REFERENDUM VOTING BEGINS TODAY

30% Voter Turnout Needed

By Pat Hanrahan
News Editor

Polls opened at 10 a.m. this morning for voting on the student union fee referendum. The vote will continue through Friday with the polls open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. A 30 per cent student vote is necessary for the results to be binding.

The referendum will determine if a $10 fee will be paid by all students for the construction of the proposed new student union building. The fee would become effective this coming semester.

A campus-wide advertising campaign in support of the referendum has made information available to the students on the $10 fee. This has come primarily from students who assert that they cannot afford the cost and from upperclassmen who will graduate before the building is completed.

There has been some student opposition voiced concerning the $10 fee. This has come primarily from students who assert that they cannot afford the cost and from upperclassmen who will graduate before the building is completed.

Mr. Jon O. McKnight, director of student activities, in an interview last week, expressed hopes that all students would vote in the referendum. "I would like to encourage every student to vote, whether for it or against, because it is a student building," he stated.

Autonomy Passage Urged by Dungan

TRENTON – Chancellor Ralph A. Dungan strongly urged the General Assembly to pass a bill granting the New Jersey state colleges a greater degree of self-government and management flexibility.

Bill S-256, which passed the state Senate by a 32-1 vote on April 28, basically provides for a decentralization of authority and decision making to the Boards of Trustees and administrators of the state colleges in the key areas of budget execution, personnel, contracting and purchasing.

"The Board of Higher Education and I strongly support the passage of S-256," said Dungan.

"This bill has been thoroughly considered by the state college presidents and trustees and by appropriate members of the executive branch, including the divisions of budget and purchasing within the treasury department. In its present form, it enjoys the support of the college authorities and the executive agencies concerned.

"In short," said the chancellor, "S-256 as amended is a sound bill which provides desirable flexibility at the college level and at the same time fully protects the public interest."

No headway has been reported yet on the construction strike presently crippling the building of Partridge Hall.

The strike, called by Passaic County construction workers on May 1, affects carpenters, masons and laborers. Mr. Joseph McGinty, director of maintenance, has stated that 80 per cent of construction is impeded by the strike.

The workers are currently negotiating with the contractors for settlement of the strike. Among the construction workers' demands is a $3 an hour raise in bricklayers' salaries.
Meeting Announced for Math, Science School

By Roberta Kuehl
Ast. News Editor

"It is important that students participate in the formation of the school," according to Mr. Dean Hamdan, deputy chairman of the physics-earth science department. His statement refers to the student-faculty meeting for the proposed School of Mathematics and Science to be held Thurs., May 15 from 1-3 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium.

This school will include the following departments: physics, earth science, chemistry, biology, and mathematics. At the meeting participating students will be requested to sign cards for the formation of committees which will make recommendations on 27 issues. However, instead of creating 27 committees, five committees will be set up concerning students, faculty, curriculum, government and external affairs.

Positive System Replaces Traditional Frosh Hazing

Mr. Michael Loewenthal, director of TUB, heads plans for a three-day orientation period and incoming students for the fall term. The projected activities include a Student Activities Fair, Class Olympics and a MSC Festival production.

To encourage all students to return to the campus earlier, contract negotiations for a pedestrian walkway will be made. The big sister-big brother arrangement will be replaced by a student host program, which found approval when tested this semester. Junior and senior volunteers will work with 10 incoming students for the three-day orientation period and remain as advisers during the entire academic year.

These volunteers would have participated in a training program preparing them to adequately counsel their student groups. Applications for the positions must be picked up and returned to the TUB by May 16.

To initiate "group competitiveness rather than domination of individuals," according to Loewenthal, class activities will replace rat court.

Campus organizations will be invited to recruit new students during the orientation period via the Student Activities Fair. Members of the groups will man booths on campus distributing information to students interested in joining.

