Halt Proposed Shut Down of Utilities

Richardson Stops
Campus Heat
Shut Off

Action was taken last Friday against the proposal to shut off all campus heat and electricity from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sun., Dec. 7, during which time the electricity was to be connected in Partridge Hall.

A memo sent out by Mr. Richard O. Taubald, coordinator of men’s housing last Friday to all dormitory residents, stated that work on the steam heating necessitated this move. The memo suggested that students spend the day off-campus or at home, or to contact Taubald if the situation presented a serious problem.

Approximately 25 dormitory residents arranged to see Taubald and Dean Raymond Stover later in the day to express disapproval of the proposed shut off. Administrative spokesman mentioned that to postpone the shut off would cause a delay from two to four weeks in the completion of the building.

However, the students protested that the building was supposed to have been completed in August and that the heat was to have been hooked up during the Thanksgiving vacation.

It was reported that an administrator present at the meeting asked students if a guarantee was made by the building contractor that the building would be finished on schedule, would there still be objection to the shut off. Student spokesmen claimed that this was “ridiculous.”

Stover placed a call to President Thomas H. Richardson, who was in Trenton at that time. Richardson advised Stover to contact the building contractors and have them postpone the power shut off until the Christmas vacation.

Peace Vigil Set for
Dec. Moratorium

By Roberta Kuehl
News Editor

An all day peace vigil, to begin at 8 a.m. this Friday, is the major activity planned by the Student Peace Union (SPU) for the December nationwide moratorium to protest the war in Vietnam. To be held in Life Hall’s commuter lounge, the vigil will be conducted as an open forum. Those who hold different views concerning the war in Vietnam will be strongly invited to voice their opinions.

Since the members of SPU have pledged their monetary support to the Peacemakers Sharing Fund, for the families of draft resisters, they will be collecting money on Friday. Calendars produced by the National Farm Workers Association will be sold for $1 for the benefit of the grape pickers.

On Saturday, SPU members, along with 100-300 seminarians from the Union Theological Seminary, New York, will leaflet Montclair’s shopping area in support of peace. The group will meet at 10 a.m. at the Park street YMCA. Distribution of leaflets will continue until 4 p.m. Both faculty and students at the Union Theological Seminary have approved this circulation for peace.

A joint religious service for peace for Catholics, Jews and Protestants will take place on Sun., Dec. 21, at 8 p.m., at the Shomrei Emunah Synagogue, corner of Park street and Claremont avenue. This service has received the approval of the Montclair Council of Churches and will be open to the public.

For the third day of the December moratorium, Dec. 24, there will be no SPU activities scheduled to take place in the Town of Montclair since local churches have already scheduled services for that day.

However, it was suggested that SPU members contact their local religious leaders to make known their desire for peace. Armbands, peace buttons and/or signs were suggested as means of expression for individual members to display hope for peace.

SPU members Frank Lees, Patty O’Keefe and David Beckwith are in charge of this month’s activities.
Students Involved in Dorm Decisions

CUE Wants
Half on $182 Dorm Rise

By Linda Monaco

UNION - Hikes in dorm fees are on the minds of many dorm students in state colleges, according to David Lichtenstein, member of the executive board of CUE (Committee on Undergraduate Education) and features editor of the Independent, Newark State College's newspaper.

Lichtenstein said that CUE is working for the elimination of dorm-fee increases. He emphasized that he felt very "optimistic" that CUE will be able to stop any further fee increases.

Students are reacting against dorm fee increases because as Lichtenstein put it: "Why should we be made to pay now for what will not be built for two or three years? And why should one state college pay for dorms being built on another state college's campus?"

Lichtenstein states that many dorm residents feel that the state should subsidize the dorms. But according to Lichtenstein, Ralph Dungan, chancellor of higher education, feels that subsidization of the dorms by the state is in a form of "discrimination" against the other students. Lichtenstein added that Dungan feels that dormitory fees must be increased every year.

One good turn for dorm students has come as a result of the continued postponement of the meeting of the board of higher education, Lichtenstein said. "At least this assures the dorm students that there will be no rise of dorm fees for the spring semester," he happily declared.

