Bond Issue Would Give More

Immediately after voters of New Jersey flip the lever for their favorite nominee this November, they will be asked to vote on the largest BOND ISSUE in the history of the state:

$990 million, spread over three needy areas. It is historical in another sense: it is one of the rare occasions that Governor Hughes and the legislature have worked toward the same cause.

Blanton Questions Need For Free MSC Campus, SDS Formation Rumored

By KARYN BYKOWSKY

“MSC in a political institution responsible to the public of New Jersey,” Dean of Student, Lawton Blanton commented. “The State will not be as receptive to our needs if reactionary speakers come in to the campus.”

Kuhn Hopes To Incite More Campus Political Activity

The “Revive and Survive Experiment” sponsored by the class of 1969 will be held outside Life Hall on Oct. 17. The senior class president, Harry Kuhn, explains that “this year we intend to elevate and dignify our image as rationally thinking and responsible [college] students while we call in questions of state aid to higher education, academic respectability and responsibility, and finally the war in Vietnam and the draft.”

BOSS To Unify, Involve Blacks; Dinner Planned

Black Organization for Success in Society (BOSS) is a newly chartered student organization at MSC. Founded in 1967, BOSS is the only organization of its kind on a New Jersey state college campus. The organization hopes to achieve high goals for all black students at MSC.

The purpose of BOSS is twofold: first, to unify black students into one organization, and second, to involve black students in campus events. There are 33 active members currently involved in BOSS, with more expected to join from the class of ‘72.

Two major events are planned for this year. The “Soil Dinner” will be held on Oct. 17 and is open to all students for a $2.50 admission fee. The other event is the “Soil Dance” on Nov. 23 in the Panzer Gym.

BOSS will be taking an active part in the Wednesday night seminars sponsored by the Newman Community. These seminars will educate students about life in the ghetto.

CINA Committee Opens Campus To Radicals

The SGA ruling declaring MSC an “open campus” will be put to the test by the newly formed Parties Committee of the Council on International and National Affairs (CINA).

The Committee plans to issue a standing invitation to all existing major political factions. In this way political groups ranging from the Communist Party in America to the John Birch Society will be notified that representatives from their groups are welcomed at MSC.

Frank Cripps, president of CINA, said that the Parties Committee was formed because, “the open campus ruling has not been taken advantage of.”

“Those of us who are interested in promoting the open campus ruling has not been taken advantage of.”

Chamber Symphony of Philadelphia
To Highlight Fall Arts Festival; Literature, Drama, Art Also Planned

Two performances of the Chamber Symphony of Philadelphia will take place at Montclair State on Wed., Oct. 9. The concerts are part of the 1968 "Fall Festival of the Arts," Oct. 7-19. The Festival, which is being held in celebration of the 60th anniversary of the college, has been contributed to by several campus organizations (such as CLUB and MOC) and members of the English, music, and art departments.

The Chamber Symphony is a new ensemble which has become nationally renowned in the two years since its creation. Composed of 36 players, who are selected from leading U.S. and European classical musicians, it has a full complement of instruments and performs Baroque, Classical, Romantic and contemporary selections. The group has toured the country and performed at Carnegie Hall and Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

Its founder and conductor is Maestro Anshel Brusilow, who was formerly first violinist and conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra and has conducted for the Washington National Symphony Orchestra. He also hosted the Philadelphia television program PORTRAITS IN MUSIC for three years. His work with the Symphony has won critical acclaim for himself and the ensemble. THE NEW YORK TIMES has repeatedly praised the group, terming it a "small and skilled orchestra which man for man is probably as good as any corresponding organization in the world."

The Symphony's 50 minute afternoon concert has been compiled especially with the student in mind. There will be no admission charge to Montclair students for either concert or any of the other events of the Festival.

Another highlight of the Festival will be the Studio Open House to be held on Oct. 7 in the fine arts building. Residents of the neighboring towns of Montclair, Verona, and Cedar Grove have been invited to tour Montclair's newest faculty and view a special exhibit of art done by the fine arts faculty. That evening the Studio Theater will host "The World of the Guitar," featuring Jim Gold.

Also included in the Festival is a lecture on Oct. 8 to be given by Leonard Probst, NBC drama critic, followed by a performance of the movie THE SHOP ON MAIN STREET on Oct. 9.

The Festival will conclude with the penetrating drama, THE BLOOD BROTHERS, by South African playwright Athol Fugard.

