The School of Humanities is slated to occupy Partridge Hall on Jan. 27, 1970. Classes from the seven departments in the school will move in on this date. They include the classics, English, French, Germanic-slavic, linguistics, Spanish-Italian and philosophy-religion departments.

The construction of Partridge Hall is well underway. Mr. Jerome R. Quinn, director of facilities, announced that the mechanical systems including air-conditioning, heating and plumbing have been completed.

The sandblasting of exterior concrete and the installation of windows are now in progress. One obstacle faced at the present is the strike by the elevator mechanics.

The next stage of construction will be the instalation of ceiling and floor tiles and painting.

Partridge Hall has the distinct feature of being the first classroom building on campus to be completely air-conditioned. The first three floors will serve for classroom use and the fourth floor will contain the offices for the School of Humanities.

Partridge Hall can also claim the only public elevator at MSC. Provisions have been made in its design for the handicapped including wider doors and special stairs.

The language lab will be moved from the first floor of College Hall into the new 43,800 square foot building. Quinn stated that he hoped the move would be under a change-order on the contract.

The architect for Partridge Hall is Arthur Rigolo; the mechanical consulting engineer is Melvin W. Gelber and the structural consulting engineer is Kellermann and Dragnett.
Rhythm of Buddy Rich
Will Rock MSC Campus

"The greatest drummer of them all," in the person of Buddy Rich, will perform at MSC's Memorial Auditorium next Monday evening at 8:30. The title was bestowed upon him in 1965 by the Penthouse Hotel in Honolulu, Hawaii. In a career beginning at age 18, Rich has drummed in vaudeville, six-man jazz groups and his own Buddy Rich orchestra.

Bill Price, 26, currently living in Summit and lived in the North Jersey area before entering the Navy upon graduation.

Price is employed as a case worker for the Essex County Welfare Board in Newark. His job includes investigating welfare cases, moving ghetto families to better housing and working with the drug problem.

But Price doesn't feel that education is doing a fair share in easing the problem of the ghetto. "I don't believe four years here (at NSC) prepares someone to teach in the ghetto," Price favors the recent state government suggestion to begin a five-year urban teaching program.

In training the ghetto teacher, Price thinks that practice is most important. And by "practice," Price doesn't mean an eight-week student teaching course. At the very least, he feels, a full semester is needed. "It's a different society... Newark is a thousand miles away."

"NSC is changing, says Price, and is coming out of its 100-year darkness." This is largely caused by the new students entering NSC, who Price thinks are more articulate and intelligent than the freshmen classes of previous years.

Price stated that an entire reevaluation of NSC is needed. He laments the "glorified high school" that NSC is -- a place where students come to class, get their lunch, and go home. He feels the building of more dorms as one of the answers to this problem. The two dorms NSC can finance have a capacity of 225 compared with NSC's total capacity of over 4000.

There are many students on the campus, states that, that are attempting to establish a greater dialog between administration faculty and students.

And now, perhaps there will be a more meaningful communication between the board of trustees and the students through the involvement of Bill Price.

Bottom of Page

Paper Chemicals Division

American Cyanamid Co. Dr. Lillian Rosenberg, campus physician; "Women in Careers," Mrs. Thomas Richardson, "Women in Volunteer Organizations," Mrs. Allan Crandons; "Tomorrow's Morality," Rev. Mary Green, Dr. Herta Spenser, MSC staff psychiatrist, Pat Merrick, Michelle Wade, MSC students.

Further topics include: "Service Trinity-School, Church, Government," Mrs. Shehla Anand, chairwoman; "Sex Education Programs," Dr. Charity Runden, director of the human sexuality institute of MSC; "Women in the Arts;" "Cultural Development," Mrs. Helene Ross, assistant professor of fine arts, Patricia Kone, author.

Paper Chemicals Division

American Cyanamid Co. Dr. Lillian Rosenberg, campus physician; "Women in Careers," Mrs. Thomas Richardson, "Women in Volunteer Organizations," Mrs. Allan Crandons; "Tomorrow's Morality," Rev. Mary Green, Dr. Herta Spenser, MSC staff psychiatrist, Pat Merrick, Michelle Wade, MSC students.

Further topics include: "Service Trinity-School, Church, Government," Mrs. Shehla Anand, chairwoman; "Sex Education Programs," Dr. Charity Runden, director of the human sexuality institute of MSC; "Women in the Arts;" "Cultural Development," Mrs. Helene Ross, assistant professor of fine arts, Patricia Kone, author.

NEW BOWLE ROYAL

"Cosmopolitan" featuring the music of the 60's.

