A SOLAR ECLIPSE
A total solar eclipse, a rare phenomenon in the United States will be visible in nearly all parts of the country on Sat., March 7. Dr. Hugh Allen, professor of physics and astronomy explained that the spectacle, in which a new moon comes between the sun and the earth will begin at 1:31 p.m. and end at 1:34 p.m. (EST). The eclipse will be complete at 2:48 p.m.
Potential viewers are cautioned to use extreme care in protecting their eyes. Layers of exposed photographic firm after developing may serve as protection, but even then, prolonged viewing is not recommended.

DECA FASHION SHOW
TONITE IN AUDITORIUM
The Distributive Education club of America (DECA) will present the newest spring fashions at their annual fashion show at 8 p.m. tonite in Memorial auditorium.
"We expect to attract a large crowd and have a successful show," said Joan Nau, the model chairman. DECA, in conjunction with the Willowbrook shopping center will present the second of the two shows tonight. The first was held last night at Willowbrook.
Miss Nau, a comely graduate of Barbizon School of Modeling, said that 21 stores are participating with three models representing each one. There will be a "most popular model" contest with male and female winners elected by the audience and a "most professional model" selected by four judges. Tickets are on sale for $1 in Life Hall.

POLICE CONFRONT STUDENTS TO PROMOTE EMPLOYMENT
MIAMI (Special) — "They're not the most popular people on college campuses today, the Miami (Fla.) police department will be contacting students in an effort to interest them in a police career.
"Operation Badge" will see policemen themselves confront and convince candidates that careers in law enforcement are attractive.
Said Capt. James Minix, personnel director for the Miami police department, "We aren't getting enough of the kind of people who can meet our standards and pass our rigorous training program."
Students who decide to enter the force must complete a three-month course in police science at the Miami Police academy. The course is equivalent to 12 college credits.

COLLEGE OPEN TO ALL
WHO WANT IT BY 2000
College for all who want it by the year 2000 is the topic of a report by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education. The study shows how two-year colleges and special programs for underprivileged students could be used to make a college education available to all students who desired it.
"We do not believe that each young person should, of necessity, attend college," said the report. "Quite the contrary. Many do not want and will not want to attend, and it cannot be shown that all young persons will benefit sufficiently from attendance to justify their time and the expense involved."
This is the committee's second report. The first concerned a civilian "GI bill" to remove all financial barriers to college by 1976.

The Story Behind the Story

The life of a journalist has never been easy. Cyndi Lepre, part and almost red-haired reporter for the MONTCLARION, found that out this weekend the hard way.

Attending the School of Humanities Senate induction almost by accident, the suddenly found herself in the middle of the controversy covered in the story on page one. "Had I known it would develop into a crisis," Miss Lepre commented, "I would have been better prepared. I mean, you never have a tape recorder when you need one."

The meeting's proceedings gave her temporary writer's cramp while attempting to get in writing all the excitement of the few moments.

Meanwhile, another member of the MONTCLARION staff contacted Dr. Morris McGee, chairman of the election, to uncover a little more information on the School of Humanities election results. Some results were available, but not the complete list of numbers voting. She was informed that the results were "locked in" Dr. Samuel Pratt's office and would not be available for 10 days.

I called Dr. Pratt at home," Miss Lepre said, "and was told that he had nothing to do with the counting of the ballots and to contact Mr. Rich, who was chairman of the counting committee."

Her troubles nearly over, this hard-working reporter quickly got in touch with Mr. Rich at his home. While he wasn't chairman of any committee, he said, he was involved in the counting of the ballots. Did he have the results? No, he didn't have any numbers on ballots or total student participation in the election; only one man on campus that he knew of did. "The man you want," he said, "is Dr. McGee. I'm sure he'll be happy to help you."
NEW YORK — In an attempt to gear television toward a more sophisticated audience, the major networks have released next season’s television lineup yesterday.

“We’re gonna take special care that our programs are educational, highly sophisticated, newsworthy, free of crime and dirty dealings,” according to Harvey Freethinker, president of the Lowlife Broadcasting syndicate.

The syndicate, which will distribute programs to tv stations throughout the country, established last month to prove that Americans really want to see sophisticated television. Freethinker has the backing of the Woman’s Christian Temperance Union and Spiro T. Agnew.

