4-13-1972

The Montclarion, April 13, 1972

The Montclarion

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion/181
The controversial $24,000 in student activities fees belonging to the disbanded War Memorial Board was placed into the Student Government Association's unappropriated surplus funds during Tuesday's meeting of the legislature. Robert McLaughlin, School Professional Arts and Sciences rep. proposed the bill which decided the fate of the funds, ending a year of often heated debate and disagreement.

The War Memorial Board was created to supervise the upkeep of the student life building. When the members voted to disband last April, there was disagreement over the future of the $4 fee which each student paid to the board. Vic DeLuca, history department rep and former board member said that because a decision couldn't be reached on the issue, the fee was charged this year and held in escrow (a fund in which it cannot be removed and spent.)

NUMEROUS BILLS concerning possible use of the funds have been proposed throughout the year and were defeated by the legislature. SGA President Terry Lee suggested in December that the money be put into unappropriated surplus which is a fund not yet allotted to any organization or project. History department reps Robert Watson and DeLuca sponsored a bill last semester requesting that the money be carried over to next year's budget with a corresponding decrease of $4 in the student activities fee.

Last month, DeLuca and Larry Bishop, School of Social and Behavioral Sciences rep. proposed the bill which would carry over to next year's budget. The action would have resulted in a decrease in the student union fee.

SGA Treasurer Wendy Gillespie said that this action brings the amount of money in the unappropriated surplus up to approximately $40,000. This money will be carried over to next year's budget if it is not spent this year.

McLaughlin told the legislature that the money should be removed from escrow and used for student services. Pete Balzano, SGA vice-president of academic affairs, suggested that the funds could be used in such areas as helping the psychological services staff. DeLuca maintains that the money should have been returned to the students because it was not used for the specific purpose for which it was collected. He said that the returning of the fee to students would be a "good will" gesture on the part of the SGA.

Sam Crane, SGA public relations officer, said that "according to what the funds were meant for, it was not right" to put the money into unappropriated surplus. Crane feels, however, that this issue has "dragged on too long and has held up the effectiveness of the SGA. I'm glad to see that the SGA has finally made a decision and now the thing to do is spend the money for increased student services," he continued.

$24,000 Puzzle Solved

By Susan Kelly
Staff Writer

The controversial $24,000 in student activities fees belonging to the disbanded War Memorial Board was placed into the Student Government Association's unappropriated surplus funds during Tuesday's meeting of the legislature. Robert McLaughlin, School Professional Arts and Sciences rep. proposed the bill which decided the fate of the funds, ending a year of often heated debate and disagreement.

The War Memorial Board was created to supervise the upkeep of the student life building. When the members voted to disband last April, there was disagreement over the future of the $4 fee which each student paid to the board. Vic DeLuca, history department rep and former board member said that because a decision couldn't be reached on the issue, the fee was charged this year and held in escrow (a fund in which it cannot be removed and spent.)

NUMEROUS BILLS concerning possible use of the funds have been proposed throughout the year and were defeated by the legislature. SGA President Terry Lee suggested in December that the money be put into unappropriated surplus which is a fund not yet allotted to any organization or project. History department reps Robert Watson and DeLuca sponsored a bill last semester requesting that the money be carried over to next year's budget with a corresponding decrease of $4 in the student activities fee.

Last month, DeLuca and Larry Bishop, School of Social and Behavioral Sciences rep. proposed the bill which would carry over to next year's budget. The action would have resulted in a decrease in the student union fee.

SGA Treasurer Wendy Gillespie said that this action brings the amount of money in the unappropriated surplus up to approximately $40,000. This money will be carried over to next year's budget if it is not spent this year.

McLaughlin told the legislature that the money should be removed from escrow and used for student services. Pete Balzano, SGA vice-president of academic affairs, suggested that the funds could be used in such areas as helping the psychological services staff. DeLuca maintains that the money should have been returned to the students because it was not used for the specific purpose for which it was collected. He said that the returning of the fee to students would be a "good will" gesture on the part of the SGA.

