The Montclarion, February 03, 1969

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion/95

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at Montclair State University Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Montclarion by an authorized administrator of Montclair State University Digital Commons. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@montclair.edu.
Trustees Close College High
Provoking Parent Walkout

By DON PENDLEY
A walkout of 100 College High parents marked the Board of Trustees’ decision to “phase out” College High School at the open board meeting on January 21.

The decision, unanimous among the nine board members, was based upon the MSC Curriculum Committee’s recommendation that College High be phased out “according to plans which will be developed by the administration after consulting with parents.” The college has considered closing College High since 1952. In 1964, the State Board of Education considered closing it as an economy measure, but protests from alumni, parents and students persuaded the state to keep it open.

This time, however, the parents did not prevent the administration from phasing out the school, and immediately after the decision was made, nearly 100 parents walked out of the room and held an impromptu discussion in the hall outside. Several parents denounced the decision as “very unfair,” and many complained (Continued on Page 2)

GOOD BYE, COLLEGE HIGH
College High sophomore Sue Fenelon sobs over MSC’s Board of Trustees decision to “phase out” and eventually close the campus demonstration school. College president Thomas H. Richardson states that he’ll work with College High parents in order to find a suitable way to close the high school founded in 1929.

DURING INAUGURATION
PROTESTERS HIT ‘THE ESTABLISHMENT’

By DAVID M. LEVINE
Special to The MONTCLARION
WASHINGTON — Days before the inauguration was slated to begin, students from around the nation started to arrive in Washington. Their ambition, according to a 19-year-old student from Illinois, is to “protest America’s decadent society... and let the establishment know what today’s student really wants.”

The affiliations of many protesters ranged from the Yippies, members of the Youth International Party responsible for the Chicago convention rioting, to Students for a Democratic Society members, the organization responsible for the riots at Columbia University last spring.

But all groups of protesters had something in common. Deep dissatisfaction with the war in Vietnam, for example, was the key reason “for getting all the kids to come down here during the inauguration ceremonies,” cited Gene Gladstone, a veteran of World War II and Michigan organizer for the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam. (Continued on Page 6)

RICH MAN’S RULE
Student protesters from around the nation take part in “counter-inauguration” activities. While many demonstrators protested the Vietnamese war, still others found fault with the American election system. One student from Maryland claimed that “Nixon is a tool elected by the U.S. aristocracy.”
Tenure Reevaluated By Faculty Groups

By Susan Johnson

Questions and recommendations for the current tenure system are facing the faculty members of MSC. Both the Montclair State Federation of College Teachers and the Faculty Council of Montclair State are concerned with this aspect of the teaching profession.

For the present the Federation is endorsing the existing system which has a probationary period of three years for all faculty members before tenure is extended upon receiving the recommendation of the fourth teaching year. The Faculty Council is concerned about the same faculty members to obtain reactions to the recommendations made by a committee appointed to look into this matter. The Council hopes that if and when the question of tenure comes before the state legislature, it will be able to present a representative of the MSC faculty to state the faculty viewpoints before the legislature. No legislation concerning tenure is before the legislature at the moment.

The questionnaire circulated by the Council consists of five recommendations calling for the cooperation of the faculty members to agree or disagree with them. The first statement recommends that there be a maximum probation period of six years before tenure is extended. The second suggests that trustees on the local board could make probation periods shorter for associate and full professors.

The other statements call for written terms of employment, the same academic freedom for professors on probation as those having already achieved tenure, and the provision that tenure would be retained in the case of transference to another state college.

The rejections to the questionnaire will be reviewed by the new committee and further discussion probably will follow.

It's Coming This Friday —
Winter Weekend at MSC

By Jeanne Schneider

Final plans for Winter Weekend '69 have been announced by CLUB directors John Knitil and Greg Carbone. The Fifth Dimension, forced to cancel because of a government commitment in Europe, will be replaced by The Happenings and The Times Square Two.

Winter Weekend will officially begin at 4 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 7 in the lower lounge of Life Hall. Free refreshments and musical entertainment will be held until 6 p.m. under a new CLUB program called LAPS (Late Afternoon Fun Session).

Basketball at 8:30 MST. The Men's Basketball team will host Western New England's basketball team the same night. Banners created by fraternities, sororities and dormitories will be judged at the game. Winners of this contest will be announced after the game at a dance in the Life Hall cafeteria. Admission to the dance is one dollar. Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. for those who do not attend the basketball game.

Ice-skating enthusiasts will be able to participate in this sport on Saturday afternoon. Free bus transportation will be provided to Memorial Park in Montclair. Buses will leave from Life Hall every half hour from 1 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. Swimmers are invited to the pool during the same time. A gymnastics meet with Cortland State will be held in the gym at 2 p.m.

Saturday evening is The Happenings and Times Square Two, Two concert at 8:30 in Panzer gym. Tickets will be $1.50 for students and $2.50 for outsiders. Award winning A Man for All Seasons will be shown at 1:30 and at 4 p.m. on Sunday in Memorial Auditorium to round out the weekend's festivities. Admission is 50 cents.

Special weekend tickets will be available allowing students to attend the dance, concert and movie at a saving of 50 cents. Tickets for any individual event will be sold also. Signs will be posted in Life Hall, gym, pool, and place of the ticket sales.

 Cottingham, a 21-year-old industrial education major from New Shrewsbury, has been working at Kilmer Job Corps Center for six weeks. Cottingham is one of 10 seniors enrolled in SPURT, the special program for urban high school students majoring in the areas to be included in the school.