MATILDA AND HER CAT

To support his views, the balding, ragged-toothed Freethinker tested several of his shows on local stations the other day to determine ratings. On station WGLU in Bloomersville, Ohio, Lowlife’s “Aunt Matilda and Her Pet Cat” received a high 81.6 of the Nielsen ratings at 3 a.m., while six of the townsfolk were watching. The other two local stations each received 4.6 in the ratings — and that’s while they were off the air.

“It’s a funny thing how they there are one black dot works,” said Freethinker, “those two other stations weren’t even on the air.”

But according to Nielsen, this type of rating goes to the folks who fall into the category who like to watch black dots dancing across the tv screen.

A WHOLE NEW GENERATION

“We’re aiming to get those kind of people with our new brand of nonviolent variety program, the Ed Silverman show. The Silverman show will feature dancing fleas, kissing butterflies, a sleeping English bulldog who barks with a New Zealand accent and a crow that sings like Perry Como.

“Yep,” exclaimed Freethinker, “there’s a whole new generation of people out there — and all they want is sophisticated television.”

Elimination of all class representatives is one facet of the reapportionment of the SGA Legislature, recently approved by the SGA Legislature. The only representatives elected under the new system will be the collective departments and newly-formed schools. Introduced by English department staff reporter Tim Fanning, “The bill is intended to insure proportional representation of each school and its departments. Previously, Fanning explained, each department and class had two representatives, regardless of its size. Under the new plan, each department having at least 25 majors would have one representative. For every 200 additional majors, one additional representative will be elected.

THE TICKET TO EDUCATION: Up to 30% of the profits from a New Jersey lottery may go to education. The lottery is approved by the state legislature and the voters.

Now Facing Reps, Cuts

By Robert Watson

Unlimited cut and elimination of all class representatives are under discussion in the Student Government Association Legislature. The unlimited cut policy received overwhelming support from the student body in the referendum held last December. The plan was adopted by the SGA and referred to the Faculty Council for approval. A committee of faculty members appointed to review the plan has tabled the request, said SGA President Kenneth Traylor. He explained that the faculty is presently working on other business.

Will Implement Policies
New Dungan Aide Gives A Pledge to Higher Ed

By Martin J. Fucio
Education Reporter

TRENTON — Dr. Joseph S. Murphy, the newly-appointed vice-chancellor of higher education, has pledged to do everything he can to advance the cause of higher education in the state.

Tho he would like to be involved in the formation of policy, he feels his main duties will be the implementation of the policies and directives of the chancellor’s office and the Board of Higher Education, Murphy told THE MONTCLARION.

He feels that New Jersey’s citizens made a commitment to higher education when they approved the 1968 bond issue.

However, he added that more resources will be required before the state’s outlay for higher education will be on a par with that of other states.

“People in the state of New Jersey ought to be assured that their children will have high quality higher education available to them,” he stressed.

Because he favors higher education “adjusted to the needs of the people,” Murphy believes a strong commitment to bring education opportunities to those who cannot afford it.

“Everybody who wants and is capable of continuing his education beyond secondary level should have the opportunity to do so,” Murphy added.

Richardson Vetos the Governor

By Michael Traylor
News Editor

President Thomas H. Richardson defended Montclair State College’s preferences of general academic practices last Monday. He went on to say that curriculum selection and hiring of personnel should also be decided by MSC.

Richardson did not agree with a statement made by Gov. William T. Cahill two weeks ago in which Cahill stated that colleges “insist on noninterference” in general academic practices. Richardson believes that political organizations should not interfere.

“There is no connection between the political conditions, however, that this was no reflection on the political groups in our society. "However, tradition calls for higher education policy making to rest in the hands of nonpartisan lay-bords of citizens who are responsible to the public for the success and prosperity of their colleges." Cahill said that nobody is satisfied with the amount of money spent on education. Richardson confirmed that he also, was not satisfied. He added that “a state as wealthy as ours should be embarrassed at the small proportion of that wealth spent on higher education. We’re still in the bottom 5%.”

Richardson did not agree with Cahill’s statement that the current teachers strikes “encourage youth to further challenge authority.” He said that youth’s challenging authority preceded the teachers strikes and its cause is much deeper than these strikes.

