Construction Begins For Valley Road Intersection; New Exit Being Planned

By PAT HANRAHAN

The ratio set by the state of one teacher to every 16 students at MSC is still in effect. However, the effectiveness of this hypothetical balance is being threatened by many factors, the most recent being a decrease of individual teacher loads from 15 hours to 12.

On June 21, 1968, the N.J. Board of Higher Education in its Academic Personnel Policies for N.J. State Colleges approved this new 12 hour load for all teachers. However, this new policy was approved too late to be put in effect at MSC for the fall term. Therefore it will be in effect in the spring for all departments.

For the present semester, the administration yielded to many teacher requests and allowed each department chairman to take a vote in his department. This vote determined if the department would adopt the smaller teaching load for this term.

Teacher loads are similar to student semester hours. In the past at MSC, teachers had 15 hours of classes a week to teach. Many faculty members felt this load did not leave sufficient time for preparation of course material. Office hours and advising campus groups also cut into any free time.

Departments such as mathematics and English are on the new load system, while the education department and the social sciences department have remained on the 15 hour noon.

This decrease, from 15 hours to 12 hours represents a one-fifth reduction in the number of class hours taught by each instructor. In order to compensate for this, the (Continued on Page 7)

In six years he has earned his B.A. and M.A. degrees and is within moments of a Ph.D. in Industrial Psychology. Quite the understatement.

Mr. Mutiso, a political science professor on campus, came to the University of Miami in 1962 from Kenya, Africa. Although America was not his only choice for his further education, it was his final choice because he didn’t wish to waste years in learning a new language. England was also ruled out since he had been politically involved in the decolonization movement of Kenya.

Working his way financially through all his degrees. Mr. Mutiso found no problems besides the financial aspect other than, as he himself puts it, the “American problem.” Professor Mutiso first thought of studying medicine at the University of Miami. He moved into the political science field in which he has his degrees. He received his B.A. from Parson’s College, Iowa, his M.A. from the University of Kansas in Lawrence and is now finishing his Ph.D. at Syracuse University.

Teaching has kept Professor Mutiso mentally on his toes and he intends to keep his classes in the same state of alertness. Even now, high in his enthusiasm, he says, “I’ve got a substitute for speed-reading. The uses of the human voice at twice its normal speed without any distortion whatsoever.”

This blind man can hear and understand a 60-minute speech in 30 minutes.

If you’ve ever played a 33 1/2 record on 78 rpm, you know what happens. The voice speed is more than doubled but the result is a high-pitched, squeaky babbble. Bell Telephone Laboratories has eliminated the high pitch, the squeak and the babbble. They have developed an electronic device (the harmonic compressor) which permits the recording of the human voice at twice its normal speed without any distortion whatsoever.

This process is actually a hearing equivalent for speed-reading. And that means everyone, but most especially the blind, will one day have a meaningful substitute for speed-reading. The uses for compressed speech, as it is called, are numerous. In the not too distant future, textbooks, news articles, even novels and other fictional material will be recorded with the Bell Telephone process, and “speed-heard” with perfect understanding by the trained listener. For these reasons and many others, the American Foundation for the Blind in cooperation with Bell Telephone Laboratories is now studying the possible use of compressed speech in its tape and disc recording programs for the blind.

Liberal Arts Program Becoming Specialized

By WENDY McCaUGHAN

Montclair State’s liberal arts programs are now offering more courses than ever before. Students who enter MSC under this program are receiving a high degree of specialization as opposed to the broad, general range of subjects at many liberal arts colleges. No longer classified strictly as a teacher’s college, MSC, along with Trenton State, has more or less “divorced” itself from the State Department of Education.

As a result, school will not be cancelled during the annual Teacher’s Convention, held at Atlantic City in November. In previous years, MSC students have not had the time for writing during his six years of concentrated study Mr. Mutiso has been writing in his plans for the future.

Mr. Mutiso plans to keep on teaching in America the next few years. Within a short time he hopes to return to Kenya and continue to teach there. This time, though, he also intends to incorporate writing into his schedule.

IT’S YOUR SGA

Of Ministration and Football

Many times ministration of statements can lead to an almost complete turn-around of the opinions of an individual. A misconstrued notion can make a person say “yes” when he was really saying “no.” In the MONTCLARIAN issue two weeks ago, for instance, a page one article headed, “Blanton Questions Need for Free MSC Campus” pictured the Dean as having damned the value of a free campus; however, anyone who has spoken to the Dean can clearly see that his sentiments lie toward an open campus. Now this is not saying that someone was “bad,” but this is saying that someone misinterpreted a statement and, as a result, reported that statement.

