Friday Is Deadline for Statewide Prof Strike
Press Cahill for Salary Hike

By Helene Zuckerbrod
City Editor

TRENTON – Teachers in New Jersey's six state colleges will strike if the Cahill administration does not meet their salary demands by Fri., Feb. 20.

On that day, representatives of the faculties of all six schools will meet with the state Board of Education to sign a "memorandum agreement on monetary issues which have not been resolved," according to a faculty spokesman.

Round-the-clock negotiations have been in effect since 11 a.m. Mon., Feb. 16. This is the result of telegrams sent by the Board of Trustees of the Association of New Jersey State College Faculties, the faculty bargaining agent, to Gov. William T. Cahill, Chancellor of Higher Education Ralph A. Dunlap, members of the State Board of Higher Education and state college presidents. The negotiations will continue until a satisfactory agreement is reached.

The ANJSCF is seeking the following salary ranges:

Full professor – from the present $21,558 to $28,026.
Assoc. professor – from the present $17,735 to $23,075
Instructor – from the present $11,431 to $14,861.

"Higher education must expand because we are so far behind other states that it is pathetic," said Mr. James Pettegrove, professor of English and organizer of MSC's delegation to the Feb. 12 mass meeting which resulted in a march to the offices of the governor and the department of education.

According to Dr. David Duclos, ANJSCF, president, there is a "general dissatisfaction and unrest" among the faculty members who feel the negotiations with representatives of the state board have been "excessively prolonged."

The New Jersey Teacher's Association approved bargaining agent status for a legal bargaining agent last year, said Petegrove. In existence since the 1940s it had no legal status over all six campuses until the passage of Public Law 303. Passed over former Gov. Richard J. Hughes' veto, it provides for collective bargaining for teachers' salaries.

Petegrove emphasized the fact that action must be taken now, because, once the budget is finalized, it will be impossible to get salary increases until next year.

See James Petegrove: Closeup
Page Two.
WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25.

PHOTOGRAPHY. Monclair State College, Sprague library foyer, "Actions at Work" thru Feb. 23. Mon.-Thurs. 8 a.m.-10 p.m.; Fri. 9-5 p.m.; Sat. 8:30-4:30 p.m.; Sun. 6-10 p.m.

CUNA MOLAS. Cloth panels of applique and embroidery by Indian tribes. Montclair art museum. (Thru Feb.)

FILM. "Cinder City Plus 6," "Heracles," "I Know an Old Lady," "SU School of Education Auditorium, 35 West Fourth St. 10 a.m.

FILM. "Le Theatre National Populaire," "Jacques Copeau." La Maison Francaise, 16 Washington Mews, 11 a.m.

NEWARK MUSEUM. "American Realists and the Eight," 49 Washington St. thru March 8. Weekdays noon-5 p.m.; Sunday, 1-5 p.m.

CARTER DAY EXHIBIT. Works by contemporary Newark artists. Montclair art museum thru March 8.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18.

SILENT MOVIES. Traveling of old New York. Produced by Steven J. Lehrman. Channel 31, WNYC-tv, 3:30 p.m.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20.

HE UNDERGROUND BIRD. Drama probing motives of the drug addict. Catholic Center auditorium, 58 Washington Square St. So., 8 p.m.

TEN YEARS AFTER. Rock group performing at Sense Hall. University, Walsh auditorium, South Orange, 8:30 p.m.

BERGEN PHILHARMONIC. Seymour Lipkin, conductor. Teaneck high school, Queen Anne road, 8-10 p.m.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 21.

CONCERT, Barbara Mallow, cellist. Drew University, Longfellow scholarship which sent him to Harvard for master's study in literature.

THE DUDES. By Sulich. Sprague library. (Thru Feb.)

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 24.

"The Catholic Church, the Trade Unions, and the School System," Lecture by Mag. Charles Owen Rice. Eisner Lubin auditorium, Loeb student center. 8:30 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25.

A Film in Har Ear, Monclair State College, Memorial auditorium. 8:30 p.m. thru Feb. 28.

Concert, Barbara Mallow, cellist, Drew University, Brown lecture Hall B 8 p.m.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26.

"Variations of Love, Television Age "Explorations of love's qualities, produced by Joanne Mermey and Susan Lewis, Channel 31, WNYC-tv, 3:30 p.m.

