ECC WILL LIMIT OPEN ADMISSIONS
NEWARK (Special) — Essex County College, scene of the recent student strike, will limit their September 1970 admissions to 1500 students. According to Edison O. Jackson, acting dean of student affairs, the cancellation of the opening of the Verona ECC annex will limit the number of incoming freshmen.

"I think most of students accept this, since we were not able to move to Verona," said Jackson. The college planned to open an annex at the Verona sanitorium.

The college operates on an "open door" policy admitting all students who have received a high school diploma. Jackson stated that the college would work on a "first come, first served" basis. ECC admitted 1900 students last September.

VOTING STARTS TODAY FOR STUDENT-FACULTY SENATE
Elections for the School of Humanities faculty-student senate begins today and will continue thru 6 p.m. Seven students and seven faculty will be elected to serve a two year term while 13 faculty and 13 students will be elected for one-year terms.

Voting-ballots are available in the foreign language and English offices in College Hall. According to Prof. Morris McGee, students and faculty will have the opportunity to meet the newly-elected officers on Fri., Feb. 27 at the fine arts auditorium. Refreshments will be served at that time.

PROTESTING SETON HALL STUDENTS MARCH WITH COLLECTION PLATES
SOUTH ORANGE (Special) — An estimated 300 students with collection plates in hand marched up and down South Orange avenue here last Thursday obtaining money from passing motorists.

The fund-raising project was an attempt to protest the college's planned jump of $10 per credit, according to an SHU student. The planned hike would tack on a minimum of $120 to a student's tuition bill.

About $95 dollars was collected from commuters which, according to a student spokesman, will be thrown into the laps of school officials to help their "bankrupt college."

The move was spearheaded by a group calling themselves "concerned students" who are also supporting the boycott of the campus bookstore and snack bar because they claim their prices are too high.

SUPPORT MOUNTING FOR ARCHITECTURE SCHOOL
DOVER — Assemblyman W. Allen Cobb (R-Morris) feels that "there is a great demand" for the formation of an architect school in New Jersey. One of four supporters of a resolution for such a school, Cobb feels that since students must now go out of state for architectural education, it is only natural for New Jersey to do something immediately.

The facts favor such a move. Out of 864 New Jersey students of architecture, only seven of them are enrolled at Princeton's school of architecture. "States are beginning to ask why doesn't New Jersey do something about their own problems?" Cobb commented. While the measure has not yet reached the Assembly floor, it should receive "favorable treatment," Cobb said.

Trenton Talks Resume As Prof Strike Looms
State Gropes for 'Common Ground'

By Helene Zuckerbrod
City Editor

TRENTON — Faculty and state representatives gathered here again today for another round of closed door wage negotiations.

"No one can say how long the negotiations will last," said Joseph P. O'Neill, administrative assistant to Ralph A. Dungan, chancellor of higher education.

A threatened strike by faculties of New Jersey's six state colleges was averted last week when the appointment of a mediator, Arnold Zack, was coupled with an agreement to continue negotiations until the discovery of a "mutually agreeable" proposal with the state.

Zack was named to mediate the negotiations by the state's Public Employees Relations Commission.

Following a meeting last Friday between the state representatives and New Jersey profs are seeking the following maximum salary boosts:

Full professor — from the present $21,558 to $28,026.
Assoc. professor — from the present $17,735 to $23,075.
Instructor — from the present $11,431 to $14,861.

Association of New Jersey College Faculties and the state Board of Higher Education, approximately 500 teachers heard members of the state board pledge "every effort shall be made to arrive at a mutually-acceptable agreement." Afterwards, those board members present promised to work for legislative acceptance of any final agreement.

The state is offering a 10% wage increase while the teachers are demanding a 25% increase.

According to Press Secretary Thomas Flynn, Gov. William T. Cahill has no plans to intervene in the dispute.

Earlier that day, approximately 1000 teachers marched to the State House carrying picket signs denouncing Dungan.

JAIL THE BOARD

Boarded prof marches in front of the State Department of Education offices during Friday's faculty protest in Trenton. Public Law 303 gives state college faculties the right to strike to obtain salary increments, if all other negotiations fail. The faculties and state government will continue to bargain throughout this week until salary demands are met. Gov. William T. Cahill has stated that he will remain mum on the bargaining sessions until the negotiations are completed.
WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25
CONCERT. Barbara Maltow, cellist. Drew University, Brown lecture hall. 8 p.m.

DRUG SYMPOSIUM. "Drugs and the University's Obligations: Legal and Moral." Fairleigh Dickinson student lounge, Rutherford. 7:30 p.m.

FILM. "Requiem for a Child." Jean-Louis Borrelly. "Ronchamp." La Maison Francaise, 16 Washington Mews, New York City 11 a.m., 4 p.m.

A FLEA IN HER EAR. Players' production. Montclair State College, Memorial auditorium. 8:30 p.m. (thru Feb. 28.)

MOTHER-DAUGHTER EXHIBIT. "Scultpures Paintings." Ann Lippeman, oils and watercolors by Coco. Edward Williams College, 150 Korte Pl., Hackensack. (thru Feb.)

WILLIAM BLAKE. ENGRAVER. Princeton University, Firestone library, Mon. – Sat. 9-6; Sun. 2-6 (thru March 29.)

DANIEL NAPES. Recent paintings. Piggia Art Gallery, 3 Blomfield Ave.

MID-BLOCK ART SERVICE. "We're a Proud People." Gallerie, 381 Central Ave., East Orange. Daily, noon-6 p.m.; Wednesday, noon-9 p.m. (thru March.)

SUN.-MARCH 1
INTER-SORORITY COUNCIL OPEN HOUSE. Montclair State College, Memorial auditorium. 15 6 p.m.

ROLE OF THE UN IN WORLD AFFAIRS. Lord Haas, vice-president of the State Association of New Jersey State College Teachers, is a sailing enthusiast and owns a sailboat which he enjoys all summer long. At home in Maine during the summer months, Haas is on the faculty of the graduate school at the University of Maine.

This former president of the state association described the Trenton gathering in three main phases. An executive session with the state Board of Higher Education brought the rally to life Friday morning. This was followed by a general public gathering and finally a meeting of all assembled faculty, who were then briefed on negotiation proceedings.

The professor mentioned that he was "pleased with the reaction" of the faculty. He named no definite settlement because the outcome was "in the hands of the mediators."

An avid sports fan, Haas played college basketball, baseball and track. He "loves to read" and does so mainly in his specialty, business law, and he also admitted a strong reading interest in the field of philosophy.

Wayne is the hometown of Haas and his family; he has three children, a daughter in Colorado, a son in Trenton and another daughter at home who will attend the University of Maine in September.

Haas, who received his BS at Trenton State College, completed his MA and PhD studies at Rutgers, New Brunswick. He has traveled throughout the U.S., including many visits to Colorado. Haas expressed "hope that we can settle the negotiations in a mutually agreeable way. I'm sure we can."

—Dominski.

Howard Haas:
Encouragement

Encouragement from Dr. Howard L. Haas, professor of business, sent Montclair State teachers to Trenton on Fri. Feb. 20 to negotiate for new contracts. The rally gathered 800 to 900 New Jersey state college teachers demonstrating for wage increases and a reduced schedule load.

Haas, vice-president of the State Association of New Jersey State College Teachers, is a sailing enthusiast and owns a sailboat which he enjoys all summer long. At home in Maine during the summer months, Haas is on the faculty of the graduate school at the University of Maine.

The MONTCLARIAN is published weekly throughout the metropolitan area.

