The Student Government Association's Elections Committee has officially warned political candidates not to paint campaign slogans on student life building's windows or risk punishment.

In a decision overruling the opinion of committee chairman are Lionel Geltman, the group voted Tuesday five to one abstention to recommend to the candidates to take off their signs painted on the windows of the cafeteria and the lobby of student life building. Robert Watson and Terry B. Lee, the two presidential candidates with painted campaign signs.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN Lionel Geltman claimed that the windows are for use by various campus organizations on a rotating basis and were duly given over to the candidates for their use by the organizations. Lee claimed member Charles Boyle, "are to be used for advertising only and not received permission from the Black Organization for Success in Society which he heads, and Watson from Senate fraternity, of which he is a member.

"The windows," claimed member Oshin said, "are to be used for advertising only and not received permission from the Black Organization for Success in Society which he heads, and Watson from Senate fraternity, of which he is a member.

"But," answered Geltman, "the candidates do not remove signs within a reasonable amount of time" they will be fined or, possibly, disqualified.

"I'm trying to be as liberal as possible, I didn't envision anything like this," Deluca charged. "It should have been in the rules before," said Deluca. "I don't like these under-the-table rules," Deluca charged.

THE HOURLONG meeting was attended by Boyle, Deluca, Ira Rosen, Jacqueline Isherwood, Thomas Hayes and Michelle Corona. The vote was held in private.

Deluca told the MONTCLARION that if the candidates do not remove signs within a reasonable amount of time they will be fined or, possibly, disqualified.

Elect Reps
In Mid-May

By D. M. Levine

May 13 has been tentatively set as the date for Legislative elections, according to Lionel Geltman, chairman of SGA's Elections Committee.

"We are hoping to have settled our reapportionment problems by then," he commented. The SGA is presently developing plans to give each of MSCC's five undergraduate schools one vote in the Legislature.

Oshin Out Of Race

By D. M. Levine

Richard Oshin, the SGA presidential contender who charged candidate Robert Watson with the misuse of student money in his campaign, withdrew from the race yesterday morning, throwing his support to Terry B. Lee.

In a statement issued to the MONTCLARION yesterday, Oshin said: "Upon comparing the platform on which I was running for the presidency and the platform of Terry Lee, also running for that office, I have found that our positions are remarkably similar. I believe that both of us working closely together will unite all factions of the campus. Men like Robert Watson are seeking to exploit the SGA for their own personal gain. It is therefore my duty to unite with Terry Lee in an effort to bring about a victory which will mean a progressive, not regressive, administration."

(Lee now receives the support of Oshin and will offer him the post of vice-president of academic affairs once elected.)

Oshin, who served as president of the Music Organizations Commission, entered the race three weeks ago on a platform calling for a "more responsive SGA." According to surveys, Oshin's popularity as a candidate was trailing that of Lee. Lee, who is president of the Black Organization for Success in Society, has called for "unity of all factions of the campus," pledging the further development of college athletics, campus arts and a more representative student judicial system.
Plans Underway for 15-3-15 Setup

By Susan Reeves

Since the 15-3-15 collegiate calendar was passed, little has been said about the somewhat mysterious innovative period, which will occur next January.

Morehead: 'Program Has Great Possibilities'

Action has been taken in order to utilize this month to its fullest advantage.

THE 15-3-15 collegiate calendar would provide for a regular 15-week fall semester, a three-week period for academic innovations, and a 15-week spring semester.

According to Dr. Allan Morehead, executive vice-president and provost of Montclair State, the downs of the various schools are, with the assistance of student opinion, organizing definite programs for the month which will be governed by the regular day division.

"All of the schools are developing plans rapidly and student opinion is helping in the courses to be offered," Morehead commented.

DURING THIS PERIOD, the vast majority of the courses offered will be credit-bearing. In Morehead's opinion, the number of credits depending on the intensity of the course's curriculum. Each student will be allowed a four-credit limit. In this manner, students can exceed the limitations on the number of semester hours as those credits earned during this period may go over and beyond the usual maximum of 18. For example, a student may take the maximum of 18 credits both semesters and a three-credit course during the innovative period for a grand total of 39 credits for the year. This would exceed the usual maximum of 36.