The MONTCLARION is published weekly throughout the college year, September thru May, except during vacation and examination periods, by the Board of Publications, a division of the Student Government Association Inc., Monclair State College, Valley road at Normal avenue, Monclair, N.J. 07042. Telephone (201) 783-9091 or 746-9500, ext. 303. Advertising rates upon request. Subscription rates by mail: $2.50 per semester; $3.50 per year. Knowm office of publication Montclair, N.J. 07042. Second class postage paid at Monclair, N.J. 07042.

The MONTCLARION is a member of the New Jersey Colleges Press Association, United Street Student Press Service and the Collegiate Press Service.

The editorial opinions expressed represent those of the executive editor and the managing editor unless otherwise signed.

Mari-Jo Marra
Helene Zuckerbrod
Celeste Fauson
Miriam Taub
Joan T. Taylor
Susan Dominski
Carol Sakowitz
Roberta Kushi
Patricia Lust
H. Christa Rudolph
Alan O'Augustine
Mary X. Andri
Janice Salleno
Linda Monaco
Michael F.X. Grieco
Alpha Phi Omega

business manager
city editor
editorial assistant
news editors
features editor
sports editor
drama & arts editor
magazine editor
layout editor
picture editor
copy editors
editorial consultant

The editorial board includes:

Michael Pettegrove
Helene Zuckerbrod
Mari-Jo Marra
Susan Dominski
Carol Sakowitz
Roberta Kushi
Patricia Lust
James Cottingham

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20.

Produced by Steven J. Lehrman. Channel 31. WNYC-tv, 12:30-4:30 p.m.

The MONTCLARION is a member of the New Jersey Colleges Press Association, United Street Student Press Service and the Collegiate Press Service.

The editorial opinions expressed represent those of the executive editor and the managing editor unless otherwise signed.

Mari-Jo Marra
Helene Zuckerbrod
Celeste Fauson
Miriam Taub
Joan T. Taylor
Susan Dominski
Carol Sakowitz
Roberta Kushi
Patricia Lust
H. Christa Rudolph
Alan O'Augustine
Mary X. Andri
Janice Salleno
Linda Monaco
Michael F.X. Grieco
Alpha Phi Omega

business manager
city editor
editorial assistant
news editors
features editor
sports editor
drama & arts editor
magazine editor
layout editor
picture editor
copy editors
editorial consultant

The editorial board includes:

Michael Pettegrove
Helene Zuckerbrod
Mari-Jo Marra
Susan Dominski
Carol Sakowitz
Roberta Kushi
Patricia Lust
James Cottingham

Before coming to the MSC faculty in 1937, he taught at Bennington College in Vermont for one year and two years at his alma mater.

For a four-year period, Pettegrove went on leave to serve in the army in the Office of War Information which handled psychological-warfare campaigns. On several occasions, he received special permits to visit German POW camps and interview GIs.

While the accomplished professor reads French and has studied Russian, he speaks German fluently and has had published two translations of German author Ernst Cassiere. He also worked with this esteemed philosopher in 1945 on a revised English version of "Essay of Man."
Hollywood's Alphabet Soup

In an unprecedented move by the motion picture industry, Jack Valenti announced the formation of a motion picture code, to guide parents in sending their kids to Saturday matinees. This code has been somewhat confusing and so we would like to present at least some form of explanation.

"G" — we all know that "G" films stands for Grammar or perhaps Grade school. This is the only level of education required to see one of these films, in fact, one year of grade school education may be all you need. It means that anyone may see them, of course, but this code seeks to ensure that they are not so vulgar as to provide great moral lessons.

For example, "Popeye" was a "G"-rated film and it told the story of an 11-year-old boy in New York who didn't want to leave the ghetto environment because he wanted to stay with his girlfriend. His girlfriend's mother wanted him to move however, because she had caught them in bed together. Such a charming moral. "Oliver" was an "O"-rated film and it told the story of a young man who went to the Sistine Chapel to see the frescoes, and then found himself in without a parent. If kids could get into the theatre, they might see the frescoes. Usually, however, the Sistine Chapel is always out of sight and always at the end of the line. The boy ends up being even more permitted to go on a weeklong strike. Student voting will decide later whether to remain in classes or resume the boycott.