Anshel Brusilow, conductor for he Chamber Symphony of Philadelphia, calls for a vibrato.

Project TRY
What needs 00 Undergraduates

The MSC community is currently attempting to show that it "gives a damn" as Project TRY (Talent Recruitment Year) begins its first semester on campus. The program is designed to attract and bring mounted but bright students a fair chance to gain a college education.

Montclair is working on this project in conjunction with 14 other schools, three of which are out of state, and have poverty programs affiliated with them. A total of 363 students are enrolled in these 15 colleges under the auspices of the state and federal governments, financial backers of the project. At MSC alone there are 106 TRY students. According to Mr. Arthur Taylor, Director of Recruitment for Project TRY, the primary role of MSC is one of adjustment. However, the adjustment he referred to was not that of TRY students to the campus as one might expect, but of the campus to the TRY students. He said that there are a few students who are not being afforded them. Thus far, stated Mr. Taylor, the students of TRY, financially needy students who gained admission through the unusual channels, have been quite enthusiastic.

"The recruitment of individual tutors for the TRY students is reportedly progressing well so far. All 160 of the MSC students have volunteered their services after only the initial two days that the group met. Those students who are "headquarters" in the Student Life Building. An additional 160 tutors may soon be found in the TUB."

TRY tentatively plans on having LeRoi Jones pay a visit to the campus for the purpose of speaking to a "limited audience," composed of TRY students. Upward Bound students, teachers, working in conjunction with Project TRY, and a number of other interested students. But for all purposes the meeting is "closed" one. A poet by trade, Mr. Jones entered the national spotlight for his work as a civil rights activist.

Fourteen Montclair graduate students are presently gaining valuable experience through Project TRY on various campuses within the state. These students, who are taking part in this training program in addition to their regular fields of study, participate in a three hour weekly seminar session. Components of the overall program are a "sensitivity training program," "involvement in community activities," and "employee development counseling of, and development of communication with students in urban areas who may be TRY students of the future."

Even With Hangups, Orientation Proves Its Worth to MSC Freshman

By JILL SCHNEIDER
Staff Reporter

It turns some on; it turns some off; and it tunes some out — this sophomore orientation might be the "why," and went along. The student personnel meetings and coffee hours helped the class to shake off the high school concept of aloof teachers and grasp the idea of "hanging around" the campus. The event of students feel the loss of free time, so the "closed" room was all it was worth it?

Those who felt orientation was useful got to the core of the alleged foolishness, understood the purpose the meeting is to be a "necessary evil." A poet by trade, Mr. Jones entered the national spotlight for his work as a civil rights activist. Those students who were living almost entirely on grants, and off campus, have been quite enthusiastic. The sophomore orientation is a "limited audience," composed of TRY students. Administrative Problems Is Key to N.Y. Teacher Strike

By THOMAS BOLTOCCO

MONTCLAIRON Education Editor

Strikes by the powerful teachers' unions have again kept New York City's school system from opening. The strike is not a matter of wages and conditions but involves the principle of control of administrative policies and the power of the teacher in the classroom.

The strike paralyzed 53,000 of the city's 57,000 teachers and kept most of the 1.1 million students out of more than 900 schools.

The parents and administrators of the Ocean Hill-Brownsville school district, on which the strike is focused, have determinedly stated that they will control their schools and who teaches what. They have shown the power of the white "undesirable" white teachers out of the predominantly black school and have fired 200 to 300 white teachers who have agreed to back the policies of Rev. C.берег Окленд Оксфорд

The teachers, as a union, are concerned with teaching procedures, job security and the survival of the union. They feel that, according to union leader Albert Shankar, they are "professionals who should not be hired and fired by the community."

Originally, in order to solve a strike dispute a year ago, the Ford Foundation persuaded the city to allow the predominantly black parents to elect their own governing boards, control the curriculum and budget. The problem arose, however, when the city neglected to spell out the specific powers of each local board.

The 19-member Ocean Hill-Brownsville board oversees eight schools. It dismissed the teachers last spring in a test of its power. "The community," explained Rhody McCoy, unit administrator, "lost confidence in these schools. We have had to find a new school system."

This stand-off reached a head when the school system opened this fall and the ten teachers were not reinstated.

The city has not ordered the 53,000 teachers back to work in an effort to open the schools, but according to union leader Shankar, "We are now in a cold day in hell when the teachers go back to work for a board of incompetence and ignorance."