But the dorm fee for next year will depend upon the vote of the Board of Higher Education. Lichtenstein explained that if things turn out unfavorably CUE will protest in some way. But he again emphasized his opinion that there is a good chance that further increases will not be initiated.

While speaking, Lichtenstein expressed his disappointment in the absence of representatives from Montclair State College at many of the meetings of the state colleges. He declared that last year when Jean Young was actively fighting against the dorm-fee rises, MSC was more involved in the cause.

Student reactions against dorm fee increases started last year as a result of the rise in dormitory costs at Montclair and Trenton State colleges from $818 to $1020. The students at Montclair, Glassboro, Jersey City, Newark and Paterson, all members of CUE, will retain the $818 dorm fee.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE: Although just a hole in the ground now, this is the artist sketch of Montclair's 16-story women's dormitory which will hold 600 resident students.

16 Floors of Air Conditioning
To Greet 600 Residents in '71

By Kathy Kayne
Staff Reporter

If passers-by on Valley road look up at the top of the hill, they may see what appears to be a large radio tower with the word "PIKE" printed on it. Do not be deceived, for what appears to be a tower is merely a construction device, used to lift materials for the new women's dormitory.

The new $5.5 million men's dormitory that will contain 600 beds is now being constructed by Charles Luckman associates. Construction began on March 14, 1969 and is estimated to be completed by Feb. 1, 1971, said Jerome R. Quinn, director of facilities at MSC. The site of the new dorm is in the vicinity of Webster Hall, located partly on the mountainside.

The dorm will have three wings - the middle tower containing 16 floors, the south tower containing 13 floors and the north, 10 floors. The entrance will be on the fifth floor because four floors will be located down the embankment. Said Quinn: "The site of the building gives a terrific view of the New York skyline."

Besides the 660 beds, there will be included in the building an air-conditioned dining room and lounge. Each room will have its own sink, but the lavatories will still be located at the end of the halls. "The beds will be constructed with bolsters," commented Quinn. "These bolsters are padded and will be added to the bed to enable it to be used as a couch and provide for a storage compartment," he said.

The architect for this job is Charles Luckman associates; the interior designers are Mitchell associates of Williamson, Del.

Dorm Councils

House Rules
Decided by Dorm Council

By David Kerr
Staff Reporter

If a male lives in Webster Hall, he can have a member of the opposite sex in his room with his door closed. At Christianity, in the women's dorms, the rules are similar. For instance, if a resident arrives late in the dormitory after a date, House Council (at its next meeting) will decide if she is to be penalized.

The Women's Inter-Dormitory Council makes policy decisions concerning all three residence halls. The Men's council is made up of residents from each dorm. The meetings take place every two weeks and the women are advised by Mrs. Lois Redd. House Council meetings are weekly and are presided over by the dorm president.

At Christmas time, the Women's Inter-Dormitory Council conducts a door decoration contest. Prizes are awarded at the best that the best door on the basis of originality and attractiveness and the best dorm. The prizes are awarded at the annual Christmas dinner by the food service.

Another big event in the dormitories is the spring and fall open house.

In Stone and Webster halls, the situation is somewhat different for there is no central governing board as in the women's dorms. However, each dorm's dormitory has its own Dorm Council. This is presided over by the president of the dorm council and the director of the dorm.

Webster Hall's dormitory council has been very active recently. Last year, with the help of the student administration, Webster Hall instituted a closed door policy in which women can be guests of the residents for certain hours on weekends. During the first year, the policy was instituted temporarily to see if there would be any problems. The plan worked quite well and now it is a permanent event.

Each men's dorm council meets once a week. The meetings are conducted by the president of the dormitory.

The issue confronting the newly-formed committee for the study of athletics concerns the kind of college to be "built at MSC," according to MSC President Thomas H. Richardson.

The 23-member committee was founded to study a possible split between the health and physical education departments and the athletic program. According to Dr. Harry H. Hoitsma, committee chairman and assistant professor of health and physical education, the committee will study all sides of the dispute and will make recommendations concerning the final status of athletics at MSC.

