BETWEEN PARTRIDGE AND MALLORY

The future center for campus activities will be the location of the student union building. Tentatively scheduled for Fall 1969 construction, groundbreaking for the building occurred five years ago.

Wanted: $10 Per Student

As Union Building Fee

By Pat Hanahan
News Editor

With the rising construction costs of one per cent per month, the cost of the future student building has been hiked $450,000 to a total sum of $3.75 million. Mr. Jon McKnight, director of Life Hall, presented this information along with the final plans for the building to the SGA last Friday hoping to secure a campus-wide referendum to approve a $10 union building fee for all students to be instituted in September.

McKnight feels that the $10 cost is justifiable because the building will be solely for student use. He again stressed the architecture and the materials will be of high quality. It will be the only non-institutional building on campus. He compared the MSC building with the recently completed Rutgers union, citing that seven classes of Rutgers graduates paid $30 yearly for a building they knew they would never see.

This fee would be applicable to all students, including those in the summer session. Five years ago, a student referendum was passed to institute a $35 yearly fee for a union building. The vote was three to one in favor of the $10 extra cost. However, the state refused to sanction the fee because the building was only in the early planning stage.

A $35 yearly fee is planned after the union building is completed. “If we start next September,” stated Mr. Vincent Calabrese, director of business services, “we will be the only college with a fee less than $50.”

The possibility of the state taking over maintenance and utility costs of the new building was mentioned by McKnight. He stressed that student support was needed in order to gain the state’s confidence in the endeavor. The $35 fee may be levied in this case.

Ground breaking for the union building is scheduled for fall 1969. It will be built between Mallory Hall and Partridge Hall. Construction is expected to take 24 to 30 months.

Moraites: N.J. College Student Rep Bill Would Ease Campus Problems

By Chris MacMurray
Staff Reporter

"An all-state organization would be splendid, providing it does not further centralize higher education."

These are the words of President Thomas Richardson in reaction to a bill that was recently introduced by Assemblyman Peter Moraites, Speaker for the Department of Higher Education. The bill is designed to create a division of student affairs, composed of students from the various state colleges. The purpose of the proposed bill is to aid in solving campus problems in the future.

Moraites indicated that his recommendations were based on the report of Chancellor Ralph A. Dungan on recent disturbances at Rutgers. Moraites said that he knows of no other program like his in the United States and if the plan works, it might be a model for other states to follow.

Richardson feels that the proposal is a good one, but that the division would only be successful as an autonomous program.

"The state institutions of New Jersey are trying to break away from the Department of Higher Education; they’re moving toward decentralization. A state wide organization established to work on common and specific problems, one that could make and enforce its own decisions, would be a great step forward. But an organization designed to channel its decisions through the state department would be a great step backward."

The division would include one student for every 5000 degree candidates at each state institution of higher education - the state colleges, junior colleges, county colleges, Newark College of Engineering and the medical and dental college. Each school would be entitled to at least one representative, and each campus of an institution would be counted separately. The group would meet at least six times a year and would be aided by a director and staff appointed by the governor.

The division’s goal would be to study changing needs of the students, recommend new programs, serve as a clearing house for information and coordinate students at the various campuses.

Moraites indicated that he was approached by Assemblyman Peter Moraites, Speaker for the Department of Higher Education, to work on the creation of a division of student affairs, similar to the recently established Rutgers union.

The proposal calls for a $10 union building fee for all students to be approved in a referendum. Mr. Jon McKnight, director of Life Hall, has presented the final plans for the building, which is tentatively scheduled for Fall 1969 construction.

Moraites believes that the creation of a state-wide student organization would be beneficial, as it would allow for better communication and cooperation among the various state institutions. He is optimistic about the success of the proposal and hopes that it will be approved by the state legislature.

Moraites also emphasizes the need for improved protection and comfort on the MSC campus. He notes the installation of new fire alarm systems and the development of a new communications system, which includes walkie-talkies and satellite pickup locations.

Wilkins Resigns As Head of NSC

By Don Pedley
Editorial Assistant

UNION — Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, president of Newark State College for the past 19 years, will resign at the close of the current academic year.

Wilkins, a member of the board of directors of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU), will spend time in Mexico developing a center of foreign studies for the AASCU.

