Halt Proposed Shut Down of Utilities

Richardson Stops Campus Heat Shut Off

Action was taken last Friday against the proposal to shut off all campus heat and electricity from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sun., Dec. 7, during which time the electricity was to be connected in Partridge Hall.

A memo sent out by Mr. Richard O. Taubald, coordinator of men's housing last Friday to all dormitory residents, stated that work on the steam heating necessitated this move. The memo suggested that students spend the day off-campus or at home, or to contact Taubald if the situation presented a serious problem.

Approximately 25 dormitory residents arranged to see Taubald and Dean Raymond Stover later in the day to express disapproval of the proposed shut off. Administrative spokesman mentioned that to postpone the shut off would cause a delay from two to four weeks in the completion of the building.

However, the students protested that the building was supposed to have been completed in August and that the heat was to have been hooked up during the Thanksgiving vacation.

It was reported that an administrator present at the meeting asked students if a guarantee was made by the building contractor that the building would be finished on schedule, would there still be objection to the shut off. Student spokesmen claimed that this was "ridiculous."

Stover placed a call to President Thomas H. Richardson, who was in Trenton at that time. Richardson advised Stover to contact the building contractors and have them postpone the power shut off until the Christmas vacation.

Peace Vigil Set for Dec. Moratorium

By Roberta Kuehl
News Editor

An all day peace vigil, to begin at 8 a.m. this Friday, is the major activity planned by the Student Peace Union (SPU) for the December nationwide moratorium to protest the war in Vietnam. To be held in Life Hall's commuter lounge, the vigil will be conducted as an open forum. Those who hold different views concerning the war in Vietnam will be strongly invited to voice their opinions.

Since the members of SPU have pledged their monetary support to the Peacemakers Sharing Fund, for the families of draft resisters, they will be collecting money on Friday. Calendars produced by the National Farm Workers Association will be sold for $1 for the benefit of the grape pickers.

On Saturday, SPU members, along with 100-300 seminarians from the Union Theological Seminary, New York, will leaflet Montclair's shopping area in support of peace. The group will meet at 10 a.m. at the Park street YMCA. Distribution of leaflets will continue until 4 p.m. Both faculty and students at the Union Theological Seminary have approved this circulation for peace.

A joint religious service for peace for Catholics, Jews and Protestants will take place on Sun., Dec. 21, at 8 p.m., at the Shomrei Emunah Synagogue, corner of Park street and Claremont avenue. This service has received the approval of the Montclair Council of Churches and will be open to the public.

For the third day of the December moratorium, Dec. 24, there will be no SPU activities scheduled to take place in the Town of Montclair since local churches have already scheduled services for that day.

However, it was suggested that SPU members contact their local religious leaders to make known their desire for peace. Armbands, peace buttons and/or signs were suggested as means of expression for individual members to display hope for peace.

SPU members Frank Lees, Patty O'Keefe and David Beckwith are in charge of this month's activities.

House Rules Decided by Dorm Council

CUE Wants Half on $182 Dorm Rise

By Linda Monaco Staff Reporter

Union – Hikes in dorm fees are on the minds of many dorm students in state colleges, according to David Lichtenstein, member of the executive board of CUE (Committee on Undergraduate Education) and features editor of the Independent, Newark State College's newspaper.

Lichtenstein said that CUE is working for the elimination of dorm-fee increases. He emphasized that he felt very "optimistic" that CUE will be able to stop any further fee increases.

Students are reacting against dorm fee increases because as Lichtenstein put it: "Why should we be made to pay more for what will not be built for two or three years? And why should one state college pay for dorms being built on another state college's campus?"

Lichtenstein states that many dorm residents feel that the state should subsidize the dorms. But according to Lichtenstein, Ralph Dungan, chancellor of higher education, feels that subsidization of the dorms by the state is a form of "discrimination" against the other students. Lichtenstein added that Dungan feels that dormitory fees must be increased every year.

One good turn for dorm students has come as a result of the continued postponement of the meeting of the board of higher education, Lichtenstein said. "At least this assures the dorm students that there will be no rise of dorm fees for the spring semester," he happily declared.

But the dorm fee for next year will depend upon the vote of the Board of Higher Education. Lichtenstein explained that if things turn out unfavorably CUE will protest in some way. But he again emphasized his opinion that there is a good chance that further increases will not be initiated.