Richardson concluded by saying that each generation should

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN MEN

Note that conservatives state that the differences are between men, not between races. They say that the textbook is a "Taiwanese" example of the "Marxist" philosophy, not that the differences are between men, not between races. They say that the differences are between men, not between races.

PHILIPON

However, since the days of Franklin Roosevelt, the present theory of government has been the philosophy of positivism. This theory, instead of preaches that the government should do for the people what they cannot do for themselves, and what they have not or will not do for themselves. This theory goes one step further, and preaches that government should take one step beyond what it has been doing, each year, in order to continue "progress".

Conservatives respect this theory, and believe that it has been the major reason for the growth of government in the United States, and the curtailment of individual freedom. They say that the government, in following the "some-more-all" theory, has inadvertently, and individual freedom has become jeopardized as a result. It is inaccurate to state that conservatives believe in laissez-faire government, in its totalitv. Business has grown also to such a proportion that it ranks second only to government, and is the basic function of government to maximize freedom.

Conservatives distrust the state. Like men, government, because it is composed of men, has a natural tendency to acquire more power, when it possesses some power, until it eventually holds all power. Government, thus, if it is to function to maximum freedom, must be restricted.

In the United States, the restrictions placed upon government came from the Constitution. The Constitution of 1861, as far as the fathe rs have experienced a n n o n r e s p o n s i t i v e and nonresponsive system of government as colonists, has developed a system of government that was representatived, restricted, and theoretically responsive to the needs and desires of the people. The conservatives views the Constitution as an instrument which limits the functions of government, and therefore restrains," states Barry Goldwater, "against the natural tendency of government to expand in the direction of absolutism."

THE MSC FAN

And MSC goes to all of 'em?
SHOOTING FOR EVANSVILLE: Montclair State College's basketball meet Hartwick in the first game of the NCAA regional championships. A win for the Indians would give them a trip to Evansville, Ind., and a chance to compete in the NCAA finals.

It won't be easy, says Coach Gelston.

Montclair State College's basketball team, the defending NCAA Eastern Regional Champions, will bring their 22-2 record to Buffalo this weekend in an effort to regain their title and another trip to Evansville, Ind.

On March 6, the Indians meet Hartwick College, Oneonta, N.Y. Hartwick has compiled an 18-4 season record and is seeded second in the tournament. Other teams participating in the tourney are Stony Brook University, Stony Brook, N.Y. and Buffalo State University College.

Altho MSC is seeded first in the tournament, Coach Ollie Gelston feels that the game against Hartwick "will not be an easy one." He also felt that Hartwick will be the toughest team MSC has to face in the tourney. Hartwick's average height is 6'3" and most of their damage is done on the offensive and defensive boards. The team has a good pair of ball handlers in Willie Rackley and Ed Graumer.

So far this season, the Indians have not been stopped by taller teams. What the team lacks in height is made up in hustle.

Sophomore Phil Baccarella leads the team with a 16.8 average and 405 points this season. Team captain Bob Sienkiewicz follows Baccarella with 263 points and a 14.6 average.

The only other player in double figures is Harry James. James has scored 347 points for a 14.5 average.

The tournament will begin on Fri., March 6, at 7 p.m., at Buffalo's gym. The consolation and final games will be held on Saturday night at the same time.

If gymnasts win, they’ll go to Minnesota

Indians will defend title at West Chester, Pa.

'LIU will be our toughest opponent — but you can never tell.' — Spenser.

Montclair State College's gymnastic team will be defending its North Atlantic Gymnastics conference title Sat., March 7, at West Chester State College in West Chester, Pa. Regaining the championship would increase the team's chances for a trip to Minnesota for the National Gymnastics championships.

The meet will run in two sessions, the first beginning at 10 a.m., the second at 2 p.m.

The field of teams that will participate in the conference meet has expanded from five to 10 teams. MSC will be going against teams such as Long Island University, Ithaca College, East Stroudsburg College, City College of New York, Cortland State University, West Chester State College, the Coast Guard Academy and Oneonta College.

The teams are divided into two divisions, the Eastern Atlantic and the Western Atlantic. MSC has been placed in the Eastern Atlantic Conference.

