Kerry Speaks of the American Dream

"The winding down of the Vietnam war is an obscenity," declared John Kerry, head of Vietnam Veterans Against the War, during his lecture last Wednesday. "Now, instead of losing American lives, we will be losing Vietnamese lives."

Kerry recalled his college years "and our losses: John Kennedy, Robert Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Fred Hampton."

"Since then," Kerry said, "America has experienced a loss of innocence ... of the American dream."

This lack of faith, Kerry told an audience of 1600 freshmen, has been brought about by such things as the plastic commercialism of the Vietnam war and the violence of the American way of life. "For example, before the average child is 14, he has seen more than 12,000 violent deaths on tv," he said.

The former Army lieutenant stated that while the young people of America are looking for the new politics of compassion, "they are faced with the old politics of paradox, the old politics of betrayal."

Touching briefly on the prisoner of war issue, the wage-price freeze and the problems of the returning veteran, Kerry stated that the basic need of the American people is to redefine progress — "the whole question of what is America."

"Only a Republican could go to Peking," the tall, slim vet said in answer to a question on President Richard Nixon's announced trip to China. "If a Democrat had done it, they would have been calling him a Commie pinko."

The trip is necessary, he continued, "but they are just buying time for withdrawal."

"What America needs is benevolent capitalism," Kerry added. "What we have now is a government that subsidizes airplanes, not people."

Congress Discuss MSC's Future

Building and Construction Highlight Schoolwide Powwows

Art School --- Pratt Urges Involvement

The importance of full participation in the January innovative period was the main point spoken of by Dr. Samuel Pratt, dean of the School of Fine and Performing Arts at that school's Congress meeting on Wednesday.

Pratt pointed out that the idea of an innovative period came out of the School of Fine and Performing Arts and therefore their participation would be crucial in its being continued.

In answer to a question from a senior fine arts major, Dr. Norman Lange, student teaching and placement director, explained that seniors planning to student teach in the spring would be able to start a week later in order to take full advantage of the January intersession. But he could not say for sure he would meet that because their student teaching stints would therefore be extended a week. "This will be worked out with each school system," Lange said.

The congress also decided that since they felt the teacher evaluation form chosen by the SGA for use last spring was unsatisfactory, they voted to create a revised form more suited to the needs of the school.

Humanities Discuss Future & Purpose

A discussion of "What are the humanities?" highlighted the School of Humanities' Congress session Wednesday afternoon.

The purpose and future of the humanities were also discussed by Dr. W. Bernard Fleischmann, School of Humanities dean. Fleischmann pointed out that the humanities are everything concerned with man -- his ways and judgments -- including areas such as economics, political science, sociology and even biology and mathematics.

In the future, Fleischmann added, the humanities are anticipated to account for 25% of the student and faculty growth. The dean mentioned the building of two additional humanities structures, a $215,000 landscaping project around the buildings, and the addition of four new majors: comparative literature, linguistics, Italian and a general humanities major.

Consideration of amendments to the School's constitution were postponed until copies could be generally distributed for everyone to read.

Fleischmann reminded the assembly that the "Dean's Hour" will be held weekly at 11 a.m. Thursday in the first floor Partridge Hall lounge. The hour is traditionally a conversation period where any individual ideas or anything concerning the school can be discussed.

Math-Sci Building Set for Summer

The new math-science building will be ready for use next summer, according to Dr. Irwin Gawley, dean of the School of Mathematics and Science. Speaking at the schoolwide meeting held on Wednesday, Gawley stated that the building is expected to meet its 500-day completion schedule.

Gawley also spoke about the higher-education bond issue on the November ballot and urged students to vote in its favor. According to Gawley, funds provided by this bond will be used to renovate and provide air conditioning for Finley and Mallory halls.

In another business, Gawley announced the change of the name of the physics-earth science department to the physics-geoscience department. He also said that faculty evaluation results will be available before spring registration.

Speaking primarily to freshmen and transfer students, Gawley explained the school's governance policies, including the school senate and student advisory groups. He also discussed the quality-point method of scheduling by which members of each class, starting with seniors, are given scheduling priority according to their number of accumulated grade points.

Professional School Extends Welcome

Freshmen were welcomed to the School of Professional Arts and Sciences by seniors at an assembly that the "Dean's Hour" was welcomed back at the first school meeting Wednesday afternoon.

After a reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, revisions to the school constitution were discussed. Some of the revisions are in curriculum and in the proportion of teachers to students in the school.