Sam Crane, SGA public relations officer, said that "according to what the funds were meant for, it was not right" to put the money into unappropriated surplus. Crane feels, however, that this issue has "dragged on too long and has held up the effectiveness of the SGA. I'm glad to see that the SGA has finally made a decision and now the thing to do is spend the money for increased student services," he continued.

Two Out of SGA Race

By James D. Hile
Staff Writer

In a surprise move, Vic DeLuca, SGA history rep and presidential candidate, announced his withdrawal from the race. It was the second withdrawal in as many weeks as Bill Asdal, SGA vice-president, said he would withdraw his candidacy in order to become Sam Crane's campaign manager.

DeLuca cited his many personal commitments as well as his student teaching responsibilities next year as the reasons for his decision. "I do not believe that I could devote the necessary time to the job," he said.

He refused, for the moment, to endorse any of the other presidential candidates. DeLuca plans to spend his time working with the SGA Elections Committee.

"THERE EXISTS numerous violations of the election rules," DeLuca charged. He said the flyers circulated by Bruce Conforth, former fine arts rep, for a news conference to announce his presidential candidacy, were a direct violation of the election code. This code forbids any campaigning prior to April 17 and the flyers were distributed April 7.

DeLuca assailed Sal Meola, another presidential candidate, for misusing the Octagon, the social-sciences newsletter, to boost his own campaign. The article was published before the official campaign date; thus, DeLuca charged was in violation of the rules.

MEOLA was quick to deny the allegations. "I am willing to go before the election board if necessary," he said. Meola said he was interviewed for the article and was not responsible for its content or publication. However, he did admit he was the senior editor for that particular edition of the newsletter.
Watson Named New Ed Dean

By Joanne Surowicz
Staff Writer

Montclair State College President Thomas H. Richardson announced today that Ercell A. Watson, New Jersey's first black superintendent of schools, will become the new dean of Montclair State's combined School of Educational and Community Services.

Watson has headed the Trenton school administration since 1968 and will leave that post to accept his new position. Watson was unavailable for comment.

Richardson issued a statement this morning, following Watson's approval by the MSC Board of Trustees at last night's meeting. The Board must approve any administrative or faculty appointments before they can be finalized.

Dr. Ralph Walter, professor of education, has been acting dean of the new School of Education and Community Services pending the final selection of a permanent dean. Dr. George King, former head of the Division of Community Services, will continue as associate dean.

The school is a merger of the former School of Education and the Division of Urban Programs and Community Services.

"This major administrative change," said Richardson, "demonstrates Montclair's continuing commitment to community-oriented educational programs."

Financial Aid Available

Montclair State students are again urged to apply for tuition aid grants, regardless of their family income.

The Board of Higher Education provided the grants to "assist low and middle income students in meeting the increased cost of higher education, according to the application. The grants will pay tuition charges of up to $450 and will provide up to $150 per student in aid."

Ulrich Neuner, MSC financial aid officer, said that over 1000 students have come to his office for applications and that more applications have been distributed throughout campus. Applications are still available in Neuner's office and must be sent to Trenton by May 15 in order to receive "primary consideration."

Ball Sold Out

By Carla Capizzi
Staff Writer

Junior class president Larry Bishop last Friday denounced criticism of the Junior Ball setup.

Sellout of tickets for the ball sparked student complaints that every junior had a right to a ticket. Tickets went on sale last Tuesday and were sold out by Thursday.

Bishop stated it was impossible for every junior to attend because of space limitations at the Wayne Manor. He explained that there are over 1000 juniors and only 250 can be accommodated.

He added that all college events must have a limited attendance and tickets for all events are sold on a "first come, first serve basis."

Bishop and Diane Hudzik, class-vice president, commented that in previous years the ball was a "financial and social disaster." This year, Bishop said, "We've tried to set up the best affair at the cheapest price."

Tickets were priced lower than ever before and as an added inducement, an open bar was offered. Despite this, ticket sales still exceeded all expectations, Bishop and Hudzik said.