While speaking, Lichtenstein expressed his disappointment in the absence of representatives from Montclair State College at many of the meetings of the state colleges. He declared that last year when Jean Young was actively fighting against the dorm-fee rises, MSC was more involved in the cause.

Student reactions against dorm fee increases started last year as a result of the rise in dormitory costs at Montclair and Trenton state colleges from $818 to $1,017. Other state colleges, Gloucester, Jersey City, Newark and Paterson, all members of CUE, will retain the $818 dorm fee.

16 Floors of Air Conditioning To Greet 600 Residents in '71

By Kathy Kayne Staff Reporter

If passers-by on Valley road look up at the top of the hill, they may see what appears to be a large radio tower with the word "PIKE" printed on it. Do not be deceived, for what appears to be a tower is merely a construction device, used to lift materials for the new women's dorm.

The new $5.1 million men's dormitory that will contain 600 beds is now being constructed by Charles Luckman associates. Construction began on March 14, 1969 and is estimated to be completed by Feb. 1, 1971, said Jerome R. Quinn, director of facilities at MSC. The site of the new dorm is in the vicinity of Webster Hall, located partly on the mountainside.

The dorm will have three wings — the middle tower containing 16 floors, the south tower containing 13 floors and the north, 10 floors. The entrance will be on the fifth floor because four floors will be located down the embankment. Said Quinn: "The site of the building gives a terrific view of the New York skyline."

Besides the 600 beds, there will be included in the building an air-conditioned dining room and lounge. Each room will have its own sink, but the lavatories will still be located at the end of the hall. "The beds will be constructed with bolsters," commented Quinn. "These bolsters are padded and will be added to the bed to enable the students to be used as a couch and provide for a storage compartment," he said.

The architect for this job is Charles Luckman associates; the interior designers are Mitchell associates of Wilmington, Del.

The general contractor is Pike construction; the heating, E.J. Dobson Inc.; and the electrical wiring, Allan-Electrical company. The original $4.1-million allocated for the construction was increased to $5.1 million due to the redesigning of the foundation resulting from the dormitory's location on an embankment.

Life of a Dorm Director: 'Good Start for Fathers'

By Linda Monaco Staff Reporter

"Unpredictable!" That is how Mrs. Jean Marshall, resident director of Russ Hall, described the life of a resident director. Both Miss Patricia Gabriel, resident director of Chapin Hall and Mr. Michael F.X. Greco, resident director of Stone Hall seem to agree with her.

Talking in her apartment behind a soft background of music by Dionne Warwick, Miss Gabriel said that she found life as a resident director an "interesting experience." She emphasized the opportunity it gave her to work more closely with the girls in helping them to adjust to the responsibilities of college residents.

"The dorm has a silence policy to attractiveness and the best dorm. The prizes are awarded at the annual Christmas dinner by the food service.

In Stone and Webster halls, the situation is somewhat different for there is no central governing body as in the women's dorms. However, Montclair's dormitory has its own Dorm Council. This is presided over by the president of the residence hall and the director of the dorm.

Life of a Dorm Director: 'Good Start for Fathers'...
Athletic Status Up

For Recommendation

By Helene Zuckerbrod
Asst. News Editor

The issue confronting the newly-formed committee for the study of athletics concerns the kind of college "to be built at MSC," according to MSC President Thomas H. Richardson.

The 23-member committee was founded to study a possible split between the health and physical education departments and the athletic program. According to Dr. Harry H. Hoitsma, committee chairman and assistant professor of health and physical education, the committee will study all sides of the dispute and will make recommendations concerning the final status of athletics at MSC.

"It is extremely likely that the recommendations are those that will set the direction as far as the relationship between athletics and the health and physical education department."

Richardson said. "Final action will be made on the basis of the scope of the committee's recommendations. "Wide-sweeping recommendations will be acted upon by the Board of Trustees. "Mechanical recommendations" concerning relationships between people, organizations and departments will be reviewed by Richardson. In all cases, Richardson stressed, committee recommendations will play integral part in any final decisions concerning MSC's athletic structure.

The first formal meeting of the committee on Dec. 9 concerned itself with present athletic structure and tentative administrative proposals.

Future topics to be considered will include personnel policy, facilities, finances, public relations, organizational structure and men's and women's area of physical education as relating to athletics.