Senior James Worth asked students to contact their school representatives if they have any ideas or problems. Worth pointed out that if students do not take part in the congress, the representatives must take whatever steps they feel are necessary.

Also discussed was the possibility of a school newsletter informing the students of happenings in the school and relate news about the teachers.

Dr. Houston Elam, school dean, wished the students a very good year.

Soc-Beh School Juggles Quorum

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences (SBS) met Wednesday and discussed topics ranging from school procedures to construction of a building to house the school.

Dr. Philip Cohen, school dean, chaired the Congress, which was sparsely-attended -- primarily by the seniors.

The question of quorum was raised, and the congress resolved that henceforth, any number in attendance at a congress would constitute a quorum.

In other procedural matters Dr. Lois More motioned to allow non-senators to chair committees. It was seconded and was passed unanimously.

Student sentiment was strong on the issue of constructing an SBS building. However, Cohen explained that even if a bond issue was approved this year it would require at least four years to begin construction.

Other topics included the moving of faculty offices into Russ Hall, availability of student advisory committees and the establishment of a school paper. This paper would contain announcements concerning meetings, appointments and news of school interest.

If You Need Help

With the dual purpose of establishing a general information center and providing an outlet for people "who just want to talk to someone about their problems," the Montclair State College Help Line makes its debut on campus this fall.

According to Assistant Dean of Students James Harris, some administrators felt the need for increased student services, namely an information center. The students, however, wanted something more "urgent" than a "polite" society in which they could talk about their personal problems.

HARRIS EXPLAINED that the idea for the Help Line was conceived last fall by a group of concerned students from organizations such as the Johnny Appleseed movement and the Black Organization for Success in Society.

Interested students underwent a training program involving situations they would encounter while manning the Help line.

Aside from these areas, emphasized Harris, the line will be open to anyone who is "down and out," and just wants to talk to someone.

Harris stated that students interested in working on the Help Line can apply in College Hall, room 206. To contact Harris, students should call 893-5288 from 6:30 p.m. to 6:30 a.m. Sunday thru Friday and from noon to 6 a.m. on Saturday.

Walking’s Good For You, Anyway...

By Carol Sakowitz
Staff Writer

"Are you coming out," queries the hopeful Montclair State motorist. "No, but good luck finding a space," answers the understanding student with the parked car.

The Montclair State opened the campus to 6000 day undergraduates yesterday. Those who came found that nothing had changed — as far as the parking situation is concerned.

Yesterday was a fine day for driving, but not for the students who roamed around the campus searching for a seemingly non-existent parking space. Reactions from student drivers were as is to be expected.

"It’s ridiculous," stated junior Denise Fiore. Miss Fiore, a physical education major, also complained about the distance between her car and Panzer gym. "It seems you have to park 10 miles out of your way."

JOHN PALMER is annoyed, but trying to cope with the situation. Yesterday, the MJC junior drove around campus for an hour looking for a vacant spot. Palmer tried to get 8 a.m. classes to justify an early arrival on campus, but couldn’t get it cleared with the scheduling office.

"You kind of get used to it," lamented Palmer about the traffic tieup. "It’s a thing you have to live with."

Brigitte Schmeckel admitted that the problem "gets worse every year," but doesn’t seem to mind. "I won’t have to worry after this semester..." transfers.

THE MAIN cause for the parking crisis is the closing of half the quarry for paving. Chief traffic coordinator Joseph Daly cited a delay in the bidding as the reason for the closing.

Daly said that the request for the paving was sent to a state office for completion early last year but the paving contractors didn’t win the bid until the last week in August. "We knew they would run into the school’s opening," stated Daly, "but there’s nothing we could do."

Another reason for the lack of parking facilities, according to Daly, is the abundance of unregistered cars on campus. A yearly occurrence, it will take a week before unregistered cars are ticketed and traffic leveled off.

Daly regretted the inconvenience caused by the quarry closing but admitted there was no other alternative but to direct students off campus. Hopefully, he noted, the quarry will be opened this Monday.

Until then, students have to scrounge around for parking spaces. Daly said the mudflats would be opened temporarily to accommodate students but a big "park at your own risk" sign serves as a deterrent.

Freshmen have an advantage over upperclassmen as far as spaces go, however. The half of the lot opened in the day is designated for only freshmen and upperclassmen were prevented by guards from parking there yesterday.

