Constitution Election Begins Tuesday

Legislature Structure, V P Organization Are Questions

By Don Pendley
News Editor

Student Government Association constitutional changes concerning vice-presidential organization and the number of legislators in the SGA Legislature will be presented to the student body in an election beginning Tues., Dec. 9.

In an emotion-tinged meeting yesterday afternoon, the Student Government Association held a 1 ½-hour discussion on the date of the elections and the wording of the questions.

The MONTCLARIon will publish a special issue on Mon., Dec. 8, providing an in-depth examination of the questions to be voted upon in the Tuesday election.

Also on the ballot in the referendum are the student acceptance of the SGA articles of incorporation, and questions on the pedestrian mall, Vietnam moratorium and cut policy.

If the changes are made, the current position of vice-president, held by Greg Doucette, will be changed to the position of executive vice-president.

Two new posts will be created. These are:

Vice-president of academic affairs will be responsible for educational reform within the college. He will also coordinate the SGA legislature representatives who are elected as members of the five schools with the college.

Vice-president of external affairs will coordinate all community relations and service programs. He will also be responsible for the coordination of all national, international and statewide SGA affiliations.

The position of executive vice-president will be, as it is currently, a position elected by the entire student body in the spring of each year. The vice-president for academic affairs and the vice-president for external affairs will be appointed by the SGA president and subject to two-thirds approval of the SGA legislature.

Included in the bill, in addition to the vice-presidential organization, is a change which would limit the number of representatives to 75 persons. There are currently 38 SGA representatives, although the group has not reorganized to include the departments formed by the creation of the five MSC schools.

Mall Will Open in Emergency Conditions

Montclair State's pedestrian mall will be left open during emergency campus weather conditions it was disclosed by Mr. Vincent B. Calabrese, vice-president of business and finance.

Calabrese stated that "security will assess the road each day in the event that icy conditions should occur and will open the mall in any emergency conditions." He added that it is the responsibility of the security force to open the mall.

Calabrese's announcement came at a meeting of the physics-earth science advisory committee, composed of a group of students who wish the mall to be opened during peak traffic hours on campus.

The committee argued for the opening of the mall pointing out that the road leading from the freshman lot to the lots in front of Partridge Hall is a road hazard during the winter months.

The committee placed the blame for the morning traffic jams near Webster Hall on the mall, and also stated that the traffic behind the library is unsafe to pedestrians.

Calabrese stated that "a few students may be inconvenienced by the pedestrian mall "but that it has become a convenience for the maintenance department whose trucks may enter or leave the mall area quickly and easily.

Suggestion was made for an SGA committee to be formed to review arguments for and against the mall. According to Calabrese, a recommendation from SGA with adequate student support for opening the mall during peak hours would be sufficient cause for opening the mall.
Shared Responsibility Is Object

By Celeste Fasone Staff Reporter

What effect does religion have on the American society? Father Thomas Davis, Newman chaplain at Montclair State College believes that "shared responsibility" is the objective of religion in society.

In the informal, relaxed atmosphere of the Newman House, Father Davis is dressed in casual blue jeans and a sweatshirt as he talks about the religious issues of the day. His religion is the Baha'i Faith, which he explains as a "universal religion" that transcends all boundaries of race, culture, and tradition.

"In the Baha'i Faith, we believe that religion is meant to help people to grow as individuals and as a community," said Father Davis.

According to Schnitzer, many young Jews do not have a deep understanding of their tradition and accordingly find it difficult to relate it to the greater society in which they live.

"Judaism is not merely a religion but a "way of life" concluded the Rabbi which "when one follows and sees the relevance to the problems of this century." Religion in our society becomes "issue oriented" according to Rev. Robert Castle, Protestant chaplain.

Contemporary society, he suggested, "perhaps more religious than ever before, not institutionally oriented but concerned about problems of religion and religious issues of peace, justice and equality.

The emphasis on the institutional church comes about because people are threatened and some are angry. "The institutional church should die with dignity because it may not be relevant in today's society," suggested Castle.

In conclusion Castle suggested that perhaps spending time to reform the church may be the best in all. "Investment should be made in people, not buildings," said Castle.

RELIGION

Church's Change Is Part of Growth

By Linda Monaco Staff Reporter

“Our liturgy is the Mass. It is a celebration of what we are as Christians in Christ. In the Mass, we have Christ giving of himself. These are the ideas that must be conveyed to the people. And we hope to convey these ideas better by means of the upcoming changes in the Mass.”

In his office at Newman House, Rev. Thomas Davis, the Catholic chaplain at Montclair State College, spoke about the changes in the Mass that will affect the Catholic churches. The proposed time for activating these changes is Palm Sunday, April 3, 1970.

At his desk, surrounded by a few religious books and some of the changes that will soon be put into effect. He explained that the Mass will have a new liturgy, new music and an active participation of the people.

Davis also mentioned that other changes will take place in the church of the future. "Perhaps the institutional church comes about because people are threatened and some are angry. "The institutional church should die with dignity because it may not be relevant in today's society," suggested Castle.

In conclusion Castle suggested that perhaps spending time to reform the church may be the best in all. "Investment should be made in people, not buildings," said Castle.
Administrators Fired

PSC Students Plan Strike

By Roberta Kuehl
News Editor

WAYNE - Paterson State College students plan to renew their currently suspended strike today if no administrative action concerning the firing of six members of the student personnel department takes place.

John Aliferi Jr., SGA president, called for the strike Nov. 25 following the Board of Trustees' failure to grant student demands. The strike was suspended last Wednesday pending the outcome of the negotiations. However, a student observer remarked that if the demands were not met, there will be "one hell of a strike, much bigger than the one we had before.”