In addition to the four original formation committee members, athletic committee membership automatically and are elected by the faculty.

Wilkes feels that not since medieval times have students had so much power. It is therefore advantageous for the student to vote on people sympathetic to student needs. The students, themselves will set policies, decide on the curriculum and attend board meetings. The chairman of the Senate will preside until a new dean is hired for the School of Fine and Performing Arts.

The Senate met for the first time on Nov. 10. The School of Fine and Performing Arts, which now houses the departments of music, speech and theater and fine arts, soon hopes to encompass the areas of the cinema, dance and television.

Math/Science Building
Will Hold Observatory

"Radiation and counting labs for nuclear physics will be featured in the new building. Individual rooms where a student can perform his own experiments in chemistry or physics, under the guidance of a teacher, are also planned." This was assured by Jerome Quinn, director of facilities at MSC, regarding plans for the projected math-science building.

Chemistry, math and physics-earth science departments have outgrown their quarters in Mallory and Finley halls. Construction of a new math-science complex will begin on Nov. 1, 1970.

The gravy plot in front of Stone Hall will then be churned into new quarters to house the School of Mathematics and Science. Quinn said Biology and earth science will then expand in the existing facilities previously occupied by math, chemistry and physics.

Seated in his small office, heaped with plans and blueprints, Quinn immediately located floor plans for the proposed structure.

"Central air-conditioning and column spacing which will provide more flexibility for planning rooms will make the building more modern," he assured. "The structure will be able to hold more people," commented Quinn, "and provide a chance for more research and graduate work."

This building site was chosen to centralize the math-science area. Architects are presently drafting plans for the complex, which will then be submitted to the State Board of Higher Education for approval, then sent out to various contractors for bidding.

Construction is slated to begin on Nov. 1, 1970 and be completed by September 1972.

Regarding additional parking needs, Quinn reiterated there will be no more problems than usual. Plans for a proposed multi-level parking garage which would require a yearly fee had to be postponed until money could be allocated for the project.
Progressive Participation

Student participation in decision making has been further implemented here as three of MSC's schools have voted to have equal faculty and student representation in their school senates.

According to Dr. Samuel Pratt, resident planner for academic affairs, this setup is the only one of its kind in the country where student representatives have been elected."I do not think there is such a high degree of power in all phases of academic decisions."

The central planning committee of the School of Humanities has also agreed to place students on the committee which will select a dean for that school.

We wholeheartedly endorse the move toward equal faculty and student representation. We recognize that the methods of school government which are under formation at the present time, will be the most important governing bodies in the future of Montclair State College.

We feel that the Student Government Association will also be obscured by school governing organizations which will have a closer meaning to the students involved.

It is hoped that the remaining two schools will also enact the unique degree of student participation as displayed by the Schools of Humanities, Fine and Performing Arts and Social and Behavioral Sciences. We would like to see our college continue to lead the way in progressive participation.

The Most for Our Money

The time-worn cry of not enough funds for state colleges is more than true. Although a bond issue to give more funds to higher education, highways and state institutions was passed in November 1968, the actual amount of money to be given to Montclair State College for building purposes, $8.3 million, has shrunk in value due to massive increases in construction costs.

Since the state treasury will also face a deficit in funds by June, the state college departments may also be affected causing double financial trouble.

It seems that the new governor will be responsible to add to that treasury and this can only be accomplished by an increase in the sales tax. After all, Gov.-elect Cahill did promise that he would not inflict an income tax. The good and fair intention of the politician, who shall remain nameless because I forgot his name, but the answer will fall to the state: "By 1970, we shall see a fully automated society."

If ever catch that guy on the street, he probably won't live to see 1980. Here's the story:

I walked into the bus terminal located in a sprawling metropolis near Montclair. There in the lobby I saw a vending machine dispensing 5-cent candy bars at 10-cents each. Here's a real bargain, I thought. I deposited my dime and, of course, nothing came out.

KICK...BANG

By this time, I had created such a scene that a sizable crowd had gathered in back of me to cheer me on. "Give 'em hell," somebody shouted. Kick. Bang. "Dammit."

Now I couldn't give up, because all those people were cheering me on. I had a war on my hands. What was I supposed to do? Kick. "You dirty..." Believe me, I wanted to give up right then and there. But it's the principle involved.