Anyone for a ten-speed bicycle?
Flowers and the Snowbound Quarry

As promised, the mudflats have been closed off to create a mall. Granted, it is a nice idea, bringing trees, flowers and unpolluted air to the campus. But for Montclair State it is totally impractical. Approximately 70% of the MSC student body commutes daily and, as it is obvious to anyone who has tried to find some place to park after 8:30 a.m., spaces are few and far between.

While a mall would be beautiful in the springtime, it will be nothing but mud and slush for most of the school year. And instead of endless drifts, the space could be better used.

In the letter that was sent out with fall registration material, Vincent B. Calabrese, vice-president of business and finance, stated that the joint Student-Faculty Parking Committee voted to extend the present mall to include the entire area between Partridge and Finley halls, as well as the entire area between Russ and Stone halls.

The first day of orientation, by 10 a.m., the first level of the quarry was full. And this was with only a quarter of the student body on campus. Now the major portion of the booklet has been sent to the printer.

This faculty evaluation is the combined efforts of hours of work on the part of many students and most of the faculty. The campus will be able to see the results of this project before the next registration.

However, if this is to be the only evaluation, all of this work has been in vain.

As it was pointed out in June, the Purdue evaluation forms were clumsy and many of the students felt that the process should be repeated for at least two more years.

A good faculty evaluation can do much to improve the educational process at MSC. Besides, after all of this work, the least we can do is give the idea a second chance.
The New Dorm -- C'est Si Bohn

By Diane Forden

Welcome to the Bohn Hilton, I am Miss Jones, your hostess for the newest, most lavishly furnished 16 story high rise in North Jersey.

The padded elevator cars are the latest in transportation development. The protective coverings avoid damaging the chrome interiors and, in case of mechanical failure, the thick wall hangings will cut down on whiplash.

On the third and fourth floors, sliding door fronts open onto terrazzo balconies, lined with English ivy and chrysanthemums, that overlook the New York skyline.

Evening cocktail parties will be held on the 16th floor rooftop with sun bathing available whenever it is not raining.

The twelfth floor terrace will feature pool, tennis, shuffleboard and bridge.

Appointments will have to be scheduled with the receptionist in the main lobby for "safety." Attempts from these two popular locations and caterers are available.

One final note, the totally color coordinated Bohn Hilton is the only building in Clifton tall enough to merit an airplane warning blinker. Makes you feel superior, doesn't it?

The other courses you so scrupulously chose are politely termed "unscheduable re-quests." And if you dare to choose two classes scheduled for the same hour the computer will be sure to note this typically human failing as a "fatal error" (Perhaps any attempt to schedule your courses for the same hour should simply be termed "unscheduable requests.")

"I can't give you an exact time for that, but..."

"It couldn't have been that important. It wasn't in the MONTCLARION..."

"Why do they call it QUARTERLY if it only comes out three times a year?"

The other courses you plan to graduate in June. PAINED FACULTY

"The SG-what?"

"What's the difference between closed," -- fantastic memory.

"I know he's the anti-Musica..."

"I'm not in charge of that..."

"What's the difference between the course instructors..."

"I went to a CINA lecture last night and every one there enjoyed it -- both of us.

"What's a quarry?"

"I heard the CLUB lecture for tonight has been cancelled..."

"The SG - what? it's also who you know before need..."

"What's the difference between psychology 100 and 101?"

"I checked in the library, professor, but they don't have a copy of 'Hamlet.'"

"Are we supposed to talk all the way up from there?"

"What do you mean, Colorado? I thought he went to Las Vegas last year."

"I was a Spanish major my first semester, too..."

"I'm not in charge of that..."

"I received this letter from the registrar saying, 'Your records and transcripts have been eaten by the computer. Please see the student personnel officer for your desk..."

"There's a gas station in Montclair that's open at this hour?"

"They're considering a standardized grading system for term papers. An 'A' is over 25 footnotes per paper, a 'B' is from 20-25..."

In One Ear and...
It's a good season, but...
The hard hitting of Carmen DeSimone plus the outstanding pitching of Paul Parker and Kevin Cooney highlighted Montclair State's 1971 varsity baseball season.

The Indians of Coach Clary Anderson posted a fine record of 19 wins against only 6 losses marking MSC's 22nd winning baseball season in the last 23 years.

DeSimone, a graduating senior from Paterson, topped the MSC nine in batting average (.376), hits (38) runs-batted-in (37) and triples (3). The former Paterson Kennedy High School star completed his three-year varsity career with a sensational .368 batting average.