The purpose of these committees will be to examine and define in detail every aspect of the school. These committees will be involved with such topics as curriculum, modes of teaching, the student and his needs, the professor and his needs and physical facilities.

The Statement of Policies and Goals states that the planning processes for all the schools must be continuous: "The purpose is to create a plan which is unchanging upon implementation."

These planning processes will not only be used with the School of Fine and Performing Arts. Other schools to be planned similarly include the Schools of Foreign Life and Languages, Humanities, Behavioural Sciences, Management Theory and Practice, Sciences and Mathematics and Applied Arts and Sciences. Each of these schools may be in the planning stages by March 1, states Pratt.

Praet emphasizes that the announcement of the creation of the school of the arts is only a beginning. The purpose of the agreement document and statement can we begin to realistically plan for such a school.

College High Issue Decided

(Continued from Page 1)

MONTCLARION — February 3, 1969

that they had not had sufficient time to prepare a statement.

Immediately before the close of the February 2 meeting, Troj Barksley stated that an agreement of parents and administration on College High is necessary if the college expects to continue to receive community support.

After the meeting, Dr. Paul A. Gaeng, foreign language department chairman at MSC, stated that he and the Board of Trustees made their decision in the best interests of the college. The Board of Trustees have facts at our disposal that we don't have. I personally regret the decision, but we went ahead very well. However, I think that the interests of a single department have to be placed in the background if the interests of the whole college are at stake.

Barksley, a spokesman for a parents' committee to save College High School from closure, stated that the trustees of City State issued a suit law against Jersey City State College in their move to "phase out" the campus demonstration school.

TSC Board of Trustees Recognizes Negotiators

The Trenton State College Board of Trustees recently recognized the TSC Faculty Association for their support of the new contract for the college's professional staff. Educational leaders quickly hailed the Trustees for their "farsight" in complying with the new State law requiring such recognition.

A unanimous vote made TSC the first public college to meet requirements of the new statute, which says public employers must negotiate in good faith on the terms and conditions of employment with organizations designated by their employees for this purpose.

The Trustees took the action after Dr. John Charlton, president of the TSC Faculty Association, submitted 100 cards signed by faculty members designating that association as their negotiations representative. This represents 80 per cent of the college's 400-member faculty.

Commented Charlton: "The Faculty association accepts the action and wants to help move this college forward through fruitful negotiations.

Supporting the Faculty Association's request for recognition were Dr. Joseph Carroll, president of the TSC Faculty Senate, and Dr. Alfred Holman, president of the TSC American Association of University Professors chapter.

"We feel that the Faculty Association was the proper organization to represent the staff in matters to be negotiated with the Trustees," Charlton reported.

Merger Set for Art, Music, Speech Deps. In University Move

By Don Pendley

A major step was recently taken in Montclair State's movement toward university status when the Board of Trustees approved the creation of a school of the arts.

The school, tentatively called the School of Fine and Performing Arts, is the first of seven schools to be formed, following the guidelines set forth in the Statement of Policies and Goals published in the Montclarion, Nov. 13, 1968. This school will combine the fine arts, music, and speech departments, and may include such areas as film, television and radio, dance and creative writing.

According to Dr. Samuel Pratt, resident planner for academic affairs, the announcement of the school's formation is only a beginning, and now the questions of the school's name, organization, curricular programs and facilities will be discussed. Most of the discussion and examining will take place in 26 or more subcommittees. These sub-committees will be coordinated by a Central Planning Committee formed of members from the faculty of the proposed school and students majoring in the areas to be included in the school.

The purpose of these committees will be to examine and define in detail every aspect of the school. These committees will be involved with such topics as curriculum, modes of teaching, the student and his needs, the physical facilities and policies.

The Statement of Policies and Goals states that the planning processes for all the schools must be continuous: "The purpose is to create a plan which is unchanging upon implementation."

These planning processes will not only be used with the School of Fine and Performing Arts. Other schools to be planned similarly include the Schools of Foreign Life and Languages, Humanities, Behavioural Sciences, Management Theory and Practice, Sciences and Mathematics and Applied Arts and Sciences. Each of these schools may be in the planning stages by March 1, states Pratt.

Praet emphasizes that the announcement of the creation of the school of the arts is only a beginning. The purpose of the agreement document and statement can we begin to realistically plan for such a school.

Dear1s
to

The Times Square Two are scheduled to perform on Sat., Feb. 8 at 8 p.m. in Panzer Gym along with The Happenings.

Dear Lawton Blanton has met bi-weekly with student advisory committees as a means of ensuring that communication between his division and the students is maintained. The four advisory committees being formed for the Spring Semester are the General Committee, the Faculty Advisory Committee, the Athletic Advisory Committee, and the Student Advisory Committee.

Students wishing to participate on these committees are invited to submit their names to Mrs. Briner, Suite 217, College Hall, ext. 310.

The four advisory committees being formed for the Spring Semester are the General Committee, the Faculty Advisory Committee, the Athletic Advisory Committee, and the Student Advisory Committee.

Students wishing to participate on these committees are invited to submit their names to Mrs. Briner, Suite 217, College Hall, ext. 310.
Moll Acting Chairman Of Speech Department

Karl R. Moll, an associate professor of speech at MSC, has been appointed acting chairman of the speech department, according to an announcement by Dr. Allan Morehead, dean of the college. He succeeds L. Howard Fox, who has resigned to devote full time to teaching theater arts in the department.