"It is extremely likely that the recommendations are those that will set the direction as far as the relationship between athletics and the health and physical education department." Richardson said.

Final action will be made on the basis of the scope of the committee's recommendations. Wide-sweeping recommendations will be acted upon by the Board of Trustees. "Mechanical recommendations" concerning relationships between people, organizations and departments will be reviewed by Richardson.

In all cases, Richardson stressed, committee recommendations will play an integral part in any final decisions concerning MSC's athletic structure.

The first informal meeting of the committee on Dec. 9 concerned itself with present athletic structure and tentative administrative programs.

Future topics to be considered will include personal policy, facilities, finances, public relations, organizational structure and men's and women's areas of physical education as relating to athletics.

In addition to the four original committee members, athletic committee membership includes eight faculty members, one representative from the Student Government Association, the Montclair Athletic Commission and the Women's Recreation Association respectively, three varsity sport representatives, two students from the physical education department and three students at large.

Four members of the original committee include Hoitsma, William P. Dioguardi, director of athletics, Dr. Richard Tews, health and physical department chairman and Dr. Hazel M. Wacker, director of health and physical education.

Faculty members, chosen at random from 50 applicants, include George B. Cury, assistant professor of biology; Donald B. Grega, associate professor of education; Dr. Howard L. Haas, professor of business studies; Frank S. Kellogg, assistant professor of geography; Dr. Morris G. McGee, associate professor of English; Thomas L. Millard, assistant professor of education; Robert C. Ramsdell, associate professor of geology and Vernacchia, associate professor of fine arts.

John Ansen, sophomore history major, will represent the SGA while Dolores Trotter, junior physical education major, will represent the WRA.

Health and physical education department representatives include seniors, Thomas Basalino and freshman Kathy Sweeney.

Men's varsity sports will be represented by Bill Kuklick, senior physical education major and Patrick Dyer, sophomore English major. Junior math major Jane Cowell will represent women's varsity sports.

Three students at large are Jack Pylesh, junior history major, Carol Sokowitz, freshman math major and Helene Zuckerbrod, freshman English major.

Greeks Sing on Friday

By Helene Zuckerbrod

Sixteen sororities and fraternities will participate in the 13th annual Greek Sing Dec. 12 at 7 p.m.

Sponsored by Dalphic, the program will feature three songs sung in two-part harmony by each organization. They are vying for the titles of best all around, first and second place sorority and fraternity. Defending champions are Kappa Sigma Rho (best all around), Lambda Chi Delta (first place fraternity) and Delta Theta Pi (first place sorority).

Performances will be judged on the basis of adherence to theme harmony and overall presentation. Three judges will be recruited off campus for impartiality.

According to Greek Sing Chairman Sheila Demovitch and Pat Likas, a special added attraction will be a pre-Cotillior performance by the Jerryjac Trio Agora will serve as ushers. The S1 ticket price is $2.50.

Tickets are on sale in front of Lift Hall cafeteria.

Math/Science Building Will Hold Observatory

"Radiation and counting labs for nuclear physics will be featured in the new building. Individual rooms where a student can perform his own experiments in chemistry or physics, under the guidance of a teacher, are also planned." This was assured by Jerome Quinn, director of facilities at MSC, regarding plans for the proposed math-science building.

Chemistry, math and physics-earth science departments have outgrown their quarters in Mallory and Finley halls. Construction of a new math-science complex will begin on Nov. 1, 1970.

The gravy plot in front of Stone Hall will then be churned into new quarters to house the School of Mathematics and Science, Quinn said. Biology and earth science will then expand in the existing facilities previously occupied by math, chemistry and physics.

Seated: in his small office heaped with plans and blueprints, Quinn immediately located floor plans for the proposed structure.

"Central air-conditioning and complete temperature control will provide more flexibility for planning rooms which will make the building more modern," he assured. "The structure will be able to hold more people," commented Quinn, "and provide a chance for more research and graduate work."