Parker, a senior, led the pitching staff with seven wins and no losses. He worked 66 innings, giving up only 22 earned runs and 58 hits while striking out 77 and walking only 29. His two-year MSC career mark is now 11 wins, with only two losses.

Cooney posted a record of six wins and two defeats and had several important saves. The senior from Cedar Grove worked 67 innings and posted a fine 2.55 earned-run average.

Dale Garlick was the Indians' second best hitter with a .376 average. The former Pompton Lakes star had 34 hits in 92 times at the plate. He led the teams in doubles with 11.

Heck Heads MSC Five

Senior Bob Heck has been elected captain of Montclair State's 1971-72 varsity basketball team, according to Ollie Gelston, head basketball coach.

Heck, a key reserve on the Indian hoop squad last season, succeeds Harry James as leader of the MSC team.

Bob Heck:
Inspirational Leadership.

AN OUTSTANDING athlete at Teaneck High School in basketball and baseball, Heck has played a key role in the Indians' last two varsity campaigns.

Heck is only the second player hailing from Bergen County in the history of MSC intercollegiate basketball to head the basketball team. Bob Sienkiewicz of East Rutherford led the Indians in 1969-70.

In making the announcement Gelston said, "Bob Heck is a winning basketball player and will give us valuable leadership. He is totally dedicated to the game of basketball and should provide inspirational leadership for his teammates."

Schellscheidt Named As Assistant Soccer Coach

Manfred Schellscheidt has been appointed an assistant soccer coach at Montclair State College, according to Bill Dioguardi, athletics director.

In the past, the New Indian soccer coach has been associated with soccer for over 30 years as a player, coach and official.

State coach handling all-star teams on the amateur and professional level in the state. In this capacity he recently made a 30-day trip to Europe with the New Jersey Junior All-Stars during the month of August.

An athlete who at 10 years old started playing soccer in his native Germany, Schellscheidt came to the United States in 1964 and has competed with the Elizabeth Sports University of Cologne in 1967 and holds a professional coaching license.

The WRA has been content to sit back and run the WRA. Much has been said concerning the restructuring of departments and working toward a university (someday, if the interest was there. When those who answered in the negative last season with the Indians was in 1967 when he booted 21 extra points and field goals in a season (21); most field goals in a career (16); and most extra points in a game (48 yards); most consecutive extra points (21); most extra points in a season (21); most field goals in a career (16); and most extra points in a career (52).

Dan Rodgers, Montclair State College's all-time kicking record holder, has signed a professional football contract with the New England Patriots of the National Football League. He reported for pre-season training at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, Mass. on Tues., July 13. Rodgers, the holder of every extra point and field goal mark in MSC history, played last season with the Jersey Jays of the Atlantic Coast Football League. Rodgers kicked 15 field goals in 30 attempts and 27 of 30 extra points. He was the top extra point and field goal kicker in the ACFL.

In his Montclair State career, Rodgers made 52 extra points in 59 attempts in his four-year varsity career. In field goals, Dan booted 10 in 46 attempts.

The former Bayonne High School kicking specialist's best season with the Indians was in 1967 when he booted 21 consecutive extra points. RODGERS HOLDS seven all-time kicking records at MSC including the longest field goal (48 yards); most consecutive extra points and points in a season (21); most extra points in a game (7); most field goals in a season (7); most field goals in a career (16); and most extra points in a career (52).

MSC Tight
On Defense

"We should be just as strong defensively as last year," stated Montclair State football coach Clary Anderson.

Anderson's conclusion came after a week-long training camp at Blairstown Academy, Blairstown. MSC's gridders managed 11 practice sessions in the six days of training. The team worked out on two marked fields which enabled more detailed precision play.

"It's hard to do it here (at Montclair) because we're a commuter school," commented Anderson in reference to the Blairstown camp.

Anderson believes the defense is comparably equal to last year's team which allowed only 51 points while the offense racked up 254. Last year, MSC's football team recorded a 9-1 season record while enroute to the NCAA college division Knute Rockne Bowl championship.

While the defense looks relatively sound, the offense remains a question mark. According to Anderson, "On offense, it'll be sometime before we know."

That sometime may be tomorrow at 1 p.m. when a Monclar scrimmage against Long Island's Nassau Junior College at Sprague field, Nassau, Alto a junior college, has a strong team and has been in a junior college bowl for the past few years.

MSC downed Nassau, 28-10, last year at Sprague.