Mr. Moll is a member and immediate past president of the Faculty Council at Montclair State, executive secretary of the Liberal Arts Resource Committee, and a member of several other college committees.

Dr. Fox joined the Montclair faculty in 1944 and became chairman of the speech department in 1961. Under his guidance the department has enjoyed extensive growth both in theater arts and speech therapy. It now offers a major in each of these fields instead of one general speech major.

A member of various professional organizations, Dr. Fox is a past president of the Speech Association of New Jersey. He has been involved in the design of auditoriums and assisted in planning both Memorial Auditorium and the new Studio Theatre at Montclair State.

Sex Courses Offered by Institute

By Carol Palukiewicz

A document was issued by the institute of various groups discussing sexuality, which was organized at MSC. The document also covers the need for trained educators in sex education programs in about 15 courses.

Two Courses Offered

The Institute offers two courses to seniors and graduate students. The title is "Curriculum and Methods in Sex Education." In this course students will be trained in developing a curriculum which will eventually be put to use in the schools in which they teach.

The other course is "Workshop in Education," which is composed of seminar and group discussions with psychologists, health educators, religious leaders, sociologists, biologists, physicians and media specialists. Topics covered in this course include sex education in the homemaking and family relations, genetics, birth control, sex and religion, developmental psychology, and the sex role, and sex and the self-concept.

Dr. Runden serves as the Institute's executive director. Dr. Roeter, who joined the Institute in September 1968, is the director of research. The members of the board are Dr. Allan Crunnen, Dr. Harry Oestreich, Mr. Philip Calabrese, Mr. William Riser, Mr. Clifford Greenwald and Mr. John Sherry.

Greeks Are Strong at MSC

By Roberta Kuehl

Although he admits that fraternities are dying out and losing members nationally, Ron Calabrese, recently elected Inter-Fraternity Council president, asserts that at MSC the opposite is true.

He cited the formation of four new fraternities in the past year as an example of this increased interest and strength. One of the main reasons for the establishment of these new groups was the members' dissatisfaction with the previous system of pledging.

The planned parking lot will also be across the railroad tracks, providing 600-700 much-needed parking spaces. The only difficulty foreseen with this project will be the distance from the lot to the main campus.

EASY EXIT: As soon as MSC secures a right-of-way over the railroad tracks, a new exit leading off campus will be provided at the end of the freshmen parking lot.

Gives Trustees Valhalla Deed

The activities of the MSC Development Fund for the past year were highlighted by the presentation of the deed to the Valhalla Glen nature preserve to the college's board of trustees.

Two years ago the College Development Fund became associated with the Valhalla Glen Fund and assisted in promoting it. Final payment on the property was made last fall.

Valhalla Glen, located at the north end of Lake Valhalla in Montclair, consists of 12 acres of wild land stretching along each side of a rocky stream and pond. Various stages of emergent plants occur along the shore of the pond. The property also offers forests of hemlock and oak and a variety of habitats for plants and animals, impossible to find closer to the college, Dr. Kuhnen said.

On the west side of the ravine are many kinds of ferns, mosses, and flowering plants, which vary considerably with the seasons, and

Two Courses Offered

The Institute offers two courses to seniors and graduate students. The title is "Curriculum and Methods in Sex Education." In this course students will be trained in developing a curriculum which will eventually be put to use in the schools in which they teach.

The other course is "Workshop in Education," which is composed of seminar and group discussions with psychologists, health educators, religious leaders, sociologists, biologists, physicians and media specialists. Topics covered in this course include sex education in the homemaking and family relations, genetics, birth control, sex and religion, developmental psychology, and the sex role, and sex and the self-concept.

Dr. Runden serves as the Institute's executive director. Dr. Roeter, who joined the Institute in September 1968, is the director of research. The members of the board are Dr. Allan Crunnen, Dr. Harry Oestreich, Mr. Philip Calabrese, Mr. William Riser, Mr. Clifford Greenwald and Mr. John Sherry.

Greeks Are Strong at MSC

By Roberta Kuehl

Although he admits that fraternities are dying out and losing members nationally, Ron Calabrese, recently elected Inter-Fraternity Council president, asserts that at MSC the opposite is true.

He cited the formation of four new fraternities in the past year as an example of this increased interest and strength. One of the main reasons for the establishment of these new groups was the members' dissatisfaction with the previous system of pledging.

Ron predicted that much controversy will exist when spring pledging begins. To increase understanding and to improve communications between fraternity members and other students, he hopes to establish an IFC-ESC office on the SGA campus.

At present, in order to file a complaint to IFC, a student can leave a signed letter on the IFC plaque, with the assurance that some action will be taken to resolve the problem.

As president, Ron plans to lead the IFC in constitutional revisions, an action that will better define the role and the activities of the IFC and possibly give it more power and status. He also eagerly awaits the day when new fraternities can go directly to the IFC to receive a charter rather than to the SGA.

In February, the executive board of the IFC from MSC will meet with the IFC from Trenton State to discuss and compare their respective fraternities. Since such a meeting has never before taken place, Ron hopes that this will be the beginning of an exchange of ideas among fraternities at the other state colleges.

