MAC $115,575 Budget Squeaks thru SGA Reps

By Susan Kelly

Athletic Commission's budget in Tuesday's meeting of the legislature. The appropriation of $115,575 was passed by a vote of 20-11, with SGA vice-president William Asdal casting the deciding vote necessary to obtain the 2/3 majority called for when voting on financial matters. Asdal, speaker of the legislature, is provided with the deciding vote by "Robert's Rules of Order," by which the meetings are conducted.

Wendy Gillespie, SGA treasurer, told the legislators that the financial board recommended passage of the bill but suggested restrictions on the $2150 banquet line. She explained that after reviewing the budget with William Dioguardi, MAC chairman and athletic director, she found that the budget had been significantly reduced. MAC's budget has been "cut down as far as it can be," said Miss Gillespie.

Attempting to clear confusion about funds coming to MAC from the state, SGA President Terry Lee said that approximately $140,000-$150,000 is allotted from the state. These funds mainly cover faculty costs, he said. This amount does not include the funds allotted by the SGA.

Lee pointed out that the athletic program has greatly improved since Dioguardi took control of it. He said that the legislature "should give him a vote of confidence" by passing the budget.

Offsetting the MAC budget passage was the passage of a bill calling for SGA opposition to "the discriminatory registration policy of Montclair State which permits and openly condones preferential treatment which is afforded athletes." The bill, submitted by Michael Stanley, psychology department rep, focused upon the practice of allowing athletes first choice in course selection and their privilege of walking to the head of a line of students waiting to change their courses.

DIOGUARDI EXPLAINED that students participating in sports must be free at certain times to work out. Stanley, however, contended that many students have part time jobs and some provision should be made for them. Bruce Conforth, fine arts department rep, and Leon Varjian, math department rep, submitted a bill calling for meetings between the Black Organization for Success in Society (BOSS) and all of the class one organization to "study their individual representation of black culture."

Conforth said that BOSS "feels that the black person is not being represented adequately on campus." "This bill is long overdue," said Lee. "If any section of MSC is unhappy, it hurts us all," he continued. The bill was passed and a report will be made to the SGA following the meetings.

STANLEY SUBMITTED a bill requesting "that dress for yearbook pictures be at the discretion of the individual." "I think that it's an infringement of students rights," said Stanley. The bill was passed.

Asdal pointed out that manner of dress is not currently stipulated in the photographer's contract. Linda Emery, managing editor of La Campana, stated, however, that photographers often refuse to photograph students not in suits and dresses, for fear that their pictures will not sell.

ROBERT McLAUGHLIN, representative from the School of Professional Arts and Sciences, submitted a bill requesting that one legislator from each club one organization be appointed clerk of the SGA. The bill passed.

THE BILL, which will be funded through the unappropriated surplus, was passed. "How can you be against Christmas and kids?" asked McLaughlin.

Lee submitted a bill requesting that Miss Emery be appointed clerk of the SGA. The bill passed.

Announcing his veto of the bill calling for revision of freshman orientation, The wording of the bill "put the SGA in an unfortunate light," he said. Lee also vetoed a bill which would place the vice-presidents of external and academic affairs on the executive board.

TV Tower to Top MSC

The transmitter of a television station of at least 900 feet will soon become a landmark at Montclair State. The transmitter will be one of four in New Jersey's state Public Broadcasting Authority (PBA) which awarded a $367,000 grant for its construction.

According to William Pettit, a spokesman for PBA, the transmitter is for channel 50, a UHF television station. Pettit termed Montclair State "the best place up North" for the transmitter. He explained it will not interfere with other channels and that the area is more densely populated. The FCC is also in control of where transmitters are located.

"ALL FOUR transmitters will be running the same thing," reported Pettit. "Later, each station will be capable of running individually," Channel 52, in Trenton, has been in operation since April 1971, running public and educational programs. Since Trenton is the only operating station, it alone has a studio. As additional funding is added, the other stations will also have their own studios. Pettit commented, "It would also be possible to cover events outside of Trenton by a mobile unit."

The television network is owned and operated by the state. "Revenue from the network comes from a $2.2-million budget from the state legislature," said Pettit. He explained further that the network might also receive outside contributions for special shows or projects.