This building site was chosen to centralize the math-science area. Architects are presently drafting plans for the complex, which will then be submitted to the State Board of Higher Education for approval, then sent out to various contractors for bidding.

Construction is slated to begin on Nov. 1, 1970 and be completed by September 1972.

Regarding additional parking woes, Quinn ventured there will be no more problems than usual. Plans for a proposed multi-level parking garage which would require a yearly fee had to be postponed until enough money could be allocated for the project.

Students and faculty will form a new governing body that will be a first in the establishment of schools at MSC, and will directly affect the School of Fine and Performing Arts.

This new faculty-student governing concept, called the Senate, was proposed by Dr. Samuel Pratt, resident planner for the college, for the School of Fine and Performing Arts. This Senate will be composed of 27 members from the departments of speech and theater, music and fine arts for the purpose of enhancing student participation in the management of their school.

Dr. Benjamin Wilkes, temporary chairman of the Senate for the School of Fine and Performing Arts, enthusiastically commented, "this is the most exciting thing that has happened in school government in my lifetime. It will only succeed if the students actively participate in it," he said.

The Senate will be composed of faculty and student members from each department. There will be four faculty members, one graduate student and four undergraduate students from the three departments, totaling 27 with the dean of the school. The Senate will have equal power over all three departments. The chairman and deputy chairman of each department are members of faculty and student members from each department.

Student participation in decision making has been further implemented here as three of MSC's schools have voted to have equal faculty and student representation in their school senates.

According to Dr. Samuel Pratt, resident planner for academic affairs, this setup is the only one of its kind in the country where students have been given such a high degree of power in all phases of academic decisions.

The central planning committee of the School of Humanities has also agreed to place students on the committee which will select a dean for that school. We wholeheartedly endorse the move toward equal faculty and student representation. We recognize that the methods of school government which are under formation at the present time, will be the most important governing bodies in the future of Montclair State College.

We feel that the Student Government Association will also become obscured by school governing organizations which will have a closer meaning to the students involved. It is hoped that the remaining two schools will also enact the unique degree of student participation as displayed by the Schools of Humanities, Fine and Performing Arts and Social and Behavioral Sciences. We would like to see our college continue to lead the way in progressive participation.

The Most for

The time-worn cry of not enough funds for state colleges is more than true. Although a bond issue to give more funds to higher education, highways and state institutions was passed in November 1968, the actual amount of money to be given to Montclair State College for building purposes, $8.3 million, has shrunk in value due to massive increases in construction costs.

Since the state treasury will also face a deficit in funds by June, the state college budgets may also be affected causing double financial trouble. It seems that the new governor will be responsible to add to that treasury and this can only be accomplished by an increase in the sales tax. After all, Gov.-elect Cahill did promise that he would not inflict an income tax upon the citizens of New Jersey.

Obviously, the answer to an increase in state funds remains to be seen in the coming months.

Up for Grabs

We're certainly happy to see the swift implementation of the lottery system by the federal government. Usually innovations like the draft lottery would get hung up in bureaucracy for years. What's needed now, however, is a clear definition of the status of students interested in going to grad school. Special provision, we believe, should be granted to them.

If clear definitions can't be given at the present time by the Selective Service System, there should be immediate clarification as to grad-school deferments by Congress. The good and fair intention of the lottery will be marred by the unclear role given to grad students.

Progressive Participation

David M. Levine: Observer

Some "wiseacre" politician made a statement a few months ago regarding the fact that America is heading toward a mechanized society. The politician, who shall remain nameless because I forgot his name, had the absurd gall to state: "By 1970, we shall see a fully automated society.

If ever a catch phrase goes down the drain, I think that guy said it. "By 1970, we shall see a fully automated society." That guy said it. "By 1970, we shall see a fully automated society." That guy said it.

Early Library Closing Found "Disturbing"

To The Editor:

I am increasingly perturbed by one aspect of the MSC library situation. For some years I have been disturbed by the early closing hour of 10 p.m. and especially the weekend hours beginning with Friday afternoon closing. However, when I discovered that the Thanksgiving holidays that the library was closed not only Thursday but Friday and Saturday also, I immediately felt a need to once again express myself.