The other IFC officers for the coming year are John Burke, vice-president; Bob Manahan, secretary (Tau Sigma Delta), and Jack Luchese, Treasurer (Omega Chi).
Tenure Needs a Turnover

The present system of tenure at the six state colleges is drastically outdated. Following the same tenure system as the New Jersey public schools use, the state colleges must also have tenure appointments given within a three year period from the time a professor is hired. A professor must be told during his fifth teaching semester if he is to become a permanent fixture at that institution.

As a security system tenure offers protection to the good professor. However, what about the professor who “relaxes” after receiving tenure? What happens to the tenured professor who refuses to alter the teaching methods from those he used 20 years ago?

What about those professors with a negligent and unconcerned attitude regarding their classes? (For example, those professors who teach non-major students in their area and begin the class with the attitude ‘you students want to take this course just as much as I want to teach it not much.’)

But most important of all, what happens to those students who are subjected to the teaching atrocities often practiced by the tenured professor.

At this time, it is very easy to lay the blame for the inactivity of many state colleges at the feet of what is incorrectly termed ‘tenure.’ But the truth is that the administrative structure is to blame. Many state colleges are currently in the midst of departmental reorganizations. But these reorganizations are not for the college's projected needs. The realization of Montclair State University, regardless of the decision that the faculty will reach, will increase the total power to change the tenure system does not lie with the state colleges or with the State Board of Higher Education. The sole power lies in the hands of the New Jersey legislature. Only these elected legislators have the power to introduce legislation to change this antiquated system.

Enlarging the pre-tenure period from three years to seven years will not rid the state colleges of objectionable tenured faculty. However, it will permit the individual colleges to observe professors more carefully before entrusting them with the tenure privilege.

The progressive movements of the state colleges to attain any kind of university status can only be aided through the modernizing of present legislation to replace present tenure procedures. Revising the tenure system in reference to the state colleges is one move in this direction.

Sidestepping the Issues

The joining of the music, art and speech departments under one roof and the establishment of three departments under the heading of science are two of the recent progressive steps made by this college's administration toward the fulfillment of the “university dream.”

While these measures are certainly admirable and will eventually lead to the realization of Montclair State University, they are being sidestepped. A clear definition is needed right now by the college's academic planner, Dr. Samuel Pratt, relating to the development of curricula, majors and departmental offerings for the college's projected needs.

At the present time the Central Planning Committee is grogging with the idea of modernizing regarding a revised tenure system. A new plan would permit a professor to receive tenure any time up to a seven year period after he was hired. This way professors could be more adequately judged as to their techniques and ability. However, it must be remembered that regardless of the decision of this faculty, the college's admissions program should also be taken into consideration. A reevaluation of Montclair State College's admissions program should also be taken into consideration. Geographical-diversity is a chief goal of the American university; yet, MSC, along with her five other sister colleges, remain geographically backward in the realm of admissions procedure.

Hence, it can become quite clear that last November's Conference of Decision Making, with all its significant proposals, may just fade away into a labyrinth of mimeograph stencils if the administration does not fulfill its obligation to clarify its positions and pursue a swift course of action.

'The New Image'

You might be wondering why today's edition of your favorite college newspaper looks the way it does. No, dear reader, we are not copying the Daily News, the New York Post or any other assorted tabloid.

Since 1928, the MONTCLARION has been your church bulletin. But in this age of revolution and excommunication we're sort of declaring our independence from the dull, humdrum way of journalistic life. In short, we're being creative.

However, we reassure you, dear reader, that this creativity will never let us forget the needs and the desires of the student and of the future Montclair State University.
OMEGA CHI

The brothers would like to announce the new officers for the coming year: persident, John McNae; vice president, Ray Mooney; corresponding secretary, Richie Minor; recording secretary, Jim Peluso, treasurer.

The men of Omea Congratulate these new officers and we extend a warm welcome to our newest brothers. They are: John McCarthy, a sophomore English major and Greg Doucette, the president of the sophomore class, a speech major.

CHI KAPPA XI

The women of Xi are happy to announce the following girls are the new sisters: Pat Castaldo, Simone. Pledge Mistress was Audrey Cudia, Maria Fontanazza, Bonnie Murray, Betty Ann Panella, Lorraine Pianco, Linda Rossinger, Candy Caruso, Ellen Sekuler, Sharon Sievert, Rosemary Simone. Pledge Mistress was Nancy Ebner.

PSI CHI

The men of Psi Chi would like to extend a warm welcome to five new brothers: Charles Pichock, Marty Matteo, Joe Costo, Doug Hamilton and Armond Forello.

Also we would like to congratulate our newly elected officers: president, George Malanga; vice president, Robert Huhninger, treasurer, Ed Berk; corresponding secretary, Dave Magyar; recording secretary, Ed Lohida; IFC representatives, Ken Traynor and Armond Forello.

SIGMA DELTA PHI

The women of Sigma have announced their new officers: Juanita Sullivan, president; Karen Tullio, vice-president; Rina Maslowski, treasurer; Linda Halli, recording secretary; Helen Olekski, corresponding secretary; Chris Kutz, social chairman; Joanne Belis, historian; Mimi Swan, alumni secretary; Irene Shonda, SGA representative.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

The following brothers were recently elected to the executive board for the spring semester: president, Bill Welch; first vice-president, John Clark; second vice-president, Glenn Druieter; treasurer, Bob Moller; secretary: Fred Myer; historian, Ken Harlow; sergeant-at-arms, Ted Kosko.