Financial Aid

The New Jersey State Scholarship Program added a new feature when Governor Richard Hughes signed into law Senate Bill 561. This bill will now allow students who hold State Scholarships, to attend summer school this year.

State scholarships are paid recipients $550 annually on the cost of tuition, whichever is less. Recipients $550 annually on the cost of tuition in summer school, that heretofore has not been unused, that can be put towards the cost of tuition in summer school.

"Everyone seems to feel that this is the fairest type of policy."

Martinez also commented on numerous people who are receiving scholarships for a Democratic society movement. "I've been giving this a lot of thought. He said, "If an SDS group could get the needed student and faculty support and if it drew up a valid constitution, I don't see why it wouldn't be chartered."

But he did express doubts that the road to chartering an SDS Chapter would be smooth. "I can't speak for the entire SGA, but if the SDS brings up a move to be chartered it should be a great meeting."

Frosh To Assume Class Control On October 17

The freshmen, having the opportunity to become acquainted with one another and with the campus, will elect a president, a vice-president, a secretary, a treasurer and two Student Government Association representatives.

On Oct. 14, the campaign will officially open. Posters proclaiming support for the candidates will be permitted to be hung in the cafeteria. At this time, during the freshman assembly, Oct. 17, each student seeking office will have an opportunity to present his views and plans to his classmates. Finally, on Oct. 18 the freshmen will elect those students whom they wish to have represent their class.

OPEN DOOR POLICY

The Council on International and National Affairs (CINA) has voted to sponsor an academic "open door" policy whereby representatives from various political groups can come to the MSC campus and expound their views. Information and lively discussions are sure to ensue. Although there might be question in the minds of some as to the advisability of such a program, the MONTCLARION sees no immediate danger inherent in such a proposal.

The freedom of speech is one of the basic rights upon which this country was founded. If Communists, Fascists, Klu Klux Klansers, Catholics, Jews, Protestants or John Birchers believe what he doesn't want to, it is with this in mind that this editorial is written.

In the same vein, this right to express one's beliefs is also a privilege and, as such, must not be abused. If disorderly outbursts of any kind take place because of the misuse of CINA's proposed policy, then the MONTCLARION would be forced to condemn such future activities.

BUILDING WHAT?

It is always interesting to learn of new college construction developments and of future expansion plans for Montclair State College.

However, when building plans are held up, including three MONT YEARBOOK reporters, attended the meeting. Granted, the meeting was at an inopportune time and was long drawn out, but students with real and sincere complaints would have made the effort.

New Jersey seems to be a city of strikes these days. With teachers, garbage collectors, policemen, longshoremen making more and more demands, it is doubtful whether anyone anywhere is satisfied with anything.

Last spring's "open door" policy whereby women were permitted into the Partridge Hall of learning and leave behind the shabby quarters of Annex 2, perhaps then we will regain our concern about what is happening physically to MSC.

Ramblings II

The recent Board of Trustees meeting on May 18 brought the willingness on the part of the administration to discuss student grievances. And once again, if few students, including three MONT YEARBOOK reporters, attended the meeting. Granted, the meeting was at an inopportune time and was long drawn out, but students with real and sincere complaints would have made the effort.

New Jersey seems to be a city of strikes these days. With teachers, garbage collectors, police officers, longshoremen making more and more demands, it is doubtful whether anyone anywhere is satisfied with anything.

Change In Graduation Date

We are considering eliminating the conventional Baccalaureate Service and changing the date of graduation from the Sunday evening of Wednesday, June 4th, to the afternoon of Sunday, June 1st. This would have the following advantages:

1. Setting a time for Commencement which makes delays possible in case of rain (we could move from the afternoon to the evening.)
2. Removing a controversial program to which some students and faculty object and perhaps combining some part of it with Commencement.

A weekend Commencement would provide a better travel time for those parents who work and live at a distance from the State College.

There would be fewer problems of campus traffic and parking on a weekend than on a Wednesday.

The change has already been approved by a representative group of faculty, students and administration. Before the final decision is made by the Board of Trustees, however, I would like to give the entire student body and faculty an opportunity to react. Therefore, I am writing this column to advise you of this proposed change in the end-of-year Baccalaureate Commencement. If you wish to give your comments, please send a note to my office.