"Although the individual schools are handling the program, student will not be confined to those courses offered by their particular school," said Morehead. "Flexibility will play an important role during the month. Courses with no prerequisites will be open to all students," Morehead commented.

UNCOMMITTED STUDENT REPRESENTATION

A bill was passed that provides for the representation of 672 uncommitted students on campus to have representation in the SGA beginning with next year's reapportionment.

SENIOR TRANSCRIPTS

Senior transcripts are being withheld until all seniors' parking tickets and library fines are paid. A bill was introduced and passed which provides for their transmittal to sent to graduate schools regardless of outstanding fees. The diplomas will be withheld until all fines are paid.

LEGISLATIVE APPOINTMENT

Robert Meyrick and Jim Creagh were appointed to fill the vacant seats in the legislature from the physical science department. Bart Brewer was appointed to the special education and Bob Green was appointed to the legislative from the biology department.

INDEPENDENT STUDY FUND

A speech department representative, Jacqueline Iatereo, introduced a bill which was passed, requesting that the proceeds from the opening night of "A Cry Of Players" will be placed in trust for the Malcolm George Fairfield III Independent Study Fund.

WANT QUALITY CONTRACEPTIVES?

Once upon a time, the best male contraceptives that money could buy were in your local drugstore. That time is gone. Today, the world's best contraceptives come from England, and are available in the United States.

POPULATION PLANNING

In a speech and pamphlet, Dr. Reginald V. Smith explained the scientific planning of the world's population. From all over the country, his words are truly heartening.

LEND A HELPING HAND

"The birth control movement is still in its infancy," Dr. Smith said. "But we have a wonderful opportunity to help those who are in their final years of college and are ready to help our country with their skills and knowledge."

With SGA Candidates

Press Meet Hits Perennial Themes

The perennial themes of greater student involvement, total representation and a more purposeful SGA plus a new twist—the appearance by the SGA pre-election press conference sponsored by the MONTCLARION. The SGA elections will be held next Thursday. The problem of achieving more total representation of different student interests in SGA held center stage as a main concern of the candidates, as they responded to the questions of MONTCLARION reporters and attending spectators in the student life building auditorium lounge. Presidential candidate Terry B. Lee, president of the Black Organization for Success in Society, was absent, due to a previous commitment.

PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRANT Robert Watson asserted that the SGA will have to "become responsive and receptive" to the views of what he labelled any identifiable interest group or organization on campus. "This has not been the case in the past," he added.

Late Thursday afternoon, SGA presidential candidate Richard Oshin withdrew from the race and publicly announced support for Terry B. Lee. Complete details on page one.

Restructuring Poll

Vote to Decide

The proposed referendum on the future direction of Montclair State is scheduled to take place this spring. President Thomas H. Richardson has not yet decided upon a specific date. Last October, Richardson said that he was "extremely frustrated" over student misconceptions on the restructuring of the college into schools, which began early last semester.

"WE HAVE not yet settled on a date for the referendum," Richardson told the MONTCLARION. "But it is extremely important that we determine what the student feeling is at present," Richardson continued. He said that he is currently working on the wording of the questions that would appear.

Oshin Plans to Reorganize SGA

Student Government Association presidential candidate Richard Oshin has stated that, if elected, he sees the possibility of the SGA being reorganized into a bicameral (two house) legislature. Oshin made the remark during the April 16 broadcast of "Close-Up," an interview show presented by the Voice of Montclair State, thru the facilities of WMFU, East Orange. David M. Levine, MONTCLARION editor and donor, and Donna Meade, Council on International and National Affairs chairman, were the interviewers. Vice-presidential candidate Jack Wilkie also appeared on the broadcast.

"Would this come down to a presidential combatants. Kawalak pointed out that the students at large should have the opportunity to express themselves on the matter. Watson said that he "could see both advantages and disadvantages to the concept." He added that since MSC has its own master plan, he would support it over that of the state.

On Master Plan

Dungan Pleased--But Is He Listening?

By M. J. Smith

Master Plan Correspondent

Ralph Dungan, state chancellor of higher education, said that he was pleased about the "approving comments" made about the Master Plan at the four public hearings. But he didn't specify who he heard them from.

