

MONTCLAIR STATE UNIVERSITY

Montclair State University
Montclair State University Digital Commons

Course Descriptions

Sprague Library Archives

2009

History (HIST)

Montclair State University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/course-descriptions>

MSU Digital Commons Citation

Montclair State University, "History (HIST)" (2009). Course Descriptions. 77.
<https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/course-descriptions/77>

This Course Description is brought to you for free and open access by the Sprague Library Archives at Montclair State University Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Course Descriptions by an authorized administrator of Montclair State University Digital Commons. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@montclair.edu.

History

	Course Description	Israeli-Hebrew Culture is a comprehensive survey class that introduces students to key themes and concepts of Israeli-Hebrew culture manifested in language, literature, film, popular music, art, politics, society, pop culture, religion, and public ritual- setting them in social-historical context, with particular attention to the construction of cultural meaning, while teaching key Hebrew vocabulary which is culturally relevant to each unit of instruction. Course conducted in English; students registering under the HEBR number will complete written work in Hebrew; students registering under the HEIN number will complete written work in English. Meets World Languages Requirement.
HEBR375	Title	Hebrew Study Abroad.
	Prerequisites	Departmental approval.
	Course Description	This course is designed to give teachers and students the opportunity to gain first-hand knowledge of the historical, social, economic, and cultural life of
HEBR375	Course Description	a Hebrew-speaking country or region. This aim will be achieved through visits to various representative sites, tours, and lectures.
HEIN201	Title	Israeli-Hebrew Culture.
	Prerequisites	ENWR 105 or HONP 100.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Israeli-Hebrew Culture is a comprehensive survey class that introduces students to key themes and concepts of Israeli-Hebrew culture manifested in language, literature, film, popular music, art, politics, society, pop culture, religion, and public ritual- setting them in social-historical context, with particular attention to the construction of cultural meaning, while teaching key Hebrew vocabulary which is culturally relevant to each unit of instruction. Course conducted in English; students registering under the HEBR number will complete written work in Hebrew; students registering under the HEIN number will complete written work in English. Meets Gen Ed 2002 Requirement - Non-Western Cultural Perspectives.
HIST100	Title	The Study of History.
	Prerequisites	Restricted to History Majors and Minors.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.

	Course Description	The course is designed to introduce students to the nature of history as a scholarly intellectual pursuit. It is built around student activities dealing with the materials and typical research procedures used by historians and the challenges of criticizing and writing history at the beginner's level. Meets the University Writing Requirement majors in History. Restricted to History Majors and Minors.
HIST101	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Connections: Years That Made History. 3 hours lecture. This special course will link people and events in eight significant years in history since 1500. Students will explore how events and prominent people are tied together. While the course will emphasize Western history, elements of non-Western history will be incorporated to achieve a more global perspective.
HIST103	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Foundations of Western Civilization. 3 hours lecture. Origins and development of Western civilization to about 1350: Egyptian, Judaic, Greek, Roman, Islamic and Medieval European contributions. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, American or European History.
HIST105	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Emergence of European Civilization, 1500-1914. 3 hours lecture. The emergence of Europe as a distinctive world civilization. The development of ideas, institutions and technologies from medieval times to World War I. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, American or European History.
HIST106	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Contemporary Europe, 1914 to the Present. 3 hours lecture. European society in transition since World War I. The role of two world wars in shaping contemporary times. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, American or European History.
HIST108	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Introduction to African Civilization. 3 hours lecture. Pre-colonial African civilization and its eclipse under slavery and the colonial onslaught. Principal social, political and cultural systems of the period. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, Non-Western Cultural Perspectives. Meets World Cultures Requirement.
HIST109	Title	Introduction to Islamic Civilization.