Pass-Fail Success

1850 Students Now Electing Simplified Grading

By Patricia O'Dea
Staff Writer

Has the opportunity to elect certain courses on a pass/fail basis, which has been available to Montclair State College students since 1969, proved a success or failure? According to Dr. P. Warren Ferguson, 1850 students have chosen to take a course on the pass/fail basis this semester. He remarked, "If success can be measured by popularity, then the option has proved successful."

D R. W A L T E R L. Heilbronner, vice-president of academic affairs, pointed out that the subjective value of this option cannot be measured conventionally. Yet he maintained that the option is valuable. "Ideally," he said, "it encourages students to take courses they are interested in, but might otherwise lack the academic confidence to attempt."

Both Heilbronner and Ferguson realistically noted that students may elect the option for reasons other than the ideal. Joan Pryzby, a senior French major, favors the pass/fail opportunity "because it takes pressure off the required, non-major courses, so I have more time to concentrate on my major." Ferguson termed this reasoning valid, re-emphasizing the fact that individual motivation is difficult to determine.

Pass/fail courses completed successfully appear on the student's academic record, but are not reflected in the grade point average. Yet a failure will be computed as credits attempted and lotted. "This is in keeping with the ideal," Ferguson explained. "Students are encouraged to diversify without fear of damaging their G.P.A., provided they pass the course."

Language Requirements Excluded from Proposals

Montclair State's general education requirements, under study since last spring, may be changed following a scheduled vote on Nov. 1. A committee headed by Dr. George Brantl, philosophy-religion department chairman, has drawn up five proposals, currently available in the library.

The proposals, each suggesting a different method of organizing the general education requirement, all would eliminate the foreign language requirement. "However," Brantl stated, "we do not know what the final amendments to the proposal may be."

The COMMITTEE intends on submitting the proposal to Dr. Walter Heilbroner, MSC vice-president for academic affairs, on Dec. 1. "What he'll do with it, I don't know," Brantl said.

The extension of equivalency exams to waiver standard general education requirements and an exhibition of proficiency in the given area is also being considered. "Our aim is to give the student as much freedom of choice within a basic framework as possible. The whole idea of a liberal arts education is to have a well-rounded person through a diversified general education," explains Brantl.

The committee's report on its meetings, achievements and recommendations states that "the emphasis would be on an interdisciplinary programming among several departments of the school, and hopefully, among schools."

BRANTL STATED "I have placed twenty copies of the report on general education requirements in the library for the benefit of the students."

He urged that any suggestions or questions be brought to the attention of any of the school deans, who are all serving on the general education requirement study committee.

Brantl expressed his hopes that students would voice their opinions thru their respective school's dean. He said, "We will summarize the student's opinions when we formulate our final recommendations, he promised.

The questions concern whether pass-fail grading should be permitted in courses taken to fulfill general education requirements, if there should be an eight-credit reduction in graduation requirements, if 16-credit semester load should be reduced, if the current limitation of 10 credits in one's major should be maintained in the student's opinion, or if foreign language requirement should be maintained.

Budget Protest

Student Security Plans Work Halt

Montclair State's student security force plans a work stoppage today, according to junior math major Lionel Gattman, spokesman for the force.

The job action was set to begin last night at 8 p.m. in protest of a cut in the force's budget. Gattman said last night that of the $16,500 that the student force had requested from the college administration, they received only $4000.

MEETING AT 3 p.m. yesterday, the force was told by Dick Huchel, student force captain, and it was then decided that they decided to take the job action.

Gattman stated that until the college administration met their budgetary demands, the force will refuse to work. Most of the $16,500 budget is used for salaries for the students.

According to Gattman, the force works from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily, and car thefts during those hours have been cut down significantly. Gattman said that security chief Joseph Daly backs the continuation of the student security force. Neither Daly nor Vice-president for Business and Finance Vincent Calabrese were available last night for comment.

War Board’s $24,000 Is Legally Untouchable

The $24,000 appropriated to the War Memorial Board is "untouchable," according to William Asdal, Student Government Association vice-president. "Since the board is not legally dissolved the funds cannot be utilized," Asdal explained.

"Realistically speaking, the board disbanded last year. However, they failed to petition the state for a dissolution of their corporation; therein lies the problem," he noted.