The strike originally began over student demands, including the contract renewals of six members of the student personnel department; formation of a permanent committee - with student membership - to reorganize the student personnel department; power of the permanent board to recommend to the board of trustees action concerning employment and tenure status of all college personnel, and the composition of such a committee.

In a front-page editorial of the State Beacon, the Beacon Board of Control stated:

"We are sickened, saddened, and outraged by the action taken against Dr. Leo Altichuk, school clinical psychologist and adviser to the school paper, The State Beacon. Mrs. Conti, resident hall nurse; Mr. Aliferi, resident hall director and member of the student grievance committee; Dr. Leslie Kenworthy, adviser to the class of '70 and coordinator of off-campus housing; Mr. Ted C. Studerus, assistant director and member of the student personnel department; Miss Barrie Hodde, adviser to the class of '69; and Miss Ann Yusuf, adviser to the class of '70... It is strange that in this time of crisis on all college campuses, the only people in any position to deal with students are being let go.”

President James Kage Olsen cited several reasons for firing the six personnel at a Nov. 21 meeting with concerned students. The administration stated that the non-renewal of these personnel would "free up" the staff "working on La Montclarion."

The non-renewal of these people, is a way to enlarge the student personnel department... I am prepared to relate fully and honestly what I have heard from you people today, but I will not change my recommendation..."

One involved student sees a future increase in student power emerging from this strike with the possible formation of a committee with four students, faculty, and administrators that would decide which personnel get fired "from the President to the janitor.”

Instead of taking over buildings, most of the student body has been conducting peaceful demonstrations and stopping classes in session by chanting outside the doors. Glasbren and Torenton State have announced their support and may themselves strike.

At this point SGA is willing to compromise, although most of the student body is not and has changed its request to a demand. The administration has stated that it will negotiate, but will not guarantee rehiring the personnel or granting student demands for a committee.

Better Food Service

By Michael Traynor
Staff Reporter

Mr. Dale Jefferson, director of dining services at MSC, was given a vote of confidence at a meeting of the food service committee held last Wednesday.

"The food is looking better, the services are improving and we are in general agreement that there has been improvement of the food services in the past few weeks,” stated Joanne Hodde, SGA secretary and member of SGA food committee.

Jefferson has been to every meeting since the forming of the committee, Miss Hodde said, and she believes that he is making a "sincere attempt" to improve conditions.

On Nov. 17, a letter and a petition was presented to MSC President Thomas H. Richardson listing unsatisfactory conditions. The conditions listed were: "lack of chairs; shortage of tables; paper service in Freeman cafeteria; leaking ceiling; and dirty floors in the kitchen of Life Hall.”

A letter in reply by Richardson stated that it is his understanding that action on nearly all of these matters has already been initiated but there will be some delays regarding the floor in the kitchen.

Tonight's Poetry Reading

Features Original Works

By Lynn Cocci
Staff Reporter

A poetry reading of original works by SGA students this evening at 8:30 p.m. The reading sponsored by Quarterly (MSC's literary magazine), is to be presented in the fine arts theatre (L-135).

It will consist of works read by Mr. William Delli, assistant English professor, and six Montclair State students: Ron Micci, Jim Simmons, Sue Guastelli, Bill Fellenberg, Robert Mondello, and Gail Gallows.

According to Micci, the outgoing Quarterly editor, each of the seven will read aloud some of his own original poems during the program. In addition, chapbooks (small volumes of original writings by Montclair State students) will be given out to all who attend the reading.

The selection of poets for the reading was largely Micci's responsibility. Since they are all regularly published in Quarterly magazine, Micci has come into contact with their writings often.

In addition to this, Delli has had several of his poems published offcampus. Micci was quick to point out, however, that any poet on campus "who has enthusiasm or interest in poetry" could have been involved in the poetry reading as it was open to all.

Micci feels that the poetry reading, now in its third year at the college, "has grown into a sort of tradition." He believes that poetry has "become a serious commodity over the last few years," and that it is "definitely flourishing on the campus and in the country." This seems to be true at least on the Montclair State campus, where student interest in the poetry reading has increased over the last two years.

According to Micci, invitations to the poetry reading have been sent out to the English faculty and other individuals. However he pointed out that anyone is welcome to attend the program, as Quarterly hopes for a large turnout of interested students.
Organized crime in New Jersey has reached alarming proportions. So much so, that according to U. S. Attorney Frederick Lacey, the mob is muscling into every legitimate enterprise in the state.

Lacey, speaking at Seton Hall University the other day, said that "organized crime is taking us over" and added that the buying off of public officials is a common thing in New Jersey.

The mob, Lacey declared, will not take over a community until it has bought its necessary protection from local municipal figures for "a few rotten dollars." "Records were recently subpoenaed in a certain county reorganization." he added.

A 19-Year-Old Vote

Paterson State College's striking students have pointed up the not-quite logical thinking that often accompanies administrative changes in college reorganization.

That six members of PSC's student personnel department have not been rehired, according to President James K. Olson, led student activists to boycott classes last Tuesday. Olson's statement, released at a meeting with concerned students, was followed by his refusal to change his recommendation that the students personnel department members be rehired.

According to Olson, the non-rehiring of these administrators will pave the way for an enlargement of the PSC student personnel department. However, according to students, these six people are allegedly "the only people in any position to deal with student problems..."

State support has been given as and the chief of detectives committed suicide," Lacey cited.

And the federal attorney went on to say that in some cases the mob and county law officials are "so intertwined as to be indistinguishable."