"You know what I mean. Am I supposed to let a little stinkweed machine get the best of me, a human being? "Give 'em hell," that guy said. "Goes to show you how those machines are taking unfair advantage of us," one little old lady said to a little old man.

SHOUTS AND SYMPATHY

Suddenly the whole bus terminal turned into a sea of people. "What's going on up there?" somebody shouted. The place was bustling around the machine. "Terrific," some guy said to me. "Too bad," one woman said sympathetically.

Fast 'Bang' will decide. If just then two policemen came up to me. "Will you please come with us?"

"What's the charge?" I asked.

"Creating a public disturbance, attempting to deface public property..."

SGA Constitution

SGA Constitution --- "Absurd," the Word

By Celeste Fasone

Staff Reporter

The Student Government constitution is being revised. According to Greg Doucette, SGA vice-president, the present constitution is "absurd." "The new constitution," he suggested, "must be more realistic and more adaptable to change, thus meeting the needs of the SGA as the needs change."

Doucette referred specifically to the flexibility and changes needed in such matters as the decision to postpone elections of representatives from new departments. This was initiated by the splits in the social science and language departments.

Although this particular decision, according to the vice-president, was "unnatural," it was nevertheless passed and agreed upon to postpone elections until there were sufficient members of each new department to warrant elections.

UNREALISTIC

An example of this is the political science department which, to date, is said to have one member, and it would be unrealistic, according to Doucette, to hold elections.

However, in effect, this decision is still illegal and there must be some alteration.

According to the constitution, every department which offers a degree is entitled to two representatives in the SGA. Therefore, the departments of classics, French, German, Slavic, linguistics, sociology, speech arts, speech pathology, anthropology, economics, geography, political science, sociology and history, are all entitled to the same representation.

Doucette conceded that the constitution must be altered, stating that "hopefully within three weeks we can decide where more people are needed, specifically representatives with departments."

The present referendum which began yesterday will decide which changes the students want the appropriated changes in the constitution. The referendum should clarify the question of representation on all levels, according to Doucette.

3 Recent Grads Are ‘Between the Toes’

By Lynn Coccio
Staff Reporter

Two MSC alumni and a senior are between The Toes. An avant-garde art show oriented towards youth, Between The Toes, has opened at 71 Glenmore Ave., Montclair.

The shop is the creative result of two Montclair State alumni: Marlis Spaschus, and Ron Perkoski, and Chech Masucci, a senior at MCH.

The art shop occupies a converted house-basement with a store-front window.

It was discovered by Miss Masucci who lives not far from the area. She and her two friends, all art majors, decided to form a partnership and rent the store. They had quite a job in renovating the basement, since they had to transform what was previously a lumber shop into an art gallery.

The main purpose of Between The Toes, according to Miss Masucci, is to offer for sale all types of art work belonging to non-professionals in the area.

Since the store has been open only since Nov. 1, its news has reached artists largely by word-of-mouth. However, to aid publicity, Miss Masucci, Perkoski, and Miss Spaschus also distributed fliers and posters throughout nearby state colleges and local stores.

Already, Between The Toes is able to offer a variety of articles to customers. Besides the usual assortment of etchings, paintings and drawings displayed by most art galleries, there are also articles of clothing. Non-professional designers have brought creations of jeweled, woven purses, fur vests and hats to be sold by Between The Toes.

Miss Masucci, Perkoski and Miss Spaschus have even put their own original contributions on display for sale. In actuality, the shop has something to offer any customer, no matter what type of art interests him.

Miss Masucci disclosed since the three partners can’t afford to buy any art which they select in their shop, work is accepted on a loan basis. An artist who brings something which he has created to Between The Toes decides on the price that he hopes to receive for it. Then if his work is sold, the store is given 20% of his profit and the artist receives the balance.

Besides this, Miss Masucci added that the art creations which Between The Toes accepts aren’t necessarily limited to Montclair State students, or even to students in general. As long as the art work is original, it can be put up for sale in the store.

Future plans for the three partners of the art shop naturally include making a success of their investment. At the moment, however, it is only Perkoski who works at the shop during the week days on a fulltime basis. Miss Masucci is still attending classes at Montclair State, while Miss Spaschus works in New York City besides spending time at the store.