KAPPA RHO UPSILON

The sisters of KRU are happy to welcome their fall pledge class: Irene Cacciatore, Margot DeMorrow, Maria Garibaldi, Judy Goodwin, Loretta LaBuzza, Linda Leckel, Fran Lipinski, Ilia Odza, Joyce Poklikuha, Linda Reilly and Nancy Walton.

---

DAPHNE

The women of Delta Alpha Chi are honored to announce the new officers. They are Cali, president; Rita Polk, vice-president, Jeanne Mathews, treasurer; corresponding secretary, Pat Lovey; recording secretary, Rosek; alumni secretary, Nancy Sheuring; pledge mistress, Marge Barone; historian, Janet Wedlick.

We are also very proud to welcome the following new sisters: Kate Brady, Mary Bruss, Linda De Rogatis, Pat Feinerra, Karen Kaufer, Karen Lyons, Florence Maier, Jayne Morris, Debbie Nitsch, Ruth Palomaki, Sandra Pochesi, Judy Robertson, Margot Row, Simon, Jana Sabatino, Ruth Van Dyke, Marie Wawrzonkiewicz and Barbara Williams.

TAU LAMBDA BETA

The brothers of Tau Lambda Beta would like to congratulate their new members: Richard Blanchard, James Coletta, Joseph Szematowicz and Dennis Taormina.

---

SQA Bill Passed

To Investigate Campus Events

by Roberta Kuehl

Lee Donow, SGA music department representative, feels that the SGA should be better informed about events and meetings at MSC. He also thinks the student body should be more concerned about legislative activities which directly affect them.

Because of his efforts, a bill was recently passed by the SGA authorizing the Board of Control to "investigate any and all meetings, conferences and forums involving student participation."

These investigations would be conducted by the SGA and reported to the legislature before the date of the meeting or conference.

As an example of this lack of communication to the SGA about student meetings, Donow cited the President's Conference held in November, which the SGA had not been aware of prior to the meeting. In fact, the SGA found out about the meeting at the same time as the rest of the student body by reading the Montclarion.

Donow wants to encourage more student participation in legislative affairs which he feels will only come about when more students attend the weekly SGA meetings.
PROTESTERS FROM ACROSS

(Continued from Page 1)

And it was the Mobilization Committee that was responsible for sponsoring nearly all "counter-inauguration" activity during the weekend preceding the swearing-in of President Nixon. The Washington-based organization, also known as "The Mobe," kicked off the weekend of the counter-inauguration by holding workshops in various Washington schools and churches. As one local organizer put it, "the shops are designed to educate the open-minded.

One workshop dealt with the strategy and tactics for campus protest and rebellion. At Washington's Riverside Church a workshop was held exclusively for Jewish radicals; its aim, according to one observer, "was to halt vicious racism employed by Jews."

GI's and Vietnam veterans were also on hand to hold workshops on "Military Justice." According to a leaflet issued by the Mobe, "GI's can be good teachers of peace. . . . Soldiers are forced to turn over their bodies to Uncle Sam, but damned if they'll give up their minds."

But these Saturday-morning workshops conducted by the Mobe were mere preludes of bigger things to come. And after Sunday's sun set on the nation's capital, 23 demonstrators were arrested and seven local policemen were hurt during the events that went on throughout the day.

Emerging from huge circus-like tents on Independence Avenue, near the Capitol, protesters staged a "counter-inaugural parade" in which scuffles with Washington police ensued. Several demonstrators threw rocks, sticks and liquor bottles as they jeered "Dame the fuzz!"

And by early evening an estimated 300 demonstrators lined streets around the Smithsonian Museum of History where a reception for Vice President Spiro Agnew was being held. With some shouting obscenities about the Vice President and others shouting "We Want Spiro!" crowds began taunting guests to the reception.

One guest from Aspen Park reported that she narrowly avoided being hit by bottles hurled by protesters. But seven policemen, including Washington's Deputy Chief of Police, were struck by flying objects.

Despite this, the largest protest in the history of the inauguration, student Walter Rodgers, a Yippie from New York claimed, "I think the police reacted quite well. I came here expecting another massacre. Instead, I found the police interested in containing the minor outbreaks rather than trying to break them up."

But all protesters that attended counter-inauguration activities were not concerned solely with the Vietnamese war. Against a background of hecklers shouting "Jump! Jump!" to FDR's standing atop a building, an SDS member from Bloomfield, N.J. claimed, "America is so ridden with decadence that the only way to solve its problems is through revolution."

"For it," he stated as the Inaugural parade started on route, "Nixon and those politicians are going to continue in the tradition set by LBJ... as long as there's an undeclared war in Vietnam and as long as there's violent racism in American society, this country ain't worth saving."

Elections in this country "are not in the best interests of the people," claimed another SDS member. "Small segments of the aristocracy, ruling America, have elected Nixon president," she reasoned.

"That's true," interrupted a sophomore from the University of Massachusetts. "But to be realistic, our tax structure allows the rich man to have more advantages. I think the government especially under Nixon, will certainly favor the rich man over the common people. And that's why I'm protesting."

One student from Rutgers-Newark viewing the parade stated that "the policies of the Nixon administration are clear-cut... seen especially by his choice of cabinet members."

"But I'm not a revolutionary," he claimed. "This country is a mess... but I think we can work through the system."

"Being from Washington," claimed a local college student, "it's possible that these demonstrators are doing more harm to the city than good."