During Wilkins’ 19 years as president, Newark State has grown from a small teachers college to one of New Jersey’s largest state colleges. Newark State currently has an enrollment of over 10,000 in all of its divisions.

One of Wilkins’ most important accomplishments was the recent organization of Newark State into a university-status institution. Wilkins, along with the Board of Trustees has devised a system to organize the college into four schools in place of the now-existing departmental system.

Kean, has said that the Board will meet in the near future to appoint a committee which would represent facilties of the college community. This committee would seek for a new president for Newark State.

As part of the weekend’s entertainment, members of MENC (Music Educators National Conference), Sigma Alpha Iota and Sigma Delta Phi will present "The History of Jazz Development." Sigma Delta Phi’s food booth is entitled "The Nina, the Pizza and the Santa Maria." A Salute to Spank will be presented by the men of Senate.

The men of Phi Sigma Epsilon will be carrying out a pre-historic theme by having a ring toss for stuffed animals. Peanuts and cheese and crackers will be served as part of Tau Omega Phi’s "Roaring 20’s" booth. KRU (Kappa Rho Upsilon) sisters promise to visit to "The Age of the Barbary Pirates" at their tattooing stand.

Profits from Carnival will benefit the MSC student body through the "Margin for Excellence." How the money will be spent is to be decided after Carnival. Suggestions range from providing scholarships to purchasing display cases.

Trophies will be awarded to the most successful profit-making booth, the three most original booths and the booths judged best in entertainment, food, games and costumes.

As the dates of Carnival draw nearer, volunteers will be needed for booth construction. Interested students should be Jerry Ben or Joanne Hoddle, co-chairmen of Carnival, or leave their names in Student Activities Office in Life Hall.

Teachercorps Gets New Spurt from MSC

By Martin J. Fucio
Education Editor

Monclair State has given a fresh concept to the efforts made to improve urban education by the Teacher Corps. Starting in the fall, the Monclair State-Newark Teacher Corps will provide MSC students with the opportunity to get two years of "on the job training" in Newark high schools.

Prior to November 1968, the Teacher Corps, which is under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has allowed only graduate students to work in secondary schools. The seniors who complete the program will receive a bachelor of arts degree. Many will receive a master of arts degree.

The idea for undergraduate teacher training grew out of MSC’s SPURT (Special Program for Urban Teachers) program. Last fall, Dr. Lawrence Kenyon of the education department and Dr. George King, director of urban projects, visited Washington where they learned that the Teacher Corps was allowing undergraduates to work in elementary schools. Both men suggested that the undergraduates be placed in secondary schools as well.

The Corps accepted the proposal and MSC has begun recruiting people for the program. Approximately 35 people, formed into teams of five each, are due to start in Newark this summer. They have been designated a target area by both state and federal officials.

The Newark half of the Monclair State-Newark Teacher Corps is run by Dr. Thomas Flagg, director of secondary education in Newark. Flagg, who was graduated from MSC in 1940, sees the function of the Corps as part of the "training and recruitment" of teachers for Newark.

Of the 35 people who will participate, Flagg is "sure we can place them all" after they graduate. The second purpose is to provide "additional services for the year." Trainees will be expected to "learn the community from the ground up." In this way, it is hoped the future teacher will better know his student.

According to King, the Monclair State-Newark Teacher Corps is part of a "massive approach" on a national scale to urban education. Kenyon wants to spread "urban emphasis at Monclair State." He hopes that through the Teacher Corps "we are going to learn how to train Monclair State students to go out and teach."

Kenyon hopes to recruit some black Newark students from all-Negro colleges. He wants to get people who are "indigenous to the Newark area." The racial mixture of the program is "proportional to the make-up of Newark schools. The main thrust is to get blacks into the program," stated Kenyon.

In addition to the black students, "a very interesting group of people" are volunteering for the program. Joining the MSC students will be people who have had two years of college and then taught in the Teacher Corps or Poverty Program.

Participants in SPURT and the Urban Education Corps have applied. Letters expressing interest have come in from out of state.

To gain more information for the Monclair State-Newark Teacher Corps, Kenyon and King attended a conference held in Washington, April 21-23. Educators from all over the country met and compared notes on urban schooling. This summer, an Institute for Educational Leadership will be held at Temple University. Kenyon stated that this meeting is "basically to get new ideas."