As for immediate plans, Miss Masucci mentioned that the shop will be offering handmade Christmas articles for the holidays. The store is open from 10 a.m. — 9 p.m. on Mondays and from 10 a.m. — 6 p.m. on Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Evening Drug Course Planned for Future

By Helene Zuckerbrod
Staff Reporter

A proposal for a drug course and the reaction of the faculty and administrative councils to the tentative policy was discussed by the committee on drugs and narcotics last Thursday.

Open to students, faculty and administration, the proposed evening course is the product of work by the educational subcommittee — Mr. Larry Brown, housing staff assistant, Mr. Jon McKnight, director of Life Hall, Sharon Wancho, junior English major and subcommittee chairman and David Mende, junior music major.

Proposed for an 11-week run, the course will be structured in the manner of independent study in that there will be no instructor for the various groups. The first meeting will consist of a general session in which students will divide into four basic discussion groups. The individual, the family, the community and the legal aspect of the use of drugs. There will be divided into subgroups. "Individual" groups will concern themselves with the psychological and physiological aspect of drugs. Personal relationships and experiences will be the primary points in the "family" groups.

"Community" groups will study the pusher, the user, and the high school teacher and pupil. The punitive angle of federal and state drug laws will be discussed in addition to the therapeutic services of local and campus communities.

Favorable reactions to the proposed drug policy by the faculty and administrative councils were reported by Dr. Constance Waller, committee chairman and assistant director of students. Questions by the councils concerning drug definition, double jeopardy, the need for the policy, and working to the committee.

In addition, copies of the proposed drug policy and drug course have been sent to the psychology department in preparation for a conference between that department and the committee.

Leading Organist Performs Tonight

Organist Claire Coci, the only American musician ever to receive the highly coveted French award, Diplome de Medaille L’Academie Francaise, will present a concert tonight 8:30 p.m. at Memorial auditorium. The performances are sponsored by the college’s Music Organizations. Tickets are available at the door at $2.

Betsinski, Freed and Langlas, three of today’s prominent composers, have dedicated compositions to this virtuosic teacher and performer who has been hailed by critics for her "powerful" and "sensitive" mastery of the console organ.

Receiving her doctor of music degree from De Pauw University in 1959, Miss Coci and her husband Alexander McRae went on to establish the American Academy of Music in Tenafly. Miss Coci has also studied at the University of Michigan, Royal College and Trinity College in London and with Marcel Dupre in Paris.

Assisting in the design of the famous organ in the West Point Chapel, Miss Coci became the first person to record commercially on it. She is also the first woman who has been granted the opportunity of playing a public recital in the chapel.

Miss Coci has been on the faculty of Oberlin College in Ohio and Westminster Choir College in Princeton and presently heads the organ department at the Dalcrozi College in New York City. She also teaches at the School of Sacred Music of Union Theological Seminary and is accredited to teach at Teachers College.

Performances have taken this "leading lady of the organ" across the United States, through Canada and to the music-loving crowds of Europe.

Equal Faculty-Student Representation Chosen

After two hours of discussion and argumentation, last week’s Congress of the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences came to two decisions regarding governance. Two students and two faculty members from each department will comprise the Senate.

Every department would then have equal representation, four from each. These departments are anthropology, economics, geography, history, political science, psychology, sociology, and speech pathology. Another congress will be held in the near future to determine other aspects of structural organization.

Protestant Foundation Adviser Rev. Robert W. Castle Jr. listed his police records, declared he is against the war in Vietnam and explained his contumacy toward the United States' attitudes toward its own poor.

Reacting to the promises that were broken by Jersey City's government machinery, Castle and a group of tenant dwellers gathered all the garbage and broken objects from their buildings which were to have been carted away or fixed by the city. The two truck loads were then delivered and dumped at the steps of city hall. Although the.reviewer was arrested he stated that “It was a victory for us. All our demands were carried out; the city then kept all its previous promises.”

Castle, Episcopal minister from the diocese of Newark, came to attend by only 15 Catholics, Episcopalian and Quakers, who are conscientious objects, the reviewer stated, “It’s sad to think that the government will allow only one point of view to be prayed for. People such as I’m arrested praying for peace. It reminds me of Nazi Germany. It seems the right to dissent is no longer allowed.