Richard Oshin, also vying for the top spot, charged that there is no real voice for all student interests and activities in the SGA as it stands now. He proposed a bicameral legislature with one house composed of the representatives of the class and organizations plus representatives from the commuter and dormitory councils.

Presidential candidates Glenric "J.C." Kawalak and Alan "Provo" Jacobs also commented on student exclusion in many SGA activities. Kawalak said that he "doubts that there is real representation in the SGA," and that the organization is run by a selected few. Jacobs lamented what he called "extreme boredom on campus."

Vice-presidential candidates William Asdal and Jack Wilkie added their views on the matter of representation. Asdal commented that the executive board should be expanded to include a wider range of interests, and raised the possibility of a new publication thru which more students can be made aware of SGA goings-on.

Kawalak stated that "nothing seems to work toward real communication with the students in the SGA." He feels that lack of awareness of the SGA's workings are the key problem.

Provo vice-presidential candidate Leon Varjan declined to comment on the issue, stating that "it's all been said before."

On the question of all-college governance, Watson commented that the concept itself is "sounding" and added that it is an area toward which many progressive colleges in the country are moving. Oshin stated that he would support "quick implementation" of the system because he feels that it would increase cooperation and communication between the different schools.

News analysis

Bi-Cameralism

Oshin Plans to Reorganize SGA

As one representative of the Student Liason Committee, the Voice of Montclair State has been denounced by everyone from MSC President Thomas H. Richardson to individual students, if the plan were approved, commented one student: "(MSC) will just wither up and die." All of the state colleges, without exception, have come out against the Master Plan — and some have not miniced words. At the second meeting, Dr. William Hazell, Newark College of Engineering president, stated: "The plan proposes amputation of a limb to cure a bad case of indigestion."

AND as one representative of the State Collegiate Faculty Association said at the third hearing in Glassboro: "The scheme was devised in the atmosphere of a Princeton prep."

EVEN MRS. Katherine Neuberger, board member and chairman of all four hearings, confessed at the last meeting, held in Trenton for the Governor's Student Liason Committee last week, that she did not approve of the graduate university concept as it stands now.

The most recent dissenting voice was a statement issued by the New Jersey Association of Colleges and Universities. In their report, the association asked the students can be made aware of communication between the various Class One organizations. Kawalak added that he believed greater representation in the SGA was desirable.
The Administration Of Thomas Benitz

The Benitz administration is nearing the finish line in its year-long tenure in office. Behind it is a bumpy road of harsh feeling and student resentment.

It was a year ago when sandy-haired Thomas Benitz, new to the affairs of student government, rode the herd of campaign promises and electioneering which resulted in a near landslide victory over his opponent, David Mende. Benitz proved to be a smooth, sometimes shy, man who aimed to unite conservatism with campus affairs. He pledged cooperation with the student body and promised to give Montclair State's students the best representation available.

Unfortunately he failed.

His failures are numerous and it has become overly obvious that Benitz, as president, detracted from the viability of SGA as a dynamic force through which students could work. The gist of this problem was Benitz's deep-seeded resentment toward the administration of Montclair State College. All too often Benitz, along with members of his staff, was willing to charge what he labeled the "tokenism" of MSC administrators without seeking to meet college officials on their own ground. He talked often of class one presidents "selling out to the administration" and "student decision-making at the college level was," he said, "nil." He acted as if college officials were seeking to institute a campus police state.

One of the key reasons why Benitz failed is because he couldn't relate to the student body. Students were appointed to committees and legislative seats on a tokenistic or friendship basis. He spent nearly $4000 on off-campus jaunts which aggravated many students who were powerless to do anything. His appointments to Gov. William T. Cahill's student liaison committee and the elections committee were accomplished without due regard to his electorate. This was indeed a misuse of leadership has unfortunately been his downfall as president. We hope the next president of SGA will learn from past mistakes.

Nixon has his Agnew and LBJ was stuck with Hubert Humphrey. For the man in the number two spot, life can be difficult. Sometimes the man in the number two spot will speak out of turn, thus getting the boss angry. And sometimes the boss will far overshadow the person, second in command leaving him frustrated and out of the limelight.

But the relationship between SGA President Thomas Benitz and Vice-President Stanley Grajewski has had few of the aforementioned organizational problems during the past year. In fact, Grajewski revealed in a private interview, his relationship with the controversial president has been "very warm and stimulating."

