students with real and sincere complaints would have made the effort.

New Jersey seems to be a city of strikes these days. With teachers, cabdrivers, garbage collectors, firemen, policemen, longshoremen making more and more demands, it is doubtful whether anyone anywhere is satisfied with anything.

New Jersey Taxpayers Association supports the枕拟的 educational policy of the Bond Issue, which makes delays possible in case of rain (we could move from the facade to the afternoon to the evening.)

2. Removing a controversial and unfair proposal to program which some students and faculty object and perhaps combining some part of it with Commencement.

3. A weekend Commencement which will provide a better travel time for those parents who work and are at home by the weekend.

4. There would be fewer problems of campus traffic and parking on a weekend than on a Wednesday.

The change has already been approved by a representative group of faculty, students and administration. Before the final decision is made by the Board of Trustees, however, I would like to give the entire student body and faculty an opportunity to react. You will remember that it was at an inopportune time and was long drawn out, but students with real and sincere complaints would have made the effort.

This will be 19 months from the time construction was begun.

If there is apathy, discouragement or lack of faith in what is being told to the student as opposed to what is being done, this feeling is well understood.

When we finally enter the Partridge Hall of learning and leave behind the shabby rooms of Annex 2, perhaps then we will regain our enthusiasm about what is happening physically to MSC.

Jersey Corruption Is Real
Just Don't Try to Prove It

If someone were to write a history of two counties from today, it would be a pity to leave out a chapter dealing with corruption on the county and state levels. In all probability, the entire course of history in our time would be measured by how bad this corruption does exist, but don't dare try to prove it.

Gambling Circa New Jersey is, in its way, riddled with alleged corruption on both municipal and state levels. In front of the New Jersey Senate this past week, a Pennsylvania law professor claimed that "there is enough corruption in New Jersey to organize crime can get most anything it wants." While the charges were serious, the professor failed to produce facts necessary to blow the top of the kettle off.

It has been argued that the State's Commission of Investigations would provide the necessary day through a Senate study. But what some senators do can be the topic of another study, at any rate.

On the local level, it has been claimed by Life magazine that Rep. Cornelius Gallagher of Bayonne "was a tool and collaborator of a Cono Nostra ganglord," and that Hugh H. Addonizio, who portrays a "liberal" in Congress, was said to have been asked by "Bayonne's biggest, well-reputed Mafia figure, to halt a gambling crackdown by police in Bayonne, a city with a reputation.

And in Newark, Police Commissioner Dominick Spatha has been indicted by a grand jury for permitting illegal gambling to take place in one of his districts. A professional gambler in Newark told this reporter that "most bookies aren't afraid of the cops anymore." In fact, he added, "some cops even make good money.

Mayor Being Investigated

The mayor of Newark is also in hot water. The Governor's Ross Commission Report stated that there was "a pervasive feeling of corruption in Newark" after the riot.

As a result, Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio is currently being investigated by a grand jury. At press time, Addonizio has been asked to produce all his financial records to the jury for further investigation.

So corruption in Jersey is not something to be swept under City Hall's red rug. It affects the individual and gives the state a repulsively reputation.

All- encompassing, yet vague, this week's "organized crime" report on today's world business. However, Dr. Samuel Pratt, Montclair State University's "freedom planner for academic affairs" has definite plans for the future of MSC. He claims that the student should realize his full academic and creative possibilities. And by a strange coincidence, this is also his "job. I want to raise questions," said Dr. Pratt, "and then assess what Montclair State's position should be."

This aspect of questioning and creating has also become the driving force in his off-campus life. During his studying at different universities and schools of different people and educational systems, he perceived intense interest in and enjoyment of the music. Although his interest in furniture-making has decreased, his musical inclinations have continued, to the extent of jotting down the name of the reporter's band and book, saying, "I want to read it." This interest has been accompanied by a new hobby: film-making.

This film-making urge, which shares his wife and ten-year-old daughter, Pamela, stems from his interest in and enjoyment of music. His daughter, for example, has recently completed a five-minute film of her own making. It's called "Red in New York," about everything in New York, in New York, in New York, and then the bottom of steamships to fire hydrants.

Dr. Pratt proposes to adapt this creative urge to the college environment in three ways: 1) the establishment of Policy Formation and Influence Centers, where students and faculty would review, rewrite, and create campus policies; 2) the creation of internships, particularly in the field of liberal arts, where, for example, Spanish majors would spend time in a Spanish-speaking area and chemistry majors would become temporary research assistants; and 3) student-invented, student-led organizations for the accomplishment of whatever students wish to accomplish, ranging from the improvement of ghetto, to the creation of discussion groups and the changing of administrative rulings.

Sex Subject of Bestseller

By LOIS TANNENBAUM

All thinking college students arequesting for identity. This search has occurred throughout history. Yet today's young Odyssees is different because he seldom has any standard of behavior to follow. The concept of masculinity has changed with the changing role of his female counterparts; his traditional harbors of security, the family and religion, have lost their holds upon his life. The questing youth of today is thrust into a wilderness as dangerous to his life as any physical wilderness encountered by his pioneer ancestors.