	Number and type of credits Course Description	3 hours lecture. Examination of various institutions and value systems in Islam which characterize it as a major civilization. Important cultural developments as
HIST109	Course Description	they are affected by the process of transition. Meets World Cultures Requirement.
HIST110	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Introduction to American Civilization. 3 hours lecture. The mainstreams of development in American civilization. Political, intellectual, social, economic and cultural forces and achievements which have made the U.S. distinctive. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, American or European History.
HIST111	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Contemporary American Issues in Historical Perspective. 3 hours lecture. Examines contemporary issues in American society in historical perspective. Topics will vary from semester to semester in the light of changing problems confronting our society.
HIST112	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Introduction to the Modern Middle East. 3 hours lecture. This course aims to offer a general survey of the important themes and developments in Modern Middle Eastern History from 1750 to the present. By the end of the course, students should gain an appreciation of some of the major topics and issues that are central to the understanding of the Modern Middle East. Students will consider the social political and cultural history of the late eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth century Middle East. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Non-Western.
HIST114	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Early Latin America. 3 hours lecture. This course will provide a background in the main issues, themes and events in the history of colonial Latin America, including an introduction to the pre-contact (pre-1492) histories of Spain, Portugal and the Americas. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, Non-Western Cultural Perspectives. Meets World Cultures Requirement.

HIST115	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	History of Puerto Rico. 3 hours lecture. The history and culture of Puerto Rico and interaction with Spain, Latin America and the United States. Meets World Cultures Requirement.
HIST116	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Modern Latin America. 3 hours lecture. This course offers an introduction to the history of Latin America, with an emphasis on the period since the 1810s. Students unfamiliar with the region should emerge from the course with a firm grounding in the major themes of modern Latin American history. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Non-Western Cultural Perspectives.
HIST117	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	History of the United States to 1876. 3 hours lecture. Issues and problems in the development of the American nation from discovery and exploration to the Civil War and Reconstruction. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, American or European History.
HIST118	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	History of the United States Since 1876. 3 hours lecture. American development from an agrarian power after the Civil War into an urban-industrial society with the liberal institutions that accompanied it. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, American or European History.
HIST128	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Pre-Modern Japan: A History of Japan to the Meiji Restoration. 3 hours lecture. This is an introductory survey course in Japanese history from earliest times to the Meiji (1868-1912). It is a first step in Japan studies designed to provide a broad, useful, working knowledge of key aspects of traditional
HIST128	Course Description	Japan. Culture, politics, society and economy will be built into a chronological, historical structure. Japan's uniqueness will be outlined against a background of greater East Asian and world interactions. This course will stand on its own, but will also serve as a useful background to understanding modern and contemporary Japan. The course also aspires to sensitizing students to the inherent value of East Asian culture as a part of HIST129	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	human richness and diversity. Modern Japan: A History of Japan From the Meiji Through the Showa. 3 hours lecture. This is an introductory survey course in Japanese history from the Meiji (1868-1912) through the Showa (1925-present). While it would be useful to study premodern Japan before taking this course, modern Japan does stand on its own. A review of traditional Japan will be followed by study of the dynamic interaction of Japan and the West during the 19th Century. Japan's expansionism, World War II and the postwar period will be important topics. Cultural, military, economic, political, and social developments will be discussed in historical settings. Students will be encouraged to appreciate the unique dynamics of Japan's development as a modern nation state and to explore the likely progress of Japan into the 21st Century.

HIST131	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Introduction to Indian Civilization. 3 hours lecture. The early history of India, 3000 B.C. to 1000 A.D. Principal religions, political and literary works, and their insights into Indian social values and institutions. Meets World Cultures Requirement.
HIST132	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Introduction to Chinese Civilization. 3 hours lecture. The early history of China, 2000 B.C. to 1300 A.D. Principal social, political and metaphysical-philosophic works, corresponding values and institutions. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, Non-Western Cultural Perspectives. Meets World Cultures Requirement.
HIST133	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Modern Chinese Civilization. 3 hours lecture. Modern China, 1600 to the present. Changes in values and mutual influence of East and West, studied through literary, philosophical, anthropological, historical and artistic works. Meets World Cultures Requirement.
HIST138	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Introduction to Modern South Asia. 3 hours lecture. A survey of the history of the Indian subcontinent, 1526 CE to the present, this course examines the evolution of the states and societies of modern South Asia. Starting with the question of modernity in the Mughal Empire, proceeding through the rise and fall of the British Empire in India, and continuing into the postcolonial period, this course takes an interdisciplinary approach to understanding the making of modern South Asia. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Non-Western Cultural Perspectives requirement. Meets World Cultures Requirement.