BOND ISSUE

I am worried about the fate of the 1968 Bond Issue for Higher Education. Some of my friends insist that there is no reason for anxiety; they point out that there is no organized opposition to the Bond Issue — both political parties are in favor of it. Even the New Jersey Taxpayers Association (a group normally conservative in its approach to expenditures) is backing the drive. The New Jersey Association of Manufacturers, Service, Trade and Labor, the State Chamber of Commerce and many local Chambers of Commerce are also backing the Bond Issue for Higher Education.

Graduate School Aspirants Urged To Plan Ahead

Anyone preparing himself for admission to graduate school should be sure that he has fulfilled all the requirements in advance. Among other things, many graduate schools now require scores from the Graduate Record Exams. The Graduate Record Exams are scheduled for October 26 and December 14 in 1968 and on January 18, February 22, April 26, and July 12 in 1969. Individual applicants should be sure that they take the exams at the times which are hereafter contained in the Bulletin of Information for Candidates. If this booklet is not available on campus, you may request a copy from Educational Testing Service, Box 955, Princeton, New Jersey 08540; 990 Green Street, Evanston, Illinois 60201 or 1947 Center Street, Berkeley, California 94704.

Jersey Corruption Is Real

Just Don't Try to Prove It

If someone were to write a history of New Jersey's two centuries of corruption, it would be a pity to leave out a chapter dealing with corruption on the campus level. In all probability, the entire course of history in our time can be traced by the mere fact that corruption does exist, but don't dare try to prove it.

New Jersey State College, Berkeley Heights, is not an exception. By the mere fact that corruption exists, the professor failed to produce facts necessary to blow the top of the keg.

It has been revealed that the State's Commission of Investigations would provide the necessary data through a Senate study. But what some senators do can be the topic of another study, at any rate.

On the local level, it has been claimed by Life magazine that Rep. Joseph C. Gallagher Bayonne "was a tool and collaborator of a Cosa Nostra ganglord." However, who portrays a "liberal" in Congress, was said to have been asked by Bayonne to sell, well, reputed Mafia figure, to halt a gambling crackdown by police in Bayonne, a city with a reputation.

And in Newark, Police Commissioner Dominick Spina has been indicted by a grand jury for permitting illegal gambling to take place in that city. One professor in Newark told this reporter that "most bookies aren't afraid of the cops anymore." In fact, he added, "some cops even make good money.

Mayor Being Investigated

The mayor of Newark is also in hot water. The Governor's Rost Commission Report stated that there was a "pervasive feeling of corruption in Newark" after the riot. As a result, Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio is currently being investigated by a grand jury. (At press time, Addonizio has been asked to produce all his financial records to the jury for further investigation.)

So corruption in New Jersey is not something to be swept under City Hall's red rug. It affects the individual and gives the state a repulsive reputation.

Dr. Pratt Looks To MSC's Future

He Sees Montclair
As a University

by DON PENDLEY
Staff Reporter

All-encompassing, yet vague, that was the description of a plan for the future of MSC. However, Dr. Samuel Platt, Montclair State College's new president, is definite on one point: His administration will not make "random planner for academic affairs" has definite plans for the future of MSC. He believes that the student should realize his full academic and creative possibilities. And by a strange coincidence, this is also his job. "I want to raise questions," said Dr. Pratt, "and then assess what Montclair State's position should be.

This aspect of questioning and creating has also become the driving force in his off-campus life. During his studying at different colleges, he has come to the conclusion that the roles of different people and educational systems, he perceived_intellectualism_and music. Although his interest in furniture-making has decreased, his musical inclinations have continued, to the extent of jotting down the name of this reporter's other book, saying, "I haven't read it." This interest has been accompanied by a new hobby—film-making.

This film-making urge, which shares his with his wife and ten-year-old daughter, Pamela, started in earnest. Since he has been making films, his daughter, for example, has recently completed a film on the subject of making films. It's called "Red in New York," and it's about everything in New York that's red, from the bottom of the basement to the fire hydrants.

Dr. Pratt proposes to adapt this creative urge to the college environment in three ways: 1) the establishment of Policy Formation and Influence Centers, where students and faculty would review, rewrite, and create campus policies; 2) the creation of internships, particularly in the field of liberal arts, where, for example, Spanish majors would spend time in a Spanish-speaking area and chemistry majors would become temporary research assistants; and 3) student-invented, student-led organizations for the accomplishment of whatever students wish to accomplish, ranging from the improvement of ghetto, to the creation of discussion groups and the changing of administrative rulings.