The orientation committee, chaired by Fran Niedhala and Tom Reaves (class of '72), hopes to foster student interaction. Orientation for transfers, Chico State, and admitted students, TRV students and veterans will be incorporated into the new program, eliminating former groupings.

Loewenthal hopes the new program will "capitalize on the enthusiasm of new students and keep it going."

Neuner: Cuts in Federal Aids Necessitate State Assistance

By Susan Dominiski
Staff Reporter

Federal funds available to college students through Educational Opportunity Grants (EOG), National Defense Student Loans (NDSL) and College Work Study Programs (CWSF) have been cut back for the 1969-70 year. The cut was from a requested $797,741,000 to $435,446,000. This means a considerable decrease in funds available to needy students throughout the country.

Mr. Ulrich Neuner, assistant director of student personnel announced: "Although Montclair State fared better than other state schools regarding the amount of aid they will receive for the 1969-70 school year, we will still need some assistance from the state."

He disclosed the following information regarding financial aid to MSC students: "$118,000 was requested in NDS loans and $113,000 was granted; $74,550 was requested for EO grants and $73,091 was received."

The Work Study program suffered a $7000 cutback for the period July 1 to Dec. 31, 1969, leaving $24,393 in available funds. "Cutback at present in our programs," declared Neuner, "will require us to be extremely careful in evaluation student needs."

"The government recommends that National Defense Loans be given to those students who received loans in the past and are in dire need of financial help."

Neuner added that the government suggests a base income of $4350 for a family of four in placing students on the Work Study program.

Incoming freshmen must receive 80 percent of their initial grant money, and students who received previous grants will be eligible for renewal. No grants will be available to seniors.

Paterson State

Olsen Installed as Militants Protest

By Arlene Petty
Staff Reporter

WAYNE - Dr. James Kargi Olsen was inaugurated as president of Paterson State College last week. Although that same morning militants had taken over his office, by the time of the installation the office had been cleared.

The inauguration proceeded as planned despite the protesters' hope that negotiations might be carried on with the Board of Trustees who were present for the occasion.

Various representatives of various colleges and universities and representatives of learned societies and professional organizations opened the ceremony.

Dr. Harold C. Rubin, chairman of MSC's English department, participated as a representative of the Modern Language Association.

Words of welcome followed from various groups. President Thomas Richardson of MSC welcomed Olsen on behalf of the Council of State Colleges. Members of Paterson's faculty and student body also expressed their greetings.

Dr. John J. Kamerick, President of North Texas State, University, gave the main address. He stated that colleges and universities are "not sufficiently conscious of society's long range needs." In conclusion, he praised Olsen and stressed his certainty that Olsen would succeed as president.

Olsen spoke after the installation and said there will be no present or future "without the tradition of free inquiry (to which) Paterson State College is so dedicated."

He concluded by declaring, "I accept the charge and seek the help of all."

Highlight Spring Weekend

This weekend Montclair State will officially celebrate the arrival of spring. Entitled “Good Grief, It’s Spring!” Spring Weekend will begin Thurs. night, May 15, with the showing of the award-winning film, “A Man and a Woman,” in Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Friday evening Alley Club will begin its celebration in the lower lounge of Life Hall. From 11 p.m. Friday until 7 a.m. Saturday, movies of the Marx Brothers, W. C. Fields and the Three Stooges will be shown in Memorial Auditorium, Road Runner cartoons and a “Spook Spectacular” are also scheduled. Following the movies a pancake breakfast will be held in Life Hall cafeteria.

At noon on Saturday “Bullitt!” will be shown in Memorial Auditorium.

Saturday afternoon Charlie Brown’s all-stars will play exhibition baseball prior to the MSC Indians’ game with Central Connecticut College.

“Blood, Sweat and Tears” are also scheduled.

In March of this year, David Clayton-Thomas replaced Al Kooper as lead singer. It was then that the group made its first hit, “You Make Me So Very Happy.” taken from their second album, entitled Blood, Sweat and Tears. The group’s latest single from that album is “Spinning Wheel.”