UPSTATE College

East Orange last June. He was the student teaching course. At the
during the involvement of Bill

THE COLLEGE BOWL

THE COLLEGE BOWL

"Cosmopolitan" featuring the music of the 60's.

UPSTATE College

East Orange last June. He was the student teaching course. At the
New Posts for New Schools

Montclair State College is reorganizing the administrative departments to attain its future goals and implement its present policies. The new structure will be composed of two vice-presidents to assist the president, a dean of students and an executive vice-president and provost.

The vice-president of the division of instruction will be responsible for the five proposed undergraduate schools as well as the two graduate schools. The purpose of this division is to provide the best possible academic life for MSC.

The concern of the vice-president of business and financial services will be the formula by which the goals of the college can be reached. This area will include directors of business services, of facilities, and an administrative assistant for the vice-president.

The dean of students will serve as a director of the various services offered to the student. His assistants will be the directors of counseling, housing, medical services, psychological services and student activities.

Responsible for a great deal of the growth of the college will be the executive vice-president and provost. He will be assisted by four vice-provosts. The department of admission, registration and scheduling will fall under his jurisdiction.

Directors of research and policy evaluation and formulation will be appointed to promote an atmosphere of creativity in the arts and sciences.

Under the vice-provost of information services will be the directors of the computer center, information and resources center and publication. This division will make available a diverse amount of information to the student body. Relations with the community services and development, Eight related areas will be included in this division.

Vice-President
Division of Instruction
Dean of Students
Executive Vice-President and Provost
Vice-President Business and Financial Services

WVMS Completes Control Board

By Chris Lohlein
Staff Reporter

The Voice of Montclair State, commonly known as WVMS, has built a new control board in an effort to increase the listening pleasure of the college community. Now installed in College Hall, the first all-campus broadcast using the new equipment was heard on Mon., Sept. 29.

Although a highly unusual project for a non-engineering school to attempt, funds were appropriated for the enlarged board last semester through the SGA by request of WVMS Chairman, Dave Kerr. The major technical work was done under the direction of George Sternmetz, consulting engineer, Bruce Gould and Andy Retz.

The total cost of parts and equipment was approximately $3,000, about half the price of a newly-assembled model. The most important aspect of this project was the construction of a console built to suit WVMS facilities and to provide room for future expansion.

One of the main goals of the Voice of Montclair State is to get as many people as possible active within the organization. The radio station broadcasts from 4 p.m. to midnight, Monday through Friday and from 1 p.m. to midnight on Sunday. Each student, however, works only one or two hours per week.

Under the jurisdiction of the Federal Communications Commission, WVMS provides a varied program of shows, without commercial interruption. Presently negotiations are underway to convert WVMS from AM to FM frequency.

The SGA Halts ‘Rights’ Vote

By Bill Flipp
Staff Reporter

The Student Government Association last Tuesday postponed voting on the document “Campus Policy Concerning Student Rights and Responsibilities” until Oct. 13.

Joseph Singleton, a former Montclair State student, claimed that not enough people have seen the document. “The SGA should have copies distributed as soon as possible,” he said.

“IT is in the interest of the entire college to have a document that concerns the status of students,” President Thomas H. Richardson told SGA legislature members.

The document was called necessary to protect the academic rights of students by Kenneth Traynor, SGA president. He went on to say that the document is “flexible” and can be changed to meet future needs.

The document was a joint project of the faculty, administration and students and was released during the summer.

The MONTCLARION notes with regret the passing of Miss Sandra S. De Vita, 20, a home economics major, on Fri., Sept. 26.

SONG OF THE LUSITANIAN BOGEY

October 7
8:30 p.m.
Memorial Auditorium

Tickets on sale starting today 10 a.m. – 3 p.m., in the box office

$1 MSC students
$2 others

sponsored by

COLLEGE LIFE UNION BOARD
It's not too often that progressive steps are taken in New Jersey higher education. And when they do come "it is really hard to believe," to quote William L. Price.

Just a few days ago, Price was appointed to the Board of Trustees at Newark State College. There's nothing odd about that in itself, but Price graduated from Newark State last June and he's 26 years old.

Commenting on his precedent-setting appointment, Price was quoted as saying: "While the average member of the board (of trustees) brings his experience from industry and education, it is important to have someone who is a (recent) graduate as a member of the board to reflect the real point of view of students."

We agree with Price and wish him well in his new position. The MONTCLARION will expect Price to convey student opinion to the SGA hierarchy, thus opening the door for needed reforms at his college. Meanwhile...