Dr. Pratt claims: "A college must make every student live up to the total creative urge he has. It is to this end that Dr. Pratt will strive.

Dynamic Seminars Highlight Newman

The Newman Community of MSC recently began its fall semester program for seminars "to make the college student who fears his future a university. This program will feature the highly successful " Laos " the fascinating history of today's young generation is here, or so it is said. Unfortunately, the freshmen who entered Montclair State College this semester see little evidence of the intellectual fervor and active involvement in which lies the hope for the future of the American College. What happened at Montclair State this semester will see the awakening of the "silent generation" is more than a pinochle game.

Dead — killed in a war that you weeks and one day you could be dead — killed in a war that you thought was less important than a pinocle game.

Sex Subject Of Bestseller

by LOIS TANNENBAUM

All thinking college students are questing for identity. This search has occurred throughout history. Yet today's young Odysseus is different because he seldom has any standard of behavior to follow. The concept of masculinity has changed with the changing role of his female counterparts, his traditional harbors of security, the family and religion, have lost their holds upon his life. The questing youth of today is thrust into a wilderness as dangerous to his life as any physical wilderness encountered by his pioneer ancestors.

It is therefore appropriate that Vance Packard has given the title The Sexual Wilderness to his book about the struggles of today's youth. He discusses the changing role of the relationship between the sexes on all levels including companionship, sexual intimacy, marriage, divorce, and child rearing. Using concrete and always interesting examples, Mr. Packard has not only illuminated his topic but also states the problems we may face in the future and the ways society may solve these problems.

From a personal viewpoint, this book can be a guide for any college student who fears his problems with the world and with the opposite sex are completely unique. This book is not presented as a panacea for the ills of the changing concepts of sex in the individual or in society. It is a journalistic experience of merit which should be included as a guide to all people in our world.

WOMEN WANTED!
Princeton Survey Shows Growing Desire to Admit Coeds and Break With Tradition

By MICHAEL HEANEY
Editor Education Reporter

Finding an all-male campus is a rarity these days. Even the Ivy League schools are emerging from the不应不可能的堡垒 of masculinity. Why?

It appears that both students and the administration at all-male schools are relinquishing their status in return for something far more tangible. The students argue that without WOMEN the college experience is irrelevant to the demands of society. And the administration complains that they aren’t attracting enough good students.

Princeton, for example, has recently permitted women to compete in at least 1,000 women be admitted. Dr. Gardner Patterson, an associate professor at Princeton, noted in his studies that the traditions of the school are being judged on their toga’s. The students watch the participating Greeks fun on Sat., Oct. 5.

The Chariot Race Adds a New Event to Greek Week

Chariot Race Adds a New Event to Greek Week

245 students originally accepted for 1968, only 181 finally elected to attend Princeton University.

A poll of those who declined entrance showed that they did so for a number of reasons: lack of women on campus; an inadequate social organization; and dislike of the club system which prevails.

The question facing Princeton and other all-male colleges is simple: Do we wish women to establish a sister relationship with an all-girl college?

There have been answers to this question, notably at Harvard, Columbia, Brown, Cornell and University of Pennsylvania. The first three have sister colleges while the last two have gone co-educational.

"Burden of Women"

But progress at the other institutions has been slow because of administrative neurosis. The alumni of the all-male schools want to retain their individuality and aloofness while the all-girl students are fighting for their identity. Mr. Arthur Horton, an administrator at Princeton, feels that if Princeton wishes to be "Princeton" will be squashed by the burden of women.

However, both faculty and students overwhelmingly feel that the girls would improve the intellectual, cultural, social, and, of course, moral fibre of the university. Students believe that co-education is a more normal college experience than a sexually segregated one.

Traditionalism is not the force that it used to be. Values are relative qualities and relevant only within a given age or generation. It appears evident that both the college and the student are changing with the times.

Dr. Young: Students May Be Critical, But They Still Have Faith in Education

The last section of the Bond Panel reported the need $12.5 million for housing. The riots in Newark and Trenton and the disturbances in several smaller communities have shown the need for adequate housing. Most of the buildings of the inner city of Newark date back to the mid-1800’s. It is estimated that New Jersey has $65,000,000 inadequate housing units. The bonds, by generating private industrial investment, would provide $90 million in housing.