Anti-SDS Student Answers Rudd

By Rich Kamencik

Frank Dann, a Columbia University student, will appear at MSC to answer charges made by Mark Rudd when he spoke here in December. Dann’s lecture is being sponsored on April 25 by the CINA Partisan Committee, the same group which presented the Rudd lecture.

Presently a first year medical student, Dann was a senior during last year’s disturbances at Columbia. He followed a group called the Majority Coalition which formed as a reaction to the SDS-led strike and building takeovers.

Dann said of Columbia SDS that it is a "mixed bag with different kinds of kids; some are hard-core radicals, some are stuck in for idealistic reasons and they don’t realize the consequences of their actions."

Dann said that the term is merely a euphemism for the illegal occupation of campus buildings. He believes that SDS operates under the belief that they (SDS) are always right and their opponents are always wrong. Dann also pointed out that the students have given the往年 the Coalition tried to find ways of removing the striking students from the buildings. The Coalition unsuccessfullly attempted to stop the flow of food into the occupied buildings. They also intended to decide if the strikers alleged grievances were legitimate ones.

The lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m. on April 25 in College High Auditorium. There is no admission fee. Dann hopes to keep his remarks brief and concentrate on answering questions.

School boards more responsive to office. At present, a school board member remains in office. When he moves out of school district or misses three consecutive board meetings without good cause."

The S-687 is sponsored by Senator Hugh A. Kelly of Gloucester Twp. and Senator Frank C. Halloran of Camden. It is being supported by the New Jersey Education Association.

Kelly said, "The public already possesses the power to vote on, or initiate any elected municipal official. Only the school board member is beyond the reach of the people."

"A school board member can ignore the wishes of the public, can follow his own whims or eccentricities, he can take actions that actually harm the schools. Yet the parents, citizens and taxpayers of the district do not get a chance to remove him from office until his term expires and he stands for reelection."

"Because most school elections draw only a small percentage of eligible voters, an organized group can elect individual board members, even an entire slate of board members, who are motivated by special interests rather than the good of the schools and students," Kelly added. "Considering the amount of money involved in school budgets; considering the vast responsibility of school boards for hiring, firing and buying; considering the school board's power to shape or limit the future of our children; the public is entitled to a procedure for removing board members whose actions threaten to hurt education, schools, or pupils."

Occasionally, NJEA reports, individuals or groups protest the actions of their school board or of specific board members. Several citizen groups are now active in various New Jersey school districts. Since they have no legal recourse, they are among groups seeking that S-687 become law.

Under S-687, citizens seeking the ouster of a school board member could force a recall election by collecting the signatures of 25 percent of the district's registered voters. At the same election, the voters would�� decide if the candidate receiving the highest vote would succeed him.

"Our schools are too important to the public," says Dr. Frederick L. Higley, NJEA's executive secretary, "to withhold from the citizen the right to recall a board member who demonstrates unresponsiveness, inefficiency or irresponsibility."

Co-op Plans One-Week Hold on Book Sale

Plans to delay the sale of textbooks until the start of classes of each new semester have been proposed by members of the Faculty-Student Cooperative and bookstore management.

Mrs. Doris Asdal, director of the Co-op, stated that the proposed plan calls for the College High book sale to begin with the start of classes of each semester. Up until now, classes begin before the sale of the books has been available for classes.

With this new proposal, students would be informed by their professors of the texts required for each course. Booklists, often found to be confusing due to the large number of sections of many courses and the many editions available of the same book title, would be eliminated. However, bookstore employees, equipped with master lists, would be available to assist faculty.

Mrs. Asdal and Mrs. Bertha Faber, bookstore manager, noted that the new plan would reduce the student's chance of purchasing the wrong books. Bookstore personnel have found that many students purchase books before classes begin and then change course sections or drop courses. Consequently, they wish to return the previously purchased texts. However, if the text has been written in, it cannot be accepted for return or exchange.

Mrs. Faber noted that the College High book sale would continue for a two-week period before the books are removed to supply store in planning. Extra cash registers will be set-up to facilitate quick service for customers.

This proposal will be discussed by the Faculty and Administrative Councils and the SGA legislature. Student opinion should be directed to Mrs. Asdal or Miss Vincent Calabrese, director of bookstore services.