Castle is against the individualistic, indifferent society that is cropping up in the U.S. He is against any one person having power over any other. He believes that “equality will only be found in the power of unity among men as brothers.” He finds hope in today’s awaremess and wants to rejevenerate the basic foundations of this country.

Mcginty Hopes For Speedy Snow Removal

By David Kerr
Staff Reporter

Students at Montclair State are quite familiar with the problem of getting on campus when it snows. Mr. Joseph McGinty, director of maintenance, is also familiar with this problem, and hopes that this year snow removal will be easier.

The biggest problem we have with clearing the campus of snow is cars left overnight in the parking lots. This prevents our plows from doing a complete job,” he said.

Another problem, according to McGinty, is what time it snows. “It is a break for us if the snow comes at night. Our crews can then work through the night to clear the campus,” he related.

McGinty does not feel that lack of equipment is a problem. The college has purchased some new four-wheel drive trucks which will be used for plowing purposes. The college also has a contract with an outside company to help in emergencies. “The college can get up to four trucks and a bulldozer if necessary,” he added.

According to McGinty, the road from the upper parking lots to the freshman lot will be closed only if it is absolutely necessary. Clearing of snow and salting of the road will cause the road to be closed until it is passable. This road is due to be redesigned and graded so that there will not be a very high hill at the lot.

If the snowfall is heavy, the pedestrian mall may be opened. This route will be used in the event of an emergency situation in Webster or Stone halls.

McGinty concluded by saying: “The students can help themselves by making sure that they have the proper snow equipment on their cars. Snow tires are a must. The students should also realize that one car parked in the parking lots overnight can seriously hamper plowing procedures.”

McGinty feels that the maintenance equipment is in good condition and is ready to go in any emergency. He also feels that if the students cooperate, the job of snow removal will be easier.

Budget Will Give More Student Aid

By Linda Monaco
Staff Reporter

Increased student aid is in the future of MSC students if the college’s budget is passed by the state’s Budget and Bureau Review, the governor and the state legislature.

The budget, which provides an increase of almost double its current $96,000, has already been passed by the state’s Board of Higher Education.

In his office in College Hall, Calabrese said that the way the budget stands now, Montclair State College’s total budget will be $12,000,092 unless something is "knocked down" when the proposed budget passes through its final stages of approval.

Hopes had been for a budget of $15,872,000. Concerning this, Calabrese said: "We would like to have seen further improvements in the budget, but then you never get everything you want in any one year."

Many increases in the budget are aimed towards the students. L ooking through a neatly compiled budget report, Calabrese found budget appropriations for the National Education Act loan program and for educational opportunity, a division of the budget that aids those who cannot completely support their college education.

Teaching will also benefit as a result of $50,000 allotted for closed circuit tv. Calabrese explained that this system would allow any exceptional teacher from a department to present a lecture or lab to many different classes by means of the closed circuit tv system.
MSC Magazines Elect New Editors

Susan Guatelli Elected '70 Quarterly Editor

By Mary Jean Strzycharz
Staff Reporter

Susan Linda Guatelli has been elected editor-in-chief of the Quarterly, Montclair State's literary magazine.

Also elected at the Nov. 25 meeting were: James Simons, assistant editor-in-chief; Leon Hall, art editor; Gabrielle Weiser, layout editor; Carol Ann Martin, copy editor; Sotiria Justice, Chapbooks editor; and Don Pendley, business manager.

"The policy of our new editorial staff will be one which emphasizes the communication involved with arts and writing. We hope to stimulate a writers' workshop where people can come and share their ideas in writing, and to encourage new people to come and join us," stated Miss Guatelli.

The new editor also hopes to schedule meetings with other colleges to discuss and write literary works, thus preventing MSC's literary magazine from becoming a "closed unit" from other schools.

"We also want to reinvigorate interest in the magazine among the student body," she added. The Quarterly is published four times annually. Any interested entertainers, high school, college, or local, are urged to submit their work to the magazine for publication.

Quarterly also sponsors the Chapel of the Arts; the students' musical group, the Unicorn; and the comedy group, The Roar.

Pendley emphasizes that the break-up of the "four bands" and the "four publishers" is that their availability today is "handicapped by the financial loss for students.

Also elected at the Nov. 25 meeting were: Jon McKnight, director of student activities; and Carol Ann Martin, copy editor; Sotiria Justice, Chapbooks editor; and Don Pendley, business manager.