Perhaps an understanding of bonds is necessary for the intelligent voter. First, $990 million will provide $90 million in housing. Second, since the credit rating of N.J. is so high (a triple-A) bonds will not be difficult to sell. Traditionally, they have only taken up one percent of personal income in the state. Third, the issue has already been cut from $1.95 billion irreducible minimum to a $1 billion maximum.

Last, the state legislators want to pull their state from the bottom. Though it is prosperity, it is 50th in education and 48th in capital construction. With this in mind, the voters go to the polls.

War Memorial Board Responsible For Needed Campus Improvements

Whenever there is evidence of new lounge furniture in Life Hall, or improvements in TUB, it is accomplished by the War Memorial Fund.

Officially titled "The War Memorial Fund of New Jersey State Teacher’s College at Montclair," the War Memorial Fund aims to continue to improve the buildings and grounds of Montclair State. The Fund is a non-profit organization which gains its funds from alumni and philanthropists, but most of its money comes from a $2 per semester extraction from the students’ fee.

The Fund, headed by Horace Sheppard, was established in 1959 in the memory of the three men, especially MSC graduates, who have died in the recent nuclear conflicts. This Fund is the maintenance and, if necessary, alterations to the buildings, in particular Life Hall, the construction of the Student Union Building and whatever the gravel lot southwest of Webster Hall, and perhaps the establishment of the “War Memorial Scholarship for International Understanding,” which could be used to send students in traveling to other countries.

The Board of the War Memorial Fund is made up of three alumni, three faculty members, and a non-member. The Board meets four times a year, and discusses budget items, current projects, and college building and maintenance needs.

on-campus student activities. Clark Ke, Homecoming Queen is close to the planning of the new student union building.

This is where construction on the much-talked-about union building will start to be designed. Although plans are not definite, Mr. McKnight is optimistic. "We’re a very, very lucky town," he said.

Mr. McKnight is very enthusiastic about the new building. He feels the union building for the union building at Geneseo and served as a special consultant to the Architectural Institute of Technology. Mr. McKnight claims that the union building will be second only to the Panzer complex in size. There will be a bowling alley, a large ping pong and bowling area, and improved office space. It will be a multi-million dollar project. Two assignments for the union building will be second only to the the Panzer complex in size.

The union building will be still farther along the line. The money will come from Trenton, Mr. McKnight intends that the building be self-supporting. This is a very unusual concept for a student union building. "The entire building will be self-supporting so that it can stand on its own two feet," claims Mr. McKnight.

The union building is still far in the future, but more immediately concerned to Mr. McKnight is the union building. It is Homecoming, Nov 1-3. Mr. McKnight hopes for extensive cooperation between the Homecoming Steering Board and prominent businesses in Upper Montclair. The merchants are expected to provide discounts and giveaways, and sponsor a marching band. In other Homecoming activities, CLUB will sponsor a high school band tournament. A parade from downtown Upper Montclair to the college campus will take place on Nov. 2. Two concerts are scheduled. On Nov. 3, a MAGNIFICENT MEN rock group from Philadelphia, will perform. Homecoming will start on Nov. 3 with a concert by the nationally known rock group, THE UNION GAP. Other attractions at Homecoming will be a boogie, pep rally, dance, and...

The annual bloodletting affectionately termed intramural football, has once again returned to Montclair State College. This year the program shows several innovations with the field of teams being expanded from 12 to 16, and with the establishment of two leagues (American and National) and two divisions (East and West) of four teams within each league.

With the scrapping of the fraternity and independence league setup of the past, competition should be keener and leagues more evenly matched. Games are played on the baseball field and on the lawn in front of Webster Hall on Mondays at 5:15 and 6:00 p.m. and are well worth watching.

Montclair State's gridders finally clicked on a TD toss as the Northern New Jersey Athletic Association champion in floor exercise in 1963.

He received a full scholarship to Syracuse University and worked all around and on the trampoline, leading the team as captain in his senior year. Throughout his undergraduate years, and while earning his master's degree at William and Mary College, Orlick remained on the Dean's list. While at William and Mary he was assistant gymnastic and diving coach.

Throughout his gymnastic career, Terry Orlick has won a world's gymnastic and diving coach. The meet, termed as the \"Astrodome Federation National Relay Championships\" will be held on the world's largest indoor banked wood track, a one-fifth mile oval. The big track will permit a full 1000-yard dash to be run inside the oval – all in full view of the spectators.

In a crisis, it takes courage to be a leader . . . courage to speak out . . . to point the way . . . to say, \"Follow Me!\" In a crisis, it takes action to survive . . . the kind of decisive action that comes from a man of sound instinct, as well as intelligence.