Mr. Paul Clifford, chairman of the Education Dept., feels that the confusion was little confusion. Mr. Paul Clifford, the department chairman, had instructors review requirements for majors and point out changes. Feeling that descriptions in the catalog were inadequate, Clifford also had instructors describe courses to their classes. Majors were then asked to turn in cards with the courses listing chosen elecctives for the fall semester. Clifford reviewed the cards, and math majors who had not filled out a card or who had made a mistake were then contacted. Any confusion which resulted from changes was quickly cleared up by the advisors.

Mr. Robert Foley, associate registrar, is very much aware of the problems concerning preregistration during the recent preregistration period. Confused a number of students. The changes for the most part were made in major requirements were handled by the individual departments.

Mr. Robert Foley, associate registrar, is very much aware of the problems concerning registration, having made numerous changes for students when mistakes were made. Foley feels that some confusion could be averted if students were informed of changes well in advance of preregistration. Familiarity with the new curriculum might cut down on the confusion.

The English department supplied a list of courses, changes and requirements for its majors. Dr. Harold Bohn, chairman of the department, worked with his faculty to ensure clarity in the list of offerings. However, some English majors were confused by the contradictions in the listings and by the counseling of advisors. Bohn feels that the confusion would not have occurred if students had taken the time to read the listings carefully.

The math department, with approximately 400 majors, had little confusion. Mr. Paul Clifford, the department chairman, had instructors review requirements for majors and point out changes. Feeling that descriptions in the catalog were inadequate, Clifford also had instructors describe courses to their classes. Majors were then asked to turn in cards with the courses listing chosen electives for the fall semester. Clifford reviewed the cards, and math majors who had not filled out a card or who had made a mistake were then contacted. Any confusion which resulted from changes was quickly cleared up by the advisors.

The forms were returned with the Blood, Sweat and Tears concert on Saturday night along with folk singer Tim Hardin, who composed “If I were a Carpenter,” beginning at 8 p.m. in Panzer Gymnasium. Tickets are $2 and will be on sale all this week.

Blood, Sweat and Tears, a nine-member combination of rock, blues and jazz, was organized last fall by Al Kooper, then the lead singer. Steve Katz, lead guitar, played with the Blues Project and the Electric Flag before joining Blood, Sweat and Tears. Bob Colomby, a veteran in his field, is jazz drummer for the group.

Mr. Edwin Mills, academic counselor, has announced that faculty evaluation forms will be available for distribution to all department offices. The faculty members who participate in the evaluation process will distribute the forms to their students during the last class of the semester.

Students can then consider them during the examination reading period. Students return the completed forms to their professors on the day of each exam. Mills said that the faculty is respecting a “gentleman’s agreement” to give out grades before reading the student evaluations.

The forms have resulted from the efforts of the Student-Faculty Communications Committee. Although the Faculty Council meeting of March 27, 1969, passed a motion “to support in principle student evaluation of all faculty by all students,” Mills conceded that there may be a few faculty members who will not participate in the student evaluations and, consequently, will not distribute forms.

If cases of uncooperative faculty arise, students can try to obtain evaluation sheets through department chairmen.

For those courses which do not have final exams, students can pick up the forms before the end of the semester and return them on the last class.

The forms themselves represent the accumulated observations of the Faculty-Student Communications Committee into evaluation systems of other colleges, educational journals, student perception questionnaires, etc.

They have been meeting since September with both students and faculty participation in the committee’s discussion and research. Besides Mills, the committee included Dr. Martin Brown of the psychology department, Dr. Earl E. Morehouse, the education department and Mr. William Ballare of the speech department.

Mills stressed that this first semester of student evaluation of faculty on a broad scale would be primarily utilized as an educational experience for students and as feedback for faculty.