"But one thing's for certain—we believe that an impact must be made on the people first. We're showing them that students today are not idle or blind to the needs of society."

"Most of us," he went on to say, "are not revolutionary. We, have to work through the system because the American people are worth preserving."

"Exploitation of people and the misuse of power is certainly the wrong thing," he added.

Phone 744-4510
ROBIN HOOD INN
A NAME THAT HAS MEANT
FINE FOOD, UNIQUE HOSPITALITY AND CHARMING SURROUNDINGS FOR OVER
FIFTY YEARS
1129 Valley Road
Clifton, New Jersey

THE BOWLERO
50
Bowling Lanes
the COLLEGE bowl
Junction of Routes 9 and 46
Clifton, New Jersey
HELL, NO: A crowd of Washington protesters show the peace symbol as they shout "Hell, No, We Won’t Go" to a passing dignitary.

The Other Inaugural

By Morey Antebi

After leaving the 5:42 a.m. commuter train to New York, I could not help but notice the difference between the world of those who are resigned to their drab lives and the colorful, hopeful world of those who chose to get themselves out before dawn. These hopeful folks were the people who were preparing for the long trek to Washington intent on showing their feelings to the new administration. The difference presented itself throughout my entire stay in Washington.

The buses left Fun City loaded with 1500 individuals of all sizes, shapes, colors and ages. And yet in spite of individual differences, these people managed to exist in all appearances as a united assemblage sharing food, newspapers and whatever else they had managed to carry along.

THEY CAME with suitcases, knapsacks, sleeping bags, cameras, crash helmets, toy rifles... They came not knowing what to expect or where they were going to sleep.

They wandered around Hawthorne School, the temporary headquarter for the Mobe (National Mobilization to End the War in Vietnam). For hours they waited to be assigned to sleeping quarters. Some were sent to churches; luckier ones were assigned to the private homes of sympathetic Washingtonians.

After assignments were given out the next step was the find the address. Those who know Washington may already be laughing. Two buses and a cab later I reached the house. The door was open and I entered.

I WAS greeted by seven weary faces sitting around the fireplace.

"The lady who owns this palace isn’t here right now, but take off your shoes and make yourself comfortable," said one friendly female voice.

Just as the introductions had been performed, the phone rang.

"All right gang, Mrs. Hollister said it was up to us to decide how many more we could take."

We were so overwhelmed by this unexpected hospitality (which few of us could hardly repay) that we took an active interest in making her job as easy as possible. We cleaned the living room, washed the dishes and did odd jobs for her.

The rest of the time we spent sitting around the fire, chatting, eating, sleeping on the floor and going to the demonstrations as we had come for. On Sunday, there was a rally and a counter-inaugural parade which mimicked the forthcoming inaugural parade (however, this parade led from the White House to the Capitol instead of vice-versa) and a counter-inaugural ball (price: best seats $2, worst seats $35, and free if you couldn’t afford the door-price).

On Monday, there was an inaugural parade at which we were to express our views to Nixon as he passed. However, on this route we had extra company. First, a row of cops; behind them a row of GI’s locked elbow-to-elbow; and finally, a row of combat-ready GI’s shoulder-to-shoulder. Everyone froze; but we wanted to be there; they didn’t. They were there to protect Nixon from a bunch of punk kids who had come to chant, "Hell, no, we won’t go" and "What do we want? PEACE."

On Monday night the long bus rides home began. None of us wanted to leave. In fact, we refused to unless Mrs. Hollister came up to visit us. It is a rare thing when an adult-parent even, a social worker at that, can accept each individual for what he is of whatever bag he’s in without questioning the length of his hair or the style of his clothes but just prodding our minds slightly to see how we tick.

We appreciated and respected her, and she, us. This was too good to lose.

Mrs. Hollister returned with two bags of groceries, gave one look at us, gave us a big grin and said, "Oh, wow, this is great."

Dinner consisted of an exotically prepared steak, rice, homemade bread, oven-fresh cookies, wine, coke, milk, tea and coffee.

We were so overwhelmed by this unexpected hospitality (which few of us could hardly repay) that we took an active interest in making her job as easy as possible. We cleaned the living room, washed the dishes and did odd jobs for her.

The rest of the time we spent sitting around the fire, chatting, eating, sleeping on the floor and going to the demonstrations as we had come for. On Sunday, there was a rally and a counter-inaugural parade which mimicked the forthcoming inaugural parade (however, this parade led from the White House to the Capitol instead of vice-versa) and a counter-inaugural ball (price: best seats $2, worst seats $35, and free if you couldn’t afford the door-price).

On Monday, there was an inaugural parade at which we were
A smorgasbord for the ears

Electronic music is not something new. It is a musical outgrowth of the experimentation of the last two decades, the atomic "music" of everyday sounds, rather than notes. Listening to Ruth White's "Seven Trumps of a Laugh at Grandma Eugenia with New Left considers sacred. We Trumps." Based on the outgrowth of the experimentation and the left's potential exploitation of the dangers of a racism Georg Canton. The difference lies in the..."

"Tarot" is the latest release of an electronic mellee from a woman who has been called "revolutions to race riots. Two..."

The second side is "Pinions, a thing with

The Song for the Agitator." It is a thing with

The Fantasticks reappear in a

"Fire" fizzes out

Reviewed By Neil Nicastro

John Roc's Fire! is a curious play. If it were as good as it is strange it would be a theatre major.