Grajewski, who at one time was known as a political liberal, and Benitz, known for his conservative tone, joined forces for the "benefit of student government," he said. "In fact," Grajewski added, "we both learned from each other. I don't think I've ever felt stifled working under Tom."

During the past few months the popularity of the Benitz administration has, according to private surveys, dropped. Grajewski, with three years of service to the campus behind him, attributed this factor to the "lack of understanding and cooperation" by special interest groups and the "constant criticism" coming from the MONTCLARION and an underground newspaper. "We could have worked together much better if there had been more cooperation," he said.

Sitting up the Benitz administration with that of Kenneth Traynor the previous year, Grajewski said: "It is my feeling that we have accomplished a lot more. We tried to get away from the image of a banker and bring up some important bills this year that would benefit everyone. I wish we had more time to do more things." ***

BITS & PIECES: Presidential candidate TERRY LEE gaining the support of four top Class One organization presidents. College planning a skating rink between music and speech buildings, ending parking spaces there. Former SGA Veep GREG DOUCETTE, back from student teaching, getting job as assistant stage manager at Paramus theater. Big shakeup in MSC security force. Former SGA President KENNETH TRAYNOR, while student teaching, let his students ask him questions about anything (home...) PRESIDENT THOMAS H. RICHARDSON favorable to idea of setting up bus service from campus to quarry parking lots. Claim SGA President THOMAS BENITZ giving some lip service to controversial Phase Two of master plan. JOHN ANESON, one-time Benitz adviser and campaign manager, tossed out.
To the Editor:

If the MONTCLARION believes that the next SGA is to be elected with issues such as campaign buttons, then I question how genuine the MONTCLARION thinks the student body really is especially since the article printed on page one (April 16) was erroneous and misleading. We are now in the process of printing our own reply, since past performance indicates that the MONTCLARION probably won’t run this letter, at least in its original form.

I would also like to say we will not resort to a smear campaign. But I will say that Robert Watson has a strong and workable platform, and we can therefore understand and sympathize with our opponents’ campaign techniques.

Stanley Grajewski,
Campaign Manager.

No Complaint from Oshin

To the Editor:

As SGA Elections Committee chairman, it is my responsibility to enforce the regulations concerning campaigning and to rectify any infringements upon them. It has been brought to my attention thru the MONTCLARION’s page one article (April 16) that presidential candidate Richard Oshin believes some violation of campaign rules has been committed by his opponent, Robert Watson. To date I have not received any formal complaint from either Oshin or the candidates.

In my opinion this newspaper has not made an effort to research the allegations. Instead, it has contented itself with publishing rumors founded upon gross misinformation.

SST Still Not Grounded

Ecologists have won the opening battle in their war against the SST. However, many obstacles remain before they can claim victory. Congress, by defeating a funding bill for constructing two SST prototypes, has dealt the aerospace industry and technology a setback. Boeing, the prime contractor for the project, will layoff thousands of employees. This adds to the burgeoning rolls of unemployed engineers and technicians.

LUDICROUS SPENDING

Up to date, a billion dollars has been spent on research and development of the aircraft. It is ludicrous to spend such an amount on the project and then refuse funds to complete it. Especially if those funds will determine whether the project is worthwhile.

The British and French effort in building a type of SST, the Concorde, is now the only competition for the Soviet Union’s entry, the TU-144. The Soviet aircraft is inferior in design and capacity when compared to the American version.

Ecology played a major part in defeating the bill. Prof. Frank Kelland, Conservation Club head, was happy the SST was defeated. He believes such aircraft would create an “imbalance of gases” in the atmosphere and cause a “greenhouse effect,” fomenting drastic temperature changes on the face of the earth.

This argument has its flaws. True SST would pollute the atmosphere, but how much and whether it would be detrimental could only be determined by building the prototypes. If it was then found that the ecologist fears were correct, the project could be halted.

It is clear that the ecologists have a long way to go before they rid the skies of the SST. Their Congressional victory was only the first step.

‘Nonviolent Action’ in D.C.

Nonviolent antwar action is being planned in Washington D.C., May 1 thru 7 to carry out the warning that “if the government won’t stop the war, we’ll stop the government,” according to strike leaders.