The two class officers felt that all juniors had had "ample time to make their feelings known" concerning the ball's setup. Planning for the ball was initiated last spring at several class meetings and the Wayne Manor was then booked.

Bishop pointed out that at least two weeks' advance notice of the ticket sales was given through posters and advertisements in the Commuter Newsletter and MONTCLARION.

Record Albums

5.98 List our price 3.99
9.98 List our price 6.99

In some cases, additional aid is available in the form of grants to "assist low and middle income students in meeting the increased cost of higher education, according to the application. The grants will pay tuition charges of up to $450 and will provide up to $150 per student in aid."

Ulrich Neuner, MSC financial aid officer, said that over 1000 students have come to his office for applications and that more applications have been distributed throughout campus. Applications are still available in Neuner's office and must be sent to Trenton by May 15 in order to receive "primary consideration."

By Donna Lee Goldberg
Staff Writer

Rather than sending scouts into the New York galleries, some of the Montclair State administration have decided to make the studios of the fine arts building their hunting ground. For the first time, student art work has been purchased to decorate administrative offices.

Helene Ross, associate professor of fine arts and Marion Schieleb, assistant professor of fine arts, developed the idea and suggested it to Dr. M. Herbert Freeman, director of graduate studies, as an innovative way to decorate his new College Hall office.

"REACTION in the fine arts department was mixed," stated Ross. "We started working on it this semester when all the faculty members were contacted. They, in turn, suggested that certain students might submit work. There was some apathy among the students, but we did get 30 paintings and some graphic work."

The actual selection was done by Freeman and Jerry Joe, assistant director of graduate studies, who reviewed the paintings.

Ross said that Freeman was very excited about the idea and told her it would be a learning experience for him.

Goals for the office were set and an effort was made to build in design what the office lacked in size by adding warmth and decoration. Freeman said: "The business division agreed to give us a budget to purchase that which we needed from the students at the prices fixed by the students. Also, it's the kind of thing where we didn't know the students."

He added that the students would be invited down later to view their work hanging in the office.

SO FAR, two paintings have been hung in the office. One is a yellow landscape by Susan Beatty, sophomore fine arts major and the other is done on an unstretched canvas by Marie Morongi. A silk-screen print by '71 MSc graduate Joseph Eichinger is yet to be framed and a ceramic pot is being made.

"We're trying to create an image that the graduate studies is a high quality program with curteous handling," Freeman said. "With an office like this it helps one of the students more. It's a comfortable place and we're grateful to Mrs. Ross and the art department for helping us achieve this," he concluded.

Student Picassos Hung In College Offices

By Donna Lee Goldberg
Staff Writer

Rather than sending scouts into the New York galleries, some of the Montclair State administration have decided to make the studios of the fine arts building their hunting ground. For the first time, student art work has been purchased to decorate administrative offices.

Helene Ross, associate professor of fine arts and Marion Schieleb, assistant professor of fine arts, developed the idea and suggested it to Dr. M. Herbert Freeman, director of graduate studies, as an innovative way to decorate his new College Hall office.

"REACTION in the fine arts department was mixed," stated Ross. "We started working on it this semester when all the faculty members were contacted. They, in turn, suggested that certain students might submit work. There was some apathy among the students, but we did get 30 paintings and some graphic work."

The actual selection was done by Freeman and Jerry Joe, assistant director of graduate studies, who reviewed the paintings.

Ross said that Freeman was very excited about the idea and told her it would be a learning experience for him.

Goals for the office were set and an effort was made to build in design what the office lacked in size by adding warmth and decoration. Freeman said: "The business division agreed to give us a budget to purchase that which we needed from the students at the prices fixed by the students. Also, it's the kind of thing where we didn't know the students."

He added that the students would be invited down later to view their work hanging in the office.

SO FAR, two paintings have been hung in the office. One is a yellow landscape by Susan Beatty, sophomore fine arts major and the other is done on an unstretched canvas by Marie Morongi. A silk-screen print by '71 MSc graduate Joseph Eichinger is yet to be framed and a ceramic pot is being made.