We hope Gov.-elect William Cahill takes a close look into this horrifying situation. Organized crime is eating away at the governing institutions of New Jersey — and it's time to clean them up.

And while we're talking about state affairs, we see that the Voting Age Coalition of Trenton is not giving up too easily. David R. DuPell, coalition president, is now after a...

The coalition, which has its offices at 2 E. State st., Trenton, deserves support in its admirable fight to lower the Jersey voting age. Write to them and pledge your support for a new referendum.

With Deepest Sympathies

Glassboro and Trenton state colleges have announced their support of Paterson's boycott.

We also sympathize with Paterson State students, and, we realize that any expanding institution is bound to face reorganizational changes, just as MSC faces in the step from college to university status. But that change can be painful if, in the process, those administrators most respected by the students are the ones whose services are terminated.

What we recommend is a faculty evaluation board composed of students, administrators and tenured and non-tenured faculty. What's presently missing in rehiring procedures is the voice of the student.

We're hoping that Montclair State College administrators will take heed from PSC's experience and move to eliminate possible student confrontations before they begin. It can happen here.

It's Really Time to Clean Up

Organized crime in New Jersey has reached alarming proportions. So much so, that according to U. S. Attorney Frederick Lacey, the mob is muscling into every legitimate enterprise in the state.

Lacey, speaking at Seton Hall University the other day, said that "organized crime is taking us over" and added that the buying off of public officials is a common thing in New Jersey.

The mob, Lacey declared, will not take over a community until it has bought its necessary protection from local municipal figures for "a few rotten dollars." "Records were recently subpoenaed in a certain county reorganization."

The mob, Lacey declared, will not take over a community until it has bought its necessary protection from local municipal figures for "a few rotten dollars." "Records were recently subpoenaed in a certain county reorganization."

A 19-Year-Old Vote

Paterson State College's striking students have pointed up the not-quite logical thinking that often accompanies administrative changes in college reorganization.

That six members of PSC's student personnel department have not been rehired, according to President James K. Olson, led student activists to boycott classes last Tuesday. Olson's statement, released at a meeting with concerned students, was followed by his refusal to change his recommendation that the students personnel department members be rehired.

According to Olson, the non-rehiring of these administrators will pave the way for an enlargement of the PSC student personnel department. However, according to students, these six people are allegedly "the only people in any position to deal with student problems..."

State support has been given as and the chief of detectives committed suicide," Lacey cited.

And the federal attorney went on to say that in some cases the mob and county law officials are "so intertwined as to be indistinguishable."

We hope Gov.-elect William Cahill takes a close look into this horrifying situation. Organized crime is eating away at the governing institutions of New Jersey — and it's time to clean them up.

And while we're talking about state affairs, we see that the Voting Age Coalition of Trenton is not giving up too easily. David R. DuPell, coalition president, is now after a...

The coalition, which has its offices at 2 E. State st., Trenton, deserves support in its admirable fight to lower the Jersey voting age. Write to them and pledge your support for a new referendum.

With Deepest Sympathies

Glassboro and Trenton state colleges have announced their support of Paterson's boycott.

We also sympathize with Paterson State students, and, we realize that any expanding institution is bound to face reorganizational changes, just as MSC faces in the step from college to university status. But that change can be painful if, in the process, those administrators most respected by the students are the ones whose services are terminated.

What we recommend is a faculty evaluation board composed of students, administrators and tenured and non-tenured faculty. What's presently missing in rehiring procedures is the voice of the student.

We're hoping that Montclair State College administrators will take heed from PSC's experience and move to eliminate possible student confrontations before they begin. It can happen here.

It's Really Time to Clean Up

Organized crime in New Jersey has reached alarming proportions. So much so, that according to U. S. Attorney Frederick Lacey, the mob is muscling into every legitimate enterprise in the state.

Lacey, speaking at Seton Hall University the other day, said that "organized crime is taking us over" and added that the buying off of public officials is a common thing in New Jersey.

The mob, Lacey declared, will not take over a community until it has bought its necessary protection from local municipal figures for "a few rotten dollars." "Records were recently subpoenaed in a certain county reorganization."

A 19-Year-Old Vote

Paterson State College's striking students have pointed up the not-quite logical thinking that often accompanies administrative changes in college reorganization.

That six members of PSC's student personnel department have not been rehired, according to President James K. Olson, led student activists to boycott classes last Tuesday. Olson's statement, released at a meeting with concerned students, was followed by his refusal to change his recommendation that the students personnel department members be rehired.

According to Olson, the non-rehiring of these administrators will pave the way for an enlargement of the PSC student personnel department. However, according to students, these six people are allegedly "the only people in any position to deal with student problems..."

State support has been given as and the chief of detectives committed suicide," Lacey cited.

And the federal attorney went on to say that in some cases the mob and county law officials are "so intertwined as to be indistinguishable."

We hope Gov.-elect William Cahill takes a close look into this horrifying situation. Organized crime is eating away at the governing institutions of New Jersey — and it's time to clean them up.

And while we're talking about state affairs, we see that the Voting Age Coalition of Trenton is not giving up too easily. David R. DuPell, coalition president, is now after a...

The coalition, which has its offices at 2 E. State st., Trenton, deserves support in its admirable fight to lower the Jersey voting age. Write to them and pledge your support for a new referendum.

With Deepest Sympathies

Glassboro and Trenton state colleges have announced their support of Paterson's boycott.

We also sympathize with Paterson State students, and, we realize that any expanding institution is bound to face reorganizational changes, just as MSC faces in the step from college to university status. But that change can be painful if, in the process, those administrators most respected by the students are the ones whose services are terminated.