Financial aid is something that every student on this campus could use. Why? Primarily because the college has decided to tax the student with another financial burden.

A $10 fee has been proposed to reduce the ever-increasing cost of the future student union building. Since construction costs are rising monthly, the college must wait until a satisfactory amount of funds are available before building can begin. However, the longer the wait, the more costly the delay becomes.

So, to offset the rise, the college will ask the SGA legislature to approve a $10 union building fee which will become effective as early as this summer.

But even if this proposal is approved, it does not guarantee that construction will begin this fall. (Groundbreaking for the building took place five years ago.)

Obviously the first MSC students to pay dormitory room increase to become effective this September at Montclair and Trenton State. Presently, the ABC Gladieux Food Service is under contract negotiations and a food increase may result.

And finally, the $10 union build-fee has been suggested to further reduce the financial back of the student.

As a state institution, where the state is supposed to subsidize the costs of higher education, why have the students been overhauling in the funding?
Defining 'Underprivileged'

To the Editor:

This letter is merely representative of my feelings and in no way reflects the opinions of any group on campus.

In the March 26 issue of the MONTCLARION, there appeared a letter concerning the lowering of admission standards in order to "accord the admission of underprivileged students from the urban areas." I would like to comment on a few things that appeared in that letter.

First of all, the writer used the term underprivileged incorrectly. The letter did not concern underprivileged students but it did concern the educationally deprived and there is a difference.

These educationally deprived students are in this predicament because the educational systems in the urban areas are quite substandard. Furthermore, my own personal experience, I know that the admission standards are now lowered for us poor underprivileged people because if any group on campus.

Meyner, Helstoski Seen as Top Contenders.

New Jersey voters will have an assortment of gubernatorial hopefuls to choose from on a primary day, June 3. Some of the more serious contenders for the state position include from the Democratic ranks: former Gov. Robert A. Meyner, who the GOP says is the man to beat, Rep. Michael Helstoski of the ninth District, Sen. William F. Kelly Jr. of Hudson, former Sen. Ned J. Parsekian of Bergen and Executive Director of the New Jersey Highway Authority, Louis Tomeszko.

In 1967 former Sen. Parsekian was defeated in his bid for reelection to his senate seat. The 47-year-old senator is a veteran of organized crime. They have also attacked the same "intellectuals" who insist that we don't have to be safe to say that any freshman in college would have difficulty in adjusting to college life.

When the writer mentions that she is not from the ghetto, perhaps her conception of ghetto is wrong. Ghetto merely means a group of people with similar ethnic backgrounds living in a specific area.

Black music by Chris White

The Chris White Quintet, a widely known avant-garde jazz group, recently appeared at MSC under the auspices of the Club lecture series.

They offered a program consisting of a concert which was structured around a lecture on the history of jazz and black music. The musical pieces performed by the quintet served to illuminate the points made in the lecture.

Chris White, who played bass exceptionally well, was quite humorous with his lecture comments. And the jazz that came from Jimmy Owens playing the trumpet under the direction of Chris White is one hard to beat.

Sugar sweet Sidney

The most charitable term which can apply to Sidney Poitier is that of overabundance of acting, schmaltz, harp strings and little tinkling bells.

Listening to this album gives one the same sick feeling that it is to be had from sitting through Fedder on the Roof and other such obvious attempts to exploit the feelings of certain ethnic groups. One must look for a long time by members of the groups themselves is rather confusing to say the least.

But perhaps this is a bit too harsh. It could very well be that Mr. Poitier believes that in his album he is mirroring the black man. Unfortunately, he is successful in this as he has been in portraying the black man on screen. His fault mainly lies not in the poetry he has selected — although much of it is extremely mild — but in the manner in which he chose to present it. He and Doris Belach read most of it as if they are telling fairy tales to children. Ms. Belach in a sweet-assassassin voice is making an effort to sound very black and ethnic that it comes off rather comic.

This would not be so bad to take; however, if it weren’t for the background music. It must be heard to be believed. In one cut we have Ms. Belach emasculating Countee Cullen’s “Yet I do mourn”; unharmonized; Mr. Poitier attempting to sound very black and ethnic it comes off rather comic.