HIST141	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Foundations of Global Civilization. 3 hours lecture. The increasing interaction between world cultures and civilizations during A.D. 1500-1914. The central role of Europe in the development of the first global phase of world history to 1914. Cultural confrontation between West and non-West in the age of Modern Imperialism.
HIST204	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	The Second World War. 3 hours lecture. A study of the origins and course of World War II in Europe, Asia and the Pacific.
HIST205	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Minorities in American History. 3 hours lecture. A study of the historical background of the various ethnic, racial and religious minorities in contemporary American society. Meets World Cultures Requirement.
HIST212	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Social History of the United States. 3 hours lecture. Social and cultural aspects of American history: population movements, rural and urban problems, status of women, utopian ventures, mass media, recreation, human rights.
HIST213	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Economic History of the United States. 3 hours lecture. Major trends in agriculture, commerce, finance, manufacturing, transportation and industrial relations from colonial beginnings to the present. Cross listed with Economics and Finance, ECON 213.
HIST214	Title Number and type of credits	Diplomatic History of the United States. 3 hours lecture.

	Course Description	Evolution of American foreign policy and diplomacy from the Revolution to the present. Selected basic readings in the field.
HIST215	Title	Women in American History.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The changing role and status of women in American society from colonial times to the present. Meets World Cultures Requirement.
HIST216	Title	Italian American History and Culture.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The history and culture of Italian Americans from the colonial era to the present.
HIST217	Title	History of Black Americans.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Role of Americans of African descent in the development of the United States. Contributions of black Americans from initial discovery and exploration to mid-20th century. Meets World Cultures Requirement.
HIST218	Title	Political History of the United States.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The historical development of American political institutions from the early 1700s to the present. Focus upon the evolution of constitutional and legal structures, the party system and pressure groups, the role of bureaucracies, and the impact of political leaders.
HIST219	Title	Sport in History.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	This course takes a global approach to the history of sport, but focuses on the role of sport in American history. It examines sport in early world cultures, the development of sport as a mass spectator phenomenon in modern times, and the social significance of sport in the contemporary world.
HIST221	Title	Europe's Conquest of the Americas, 1415-1763.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	A study of European explorations, discoveries and territorial settlements in the Americas during the 15th to the 18th century. Examination of the expansion and impact of Europe -- institutions, ideas, traditions, technologies -- and resulting confrontations with and impact on native American peoples.

HIST222	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Economic History of Europe. 3 hours lecture. European economic development from the Middle Ages to the present. Emphasis on the first industrial revolution in Britain; comparing 19th century economic
HIST222	Course Description	growth in Britain, France, Germany and Russia. Cross listed with Economics and Finance, ECON 222.
HIST223	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Communist Revolution in China. 3 hours lecture. Ideological and historical significance studied against the background of domestic and international events, personalities and ideologies.
HIST231	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	New Jersey: Past and Present. 3 hours lecture. A survey of New Jersey history emphasizing (1) the state's political, economic, and social heritage and evolution, and (2) New Jersey's role in the development of the United States.
HIST250	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	Selected Content. HIST 100. 3 hours lecture. Students will study a specific historical period, topic, theme or problem. Individual course offerings will vary. Students may repeat this course twice, although not with same subject matter, for a total of 6 s.h. Consult advisor or History Department webpage for specifics about content for current semester offerings.
HIST281	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Greek Civilization. 3 hours lecture. The political, social, economic, and cultural history of the Greek world from the Bronze Age to the Roman Conquest as seen through literary, documentary, and archaeological sources. Cross listed with Classics and General Humanities, GNHU 281. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, American or European History.
HIST282	Title Number and type of credits	Roman Civilization. 3 hours lecture.