SUNDAY, MARCH 1
SALON. "From StMC to StMC." By Susan Dominski. Montclair State College, Memorial auditorium. 8 p.m.
You Can't Always Get Facts On a Fact-Finding Mission

As you might have noticed I've been off on a fact-finding mission for the past two days. And the heck is a fact-finding mission? you ask.

What it's not that easy to explain. You see, it encompasses various things at various times. It all depends upon the time of day you're talking about.

I knew a newswoman who went on a fact-finding mission and never lived to return. Rumor has it that he got married to one of those woman's-liberation dames. And now he's managing his wife's campaign for dog catcher in Pasaic. I heard of a photographer who took off on a fact-finding mission with 10 cameras to some country in Latin America. He tramped across 10 countries for the presidency of Bolivia but he was beheaded in six months when they ran out of film.

SHOPPING FOR POTHOLES

But I didn't do anything that exciting. Just last Monday I was out in Laramie, Wyoming where they manufacture potholes for route 46. Morgan Moonshine, president of Moonshine's Superior Pothole Company told me that orders for giant-sized holes came in at a rate of 1000 a day. "Just the other day I got 50 orders from Clifton alone.

"Why would anyone want to buy potholes?" I asked.

"Well," said Moonshine, "orders come from two sources. One comes from the car manufacturers who want to speed up the built-in obsolescence in a given year. You know, car sales aren't doing too well in Clifton these days.

"Then," he admitted, "orders come from politicians. They figure they'll fill up the potholes around mid-March and the people will think they're doing something."

MINISCOPES

Nevertheless, I came up with some beautiful facts and figures that are fascinating reading.

Trisakidesphobia is the exaggerated fear of the number 13. Spring that on your English prof sometime.

Those women's-liberation dames are at it again, according to The National Observer. Jone Freeman, 30 years old from midwest City, Oklahoma, hopes to "desegregate" the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado. She says the academy has been integrated by color, race and creed, but not by sex. Hmm... didn't we do it in the 1960's?

Now here's a girl that knows her place. Judith Teller, editor of the feminist Pennsylvania paper at the University of Pennsylvania says that men can contribute to direct this women's liberation hocus by starting a men's liberation movement. (Yea, free the men, free these dames.) Judy says women should act like women instead of acting like men. "It's a very feminine feeling to have a man open the door for you. But I certainly have the strength to open the door myself. It all depends upon the situation." I tip my hat, madame.

HAND-TROUBLE

Mori Comin, in his column "Oddly Enough" appearing in Jersey City's Jewish Standard tells the story of a little boy who cried "I gotta to to the bathroom." The teacher, says Comin, looked at him coldly, "Bartram, when you have to go, raise your hand."

Bartram looked doubtful. "Will that help?" he asked.

Meanwhile our trade balance is having a Dunlap implosion overseas. According to the Washington Newsletter, the U.S. is exporting, nearly those times as many bibles and religion books than we are importing. But they're all going to Argentina.

State Will Quiz Jersey Ed Setup

By Celeste Faone Education Assistant TRENTON - Education in the state of New Jersey is now the subject of study by the state Department of Education. The program is studying the needs and priorities of all grades, with the exception of college levels.

Under the direction of Dr. Bernard Kaplan, director of state education, the project will call on approximately 50 representatives from each phase of the community including educational leaders, labor, business and civic organizations.

"We are seeking an across-the-board, total picture for all citizens," stated Kaplan. "We are attempting to decide what directions the citizens of the state feel most important in terms of where the student should be headed," he added.

Kaplan is urging parents and students to take part in this "new venture in education" by participating in statewide, regional and local district meetings to suggest objectives and goals the study should be concerned with. Tentative plans for seminars to begin in the summer will then decide how to put into effect the agreed-upon objectives, according to Kaplan.

One possible topic the study will be concerned with is leisure time in education, according to Kaplan.

The program, expected to be completed within the year, was proposed by the Title III State Advisory Council of New Jersey in an attempt to direct this nation's education toward the greatest needs of the state.

Kaplan stated that a campaign will soon begin underway to inform and involve the public of all phases of the study through use of tv, radio and the press.

Plummer Out as Fine Arts Head

Dr. Gordon S. Plummer has resigned as fine arts department chairman. The position is currently being filled by acting department chairman Dr. Charles Martin, professor of fine arts.

Plummer's resignation is effective as of the beginning of the present semester, stated MSC President Dr. Thomas H. Richardson. Plummer became department chairman last September following the retirement of Dr. Lillian A. Calica, chairman since 1955.

Plummer is expected to remain in the fine arts department, serving as a faculty member, thru the 1970-71 academic year, said Richardson.

The fine arts department has been the scene of much recent controversy concerning the position of William McCreath, ceramics expert and assistant professor of fine arts.

For the current semester, McCreath was scheduled to teach two introductory art sections ("Introduction to Visual Arts 100"). While two ceramics sections, including an independent study section, were assigned to a non-ceramics professor.

A committee is now being formed to choose a new permanent chairman. Among those names mentioned for the position are Dr. Calica.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Trenton Biggies Stay Mum

By Richard De Santa Political Reporter TRENTON - As collective bargaining continues in the state college teachers dispute, all seem to be quiet at the top.

Gov. William T. Cahill has pledged a "noninterference" policy, leaving the matter in the hands of a mediation panel. Meanwhile, Ralph A. Dunigan, chancellor of higher education, has indicated an "understanding" of the state's financial dilemma.

A spokesman for Dunigan said that the chancellor "can see that Cahill is caught in the squeeze of trying to organize an economy drive while being harried with salary demands from all angles." He cited the fact that Cahill recommended a cut in funds for education in his recent budget statement. Using as an example the $22 million cut in financial aid to Rutgers, Dunigan stated that "these are the conditions under which state educators are bargaining at the present time."

In a recent statement, Cahill stated that the colleges and universities don't welcome any involvement on his part, "except when they demand the unrestricted assignment of taxpayers funds." He added that buildings are authorized and priorities established without consultation with state officials or "fiscal agents."

Just how long this "peaceful coexistence" will last is a question which may be answered when the board submits its recommendation to the Legislature, if and when a financial settlement is reached.

Dungan recently stated that he would exercise his "fullest effort" in having the terms of an agreement implemented by the Legislature. Some close to Dunigan feel that, at whatever point this occurs, the governor's "nonintervention" policy may very well come to an end.
Reportage: The Beautiful People

An Evening with John and Yoko

By Maurice J. Moran Jr.

Managing Editor

NEW YORK — I am a pig. Or at least that's what the Prime Minister said when, surrounded by at least 50 members of the revolutionary elite of New York City who gave up an enjoyable Friday evening to "think" at press representatives attending the opening of John Lennon's "Bag One," a showing of 14 lithographs depicting his sexual relationship with Yoko Ono. The guests of honor were, supposedly, John and Yoko.

It was truly an experience to get thru the doors of the Leo Nordness Galleries (E. 75th street) that night. And here, in my own words, and those of others, is a record of that event:

"Please pass thru . . . "

". . . so these are the beautiful people . . .

There were wall-to-wall people, spilling stretches and furs and ruffled shirts over each other. Making our way thru the gallery in amorous fashion, we finally arrived at the scene of the "event of the year."

PLAN "TROUBLEBUBBLES"

In order to get thru, we had to wade (or was it walk?) thru a room where everybody lined in plastic air bubbles which burst if one stepped on them.

"Please take your shoes off . . . there plastic covering up ahead . . ."

". . . it's a little like that swimming — it's hard after the air is gone."