The boycott began last week to protest the decision of the students for the resignation of Dr. Robert Husseier, president of Trenton State College. The resignation of the former came this weekend, in his words, "in the interest of college well-being." Husseier became the third president of the institution to resign in five years.

MSC President Thomas H. Richardson, who served as interim president this past fall while Husseier took leave of absence, expressed the hope that this latest move will help Trenton State "work out its problems."

At the news of the resignation, the campus seemed generally elated. Nick Smoloney, manager of campus radio station WTSR-FM, said that this was "welcome relief" in the months of campus unrest. Student Executive Council President Jerry Pappulio felt "generally satisfied" with the events of the weekend.

Clayton R. Brower, dean of educational services, has been named acting administrative head. One of his first actions was to reconvert classes for Tuesday, during which the student vote to end or continue the boycott was held.

Along with the announcement of the temporary replacement, the Trustees proposed the formation of an all-college advisory council and recommended to the State Board of Higher Education that the next vacancy on the Board of Trustees will be filled by a recent graduate of Trenton State.

ECT Demands To Officials For Approval

NEWARK — An 11-point program of student demands have been submitted to the Board of Trustees and Board of Freeholders of Essex County College.

Points listed include, among others, more work for students within the community, an established day care center for the children of ECC students and the eventual expansion of ECC into a four year institution.

"Students at ECC also are opposed to the presentation of the Humanitarian Award to J. Harry Smith, chief executive officer, by the Christian and Jewish associations," said Don Yaleran, student at ECC. He is according to Yaleran insensitive and unresponsive to student situations.

Students and members of the Newark community will picket tomorrow in front of the Robert Treat Hotel in protest of the presentation, and recommended to the State Board of Higher Education that the next vacancy on the Board of Trustees will be filled by a recent graduate of Trenton State.

Calm Settlement Seen at Trenton

By Maurice J. Moran Jr. Managing Editor

TRENTON — A seemingly calm settlement to the disorder that has afflicted Trenton State College for the past eight months was put into effect today as students returned to classes after a weeklong strike. Student voting will decide later whether to remain in classes or resume the boycott.

"Under the bill," stated Kaltenbacher, "students 18-years-old and older will be allowed to legally bind themselves for loans made for the purpose of furthering their education."

At present, a student must be at least 21-years-old to obtain a loan without the cosignature of a parent or guardian. "Altho there have been exceptions," added Kaltenbacher, "the aim of this bill is to make financial aid available to all students."

Kaltenbacher stated that a would-be student, age 16 to 20, should not be cut off from loan money "merely because a parent cannot or will not guarantee a loan." Many qualified students who are unable to get scholarships have their educational plans thwarted by this "unjust restriction." "Many independent young men and women, realizing the value of higher education would prefer to participate in loan programs without guarantees or other assurances of performance from their parents," said Kaltenbacher.

Kaltenbacher then discussed the loan procedure under the bill. He stated that a loan would be valid only if the loan-granting institution that the applicant had been accepted at the school.

Uniformity of this bill in all states, pending its passage in New Jersey, is the next step indicated by Kaltenbacher. "This would eliminate the possibility of a conflict of law in the event that a student had to operate outside his own state," he said.

CAUTION: Teenagers should not encourage their parents to see "M" films stands for Grammar or perhaps Grade school. This code is for all students in mind. If kids could get into the theatre, they might see the frescoes. Usually, however, the Sistine Chapel is always out of sight and always at the end of the line. The boy ends up being even more permitted to go on a weeklong strike. Student voting will decide later whether to remain in classes or resume the boycott.

The boycott began last week to protest the decision of the students for the resignation of Dr. Robert Husseier, president of Trenton State College. The resignation of the former came this weekend, in his words, "in the interest of college well-being." Husseier became the third president of the institution to resign in five years.

MSC President Thomas H. Richardson, who served as interim president this past fall while Husseier took leave of absence, expressed the hope that this latest move will help Trenton State "work out its problems."

At the news of the resignation, the campus seemed generally elated. Nick Smoloney, manager of campus radio station WTSR-FM, said that this was "welcome relief" in the months of campus unrest. Student Executive Council President Jerry Pappulio felt "generally satisfied" with the events of the weekend.