Dylan done in 'Joan Baez style'

Reviewed By Diane Wald

Two phenomenal talents come together on this double album with, understandably, mixed results. Andy Day Now is a collection of the songs of Bob Dylan as sung by Joan Baez. To humor all, the listener should come to the album open for new interpretations. Joan Baez is not the same person as Andy Day, now she is trying to be.

Somewhere between her last album and this one a lot must have happened to Joan Baez. There’s an experience in her voice now, coupled with her easy honesty and feminine insight, makes songs like “Love Is Just a Four-Letter Word” and “North Country Blues” hauntingly real.

Unfortunately, one of the best songs selected, “I Shall Be Released”, is treated worst. It comes off like Kate Smith leading the West Point Glee Club. (Jesus, why?)

General speaking, however, this album is worthy of your attention. Put a few misses (an overly sentimental “I Pity the Poor Immigrant”) for full only because they try too hard. Dylan’s words rarely need that kind of help. The jacket is illustrated by Ms. Baez with feeling and simplicity. This “Sad-Eyed Lady” brings to the words of her “Dada King” a freshness and clarity that is sometimes truly inspired.

Watts, New York style

Reviewed By Jim Johnson

Big Time Buck White will make a thrilling and exciting evening in the theatre. The play, originating in the Watts district of Los Angeles, was brought to off-Broadway by the Cast. Written by an Italian, Joseph Dolan, the drama deals with the social issues of our present day American society. Though a white playwright, he has captured the tone and mood of the place — the feeling, attitudes and feelings of many black Americans in the Watts.

The characters, though somewhat stereotyped, reveal many of the causes and results of the black oppression of the blacks. Despite an all black cast, the presence of the white man was felt by the audience through the actors. The dialogue was true, flavorful and witty. Lines such as “That’s a no-no” and “Tap the plate” brought the house down in roar of laughter.

If you have a little money, a desire to laugh and a strong sympathy to a better social order, then Big Time Buck White is for you.

Races mix as ‘Gimingham Dog’

The Gimingham Dog by Lanford Wilson is an instant “cool” color play — just add racial intermarriage and stir.

The play is a scaled down race riot. There is Gloria, a white woman who has gotten out her husband, Bob, for something better. Wilson’s script is as effective as it is redundant. Diana Sands was an instant “cool” color in the film. Both ladies are quite effective. Each actor moves effortlessly from one character to another, and from the best, next, without ever breaking the continuity of the performance.

All things considered, it would be difficult to find a more enjoyable evening than “To Be Young, Gifted and Black.”

They offered a program consisting of a concert which was structured around a lecture on the history of jazz and black music. The musical pieces performed by the quintet served to illuminate the points made in the lecture.

900 Members in Class of '73 Enter with Uncommitted Major

By Susan Dominski

"The freshman class of 1973 has been selected from 4,800 applicants," announced Mr. Alan Buechler, acting director of admissions. "This year's class will number approximately 900.

Buechler explained that 85 per cent of the applicants were qualified for Montclair State, but only one out of five candidates is accepted because of the lack of space.

A major change in admissions procedures was made this year. "Students are now admitted to the college but not to a specific department," declared Buechler.

Candidates are selected on the basis of academic ability, a recommendation from the high school counselor, rank and activities. The acting director of admissions noted that it is better for a student to have a strong interest in one or two activities than to merely acquire a long list of activities. Only those students are selected who will be able to contribute something to the college. "We want more than machines on campus," he commented.

Buechler stated that "more information was required for admissions this year, namely two achievement tests which will be used primarily for placement."

Applicants who wish to enter the music, physical education or speech departments must also successfully audition for that department. If they do not qualify in the audition, they may still be admitted to the college but will not be accepted for that specific department.

Another change made on this year's application was the omission of the question concerning teacher education. Since MSC is becoming a liberal arts school, candidates for admission do not have to commit themselves to either preference of teacher education or liberal arts.

There will be 60 and 50 evening TRY students in the education and speech professions, but Buechler assured that this number does not affect the size of the class. The admission of TRY students does not decrease the quota of regular applicants who will be accepted.

Where asked if the new class is selected on a broader geographical basis, Montclair executive secretary, Buechler replied, "there have never been any quotas on counties." Limited dormitory space necessitates the majority of students coming from undergraduate program is only in its second year of existence, having been instituted in September 1967.