John Lennon's artistic sense goes beyond description. He has proven, with the Beatles and his film work, that he is a genius and "Bag One" is no exception. It is a series of 14 line drawings portraying his life since Yoko. It is his opinion that he was not more than 20 when he met her. The dedication of the exhibit reads: "Born 1941; Land; Met Yoko 1967; John Lennon 1970."

Frank D. Cripps

Conservatism: Rooted in Man

Odd Bodkins

United States has been held up as the model nation, something with which to set the standard. But we've been resented for our affluence and the way we channel our money. It usually got into the wrong hands south of the border.

Rockefeller warns that political violence and economic and social convulsions are due for Latin America. While progress has been made thru liberalizing the Church and the military, Church leaders are usually friendly to the left and military leaders have found fascination with "Nasserism." — D. M. Levine

"The Rockefeller Report on the Americas," With an Introduction by Ted Sorel. $1.25. Quadrangle paperback. With Capitol Hill's attention focused on Vietnam, the Mideast and the nation's urban problems, Latin America will probably turn up an otherwise enjoyable Friday night.

One, a showing of 14 lithographs by the genius of Lennon, the most fascinating with "Nasserism" a model nation, something with the United States has been held up as the best of the Western world.

The art is not the greatest, but it is beauty in every sense of the word when one considers that it is an expression of love and fulfillment. Nothing can be considered as more fittingly expresses peace and love to the world. "Hello. Who are you?"

"There's a famous Newman over there and I don't know who he is."

"Oh, he's radio — I only know people who are dead."

NO ONE THERE

If people would only believe the genius of Lennon, the ridiculous atmosphere of alcohol and impressing small-talk that accompanied the opening would hardly have been necessary. "It's a put-on; he's a put-on; if it wasn't Lennon, it wouldn't be here."

". . . there's no one of importance here; certainly not John and Yoko."

And what of the so-called real people outside the door? The ones who were grunting at us as we entered.

They aren't so bad, it's just when they burst in here and threaten to bust my head in . . ."

"To protect the innocent from trouble. They're just looking for Lennon . . ."

"I leave the exhibition, what was purported to be the most thrilling evening in my life, not one man any other man's superior or inferior.

We are witnessing today the greatest upheaval in human history that has ever taken place. Race has been lifted against race, creed against creed, color against color. Over a hundred years ago, Lincoln stated that a house divided against itself could not stand. He spoke of two communities which had built invisible yet real barriers between themselves. Today we are a house divided. Only this time, the barriers have been thrown up between the races, religious creeds and political philosophies.

Conservatives believe that wherever barriers exist between men, there is no equality, and freedom is at stake.

ULTIMATE GOAL

The ultimate goal of the conservative philosophy is the threat to the maxi-realization of the individual's freedom within a stable and peaceful society. America's present-day society of affluence has not liberated men, it has enslaved them, created a crisis of the soul, caused never before known unrest and discontent, and threatened the very survival of the American republic. Conservatism is opposed obviously, to the continuation of this new form of tyranny. Conservatives can no longer accept a political philosophy, much less a society, that seeks after material wealth at the expense of men's freedom. This trend must be stopped before tyranny results; stopped destroying the very system of government which has, for so long, been the best possible safeguard of man's liberty.

To sum it all up, in the words of Barry Goldwater: "We are witnessing today the greatest upheaval in human history that has ever taken place. Race has been lifted against race, creed against creed, color against color. Over a hundred years ago, Lincoln stated that a house divided against itself could not stand. He spoke of two communities which had built invisible yet real barriers between themselves. Today we are a house divided. Only this time, the barriers have been thrown up between the races, religious creeds and political philosophies. Conservatives believe that wherever barriers exist between men, there is no equality, and freedom is at stake.

ULTIMATE GOAL

The ultimate goal of the conservative philosophy is the threat to the maxi-realization of the individual's freedom within a stable and peaceful society. America's present-day society of affluence has not liberated men, it has enslaved them, created a crisis of the soul, caused never before known unrest and discontent, and threatened the very survival of the American republic. Conservatism is opposed obviously, to the continuation of this new form of tyranny. Conservatives can no longer accept a political philosophy, much less a society, that seeks after material wealth at the expense of men's freedom. This trend must be stopped before tyranny results; stopped destroying the very system of government which has, for so long, been the best possible safeguard of man's liberty.

To sum it all up, in the words of Barry Goldwater: "We are witnessing today the greatest upheaval in human history that has ever taken place. Race has been lifted against race, creed against creed, color against color. Over a hundred years ago, Lincoln stated that a house divided against itself could not stand. He spoke of two communities which had built invisible yet real barriers between themselves. Today we are a house divided. Only this time, the barriers have been thrown up between the races, religious creeds and political philosophies. Conservatives believe that wherever barriers exist between men, there is no equality, and freedom is at stake.

ULTIMATE GOAL

The ultimate goal of the conservative philosophy is the threat to the maxi-realization of the individual's freedom within a stable and peaceful society. America's present-day society of affluence has not liberated men, it has enslaved them, created a crisis of the soul, caused never before known unrest and discontent, and threatened the very survival of the American republic. Conservatism is opposed obviously, to the continuation of this new form of tyranny. Conservatives can no longer accept a political philosophy, much less a society, that seeks after material wealth at the expense of men's freedom. This trend must be stopped before tyranny results; stopped destroying the very system of government which has, for so long, been the best possible safeguard of man's liberty.

To sum it all up, in the words of Barry Goldwater: "We are witnessing today the greatest upheaval in human history that has ever taken place. Race has been lifted against race, creed against creed, color against color. Over a hundred years ago, Lincoln stated that a house divided against itself could not stand. He spoke of two communities which had built invisible yet real barriers between themselves. Today we are a house divided. Only this time, the barriers have been thrown up between the races, religious creeds and political philosophies. Conservatives believe that wherever barriers exist between men, there is no equality, and freedom is at stake.

ULTIMATE GOAL

The ultimate goal of the conservative philosophy is the threat to the maxi-realization of the individual's freedom within a stable and peaceful society. America's present-day society of affluence has not liberated men, it has enslaved them, created a crisis of the soul, caused never before known unrest and discontent, and threatened the very survival of the American republic. Conservatism is opposed obviously, to the continuation of this new form of tyranny. Conservatives can no longer accept a political philosophy, much less a society, that seeks after material wealth at the expense of men's freedom. This trend must be stopped before tyranny results; stopped destroying the very system of government which has, for so long, been the best possible safeguard of man's liberty.
Whose Rights?

While strikes are gripping several of the state's major cities, there's a sad paradox in the story of teacher's rights. Everybody knows that our system allows employees to strike against their employers in an attempt to receive higher wages, thus bettering their standards of living. Inflation spirals may jump in once a while, but that's the price strikers pay. Unfortunately there's some gross misjudgments on the part of striking teachers in the state's large cities.

Anybody the Kids?

Strikes could rage for weeks, yet deprived students suffer the most. The strikes obviously hurt the ghettos children whose socio-economic upbringing keeps them down on the educational scale. What's needed here is some strike-prevention laws and state government influence. Gov. William T. Cahill admits that our state is in the midst of an educational crisis. Yet members of Cahill's administration prefer to remain mum about trying to keep strikes under control.

Teachers have a vital public service to perform, yet only wages seem to be uppermost in the minds of the strikers. Anyone wonder what the kids think?

Change of Date

MSC's Student Government Association has voted to set the date for their executive offices (president, vice-president, treasurer and secretary) at April 22. We feel this decision is in error.