At Montclair State, . . .

little or nothing has been done to get student opinion represented on our decision-making Board of Trustees as far as we know. Recent graduates of Princeton, Queens College and the City College of New York have found a place on their respective college boards. And with the trend going in that direction, Montclair State officials should swiftly investigate the possibilities of adding a qualified graduate -- or even a current undergraduate -- to the board.

Recently, Montclair State has established itself as a leader in progressive education. Currently, the college is in the midst of transition -- from teacher education to a multipurpose institution. MSC should not fall behind in one area while taking the lead in another.

Hence, the MONTCLARION calls upon President Thomas H. Richardson to the Board of Trustees at Newark State College. There's nothing odd about that in another.

Recently, Montclair State has established Whose Right and Responsibility?

How can the SGA legislature take action on a bill that student body is not familiar with? This statement issued at last week's SGA meeting by former student Joseph Singleton illustrated that adequate publicity and information has not been given to one of the most important bills ever to hit the MSC campus -- the statement on student rights and responsibilities.

Composed last spring through a joint faculty-student-administrative effort, the bill protects the academic rights of students through a flexible framework that can be changed to meet the demands of the time.

The hesitancy of the SGA to act on a measure which has not been fully publicized shows that these representatives are conscious of the representative power that has been invested in them.

However, the bill can't be postponed indefinitely and immediate action should be taken to insure that all students are fully aware of the responsibilities and consequences of this bill.

college roundup

Community Service Program Introduced

WAYNE -- Paterson State College has instituted a new program of studies entitled the community affairs semester. The academic part of the program will consist of two courses selected from the schedule of courses in the black studies minor. Six credits of field study will include participation in civic, educational, social or religious agencies under the joint supervision of the agency head or teacher and a member of the faculty.

A third facet of the semester will consist of a seminar for three credits which will emphasize student reports, critical evaluations and discussion of the field study portion.

Canadians Oppose Americanization and Quota System

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CPS) The Canadian Union of Students Congress voted almost unanimously to appose the Americanization of Canadian universities, but rejected a quota system that would directly restrict the number of U.S. professors teaching in Canada.

The delegates noted in a resolution at the 33rd CUS Congress that "a professor's ability to deal with Canadian reality is not always based on his nationality. Some of the American professors have the concepts and experience to understand that reality, and conversely, some Canadian professors -- often trained in U.S. graduate schools -- present an American discipline that has no relation to our Canadian reality."

A quota system also would not attack the other features of American influence that permeate our universities, delegates decided.

These include:

- Course content heavily loaded in favor of U.S. textbooks, concepts, and history (Canadian economics is taught largely from American textbooks.)
- Courses where Canadian content is deliberately devalued -- a University of Toronto graduate student often cannot do a Ph.D. on only one Canadian author.
- Canadian universities doing research for American corporations and military departments.
- The prestige positions of American universities in certain disciplines and their effects on Canadian teaching in those subjects.
- The Congress particularly objects to the heavy emphasis on empiricist and behavioral methodology imported from the U.S. into Canadian subjects.

The agenda for the November 3rd CUS Congress last evening.

Moratorium Plans Progress; 300 Sign Call

WASHINGTON. (CPS) - Nearly 300 student body presidents and editors have now signed a call for a Vietnam Moratorium -- a nationwide anti-war class and work boycott. The call, announced by the new "Vietnam Moratorium Committee," is for a one-day boycott of classes at all U.S. colleges and universities on October 15 to call attention to and move toward ending the Vietnam War. The committee plans to expand the moratorium to two days in November, three in December, adding a day of protest each month as long as the war goes on.

The Moratorium hopes to involve the community as well as the colleges in cities and towns across the country. Workers and businessmen are being asked to boycott their daily routine at least for a short time during the moratorium days.

The new Mobilization Committee Against the War in Vietnam has planned a national rally in Washington November 15 to coincide with the second moratorium day.

The rally, similar to the march on the Pentagon in 1966, will include a march from Arlington Cemetery to the Capitol building, according to tentative plans. Both militant and non-militant groups are supporting the Washington rally, while some militant groups (including some SDS chapters) refuse to support the Moratorium. The Moratorium action is too moderate, some are saying.

The monthly protests are to continue "until a negotiated settlement is signed for a definite timetable for bringing all American troops home from Vietnam is made," the committee has announced.

The MONTCLARION is published weekly throughout the college year, Saturday or Monday, by the Board of Publications, Montclair State College, Upper Montclair, New Jersey 07042. Second-class postage paid at Montclair, N.J. 07042.