"The problem of who will give them public exposure, said Sullivan Show. His impressions of the albums the group contained take-offs on Nixon and Frye is also bringing with him an editor in chief of Galumph, the student literary magazine and poetry readings.

Rhinoceros and Frye Give Winter Concert

By Maureen Nicholas
Staff Reporter

The problem of who will appear in concert at MSC during Winter Weekend, Feb. 6, 7, 8, has finally been solved, according to Jon McKnight, director of student activities. He declared that Rhinoceros, a rock group, will appear with David Frye, a comedian, on Sat., Feb. 7, at 8:30 p.m. in Memorial auditorium. Frye is also bringing with him an up-and-coming group in order to give them public exposure, said McKnight.

Rhinoceros was described last year by the North Carolina Anvil, a newspaper of the Arts, as "a supergroup that rocks." The Anvil stated that Rhinoceros is a "synthesis" of different bands from the Los Angeles area, among which are the Iron Butterfly, Buffalo Springfield and the Mothers.

David Frye, a "political" comedian and impressionist, has received rave notices from many newspapers and magazines, including Newsweek, Variety and the Daily News. He has appeared in clubs in Las Vegas, Miami and Chicago and also on the Ed Sullivan Show. His impressions were described as "uncannily accurate and "side-splitting."" McKnight explained that he has heard Frye's new album which contains take-offs on Nixon and Agnew among others, and that he found the album to be "quite funny.

The controversy surrounding the concert for Winter Weekend began in October after 400 MSC students signed a petition protesting the choice of the Lettermen for the concert by CLUB representatives. McKnight said that an emergency meeting of the union board was called on October 29 to vote for a different group. The Who, the Three Dog Night and Ten Years After received the largest amounts of votes. After contacting these groups, it was discovered that two of them would be out of the country during Winter Weekend and that the other group was out of the college's price range.

"The problem with Frye and Rhinoceros is that their availability today is "handicapped by the financial loss for students."

Our amateur sports world is facing problems. One of the most crucial problems is the relationship between the athletes and their chief governing board, the Amateur Athletic Union.

It has come to the board of the AAU that "many officials are part-time businessmen, wealthy men with no real background in athletics and no real understanding of the social or financial or competitive problems faced by the athletes..." It has also been stated that soon now, the AAU will have to give the athletes more of a say in governing themselves.

In July, the AAU fouled-up the Russian-British Commonwealth-United States meet. Poor public relations, mischeduling, and poor television coverage of the affair cause a complete fiasco. A month later, a U.S. truck team competed abroad and under the auspices of the AAU, and another fiasco resulted.

Two of the main problems in thisinstance.12

Is AAU Athletes Split Pending?

AAU officials told him he could not leave unless he competed in the long jump in a German meet. Gary Powers, a hurdlers, must the U.S. track and field team at the last moment and had to pay his own expenses to Germany.

The U.S. track and field team met, and took action. They threatened to drop-out of any further AAU-sponsored meets unless these two problems were remedied.

Something has to be done. The United States Track and Field Federation (USTFF), which is a rival of the AAU, has come out in support of the athletes. E. Warren Cooley, stated that "the current dissatisfaction of American athletes abroad gives ample evidence that national and international competition can no longer be left in AAU hands. It should be put under those who truly represent the interest of athletes. Couches and AAU officials are in an emblematic knowledge of the current existence and development of the sport depends.

The USTFF is just talking, not acting. What should be done to get the AAU and the USTFF together with the athletes? It has been mentioned that a set-up similar to that of the Professional Golfers Association, a break-away by the athletes from their own tournaments and athletic association be formed. Also, a governing board, of both AAU and USTFF Presidents should be set-up to give the American track and field athletes a say in what they have in store for them.

The Montclair State College basketball team started off the 1969-70 season last week by drubbing Central Connecticut State College, 91-63 last Wednesday. The team then came back on Saturday to stomp a weak Yeshiva five, 79-44.

Led by junior Harry James' 25 tallies, the Indians averaged one of last year's top two back-ups, Demon James, demonstrating a fine jump shot along with his usual hard drive to the basket, pulled down 11 rebounds along with his 25 markers to take the honors as the standout of the night. Making the transition form forward to guard smoothly, McDougald scored 12 points in his first varsity start.

Forward Bill Reaves led the Central Connecticut Blue Devils in scoring, with 20 points.