Setting the date at late April causes several problems: Foremost, the newly-elected officers will have only six weeks to learn their new jobs before they have to begin carrying them out. Moreover, only four legislative meetings are scheduled between April 22 and the end of the school year. Among these four meetings is, of course, the infamous budget meeting, usually lasting hours on end and covering no topics other than the budget.

The late April date also places the elections right in the middle of those balmy spring days, when students spend their days lying on the lawns.

Also, the April 22 date leaves only four weeks in which to hold SGA legislative elections. The student body will have less than those four weeks to get to know the nominated legislators, often complete strangers, from their departments and schools, thus not providing sufficient time for a true evaluation of the candidates.

We see little reason behind the April 22 date, save perhaps obtaining the votes of the student teaching seniors. This problem could be remedied thru the use of absentee ballots mailed to the seniors' homes.

We feel that a new date for the SGA executive elections is needed. A date in mid-March, for example, would allow ample time for the evaluation of all candidates and for the new officers to learn what's in store for them.

MSC students stop paying for After hike, the students are educating this), not only will education is currently raising the funds for another batch of bread.

THEY JUST CAN'T AFFORD IT

The numerous fee hikes at MSC have, indeed, raised a great deal of resentment in the minds of the students. Burdened with hike after hike, the students are seemingly throwing aside such traditions as class gifts because they just can't afford it.

And with the possibility looming of another tuition increase if the faculty gets the higher salaries they're seeking, an additional fee for the parking garage under consideration, and the recent increase in the student union fee (Montclair State, by the way, is the only state college with this), the Board of Higher Education is currently investigating this, not only will MSC students stop paying for tradition -- they may be priced right out of an education.
GOOD GOD, I'M NEXT": an excited debutante of MSC awaits presentation at Cotillion, at the N.Y. Hilton.

I'M HAPPY TO INTRODUCE": the new sisters of Theta Chi Rho wait to be presented.

GREEKS DEBUT AT COTILLION

'A Little Bit Softer': The very experienced instruments of the ballroom band sets the tempo for the evening.

GLIDE CROSS THE FLOOR WITH THE MAN SHE ADORES': MSC sorority members start what could be an 'excitingly beautiful' evening with the band playing 'Love Is Blue', at Cotillion, last weekend.
He is stopped by Bob Steiger, Joe Black and Ron Garrison. Diane Pisano, Donna Gare Testa and Carol Ann Martin cringe fearfully.

Flea Tonite

Montclair State College Players will present their third play of the season, George Feydeau's "A Flea In Her Ear" tonite at 8:30 p.m. in Memorial auditorium.

Directed by Clyde MacElroy, "A Flea In Her Ear" is a French bedroom farce which has been described as "the primeval situation comedy."

The play will be presented Feb. 25, 26, 27 and 28 at 8:30 p.m. There will be no matinee performance.

Players would like to remind their patrons of their prompt curtain policy. All latecomers will be seated at the discretion of the management.

"KWHERE'S MY QUIFE?": the maddened Spaniard attempts to kill his wife and her alleged lover. He is stopped by Bob Steiger, Joe Black and Ron Garrison. Diane Pisano, Donna Gare Testa and Carol Ann Martin cringe fearfully.

"Flea' Tonite

Montclair State College Players will present their third play of the season, George Feydeau's "A Flea In Her Ear" tonite at 8:30 p.m. in Memorial auditorium.

Directed by Clyde MacElroy, "A Flea In Her Ear" is a French bedroom farce which has been described as "the primeval situation comedy."

The play will be presented Feb. 25, 26, 27 and 28 at 8:30 p.m. There will be no matinee performance.

Players would like to remind their patrons of their prompt curtain policy. All latecomers will be seated at the discretion of the management.

"AH, QUE ESTUPIDO": Dennis Melillo apologizes profusely to his wife, played by Mary Jean Cullen. Frank Stancati and Carol Lee Palmioto look on.
Now You Can 'Turn Off' Your Prof
Individual Instruction Aim of Teaching Machines

By Linda Monaco
Staff Reporter

Some students have been "turned off" by their profs for years — now the students can turn their teachers off. Through teaching machines, the teacher can devote more time to individual instruction, according to Mr. Robert Ruezinsky, assistant coordinator of the MSC audio-visual center. Ruezinsky stated that the college is currently considering the purchase of equipment in the technology of teaching machines.

He defined the program, which may be offered after the 1970-71 school year, to include courses in the understanding and in the writing of programmed instruction, and in the use of computer assisted instruction (CAI) and its uses in school curriculums.

"Teaching machines can provide time for more human contact," explained Ruezinsky. "In a regular classroom situation, the teacher must devote himself to the whole class and there is little time for individual help. But with teaching machines," he continued, "each student is working by himself. This allows the teacher time to help individual students without hindering the progress of others."

Programmed instructions in schools comes in two forms: programmed text books or computers. These texts cost about the same as regular texts, whereas computer assisted instruction is more expensive.

Mr. John C. Diglio, assistant audiovisual coordinator, said that computerized instruction can give both visual and oral aid. If a student does not understand a concept, he can ask for a picture.

Diglio mentioned that another advantage to teaching machines is that a student can stop the lesson "at any time and ask a question." In many computer situations, all a student needs to do to receive assistance is to push the "help" button on the computer and it will review the subject again.

If the student still cannot understand the material, he can push another "help" button and the teacher will come and give additional aid.

DELTA ALPHA CHI ELECTS PRESIDENT
Delta Alpha Chi sorority at Montclair State College has chosen Fred Myer of Rahway, a junior mathematics major, vice president; M. Michael Demovic of Dunellen, also a junior mathematics major, treasurer; Pat Keough of Short Hills, a junior French major, secretary, and Dave Murray of Montclair, a junior French major, recording secretary. Also elected were: Georgeanne J. Aldrich of Boonton, a sophomore Spanish major, pledge mistress; Jayne Morris of Union, a junior home economics major, alumna secretary; and Gall Barr of Penasaukee, a junior mathematics major, historian.

SCHOLARSHIP AVAILABLE FOR AUSTRIA TRAVEL
Would you like to spend a year in Europe and continue your education at the same time? It's possible through the Graz scholarship, an annual student exchange between Montclair State College and the University of Graz, Austria.

Mr. Herbert E. Reaske, assistant professor of English and member of the Graz scholarship committee, explained the details. "Half the year will be spent in Austria, the other half in the United States. Salaries run from $200 to $600 for the season, plus maintenance, depending upon experience."

Openings will be available for persons who can teach various athletic activities, such as swimming, golf, baseball and basketball or dramatics, dancing, photography, arts and crafts and music as well as for cabin counselors, camp directors and registered nurses. Application forms may be obtained by writing to the Campus Unit, Professional and Commercial Placement Office, 80 Mulberry St., Newark, N.J. There is no fee charged.

Social Welfare Is New Major at Newark State

By Kathy Vargo
Staff Reporter

UNION — Social welfare is a new major offered this spring at Newark State College.

According to Dr. Nelly D. Stone, the program coordinator, students in the new major will be trained for immediate employment in social welfare jobs upon graduation with a BA in social welfare. The program has been approved by the State Board of Higher Education.

Dr. Stone commented that the curriculum for social welfare is quite different from that of the sociology department. She explained that social welfare is an "applied science" whereas sociology is more "academic."

Therefore, since the course stresses book-learning as well as method, Dr. Stone noted students will receive "field experience." Seniors will spend one day a week under supervision in a social agency. Other class periods will consist of seminars and discussions with an instructor, on his outside experiences," she added.