	Course Description	The political, social, economic, and cultural history of the Roman world from the Regal Period to Justinian as seen through literary, documentary and archaeological sources. Cross listed with Classics and General Humanities, GNHU 282. Meets Gen Ed 2002 - Social Science, American or European History.
HIST299	Title	History Study Abroad.
	Course Description	This study abroad course is an exploration of a specific historical period, problem, theme, or geographical region. Particular course offerings will vary according to the location of study and the expertise of the instructor. Students will consult current schedule of courses for a specific semester offering. May be repeated three times for a maximum of 9.0 credits as long as the individual topic is different.
HIST300	Title	Research Seminar.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; and HIST 117 or HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Students will study a specific historical topic or set of related topics in considerable depth. Advanced level research methodological skills will be integrated throughout, culminating with students writing a significant formal research paper.
HIST309	Title	Feminist Ideas in Western Thought.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; and HIST 117 or HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	History of feminist ideas and theories about women and womanhood. Students examine important theoretical literature in Europe and America from 18th century to present. Original texts of Wollstonecroft, Fuller, Mill, and Freud will be considered against their socio-historic milieu.
HIST310	Title	Immigrant in American History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; and HIST 117 or HIST 118.
HIST310	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The processes by which the immigrant was incorporated into American society. Includes the cultural backgrounds from which the different groups came; the reasons for emigration; the nature of the communities they created once they reached the U.S.; their religious and social institutions; the problems of HIST311	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	maintaining ethnic culture with the pressure to Americanize. Early History of New Jersey 1702-89. HIST 100; and HIST 117 or HIST 118. 3 hours lecture. From royal colony to the establishment of the federal government under the constitution state; and local events during the American Revolution.

HIST312	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	Historical Geography of the United States. HIST 100; and HIST 117 or HIST 118. 3 hours lecture. The slow pace of settlement of the eastern seaboard and the development of distinctive culture hearths prior to 1800; the rapid settlement and diffusion of culture traits in the area beyond the Appalachians since 1809.
HIST313	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	Biography in American History. HIST 100; and HIST 117 or HIST 118. 3 hours lecture. The significant biographical materials available in the study of American history; the problems and uses of biography.
HIST314	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	Women and Migration. WMGS 102; or HIST 100 and HIST 117 or 118. 3 hours lecture. This course focuses on female migrants from the late nineteenth century to the present. Using an interdisciplinary approach with an emphasis on historical studies, it considers issues of work, family, sexuality, and identity formation for migrant women past and present. Questions to explore include: what distinguishes the experiences of migration for women; what are the continuities and differences for women across time, ethnicity, and geography; how do historians, sociologists, anthropologists, and others, as well as the migrants themselves, understand female migration; what do women gain and lose through migration; and why a gendered approach to migration studies is crucial. Cross listed with Women's and Gender Studies, WMGS 314.
HIST315	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	War in History. HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118. 3 hours lecture. Examines selected wars in the history of the world in an attempt to learn about causes and consequences of war. Consider attempts to prevent war in the past, and proposed methods for preventing war in the future.

HIST319	Title	American Urban History to 1880.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The urban dimension in American history and development of city life to 1880. Shapers of the 19th century city; instability and disorders due to transit and demographic revolutions.
HIST320	Title	American Urban History Since 1880.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Transformation of the 19th century industrial city into the 20th century metropolis; the emergence of the New York metropolitan region.
HIST321	Title	History of the American Worker Since 1877.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
HIST321	Course Description	History of the American worker rather than his trade union. The worker's legal status, political behavior, social and cultural activities, treatment by employer and state.
HIST322	Title	Medieval European Civilization 450-1350.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Origins, development, and significance of a civilization whose political, social and cultural foundations had a spiritual basis and unity.
HIST323	Title	History of Russia to 1917.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Factors shaping the Russian people: Byzantium and Greek Orthodox faith, Tartar state organization, the Mir, Westernization from Peter to Lenin, intellectual and radical movements.
HIST324	Title	Russia Since 1917.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.