NEWS EDITOR: Robert Kuhl, Don Pendley
FEATURES EDITOR: Ginny Saunders
Sports Editor: John Aanen
Drama and Arts Editors: Maurice Moran, Curt DelGroot
Makeup Editor: Anne Manning
Picture Editor: Lonhio Azuela
Copy Editor: Susan Dombinski
Circulation Editor: Colleen Delaney
Jounalistic Adviser: Michael F. K. Grcic

The editorial opinions expressed represent those of the editor-in-chief and managing editor unless otherwise signed.

The Montclarion. Serving the College Community Since 1928

The Montclarion--Paterson State College has instituted a new program of studies entitled the community affairs semester. The academic part of the program will consist of two courses selected from the schedule of courses in the black studies minor. Six credits of field study will include participation in civic, educational, social or religious agencies under the joint supervision of the agency head or teacher and a member of the faculty. A third facet of the semester will consist of a seminar for three credits which will emphasize student reports, critical evaluations and discussion of the field study portion.

Canadians Oppose Americanization and Quota System

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CPS) The Canadian Union of Students Congress voted almost unanimously to appose the Americanization of Canadian universities, but rejected a quota system that would directly restrict the number of U.S. professors teaching in Canada.

The delegates noted in a resolution at the 33rd CUS Congress that "a professor's ability to deal with Canadian reality is not always based on his nationality. Some of the American professors have the concepts and experience to understand that reality, and conversely, some Canadian professors -- often trained in U.S. graduate schools -- present an American discipline that has no relation to our Canadian reality."

A quota system also would not attack the other features of American influence that permeate our universities, delegates decided. These include:

- Course content heavily loaded in favor of U.S. textbooks, concepts, and history (Canadian economics is taught largely from American textbooks.)
- Courses where Canadian content is deliberately devalued -- a University of Toronto graduate student often cannot do a Ph.D. on only one Canadian author.
- Canadian universities doing research for American corporations and military departments.
- The prestige positions of American universities in certain disciplines and their effects on Canadian teaching in those subjects.
- The Congress particularly objects to the heavy emphasis on empiricist and behavioral methodology imported from the U.S. into Canadian subjects.

The criterion for hiring should be "a professor's concern with the needs of the Canadian people, rather than strictly (his) nationality," the resolution said.

The Montclarion--Paterson State College has instituted a new program of studies entitled the community affairs semester. The academic part of the program will consist of two courses selected from the schedule of courses in the black studies minor. Six credits of field study will include participation in civic, educational, social or religious agencies under the joint supervision of the agency head or teacher and a member of the faculty. A third facet of the semester will consist of a seminar for three credits which will emphasize student reports, critical evaluations and discussion of the field study portion.

Canadians Oppose Americanization and Quota System

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CPS) The Canadian Union of Students Congress voted almost unanimously to appose the Americanization of Canadian universities, but rejected a quota system that would directly restrict the number of U.S. professors teaching in Canada.

The delegates noted in a resolution at the 33rd CUS Congress that "a professor's ability to deal with Canadian reality is not always based on his nationality. Some of the American professors have the concepts and experience to understand that reality, and conversely, some Canadian professors -- often trained in U.S. graduate schools -- present an American discipline that has no relation to our Canadian reality."

A quota system also would not attack the other features of American influence that permeate our universities, delegates decided. These include:

- Course content heavily loaded in favor of U.S. textbooks, concepts, and history (Canadian economics is taught largely from American textbooks.)
- Courses where Canadian content is deliberately devalued -- a University of Toronto graduate student often cannot do a Ph.D. on only one Canadian author.
- Canadian universities doing research for American corporations and military departments.
- The prestige positions of American universities in certain disciplines and their effects on Canadian teaching in those subjects.
- The Congress particularly objects to the heavy emphasis on empiricist and behavioral methodology imported from the U.S. into Canadian subjects.
To the Editor:

Driving onto the campus this morning, I was treated to MSC's newest innovation in the field of parking facilities. I have found it convenient to park in the lot near the "recreation" lodge, but that morning was different. I was greeted at the entrance to the mud flats (the only route) by a pair of security guards who began to wave at me in what I took to be a friendly greeting. "A brilliant idea!" I thought, "what a way to really make the students feel cheerful in the morning." But when I got closer, I realized that their real intention was to deny me access to the mud flats. Their stated reason was that there were "spaces available in the Webster Hall lot." When I asked them if they meant to imply that there were none at my desired destination, they frowned and resumed their waving.