That is why it is always important to remember the availability of SGA officers. When an article similar to the other is read, it is always wise to talk to the people involved in the statements and see what really happened. The clarification of policy can do much to define a situation which may, at first glance, appear unfordable.

This is not a condemnation of MONTCLARIAN staff or a statement to MONTCLARIAN staff, it is simply a reminder to the students to be cautious in his free interpretation of a statement. It is up to the individual reader to find out if a statement is accurate, or if dynamic journalism has been employed to such an extent that the student is misled. The discerning individual can appreciate everything which is said in this world.

At this point, a reminder is in order—a reminder that tomorrow the Montclair State football team returns to its home field and battles under the lights at Spogae Field. Much support will be appreciated by the players, cheerleaders, and Indians so get out and support your team.

Newark Negroes Vie For Political Power

By DAVID M. LEVINE
MONTCLARION Features Editor

For Newark ghetto residents and political leaders Nov. 5 will prove to be a most crucial date in the city's history. A special election is called for both moderate and radical organizations to join in the formation of a black power convention.

"The intention of the convention," said Wheeler "was to select candidates acceptable to both moderates and radicals and to install a sense of unity among black voters." The speaker representing the militant voice at the convention was LeRoi Jones, a playwright and teacher in the Newark public schools.

It was Wheeler last June that called for both moderate and militant black community leaders to join in the formation of a black power convention.

"The intention of the convention," said Wheeler "was to select candidates acceptable to both moderates and radicals and to install a sense of unity among black voters."

The speaker representing the militant voice at the convention was LeRoi Jones, a playwright by occupation. Jones, who was arrested for illegally possessing two guns during the six-day 1967 riot and currently out pending appeal, is well known for his anti-white feelings.

While convention leaders like to think their effort was a success, it was estimated that only 550 people turned up at the first session. The leaders expected West Kinyin Junior High School's auditorium with 960 seats to be jammed. It wasn't.

"We can control this city by 1970 if we can just unite this once," pleaded Jones.

"It will take massive voter registration... Just because we have a majority of the population (it) doesn't mean a thing until we get out and vote."

The next day a mere 600 delegates showed up and committees began formulating policies on which the campaign would be based.

Black Power Not Now

The idea of getting ghetto leaders and citizens together to work on obtaining black power is nothing new. In 1966 an all-black organization was formed to develop "a united bloc of black voters behind black candidates for the political emancipation of the Negro."

The immediate goal was to elect a black mayor in Montclair by 1968; a black mayor for East Orange in 1969; and a black mayor for Newark by 1970.

"But the possibility of the black convention's hand-picked men succeeding in November for their respective offices may be an entirely different story. In Newark there are about 134,000 registered voters. And the most educated guess claims about 45,000, or one-third of the voters in the entire city, are Negroes. But since there's no actual racial or ethnic breakdown, "any guess is just as good," stated a spokesman for the Board of Elections.

Civil rights leader Harry Wheeler stated: "We think there are about 100,000 Negroes of voting age. And we're trying to reach them through massive voter registration programs... like the one to commemorate the late Rev. King."

Hence, the future looks a bit bleak for election prospects right now.

"White Backlash"

And to add to the problem of blackmen getting elected to office, a "white backlash" is developing in the Newark City Council elections.

The major white contenders include Anthony Imperiale and Anthony Giuliani, Imperiale, who is affectionately called the "Big T," is a worthy constituent group in the predominantly Italian north ward. The North Ward Citizens Committee is said to have about 2000 members with a large proportion of its membership paying $2 a month for protection. Imperiale claims, however, that he's there to keep the north ward "peaceful."

Anthony Giuliani, a detective and former president of the Patrolman's Benevolent Association, is running on a "law and order" platform.

In all, the 1968 City Council race is shaping up to be a significant power play by the whites as well as the Negroes who make up a majority of Newark's population. It is evident that the Negroes feel change is necessary and with that change a black man will eventually become Newark's mayor.

If you're tired of using two or more separate solutions to take care of your contact lenses, we have the solution. It's Lensine the all-purpose lens solution for complete contact lens care—preparing, cleaning, and soaking. LET'S SEE THE LIGHT

With only two roadways leading off campus, traffic tie-ups at Montclair are inevitable. However, traffic flow on and off campus will be facilitated by the eventual placement of a traffic light at the corner of Valley Road and Normal Avenue.