What we recommend is a faculty evaluation board composed of students, administrators and tenured and non-tenured faculty. What's presently missing in rehiring procedures is the voice of the student.

We're hoping that Montclair State College administrators will take heed from PSC's experience and move to eliminate possible student confrontations before they begin. It can happen here.

It's Really Time to Clean Up

Organized crime in New Jersey has reached alarming proportions. So much so, that according to U. S. Attorney Frederick Lacey, the mob is muscling into every legitimate enterprise in the state.

Lacey, speaking at Seton Hall University the other day, said that "organized crime is taking us over" and added that the buying off of public officials is a common thing in New Jersey.

The mob, Lacey declared, will not take over a community until it has bought its necessary protection from local municipal figures for "a few rotten dollars." "Records were recently subpoenaed in a certain county reorganization."

A 19-Year-Old Vote

Paterson State College's striking students have pointed up the not-quite logical thinking that often accompanies administrative changes in college reorganization.

That six members of PSC's student personnel department have not been rehired, according to President James K. Olson, led student activists to boycott classes last Tuesday. Olson's statement, released at a meeting with concerned students, was followed by his refusal to change his recommendation that the students personnel department members be rehired.

According to Olson, the non-rehiring of these administrators will pave the way for an enlargement of the PSC student personnel department. However, according to students, these six people are allegedly "the only people in any position to deal with student problems..."

State support has been given as and the chief of detectives committed suicide," Lacey cited.

And the federal attorney went on to say that in some cases the mob and county law officials are "so intertwined as to be indistinguishable."

We hope Gov.-elect William Cahill takes a close look into this horrifying situation. Organized crime is eating away at the governing institutions of New Jersey — and it's time to clean them up.

And while we're talking about state affairs, we see that the Voting Age Coalition of Trenton is not giving up too easily. David R. DuPell, coalition president, is now after a...

The coalition, which has its offices at 2 E. State st., Trenton, deserves support in its admirable fight to lower the Jersey voting age. Write to them and pledge your support for a new referendum.

With Deepest Sympathies

Glassboro and Trenton state colleges have announced their support of Paterson's boycott.

We also sympathize with Paterson State students, and, we realize that any expanding institution is bound to face reorganizational changes, just as MSC faces in the step from college to university status. But that change can be painful if, in the process, those administrators most respected by the students are the ones whose services are terminated.

What we recommend is a faculty evaluation board composed of students, administrators and tenured and non-tenured faculty. What's presently missing in rehiring procedures is the voice of the student.

We're hoping that Montclair State College administrators will take heed from PSC's experience and move to eliminate possible student confrontations before they begin. It can happen here.

It's Really Time to Clean Up

Organized crime in New Jersey has reached alarming proportions. So much so, that according to U. S. Attorney Frederick Lacey, the mob is muscling into every legitimate enterprise in the state.

Lacey, speaking at Seton Hall University the other day, said that "organized crime is taking us over" and added that the buying off of public officials is a common thing in New Jersey.

The mob, Lacey declared, will not take over a community until it has bought its necessary protection from local municipal figures for "a few rotten dollars." "Records were recently subpoenaed in a certain county reorganization."

A 19-Year-Old Vote

Paterson State College's striking students have pointed up the not-quit...
TO THE EDITOR

Group Decision on SGA Viet Policy

To the Editor:

As SGA legislators who were present at the meetings discussing the moratorium and drug policies, we'd like to present the true picture of SGA needs. Our "no comment" decision of SGA needs qualification. We, as legislators representing 4500 students on campus, felt we did not have the right to decide upon a moratorium because we felt it was a distinctively individual question, not a group decision. We felt, at that time, that we were representing our constituents.

Obviously we thought erroneously. A motion to suspend the rules in order to formulate an SGA policy was vetoed twice by our constituents.

For the second time, the tentative drug policy statement was passed out to the legislators in the beginning of the meeting. Action was requested at the same meeting, although we did not have either the time to read or evaluate it. Suggestions were made for the open drug committee to consider; however, we were not asked to take a stand. We were only asked on comment on the tentative policy.

We sincerely hope this clarifies our position. We suggest that in the future persons, before attacking our decisions, read the minutes to the meetings. Furthermore, we suggest that those columnists criticizing SGA attend our meetings held every Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the studio theatre. We are trying to do our best.

Karen Olson (math dept.),

Wendy MacPhail (fine arts),

Julius Wargacki (math dept.),

Sharon Henglich (class of '71),

John Burke (class of '70).

SGA representatives.

---

Tribute to a Decade

1966: Catholics, Cassius Clay and Batman

By Pat Romanchuk

JAMES BOND...

"Grand Prix," "Dr. Zhivago," and "The Sound of Music" were a few of the most popular American motion pictures in 1966. The James Bond movie "Thunderball," however, received the best response in the U. S. with an estimated investment, grossing $26 million on an investment of $3 million.

In China the "Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution" was started by Mao Tse-Tung in an attempt to rid the student body of the 72-year-old leader.

Florence, Italy, sometimes called the Athens of the Renaissance, was flooded by the caravels and the river, destroying many paintings and works of art, among them the "Crucifixion" by Ciboroe.

One of the most notable deaths in 1966 was that of the New York Herald Tribune. The paper closed down after an unsuccessful attempt at forming a corporation with the Washington Post Company and the World-Telegram and Sun and after the 140-day newspaper union strike, the longest strike in the history of any major U. S. city.

Aberfan, South Wales, suffered a far worse disaster when 116 school children and 28 adults perished in a mine-slag avalanche.