The tactic of nonviolence was decided on by the Ann Arbor Student and Youth Conference on a People’s Peace held in Illinois because conference officials said they did not want to alienate American public who seriously want an immediate end to the war.

The tactical manual, according to strike leaders, for the week of May 1 thru 7 says “the objective is to close down the federal government sections of Washington D.C. by blocking traffic arteries during the early morning rush hours of May 3-4.” May Day Tribe, which is coordinating the activities, is telling people bent on thrashing and street fighting to stay home.

On May 5, the May Day Tribe has called for “no business as usual,” around the country in a massive strike against the war. The May Day action has the support of the People’s Coalition for Peace and Justice, Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the National Welfare Rights Organization, American Friends Service Committee, Women’s Strike for Peace and a number of other individuals and groups actively opposing the war.

WOULD KILL NORTH VIET

Babuska would annihilate North Vietnam and Laos. “Civilians would have to be sacrificed. By right, they all contribute to the war effort in some way and have to pay the price for being involved in war,” he said. “The Vietcong are no longer in existence. The war is now against the North versus the South Vietnamese people.”

Gahl, who further describes himself as being a “naturalist-pacifist” said: “I am well-rounded in science, mechanics and small gasoline engines.” He admits that his spelling might need some improvement. His major interests are in law and order and pollution control.

“The people must assume the final responsibility to force the prohibition of pollutants. Industries have a vested interest in perpetuating pollution as a result of the profit motive. Industry has grown out of itself and become a self-destructing machine,” he claimed.

Babuska believes that the country should be run by businessmen instead of politicians. “I haven’t involved myself to any extent with student activities this year,” he said.

“People cannot be allowed to mass together without authorization.” He added: “The fatalities at Kent State were 75% the student’s fault, 15% outside agitators and 10% the fault of the National Guard, who indirectly represents the administration."

PREFERS ‘QUIETUDE’

Gahl prefers the “quietude” to the “multitude.” He said he had attended one sports rally and student dance, after which he was attacked with a knife.

“Students aren’t turned on to the fact that they need to acquire knowledge. They are apathetic on all grade levels and fed up with the (so-called) love generation, so they just drift. There is no point in trying to change them. The people of America are preoccupied with student activities this year,” he said.

'Cry of Players'

Players present a play about the bard

By Sheila J. Wicks
Staff Writer

Instead of doing a play by Shakespeare this year, Montclair State's Players are doing a play about him.

"A Cry of Players," written by William Gibson, is the story of Shakespeare's life in Stratford-on-the-Avon and the unhappiness that forced him to leave. In a broader sense, it is the story of all men who are dissatisfied with their lives.

Will is torn between what everyone thinks he should want and what he knows he wants. "He is exciting, the kind of person people of this age identify with," said Paul Nadas, who plays the part of Will.

The young man has a job offer, a family and friends but these are not enough. "There is a void that has to be filled, a part of him not used," Nadas said of the character.

BRAWLING LUST

The play stages the lusty, brawling part of English life that was the soul of the Elizabethan theater. "One moment you're rolling in 'the blood and the mud and the beer' and the next, life and love is as true now as then," explained Director W. Scott MacConnell.

Altho the director is chosen by the speech department, MacConnell said he is pleased to be directing "Cry." "It's an ethical play...fascinating to work with because it is not a black and white situation," he said.

"Anne is definitely a strong character, unlike most women of her time," said Cheryl Alvey, who portrays Will's wife. "But that is a problem too. Audiences don't sympathize with a strong character so we have to be careful that she doesn't appear to be a shrew."

SIX-YEAR-OLD

For the first time in several years, a child will be a part of the cast. Lorett Ann Smith, a six-year-old, will play the part of Susanna Shakespeare.

Not only have students been involved in the staging and production of the play but they have arranged the music also. A 25-piece brass band plays the music composed by Armando Riverol and orchestrated by Ralph Spotlite.

The play will be presented April 28, 29, 30 and May 1 at 8:30 p.m. with a matinee April 30 at 2 p.m. Tickets will be 25 cents for faculty members and SGA cards, 75 cents for students and $1.75 for adults.

Opening night show benefits study fund.