"We're trying to create an image that the graduate studies is a high quality program with curteous handling," Freeman said. "With an office like this it helps one of the students more. It's a comfortable place and we're grateful to Mrs. Ross and the art department for helping us achieve this," he concluded.

Student Picassos Hung In College Offices

By Donna Lee Goldberg
Staff Writer

Rather than sending scouts into the New York galleries, some of the Montclair State administration have decided to make the studios of the fine arts building their hunting ground. For the first time, student art work has been purchased to decorate administrative offices.

Helene Ross, associate professor of fine arts and Marion Schieleb, assistant professor of fine arts, developed the idea and suggested it to Dr. M. Herbert Freeman, director of graduate studies, as an innovative way to decorate his new College Hall office.

"REACTION in the fine arts department was mixed," stated Ross. "We started working on it this semester when all the faculty members were contacted. They, in turn, suggested that certain students might submit work. There was some apathy among the students, but we did get 30 paintings and some graphic work."

The actual selection was done by Freeman and Jerry Joe, assistant director of graduate studies, who reviewed the paintings.

Ross said that Freeman was very excited about the idea and told her it would be a learning experience for him.

Goals for the office were set and an effort was made to build in design what the office lacked in size by adding warmth and decoration. Freeman said: "The business division agreed to give us a budget to purchase that which we needed from the students at the prices fixed by the students. Also, it's the kind of thing where we didn't know the students."

He added that the students would be invited down later to view their work hanging in the office.

SO FAR, two paintings have been hung in the office. One is a yellow landscape by Susan Beatty, sophomore fine arts major and the other is done on an unstretched canvas by Marie Morongi. A silk-screen print by '71 MSc graduate Joseph Eichinger is yet to be framed and a ceramic pot is being made.

"We're trying to create an image that the graduate studies is a high quality program with curteous handling," Freeman said. "With an office like this it helps one of the students more. It's a comfortable place and we're grateful to Mrs. Ross and the art department for helping us achieve this," he concluded.
Staff Writer

Montclair State senior John P. McCloskey has announced his candidacy for a Passaic County delegateship to the Democratic National Convention in Miami this July. McCloskey, a Hawthorne resident, will get a crack at the delegateship at elections tomorrow night in Paterson. Ballots may be cast by any registered Passaic County voter, provided he or she is not Republican and has pre-registered for this election.

In his declaration of candidacy, McCloskey stated that he wishes to "bring the gay movement to Passaic County politics and to show support and appreciation for the one candidate who has unequivocally endorsed gay liberation. Senator (George) McGovern (D-S.D.) has backed the gay community; my candidacy is part of an effort by our community to return our support."

McCloskey wants to make people realize that gay individuals are "real persons," not "weirdos." He believes that misinformation on homosexuals is not accurate and that pornography and stereotypes present a distorted view of homosexuals. The gay lib movement is trying to present a true picture of the homosexual and he feels his candidacy is a move toward that goal. "People can look at me and see that I'm not some kind of freak," he explained.

McCloskey said that several gay delegates have already been elected in the District of Columbia and a movement to elect one is underway in New York state. Various gay liberation groups are considering demonstrations at both political parties' national conventions.

Twenty one-year-old McCloskey is a sociology major. He has been active in the Newman Community and Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity. Last year he served as its president.

By Carla Capicci

By Carla Capicci

By Carla Capicci

Morehead Retires

Gives 25 Years to MSC

By Susan Kelly

Staff Writer

Dr. Allan Morehead, executive vice-president and provost of Montclair State, is retiring after serving for 25 years as an instructor and administrator.

Morehead, a 1934 MSC graduate, returned to the college in 1947 as an instructor in education. After serving as chairman of the education department from 1957-64, he became the dean of MSC. Morehead has served in his present capacity as vice-president since 1969.

WHEN MSC was anticipating a change from a teacher education college to one of liberal arts, Morehead was instrumental in the formation of a liberal arts committee which brought about the change in a year's time. "That was probably the hardest working committee that we've ever had at the college," he said. Morehead considers his work on that committee to be one of his most successful actions during his long career.