When the administration forum was held last year I raised this question and was duly advised that the problem is, naturally, a financial one: lack of funds to staff the building. I would now like to suggest to the administration that maybe students and faculty have not yet forgotten what a college at least ought to be. Was it not Dean Morehead recalling an academic ancestor at the freshman orientation three years ago when he said that a college needs first a dormitory, second a library and third a faculty? I would add, fourth an administration.

Then, might, our problem be a matter of first definition and second priority. Let's have an open library; it will be used.

Not Enough Greeks In The World

To the Editor:

I am disappointed with your recent decision not to include "W ith the Greeks" in the Montclarion, the school paper. About 1200 students are involved in the Greek organizations. Don't you feel you should be representing them?

Recently I have found the paper to be too wordy and not devoting enough time or space to the students who support the paper.

Critical of Criticism

To the Editor:

Since my comments may be biased, I'll start off by admitting that I am an editor of Seton Hall University's weekly newspaper, The Setonian.

However, as a faithful reader of the Montclarion, I was bothered by a letter to the editor on the Greek issue. I just assume SGA representatives were celebrated to be upset by the Montclarion, Seton Hall State College newspaper is critical of the SGA.

But the newspaper can't be critical of the student government, who can? Isn't the function of a newspaper to critically evaluate the services of the student government, especially when their actions are making the decision for over 4000?

Isn't a sad comment about the Montclair student government that criticism is resented rather than accepted.

TRIBUTE TO A DECADE

1967: The Hot Starts to Simmer

By David M. Levine

December 10, 1969 - MONTCLARION - Page 5

I remember 1967. It was the kind of year when things just didn't quite make it. I967 was one of the worst years in the world. I was sitting in a huge kettle ready to be turned into some kind of stew. If I lived, I know somebody would light the fire.

1967 was the fire. The carrots and celery became Vietnam and the middle-class dried up vegetables had a renewed life. The pot was simmering. This year, 1967, was branded on the minds of all as a year for two strange deaths: The city of Newark and New York City. I'm thinking of both of them too well.

I was sitting in my room on a Sunday afternoon. I was watching the attention to the clanging of fire engines and police cars that I could see past my window. The radio was on. It was soft music, WPAT-am.

DARKNESS AND RISING "Mayor Hugh Addonizio, mayor of Newark, N.J. declared this evening that a riot has broken out in the central ward of the city. Further details as we receive them." More soft music. Panic.

I looked outside the open window. I saw nothing, except darkness. I heard some laughter.

New York World-Telegram

Victory for Liberals

The Senate has exercised its Constitutional prerogative by defeating the nomination of叟 F. Haynsworth by a vote of 55-45. It was a victory for the liberal Northern senators who used character assassination and distorted facts to achieve their success. Up until the last several days we were predicting a close vote, with Vice-President Agnew playing a decisive role. However, of seven uncommitted senators all but one. Senator Wilbur Fulbright (D-Ark.) voted against confirmation.

It is interesting to note that five senators waited until the outcome was certain before voting, then going with the winners. This is one of the most disgusting acts taken in the Senate in recent years. It is one of the most important acts taken in the Senate in recent years. It is one of the most important acts taken in the Senate in recent years.

CONSERVATIVE PHILOSOPHY

Those five votes were just the end result of the months of carefully planned attacks upon Haynsworth's reputation and character. What provoked the ire of the liberals was the use of the filibuster by the nominee. He was antiliber, opposed to the present system of civil rights enforcement, and worst of all he came from South Carolina.

His antiliberal and civil rights positions gave the liberals the backing of the powerful labor lobby who were used as a persuasive device. This would not be enough to guarantee a majority, so playing upon the recent Abe Fortas affair, the liberals went about their way of discrediting Haynsworth in the eyes of the Senate.