With over 2850 commuters, the majority using the Valley Road access to the campus, the light will regulate the traffic and provide a measure of safety for both pedestrians and drivers who may risk their lives when they attempt to cross Valley Road, either on foot or in a car.

Last May 16, after the industrious efforts of many MSC students, the N.J. Department of Motor Vehicles approved the construction of a traffic light to replace the blinker light.

Five months later the blinker is still working and there are no signs that the light will appear in the near future.

Although not schooled in engineering procedures, we realize that it should not take five months to put up one traffic light.

Whether some slight complication or some 'state of New Jersey red-tape' is involved, the delay is not relaxing the mind of the Montclair commuter who leaves the campus at 6 p.m.

It is realized that the traffic light is not a "cure-all" for the existing situation. But the present traffic situation will be eased with some quick action on the part of the highway department.

Let the State of New Jersey and the county of Essex now move to action!

NEW TIDE IN LEARNING

Teaching a large class of college students the philosophies of Hegel, Plato and Aristotle is hard enough, but to try to do so when there is a slight flood in the middle of one's so-called "classroom" is deplorable.

However, this was the situation last week, as the rains poured and the "Devlopment of Education" class plunged into an hour of soggy yet attentive note-taking.

The scene described above is not at all uncommon on the MSC campus. Leaks can be found in several classrooms and offices and "temporary" barracks with lopsided floors, noisy light fixtures, and little heat in winter have served as classrooms since 1945.

Partridge Hall, the "to be constructed", four story, air-conditioned classroom building is sorely needed and much anticipated. In the meantime, some large await repairs should be started in those already existing facilities. How about maintenance department?

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

Homecoming weekend at any college or university is a special event and one which is very often eagerly awaited. However, with Homecoming at MSC just two weeks away, there is as yet little evidence of the popularity or appeal that this event has for the college community. The only ones who seem to be thinking about it are those committee chairmen whose responsibility it is to prepare their organization's entry for the float competition.

Nevertheless, Homecoming this year has something in store for the entire college community. There will be a parade through the town of Montclair, a football game, dances, concerts, and even a pep rally, including fireworks! Don't let Homecoming '68 slip your mind. The date is Nov. 1, 2 and 3. Attend this worthwhile and enjoyable benefit. It will be to your advantage.

November Conference

In last week's article I agreed to describe a method for improving the existing decision making machinery here at the College. A conference will be held starting Thursday evening, Nov. 21 and running on through the morning, afternoon and evening of Nov. 22. Every student and faculty member of the college will ultimately be affected by the conclusions which will be reached degrees to which its participants and in committees, and the relationships among these various groups will be undertaken. Questions will be raised about the adequacy of these councils and groups as representative instruments for reflecting the interests and aspirations of their constituents. Questions will also be raised as to the advisability of disbanded some because of their inadequacy in representing their constituents, and creating new organizations.

The conference will be attended by about 100 people with an equal number from the faculty and from the student body. It will be held off campus in a facility which would allow the group to meet first as a whole and then in smaller units for discussions and decision making.

Obviously the success of this affair will depend in part upon the degree to which its participants are, in fact, representative of college thinking. These people, who would have to be both willing and able to become involved in this very grueling but important conference, have not yet been selected. It does seem certain that the members of the Faculty Council, Administrative Council, and representatives of Student Government will be included in the larger group.

Today I would like to list the members of the Faculty and Administrative Councils and in a future article I will list their student counterparts who will attend the conference. I believe this information will be useful to students and faculty who may wish to discuss with these representatives their opinions about techniques for improving involvement in decision making on campus.

ON SCHOOL SPIRIT

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on a very poor situation here on campus - the tremendous lack of school spirit. I am referring in particular to the attendance and attention at the football games.

Our first game was at home and, although I'm told by the upperclassmen that the number of students there was more than usual, I thought the attendance left a lot to be desired. Considering the enrollment of the school, those bleachers should have been crowded beyond capacity.

Then, too, I noticed that of those who came to view the game, only a very slight handful made any attempt to yell for our team. Perhaps this was due to the lack of creativity on the part of the cheerleaders themselves - I don't know. The fact remains that our team had no way of knowing that MSC was behind them all the way.

In fact, much of the more voluble yelling was done by arm-chair cynics who did nothing but criticize the efforts of the players.

We students of MSC should develop some spirit for the athletic events which are sponsored by the college. How can we truly say WE BELONG when we don't even show up?