Eight characters are assembled in an unnamed place and time for the purpose of voting for fire. Three of them have been stripped away until vulnerable and emotionally exposed, they case in order to vote for immolation. Unfortunately, the mystery inherent in the premise spread thinly over an evening becomes more tiring than intriguing.

Firel is written in a poetic style. John Roc, however, lacks the necessary command of the medium. His dialogue is dense and ponderously pretentious.

The acting is uniformly good. Especially impressive is the style of Louis Endomms as the all purpose pervert and the..."

Reviewed by Bonnie Marranca

John Kander and Fred Ebb have earned an exciting score for Zorba, the story of the zesty Greek from Crete. Opening with "Life Is" the lively mood of a bouzouki cafe is set. The tune itself is very simple. However, it is not as authentic as one would wish. Maria Karnilova's tale of "No Boom, Boom" is a delight. Perhaps the most touching song is Zorba's "Grandpapa." The music and the words both are emotional. As leader of the Greek chorus, Carmen Althea's piercing voice adds a touch of drama to the imaginative score.

The Zorba album, though not the best in town, is pleasant, lusty and a sensuous ode to life and freedom.

Reviewed by Neil Nicastro and Frederic Hirsch

John Roc's Fire! is a curious play. If it were as good as it is strange it would be a theatre major.

Eight characters are assembled in an unnamed place and time for the purpose of voting for fire. Three of them have been stripped away until vulnerable and emotionally exposed, they case in order to vote for immolation. Unfortunately, the mystery inherent in the premise spread thinly over an evening becomes more tiring than intriguing.

Firel is written in a poetic style. John Roc, however, lacks the necessary command of the medium. His dialogue is dense and ponderously pretentious.

The acting is uniformly good. Especially impressive is the style of Louis Endomms as the all purpose pervert and the..."

Reviewed by Bonnie Marranca

John Kander and Fred Ebb have earned an exciting score for Zorba, the story of the zesty Greek from Crete. Opening with "Life Is" the lively mood of a bouzouki cafe is set. The tune itself is very simple. However, it is not as authentic as one would wish. Maria Karnilova's tale of "No Boom, Boom" is a delight. Perhaps the most touching song is Zorba's "Grandpapa." The music and the words both are emotional. As leader of the Greek chorus, Carmen Althea's piercing voice adds a touch of drama to the imaginative score.

The Zorba album, though not the best in town, is pleasant, lusty and a sensuous ode to life and freedom.

Reviewed by Neil Nicastro and Frederic Hirsch

John Roc's Fire! is a curious play. If it were as good as it is strange it would be a theatre major.

Eight characters are assembled in an unnamed place and time for the purpose of voting for fire. Three of them have been stripped away until vulnerable and emotionally exposed, they case in order to vote for immolation. Unfortunately, the mystery inherent in the premise spread thinly over an evening becomes more tiring than intriguing.

Firel is written in a poetic style. John Roc, however, lacks the necessary command of the medium. His dialogue is dense and ponderously pretentious.

The acting is uniformly good. Especially impressive is the style of Louis Endomms as the all purpose pervert and the..."

Reviewed by Bonnie Marranca

John Kander and Fred Ebb have earned an exciting score for Zorba, the story of the zesty Greek from Crete. Opening with "Life Is" the lively mood of a bouzouki cafe is set. The tune itself is very simple. However, it is not as authentic as one would wish. Maria Karnilova's tale of "No Boom, Boom" is a delight. Perhaps the most touching song is Zorba's "Grandpapa." The music and the words both are emotional. As leader of the Greek chorus, Carmen Althea's piercing voice adds a touch of drama to the imaginative score.

The Zorba album, though not the best in town, is pleasant, lusty and a sensuous ode to life and freedom.

Reviewed by Neil Nicastro and Frederic Hirsch

John Roc's Fire! is a curious play. If it were as good as it is strange it would be a theatre major.

Eight characters are assembled in an unnamed place and time for the purpose of voting for fire. Three of them have been stripped away until vulnerable and emo..."
The swordsmen of Montclair State last year compiled a fine 7-1 record under former coach, Allan Macke. With eight lettermen returning, a new coach, some new blood and a new schedule, the 1969 squad looks to be even better as evidenced at the recent state tournament.

MSC finished second to Princeton in the New Jersey Collegiate Invitational Fencing Tournament staged by the AFLA (Amateur Fencing League of America) and held in Panzer Gym. The all-day affair attracted over 100 fencers from MSC, Newark State, Paterson State, Stevens, Rutgers, Princeton, NCE, FDU-Madison, FDU-Rutherford, Seton Hall and Drew.

Outstanding performances were: in sabre, Dave Bryer, No. 1; Dale Rodgers, No. 3, and Glenn Mackay, No. 9; in foil, Todd Boepple, No. 5; and in epee, Bruce Kinter, No. 9.

Returning are captain Rodgers, Bryer and Jordan Denner in sabre; Boepple, Ken Zurich and Jim Robertson in foil; and Kinter and Dan Ehrgott in epee.

The acquisition of Walter Gaylor as head coach has brought to Montclair State a fencing instructor of world renown.

Glenn Mackay is the most outstanding freshman and his freshman status keeps him from starting. Frank Ridonour is also looked to as a star of the future.

Other freshmen prospects are Keith Clifford and John Aneson, with Mike Lewengood, John Burns, Ken Rodgers and Bill Stoetter all showing promise.