If America is to survive this crisis . . . if the youth of America are to inherit a sane and even promising world, we must have courageous, constructive leadership. The kind of leadership that only George C. Wallace—of all Presidential candidates—has to offer. That's why young Americans who really think support Wallace.

They know that it takes courage to stand up for America against the pseudo-intellectual professors, the hippies, the press and the entire liberal establishment. And they've got that courage.

Thousands and thousands of tomorrow's leaders—the thinking young men and women of America who have courage and who are willing to act—are joining YOUTH FOR WALLACE. You should join, too.

There are no dues. Send in the coupon to receive your membership card, the YFW Newsletter and a copy of \"STAND UP FOR AMERICA,\" the story of George C. Wallace.

MSC Pool Opened
To Montclair Public

"We must develop the desire of people to use the facilities at MSC," explained Bill Dioguardi, concerning the opening of the MSC pool to Montclair city residents this summer.

Through the efforts of Montclair mayor, Matthew G. Carter and Dr. Thomas Richardson, MSC's pool was made available to Montclair residents for nine days.

This arrangement was made in connection with Montclair's summer program in which five pools throughout the city of Montclair were secured for use by citizens of the community. Of the five pools, MSC's had the highest average attendance and was principally used by families while the other four pools attracted youngsters.

Mr. Dioguardi, director of athletics at MSC, said that the turnout during these days was encouraging – over 200 persons per day – and this increased the possibility of extending this program each year.

Mr. Dioguardi also stated that the physical education department is pleased with the reaction of students, faculty, and Montclair residents to the program.

MSC, BOSS also hopes to assist the formation of other groups of this kind on college campuses throughout the state.

The co-advisors of BOSS are Mr. Michael Cryer and Miss Pat Gabriel. The officers are: Vernon E. Nelson, president; Gretchen Brown, vice-president; Angie Byrd, recording secretary; Gwen Davis, corresponding secretary; Sandi Green, treasurer, Thomas Puryear, historian, Richard Bowen, alumni secretary.

"Follow Me!"
Football Players Boil

Under New Coach Doyle

By TOM BENN

Sports Staff

Just what kind of man is Howard Doyle? It is a question that people in different settings might try to answer. He is a football coach, a mountain climber, and a mule driver.

Before finding out what kind of a man Howard Doyle is, one would have to know who he is. To the dozen or so members of the Montclair State staff of head mentor Henry Ferris. Mr. Doyle, who can often be found at the side of Coach Ferris during games and at practice, is a man of many interests and an impressive football background. He played his high school football at Jersey City's Dickinson High School, where he excelled as a ball carrier. The University of Maryland sported him and was so impressed that they offered him a scholarship despite the fact that he broke his collar bone and had to sit out half the season in his senior year.

He went to the University of Maryland and played three years of varsity ball under Coach Tom Field. He played in the backfield, toting the ball from his halfback and fullback positions. Other than football, one of Doyle's major interests is mountain climbing. Perhaps his biggest feat in that field has been his conquest of Mount Blanc, the highest peak in Europe. Mount Blanc is located in the French Alps. This past summer was spent in Colorado, California, Arizona and other states.

His appointment to Montclair State's staff was not his first job. He spent two years at Westwood Junior High School, where his football team won fourteen out of fifteen games in two years, losing only once by a single point. His immediate superior at MSC, Coach Hank Ferris, seems to expect, although he looks for nothing less than that from his players under him. Doyle really sits out half the season in his senior year.

It's a lot to hope for, perhaps too much, but no matters — it's a tremendous asset to the team."

"He's got a very impressive background," says Ferris. "He's very good with the kids; he is knowledgeable and is a very personable man. I just can't say enough nice things about him."

Several of his players hold a somewhat different view, though. One of them weights in at 210. With Tom Gardi and his power runners out of action in the backfield and also helped with a veteran unit which had never been winning attitude. We're looking forward to work and develop a team."

The 1968-69 Intramural program swung into action on Monday with an eight game football schedule. Surprisingly the offense stole most of the show as four squads managed to tally three or more touchdowns. Defense, however, still was proven as the name of the game with shutouts being posted in six of the eight contests. The scores: AMERICAN LEAGUE — Eastern Conference — Faculty-TRY 12 - who weights in at 210. With standout in every area, Montclair students should be able to exact great things from their freshman team.