Clayton R. Brower, dean of educational services, has been named acting administrative head. One of his first actions was to reconvert classes for Tuesday, during which the student vote to end or continue the boycott was held.

Along with the announcement of the temporary replacement, the Trustees proposed the formation of an all-college advisory council and recommended to the State Board of Higher Education that the next vacancy on the Board of Trustees will be filled by a recent graduate of Trenton State.

ECT Demands To Officials For Approval

NEWARK — An 11-point program of student demands have been submitted to the Board of Trustees and Board of Freeholders of Essex County College.

Points listed include, among others, more work for students within the community, an established day care center for the children of ECC students and the eventual expansion of ECC into a four year institution.

"Students at ECC also are opposed to the presentation of the Humanitarian Award to J. Harry Smith, chief executive officer, by the Christian and Jewish associations," said Don Yaleran, student at ECC. He is according to Yaleran insensitive and unresponsive to student situations.

Students and members of the Newark community will picket tomorrow in front of the Robert Treat Hotel in protest of the presentation, and recommended to the State Board of Higher Education that the next vacancy on the Board of Trustees will be filled by a recent graduate of Trenton State.

CAUTION: Teenagers should not encourage their parents to see "M" films stands for Grammar or perhaps Grade school. This code is for all students in mind. If kids could get into the theatre, they might see the frescoes. Usually, however, the Sistine Chapel is always out of sight and always at the end of the line. The boy ends up being even more permitted to go on a weeklong strike. Student voting will decide later whether to remain in classes or resume the boycott.

The boycott began last week to protest the decision of the students for the resignation of Dr. Robert Husseier, president of Trenton State College. The resignation of the former came this weekend, in his words, "in the interest of college well-being." Husseier became the third president of the institution to resign in five years.

MSC President Thomas H. Richardson, who served as interim president this past fall while Husseier took leave of absence, expressed the hope that this latest move will help Trenton State "work out its problems."

At the news of the resignation, the campus seemed generally elated. Nick Smoloney, manager of campus radio station WTSR-FM, said that this was "welcome relief" in the months of campus unrest. Student Executive Council President Jerry Pappulio felt "generally satisfied" with the events of the weekend.

Clayton R. Brower, dean of educational services, has been named acting administrative head. One of his first actions was to reconvert classes for Tuesday, during which the student vote to end or continue the boycott was held.

Along with the announcement of the temporary replacement, the Trustees proposed the formation of an all-college advisory council and recommended to the State Board of Higher Education that the next vacancy on the Board of Trustees will be filled by a recent graduate of Trenton State.

ECT Demands To Officials For Approval

NEWARK — An 11-point program of student demands have been submitted to the Board of Trustees and Board of Freeholders of Essex County College.

Points listed include, among others, more work for students within the community, an established day care center for the children of ECC students and the eventual expansion of ECC into a four year institution.

"Students at ECC also are opposed to the presentation of the Humanitarian Award to J. Harry Smith, chief executive officer, by the Christian and Jewish associations," said Don Yaleran, student at ECC. He is according to Yaleran insensitive and unresponsive to student situations.

Students and members of the Newark community will picket tomorrow in front of the Robert Treat Hotel in protest of the presentation, and recommended to the State Board of Higher Education that the next vacancy on the Board of Trustees will be filled by a recent graduate of Trenton State.

CAUTION: Teenagers should not encourage their parents to see "M" films stands for Grammar or perhaps Grade school. This code is for all students in mind. If kids could get into the theatre, they might see the frescoes. Usually, however, the Sistine Chapel is always out of sight and always at the end of the line. The boy ends up being even more permitted to go on a weeklong strike. Student voting will decide later whether to remain in classes or resume the boycott.

The boycott began last week to protest the decision of the students for the resignation of Dr. Robert Husseier, president of Trenton State College. The resignation of the former came this weekend, in his words, "in the interest of college well-being." Husseier became the third president of the institution to resign in five years.

MSC President Thomas H. Richardson, who served as interim president this past fall while Husseier took leave of absence, expressed the hope that this latest move will help Trenton State "work out its problems."

At the news of the resignation, the campus seemed generally elated. Nick Smoloney, manager of campus radio station WTSR-FM, said that this was "welcome relief" in the months of campus unrest. Student Executive Council President Jerry Pappulio felt "generally satisfied" with the events of the weekend.