The opening night performance of Players' "A Cry Of Players" will be a benefit for the Malcolm Fairfield Independent Study Fund for Fine and Performing Arts. The fund will be used to assist student productions, such as the recent Total Theater Ensemble and the future production of "The Fantastiks."

Malcolm Fairfield was a speech major who died on March 19. Tho only a freshman, he had become immediately involved in Players, and performed the leading role of Casanova in their production of "Camino Real" last fall. He was actively involved in "Journey of the Fifth Horse" at the time of his death.

The fund was suggested after several Players meetings by students who wanted to commemorate in some way "one of the finest and friendliest of players."

Donleycott—Marchese Duo Sparks Neffen

Sparked by the doubles power of freshman John Donleycott and Kim Marchese, Montclair State's tennis team downed Jersey City State 5-1/2-1/2, Tuesday.

The win came on the heels of the Indians' first season loss against Fairleigh Dickinson University, 6-3, last Friday. MSC holds a record of 3-1 with earlier victories this season against Newark State (8-1) and Seton Hall (7-2).

THE DONLEYCOTT-MARCHESE team remained undefeated in season competition with the win over Jersey City's Art Tafero and Bob Moss, 7-5 and 6-1.

Captain Walter Klein and Joel Tannenbaum won in straight sets while the number three duo of Jim Powers and Bob Roegge ended in a tie. Marchese won in singles against Tafero, 6-1 and 6-1. Klein notched another MSC win by beating Moss, 6-3 and 6-4. Andy Nicastro picked up the final singles victory against Dino Constantimou, 6-3 and 7-5.

Rick Davison remained undefeated in 3 matches with a 6-3 and 6-3 win against FDU's Tannenbaum and Klein.

"We don't have depth," stated track coach George Horn before the triangular meet between Montclair State, Jersey City State and City College of New York. It was this lack of depth that caused the Indians to split Tuesday's home meet. JCS's Cindermen edged MSC, 74-72, but the Indians swamped CCNY, 84-60, for their first win of the season.

The reason for MSC's loss can be traced to its lack of manpower in the shorter dashes and the hurdles. The Indians were swept in these events by both teams this week. T. J. Morris tripled for JCS by sweeping the 100, 220, and the 440 yard dashes.

As for the 440 and 880-yard dashes, MSC pins its hopes on footloose Greg Weiss. But Weiss is still being troubled by a strained hamstring muscle and only competed in the 880. He took that event in 2:00.8, beating his opponent by well over 15 yards.

Montclair State's baseball team upped its record to 8-2, beating three out of four opponents on the road last week.

Fairleigh Dickinson University washed the Indians, 12-7, Thursday following MSC's 3-1 victory over Newark State. The Indians bounced back with a 13-3 romp over Glassboro State on Saturday and ended the week with a 6-4 win against St. Peter's College.

St. Peter's College was the Indians' victim Sunday as MSC jumped out to an early lead and held on in the final 2 innings to register a 6-4 decision.

Charlkey Williams led the MSC offense with a triple and single in 4 trips. He also had 2 RBIs, 1 in the eighth which proved to be an insurance run and one in the 2-run sixth. Ken Klein scored what proved to be the winner in the seventh when he came home on error.

GSC Falls to Indians

Scoring 9 runs in the fifth and sixth innings, Montclair State gained its fourth New Jersey State College Conference victory in 5 starts by crushing Glassboro State 13-3.

The Indians scored 4 runs on 5 hits and a walk in the fifth as Phil Baccarella singled in 2 tallies while Carmine DeSimone drove in another by a single. MSC put the game away with a 5-run rally in the sixth on 5 hits and 2 walks.

Linksmen Lose In Tri-Meet

Bill Asdal shot an 82 Monday to keep his 5-game winning string alive. But Montclair State's golf team dropped the triangular match against William Patterson College and East Stroudsburg State, 10-7, in both cases.

Last week the Indians edged Newark-Rutgers, 5-4.

ASDAL REMAINED as the Indians' top man by carding MSC's low score for the day. But his ace sophomore kept his undefeated record intact, he failed to complete a shutout and won his match, 2-1%. Up to this point, Asdal had been unscorded upon.

MCS's only other winner in the tri-match was Joe Venti. Venti, a senior, ended with an 84 and a 3-0 shutout as the Indians lost their opening New Jersey State College Conference meet to Patterson.