The PROBLEM Asdal refers to is a legal one. Until the board is officially dissolved by the state, none of the $4 fee paid by Nader's Public Interest Research Group (PIRG). PIRG will be able to combine the concerns and frustrations on college campuses with the frustrations of the general public interest. "I f we don't do something about the problem," he noted, "there is nothing the situation when contacted, and believe that, whe they disbanded last year, it was legal. If and when the funds are released, it will be up to the SGA to determine their use. "We have a number of alternatives open to us," Asdal noted. "The money could be refunded, used to finance a public education building or placed in surplus," he said.

Homecoming and Kid's Eyes

"Through the Eyes of a Child" is the theme of this year's Homecoming events during this weekend. The first event of the weekend, a coffeehouse, will be held in the Student Union building on Friday at 8 p.m. A parade of floats constructed by campus groups will highlight Saturday's events. Riding on one float will be campus queen Peggy Carlinimo, Miss Montclair State.

In keeping with the overall theme, some children may help in the judging of the floats. After the Homecoming football game, Shadowfax will play for a dance in life hall cafeteria. The last event of the weekend is a concert featuring Poco on Sunday at 8 p.m. in Panzer gym.

Bikers Get Their Racks

By Carol Giordano  Staff Writer

Christmas has come two months early for Bohn Hall's bicycle riders--two bike racks have been installed in front of the new women's dormitory. Jerome Quinn, facilities director, stated that eight proposals were going before the college administration meets with a student study committee.

The request for bike racks was originally made thru Mrs. Lois Redd, housing services coordinator. Mrs. Redd explained that many girls living in the dorm needed a place to keep and secure their bicycles.

SECURITY CHIEF Joseph Daly expressed his approval of the use of bicycles on campus. He said, "If more people use them, it might cut down the use of other vehicles" and ease Montclair State's traffic situation.

Daly also would like to see areas set aside for motorcycle racks. According to Quinn, if there is a demand for them, they can be purchased. He noted that motorcycles can currently be parked in lots five behind Sprague field.

As yet there have been no reported bicycle thefts, Daly said. He cautions students to lock up their bicycles as a safety measure, however, and emphasized that riders must be considerate of pedestrians.

According to Quinn, state-appropriated moneys were used to purchase the racks, which cost $65 each. Racks will be located at the student life building, College Hall, Finley and Malory halls and at each of the dorms.

Bond Issue Is Needed

Phase Four of Montclair State's Master Plan seems to be an impossible dream, considering the present state of New Jersey Higher Education funding. New buildings, housing complexes—college development is going to cost a lot more than even the most successful state lottery can provide.

The passage of the proposed 1971 bond issue will be the first step towards the realization of our higher education potentialities and a measure of national respect for the New Jersey state college system.

It should be a constant source of embarrassment to New Jersey residents that we are 48th in educational funding. Instead, the general public doesn't seem to be fully aware of it and certainly doesn't seem to be making any effort to change its priorities.

By the fall of 1971, 74,200 undergraduates were enrolled in New Jersey state colleges—and 185,800 were going out-of-state. Just look around. How many kids from "the old high school" went to out-of-state colleges?

Higher education funding. New buildings, housing complexes—college development is going to cost a lot more than even the most successful state lottery can provide.

There must be some kind of further funding for New Jersey higher education, so it looks like we must trust Trenton one more time.

Panzer's Paranoia

The MAC budget has been passed so the north side of the campus can calm down and stop worrying. Perhaps it wasn't as much as they wanted originally but $115,575 is nothing to sneeze at.

However, the fact remains that not only does MAC get a chunk of the SGA funds but it also gets between $140,000 and $150,000 from the state每 year. That is an awful lot of money to be sneezed at.

The reluctance of some legislators to approve the budget was unnecessary—but some reps thought that the approval of the MAC budget—with no investigation into MAC spending—was "a hell of a way to conduct business."

But the MAC situation isn't yet over, according to some SGA sources. Several legislators intend to bring the whole athletic budget up again next week.

The MAC budget was passed in its original form, including the $1800 awards appropriation, the $2150 banquet line, the $11,000 sports information

Reportage

Is There a File On You?

The most important point is that there is no limitation to what type of things such an agency may investigate. According to the law, a person or company seeking such a report must notify the individual investigated and either state the scope of the investigation or advise the individual of his right to request the portfolio.

This may not seem unfair until one finds out how such information is collected. The law also allows for investigation without the individual's knowledge. It states: "A person may not procure or cause to be prepared an investigative consumer report on any consumer unless...the report is to be used for employment purposes for which the consumer has not specifically applied."