Because of the heavy endorsement given to the Webster lot before I arrived there, there were of course no spaces left at all. As a result, I was forced to park illegally. At this writing I do not yet know if I will receive a ticket. Also, I was late to my class.

Ordinarily, I could take these small setbacks without a whimper, but on my way to class, while walking through the parking lot which was my first choice, I counted 24 parking spaces. My car only requires one, but I counted them anyway. I imagine that there were probably many more spaces in areas of the lot that I had no time to inspect. Maybe I'm just being picky, but I believe that rerouting cars from partially empty parking lots to full ones is the most efficient use of security guards. Perhaps they might be employed protecting our scenic university roadblocks from Indian attacks.

Gary P. Novoseletski, chemistry '70.

Karyn Sauvigne: Opinion Right

Dollars to Washington

One of the greatest pitfalls of our present modification of federalism is the waste of money. It comes from the sending of a great proportion of our tax dollars to Washington and then trying to get the states in the position where they must petition the government for grants in order to be prosperous.

This is the same money, to be sure, but less of it because it has been used to pay salaries to the network of administrators whose official job it is to decide how the federal revenue will be spent and by whom.

In this way not only do many states lose a percentage of the money they should be getting by extracting in taxes, but the grants-in-aid given by the federal government are of such a nature that the states must spend the money as Washington sees fit.

Many local governments are therefore prompted to undertake projects which they cannot afford or which are not of first priority by the promise that their funds will be matched by the federal government.

STRINGS ATTACHED

Of course there are strings attached to these government appropriations--a state or municipality must spend this money (both its own and that which has come from the capital) in accordance with the dictates of Washington.

In its attempt to dictate to all the areas of the nation this sort of cooperative federalism tends to ignore the diversity of individual persons and situations within the country. Washington, D.C., cannot predict with accuracy the needs of each state, county, and/or municipality, and for this reason the grant-in-aid system is an abridgment of the rights of the states and the people who reside therein to determine how their own money will be spent.

Pentagon's Revolution

By L. Edgar Prina
Cosley News Service

WASHINGTON -- Name, rank and Social Security number. How does that sound to you?

Well, it may lack a certain rhythm and familiarity, but that's the way it is now for the more than 3.4 million men and women of the armed forces of the United States.

After two and a half years of preparation the services now are using the Social Security account number (SSAN) as the primary identification to replace the military identification number for all automated data systems, particularly for pay and personnel records.

This leisurely revolution is expected to save time and money--and headache pills for the Pentagon's computer corps, the largest in the world.

TWO HYPHENS

Use of the uniform, 11-digit (you count the two hyphens) SSAN will cover retired and reserve personnel as well as those on active duty.

Defense officials, who have been receiving critical mail from sentimentalists and crackpots, take pains to point out that U.S. military personnel are not being stripped of their serial numbers. "Why take it away," said William B. Robertson, an official in the Pentagon comptroller's office. "They can keep their serial number on their tombstones, frame it, put it on their stationery or whatever, but they are not going to change their dog tags, I.D. cards or historical records."

The Army and Air Force are the only services which have actually stopped issuing serial numbers to new personnel. The Marine Corps will continue to give out the numbers for another year and the Navy until the end of 1969.

Robertson explained that the Marines have a few personnel who don't have SSANs and wanted the extra time as a safety measure when transferring them from the old to the new system. He said he believed the Navy had a problem with its reserves it wanted to solve.

As one enters the shopping area from route 23 northbound, one has no conception of the labyrinthine adventures awaiting. And for one who is familiar with shopping at Sears or Bamberger's, which have been open-for almost two years, the conception of covered walkways and glass panels between shops is startling.

Of course you can now move your coat and umbrella in your car, if you can find a local parking space, and dash under the protecting portals to spend hours and hours beneath wood and glass.

Free multi-colored postcards distributed by welcome women made sure that your family knew where you had gone on the night of Sept. 24. And music, both piped in and in-person added to the carnival crowd. And, there were vendors selling soft drinks for 25 cents apiece, double-dip ice-cream cones being sold and符号 from a corner Barraccini booth reminiscent of a New York subway shop.

But perhaps the most obvious spectacle of the mall is a centrally located set of pools complete with flora above which wooden sets of steps, intricately angled lead up to the mall's upper level.

These pools, equipped with iridescent lights, outside the fountain at the Fashion Center, Paramus's claim to high fashion and high price, boasting the famous Fifth Avenue shops. Naturally the Fashion center, located on route 17, was built to outdo the Garden State plaza and the Bergen mall. Obviously, the Willowbrook mall was built to outdo all of them.