	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Political, social, economic and intellectual developments in the Soviet Union and Russia; the relationship of ideology and national goals.
HIST326	Title	Modern German History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	German society, culture and politics from 1789 to the present. The formation of a unified state in the nineteenth century. The effects of World War I and of National Socialism. The division of Germany after World War II and the reunification of the country in 1989-90.
HIST327	Title	History of France Since 1789.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Political, social, economic and intellectual developments in France since the Revolution.
HIST328	Title	Conflict in Modern Ireland.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	A history of Irish nationalism with emphasis on the period from 1782 to the present.
HIST329	Title	History of England to 1714.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Emphasis on political and constitutional history, the formation of basic institutions of law and government and related economic, social and cultural factors.
HIST330	Title	Chinese Social History Through Literature.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Masterpieces of the Chinese literary tradition from earliest times to the 20th century. Literary genre in historical perspective and as expression of social and cultural values.
HIST331	Title	History of England 1714-1914.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.

	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Political, social and economic history from the Hanoverian succession to the 20th century: Industrial Revolution, changing balance of the constitution, British imperialism, the Irish question.
HIST333	Title	History of Brazil.
HIST333	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Traces the historical development from the pre-historical Indian cultures to the 1970s; covers the social, cultural, political, economic and religious aspects of the largest Latin-American nation.
HIST334	Title	Women in the Muslim World: A History of Representations.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	A survey of writings by and about Muslim women examined historiographically. We examine conventional wisdom about Muslim women through the ages, and how this "wisdom" was constructed: Who wrote about Muslim women? When? How? What purposes have these writings served at different times and places since the inception of Islam and during the course of its 1,500 year history.
HIST339	Title	Seminar in Latin American History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours seminar.
	Course Description	Intensive study of specific periods and/or problems in Latin American history.
HIST400	Title	Senior Seminar in History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours seminar.
	Course Description	Directed research and preparation of seminar reports and written paper on special topics in the main fields of history. Required for senior history majors.
HIST401	Title	Kingdoms in the Sun: Sicily and Southern Italy in Antiquity and the Middle Ages.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.

	Course Description	This course is an excursion into the history of Sicily and the southern Italian mainland from approximately 500 BC - 1300 AD. It is driven by the cultures that left lasting impressions on this diverse region, investigating Greek, Roman, Byzantine, Arab, Norman, German and French occupations and influences. Students will have an opportunity to engage in this exploration "on location," as it will be offered as part of a summer study abroad experience in Sicily.
HIST406	Title	History of American Business.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Provides historical background toward understanding the present role business plays in American society. Examines the role of the entrepreneur and business manager in the evolution of American business.
HIST408	Title	Independent Study European History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Course Description	To provide opportunity for capable students, mainly history majors, to do independent work in the field of European history. May be repeated once for a maximum of 6.0 credits as long as the topic is different.
HIST409	Title	Independent Study Non-Western History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Course Description	To provide opportunity for capable students, mainly in history or transcultural studies, to do independent work in the field of non-Western history. May be repeated once for a maximum of 6.0 credits as long as the topic is different.
HIST410	Title	Independent Study in American History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Course Description	To provide an opportunity to do independent work in the field. May be repeated once for a maximum of 6.0 credits as long as the topic is different.
HIST411	Title	Intellectual History of the United States.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Development and contributions of the thought of individuals and groups, dominant and minority, and their effect on the American mind, traditions and practices.