Clayton R. Brower, dean of educational services, has been named acting administrative head. One of his first actions was to reconvert classes for Tuesday, during which the student vote to end or continue the boycott was held.

Along with the announcement of the temporary replacement, the Trustees proposed the formation of an all-college advisory council and recommended to the State Board of Higher Education that the next vacancy on the Board of Trustees will be filled by a recent graduate of Trenton State.
Pictures in the News

J. Sherry Flamme, 1970's edition of the Queen of Hearts, after her crowning Saturday evening.

EARLY TO BED AND: Excited members of MSC frat race towards finish line Friday in Players' Bed Race, well-planned publicity for weekend's "Flea in Her Ear."

"I HEREBY CHARGE YOU with contempt": Caricature of Judge Julius Hoffman parades toward the Justice Department in Manhattan Monday in protest against his "misuse of judicial power."

LOOK OUT, TRENTON: Empty seats in auditorium of Holiday Inn, Trenton, after a teacher's rally last Thursday, may symbolize the empty classrooms of next week if professor's demands are not met.

IN FLIGHT ON THE KEYS: Organist of rock group Gift Shop rocks it Saturday night at Queen of Hearts dance.

AT A LOSS FOR WORDS: Sherry Flamme, 1970's edition of the Queen of Hearts, after her crowning Saturday evening.

Montclair
Profs Behind a Mask

Montclair State's "fearful" proffs have decided to hide under a mask labeled "academic freedom" and take a step backward in the bargain. They've tabled compulsory faculty evaluations by students for the present semester. And the prospects for its return look bleak.

According to Mrs. Mary Bredemier, a spokesman for the faculty evaluation committee and an assistant education professor, many of the college's faculty feel that student review of campus profs would hinder academic freedom. Further, she says, many faculty members don't have the time or don't even want to be bothered with evaluation forms.

Let's Define Terms

What's meant by "academic freedom" in this case? Who knows. Apparently, it's a watery, baseless cop-out on the part of MSC's anti-evaluation profs.

We view academic freedom as a chance to express one's opinion. Obviously some profs just can't get this thru their ivy-clogged heads.

We suggest that the faculty evaluation committee buckle down to some productive sessions. The obvious issue here is not "academic freedom" but a fear the same profs might be discovered as incompetents thru published student evaluations.

It's Not a Joke Anymore

It is the oldest joke in the world to see a white-haired old prophet crying out "Prepare to meet thy doom." That joke is ceasing to be funny to anyone who takes a serious look at what the atomic age is doing to our world.

The facts are plain enough. As presented by The Argonaut, the official publication of the Sierra Club, organized to protect our natural resources, some of them are: overpopulation, predictions that 7 or 8 billion people will inhabit this earth by the year 2000, fertilizers kill the natural soil; detergents in our oceans make them unusable; DDt in our forests kills the animals; automobile, industrial and jet exhausts will make us retreat to the safety of a gas mask; and even the air we breathe will push the ocean shoreline back.

The facts are plain enough. As presented by The Argonaut, the official publication of the Sierra Club, organized to protect our natural resources, some of them are: overpopulation, predictions that 7 or 8 billion people will inhabit this earth by the year 2000, fertilizers kill the natural soil; detergents in our oceans make them unusable; DDt in our forests kills the animals; automobile, industrial and jet exhausts will make us retreat to the safety of a gas mask; and even the air we breathe will push the ocean shoreline back.

...Continuing this midyear report, I am requesting that the representatives of the individual school Senate planning committees and the representatives on the already-functioning Scatules stand firm in their beliefs and in their presentation of student ideas. Please report any faculty pressure or "bulldozing" to the SGA Students Relations Board.

Ken Traynor: SGA comment

What's Going On?

What's going on? Faculty-evaluation tabled by faculty... SGA begins faculty-evaluation on their own... preparing "unlimited cut" resolution to be presented to the Board of Trustees... waiting for a letter from Conrad and Jones, our lawyers, concerning legalizing liquor on campus... setting up an SGA scholarship fund of approximately $5000... criteria being prepared... requesting student representation on the Board of Trustees... constructing Campuswide-governing body.

The above is a capsule view of the major concerns of the SGA, presently and in the next few months. We presented our joint faculty-student committee report on faculty-evaluation to a faculty meeting. It was tabled. This is as good as voting the issue down. We will present our proposal on "unlimited cuts" to the Board of Trustees shortly. Faculty intervention may cause delay.