Using the term “steppingstone,” Mills hinted there was a possibility that future evaluations by students could be a consideration in such areas as faculty tenure. But as of now, no one in the faculty or administration is prepared to define the level of student ability to rate faculty in a fair and intelligent manner.
Beginning today the MSC student body will have three days to decide whether a $10 per semester student union fee should be instituted in September. The student’s vote in this urgent matter will have serious implications for all future classes at Montclair State College.

Not a building to be constructed through state funds, any student union building or dormitory built on any state college campus must be self-supporting. It is necessary that the construction costs of the building must be paid through student fees.

Since a student union building must be financed primarily through student fees and MSC’s fund raising efforts, a committee called the Margin for Excellence was paid through student fees. The Student Union Planning Committee has found the $10 per semester student union fee to be the only answer to offset the increased construction costs.

A recent example is "Nixon Maintains Public Silence on U.S. Reaction"—San Bernardino (Calif.) Telegram. "Reconnaissance missions of this type have been blown up for more than 20 years in the Sea of Japan..."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch. "Men Phi Epsilon fraternity members sing our Brahms courses."—Seattle (Wash.) Post. "Maurice was named to run for the seat now held by David L., who is three-years-old."—Rochester (N.Y.) Times-Union.

The editor of the Montclairian wants you to know that the publication is a non-profit organization. The student editors and writers work long hours to churn out a journalistic masterpiece. And although the MSC student union fee will be left in the hands of the students, it should be noted that the referendum for the proposal to become effective is needed for the proposal to become effective.

As organizational meetings for the new school setup within Montclair State College are preparing the college for its future university status, some discrepancy has arisen among students as to where various departments have been placed.

Although there are separate departments for business education and distributive education but these two departments will fall into a school of Applied Arts and Sciences rather than a school of business administration.

The public service program differs from one school to another in some of the nation’s finer universities. This is the reason why a public service program is needed in New Jersey.

One of the most frustrating things to a reporter is seeing his story twisted and mangled by all kinds of typographical errors. The typists, as they’re lovingly called, are usually little misprints or typing errors that come into the best of stories.

And no matter how much work goes into proofreading, those little devils manage to eat the hearts out of the reporters who work long hours to turn out a journalistic masterpiece. "Ten Mu Phi Epsilon fraternity sings our Brahms courses."—Seattle (Wash.) Post.

Our daughter and her finance are planning a June wedding."—Salt Lake City Tribune.

And talking about newspapers, there are some gazettes in this country that have more names for themselves. The Huskie Howl from Eau Claire, Wis. and The New Orleans Times-Picayune are two constantly fine gazettes.

PUBLIC SERVICE WORK OFFERED

By Glassboro

GLASSBORO — A public service field experience program is now under study by the Glassboro State College curriculum committee. Aimed for junior and senior liberal arts majors, the program was designed to provide these students with public service experience related to their major field utilizing campus resources and local urban centers.

Students will be given a chance to work in governmental agencies involving sociological, recreational, technological, educational and artistic skills. The student would receive from three to six credits for the work involving approximately 75 hours of service.

Surviving Strong
To the Editor:
Jerry Butler’s maxim— that “Only the Strong Survive” — in his song of that title may be justified as social commentary, especially in the face of difficulties that minority groups have in maintaining existences within society, but his comment is a pessimistic one that would like to believe that MORE than the strong survive.

Forty thousand years ago, man made it his business to take care of those members of his community who were unable to support themselves. Archeologists tell us that some of the most striking evidences of Neanderthal man are aged, crippled skeletons. If it were true that “Andy’s” time that “only the strong survive,” the sickly, the weak, would have died off long before they reached old age.

Man is cognizant of his responsibility to his fellow man even then, and if his social security plan was not more than provision of an extra shank of meat or two for those who couldn’t get their own, his commitment, his concern still says a lot for his civilization then and for ours today.

We can’t yet say that EVERYONE survives, that everyone makes it, in our society.

There are hundreds of kids in dums and ghettos all over the world who are DUPEs literally before they are born by damning circumstances.