AND THE MINIS

In the fashion world the mod movement, introduced mini skirts, low slung pants, and wide, flashy ties.

Ken Traynor: SGA Commentary

Toward a Transformation

Power? Where is it at? For the last 50 years, the students of Montclair State College have built their education.

We started with a few hundred dollars. We began to develop student interest and educational organizations. Along with developing the many needed areas of learning and participation, we began to exert student opinion. Of course, at first we relied on a few concerned administrators to guide our decisions, plan our ideas, and censor our press. But we have gradually broken down the loco parentis ties.

At present, we distribute and regulate a half-million dollars in grants and try to concentrate student opinion and make it available.

Where have they been? The faculty has been doing just what good faculty do. Teaching. It is quite strange that all these years the faculty have been teaching and the students have been learning, yet they have never run across one another.

BRUISED FEET

The function of the administration has been to play the music. The dance making sure nobody dances too close together for fear of bruised feet.

The beat has changed. We are creating a university — five schools and students are being thrown together. Guess whose feet are going to be stepped on? Possibly, the unequipping department affiliated student that needs "daddy's" recommendation to make his way in life — no, impossible!

We cannot transform the university until we transform ourselves. We have been hearing for the past 50 years outside of the sacred curricula. "Hey, Professor F. W. Wantz, ask us to help you build." "Don't try to take what is ours and call it yours, unless we are willing to improve it together."

CENTRALIZED SGA

Do we need a strong centralized student government? The following is a quote from a student observer during the Columbia incident:

"There were no classes at Columbia today, yet whole departments had meetings to discuss the drive. Wound departments had meetings to discuss the drive. The entrance to '66ers' was a testimonial to the power of the past! The mark of a transformed society!"

"There has never been an effective student government at Columbia in the past, never an interest on the part of students in the practice of politics. The political organization of the student body has been the student government. That is the mark of a transformed society!"

"There has never been an effective student government at Columbia in the past, never an interest on the part of students in the practice of politics. The political organization of the student body has been the student government. That is the mark of a transformed society!"

The SGA is creating a vice-president of academic affairs to function as a liaison between students of the developing schools. He will provide the communication and protection the students need.

December 3, 1966 — MONTCLARION —

Page 5

PARTNERS IN LEARNING: WIFE AND MILDS

SKI FREAKS

Grooming, singles, post lodge at Hunter Mountain. Special Student Rates: Mon.-Fri. $30 per person, per day. Mon.-Sun. $45 per person, per day. Available for weekends. Call now for reservations for xmas and semester break vacations. 201-685-1414 for information. 7-11 p.m.
Men of Senate Present 'Odd Couple'
By Kathy Kayne
Staff Reporter

Around a large circular table a poker game is being played. The smoke heavily hovers over the heads of the intensely fixed eyes of each player as he awaits his turn. In walks Felix Ungar wearing an apron, carrying sandwiches and beer, emptying ash trays, and cleaning Life Hall lounge for one week. In addition, APO pledges recently cleaned Life Hall lounge for one week.

“A human rights committee was formed to bring out-of-state students feel that they are being aware of each other’s problems that students face and problems that students face and see any particular problem. But, they are only trying to fool themselves. They have not taken a real hard look at what MSC student on the Montclair-Chico exchange program, you may want to spend a year in the west coast. Both Chico State students and MSC students who have returned from California will be present at a meeting on Tues., Dec. 9 at 6:30 p.m. in C-316 to explain the dominant exchange program.

As of 1969 over 150 students have participated in the cross-country travel program including 41 students who are now enrolled in the program. Set up in 1961, the program was formed to bring out-of-state students onto the MSC campus.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA HOSTS REGIONAL CONFERENCE
Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity held its regional conference here last Saturday.

Over 100 men representing areas from New England to Virginia were present at the one-day program consisting of leadership seminars. Men of MSC’s chapter provided transportation and tours of the campus for incoming delegates.

Alpha Phi Omega is responsible for the distribution of the campus newspaper, The Arrowhead, running the used bookstore and the lost and found and trick-or-treating for UNICEF. In addition, APO pledges recently cleaned Life Hall lounge for one week.

Upcoming plans include the annual blood drive, a Christmas party for the men of ward 19 at Overbrook hospital and questionnaire to the Christmas dinner.

Drug Seminar
Sponsored By
Class of 70
By Linda Monaco
Staff Reporter

Drug will be the spotlight in a series of seminars to be presented by the senior class, according to Greg Studs, a senior and cochairman of the senior drug council. Miss Wasserman said that the seminars will present information and stimulate discussion.

Jane Caulfield

Human Rights Planner.

Annually the UN chooses a certain organization to head the planning committee for Human Rights Day in Montclair. This year, Miss Caulfield explained, they chose the Baha’is in Montclair.

She said that she volunteered for the position because of her interest in human rights as well as the spiritual assembly. Miss Caulfield noted that she had once worked on a similar committee for Human Rights Day in St. Louis and there she is presently a member of the Interfaith Encounter Group in Montclair’s Netapi community.

The celebration will be held at St. Paul’s Baptist Church, Elm street, Montclair. Admission is free.

He added, “we are not trying to take from one side and give to the other. We are trying to develop a process for making a more educational and comfortable community for all.”

The committee, according to Harris, relates to current American trends. At first, more blacks moved onto the MSC campus, the committee did not see any particular problem. However, he stated, “In view of the increasing number of discrimination, communication was needed to work things out that could possibly become problems in the future.”