Last fall, a questionnaire was circulated among the three upper classes in order to determine student reactions to the English curriculum. At that time students expressed dissatisfaction with courses that were too long with little room for development and not enough in-depth study.

To alter this situation the major survey courses of American and British Literature have been discontinued and divided into several courses which cover less ground more thoroughly. This change also better prepares undergraduates for graduate work by allowing a fairly wide selection of intensive study.

These changes in the English curriculum have resulted from the efforts of both faculty and students in the English department. At present the English Council, composed of faculty members, meets monthly with students from the various classes. Several of these students have expressed satisfaction with both the quantity and quality of the changes and the willingness of the faculty to listen and act upon suggestions.

Mr. Harold C. Bohn, chairman of the English department, realizes that this transitional stage is not easy. He states however that the department is resolved to make this shift as liberally as possible without inconvenience to those students. "So the past keeps in mind are that the English department requirements fit in with those of the whole college, and that each student will graduate with 128 semester hours.

Desires for a pass-fail system and independent study have also led to the establishment of both of these practices along with four seminars for seniors and juniors. Bohn advises those students planning to take either independent study or seminar courses to realize that these opportunities demand a serious attitude and much individual preparation in order to be worthwhile. They are not courses in which the student can do as he pleases.

Interdisciplinary courses, such as those in psychology and sociology and an increase in the number of courses dealing with Blacks or Afro-Americans are among the new features of the English department's concern, as written in the preface to the listing of curriculum changes, that each student enrich his life by understanding responsibility, not only in depth but also in latitude.

Stone Begins Trial
Closed Door Policy

By Rich Kamencik

Stone Hall, men's dormitory, will initiate a close door policy for women's guests for a four-week trial period. This follows in the wake of a similar policy that was first instituted some weeks ago in Webster Hall.

The opening day for the closed door policy is scheduled for Fri., April 25. Stone Hall's Dormitory Council has approved the policy and they have assumed full responsibility. Should the four-week experiment be approved, Dorm Council reserves the right to review the policy every year.

Basically, the policy requires that female guests be signed in and out upon entrance and exit. A knotted necktie on the room doorknob will signify that a female guest is in the room.

The official hours for the policy are as follows: Friday, 4:30 p.m. - midnight; Saturday, 10 a.m. - midnight; and Sunday, 1:30 p.m. - 7 p.m.

Dorm Council has stated that if a resident fails to follow the provisions of the closed door policy, they will recommend that the resident be expelled from the dormitory.

Stone Hall's unique bathroom situation has stood as a major obstacle to the institution of a closed door policy last semester or earlier this semester. In Stone Hall, there are only two bathrooms on the second floor. During closed door hours, one bathroom will be limited to use by females only.

Funds Requested to Help Doreen Survive

The Doreen Delaney Fund is in desperate need of financial assistance. Jack Mageean, coordinator of the fund, recently expressed the desire to have more fraternities become actively involved in supporting this worthwhile cause.

Thus far, only two fraternities have contributed to the fund. Tau Lambda Beta has donated $65, and Sigma Alpha Eta contributed the profits from their candy sale.

The fund was initiated at MSC by Mageean last February. Its purpose is to provide funds to pay therapy bills for Doreen Delaney, a junior, who was severely injured in an automobile accident during the summer of 1967. The injuries which Doreen sustained caused her to lapse into a coma for nine months. During this time she lost total body coordination. Doreen's chances for complete recovery are excellent, but the therapy will take time and money.

Through the efforts of the Doreen Delaney Fund the $5,000 hospital bill has been paid. The therapy bills remain, however, and these bills are monumental. Various money-making projects instituted by each fraternity on campus would help tremendously to alleviate this financial burden, according to Mageean.

All fraternities interested in contributing to this fund should contact Jack Mageean in the speech department.

Barons Champ IM League
As Hoop Season Closes

Jackson, Stewart
High Point Men
In 11 Victories
By Wayne Potente
Sports Staff

The Black Barons became the new men’s intramural league basketball champions by completing their season with a perfect 11-0 record. Led by new men’s intramural league leaders DeRoy Jackson and Don Stewart, the Barons breezed through eight of their 11 victories and showed fine ability under pressure in their three tough wins.