LEGALITY OF LIQUOR

We have written a letter to our lawyers requesting a statement on the legality of liquor on campus. If he states that the Board of Trustees has the authority to approve it, this will be the next step.

We have set up a SGA scholarship fund with a gift from the Class of 1969 of $5000. The criteria will probably be involvement in extracurricular activities, scholarship, and financial aid.

The Board of Trustees will be presenting a report on the initial request for student representation or a liaison.

EQUAL REPRESENTATION

I feel the last and most important negotiation is the campuswide governing committee. We are now meeting with the faculty and administration on this question. We have presented numerous proposals which will grant equal student representation on this campuswide governing Senate. This Senate will concern itself with superschool decision-making.

There is a serious statistic, even more serious than the 8000 calcium alkalinity and the 8000 carbon dioxide, will melt the polar ice caps and our coastline will become uninhabitable.

Legislation to save the environment

André Charles, sophomore, French

Foreign student (Haiti) Yes! I think so, because the student is able to have a certain amount of pressure on the professor which will push the professor to transmit all of his knowledge. Some professors need incentive. We feel the last and most important negotiation is the campuswide governing committee. We are now meeting with the faculty and administration on this question. We have presented numerous proposals which will grant equal student representation on this campuswide governing Senate. This Senate will concern itself with superschool decision-making.

Concluding this midyear report, I am requesting that the representatives of the individual school Senate planning committees and the representatives on the already-functioning Scatules stand firm in their beliefs and in their presentation of student ideas. Please report any faculty pressure or "bulldozing" to the SGA Students Relations Board.

Mini-Review

Some people simply don't listen to Spiro Agnew. As result as it may be to believe, not only don't they listen to dear Spiro but they have the utter gall to actually question some of our basic institutions - institutions which have served this country and made it what it is today. These ungrateful heretics criticize and offer suggestions for improvement as if this were not indeed the best of all possible worlds.

As you can well imagine it was with not inconsiderable outrage that we examined this blasphemous tract. After all, it is these very people who have participated in the riots which have made a mockery of our law and order. These horrible riots which have resulted in over 200 injuries over the past 10 years, certainly a serious statistic, even when compared to the over two million people who have been casualties in Vietnam.

All I don't want to restrict your liberty, I feel it is our duty to warn you that if you buy and read this clever collection of un-American essays your loyalty may be in doubt. R. Inley.
What happens at ‘The End of the Road’

Have you ever thought that either you or everyone else was insane? Aram Avakian shockingly shows that all of us are occasionally crazy. His independently financed film, based on John Barth’s book, “The End of the Road,” gives a new definition to insanity.

Sue Keach, currently in Broadway’s “Indians,” acts admirably as Jake Horner (any relation to Jack Horner?) the main character thru whom we witness the striking difference between fantasy and reality. Upon an absurd or superhuman black president, the black-and-white contrasts are so sharp that we can see the difference between fantasy and reality.

It is during this sequence of events that the film verges on sensationalism, for Doctor D. James (Earl Jones) happens along and violently snatches him out of stupor through a series of film clips from his historical past. The ‘End of the Road’ is a disturbing, well-made movie, worth seeing as an indication of the promiscuous direction film is taking in the 70s.

FRAKTEN ELECT IFIC OFFICERS

James Saxon has been recently elected Inter-Fraternity Council (IFC) president. The other new officers include: Richard Donat, vice-president; Doug Guy, secretary; and Jerry Bennis, treasurer.

Saxon, a junior business major and member of Beta Epsilon Tau, intends to “expand IFC’s activities to the entire campus by taking its more active part in student functions.” Hailing from Upper Montclair, Saxon’s interests range from sports to card-playing.

Donat, recording secretary of Phi Sigma Epsilon, is a junior chemistry major. After graduation, his plans include teaching, working for a chemical plant or becoming an airline pilot. His other hobbies include skiing and scuba diving.

A junior history from Lakewood, Benn is a brother of Lambda Chi Delta and has “always kept busy with campus life.” A math major for two years, Benn believes he has “learned just about everything there is to know about college politics.” Benn is Carnival cochairman.