Morehead considers his "human relationship" with students, faculty and fellow administrators to be the things of which he is the most proud. He also spoke of his success as an instructor, attributing it to the training that he received at MSC.

Vincent Calabrese, vice-president of business and finance, called Morehead's retirement "a loss to the college." He regards Morehead as "a tremendous administrator" and indicated that his departure will prompt changes in MSC's administrative structure.

By Carla Capicci

By Carla Capicci

By Carla Capicci

Committee Sets Complaint Board

By Carol Giordano

Staff Writer

A plan for organizing a faculty-student complaint board was adopted by the Black-Brown-White Committee during its Monday meeting. The board will examine any charges of racial discrimination on campus. James Harris, assistant dean of students, and co-chairman of the committee, said that the board is now in operation.

In other action the committee re-elected Harris as one of its co-chairmen. Sam Meola, junior political science major, will serve as the other co-chairman while sophomore Hattie Mitchell was chosen secretary.

A subcommittee chaired by Mitchell, prepared a report on the complaint board. Their purpose was to recommend the formation of a nine-member board of inquiry within the subcommittee which would handle商城 complaints.

The board is to be composed of the committee's two co-chairmen, two students, two faculty members, two administrators and Mitchell as chairwoman of the subcommittee. According to Mitchell, who gave the subcommittee's report, those who want to register a complaint should complete forms available in Bohn Hall describing the grievance. These forms may be returned at several campus locations.

The subcommittee will review all complaints and recommend a course of action for each of them, which may be dropping the grievance altogether or forwarding it to the board of inquiry or the appropriate administration department.

If the complaint is forwarded to the board, all parties concerned will be invited to meet with its members. Recommendations will then be made and sent to the entire committee and the proper administrative office for possible further action. Meola pointed out that since the committee itself has now power, "somebody should act on our recommendations."

During the meeting the committee also decided to hold sessions on a weekly basis. The next meeting will be held in the Bohn Hall lounge at 10 a.m., Mon., April 17, to discuss ways of easing racial tensions in the dorm.

Arrangements were made with John Kalinowski of VMS, Montclair State's student radio station, for a series of 15-minute broadcasts concerning topics related to the committee.
Two Sides of the Coin—Freud and Greer

Editor's Note: This article is first in a series by staff writers Cathy Jacobs and Morey Antebi. The opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect those of the editors or staff of the MONTCLARION.

Since its rebirth in 1963, the feminist movement has been plagued by bad press. The media has presented feminism as a fad and those women unfortunate enough to be singled out as leaders were pictured as crazed bra-burning castrators. The effect of this type of publicity is that masses of women and men have condemned, or even worse, ignored the women's movement and, in so doing, have lost much. The issues being raised, however, are real ones and thus give the movement some durability.

The movement has many factions with a diversity of priorities and objectives. Some ask for equality in the job market, others ask for the abolition of abortion laws, the establishment of free day care centers and still others seek an end to the entire institution of marriage. Each seeks, in its own way, to attack what it considers to be an inequity or an oppression. Each champions causes that are different and possibly contradictory but what unifies these factions is that the problems they seek to solve are simply symptoms with a common origin.

In an effort to re-evaluate feminism and illustrate its relevance, The Montclarion will run a series of articles dealing with some of the issues.

Oppression takes many forms, both blatant and subtle, but all oppression can be traced to one source—the image of women in our society. Women have been defined by men in and of herself, the vagina is involved but the orgasm originates in the clitoris. Obviously during male-female intercourse the vagina is involved but the clitoris. For years, women have been termed frigid for the inability to attain a strictly vaginal orgasm, an orgasm which has been proven non-existent.

The problem is women have been defined by men and have not been able to develop a true self image. For example, until recently female sexuality has been described, limited and speculated upon by males.