HIST413	Title	The Philosophy of History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Development of historical thought and the writing of history in the Western world from Herodotus to the present.
HIST415	Title	European Social History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	This course will introduce history majors and other interested students to European social history in particular and social history in general.
HIST416	Title	Church and State in Latin America.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The Roman Catholic church as the major spiritual institution as well as a cultural, moral, political and economic force in Latin America.
HIST419	Title	Age of Renaissance, 1350-1517.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Political, economic, social and broad cultural developments in Italy and Western Europe during 1350-1517.
HIST420	Title	The Reformation Era, 1500-1650.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Religious movements of the 16th and 17th centuries; their medieval antecedents; the accompanying political, intellectual and socioeconomic forces.
HIST422	Title	Studies in Enlightenment History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Major intellectual developments in 18th century Europe: rise of skepticism, toleration, empiricism, idea of progress. Readings in Hume, Voltaire, Diderot, Rousseau, Kant and antecedent figures.

HIST424	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	Diplomatic History of Europe. HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118. 3 hours lecture. Diplomatic history of Europe since the Congress of Vienna. Emphasis on development of diplomatic practice and relations between states during 1870 to present.
HIST426	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	The Nazi Third Reich. HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118. 3 hours lecture. Major economic, social, political and intellectual developments in 20th century Germany. Demise of Weimar Republic and ascension of Nazi Third Reich.
HIST427	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	The Holocaust, 1939-1945. HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118. 3 hours lecture. The history of the Holocaust and an overview of its representations in the academic historiography as well as in literary and autobiographical texts.
HIST430	Title	Revolutions in Latin American History.
HIST430	Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118. 3 hours lecture. Examines and compares the causes, course and consequences of three major social revolutions in Latin America: Mexico (1910), Bolivia (1952), Cuba (1959).
HIST431	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits Course Description	Development of Indian Character and Culture. ANTH 100 or HIST 100; and HIST 117 or HIST 118. 3 hours lecture. The historical conditioning of Indian behavior. Culture change in the perspective of colonialism and modernization; contributions of religion to social and political values and modern literature. Cross listed with Anthropology, ANTH 431.
HIST432	Title Prerequisites Number and type of credits	Development of Japanese Character and Culture. ANTH 100 OR HIST 100; and HIST 117 or HIST 118. 3 hours lecture.

	Course Description	The historical conditioning of Japanese behavior. Cultural change in the perspective of traditional periodization of Japanese history. Contributions of religion and philosophy to defining social values. Cross listed with Anthropology, ANTH 432.
HIST433	Title	American Colonial History 1607-1763.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Developments within the English colonies, interactions between England and the colonists, growth of a distinctive American society.
HIST434	Title	American Revolution and Early Republic, 1763-1828.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Analysis of events leading to the war for independence; political, economic and foreign problems of the new nation; the growth of nationalism.
HIST435	Title	The Union in Crisis 1820-1877.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Significant events and developments of the period: Jacksonian democracy, westward expansion and sectionalism, the Civil War and Reconstruction.
HIST436	Title	America in the Gilded Age.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; and HIST 117 or 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The forces which contributed to the development of modern, industrialized America; American society and its reaction to changes of the period.
HIST437	Title	American Society in the 20th Century.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The continuing reactions to the problems of an industrialized America. The New Deal and recent Supreme Court decisions.
HIST438	Title	America in the Sixties: The Crisis of Consensus Liberalism.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Analyzes the crisis of American liberalism as that ideology was beset by the consequences of postwar affluence and the growing radicalism during the Kennedy-Johnson administration; and the backlash that developed into the Nixon "New Majority".

HIST443	Title	Internship in History.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Course Description	Opportunity for the advanced student to acquire practical experience working directly with primary sources of history in state and local depositories of
HIST443	Course Description	historical materials.
HIST460	Title	Independent Transcultural Study.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Course Description	No formal class meetings, this study program includes directed reading and preparation of written papers on transcultural subjects not offered in the regular curriculum and advanced independent study of subjects with which students have had course experience. Students seeking admission must secure approval of at least two professors representing different fields in the transcultural program. May be repeated once for a maximum of 6.0 credits as long as the topic is different.
HIST499	Title	Selected Topics.
	Prerequisites	HIST 100; AND HIST 117 OR HIST 118.
	Course Description	Study in a specific historical period, problem or theme. Particular course offerings will vary. Students may repeat course for up to nine credits as long as individual topic is different. Consult current schedule of courses for semester offering. May be repeated for a maximum of 9.0 credits as long as the topic is different.
HIST501	Title	New Interpretations in History.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Designed to help students keep up to date in the fields of American, European and Non-Western history. Major trends and developments in the study of history in the light of recent representative examples of historical research and interpretation.
HIST502	Title	History and New Social Studies.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Designed to assist teachers, administrators and supervisors in acquiring a comprehensive view of modern materials, methods and curricula in history and the social sciences.