SEE THEM ALL

But Willowbrook's uniqueness is not its shops for once you've seen chain store merchandise at one outlet, you've seen them all. Another claim to fame is its interior design combining wooden architecture within its crossroads. It does combine an outstanding bit of shopping to suburban Wayne bringing relief from the Empire State city or the downtown Newark tangle. There is Franklin Simon and Ohrbach's for the specialty shopper; Broad street's for the discriminating taste and Ramoan's for the half-size woman.

To sum up: Something for everyone--provided you can find a parking space. And garish though the opening crowd was, with the smell of paint still in the air, Willowbrook will undoubtedly become the hub of north central Jersey shopping.

And if Ohrbach's night manager said he's willing to purchase stock in the two-level mall's construction company, something must be going right.
Hilarity is the watchword of the evening

Review By
Maurice J. Moran

Drama/Arts Editor

Neil Simon is a very funny fellow, right? So he started off in comic writing and ended up doing fantastic things like “The Odd Couple” and “Promises, Promises.” Or like the high fellow, right? So he started off in the Park” by MSC Players. In order of appearance, the next character to appear is the telephone repair man in the person of R. Scott Watson. Watson had the job of portraying the “nervous” character and this ability added a new dimension to the Bratter family squable.

Vigorelli played the delivery man from Lord & Taylor’s. Though not as old in appearance as the role demanded, Vigorelli completed a Herculean task – to be funny without saying a word.

CONQUERED DIFFICULTY

Paul Bratter was portrayed by Greg Zylka, and he was the group’s most difficult role, since Paul seems to be the comic straight man, the person to whom the funny lines without meaning to be funny. And here, Doucet, through excellent timing of delivery, quick entrances and exits, gave a fresh approach to the normal state situation comedy,新颖ly.

Vic Velasco, who is either “a practicing girl attacker or a very old man with a blue beard,” was Tom Lesko. Lesko was excellent in the role, giving off with a voice and stature that added to the pantheon of that play, the lyric of the play.

ROLL IN THE ISLES

Lastly, But certainly not least, was Mrs. Banks, Corie’s mother. Barbara Scholz was in this role and was beautiful. Perhaps that was the only problem. Too pretty to be a graying, 50-ish mother-in-law, it took awhile to get used to it. But once we were settled, we could roll in the aisles when she found the “music” and “love” scene. She did roll.

No cure for ‘Portnoy’s Complaint’

Portnoy’s Complaint
Philip Roth, New York

When a literary authority of the stage and screen reviewed new play recommends such a book as “Portnoy’s Complaint” you instantly know it can’t be all good (although she did say she wouldn’t want to shake the adn.)

Ever since his first, “Goodbye Columbus,” Philip Roth has been regarded as an author with a good foundation on which to build bigger and better things. To date he hasn’t.

DISGUSTING

The reviewer has the same reaction to his three novels following “Goodbye Columbus,” -- an incomprehensible expression of disgust accompanying the final pages of the book. This was more true in “Portnoy’s Complaint” from the time when Alex Portnoy proclaims himself the “Raskolnikov of Jerking-Off” (be dures to equate himself with the delicious hero of Dostoyevsky’s novel!) to the scream that ends the work.

Especially here one notices the inadequacy of the novelist. Portnoy, after fun-filled years of masturbation, is left with the perennial Jewish mother, is relating his sordid life to a “drunk” leading to a mental collapse. Any reader should be able to notice the gradual build-up to this breakdown. One supposes Roth had to finish the book somehow.

Roth, however, is an excellent short story writer, perhaps because he must focus on the structure of the short story. But these shorter writings witty, entertaining, concise and meaningful. Wittiness is the only virtue of “Portnoy’s Complaint,” especially in the scenes dealing with his parents.

LOX AND SOUP

It was here that Roth was at his best in “Goodbye Columbus,” dissecting the modern for not so modern Jewish family. His first book was not long enough for the author to explore this subject in depth, for the family scenes did not smack so much of gefilte fish to me. Some of the scenes dealing with New York City’s Jewish life, however, the pages reek of lox and chicken soup.

He should have condensed the book into a short story, concentrating on eight or Alex Portnoy’s parents and juked the rest for it is boringly concerned with Alex’s problems or, rather, his penis. Roth, however, is an excellent short story writer, perhaps because he must focus on the structure of the short story. These shorter writings witty, entertaining, concise and meaningful. Wittiness is the only virtue of “Portnoy’s Complaint,” especially in the scenes dealing with his parents.

A new major playwright!