Vaulter Russ Spenser says that "LIU will be our toughest opponent, but you can never tell." He added that it is possible for several other teams to improve since MSC last encountered them.

The Indians have beaten seven of the teams in the North Atlantics in regular season meets.

Captain Dave Green and his teammates hope to return from West Chester with a few awards, the biggest award being the NAGC title for 1970.

Senior Joe Garreffa remarked: "I think we will win the conference meet but it will be a tough one."

Coach Terry Orlick stated: "This meet will be a good final test for our team before the nationals, and I feel confident that they will come thru even tho they face tough competition."

— Davison.
If you can’t afford to travel, stay here

We’re hosting the 20th-annual North Atlantic Intercollegiate Fencing championships — Saturday at Panzer gym.

For those students who can’t afford to travel to Buffalo, N.Y., or don’t feel like driving three hours to West Chester, Pa., Montclair State College will offer its own excitement Sat., March 7. MSC is hosting the 20th annual North Atlantic Intercollegiate Fencing championships in Panzer gym from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

This year the North Atlantics have been expanded to include 14 colleges and universities. With the exception of the University of Buffalo, last year’s champions, the strongest contenders for top honors will be from the metropolitan area. MSC, Newark Rutgers and Newark College of Engineering have the best chances for running off with the team championships.

Other schools competing are: Seton Hall, Penn State, Rochester Institute of Technology, Syracuse, Paterson State, Pace, Johns Hopkins, Hobart and Jersey City State.

The Indians enter the North Atlantics with an 11-1 season record. Seven of the 14 teams in the North Atlantics have lost to MSC during the regular season.

Each school will send six fencers to the meet, two from each squad. Cocaptains Dale Rodgers and Dave Bryer, and Frank Mustelli seem likely for the top berths in the epee, saber and foil eams, respectively.

This year the problem is not the choice of the number one men, but the choice of the number two men. The records of the fencers differ only by a few bouts. Todd Boepple is 29-7 in foil this season while Roger Marchegiano is 26-9. In saber, Glenn MacKay (24-9) holds a three-bout edge over teammate Jordan Denner (21-10). Bruce Ki ter (19-11) has one more epee victory than Ken Zurich (18-11).

The Indians will face two defending champions this Saturday, NCE foil champion Greg Bornako and saber champion Bill Kazer of Buffalo.

Saber competition will be extremely tough this year. Along with Kazer; Bryer, 1968 saber champ; NCE’s Greg Soriano, who lost to Kazer in a 1969 fence-off; North Atlantic finalist James Keates of Seton Hall; and Frank Cunder and John Izzolino of Newark Rutgers will vie for the 1970 title.

John Schmidt of Penn State, last year’s second place winner, and North Atlantic finalist Larry Singer of Buffalo return to challenge Bornako for the foil championship.

This year, the epee title will be up for grabs. Not one finalist from last year is returning to the North Atlantics. The field will be open for top epee fencers as Rodgers, Dan Koppa and Mike Perry of Newark Rutgers, Roger Trierce of Seton Hall and NCE’s Gary Marsh.

MONTCLARION SPORTS SPECIAL/March 1970/Page Four.
Noninterference, but...

The Gov, William T. Cahill has pledged a “noninterference” policy in dealing with the current teacher salary negotiations (see Wed. Feb. 25 MONTCLARION), we feel that some recent statements made by the governor are far from those of a “noninterference” attitude.

During a recent speech, Cahill continually criticized the state colleges and university for, in a phrase, “biting the hand that feeds them.” He referred to the fact that the state schools don’t welcome any involvement on his part, “except those of a “noninterference” attitude.

We feel that statements of this kind are strongly detrimental to the negotiations now going on in Trenton. Faced with that antistate college statements by a governor who is allegedly not interfering in the negotiations, the state college faculties, as well as state college administrations, can do nothing but stand up and fight, or even strike, for an increased salary scale.

...more $$ interference

The recent 2% increase in the New Jersey sales tax has raised doubts in the minds of some taxpayers as to just where does all the money go.

Trenton politicians state that the sales tax boost (from the original 3% in August 1967 to 5% effective March 1) will go solely to cover deficits in the state’s budget, and no additional programs will result from the increased tax. The result? The taxpayer keeps paying, but keeps getting nothing.