They anxiously looked for a flaw in Haynsworth's past and soon found one. It was the apparent conflict of interest charge. Haynsworth was gone. Dope pushers and businesses were purged out of their apartments and small hotels in the central ward. The land was to be cleared for a new medical school - 24 acres worth. An insensitive municipal government had no plans to find homes for the 100,000 ghetto-residents that would be dispossessed by the construction of the school.

Anxiety, frustration, and poverty. The result: Lootings, rioting, burning. Businesses were destroyed, homes were burned, police were stone.

LOOTED MERCHANDISE

I can remember seeing young black children, walking up Springfield avenue carrying booties of looted merchandise from stores. I saw the National Guardsmen on the streets of the city to keep rioting at a minimum. I saw a child lying dead in a Newark street. I'm afraid it wasn't on the tires of every passing car.

Damage to the city of Newark reached it pinnacle in 1967. A tag of corruption was given to the Addonizio administration, while the middle-class continued its flight to the suburbs; and the city sunk into bankruptcy.

The problems are still there.

Hopes had been for a budget of $15,872,000. Concerning this, Calabrese said: "We would like to..." have seen further improvements in the budget, but then you never get everything you want in any one year.

Many increases in the budget are aimed towards the students. Looking through a neatly-compiled budget report, Calabrese found budget increases for the National Education Act loan program, a $50,000 allowance for new programs, 3% increase for continued teacher salaries, and 12% increase for increased enrollment services.

Calabrese stated that funds for library improvement and maintenance were also included in the budget.
MSC Magazines Elect New Editors
Susan Guatelli Elected '70 Quarterly Editor
By Mary Jean Strychzar Staff Reporter
Susan Linda Guatelli has been elected editor-in-chief of the Quarterly, Montclair State's literary magazine.

Also elected at the Nov. 25 meeting were: James Simons, assistant editor-in-chief; Jean Hall, art editor; Gabrielle Weiner, layout editor; Carol Ann Martin, copy editor; Solana Sutphen, Chapbooks editor; and Don Pendley, business manager.

"The policy of our new editorial staff will be one which emphasizes the communication involved with arts and writing. We hope to retain a writers' workshop where people can come and share their ideas in writing, and to encourage new people to come and join us," stated Miss Guatelli.

The new editor also hopes to schedule meetings with other colleges to discuss and write literary works, thus preventing MSC's literary magazine from becoming a "closed unit" from other schools.

"We also want to resuscitate interest in the magazine among the student body," she added.

The Quarterly is published four times annually. Any interested can submit original literature and art for publication.

Quarterly also sponsors the Chapbooks project, a series of pamphlets (author presented in leaflet form) and poetry readings.

Rhinoceros and Frye Give Winter Concert
By Maureen Nichols Staff Reporter

The problem of who will appear in concert at MSC during Winter Weekend, Feb. 6, 7, 8, has finally been solved, according to Jon McKnight, director of student activities. He declared that Rhinoceros, a rock group, will appear with David Frye, a comedian, on Sat., Feb. 7, at 8:30 p.m. in Memorial auditorium.

Frye is also bringing with him an up-and-coming group in order to give them public exposure, said McKnight.

Rhinoceros was described last year by the North Carolina Anvil, a newspaper of the Arts, as "a supergroup that rocks." The Anvil stated that Rhinoceros is a "synthesis" of different bands from the Los Angeles area, among which are the Iron Butterfly, Buffalo Springfield and the Mothers.

David Frye, a "political" comedian and impressionist, has received rave notices from many newspapers and magazines, including Newsweek, Variety and the Daily News. He appears in clubs in Las Vegas, Miami and Chicago and also on the Ed Sullivan Show. His impressions were described as "uncannily accurate" and "side-splitting."

McKnight explained that he had heard Frye's new album which contains take-offs on Nixon and Agnew among others, and that he found the album to be "quite funny.

The controversy surrounding the concert for Winter Weekend began in October after 400 MSC students signed a petition protesting the choice of the Lettermen for the concert by CLB representatives. McKnight said that an emergency meeting of the college's price range.