Charles Gordone

‘A new major playwright’

Review By
Glenn Ostergaard
and Neil T. Nicastro

The theatre has found a new major playwright in Charles Gordone. His “No Place to Be Somebody” at Joseph Papp’s Public Theatre combines raw vitality with sophisticated skill to produce an uncommon dramatic experience.

Gordone’s strength is definitely not in the construction of his plot, which is a melodramatic affair, reminiscent in setting and purpose of O’Neill’s “The Iceman Cometh,” that rambles over three long acts. His strengths emerge in his sharply drawn, intensely human characters and rich language.

The play is both timely and timeless. It concerns itself with the problems the black man faces as well as honestly evaluating those problems he has made for himself. Yet it focuses in on something more universal, man trying to reconcile his illusions with reality. Gordone’s keen insight and humanity in this matter makes the play an optimistic soul brother to O’Neill’s “Iceman.”

Top hits, satire and bleeps make ‘Music Scene’

Special to the Montclairion.

This is something to which one soon becomes accustomed. But the greater depth is the one that decides on the life and death of the TV serial itself.

Last spring welcomed the demise of “Peyton Place” and mourned the death of “Judd for the Defense.” But perhaps the worst tragedy of all was the funeral for “The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour.”

The battle over what causes the death of the latter is still raging from the pages of Playboy to those of the Congressional Record. WNEW (Metromedia) recently added more ammunition when they broadcast “the show that got them thrown off the air.” The controversial guest was David Steinberg, satirist supreme, who had already caused a furor with a monologue on Moses (“Who shall I say sent me?”) asked Moses. “Tell them,” said the Lord, “I am that I am.” Oh, that’ll clear it up.

STEINBERG LIVES

At any rate, the Brothers Smothers may be lost forever, but David Steinberg has found salvation. As ABC unveiled its fall program, Steinberg played up as host to the new “Music Scene.”

And the show may well be worth it, if not for anything else than to introduce the great names of the pop music sub-culture. The first show, for example, introduced the likes of Crosby (from the Byrds), Stills (from Buffalo Springfield), Nash (from the Hollies) and Young, the group whose “Murikesh Express” broke the generation gap. It also introduced Oliver, the man who confused everyone about “Good Morning Starshine,” singing the theme from “The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie.”

The climax to the show was a tape of the Beatles, singing the “Ballad of John and Yoko,” a song that was banned from most airplay because of the name “Christ” used in its chorus. Then the tape switched to John and Yoko and the Plastic Ono Band in Montreal singing their hit, Peace.”

ABC is not perfect, however, in all their liberality. Taking a cue from Johnny Cash (“A Boy Named Sue”), when we heard the Beatles, Jesus Christ was bleeped for the first time in history.
Name Rodgers Fencing Captain

Dale Keith Rodgers, a senior from Franklin Lakes (NJ) has been elected captain of the Montclair State College's varsity fencing team for the fourth consecutive year.

Dale Rodgers, the youngest participant in the trials, finished 15 in a field of 40 candidates.

Dale Keith Rodgers, a senior phys ed major, executes an advanced lunge position during a practice session the other day. Rodgers was elected captain of MSC's swashbucklers over the summer for the fourth consecutive year.

Hancyz, De Fillipis Stand Out

As MSC Downs ESSC, 4-2

By Paul Kowalczyk

Staff Reporter

The Montclair State College soccer team, ranked 20th in the nation by the Intercollegiate Soccer Football Association of America, defeated East Stroudsburg 4-2 last Saturday at ESSC. It was the first regular season game for the Vanities booters. East Stroudsburg is 1-1. Women Hancyz and Tony DeFillipis, two freshmen, were the game's standouts. DeFillipis scored on a 28 yard picture goal in the second period, and also assisted on another goal. Hancyz played a tremendous job in the Vanities' defense. DeFillipis put in his 28 yard shot past the ESSC goalie.

Montclair didn't lose its scoring punch during the half time break. Jean Charles scored MSC's fourth goal just 30 seconds into the second half. East Stroudsburg broke into the scoring column with two goals in the first half, after Kadozba's goal.

Soccer coach, Len Lucenko, commented after the game that "we played fairly well in spots, but consistency was lacking."

The MSC junior varsity team lost to ESSC 4-0.
Don't Miss OUR ANNUAL BACK TO SCHOOL SALE

OIL AND ACRYLIC COLORS
SAVE 20%

MARKERS
SAVE 20%

OSMIROID SKETCHPEN
SAVE 20%

Again our annual sale features discounts on those items which every student needs.