With six players scoring in double figures, Montclair completely dominated the contest with Yeshiva. Captain Bob Sierkiewicz with 17 points, Willie Moss with 14, Tod McDougald with 11, and Ed Prater, Phil Baccarella, and Harry James all with 10 points, led the Indians to their second straight win.

The game was never in doubt as Montclair scored the first nine points of the contest before Steve Salt of Yeshiva, who led all scorers with 18 points, broke the ice with a three-pointer on his first run of 14 points at the start of the second half sealed the victory for Montclair.

The Indians are missing last year's freshman scoring star, Ken Woller, who has been sidelined with a variety action for this season with torn muscles in his lower back. His return around the time of the Christmas tournament should add more strength to the team.

The freshman squad also made a successful debut, breaking the century mark in a 104-68 win over the Central Connecticut State yearlings.

The Indians take to the road Saturday for a game with Newark College of Engineering. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

The Montclair State College wrestling squad, coached by Tim Sullivan, met stiff competition this past week, resulting in a 1-3 record. The ability of the Indian grapplers was hard to gauge against the powerful squads from East Stroudsburg (Pa.) State College, the University of Buffalo (N.Y.), Wilkes (Pa.) College, and Oneonta (N.Y.) College.

Last Tues., Dec. 2, the grapplers from East Stroudsburg invaded Panzer gym and handed the Indians a 3-2 defeat. The only bright spots of the evening were the wins of Brina Leonardi, who pinned a Midwestern College, Denison, Iowa, grappler in 3:41; 191 Nuzzo (MSC) d. Detweiler (ESSC) p. Cornelisse (MSC) 7-3; 150 Huber (ESSC) d. Tarintino (MSC) 10-3; 158 Matter (ESSC) d. Rehain (MSC) 11-2; 142 Matter (ESSC) d. Rehain (MSC) 11-2; 134 Genatt (MSC) d. Guarrino (MSC) 2:56; 120 Chonolnik (ESSC) d. Mangione (MSC) 8-1; 134 Genatt (MSC) d. Lucasen (ESSC) 11-2; 142 Matter (ESSC) d. Rehain (MSC) 7-3; 150 Huber (ESSC) d. Tarintino (MSC) 10-3; 158 Epler (ESSC) d. Jarosin (MSC) 4:34; 167 Gemmel (ESSC) d. McGuire (MSC) 6:33; 177 Groza (MSC) d. Cornille (MSC) 3:41; 191 Nuzzo (MSC) d. Mache (MSC) 0:57; 191 Nuzzo (MSC) d. Savage (MSC) 2:56.

The men's competition opened up in the afternoon, the Indians faced top ranked Wilkes College and again came out on the short end of a 30-6 score. Ed Detweiler (ESSC) p. Detweiler (ESSC) 11-2; 142 Matter (ESSC) d. Rehain (MSC) 11-2; 134 Genatt (MSC) d. Guarrino (MSC) 2:56.

Hoop Rules Change for Coeds

By Patricia Simpson

Assuming leadership in the rapid developments in women's basketball, Montclair was the first NCAA Knute Rockne Bowl participant  in a six-day experimental game held at Midwestern College, Des Moines, Iowa, June 1969. Over 50 other college women from all parts of the country attended, explained her coach, Miss Catherine Paskert. She added that both girls were selected for the all-star team at the end of the conference.

Elected by the U.S. Olympic development committee and the National Division for Girls' and Women's Sports, Miss Paskert and Miss Rose Marie Battaglia, assistant coach of the women's basketball team at Montclair State, represented New Jersey at the Fifth National Institute on Girls' Sports.

The women participated in advanced coaching sessions and experimented with officiating techniques designed for the five-player game during the week's stay at the University of Illinois in January 1969.

"Undergraduate women are currently receiving preparation in the five-player game," said Miss Paskert. She added that the women's varsity and junior varsity teams at MSC will play out the 1969-70 season with the six-player game while learning the five-player rules for next year's season.

The most obvious reason for the proposed change, according to Miss Paskert, is that women in every other country in the world play a five-player game. The United States is the last to conform, and only took action in February 1969. The irony in this, she pointed out, is that basketball was invented and developed in Springfield, Mass., in 1891, and the first rules for women were published in 1899 in New Orleans.