Miss Gwen Taylor, also an MSC academic counselor and a faculty member on the committee, stated that, “creative ideas are discussed at the meetings. Innovations are found to create better working conditions.” She added, “When we receive complaints, we address ourselves to the instances and see something that can be done to create a better learning situation for all students.”

Giving some examples of actions at the MSC campus which do not promote this type of learning atmosphere, Harris mentioned the current student complaints in which some students feel that their participation has been slighted in certain intramural athletic events. He also related the case of a graduate student who “stopped and半岛里 interrogated by a policeman.” Harris explained, “This student came to the meeting some doubt as to whether he was receiving full benefit of the law. Questions as to whether he are set up for stopping students and what motivates an officer to ask for questioning students,” he added. “This incident is not a common thing, but if it happens to one student, there is cause for concern.”

Explaining the role of the committee in preventing misunderstandings, Harris said, “we are trying to establish a channel to which students can bring their complaints when they feel something is not right and hope to hear both sides of the problem, for many times what a student may be experiencing as discrimination may only be a pecadillo on the part of police to whom it is a matter of greater protection for that individual.”
New Haven, Conn. — University of Bridgeport halfback Derrick Warner, the leading rusher and scorer in the Eastern Football Conference, heads the fifth annual EFC All-Star team, selected by a vote of the conference coaches.

Warner is one of only three players to repeat as EFC All-Stars. The other two are defensive end Gerry Aquinotini and linebacker Ken Blazer, both of Central Connecticut.

The offensive has explosive running potential. Besides Warner, who was the leading ground gainer in New England, the running backs include Army Gainer of Glassboro and Tony Valpone of Montclair. All-Star quarterback John4 DeShoegoe of Bridgeport and Jeff Scheretz of Montclair; guards, John Paffiiano of Central Conn. and Al Avignone of Montclair, and center Ed Scalio of Glassboro.

A total of 13 players was named to the defensive team due to a tie in the voting at tackle and linebacker. Mario Harris of Glassboro was a unanimous choice at one tackle and Tom Neary of Bridgeport and Rich Dinamore of Montclair tied for the other spot.

Montclair linebacker Pete Contaldi was a unanimous pick and there was a three-way tie for the other two positions between Blaser, Dan Laurita of Southern Connecticut and Vin Kucinski of Glassboro.

The remainder of the defensive unit includes ends, Aquinotini and Isaac McKenzie of Montclair; middle guard, Bob Yates of Glassboro and defensive back Gary Reiter of Glassboro; John Moore of Southern Conn. and Joe Kosteki of Montclair.

Paskert stated. She added that the girls are eager to learn and have shown remarkable ability in practice.

The team had a record of 7-3 last year and was only six points from climbing season, losing two games by one point and another by four.

Miss Rose Marie Bataglia, instructor at Bergen Community College, assisted Miss Paskert in coaching to the team.

Although this may not seem very serious in reference to the animal, mentioned the expert, all life dependent on that species is also doomed.

Although this may not seem very serious in reference to the snowy white owl — a one time inhabitant of the New Jersey meadows — but an Alaskan oil pipeline to the U. S. east coast preventing caribou migration had a more immediate effect. Eskimos depending on the caribou for winter food were wiped out by starvation.

In other areas, land has become cluttered with garbage that the animal life to either migrate or die, and room for migration is disappearing.

All fish for human consumption inhabit the continental shelves (an area 200 miles off the coastlines). This area is also used for sewage disposal. Sewage seems to be able to bear fish to the water's oxygen supply, leaving the fish to suffocate.

New York City and Newark, like many American cities, have the problem of a sewerage system intended for one-third of the population it must serve. This means that instead of processing sewage through the proper three-stage method, one-stage seems to be all the cities have time and money for.

"People living in urban areas today don't know what water tastes like," remarked Ambry. "Instead we quench our thirst — with a chlorine solution, and our oxygen comes to us decked out in industrial pollutants and automotive carbon monoxide."

"Educating and informing the public is the first step in repairing the damage done to man and nature by man," concluded Ambry. The New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education is determined to do this. A workshop on environmental education will be held Dec. 13-13. Dr. Harry Hoitman, Panzer, and Dr. Lawrence Kenyon room C-306, can be contacted for details.

The offensive line, like the defensive line, does not have a man under 200 pounds. The ends are Frank Maggi of Glassboro, the EFC's leading pass receiver, and Roland Kascher of Montclair; tackles, John DeShoegoe of Bridgeport and Jeff Scheretz of Montclair; guards, John Paffiiano of Central Conn. and Al Avignone of Montclair, and center Ed Scalio of Glassboro.

Although this may not seem very serious in reference to the snowy white owl — a one time inhabitant of the New Jersey meadows — but an Alaskan oil pipeline to the U. S. east coast preventing caribou migration had a more immediate effect. Eskimos depending on the caribou for winter food were wiped out by starvation.

In other areas, land has become cluttered with garbage that the animal life to either migrate or die, and room for migration is disappearing.

All fish for human consumption inhabit the continental shelves (an area 200 miles off the coastlines). This area is also used for sewage disposal. Sewage seems to be able to bear fish to the water's oxygen supply, leaving the fish to suffocate.

New York City and Newark, like many American cities, have the problem of a sewerage system intended for one-third of the population it must serve. This means that instead of processing sewage through the proper three-stage method, one-stage seems to be all the cities have time and money for.

"People living in urban areas today don't know what water tastes like," remarked Ambry. "Instead we quench our thirst — with a chlorine solution, and our oxygen comes to us decked out in industrial pollutants and automotive carbon monoxide."