Susman, the Three Dog Night and Ten Years After received the largest amounts of votes. After contacting these groups, it was discovered that two of them would be out of the country during Winter Weekend and that the other group was out of the college's price range.

"The system with entertainers," McKnight declared, "is that their availability today is different from that of yesterday."

He explained that their choice for the concert was also "handicapped by the financial loss of the concerts during Homecoming Weekend" which exceeded $5000. He accounted the loss to the fact that "the gym has a capacity of only 2200 people and by SGA rule that we can't charge more than $2.40 for students."

"It's a difficult situation," McKnight said, "because everyone wants a top name group and we just can't afford them."

"Mostly, I was upset about the students signing the petition," he explained. "I think it was their right to criticize, in a humorous light, those persons in power, whether on the national, local or SGA level."

Pendley emphasizes that Galumph is in need of people, "writers, illustrators, and other types." He may be contacted in the Galumph office, second floor, Life Hall.

The magazine needs new blood, and I'm hoping that new writers and artists will take advantage of Galumph's new outspokenness.

"The magazine, unfortunately, has held a few sacred cows in the past... these sacred cows are about to be served on a silver platter to the hungry students of MSC. We have a responsibility and right to criticize, in a humorous light, those persons in power, whether on the national, local or SGA level."

Is AAU Athletes Split Pending?

By Paul Kowalsczyn
Sports Editor

Our amateur sports world is facing problems. One of the most crucial problems is the relationship between the athletes and their chief governing board, the Amateur Athletic Union.

It has been heard of the AAU that "many officials are part-time businessmen, wealthy men with no real background in athletics and no real understanding of the social or financial or competitive problems faced by the athletes."... It has also been stated that soon now, the AAU will have to give the athletes more of a say in governing their own affairs.

In July, the AAU fouled-up the Russian-British Commonwealth-United States meet. Poor public relations, misinformation, and poor television coverage of the affair cause a complete fiasco. A month later, a U.S. truck convoy headed under the auspices of the AAU, and another fiasco resulted.

Two of the main problems in this situation are: Mr. Reinhardt, current U.S. AAU athletes Bob Beamont and Gary Powers. When Beamont wanted to go home for "personal emergency reasons," AAU officials told him he could not leave unless he competed in the long jump in a German meet. Gary Powers, a hurdler, must have the U.S. track and field meet at the last moment and had to pay his own expenses to Germany.

A "human track and field team met, and took action. They threatened to drop-out of any further AAU-sponsored meets until these two problems were remedied.

Something has to be done. The United States Track and Field Federation (USTFF), which is a rival of the AAU, has come out in support of the athletes. Mr. Wayne Cooley, stated that "the current dissatisfaction of American athletes abroad gives ample evidence that national and international competition can no longer be left in AAU hands. It should be put under those who truly represent the interest of athletes. It has been mentioned that a set-up similar to that of the Professional Golfers Association, a breakaway by the athletes, a formation of their own tournaments and athletic association be formed. Also, a governing board, of both athletes and AAU and USTFF officials, should be set-up to give the American track and field athletes a say in what they will have in store for them in the future.

Dancing and Dining Highlight MSC Christmas

Over 900 Will Partake
In Dinner Celebration
By Kathy Vargo
Staff Reporter

"The traditional Christmas dinner for all dorm and off-campus students will be held Dec. 17 at 6 p.m. inside Life Hall cafeteria," said Miss Doris J. Reinhardt, assistant director of students.

Seated on the couch inside her Freeman Hall office, Miss Reinhardt detailed the planned program for the "promising" evening. The traditional eggnog reception will be served to dorm and off-campus students in Freeman Hall lounge from 5 to 6 p.m., while invited guests will have their eggnog in the alumni lounge at 5:30 p.m. The dinner will immediately follow in Life Hall.

"Instead of the usual red and green color scheme," Miss Reinhardt stated, "each of the 100 tables will have a gold tablecloth with a blue or green candle and alternating blue and green napkins." A top each table will be a centerpiece created by students who have already volunteered their talents and made zinnia 50 to 60 centerpieces.