The team opened its season by romping Beta, 59-23. Stewart and Batch Davis led the scoring with 17 and 15 points, respectively. The second victory featured 18 points from “West Side” Aliston as the Wee Five lost, 61-39. TOP’s B team was the next victim, succumbing to the Barons, 50-28. Jackson, in his first appearance, led the scorers with 16 points and Aliston contributed 15.

The first competition the Barons faced was provided by the Lower Lounge. A 22 point effort by Vin Silvestri and a trapping defense against Jackson afforded the Lounge team a 13-point lead in the second half. However, Stewart began to control the boards and Marvin Byers provided the winning bucket at the tail end of a strong comeback. The final score was 48-46, Barons.

Game five was a battle for first place, the Barons vs. the Pinapples, led by Phil Baccarella and Howie Steiner. The Pinapples led by three, 28-25, at halftime. But a team effort in the second half provided a 59-49 victory for the Barons with Jackson scoring 23.

Jackson scored 16 and Stewart 12 in the next game as Phi Sigma Equlion was bombarded, 73-32. Game time for game seven and Tau Sigma Delta didn’t even place a team on the court. The Barons highest point total of the year came in the 96-42 romp over the Rangers.

The following game was a preliminary to the playoffs. Phi Chi, already determined as playoff opponent for the Barons, was the adversary. The “Nads” were outscored by seven points in each half and the Barons walked off with a 76-62 win. Byers had 25 points, Jackson 19 and Stewart 14 for the victors.

In the playoffs, however, the Barons found that the Psi Chi team had no intention of being pushed around again. The “Nads” struggled to a 22-21 halftime advantage but they couldn’t hold off the Barons in the second half and eventually lost a tough 51-48 decision. Stewart’s rebounding and 20 points and Jackson’s 17 points led the victors. This win put the Barons into the championship game.

Their opponents for the championship were the Undertakers who had defeated the Wolfpack, 43-37, the night before. Al Noel totaled 14 points for the victors while John McNulty equaled that sum for the losers.

The big game turned out to be another Black Baron runaway as DeRoy Jackson scored 19, Sid Haywood 14, Byers 10 points in a 66-33 slaughter.

Congratulations are in order for a fine basketball team. Members of the team not previously mentioned are Tom Burke, Charles Palmer, Richard Jones, Houston Webster and Herb Stoney.

Indian Hurlers on Road to Recovery

The senior limited Newark College to just one hit, a double by game’s leadoff hitter Joe Cappa. Keimel fanned eight and threw only 98 pitches. The only healthy hurlers with any experience were sophomore lefthander Ken Inglis (2-2) and ace reliever John Grynko, but two healthy arms can’t carry a whole team.

Well, it’s now late April and the start of Inglis. With only one day’s rest, the big lefthander spun a nifty one hitter over Newark State. He struck out 17 and walked only two batters with the one hit being a double by the game’s leadoff hitter.

Two days later, Inglis, not to be shown up by a mere sophomore, went to work himself. The senior limited Newark College of Engineering to five hits in a route going 5-0 Stalking. He fanned eight and threw only 98 pitches.

Inglis came back in the next contest, this time with a full week’s rest, an turned in a 7-0 shutout against Jersey City State. He fanned 11 and gave up only three hits.

Keimel’s first test of the sore arm came the following day. The lefthander who throws aspin towards the plate worked four scoreless frames before tiring. With two out in the fifth Newark Rutgers got a run on a two singles and a walk to snap the streak at 33 and 2/3 innings.

Dioguardi’s problems on the mound have disappeared. Jerald, Inglis and Keimel have worked 33 and 2/3 scoreless innings to set a school record covering 41 seasons.

The Indians pitching problems back in March have turned into a cloud with a silver lining.

The first run came in the first inning when Carmine DeSimone drove Frank Rossi home from second with a single to left field. A single run was added in the fifth on a throwing error by the Bloomfield shortstop and another in the seventh, also on the shortstop’s error.

Bloomfield scored their only run in the sixth when the pitcher, Rake, led off with a single to right and rode home on Gary Wilson’s double to deep center field. Bloomfield never threatened as Keimel retired the last 11 men in order.