This creates a dangerous precedent in the New Jersey government. For, if each time the state government over spends its budget, it asks for another tax, and assuming Trenton keeps spending (and it shows no signs of stopping), then New Jerseyites can expect to keep paying and paying.

Since it would be rather impractical to pay a higher sales tax (if the tax keeps increasing at its rate of 5% every 2½ years) in 50 years, we see the possibility of an income tax looming in the future of New Jersey taxpayers as another name for the same old game: the money squeeze.

Another point that deserves examining is that the tax in 50 years will include the interest on the money borrowed to pay the increased sales tax.

Here’s Hoping

Due to vested interests, we will not comment about the charges hurled against the School of Humanities election system by Messrs. Moran and MacIntyre.

We can only hope that the elections committee headed by the capable Morris G. McGee will huddle together to closely consider the gripes involved in Friday’s outburst.

Question: Should alcohol be permitted on campus?

Jane Farnam, senior, speech: Yes. Most kids drink anyway. Allowing at least beer on campus, providing therefore for the safety of minors, would increase on-campus activity. There should, tho, be a time restriction involved.

Tony Farino, sophomore, uncommitted: Drinking is a good wholesome activity. It keeps youths of our institution off the streets and gives them a chance to get out and meet new people.

An Apology

To the Editor:

To the Men of Phi Lambda Pi.

Recently an unfortunate incident took place on our campus. A certain statue of a black jockey was improperly removed. The jockey’s face was black, pink, white or any other color was of no significance to us at all.

It was part of a tradition and was greatly revered for its place in our history. The fact that the jockey’s face was black, pink, white, purple, or any other color was of no significance to us at all.

Since the incident, we have come to understand that the jockey was offensive to you. To us, the black jockey was merely a symbol of our fraternity.

Because of this misunderstanding, we apologize. We find ourselves indicted not for racism, but for ignorance and a lack of sensitivity to your feelings.

To the brothers of Phi, our choice was made quite obvious to us. The jockey has been disposed of.

Let us hope that from this misunderstanding some benefit can be derived. Let’s open up the lines of communications not only between the black community and one fraternity but between all blacks and whites at Montclair State.

The Men of Phi Lambda Pi.

Many Thanx

To the Editor:

I have just received the edition of the MONTCLARION which carried the announcement of my candidacy for U.S. Senate. I am most sincere in stating my confidence in college students and their ability to contribute substantially to the constructive efforts of any politician or political movement.

I would like to appear and speak at Montclair State some time in April, not so much to preach reform as to enter into dialog with the student body. If you know of any student organization which would be interested in sponsoring a function, I would be most pleased to hear from them.

It's a Century for Stevens

SIT Looks To Future — No Fanfare
By Richard De Santa
Staff Reporter

HOBOKEN — With a century to celebrate, Stevens Institute of Technology is observing its 100th birthday, tho not with all the fanfare that usually accompanies college centennials.

Dr. Jesse H. Davis, president of Stevens, seemed to sum up the campus feeling in stating that "we do not plan to linger on our memories."

"We would rather look ahead to a century after the college can serve best by directing man's energies and talents to the solution of his most important problems," the president said.

At this all-male college on Hoboken's waterfront, groups of students attend classes at business and industry goes on around them. The sounds of pile drivers and ship's horns can be heard and the soot and smoke from one of New Jersey's industrial centers floats thru the air. The campus seems relatively quiet and unchanged. However, a closer look reveals a truly changing institution within relatively unchanged surroundings.

At the time of the institute's establishment in 1870, Stevens was comprised of 21 mechanical engineering students who attended classes in a four-story stone building at Fifth and Hudson streets. Each student studied chemistry and mechanical drawing, earning the degree of mechanical engineer.

Today the college has 1,381 undergraduates who follow specialized engineering and science courses. In addition, there are 1,361 graduate students, including 256 doctoral candidates. Their courses range from environmental systems analysis to industrial sociology and psychology.

The campus look is also changing as the dreary brownstone building give way to modern structures. Among the recent additions are the new Samuel C. Williams library and Stevens Community Center high-rise structure which houses the administrative offices and student organizations.