But man is now willing to try to beat the odds. As long as he tries, I’m willing to say: No, Mr. Butler, MORE than the strong survive!

Animalism Revisited
To the Editor:
In response to a letter entitled “Mass Animalism” (May 7), I believe the author’s views are slanted. He referred to an episode that took place on Fri., April 18 where fraternity and sorority people “made fools of themselves” by distributing the distribution of sorority bids.

Rather than “animalism” I would call it “enthusiasm” and rather than calling them “fools” I would call them “jesters.”

Receiving a bid is a big event in a girl’s life and with the help of these people to enhance the event, it even becomes bigger. Also, if you noticed, these “so-called students” as the writer so aptly called them, cleaned up all of the “mess” they caused.

Enthusiasm like this is rare and exciting. It has a unifying force that dictates our feeling of belongingness.

My only regret is that I will not be around to see the day when ORGANIZATIONAL AND nonorganizational people can sit together and enjoy such an event.

Sorry you did not enjoy your lunch.

American Study and Travel ‘Immeasurable’

Editor’s Note: Bonnie Marranca is former drama and arts editor of the MONTCLARION, currently studying and travelling in Europe.

By Bonnie Marranca

Special to the MONTCLARION

COPENHAGEN — The experience of studying and travelling in Europe is immeasurable by words, post cards, train tickets and Kodak prints (each has its use). It is more a feeling that gradually develops internally and remains there for a lifetime. Europe is no matter where one lives it is always a learning process. But, it is quite different when in an unfamiliar country, among foreign people.

Since I arrived in Europe on Feb. 4, I have been fortunate to visit many wonderful and exciting places in Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Yugoslavia, Italy, Greece and Austria. Each country has its own look, its own customs and manners. And, for the traveller’s bewilderment, its own monetary system.

Many sights from my travels I will never forget . . . the quaint cobblestone streets of Denmark . . . bouchouki music in Athens . . . the Sistine Chapel ceilings . . . the poverty of Yugoslavia . . . the majesty of the Alps at night . . . the harborers of Hamburg. Each sight too memorable to forget, too encompassing to photograph.

Language is not a great barrier, particularly if one speaks French or German. There is always someone who speaks English. Besides, it’s fun great, especially in Rome, to bargain with a shopkeeper in broken English and broken Italian. There is a treat awaiting those who cannot speak the language of a foreign country — one quickly becomes a master of mime and caricature.

One greater feeling awaits the traveller. Sooner or later in Europe one man said: “He, I’m not . . . .” I’m an American.” I

MSC Ranked with Harvard, Princeton

By Martin J. Fucio

Education Editor

Montclair State College ranks in at least one respect, with Harvard, Princeton and Yale. Three years ago MSC moved into the "highly competitive" category, an area previously dominated by New England colleges. A "highly competitive" college is one which requires A averages and high scores on Scholastic Aptitude Tests (SATs) for admission. On a nationwide scale, over 300 of the "highly competitive" schools are in the New Jersey-New York area. In other parts of the country, a C average or high school diploma is all that's required.

MSC's present freshmen averaged in the top fifth of their high school graduating classes and scored approximately 540 on their verbal and math SATs.

"There is admissions competition as soon as you have one more than you can accommodate," stated Alan Buechler, MSC's acting director of admissions. This year, 4800 high school seniors applied to MSC; 1500 were accepted, and 900 will enter in September. In 1968, admissions totaled only 2300.

According to Buechler, 1964 was the year competition became "keener." Approximately 85 per cent of the people who apply to MSC are qualified. Accepting only the top fifth of the class leads to good teachers "but you think of all those students you have to turn away," stated Buechler. Buechler favors expanding MSC to accommodate more people. He warned that "competition has been getting keener."

Buechler speculated that it was due to the post-World War II "baby boom." Buechler also mentioned the "push to go to college" and "parental pressure." In addition, there are simply more students in high schools.