DRAFTING MATERIALS, INC.
233 Washington St.
Newark, New Jersey 07102
(201) 642-5310

STORE HOURS:
9:00 a.m. - 5:45 p.m. Mon. thru Fri.
9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. Saturday
Closed Sunday

Sale dates: NOW to Oct. 31, 1969

By Mike Galos
Special to the Montclarion.

The MSC Gridiron 11 was brought back to earth Saturday when the Indians come soundly beaten by a rough Delaware State Club, 28-9, in Dover, Del.

Upset victors over East Stroudsburg last week, the Indians were the team that was upset this time as they entered the game as 5-point favorites.

The Hornets asserted themselves early in the game as they lined up White on the Montclair offensive machine which had gained 292 yards on the ground against Stroudsburg. Saturday the Indians had 200 total yards, but only 51 on the ground against the fine Delaware State defensive front.

Steve Davis capped a 15 play, 79 yard drive when he hanged over from 3 yards out for the first Delaware score early in the first period. Dwight Boney kicked the first of his four conversions of the afternoon.

The next score came on a 40 yard T.D. strike from freshman quarterback Keith Burke to Sam Waters, Boney's PAT making the score 14-0.

Montclair State broke into the scoring column when Dan Rodgers booted a 40 yard field goal after a drive had stalled at the Delaware 23, making the score 14-3. The kick was the 17th field goal of Rodgers' career at Montclair.

Following the Hornet's three-pointer, Delaware State booziced back and drove 58 yards in 15 plays capped by Davis' second TD, a one yard run, and the teams went into the locker rooms at halftime with the Hornets holding a commanding 21-3 lead.

The third period was scoreless, but Delaware got back on the scoreboard in the fourth when Len Hudson ended a 12 play, 46 yard drive with a one yard burst to pay-dirt.

Montclair State's last effort came late in the game when quarterback Bill Kulikowski tossed 21 yards to tight end Rollie Kascher for the Indians first and only TD of the afternoon making the final score 28-9.

The Indians lost more than the game as some key players were injured. Their injuries could make a difference in the remaining games. Defensive end Dennis Reardon dislocated his ankle and is likely lost for the season. Linebacker Pete Contaldi suffered a concussion and probably won't suit up for the Curry Game Saturday and Larry Adams, the other linebacker damaged his knee and his status is unknown.

So, the Indians come home, looking to 'get better' against Curry College Saturday night at Sprague Field. Game time is 8 p.m.

World Tourney in Dominican

Biggest Thrill for MSC's Rossi

Despite the disappointment of losing the final contest of the 17th annual World Amateur Baseball Tournament to Cuba, 2-1, Montclair State College's All-American catcher, Frank Rossi, got the biggest thrill of his star-studded career playing for the United States nine in the Dominican Republic.

In this time of draft-dodging and the feeling of Yankee Imperialism, Rossi unabashedly said, "It was the greatest thrill of my life to be a member of the United States team in this worldwide tournament."

The former Watchung Regional High School standout played a key role in the U.S. team's success hitting a lofty .440 with nine hits in 22 trips to the plate. The Montclair State catcher had two doubles and a homer. The homer came with two men on base in the U.S.'s win over Columbia. In all, including three exhibition games in Florida, the United States nine posted a record of nine wins and the loss to Cuba. Coach Jack Kaiser's U.S. Team finished second in the tournament followed by the Dominican Republic and Venezuela.

Rossi who split the catching duties on the U.S. squad with Larry Lubla of St. John's, was amazed by the public support of the tournament held in the Dominican Republic. The opening contest in which the United States played against the host team, the Dominican Republic, drew 12,000 fans. The championship game with Cuba drew an extremely vocal 25,000 fans.

Rossi had high praise for the playing facilities used in the tourney. The three fields used in Santo Domingo, San Pedro and Santiago were major league in every way. While Rossi indicated there were no accidents among the players of the competing teams, the United States squad got its share of boos from the fans. Rossi pointed out that the fans were most vocal during the opening night ceremonies. The fans let go with the boos during the raising of the U.S. flag and the playing of the Star Spangled Banner. "It did not bother the team at all. It just made us play a little harder," Rossi pointed out.

An experienced college catcher, Rossi was amazed the way the umpires allowed the pitchers in the tournament to pick runners off base. Under American baseball rules, every one of the pitchers would have been charged with a balk according to Rossi. Rossi had high praise for the United States coaching staff headed by Kaiser, St. John's University mentor. Other members of the staff were, Danny Litwhiler, former major leaguer now head coach at Michigan State, Hal Smektzly of Florida Southern and Ron Fraser of the University of Miami.

MSC becri"