Dr. Stone concluded "Other state colleges might have courses similar to those taken in a social welfare course of study, however, NSC is the first New Jersey state college that offers social welfare as a major with a complete curriculum."

Players Perform "Flea" Tonite

"Flea in Her Ear," a French comedy by Georges Feydeau, will be presented by the Montclair State College Players in the college's Memorial auditorium Feb. 25, 26, 27 and 28 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets at $1.50 for adults and 75c for students may be reserved by calling the box office, 746-9120. According to Dr. McElravy, director of the production, Feydeau, who wrote the play around the turn of the century, is considered one of the masters of farce. Players is using an Americanization of the work by Barnett Shaw.

ELECT DOUCETTE PLAYERS PRESIDENT
Greg Doucette, junior speech major from Ridgewood, has been elected president of the Montclair State College Players, campus drama group, for the coming year. Doucette, a special major in Speech, appeared in numerous Players' productions. During the present season he has filled leading roles in "Barefoot in the Park" and "Marat/Sade" and has a prominent part in the upcoming production "Flea in Her Ear."

Chosen to serve with the new president were: Betty Passafiume of Union, vice president; Thomas Hayes of Teaneck, treasurer; Jacqueline Isherwood of Dover, recording secretary; Jack Mageean of Haledon, corresponding secretary; and Michael Smanko of Rahway, historian.

APD ELECTS MYER AS PRESIDENT
Fred Myer, 20, a junior social science major, Lodi, has been elected president of Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity. "Fred is a valuable member of our executive board," said Sue Scott, president of the local chapter, "and a dedicated individual." Myer served as vice-president and secretary of the fraternity. In addition to serving as an officer in Alpha Phi Omega, Myer is treasurer of SEAM (Student Education Association) at Montclair. and has worked with the Voting-Age Coalition.

OPEN HOUSE SET FOR MARCH 1
Spring rushing will begin with Inter-Sorority Council's spring open house on March 1, between the hours of 1-6 p.m., in Life Hall.

"The purpose of ISC Open House is to give those female students interested in pledging a chance to meet the women of Greek organizations, and to become familiar with the many sororities on campus," said ISC President Marcia Zubenans.

In the weeks following open house, March 3 to March 25, each sorority will hold an informal tea. From April 6 to April 20 sorority "coffee hours" will be held. "By this time," Miss Zubenans said, "the interested girls will be deciding on their priority and who they would like to pledge." The spring rushing period will run from April 29 to May 13.

Meet the Prof: Educators predict that the way of the future will be teaching machines.

The Men of Zeta Epsilon Tau Present
"The Last Chance Dance" Featuring "The Ebony Stone"
Friday, Feb. 27, at 8:00
MCAFeteria Donation: $1.00

Fun Working in Europe

Summer and Year Round Jobs Abroad: Get paid, meet people, learn a language, travel, enjoy! Nice job categories in more than fifteen countries. Foreign language not essential. Send $1.00 for membership and 8-page illustrated JOBS ABROAD magazine, complete with details and applications to International Society for Training and Culture, 86 United Nations Plaza, New York, N. Y., a non-profit student membership organization.

Get to know the Sororities of MSC.

the Inter-Sorority Council cordially invites all women to their OPEN HOUSE

March 1, 1970
1:50 p.m., Life Hall.
By Susan Dominski
Feature Editor

NEWARK—The Newark Teacher Corps, which was added to the Montclair State curriculum last summer, is providing intensive training in poverty-area teaching for undergraduates. These student interns, mostly seniors, spend about 60% of their time working in Newark schools. The balance of their time is filled by working in the community and attending undergraduate classes at MSC.

Six interns form a team which works together in the high school, directly supervised by an experienced teacher, the team "leader," and their professional tutor or small group instructors. The responsibilities of each corps member are gradually increased. The interns never replace a regular teacher, but work closely with him and the corps supervisor.

Dr. Lawrence Kenyon, director of teacher corps explained that the idea for the corps grew out of the Special Programs for Urban Teachers (SPURT). "I heard about the program when I worked with SPURT," he said, and he later went to Washington to find out more.

Initiated by the Higher Education Act of 1965, the teacher corps is now in its fourth cycle. "Such active participation in community work and special projects in the schools makes the interns learning to be better teachers, with more understanding of the community aspects of education," stated Kenyon.

The interns, who were trained at a summer preservice program at Montclair State, fill a variety of roles in their jobs. Joseph Traynor, a physical education intern at East Side High School, Newark is working toward helping boys who have special physical disabilities. Miss Carol Lynam, who is doing community work with the Essex County Probation Department, said, "I am gaining a great deal. I have gone out on home visits with two probation officers, and any negative feelings I may have had have disappeared."

Teaching basic Spanish at East Side High is Vitalis Ekel's approach to distributive education.

Two interns at West Kinney Junior High School are working at the Flood Neighborhood House, two are working with preschool children and one in the Fuld Neighborhood House recreational program.

"Lack of cooperation by some school personnel makes the job a little discouraging," mentioned Kenneth Toler, a physical education intern in the "Creeping Awareness" Corps.

'Weeiquahic High School and Representative to the Interns Council. The main problems faced by the team members include the "low ebb of school conditions, some lack of understanding on the part of faculty and administration and the lack of complete freedom to exercise new ideas," he elaborated.

The attitude of the students in the participating schools varies, according to Toler. "Often the students have been turned off and cheated for so long, that it's a real challenge to try to turn them on to learning." Interns must use all their ingenuity to find ways to make their subject relevant to the students.

The teacher corps program which serves about 150 school systems in over thirty states includes two New Jersey centers, at MSC and at Trenton State. The interns, now undergraduates, receive a weekly $75 stipend, and most of them will continue working towards an MA next year.

"We feel that the teacher corps will have a definite, positive impact upon the teaching of students in general, especially in students from the inner city," assured Richard Grey, associate director of the corps. "It is really fascinating to watch our interns progress because of their dedication and commitment to youth and the community."

\[Image\]

By Robert Watson
Staff Reporter

"Montclair State College is now alive," says Kenneth Traynor, SGA president.

In "Creeping Awareness," a 12-page report he recently prepared, Traynor reflects the progress of the role of the SGA at MSC since 1929 as documented in minutes of its meetings.

The report was drawn up at the request of Mr. James Pettegrove, MSC representative to the New Jersey Education Association, for his request of Mr. James Pettegrove, the minutes of its meetings.

"The three doctors — Dana L. Farnsworth of Harvard, Anthony F. Philip of Columbia and famed chest surgeon Alton Ochsner of New Orleans — agree that while the dangers may be somewhat overstated, there are risks in smoking marijuana and it is a rare "pot-head" who can escape without harm.

Moreover Ochsner, who was one of the first doctors to note the correlation between cigaret smoking and lung cancer, raises the possibility of similar risks among marijuana smokers. He sees disturbing parallels between today's marijuana craze and the cigarette promotions a few decades ago:

"At present, no one knows whether smoking pot can cause cancer," he says. "What is certain is that the burning of many types of leaves produced carcinogenic.

Marijuana simply has not been in common use in the United States long enough to produce the deaths from which statistics are calculated."

Farnsworth, who served as chairman of the American Association of Mental Health, distinguishes between "casual" pot smokers — those who try it out of curiosity and who constitute more than half of marijuana users — and "problem" smokers who are preoccupied with the drug to the point of dependency.

"Causal smokers may not suffer any real harm, he says. But many others do suffer interference with work and studies, disorientation, confusion or depression — who are most likely to try the drug in the first place.