The game itself was very poorly advertised, and there was nothing (not even a pep rally!) to arouse interest. Those players are the ones who come to.view the game.

The students of MSC should be the ones who come to view the game.

EDITOR'S NOTE: At a recent Montclair Athletic Commission meeting attendance at MSC's first home football game was numbered at 4400, the largest crowd ever to attend a Montclair home football game.

COALITION CONCERNED

To the Editor:

It was with great interest and approval that I viewed the initiation of your new column, "opinion left." Mr. Insley's opinions, it must be remembered, are those of an observer and member of the New Left. They are not necessarily those of the New Left nor any organization of which he is a member. May I say that I am in complete agreement with Mr. Insley's views as to the condition of our academic community.

However, I do raise a point of fact with Mr. Insley who states that the moratorium held last spring on April 26 was organized by the college administration, when in fact the situation was quite the opposite. The moratorium was initiated and sponsored by the Coalition of Concern, an ad hoc committee composed of the Newman Fellowship, Protestant Foundation, Star of David, Student Peace Union and Young Democrats. Most of the actual organization, including the arrangements for the speaker, Dale Minor of WBAM radio, was achieved by Dennis Lynch ('68), the SPU liaison to the Coalition.

Although the Coalition had the consent of the administration, the latter in no way introduced the idea. The Coalition was not even certain of President Richardson's participation until he appeared at the podium. This is in no way intended to question the validity of Mr. Insley's argument. I merely present this as a statement of fact.

The Living Theatre: Experiment In Terror

Reviewed by MARGARET MARSCIA
Drama and Arts Editor

The Theatre is alive and well at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. Back from their voluntary European exile The Living Theatre has brought with it a repertory of four new plays, each with a statement on the emotion. “For us there is no contradiction between pacifism and revolution. One has to work nonviolently in order to effect change,” says Judith Malina.

Her husband Julian Beck, at times, plays Kreon with a hint of animal level. Julia is most always the actress, as accepting the past. Most of all, gentle critics, the.netty is a spirit of many moods. To exaggerate one to the point of absurdity is not the theatre quality that will increase the barrier between audience and actor. Nonetheless, he still writes for them. Despite the absence of the usual method of expression and uncanny timing. David Hemmings, a self-styled militarist who believes in treating even privates humanity, and Vanessa Redgrave, has an earthy sensuality to them. Pompous British wit is created by John Gielgud and Harry Andrews.

The plot is not the only instance of unique usage of technique. The uses of soft and selective focus are only two of the more obvious methods which make the photographs a work of art instead of skill. Of special interest is the almost revolutionary use of caricature animation which provides comic relief. These innovations, assisted by thoughtful acting and directing, provide a refreshing media upon which to build an exceptional story. The provocative, straightforward manner produces an end product of regal art.

That famous Greek, Socrates, has been quoted frequently for the wisdom of his philosophy of self knowledge. At MSC, there are those who also adhere to this doctrine and practice techniques of self-revelation in an intensive weekend program of interaction and communication with others. This program, known as the Human Relations Laboratory, will be sponsored once again on Oct. 24-27 by the College Life Union Board. This weekend program enables students to obtain skills in group dynamics, communication skills, and human interaction.

Students are broken up into groups of 15 people. In the groups the participants will learn by experience how their behaviors affects others and how they in turn are affected by the actions of the others. The individual learn by actual experience. Participants will work in small groups. Theory sessions will follow some of the meetings and deal with what transpires in the groups.

Due to limitations caused by the budget for HRL, only 110 students can be accommodated.

Persons interested in understanding group dynamics should try to register as soon as possible at registration is based at a first come, first served. The Human Relations Laboratory began at Montclair State in 1963. At that time the purpose of this faculty-student group was to influence campus culture. Leadership workshops were conducted for officers of various campus organizations in order to help them become more democratic in their leadership. The HRL emphasis has now shifted to the development of communication skills through group interaction.

ATTENTION
Are you sure your Selective Service file is complete? Two forms must be filled out by all male MSC students in order to complete individual registration for a student deferment, 2-S classification. All male students should have received a Selective Service card with their registration materials prior to the beginning of classes in September. This should have been filled out and returned to the college. The card was then mailed in to the appropriate local board as certification of fall term student status.

Mr. Richards, assistant director of students, commented that there has been some confusion pertaining to the second form. "The SSS Form 104 is an essential form that will complete the individual student's file when returned to the local draft board."

If you have not completed the SSS Form 104 or have any questions concerned with this procedure, Mr. Richards can be contacted in College Hall, room 215.