HIST511	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Seminar in American Colonial History. 3 hours seminar. This course will examine the forces and conditions of the colonial period which contributed to the shaping of the characteristics of American political and economic institutions, social practices and ideas, intellectual outlooks, and attitudes.
HIST512	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	American Revolution 1763-1787. 3 hours lecture. The causes and course of the American revolution from both British and American viewpoints, including analysis of economic, political, social and intellectual factors.
HIST513	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Problems-New Nation 1789-1828. 3 hours lecture. The growth of political institutions under the Constitution, the gaining of respect as a new country in the family of nations. The establishment of economic credit, and the rise of American nationalism.
HIST514	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	The Crisis of American Nationalism, 1828-1876. 3 hours lecture. The crisis in American nationalism from Jackson through Reconstruction as the country's constitution, party system, and social structure contended with the disruptive effects of territorial expansion, the factory system, slavery and the new immigration.
HIST515	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Culture and Consciousness: Women in Nineteenth Century America. 3 hours lecture. This course in the history of American women will focus on major themes in nineteenth century women's culture. It will explore the implications of industrialization and modernization for women, the construction of domestic
HIST515	Course Description	ideology, the development of feminism, and the centrality of gender in nineteenth century life and culture. The emphasis of the course is antebellum, but will consider the implications of this legacy for post Civil War history. Readings will include contemporary scholarship as well as a selection of representative primary texts by and about nineteenth century American women.

HIST517	Title	Age of Franklin D. Roosevelt.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	An opportunity to study that part of recent American history centering about Franklin Delano Roosevelt. While concentrating on domestic aspects of American life, attention is given also to foreign affairs and their impact on the daily lives of Americans.
HIST518	Title	Urban History: National Trends in New Jersey Cities.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	An advanced survey of the urban dimension in American history and of urban history as a discipline. Late 19th and 20th century national trends are pinpointed within the development of Paterson, Passaic, Jersey City, Newark and their suburbs.
HIST519	Title	America Since 1945.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	This course studies the transformation of the Roosevelt coalition and its liberal policies since 1945 as they faced the challenge of the cold war abroad and growing class and racial upheaval at home.
HIST521	Title	Civil War and Revolution in Chinese History, 1911-1949.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The transformation of China from empire to Peoples Republic. Chinese concepts of revolution and the intellectual, political and social changes which preceded the formation of the Peoples Republic in 1949.
HIST522	Title	Revolutionary Russia 1905-1921.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	The historical forces of 19th and 20th century Russia which led to the Bolshevik revolution of November, 1917 and to the consolidation of Soviet power by 1921.
HIST523	Title	History of Soviet Diplomacy.
	Number and type of credits	3 hours lecture.
	Course Description	Changes in the ideological determinants of Soviet diplomacy contrasted with fluctuations in internal and external political and economic policies.