It is therefore appropriate that Vance Packard has given the title The Sexual Wilderness to his book about the struggles of today's youth. He discusses the changing role of the relationship between the sexes on all levels including companionship, sexual intimacy, marriage, divorce, and child rearing. Using concrete and always interesting examples, Mr. Packard has not only illuminated his topic but also states the problems we may face in the future and the ways society may solve these problems.

From a personal viewpoint, this book can be a guide for any college student who fears his problems with the world and with the opposite sex are completely unique. This book is not presented as a panacea for the ills of the changing concepts of sex in the individual or in society. It is a journalistic experience of merit which should be included as a guide to all people in our world.

Princeton Survey Shows Growing Desire to Admit Coeds and Break With Tradition

By MICHAEL HEANEY
Education Reporter

Finding an all-male campus is a rarity these days. Even the Ivy League schools are emerging from their image of improbable fortresses of masculinity. Why?

It appears that both students and the administration at all-male schools are relinquishing their status in return for something more tangible. The students argue that without women the college experience is irrelevant to the demands of society. And the administration complains that they aren't attracting enough good students.

Princeton, for example, has recently proposed a plan to admit at least 1,000 women be admitted. Dr. Gardner Patterson, an administration spokesperson at Princeton, noted in his studies that of the Charlat Race Adds "Ancient' Touch To Greek Event

Who ever thought the "glory of Greece" has passed away with the modern civilization? The splendor of that era will once again come to light when the women of Sigma Delta Phi and the men of Tau Sigma Delta sponsor their second annual "Chariot Race" and dance tomorrow night.

Those Greek organizations participating will begin the evening at 6:30 p.m. with the 'March of the Banners.' Upon the sounding of the horns, the traditional torch will be carried through the campus by one of MSC's own "olympic runners," signifying the start of the competition.

The actual race will take place near the football field. Each organization, represented by one toga-clad driver and four "horses," will compete for the coveted first prize which will be awarded to each first place sorority and fraternity.

Immediately following the contest, there will be a dance in the main gym, with entertainment by the FILET QOEI.

All are invited to see the winners receive their trophy and watch the participating Greeks being judged on their togas. The Greeks invite everyone to spend an evening of entertainment and fun on Sat., Oct. 5.

The last section of the Bond Law states that $12.5 million is to be set aside for housing. The riots in Newark and Trenton and the disturbances in several smaller communities have shown the need for adequate housing. Most of the buildings of the inner city of Newark date back to the mid-1800's. It is estimated that New Jersey has $56,500 inadequate housing units. The bonds, by generating private industrial investment, would provide $90 million in housing.

Perhaps an understanding of bonds is necessary for the intelligent voter. First, $590 million bond is offered. Secondly, the issue is due on Nov. 6, should the issue pass. It will simply allow the state to issue bonds at a time when needed. Second, since the credit rating of N.J. is so high a (triple-A) bonds will not be difficult to sell. Traditionally, they have only taken up one percent per annum on income in the state. Third, the issue has already been cut from $1.95 billion irreducible minimum by a governor's commission.

Lastly, the state legislators want to pull their state from the bottom. Though it is in prosperity, it is 50th in education and 48th in capital construction. With this in mind, the voters go to the polls.

Dr. Young: Students May Be Critical, But They Still Have Faith in Education

Dr. Frederic H. Young, formerly of the MSC English department, gave his last two lectures to the students and faculty on the topics of "The New Process of Philosophical Thinking" and "The Product of Philosophical Thinking." Dr. Young recently retired from teaching at this college after 20 years of service as professor of English and humanities. He currently is a professor of philosophy and religion on the "World Campus Afloat," a division of the National Education, Orange, Calif., for the fall semester.

Lecturing in foreign lands is no new experience to Dr. Young. Having served as a visiting professor and lecturer in Innsbruck, Munich, West Berlin, southern California, Mexico, Australia, New Zealand and India. He has also written two books, "The Philosophy of Henry David Thoreau" and "Contemporary Philosophy in the U.S.A."

Dr. Young was awarded a B.S. degree in English from Charles S. Pierce, a 20th century New England lawyer.

Dr. Young was an Episcopalian and Congregationalist minister before coming to the MSC campus in 1948.

Speaking with experience on students both here and abroad, Dr. Young feels that "Studying abroad is the best way to impart the cultural faith in education, even if at times that faith is rather critical and superficial."

He states that as a literature professor he is deeply pleased with the tastes of so many students for books such as Joyce's "Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man" and Hermann Hesse's "Steppenwolf."

In conclusion, Dr. Young stated that he feels that the students of today will, in general, meet the demands of a more complex world better than the present older generation."