Guy, a junior accounting major from Westwood, is the secretary of Beta Epsilon Tau. His interests include basketball and “brewing beer.”

WANTED -- SCHOOL CROSSING GUARD

For Personage Hill Road and Long Hill Drive near Short Hill Country Store.

WANTED -- Live Rock Lounge

· DJ

· Live Band

For the Riverboat. Maybe you will feel better.

SGA Considers a ‘Democratic’ Senate

A group known as project CATCH (Community Action Thru Community Help) composed of 20 undergraduates from across the U.S., will study small-group behavior, social organization and interpersonal relations in the workplace. They will go into the inner-city during afternoons and evenings, according to Dr. Vernezown, the sociology professor directing the two-month program at Georgetown University.

She explained that the program was founded because “a university has to prepare a student for future living. If we don’t run into major conflicts, we won’t consider ourselves successful."

Local black community leaders will meet with students at CATCH “as part of breaking down cultural communications barriers and strengthening each student’s awareness and sensitivity to others."

The CATCH house will be the center of all activities, stated Dr. Max. “It will be a total immersion process.” Further information is available by writing Dr. Max at the sociology department, Georgia State University, Washington, D.C., 10007.

SGA Needs Engineer

The ‘End of the Road’

A group of 25 engineers from the Weinstein Research Agency in Bridgeport, Conn. Working with a team of 10 full and part time “ghostwriters” (MA’s and PhD’s), they prepare papers for students, mostly from the Bridgeport area.

Rates for graduate papers are $2.75 per page plus expenses and $2.75 per undergraduate papers. Topics are submitted to the agency and within two hours the paper is read.

An article by Hank Levine of the Yale Daily News quoted Weinstein (Miller) as saying: “We will not write a paper we don’t think is worth doing. And we will not do every order. It’s amazing how good professors are at remembering papers they have seen.”

There are only 500 term paper topics in the world, according to Weinstein. All information is kept on file. When a topic is ordered, Weinstein looks over the information at hand and writes a new paper.

In an interview, Levine said that professors at the University of Bridgeport are very aware of the agency’s popularity on campus. One professor said that over 23 out of 150 students use Weinstein’s services and he had hoped to find a pattern in the ghostwriters, but did not.

It was found that Weinstein’s papers averaged better than the class average.

Weinstein’s is operating within the limits of the law. The agency according to Weinstein, he does not put out a title page and he avoids doing any business on university grounds.

The agency is profitable, according to Levine. They have low overhead and 65% of all money taken in is profit.

Frankly, I think he shows a good old-fashioned strain of American business initiative,” says Levine. “I thought he is basically only wish I had thought of it.”

classified ads

SMALL SUMMER RESORT ON Barham Lake near College and H.S. I have an office suite, w/a waiter/waitress, cabin-eteers, groundsman, and general kitchen staff. Salary (no food) includes use of sports facilities. Write full details, with photo. Write to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Traversi, B260 Park Rd., Elizabeth, N.J. 07207.

FOR SALE: Two New Firestone Town County Church bumper stickers, 100 miles on tires. $775-15 Mount on 775-15. Write for details, 206 S. Main St., Pine Lake, N.Y. 10969.

GOT A HANG UP? HANG OUT AT THE RIVERBOAT -- MAYBE YOU WILL FEEL BETTER!

RIVERBOAT LOUNGE

LIVE ROCK

WED.-FRI.-SAT. NITES

Call 998-6784 in the a.m.
A fine coaching staff and H

THE ROAR OF THE CROWD

The coaches and players know

You can appreciate your own

Some of you are identified by

You are usually easily identified. You can be seen

There was a time when you

Mother Nature has always

In the double meet on Baccarella mentioned, "It was

There are three meets remaining in the season.

Montclair State fan. When

Trenton; Newark; Delaware;

How many cheerleaders would

The weapon is you, the

One thing which the coaches and

THE COLLEGE BOWL

By Richard Davison

How many people would take

At Montclair State there are

The greatest and most knowledgeable in

One more thing that Montclair State

It's the sign of a true fan who

FAITH AND DEDICATION

Above all, the trait you can be

THE ALL NEW BOWLER

Clifton

New Pinspotters

New Kidbck hash

New Ball Returns

New Pindecks

New Masking Units

THE COLLEGE BOWL

Win and Lose.