HIST524	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Contributions of leading Soviet statesmen to diplomatic history. History of American Business Leaders. 3 hours lecture. Designed to familiarize students with major developments in American business history. The mutual impact of business and society is investigated through biographical studies of leading American businessmen.
HIST525	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	History of American Labor 1870-1970. 3 hours lecture. Study of the American worker from the period after the Civil War to the present, with concentration on social, political and economic behavior as well as the union movement.
HIST526	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	The Industrialization of America, 1865-1900. 3 hours lecture. The causes and nature of the industrialization of the American economy after the Civil War; factors responsible for rapid economic growth; the impact of changing productive techniques on American institutions and human welfare.
HIST529	Title Number and type of credits	Europe of the Dictators, 1919-1939. 3 hours lecture.
HIST529	Course Description	The political, social, economic and intellectual developments in the major states of Western Europe during the interwar period, with emphasis on varieties of fascism.
HIST532	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Modernization in Japanese Cultural History. 3 hours lecture. Modernization in East Asia with focus on Japan. Japanese experience in adjusting new world forces of the 19th and 20th centuries considered against the background of her traditional values and institutions. Comparisons with China and Korea.
HIST533	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	French Revolution and Napoleon. 3 hours lecture. The background of the French Revolution, its changing course and cast of characters during 1789-99, and the advent to power and imperial regime of Napoleon, 1799-1814.

HIST535	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Castle, Cathedral and Crusade: Europe in the High Middle Ages, 1000-1300. 3 hours lecture. Guided by the organizing principle that some medieval people themselves used, this course will approach the High Middle Ages through the eyes of those who fought (nobility), worked (peasants), and prayed (clergy). Social, political, economic, religious and cultural aspects of the medieval European experience will be explored through the investigation of topics such as the rise of the nation-state, the expansion of trade, the rise of the university, the launching of the Crusades, the development of Gothic architecture and the intensification of religious belief. A field trip is required as part of the course.
HIST536	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Popular Culture in Early Modern Europe, 1500-1800. 3 hours lecture. This course explores the everyday lives and belief systems of early modern Europeans through a survey of developments in French, Italian, English and German popular culture over a period of three centuries from 1500 to 1800. Topics to be covered include Carnival, community policing, ritual behavior, religious beliefs, magic, family life, violence, deviant behavior, and the transmission of culture between groups and across generations.
HIST537	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Nineteenth Century European Intellectual History. 3 hours lecture. Romantic, utilitarian, conservative, liberal and early existential streams of thought in 19th century Europe. The impact of these intellectual movements on European society.
HIST540	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Europe as a World Civilization. 3 hours lecture. General analysis and reappraisal of the place of Europe in world history. The development, distinctive contributions and future prospects of European civilization examined in the light of contemporary world conditions.
HIST541	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Asian Civilization-Comparative Cultural History. 3 hours lecture. Course compares and contrasts central value systems, kinship institutions, social stratification and the exercise of political power in traditional India, China & Japan. These topics are related to differing patterns of

HIST550	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	nationalism in the 19th and 20th centuries. African Identities: Gender, Ethnicity, and Nation. 3 hours lecture. This course examines the construction and development of identities in Sub-Saharan Africa. It explores the meanings of concepts such as "tribe," "ethnicity," and "nation"; and it questions the role of history, culture and politics in the formation and evolution of African identities. The course
HIST550	Course Description	focuses on particular themes such as traditions of origin, cultural nationalism, slavery, etc. These are illustrated by case studies from West, East, Central and Southern Africa, which are organized in a chronological order. Students will be encouraged to reflect on the notion of identity and its importance in the past and present of African societies.
HIST570	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Seminar in Non-Western History. 3 hours seminar. Graduate level study in a period, problem, or theme in Non-Western History. Individual seminars will be offered in African History, South Asian History, Latin American History, etc. May be repeated for a maximum of 9.0 credits as long as the topic is different. Please see Course Schedule for specific offering each semester.
HIST580	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Seminar in Western History. 3 hours lecture. Graduate-level study in a period, problem, or theme in Western history. Individual seminars will be offered in European and American history. Please see semester course listings for specific offering. May be repeated five times for a maximum of 18.0 credits as long as the topic is different each time.
HIST603	Title Number and type of credits Course Description	Reading Seminar in History. 2 hours seminar. Required for all master's degree candidates concentrating in history, this seminar entails directed independent study in preparation for a three-hour written comprehensive examination. Candidates should register to take the seminar in the semester preceding the examination date. Take the seminar in