When asked if he thought tight admissions were a good thing, Buechler replied "I don't know." What caused the sudden flood? "Perhaps a Montclair graduate has obtained permission to use his name and that has caused some people to think of applying," stated Buechler. In other states, a C average or high school diploma is all that's required.

MSC's graduates go into teaching. Another 10 per cent go on to such fields as the Peace Corps or VISTA. Many MSC graduates become principals, vice-principals, superintendents and other administrators. "We've staffed an awful lot of high schools," stated Mrs. McHugh.

"Generally speaking, we seem to be in a favorable position," stated Lange. The vast majority of MSC graduates have positions either before or within two months after commencement. By September, "everyone who wants a job has one," said Lange.

Buechler stated that New Jersey is now allowing a small number of out-of-staters into New Jersey state schools. Of course, these people have high academic standing. A New Jersey student may or may not get into an out-of-state school, depending on the policy of that state. Out-of-state private schools are likely to accept New Jersey students.

Graduating from "highly competitive" MSC can be a benefit. Dr. Norman Lange, director of student teaching and placement, pointed out that in fields where there are acute teacher shortages, such as special education, being an MSC graduate is of little or no aid. However, in short areas such as English, social science and foreign languages, Lange stated that "perhaps a Montclair graduate has a slight edge."

To improve "free communication between legislators" and to encourage "more involvement of spectators," the present rigid structure." Contact lenses can be heaven... or hell. They may be a wonder of modern science but just the slightest bit of dirt under the lens can make them unbearable. In order to keep your contact lenses as comfortable and convenient as they were designed to be, you have to take care of them.

Until now you needed two or more separate solutions to properly prepare and maintain your contacts. You would think that caring for contacts should be as convenient as wearing them. You get a free soaking case on the bottom of every bottle of Lensine.

Cleaning your contacts with Lensine retards the build-up of foreign deposits on the lenses. And soaking your contacts in Lensine between wearing periods assures you of proper lens hygiene. Lensine is an “isotonic” solution, which means that it blends with the natural fluids in the eye. Bacteria cannot grow in Lensine which is sterile, self-sanitizing, and antiseptic. Let your contacts be the convenience they were meant to be. Get some Lensine from the Murine Company, Inc.

As a result, you can use Lensine as a supplement to your regular lens solutions while you are at home.

The soph star has made his best throw of the season to reach the coveted 7-10-3 victory plateau for his career. He has three more chances before he turns over the coaching reins to Mary Anderson next year.

The win upped the MSC record to 12-4. Their next game is this afternoon, a home MSCCAC tilt with Paterson State. Paterson ripped the Indians 1-0 in 10 innings earlier this season.

East Stroudsburg’s record dropped to 8-5-1. The loss was the first for their starting pitcher, John Harner, after four straight wins.

The Indians jumped to a quick 2-0 lead in the first when first baseman Ken Frank powered his first home run of the season over the left field fence after Rich San Fillipo had singled. East Stroudsburg came right back in the top of the second when Marty Rivas walked, moved to second on a walk to Pete Starnadero, and scored when MSC second baseman Bob Lyon threw wild to first for an attempted double play.

MSC picked up another tally in the fifth when Frank Cipot, pinch-hitting for Dave Clark, singled to lead off the inning. Keimel’s sacrifice bunt moved Cipot to second, and he continued to third when Lyon beat out a bunt for a hit. San Fillipo grounded to the shortstop deep in the hole and beat the throw to first, allowing Cipot to score.

After that both teams went scoreless.

The win was perfect for Keimel, who celebrated his 21st birthday, by winning his fourth game of the season.

MSC’s star hurler turned star hitter, Pete Jerald, started in left field for the first time in his career and collected two hits to up his average to .400. He had home runs in his last two starts as a pitcher, and his hot bat was needed in the lineup.

The Indian’s coach, Bill Dioguardi, needs two more wins this season to reach the coveted 300 victory plateau for his career.