All students, administrators, and faculty are requested to participate in the "Experiment." Even though the letters will be personally written, no individual will be questioned or intimidated because of his convictions. The senior class president reiterates that "we shall educate rather than alienate, which requires a sophisticated approach to self-expression and a discriminative intellect." For any special-interest groups, the letters may be formulated and circulated at the main counter.

To provide the campus with the "Experiment," students from all classes are needed. Three essential areas are faculty and student cooperation on the part of the students. The union building is still far in the future as more immediate concern to Mr. McKnight and CLUB is Homecoming. Nov. 1-3, Mr. McKnight hopes for extensive cooperation with the many prominent businesses in Upper Montclair. The merchants are expected to provide discounts, give-aways, and sponsor a marching band.

In Homecoming activities, CLUB will sponsor a high school band tournament. A parade from downtown Upper Montclair to the college campus will take place on Nov. 2. Two concerts are scheduled. On Nov. 3 will be a Magnificent Men rock group from Philadelphia, will perform in the union building. Nov. 3 with a concert by the nationally known rock group, The Union Gap. Other attractions at Homecoming will be a bonfire, pep rally, dance, and a football game.

Beyond Homecoming, Mr. McKnight and CLUB have numerous plans. First-run movies such as "Viva Las Baby" and "The Graduate will be a rock, pop, and folk concert starting at 7 p.m. nightly. A highlight of CLUB's schedule will be a lecture on April 10 by Dr. Young, former chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley.
SPORTS VIEWS

By JOHN DANTONI

The annual bloodletting affectionately termed intramural football, has once again returned to Montclair State College. This year the program shows several innovations with the field of teams being expanded from 12 to 16, and with the establishment of two leagues (American and National) and two divisions (East and West) of four teams within each league.

With the scrapping of the fraternity and independent league seven of the past, competition should be keener and leagues more evenly matched. Games are played on the baseball field and on the lawn in front of Webster Hall on Mondays at 5:15 and 6:00 p.m. and are well worth watching.

Montclair State's gridders finally clicked on a TD toss as the Dean's list. While at William and Mary he was assistant gymnastic and diving coach.

Throughout his gymnastic career, Terry Orlick has won a host of gymnastic titles. He met his wife, the former Cathy Payne, through their mutual interest in gymnastics. They now reside in Upper Montclair.

In A CRISIS, it takes courage to be a leader ... courage to speak out ... to point the way ... to say, "Follow Me!" In a crisis, it takes action to survive ... the kind of decisive action that comes from a man of sound instinct, as well as intelligence.

If America is to survive this crisis ... if the youth of America are to inherit a sane and even promising world, we must have courageous, constructive leadership. The kind of leadership that only George C. Wallace—of all Presidential candidates—has to offer. That's why young Americans who really think support Wallace.

MSC Pool Opened

To Montclair Public

"We must develop the desire of people to use the facilities at MSC," explained Bill Dioguardi, concerning the opening of the MSC pool to Montclair city residents this summer.

Through the efforts of Montclair mayor, Matthew G. Carter and Dr. Thomas Richardson, MSC's pool was made available to Montclair residents for nine days.

This arrangement was made in connection with Montclair's summer program in which five pools throughout the city of Montclair were secured for use by citizens of the community. Of the five pools, MSC's had the highest average attendance and was principally used by families while the 'other four pools attracted youngsters.

Mr. Dioguardi, director of athletics at MSC, said that the turnover during these days was encouraging — over 200 persons per day — and this increased the possibility of extending this program each year.

Mr. Dioguardi also stated that the physical education department is pleased with the reaction of students, faculty, and Montclair residents to the program.
Howard Doyle

Under New Coach Doyle

By TOM BENN

Just what kind of man is Howard Doyle? To different people he is different things. He is a football coach, a mountain climber, a mule driver. He is knowledgeable and is a very personable man. I just can't say enough nice things about him.

This defense led Montclair State's fine second half showing last season, allowing only two touchdowns in the last four contests as the Indians closed with three straight wins.

John Gardi and his power runners could not elaborate very much, just that this is his first season in charge.

Though it may seem that some other problems for Ferris will be replacing Jack Harrington and Jim DiStefano (a pair of fine offensive players) at quarterback and offensive ends, Jim Smith (a 6-4, 265 pound defensive tackle), and 225 pound linebacker Jack Landfried. Smith and Landfried both were signed by the Denver Broncos over the summer as free agents.

The 1968-69 Intramural program swung into action on Monday with an eight game football schedule. Surprisingly the offenses stole most of the show as four squads managed to tally three or more touchdowns. Defense, however, still was proven. If the defense can maintain its all-time MSC kicker with eight field goals in two years. Dan also made the final cut.

Take a defense which finished 11th in the nation last season in small college competition, add an offensive unit which finds but one returning player, and line up lightly with overeager young sophomores and add the talented toe of Dan Rodgers and voila' — the Indians could go far and find enough daylight to run to, three straight wins.