Among the upperclassmen, Mike Dawson and Mark Ehhrhart have performed admirably while Ehrgott had been injured earlier this season. Both are new to fencing. Bob Critchley has provided superior depth in foil.

The new schedule has added Army, St. John's and Buffalo to last year's returns - Paterson, Jersey City, Rutgers-Newark, FDU-Rutherford, Pace, NCE, St. Peter's, Rochester Institute of Technology and Hobart.

FENCING . . . . 1969

Dale Rodgers (right) congratulates (from left) Bruce Kinter, Todd Boepple and Dave Bryer after each placed in AFLA State Tournament.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Sabre</th>
<th>Epee</th>
<th>FOIL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hometown</td>
<td>Weight</td>
<td>Jersey City</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Franklin Lakes</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pt. Pleasant</td>
<td>5-9</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Absecon</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oaklyn</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Burlington</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jersey City</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bulldogs</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collegeville</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morristown</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Warren</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nutley</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Jersey</td>
<td>5-7</td>
<td>5-9</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Bob Critchley has been named assistant coach of this season. Both are new to fencing. Bob Critchley has provided superior depth in foil.

Other freshmen prospects are Ken Zurich and Jim Robertson all showing promise.

among the upperclassmen, Mike Dawson and Mark Ehhrhart have performed admirably while Ehrgott had been injured earlier this season. Both are new to fencing. Bob Critchley has provided superior depth in foil.

The new schedule has added Army, St. John's and Buffalo to last year's returns - Paterson, Jersey City, Rutgers-Newark, FDU-Rutherford, Pace, NCE, St. Peter's, Rochester Institute of Technology and Hobart.

DALE RODGERS: Speed and grace.
Montclair State boasts the top sabre squad in the state. Captain Dale Rodgers and Dave Bryer are not only the two best fencers in the East of leading fencers in the East. The fencers in the state but rate as two of the best sabre

Dale Rodgers and Dave Bryer are sabre squad in the state. Captain was the surprise winner. Third and Glenn Mackay, a promising freshman, finished ninth. Jim Carter of Princeton U. was last year's team, has improved considerably this season. All freshmen.

Bryer took the two-man sabre crown. During the regular season, Bryer went undefeated in 24 bouts while Rodgers lost only two. Jordan Denner rounded out the trio with a 13-11 record last season. But Mackay looks like the star of the future and only his experience has made a big difference.

The Trenton match will pit two of New Jersey's top small college teams. The Lions are undefeated in four dual meets this year while MSC is on a three match win string. However, according to Montclair's head coach, Tom Sullivan, Trenton's worth is hard to determine as the two teams have only Monmouth College and Glassboro State as common opponents. Montclair has already scored a decisive win over Monmouth.

The FDU match was expected to pit a team noted for excellent lightweights against a squad which consistently features strong wrestlers. Fairleigh's lightweights, led by Dick Praazanski, had to build up a strong early lead and hold on as Montclair's superior upper weights did their thing. The highlight of the FDU match was expected to be the 130 pound bout between Praazanski and Indian Roy Genatt. Genatt, a sophomore, currently sports a 4-2 over-all record. It was his pin against Central Connecticut State that turned the momentum in Montclair's favor and helped hand Central Connecticut its only loss so far this year.

The Trenton match will mark the halfway point in the season for Montclair. At season's end, they are expected to take part in the Metropolitan championships and then the NAIA championships. Montclair will return home on Feb. 15 when they will play host to Howard University in a 3 p.m. match in Panzer Gym.

The foil squad, weakest link of last year's team, has improved considerably this season. All starters last year. Todd Boepple, Ken Zurich and Jim Robertson were first-year men and a year's experience has made a big difference.

The state tournament saw Boepple take fifth place. The four fencers who finished ahead of Todd were from Princeton. His 7-11 record led all fencers last year.

Montclair State's varsity wrestling team meets the second of four opponents on its current road trip tomorrow night when they visit the Lions of Trenton State College at 7 p.m. Saturday, Montclair had a match with Fairleigh Dickinson, but the results of that match were not ready at press time.

Up to the Fairleigh match, Montclair had a 3-1 dual meet record, losing only to powerful East Stroudsburg in the season opener, then winning three straight.

For Montclair. At season's end, they are expected to take part in the Metropolitan championships and then the NAIA championships. Montclair will return home on Feb. 15 when they will play host to Howard University in a 3 p.m. match in Panzer Gym.
Begun my interview with the new Greenwood, Miss., where a new That year Bill Terry, then G.M. of catcher in the Texan League in his Dickey.

Anderson was the best hitting catcher in the Texas League in his first year of pro ball. He moved to Pensacola the following spring and worked with the likes of Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher. That year Bill Terry, then G.M. of the Giants, moved Anderson to the Bombers had 12 other catchers right behind one who was probably the greatest of them all, Bill Dioguardi.

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were

When I asked why he has waited until now to try college coaching since his fabulous career would bring tempting offers, "I always had the real desire to coach in college," stated the gray-haired man, who at 54 looks young and energetic and talks enthusiastically with a hint of challenge in his eyes.

Anderson has offered the head coaching jobs at Williams College, Bucknell and Rhodes. He turned them down in 1955 from his alma mater, Colgate. But the salary and finances were a bit lacking and, as Anderson describes, "They were
ECAC All-Star

Mike Oakes

pg. 11

FENCING

1969

Special to the Montclarion

CLARY ANDERSON

pg. 11