The loss dropped Bloomfield’s record to 3-3. The Indians are now 6-2, back on the right track after suffering two straight losses, 5-4 to Upsala and 3-1 to St. Peter’s.

The 1969 season will mark the 21st for Bill Dioguardi as head baseball coach at Montclair State. It will also mark his last as the Indians mentor since the MSC director of athletics will step down at the end of the year to be succeeded by Clay Anderson in 1970. A graduate of Kearney High School, Dioguardi was a standout at Montclair State in basketball and baseball before transferring to Notre Dame.

Following graduation from Notre Dame, he coached the Irish freshman diamond team for one season before returning to MSC to become head baseball coach.

In 20 seasons as the Indians head coach, Dioguardi sports one of the best coaching marks in the United States showing 286 wins and only 137 losses. Under his direction in baseball, Montclair State captured the New Jersey Intercollegiate Athletic Conference title five times (1949, 50, 51, 53, and 54) and the New Jersey State College Conference crown five times (1961, 63, 64, 66 and 67).

Twice in recent years Dioguardi has been selected as the New Jersey State College Conference's "Baseball Coach of the Year."

In addition to handling the baseball team, Dioguardi has at various times coached as an assistant in football and basketball at MSC. He has also been director of athletics at Montclair’s College High School, as well as head football and basketball coach.

Dioguardi has been the school’s director of athletics since October 1968. One of New Jersey’s top football and basketball officials, Bill is married and the father of four children. The Dioguardi’s live in Upper Montclair.

Mound Corps...

FRED KEIMEL

Seems to have overcome early season arm trouble and has thrown well in his first two starts. Led staff last year with a 4-6 record, 47 strikeouts and a respectable 2.66 ERA. Big and strong, Fred is being counted on heavily as an MSC starter.

PETE JERAULD

Played in only eight games last sophomore John Tessaro.

One of only four seniors on this record, 47 strikeouts and a respectable 2.66 ERA. Big and strong, Fred is being counted on heavily as an MSC starter.

KEN INGLIS

Hard throwing southpaw who has a great future ahead of him at MSC. Pitched varsity ball last year as a freshman and had a 2-2 record.

This season has already seen Ken pitch one-hit and three-hit efforts in his first two wins. Former first team all-starter has a deceptive fastball and an assortment of breaking pitches. Leads staff this season with an amazing 0.85 ERA in 21 innings.

With two more seasons of pitching after this year, Inglis could end up as one of MSC's all time greats.

KEYSTONE COMBO

RICH SAN FILIPPO

Starting his second season of varsity play. Hit .271 as a third baseman last season. Moves over to shortstop this year. Has the potential and is being watched by several big league clubs.

BATTING LEADOFF THIS SEASON, CLARK

Has taken over right field spot as a sophomore. Had an outstanding freshman year as a catcher. The stocky flycatcher has good power and is expected to give some added punch to the Indian attack.

STEVE SAMSON

Has moved into the "hot corner" after a fine showing on the Florida trip. Has a good glove and covers a lot of area. One of four sophs in the starting lineup.

Dave Clark

Starting his second season of varsity play. Hit .271 as a third baseman last season. Moves over to shortstop this year. Has the potential and is being watched by several big league clubs.

Tom MC Cormick

Led the Indians in hitting two seasons ago but had his troubles last year hitting only .187. Coach Dioguardi expects a big come back from this veteran infielder.

Covers the bag well and combined with San Filippo should show an increase in doubleplay this season.

CARMINE DE SIMONE

The Indian leftfielder has been "Quietly" outstanding this season. Has taken over right field spot as a sophomore. Had an amazing 0.85 ERA in 21 innings.

RICH ROESSNER

Another fine soph prospect. Has developed into a fine relief pitcher for the Indians. Last season he did not give up a single earned run for a spotless 0.00 ERA in facing 61 batters. Will see plenty of action this year because of his ability to hold off late rallies. Only a junior, Gryzmko's job as strictly a relief pitcher has paid off for Coach Dio and gives the starters a big help in finishing up in the late innings.

JOHN GRYZMOKO

For Relief Pitcher

Hard throwing southpaw who has a great future ahead of him at MSC. Pitched varsity ball last year as a freshman and had a 2-2 record.