Another flaw in the law is that, even though the individual has a right to see his own file, he has almost no way of knowing who has it. The law does not require the person who is having the report made to state what company is doing the investigation.

The only way of finding out who has a file is if a subject is turned down by a credit agency, insurance company or is refused employment and told that it was due to a report. At this time the law requires that the subject be told who compiled the report.

The powerful business interests have succeeded putting the burden of proof on the individual, and it is time that the American people show their displeasure and demand a stronger law for their own protection.

Letters

Letters to the editor should be submitted to the MONTCLARION office, second floor of the student life building, by noon Tuesday before the desired publication date. Letters should be typed, double spaced, and should not exceed 250 words. While the editors will not substantially change letters, they do reserve the right to edit letters for misspellings, style inconsistencies and excessive length. Letters should be signed with the writer's name, major and year.
To the SGA, we think it appropriate to speak at this time about the recent SGA legislature meeting concerning budgets (Oct. 12). Particularly, we would like to speak on the rejection of the proposed MAC budget. The requested budget asked for $156,575 for MAC.

We state this only because the majority of students do not know exactly how much this organization was getting. The rejection of this budget was not based on a personal bias against MAC, but a decision that the entire SGA body (containing representatives from all departments) voted upon.

In doing so, we hoped to allocate some of the money for broader use on campus by a greater majority of students. Any other reductions were made for the same purpose. If closing, again, no one member cut any one budget. The actions taken were on a whole for the benefit of the college community.

No More Pencils or Books on Wednesday

By Ruth Youngblood
Staff Writer

HONOLULU (UPI) - Students at St. Louis High School are into doing everything but their books on Wednesdays. They're touring banks and breweries, rapping about drugs and sex, playing instruments and painting. It's all part of "alternative school," an entire day set aside for exploring educational dimensions not possible under traditional schedules.

St. Louis, a private Catholic high school, launched "alternative school" this fall on a one-year trial basis. But Ray Conrad, the administrator who developed and coordinated the program, said the response has been so enthusiastic he hopes to turn it into a twice-weekly experience for the 1972-73 school year.

SPECTRUM BROADENED

"Wherever time is needed or new ideas are to be explored, alternative school makes it possible," Conrad said. "The spectrum of educational choices is broadened and deepened by this method. The basic ideas are to maximize the student's chance to make choices and challenge and excite the educational appetite."

Each Wednesday is set aside to provide an uninterrupted block of time "for students and faculty to explore activities they wouldn't have time for under a five-day-a-week regimented schedule," Conrad said.

With films and visual media the "ie" thing today, it's refreshing to come across a group who specialize in audio productions. The Foreign Theater is that group. Their humor is subtle, blunt, brash and gentle. Their are total originals and yet, are the current incarnations of Spike Jones, Stan Freberg and Lewis Bruce.

A stream-of-consciousness style pervades Fireign's work. The ear becomes the mind's eye as the listener is transported anywhere from the distant past to the not-too-distant future. A Magical Mystery Tour of a social and political Disneyland of the future forms the basis of the Foreign Theater's current album, "I Think We're All Bozos On This Bus."

Don't Fall Off The Mountain, Shirley MacLaine, Bantam Books, $1.50

Kooky Shirley MacLaine—after countless interviews and hundreds of articles in Photoplay and Movie Screen, the three words seem to come out as one. "Don't Fall Off The Mountain" proves that the flip title is totally unworthy of such a sensitive and intelligent woman.

Born and raised in a staid Virginia family, Miss MacLaine devoted her childhood to a rigorous ballet training that eventually led her to New York. Her "big break" came at 19 as an understudy in "Pajama Game" when she was introduced to the Broadway stage and producer Hal Wallis the same night.

A string of successful movies (including "Around the World in Eighty Days," "Gambit" and "Two for the Seesaw"), a marriage—and a daughter, Sashiko, followed.

The book concludes with a description of her visits to India, introduction to yoga and mysticism and capture by a revolutionary junta in Bhutan, a small mountain kingdom on the Chinese border.

A varied and lively book, "Don't Fall Off The Mountain" is perhaps the best in the long line of Hollywood autobiographies, generally written to give the author a chance to drop as many names as possible in the space of 300 pages. Shirley MacLaine is different—instead of larding her story down with overblown memories she sprinkles them liberally with the magic of life.