And what of the rewards? Disappointing at best, says Farnsworth. There is no present evidence that, except for a few isolated individuals, pot-smoking can increase self-realization or creativity. On the contrary, he says, "With pot, everything draws to a halt."

One other danger noted by Farnsworth is the risk that marijuana can lead to stronger drugs. While not necessarily so, it has happened.
Black Motion showcases art

By Hal Plain

By Hal Plain

Staff Reviewer

EAST ORANGE — The Mid-Black Art Service, at 381 Central Ave., East Orange, is presenting to the public “We’re A Proud People,” an exhibition showcasing works by Alvin Fudge, a young black artist. Also shown are works from the Black Motion Art Workshop by its young students and works by other black artists. The showing commenced on Sun., Feb. 15 and will continue thru March. The exhibit is earthy, exciting and full of pulsing vitality.

This current exhibition has been designed to display black art to the public and to encourage young blacks in the arts. The show will provide funds toward a production by the Black Arts Film Project, an ambitious project which will chronicle the history of blacks in the arts. The art service itself helps to create a sense of self-pride for black artists. It provides goals for young people, images that black youngsters can look up to as well as a focal point for the distribution of relevant information.

IMAGINATIVE

The show consists of works by Alvin Fudge, an art teacher in Newark, and his students in the Black Motion Art Workshop. The works of Florian Jenkins, founder and director of Black Motion, also make up a large portion of the show. Using an extremely imaginative color mixing technique, his portraits are superb and are among the finest works in the show. Other artists represented are James Greene, Michael and Jane Martino and Robert Knight.

Along with sketches and paintings the show also has sculptures created by Lou Rollo. Using twisted wire on an armature and base, he has created some highly-innovative and poignant human figures. They are twisted and seem torn, yet still reach out and up in hope.

According to Barbara Jenkins, business manager of Black Motion and wife of Florian Jenkins, the Mid-Black Art Service has been in existence for about five years, and this is the third show devoted to children’s works. The Black Motion Art Workshop is working to change the preconceptions of the white art world. “I don’t want to go back to Africa,” she said; “I want to stay right here and do my thing.”

SPARKLING PERSONALITY

Vanessa Howard, a 21-year-old blonde Briton, is definitely not just a sex symbol. Instead, she looks forward to a new release, “The Rise and Rise of Michael Rimmer” and so we...

“Mumsy…” a bizarre film, stars Vanessa Howard

NEW YORK — Take a delightful bizarre film about a “happy family” who goes about finding new friends to play with and then ruthlessly murder. You might condemn such a tale as unbelievable, as did the Daily News. But you might, as this reviewer did, find its perversion to be strangely tempting.

“I think you people will be attracted to it,” says sensible Vanessa Howard. “I mean, it’s very sick.” But this sickness of “Mumsy, Nanny, Sonny and Girly,” a new film from Cinerama, is perhaps better described as an absurd black comedy, tracing the discovery of a young girl that she is, after all, human.

COMEDY FAVORITE

Miss Howard has appeared in one previous film, “Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush,” but now she’s a sex symbol too. Since that one is a comedy and “Mumsy” et al has been described as one, does she feel caught in a rut? “No. I find comedy to be my favorite. It’s harder to act, but there are just too many roles being written for females today that are just nothing.”

This 21-year-old blonde Briton is definitely not just a sex symbol. She comes to the screen after three years in London theater. In fact, she says “I would like to do theater again. I get more satisfaction.” Would she like to appear in “Hair”? “Hair” is an impressive show in that it is the beginning of a new era, but confronted by a nude woman and other examples of the much-publicized revolution in sex. Vanessa Howard’s girl’s questions about finding the right floor range from exuberant eyes with frequent sneaks of the bored indifference, an offer of a raincoat, a nervous female to a man: “God!” and amused aid followed by “I like your outfit.” Yet the push of the unexpected becomes tasteless and stale thru unimaginative repetition of scenes and particularly the naked girl’s hitch-hiking and climbing a tree, and, later, the interview concerning intimate details.

MURDERING THE GAP

Not another production about the generation gap! But Joe Tripp’s film, “The Criminal” treats this overworked theme differently. Using only three characters, the son, played brutally yet humanly by Barry Primus, and his sisters, acted vivaciously by Penelope Allen and Linda Selman, this play examines the horrifying extreme and which children’s hatred of parental oppression can reach — murder of the “criminals.”

What does a poet write in a time of revolution?” is a book to be read by blacks and whites — and taken to heart.

WHAT DO YOU SAY TO A NAKED LADY?

Allen Funt brings his candid camera to such places as an office building and a country road and shows us how people react when confronted by a nude woman and other examples of the much-publicized revolution in sex. The “What Do You Say to a Naked Lady?” Funt’s first feature film, provides not only lively entertainment, but also provocative insights into human nature as we see it when we least expect it.

We Need You!

According to Barbara Jenkins, business manager of Black Motion and wife of Florian Jenkins, the Mid-Black Art Service has been in existence for about five years, and this is the third show devoted to children’s works. The Black Motion Art Workshop is working to change the preconceptions of the white art world. “I don’t want to go back to Africa,” she said; “I want to stay right here and do my thing.”

“Mumsy…” a bizarre film, stars Vanessa Howard

NEW YORK — Take a delightful bizarre film about a “happy family” who goes about finding new friends to play with and then ruthlessly murder. You might condemn such a tale as unbelievable, as did the Daily News. But you might, as this reviewer did, find its perversion to be strangely tempting.

“I think you people will be attracted to it,” says sensible Vanessa Howard. “I mean, it’s very sick.” But this sickness of “Mumsy, Nanny, Sonny and Girly,” a new film from Cinerama, is perhaps better described as an absurd black comedy, tracing the discovery of a young girl that she is, after all, human.

COMEDY FAVORITE

Miss Howard has appeared in one previous film, “Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush,” but now she’s a sex symbol too. Since that one is a comedy and “Mumsy” et al has been described as one, does she feel caught in a rut? “No. I find comedy to be my favorite. It’s harder to act, but there are just too many roles being written for females today that are just nothing.”

This 21-year-old blonde Briton is definitely not just a sex symbol. She comes to the screen after three years in London theater. In fact, she says “I would like to do theater again. I get more satisfaction.” Would she like to appear in “Hair”? “Hair” is an impressive show in that it is the beginning of a new era, but confronted by a nude woman and other examples of the much-publicized revolution in sex. Vanessa Howard’s girl’s questions about finding the right floor range from exuberant eyes with frequent sneaks of the bored indifference, an offer of a raincoat, a nervous female to a man: “God!” and amused aid followed by “I like your outfit.” Yet the push of the unexpected becomes tasteless and stale thru unimaginative repetition of scenes and particularly the naked girl’s hitch-hiking and climbing a tree, and, later, the interview concerning intimate details.

MURDERING THE GAP

Not another production about the generation gap! But Joe Tripp’s film, “The Criminal” treats this overworked theme differently. Using only three characters, the son, played brutally yet humanly by Barry Primus, and his sisters, acted vivaciously by Penelope Allen and Linda Selman, this play examines the horrifying extreme and which children’s hatred of parental oppression can reach — murder of the “criminals.”

What does a poet write in a time of revolution?” is a book to be read by blacks and whites — and taken to heart.

WHAT DO YOU SAY TO A NAKED LADY?

Allen Funt brings his candid camera to such places as an office building and a country road and shows us how people react when confronted by a nude woman and other examples of the much-publicized revolution in sex. The “What Do You Say to a Naked Lady?” Funt’s first feature film, provides not only lively entertainment, but also provocative insights into human nature as we see it when we least expect it.

We Need You!