HOME EC WORKSHOP WILL CONVENE SATURDAY
The New Jersey Home Economic Workshop will concentrate on the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health when it convenes at 9 a.m., Sat., March 7.

Of particular interest to home economists, the conference’s objectives are to determine the current national status and need of the population and develop a national nutrition policy to insure that all Americans, but especially the poor, receive an adequate diet.

Sponsored by the American Home Economics Association, the workshop will include three or four speakers and a student panel. Headed by Carol Spencer, the panel will react to remarks of the speakers. A senior at MSC, Miss Spencer is the New Jersey State College representative to the White House conference.

BUSINESS FRAT ELECTS OFFICERS
Miss Joanna Lettoral, a Montclair State College junior from Summit, has been elected president of the Beta Sigma chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national honorary business fraternity.

Chosen to serve with her were Jon Chainer of Emerson, vice president; Tina Hoffman of Nutley, recording secretary; Sandra Kedves of Perth Amboy; corresponding secretary; Caroline Maranzani of Lodli, treasurer; and Barbara Duff of Point Pleasant, historian.

Trenton Bargaining Continues
TRENTON — Wage negotiations are continuing in the second week of talks between state mediator Arnold Zack and State Board of Education and New Jersey State College faculty representatives.

According to the press secretary for Ralph A. Dungan, chancellor of higher education, there is no way of predicting just how long the negotiations will last.

Talks were resumed two weeks ago after a threatened strike of faculty from New Jersey’s six state colleges was averted.

However, Calabrese stressed the cost of reconstruction, anywhere from $7500 to $15,000 will be the main problem.

Watson is optimistic and believes most of the cost can be eliminated. "Many students," he stressed, "say they can get family discounts on such expenses as plumbing and carpentry."

ISIL Lifits its Chins for Makeup
By Cyndi Lepre
Staff Reporter

"Put on a pretty face" may well be the perfect slogan for the Inter-Sorority Council's (ISC) makeup demonstration which will be held on March 10, 4-5 p.m. in the fine arts auditorium.

Representatives of the Dresden Cosmetic Co. will ask for volunteers from the audience and will demonstrate new makeup styles and techniques for different facial types.

"The ISC is planning this makeup demonstration as a function for all women on campus," said Marcia Zubanas, ISC president, "so they have something enjoyable to attend." In the past ISC has served only as a forum for the business of MSC sororities. This year a new policy has been in effect.

"We hope to make ISC more of a social organization to give the sorority women a chance to really get to know one another," Miss Zubanas added.

ISC's socialization program began in December with a planning an inter-sorority volleyball tournament and an Easter program to be given at a local orphanage.

Gymnasts Leap to Victory Over LIU

Montclair State College's WRA swimming team heads into its final meet against Monmouth College, a top eastern power, sporting a record of 5-2.

In their first year of varsity competition, the women defeated Newark State College in the home opener by the score of 50-17. The mermaids have recorded three straight victories on the road: Adelphi 42-35, Queens 47-39, and St. John's 70-16. Their first loss came at the hands of Paterson State College in a hotly contested meet by a score of 46-31. Recovering swiftly they went on to defeat Jersey City State College, 66-20.

On Sat., Feb. 28, MSC bowed to a tough Trenton State, 52-25. This is virtually the same Trenton team that placed second in the 1969 Eastern Intercollegiate championships. Outstanding performances in the Trenton meet were recorded by Karen Tacountes, who won the 50 yd. backstroke in 34.1, Tex Gaestel, MSC's only double winner, taking the 50 fly in 31.3 and the 100 I.M. in 1.14.0. These performances by Miss Tacountes and Miss Gaestel set new MSC pool records.

Miss Gaestel, high scorer for MSC, has 11 first places to her credit.

Diving for MSC are Marge Rowe and Sari Spiwak. They have accounted for 47 of the swim total points.

Co-captain Bobbie Baxter teams with Miss Gaestel for the butterfly and the individual medley, two of the most difficult events in the meet.

The backstroke has been the strong event for the team. Miss Tacountes and Chris Straitwell would have accounted for 49 points so far this season.

The freestylers who have scored consistently for MSC are Dee Rabino, Sue Montgomery, Jean Meyer and Mary Jane Zarzycz. Miss Montgomery won the freestyle against NSC with a time of 29.6, her best of the season.