\section*{'Last Movie'--it really isn't}

\textbf{By Don Pendley}

\textbf{Staff reviewer}

I only wish Dennis Hopper's "The Last Movie" were. We of the now-film-generation remember Hopper as one of the big names of "Easy Rider," which has, by now, achieved the dubious distinction of being the "now" film thru introspective insights into Hopper's cynicism toward Hollywood, thru empathetic shots of the Peruvian poverty, and thru Hopper's in-jokes, which, perhaps, are the highpoints of the movie.

What's strangest about the whole flick is that Hopper seems to be really as he does in the flick. In an appearance following the preview of "The Last Movie," Hopper said he was very pleased with the film's outcome. As he said, "I made a new form—you've never seen anything like this before." Hopper obviously seems to be very much into Hopper.

A lot of the film seems to be a large joke (tho a pointless one) which, perhaps, are the highpoints of the movie. For a laugh, the best part of the film is a shoot-em-up, "choreographed" by Hopper, featuring some of those faces which brought you "Easy Rider," "Five Easy Pieces," et al.

Harriers Hit Top

Montclair State's cross country coach, George Horn, goes by the saying "the cream always rises to the top." The cream that has risen to the top of Garrett Mountain is his cross country team.

In winning their eleventh meet against no losses, the team broke a school record set in 1949 under coach Richard Willing. The record for that year was 10-1. The team needs four more wins to complete a perfect season.

According to Horn, the outlook is excellent. "If we beat Jersey City State, we'll win the state championship," he said.

The cream that has risen to the top of Garrett Mountain is the fact that just three years ago the team had a 2-12 record. The reason for this change was summed up by Coach Horn when he said, "We've got a lot of talent." Citing that near perfect record, the talent is obvious.

Squaws Lose, 4-0

Montclair State's field hockey team suffered its first setback of the season in a 4-0 defeat by Trenton State College last Tuesday at Brookdale Park.

In a game marked by injuries to TSC players, the home team's defense held Trenton during the major part of the first half, with several saves by goalie Laura Sanoff. But with less than two minutes remaining in the period, TSC scored, taking a 1-0 lead.

ELEVEN DOWN, FOUR TO GO: The MSC cross country team broke a record dating back to 1949 and have four meets to go for an undefeated season. Team members are (L to R) first row: Frank Winkleman, team captain Vic Mizzone, Bruce Scott, Tom Pendlebury, Dennis Yaneski, Fred Geiger, Bill Rowling.

IN THE second half, the visitors' quick passing proved too much for the Squaws in Trenton increased its edge with an easy goal on a corner shot. Two more goals by TSC concluded the scoring for the afternoon, despite attempts by MSC right inner Patty McCarthy to salvage the home team's dignity.

Noticeable in the Squaws' performance was the absence of regular center forward Cathy Callahan, Barbara Crane, regular right inner, replaced Miss Callahan, but MSC's offense, slow in following up shots, lacked the spark to move on several opportunities.

Ellen Johns, Becky Owen and Pat Finucane, hurt during the second period, will hopefully see action in next week's game.

TRENTON STATE made a clean sweep of the afternoon, blanking the MSC junior varsity 1-0.

'Unknown' WARA Grows

By Kathy Blumenstock
Sports Writer

Communication and involvement are the key words of the Women's Athletic and Recreation Association's '71-'72 program. In an effort to attract the interest of commuters, dorm residents and students living off-campus, the WARA has launched a campaign to encourage all women of MSC, not only those majoring in physical education, to participate in intramural sports.

"THE TROUBLE is, not enough people are aware of our purpose," says Roseanne Spina, WARA president. "They either don't know or are apathetic about what is going on."

Because MSC is mainly a commuter college, students seem reluctant to stay on campus after their classes or come back at night to get involved. We want to give them something worth coming back for, activities which will be relaxing and enjoyable... as well as competitive," she stated.

Physical education instructor Donna Olson serves as WARA's advisor.

"An official of the college has suggested there be more physical activity available for the girls," she continues, "in addition to the social activities such as clubs and sororities. We hope to fill this need by offering a program of tournaments, tentatively scheduled to begin with volleyball during the last week of October, followed by bowling and badminton in later weeks. A coed Swim Splash for the whole college will take place Thurs., Nov. 18, and in the spring we hope to offer more coed events.