There will also be a lighted Christmas tree.

Miss Patricia Tomaetti, a resident of Russ Hall, will be the mistress of ceremonies and Dr. Allan Maurohead, executive vice-president and provost, will deliver the "welcome speech." Following will be the invocation by Catholic Chaplain Rev. Thomas Davis and the dinner Opean foods. Background music will be used as background mood music while hired student waitresses move the table to the door, set the table, strip from a baked potatoes, green beans with chestnut sauce, fruit cake and assorted Christmas cakes and candies.

Afterwards, President Thomas H. Richardson, will give a holiday greeting and prizes will be awarded to each women's dorm for the most original and attractively decorated doors.

Christmas carols will be sung at the close of the dinner and all students are then invited to the annual Christmas party given by the men's dorms.

Miss Reinhardt concluded: "A special dinner is given once a month to metal ticket holders although not like this one."

Gymnastics Fall to Southern
By Carol Sokolowitz

The hope for an undefeated season was set back last Friday, as Montclair State College's gymnastics team lost its opening meet 160.6 - 134.1, to Southern Connecticut State College. The outstanding performances of a VACA gold medal winner Jim Amerine and teammate John B. Q. Mitchell dominated the meet; together they scored two-thirds of SCCS's points.

MSC trailed SCCS from the beginning of the meet and was unable to regain lost points despite good performances by Captain Dave Greer, Nels Jensen and Ron Poling.

The opening floor exercises introduced freshman Rich Kroon to conference competition. Kroon's score of 7.3 plus those of Roger Brown and Green left MSC with only a five point deficit in the beginning of the meet.

Side horse competition was highlighted by MSC's captain, Jim Yearwood, whose 9.5 was the highest single score in the meet. At the end of the side horse competition, MSC trailed SCCS 43.4 to 53.55.

MSC's Ruc Spencer and Bill Balogh scored 8.5 and 8.5, respectively, in long horse vaulting, keeping MSC within 15 points of SCCS. Good performances on still rings and parallel bars also confirmed MSC's lead. But during competitions on the home bar, SCCS widened the margin by scoring 26.45 to MSC's 18.95.

Despite the loss to SCCS, Coach Terry Orlick praised his team for its ability to score highly as it did in its first meet this season. The final score, 134.1, was nine-tenths of a point out from qualifying the team for a 1.0 in the next three conference meets.

There is an exponential growth in the number of athletes participating in gymnastics. Coach Orlick predicted, "we have the potential of a great team. We could go on winning from now on."
The Montclair State College basketball team started off the month with two wins last week, romping over two opponents and earning any doubt which centered around this year's unseasoned assault.

Led by junior Harry James' 25 tallies, the Indians averaged one of last year's top scorers by drubbing Central Connecticut State College, 91-63 last Wednesday. The team then came back on Saturday to stomp a weak Yeshiva five, 97-44.

Assuming leadership in the rapid developments in women's basketball, the members of the Montclair State College team and their coaches travelled to the Midwest in the past year to investigate a nationwide experiment.

The two-year experiment involves a change to a five-player game of basketball from the established game of six.

Elected by the U.S. Olympic development committee and the National Division for Girls' and Women's Sports, Miss Paskert and Miss Rose Marie Battaglia, assistant coach of the women's basketball team at Montclair State, represented New Jersey at the Fifth National Institute on Girls' Sports.

The women participated in advanced coaching sessions and experimented with officiating techniques designed for the five-player game during the week's stay at the University of Illinois in January 1969.

"Undergraduate women are currently receiving preparation in the five-player game," said Miss Paskert. She added that the women's varsity and junior varsity teams at MSC will play out the 1969-70 season with the six-player game while learning the five-player rules for next year's schedule.

The most obvious reason for the proposed change, according to Miss Paskert, is that women in every other country in the world play a five-player game. The United States is the last to conform, and only took action in February 1969. The irony in this, she pointed out, is that basketball was invented and developed in Springfield, Mass., in 1891, and the first rules for women were published in 1899 in New Orleans.