"Educating and informing the public is the first step in repairing the damage done to man and nature by man," concluded Ambry. The New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education is determined to do this. A workshop on environmental education will be held Dec. 13-13. Dr. Harry Hoitman, Panzer, and Dr. Lawrence Kenyon room C-306, can be contacted for details.

Environmental Education Aids Pollution, Population Problems

By Louise Palmer
Staff Reporter

"Educating and informing the public is the first step in repairing the damage done to man and nature by man," concluded Ambry. The New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education is determined to do this. A workshop on environmental education will be held Dec. 13-13. Dr. Harry Hoitman, Panzer, and Dr. Lawrence Kenyon room C-306, can be contacted for details.

disposing of waste materials, has killed a particular species of animal, mentioned the expert, all life dependent on that species is also doomed.

Although this may not seem very serious in reference to the snowy white owl — a one time inhabitant of the New Jersey meadows — but an Alaskan oil pipeline to the U. S. east coast preventing caribou migration had a more immediate effect. Eskimos depending on the caribou for winter food were wiped out by starvation.

In other areas, land has become cluttered with garbage that the animal life to either migrate or die, and room for migration is disappearing.

All fish for human consumption inhabit the continental shelves (an area 200 miles off the coastlines). This area is also used for sewage disposal. Sewage seems to be able to bear fish to the water's oxygen supply, leaving the fish to suffocate.

New York City and Newark, like many American cities, have the problem of a sewerage system intended for one-third of the population it must serve. This means that instead of processing sewage through the proper three-stage method, one-stage seems to be all the cities have time and money for.

"People living in urban areas today don't know what water tastes like," remarked Ambry. "Instead we quench our thirst — with a chlorine solution, and our oxygen comes to us decked out in industrial pollutants and automotive carbon monoxide."

"Educating and informing the public is the first step in repairing the damage done to man and nature by man," concluded Ambry. The New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education is determined to do this. A workshop on environmental education will be held Dec. 13-13. Dr. Harry Hoitman, Panzer, and Dr. Lawrence Kenyon room C-306, can be contacted for details.

Environmental Education Aids Pollution, Population Problems

By Louise Palmer
Staff Reporter

"Educating and informing the public is the first step in repairing the damage done to man and nature by man," concluded Ambry. The New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education is determined to do this. A workshop on environmental education will be held Dec. 13-13. Dr. Harry Hoitman, Panzer, and Dr. Lawrence Kenyon room C-306, can be contacted for details.

disposing of waste materials, has killed a particular species of animal, mentioned the expert, all life dependent on that species is also doomed.

Although this may not seem very serious in reference to the snowy white owl — a one time inhabitant of the New Jersey meadows — but an Alaskan oil pipeline to the U. S. east coast preventing caribou migration had a more immediate effect. Eskimos depending on the caribou for winter food were wiped out by starvation.

In other areas, land has become cluttered with garbage that the animal life to either migrate or die, and room for migration is disappearing.

All fish for human consumption inhabit the continental shelves (an area 200 miles off the coastlines). This area is also used for sewage disposal. Sewage seems to be able to bear fish to the water's oxygen supply, leaving the fish to suffocate.

New York City and Newark, like many American cities, have the problem of a sewerage system intended for one-third of the population it must serve. This means that instead of processing sewage through the proper three-stage method, one-stage seems to be all the cities have time and money for.

"People living in urban areas today don't know what water tastes like," remarked Ambry. "Instead we quench our thirst — with a chlorine solution, and our oxygen comes to us decked out in industrial pollutants and automotive carbon monoxide."

"Educating and informing the public is the first step in repairing the damage done to man and nature by man," concluded Ambry. The New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education is determined to do this. A workshop on environmental education will be held Dec. 13-13. Dr. Harry Hoitman, Panzer, and Dr. Lawrence Kenyon room C-306, can be contacted for details.

Environmental Education Aids Pollution, Population Problems

By Louise Palmer
Staff Reporter

"Educating and informing the public is the first step in repairing the damage done to man and nature by man," concluded Ambry. The New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education is determined to do this. A workshop on environmental education will be held Dec. 13-13. Dr. Harry Hoitman, Panzer, and Dr. Lawrence Kenyon room C-306, can be contacted for details.

disposing of waste materials, has killed a particular species of animal, mentioned the expert, all life dependent on that species is also doomed.

Although this may not seem very serious in reference to the snowy white owl — a one time inhabitant of the New Jersey meadows — but an Alaskan oil pipeline to the U. S. east coast preventing caribou migration had a more immediate effect. Eskimos depending on the caribou for winter food were wiped out by starvation.

In other areas, land has become cluttered with garbage that the animal life to either migrate or die, and room for migration is disappearing.

All fish for human consumption inhabit the continental shelves (an area 200 miles off the coastlines). This area is also used for sewage disposal. Sewage seems to be able to bear fish to the water's oxygen supply, leaving the fish to suffocate.

New York City and Newark, like many American cities, have the problem of a sewerage system intended for one-third of the population it must serve. This means that instead of processing sewage through the proper three-stage method, one-stage seems to be all the cities have time and money for.

"People living in urban areas today don't know what water tastes like," remarked Ambry. "Instead we quench our thirst — with a chlorine solution, and our oxygen comes to us decked out in industrial pollutants and automotive carbon monoxide."

"Educating and informing the public is the first step in repairing the damage done to man and nature by man," concluded Ambry. The New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education is determined to do this. A workshop on environmental education will be held Dec. 13-13. Dr. Harry Hoitman, Panzer, and Dr. Lawrence Kenyon room C-306, can be contacted for details.