"WE'RE ALSO trying to get representatives from the dorms, clubs and sororities to keep the girls informed and to accept any new ideas and for the program," commented Miss Spina.

One of the biggest obstacles in the program has been finding enough facilities. In the past, men's intramurals have taken place in the College High School gym, although this year the WARA will share its use. The Ski Club of last year will be reactivated if funds and student discounts can be obtained.

"I'm optimistic about the success of the program," she added. "We're willing to serve the students, but we do need the cooperation of the individual in our efforts."

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—Trailing 21-0, Montclair State put on a last quarter surge, but fell short as the Purple Knights of Bridgeport University took their third straight Eastern Football Conference victory in as many games as they defeated the Indians 21-13. Led by an amazing running attack and timely passing, the Knights completely dominated the first three quarters of play.

The Knights started quickly as they drove 64 yards from scrimmage on their first set to open up the scoring of the game. A 26-yard pass play from quarterback Roy Ferreira to end Gary Cudmore mixed in with a steady running game produced the score. Fullback Dave Caliderno went in from 3 yards out for the touchdown.

THE TWO teams exchanged the ball until the last second of the second quarter when Ferreira threw a 30-yard aerial to end Dan Zembek for the Knights’ second score. Trailing 14-0 at the end of the first half, things looked dim for MSC. The game moved further from reach in the third quarter when the Knights drove 82 yards on the ground capped off by a 1-yard lunge by halfback Vic Detour. The game looked out of hand but the Indians had not yet given up. The fourth quarter looked like a completely new ball game. Bob Brewer made it a ballgame when he hit end Pete Martin with a 34-yard touchdown pass. Brewer followed with the extra point to make the score 21-7.

On the ensuing set, the Indians stopped the Knights cold and proceeded to drive 81 yards to bring the game within reach. The attempt for a two-point conversion failed and there was not much time left. The Indians got the ball back with a little over two minutes left, on their own 20-yard line. On a broken play which found halfback Glen Morschauser failing to find an open receiver, he galloped 43 yards to the Bridgeport 37-yard line. This final scoring attempt died there when a Knight defensive back, positioned with a Brewer pass on the 5.

TOMORROW NIGHT, the Indians will face Southern Connecticut at home at 8:30 p.m.

In their encounter against New York University on Saturday, MSC sent 19 shots goalwards to the city boys’ meager tally of nine. And yet still they blew the game 1-0 in a Saturday, MSC sent 19 shots out for the touchdown.

The NYU defense error by sweeper John and another 3-0 was an outstanding athlete and coach of MSC’s history. Nominees will be chosen on the basis of achievement and recommendation by the selection committee, which consists of: Thomas H. Richardson, MSC President; Dick Stahlberger, sports information director; three alumni appointed by the athletic director and Dioguardi.

THE COMMITTEE will elect a minimum of three and a maximum of eight candidates during each school year. The mid-year induction, honoring members of sports other than football, will take place Fri., Jan. 28 during the halftime of the MSC-Mount St. Mary’s basketball game.

In the lobby of Panzer gym, a new display area has been erected to house the Hall of Fame.

"I’m pretty excited about this whole thing," admits Dioguardi with obvious enthusiasm in his voice. "While going over MSC’s first 40 years of athletic history, I came upon a great number of noted people who are certainly deserving of formal recognition."

DIOGUARDI ALSO sees the Hall of Fame serving as a way of rewarding the alumni, many of whom are "already quite interested and excited."

"When the captain of the first football team heard about the Hall of Fame, he sent me this photo of the team, his helmet and this game ball," Dioguardi says, proudly pointing to these souvenirs in his office.

And after the homecoming game, the Alumni Association is sponsoring a reception at the Commonwealth Club to honor the Hall of Fame inductees," he adds.

EACH POSSESSING a noteworthy athletic record of achievement, the three charter members were selected from among the 27 original football nominees. Walsky starred in basketball and baseball as well as on the gridiron; Stempler lettered in football and track, and became the first MSC gridder to sign a contract with a pro football team (N.Y. Giants) after graduation; and Pittser served in MSC coach in football, basketball and baseball from 1934 to 1945.

To qualify for the Hall of Fame, an athlete must have graduated 10 years prior to his election and have earned two letters in one sport, or one letter in two or more sports, or, in the case of a coach or athletic administrator, he must have served on the MSC staff at least five years. There is no limit to the number of times an individual may be considered for election to the Hall of Fame.