CONFINED BY A NAKED LADY? Allen Funt brings his candid camera to such places as an office building and a country road and shows us how people react when confronted by a nude woman and other examples of the much-publicized revolution in sex. The “What Do You Say to a Naked Lady?” Funt’s first feature film, provides not only lively entertainment, but also provocative insights into human nature as we see it when we least expect it.

We Need You!

CONFINED BY A NAKED LADY? Allen Funt brings his candid camera to such places as an office building and a country road and shows us how people react when confronted by a nude woman and other examples of the much-publicized revolution in sex. The “What Do You Say to a Naked Lady?” Funt’s first feature film, provides not only lively entertainment, but also provocative insights into human nature as we see it when we least expect it.
A Dog That Flies?

Interview with Trackstar Greg Weiss

Has Some Flying Remarks.

By Paul Kowalczyk
Staff Reporter

"He runs like a dog and thinks like a bird."

This was one of the many flying remarks that could be picked up during an attempt to conduct a half-civilized interview. This is extremely fortunate because your meeting place is a small 8 by 8 foot office, completely furnished with two files, a book case, a desk and nine Montclair State College runners. One of the runners, who occasionally spoke, was Greg Weiss.

At first, Weiss shyed away from being interviewed about his running ability. He was more interested in the fact that his intramural basketball squad, "Head-Fly," had recently won a game in which he pumped 37 of the team's 69 points.

After raving about his basketball team, Weiss began to comment and listen to others talk about his track talents. The general consensus of his fellow trackmen was summed up by track coach George Horn when he mentioned, "Greg can run with the best of them. He'll be one helluva good half miler."

Weiss' present running specialty is the 600-yard run. Noting that under ideal conditions a good time for the run is between 1:11:1:12 (the world record for the 600-yard run is 1:10.97), Weiss has had a 1:12:8 performance this season and "can get his time down to at least in the 1:10's."

The 600-yard run is not Weiss' only outstanding event, however. Coming from a family of good runners — his brother captained the Seton Hall track team — Weiss ran "everything" while attending Butler High School, Butler. He concentrated on the half mile, pole vault and long jump. His best half mile time is 1:53:2, while in the long jump he has reached 22'.

Weiss entered MSC this fall as a freshman, after a year at Hargrave Military Academy, Chatham, Va. He had been to the national track meet and plans on using his winnings to pay for his schooling.

Weiss also combined his track and field talents to win the junior decathlon in the New Jersey AAU meet. He will run in the National AAU Track and Field meet on Feb. 27 at Madison Square Garden, where he will be competing against such big names as Marty McGrady, world record holder in the 600-yard run, and Olympian Lee Evans.

When asked how he feels he is doing in the big meet, Weiss commented that "I think they'll know I'm in the race. I may not win, but I'll give them a good race."

Best Is Coming Say Men Gymnasts

By Richard Davison
Staff Reporter

"You have not yet seen us at our best," declared gymnastics Coach Terry Orlick, as Montclair State College's powerful gymnastics team swept the 10th and 11th wins of the season, by destroying Queens College 133.62-72.62, Wednesday night, and by downing West Chester State 134.85-101.45, Saturday night.

A new page has now been written in the Indians' history book, as they have broken the all-time record of wins in a single season, the old record being nine wins.

In Wednesday night's meet, the Indians swept the first four places in all six events. Nels Jensen took two firsts while Captain Dave Green, Bill Balogh, Joe Garreffa and Ron Poling also set first place marks. Saturday night, MSC captured five of the six events with Green taking two firsts and Poling, Balogh and Jensen also winning firsts.

During Wednesday night's meet, Jensen took parallel bars with a score of 8.3 and high bar with a score of 8.0. Poling won still rings with an 8.4, while Garreffa won side horse with a score of 7.06. Balogh outdistanced all other opponents in long horse to take that event with a score of 8.95.

In Saturday's meet, Green won floor exercise with a score of 7.8 and high bar with a score of 7.9. Poling captured still rings with 8.3 while Balogh took long horse with an 8.65. Jensen won parallel bars with a score of 8.85.

In the past two meets, Green and Balogh have been the high scorers for MSC.

"My main concern now is to get this team to the nationals," stated Orlick. The team, which has previously qualified for the National Gymnastics Championships in Minnesota by more than four points, looked extremely strong all around. Orlick also added that he wanted "to give the team an opportunity to show how well they rank nationally."

The team is now 11-2 for the season and has one more meet remaining, against Long Island University, at MSC Saturday afternoon. West Chester's record dropped to 34 and Queens College also dropped on the season to 5-6.

Four Firsts Lead Women to Victory

Four firsts swept Montclair State College's WRA gymnastics team past Queens College, 66.51-42.96. Wednesday night, MSC's WRA and MAC gymnastics teams overpowered Queens to capture the dual meet.

Sophomore Linda Monaco led the team with two firsts. Her routine on the uneven bars earned a 7.05 first place. She edged out teammate Margaret Welch for a first on the balance beam with a 6.6.

Miss Welch, the team's all-around, captured one first and three seconds during the meet. She completed a handspring in long horse competition to place first with a 6.1. Scores of 5.75, 6.46 and 5.15 gave Miss Welch seconds, in uneven bars, balance beam and free exercise.

Captain JoAnn Coleman received a 7.15 in free exercise and earned her only first of the meet. "It was the outstanding performance of the evening," declared Coach Gail Bakker.

"The improvement made since the first meet is tremendous," Mrs. Bakker stated. Mrs. Bakker, who has earned the Federation of International Gymnastics pin for an all-around average over 9 points, is coaching for the first time at MSC.

"The improvement made since the first meet is tremendous," Mrs. Bakker stated. She added that the hard work of the team is paying off.

"I felt that the team did a very good job and said she was "more than satisfied with the free exercise."

The team will meet tonite at West Chester for a trinmeet against West Chester State and Temple.
The Season May Just Be Beginning

As Montclair State College's basketball team heads into its final regular season game on Thursday night at Jersey City State, it would seem that the season is about to come to an end. But for the team, there's no reason to think that what has already been a great season can't end up even greater one.

Last Wednesday, The Indians received and accepted their second straight bid to participate in the National Collegiate Athletic Association College Division Tournament. Last year in their first appearance, The Indians capped the East-Area crown and earned a trip to Evansville, Ind.

College teams that strive for excellence aim for a post season tournament bid. It is the culmination of the season's work, a reward for performing well. It gives a school and its representative a name in the world of college sports, and it also makes the opposition play twice as hard when playing the top seeded Indians.

For this year's team, the tournament bid means many things. Gaining the first bid means that MSC played this year was "up for them." Everyone wants to knock off the NCAA regional champs.

For this year's team, the tournament bid means many things. Gaining the first bid means that MSC played this year was "up for them." Everyone wants to knock off the NCAA regional champs.

To this year's team, it is a chance to prove that last year's championship wasn't a fluke, and a chance to get one better on last year's team.

There is a feeling in the NCAA College Division that the East Area is the weakest of the eight regions that send a representative to Evansville. The theory is that the East Area is the weakest and why MSC can't prove this assumption wrong. A tourney bid gives the Indians a chance to impress other teams is to beat the top seeded Indians.

To this year's team, it is a chance to prove that last year's championship wasn't a fluke, and a chance to get one better on last year's team.

There is a feeling in the NCAA College Division that the East Area is the weakest of the eight regions that send a representative to Evansville. The theory is that the East Area is the weakest and why MSC can't prove this assumption wrong. A tourney bid gives the Indians a chance to impress other teams is to beat the top seeded Indians.