Record-Breaking 12-2 Season For Indians

By Carol Sakowitz
Sports Editor

The gymnastics team of Montclair State College met their toughest opponent, Long Island University, head-on Saturday night and handed them a 142.9-134.65 defeat. The victory, the highest in the Indians history, gave MSC a record-breaking 12-2 season.

Bill Balogh, awarded Ps Chi's Most Valuable Player trophy, led the team with 47 points. Senior Neil Jensen recorded his 16th first of the season with an 8.55 on the parallel bars.

The Indians took three other firsts in the meet. Captain Dave Green tied LIU's Durdin for a first in floor exercises with an 8.55. Balogh scored a first with an 8.5 on side horse. Senior Ron Poiling won his sixth first for MSC with an 8.25 on still rings.

All-around Milt Collins was the top man for LIU. He scored 48.1 for LIU and collected two firsts in his process.

MSC led LIU in all events except vaulting. Collins tied with teammate Bill Higgins for a first in that event with a 9.25. Balogh followed in vaulting with a 9.0.

Collins took a first in the high bar with an 8.95, but was closely followed by Green's 8.7.

Coach Terry Orlick felt that "the team did a beautiful job." He added that "we have the potential to do even better this year."

Orlick predicted earlier this season that the Indians would score in the mid-40's. Because of the impressive win against LIU, he feels that the North Atlantic and the National championships will may give his team the chance to fulfill his prediction.

They offer a combined won and lost mark of 53-12. Hartwick, an independent, is the only quintet in the nation that has not worn a conference crown.

Hartwick (18-4), Buffalo State (17-4) and Stony Brook (18-4), offer a combined won and lost mark of 53-12. Hartwick, an independent, is the only quintet in the nation that has not worn a conference crown.

Stony Brook captured the Knickerbocker Conference title, while Buffalo State finished on top of the State University of New York Conference.

MSC's opponent Friday night at 7 p.m. will be Hartwick. The Warriors, from O'neonta, N.Y., are a tall club and do most of their damage under the backboards. Their starting five probably will consist of 6'6" Mike Reed, 6'4" John James and Bob Sienkiewicz a All-Metropolitan team. A senior Mike Kerr, along with Harry Tacountes, who won the 50 yd. backstroke, 6'3" forward Glenn Henley and 6'2" forward Mike Reed is a better than average scorer. A great leaper, Rackley is 6'7" freshman from West Orange. The big center set a school record of 28 rebounds against Hobart.

Probably the most impressive credentials are those carried by the host team from Buffalo State College. Not to be confused with the State University of New York at Buffalo, its crosstown neighbor, Buffalo State is a teacher preparation college. Its new field house seats 2500 and there have been no riots there.

Rackley, whose brother Luther played with the Cincinnati Royals at the guards.

Hartwick's Tim DeVore, a shooting percentage, second in the nation in field goal at 7 p.m. will be Hartwick. The State University of New York Conference.

Hartwick State University and Calvin Murphy by only two points, and fell to Garnson College of Pennsylvania, one of the top-rated college division teams in the nation. A fast-breaking team, their big gun is 6'3" Randy Smith. The top rebounder and scorer (25ppg), the leaper hits consistently from underneath or on 20-foot jump shots, and often leads the fast break.

Ken Zak, a 5'11" guard, is a good shooter with a 13.8 average, and 6'2" forward Glen Henley scores at a 15.5 norm. 6'5" John McIntosh is the top rebounder.

Stony Brook State College from Long Island joined the NCAA three weeks ago, just in time to receive a tourney bid. The Patriots are paced by 6'3" center Mike Kerr, along with Harry James and Bob Sienkiewicz a member of the New York Basketball Writers All-Metropolitan team. A senior who never played high school ball, Kerr averages just over 17 rebounds and just under 20 points a game.

Rackley, whose brother Luther plays with the Cincinnati Royals at the guards.

Hartwick's Tim DeVore, a shooting percentage, second in the nation in field goal shooting percentage.

Reed is a better than average outside shooter, and Craumer averages over 12 assists a game. The top reserve is Tim DeVore, a 6'5" scorer. A great leaper, Rackley is 6'7" freshman from West Orange. The big center set a school record of 28 rebounds against Hobart.