Environmental Education Aids Pollution, Population Problems

By Louise Palmer
Staff Reporter

"Educating and informing the public is the first step in repairing the damage done to man and nature by man," concluded Ambry. The New Jersey State Council for Environmental Education is determined to do this. A workshop on environmental education will be held Dec. 13-13. Dr. Harry Hoitman, Panzer, and Dr. Lawrence Kenyon room C-306, can be contacted for details.
By Al Shipley
Staff Reporter

The Montclair State College football team, under the direction of first-year coach Clary Anderson, has completed its first winning season since 1964. Anderson, who has never had a losing season while at Montclair
High School, has put the Indians back on the winning track. The successful record of eight wins and two losses is a complete turnaround from last year’s 2-7 record.

This season the Indians captured first place honors in the New Jersey State College Conference and second place in the Eastern Football Conference. Montclair also earned a first showing in the balloting for the Lambert Bowl, which is awarded to the Division III football team with the most success for the year.

The well-balanced Indians were able to achieve their success due to a quick striking offense and a devastatingly tight defense. Montclair’s hard running offense was able to grind out 2,316 yards on the ground while scoring 16 touchdowns. Glen Morchauser, DON COOPER, and Tony Valpone were the work horses of the running game. The offense also gained 1044 yards through the air and scored 10 times.

The combination of Bill Kulikowski to Roland Kascher was good for five of the 10 scores. However, both the MSC offense gained 3360 yards and crossed paydirt 26 times.

While the Indian offense was scoring 207 points, the powerful defensive unit, coached by Tom Testa, only allowed 88 points to be scored against them. The sophomore dominated defense collected four sacks and gave up an average of only 8.8 points per game.

On every good team there are also individual standouts, and this was no exception with the Indians. The 1969 season saw four Indians named to the weekly all-East Division II and III football squad of the Eastern Coast Athletic Conference.

Tackle Tony Battaglino, for his performance against East Stroudsburg, Tony Valpone and Al Middleton, against Southern Connecticut State College, and Roland Kascher twice, against Jersey City State College and Southern Connecticut. Kascher also set the all time pass reception record for a Montclair player in one season with a total of 32 catches.

Young Wins Tourney

Freshman Tom Young is the winner of the second annual Lambda Chi Delta tennis tournament. Young defeated Jerry Fleishhacker in the final round of competition by scores of 6-4, 7-5 and 6-4.

Eleven men participated part in the tourney held on campus. It was announced by Donald Zuckerman, in charge of the contest.

PART OF A WINNING TEAM: MSC’s defensive backfield, from left: Pete Contaldi, Alex Kaplanovich, Jerry Fleishhacker in the final round of competition by scores of 6-4, 7-5 and 6-4.

Gents of the Press Eat at NYU

NEW YORK—Every Monday, the New York University Club houses the New York Sportwriters and Broadcasters Luncheon. Two weeks ago, I had the pleasure of being invited to one of these luncheons.

Accompanied by Athletic Director William Dioguardi and Head Football Coach Clary Anderson, we departed for the New York University Club at about 11:30 Monday morning. Upon arriving at the club, I immediately began to meet many prominent writers and announcers in the field of sports. There were also many collegiate football coaches and players present at the luncheon.

The first man I met was the person I was most impressed with. His name was Stan Lomax. Lomax is a sports announcer for WOR radio. The amazing thing about him though, is that he has been announcing sports for over 40 years.

There were a few other sportswriters and team announcers at the luncheon, such as Mort Lubow, the voice of Princeton football, and Bob Brown of WJJZ radio.

The coaches also proved to be interesting. Larry Nevil of Boston College was there, as was John Bateman of Rutgers and Frank Navarro of Columbia. An interesting part of the luncheon was a phone call to Rick Forzano, coach of the Naval Academy. Forzano was questioned by the press about his Army-Navy game. Such prominent sportswriters as Gordon White of the New York Times, Jim McDonald of Sports Illustrated, and Hirschel Nissenson, the sports editor of the Associated Press were also there.

The luncheon ended at approximately 2 p.m. The entire day proved to be very interesting and very enjoyable.

—Kowalczyk

Sports Commentary

Amateurism and Ineligibility in Sports Part III

By Paul Kowalczyk
Sports Editor

This week is the final part of the series on the Eastern Coast Athletic Conference amateurism and ineligibility in sports. The first six rulings have been discussed in prior columns. Now, we will discuss the last six rulings.

(8) If you have played ice hockey in a foreign country and fail to provide your amateur status.

(9) If you have participated in Canadian Senior “A” hockey or comparable American or foreign competition.

(10) If you participate in any athletic competition under an assumed name.

(11) If you fail to report to the athletic authorities of your college a bribe offer or an approach by gamblers or their representatives.

(12) If you accept compensation not commensurate with the going wage rate and services performed.

(13) If you accept compensation for instruction in physical education class in which you teach sports techniques.

(14) If you accept compensation on a fee-for-basis. The discussion of these two rulings by the conference is of the same nature as the points presented for ruling number two, accepting a gift or payment for playing, officiating, coaching, or teaching in any sport. (See issue 13, Nov. 19)

(15) If you accept an award other than designated under ECAC provisions.

This ruling seems to have no real necessity in the rulings on amateurism. The receipt of an award sponsored by a group not designated by the ECAC shouldn’t affect a player’s eligibility.

(16) If you accept remuneration for an appearance on radio or television, it is related in any way to your athletic ability.

This ruling can once again be seen discussed in uling number two of the first part in this commentary. Sports commentary has now completed its three part evaluation of the ECAC amateurism-ineligibility rulings in college sports.