There is one thing to remember as the top seeded Indians prepare for their second NCAA appearance. The team that Montclair State ran off of the court in last year's regional final to earn a trip to Evansville was Wagner College. Last year, the first team selected and the top seeded team in the region was Wagner College.

A Bouncing Victory for Inéligibles

By Stephen Stalks
Staff Reporter

The Inéligibles, Montclair State College's intramural basketball team, posted its first victory of the season by defeating the APOs with an impressive score of 114-116. It was the first time the team had ever played together in organized basketball.

During the first half of the game, the Inéligibles outshot their opponents and built up an overwhelming lead of 57-10.

Johnny Vaughn, hitting on almost every occasion, was the game's high scorer. Twenty-two of his 24 points came in the first half.

Captain Calvin Blue, whose hot hand tallied 21 points, combined with Curtis Dixon, who hit 15 points, on three consecutive go and go patterns. The APOs Bill McInisky and Bob Jayne, both scoring only 6 points, could not fight off the Inéligibles' tenacious defense or stop their potent offense.

In the second half, the Inéligibles completely dominated the offensive and defensive boards. At one time they hit 12 field goals in a row, crushing any hopes the APOs had of a comeback.

Tom Harrington and Daryl Stevens supplied some of the punch, scoring 18 and 16 points, respectively.

The dynamic team consists of MSC students ineligible to play varsity ball because of low college grades and class rank.

The many underclassmen on this year's team in New Jersey college basketball history to win 20 games in four consecutive seasons.

There are six straight decisions, including wins by Captain Mike Nuzzo and Ed Tarintino, accounted for Montclair State College's 27-11 victory over C.W. Post's wrestling team Tuesday night in Panzer gym.

Friday nite, the New York Maritime Academy slaughtered the Indians in a 35-18 match which boasted of 5 pins and only 2 MSC decisions.

Wednesday nite Rich Looram (150) began a MSC winning streak which consisted of 3 pins, 3 decisions and one forfeit. Looram outwrestled C.W. Post's Doug Stuart, 2-0, dropping his record to 11-2.

Looram was one of the MSC grappers to end the winning side against NYMA. Wrestling at 142, he topped Ted Lawson, 3-2, Bob Manigone (150) wrestled into a 6-6 draw with NYMA's Kurt Caster for MSC's only other points.

With his score tied at 6-6, Tarintino (158) pinned Alex Gutierrez of C.W. Post in 6:03. The situation was reversed against NYMA as Dan Weck (150) pinned Tarintino in 4:07.

Wednesday nite Nuzzo (177) pinned Tim Cromwell in 5:26, but Friday he lost the decision to John Amiciucci, 6-4.

John Bellavia, who scored a 59-2 victory over C.W. Post's Mike Lewicki, scored a 10-8 victory over C.W. Post's Dan Mones, was pinned by captain Ed Kochacki (126) who kept his unbeaten record intact by pinning Jack Flynn in 4:58.

The Indians scored their 10th win of the season against C.W. Post and lost their fifth match to NYMA. C.W. Post is now 6-7, while NYMA is 13-2.

MSC Crushes Rutgers in Friday Upset

Captain Bob Sienkiewicz and Phil Baccarella scored 18 points apiece to lead Montclair State College's basketball team past Newark Rutgers, 70-45.

The Indians became the second team in New Jersey college basketball history to win 20 games in four consecutive seasons.

The other team to do it was Monmouth College, from 1964 to 1968.

In improving its record to 20-2, MSC broke open a relatively close contest in the closing minutes of the first half.

With the score 20-16 in MSC's favor, the Indians erupted for 13 points and closed the gap to 15-16. The defense rose to the occasion, and the buzzer sounded with MSC on top, 33-18. Sienkiewicz canned the first five points of the second half on a jumper and three-point shot to put the Indians safely on top at 38-18.

The top point producer for Newark Rutgers, 8-6, was Barnes. The 6'-8" center netted 16 points. He was followed by Vince Pagano who scored 11.

Montclair State's tight man-to-man defense limited the visitors to only 14 field goals in 68 attempts. Newark Rutgers got 17 points at the charity stripe, with Barnes garnering half of his 16 points and Pagano six of his 10 from the line.

The 18 points scored by Sienkiewicz gave him a career total of 940 points. The 6-4 senior has at least four games remaining, two regular season and two in the NCAA Regionals. The team captain needs to average 15 points in the final four contests to become the 10th 1000 point career scorer in MSC basketball history.

NYMA Pins Indians, 36-5

—Grappers Top C.W. Post

By Carol Sakowitz
Sports Editor

Six straight decisions, including pins by Captain Mike Nuzzo and Ed Tarintino, accounted for Montclair State College's 27-11 victory over C.W. Post's wrestling team Tuesday night in Panzer gym.

Friday nite, the New York Maritime Academy slaughtered the Indians in a 35-18 match which boasted of 5 pins and only 2 MSC decisions.

Wednesday nite Rich Looram (150) began a MSC winning streak which consisted of 3 pins, 3 decisions and one forfeit. Looram outwrestled C.W. Post's Doug Stuart, 2-0, dropping his record to 11-2.

Looram was one of the MSC grappers to end the winning side against NYMA. Wrestling at 142, he topped Ted Lawson, 3-2, Bob Manigone (150) wrestled into a 6-6 draw with NYMA's Kurt Caster for MSC's only other points.

With his score tied at 6-6, Tarintino (158) pinned Alex Gutierrez of C.W. Post in 6:03. The situation was reversed against NYMA as Dan Weck (150) pinned Tarintino in 4:07.

Wednesday nite Nuzzo (177) pinned Tim Cromwell in 5:26, but Friday he lost the decision to John Amiciucci, 6-4.

John Bellavia, who scored a 59-2 victory over C.W. Post's Mike Lewicki, scored a 10-8 victory over C.W. Post's Dan Mones, was pinned by captain Ed Kochacki (126) who kept his unbeaten record intact by pinning Jack Flynn in 4:58.

The Indians scored their 10th win of the season against C.W. Post and lost their fifth match to NYMA. C.W. Post is now 6-7, while NYMA is 13-2.

MSC Crushes Rutgers in Friday Upset

Captain Bob Sienkiewicz and Phil Baccarella scored 18 points apiece to lead Montclair State College's basketball team past Newark Rutgers, 70-45.

The Indians became the second team in New Jersey college basketball history to win 20 games in four consecutive seasons.

The other team to do it was Monmouth College, from 1964 to 1968.

In improving its record to 20-2, MSC broke open a relatively close contest in the closing minutes of the first half.

With the score 20-16 in MSC's favor, the Indians erupted for 13 points and closed the gap to 15-16. The defense rose to the occasion, and the buzzer sounded with MSC on top, 33-18. Sienkiewicz canned the first five points of the second half on a jumper and three-point shot to put the Indians safely on top at 38-18.

The top point producer for Newark Rutgers, 8-6, was Barnes. The 6'-8" center netted 16 points. He was followed by Vince Pagano who scored 11.

Montclair State's tight man-to-man defense limited the visitors to only 14 field goals in 68 attempts. Newark Rutgers got 17 points at the charity stripe, with Barnes garnering half of his 16 points and Pagano six of his 10 from the line.

The 18 points scored by Sienkiewicz gave him a career total of 940 points. The 6-4 senior has at least four games remaining, two regular season and two in the NCAA Regionals. The team captain needs to average 15 points in the final four contests to become the 10th 1000 point career scorer in MSC basketball history.

NYMA Pins Indians, 36-5

—Grappers Top C.W. Post