Freud, specifically, postulated that the area of sexual response for mature women was centered in the clitoris. In her current work of the same name, Greer maintains that, if indeed, a woman is a castrated man, that actually she has no sex and thus the term. Freud asserts that "the libido is constantly and unrestricted in a woman's natural sexuality. It is the inability to attain a strictly vaginal orgasm, an orgasm which has been proven non-existent.

Applications For

NEW STUDENT ORIENTATION

HOST PROGRAM

Available in
S.G.A. office
And
Fish Bowl
Oxford Scholar Visits Montclair

By Carol Giordano
Staff Writer

"I am always admiring of American students. They ask questions if given the chance and speak freely in seminars and in audiences. I think I would be too shy to speak in an audience," smiled Paul Turner, university lecturer at Linacre College, Oxford University, who recently conducted a series of lectures and seminars in English literature at Montclair State.

Turner, an Englishman who has taught at Oxford since 1964, also commented on the changes in his own students during that time. "They are much more willing now to contribute to discussions. But American students are still way ahead," he added.

The tall lecturer smiled as he described how he happened to come to MSC. He spoke of his personal friendship with Wolfgang B. Fleischmann, dean of the school of Humanities, here, and how it began when Turner interested Fleischmann enough to write to him. They began to correspond and met when the dean visited England. Turner laughed and said, "I clearly wanted to come," and Fleischmann invited him to MSC.

All but one of Turner's lectures at MSC were connected with work he recently published. His four, two-hour public seminars on Jonathan Swift's "Gulliver's Travels" resulted from his new edition of the classic. His lectures on Ovid and utopias were based on his recent translations of Ovid's "Art of Love" and St. Thomas More's "Utopia." Mathew Arnold was "the odd man out," he said. His work just happens to be a field of my interest."

Turner's lecture on Arnold was both entertaining and informative. With about 20 students and faculty members attending, the lean Englishman appeared extremely relaxed as he sat on a desk and without notes spoke about the Victorian writer for an hour. He commented that "Arnold tends to be enlightened on most scores, but says very little about sexual equality. But he noted that Arnold liked the "free, happy manner of American women." Turner went on to describe Arnold's misfortunes while on a lecture tour in the United States during the 1860's. Americans misunderstood Arnold's manner and once referred to his lecture style as resembling "a chicken taking sips of water and throwing it over his head back," laughed Turner.

This is Turner's first visit to the United States. He obviously was very impressed by Montclair, as he said, "I was cheered by the physical and atmospheric," referring to the hills and landscape. He has also spent two years in Turkey at the University of Ankara.

According to Turner, "Gulliver's Travels" should be approached as a "good story and a funny story" on the level of high school or its equivalent in England, the grammar school. "I have grave suspicions as to whether literature should be 'taught' at all. He noted that on this level historical and biographical facts should be used to stimulate interest. "What a student is meant to carry away from literature is not clear. The real object is to get them to enjoy these works," he concluded.

Geraldo Rivera
Mon., May 8
8 p.m.
Mem. Aud.

---

TERMPAPERS RESEARCH

TERM PAPERS RESEARCH

THOUSANDS OF TYPE

WANTED ON FILE

$1.80 PER PAGE

INTENDED FOR

RESEARCH AND

REFERENCE ONLY

Original papers — $3.30 per page

Finished Forms
Includes: Bibliography and Footnotes

TERM PAPERS RESEARCH

L.I. Building (Robert Treat Hotel)
Room 938
50 Park Place
Call (201) 622-0145

---

HELP WANTED:

Part time Cashiers
Cafeteria, Cafeteria, and Union, 2200 Pompton Ave., Montclair, after 6:00.

BRIEFHAND COURSE

Ten Session Briefhand is now available through the College Reading Development Program. This personal shorthand system was written and introduced to the college by Dr. M. Herbert Freeman, Director of Graduate Studies. Dr. Freeman himself taught his system to interested professors during the innovative period. 893-5260.

ALL REQUESTS FOR ADVERTISING RATES, ON OR OFF CAMPUS CAN BE OBTAINED BY CALLING LOU ROMANO AT THE MONTCLARION OFFICE 893-5169

---

STUDENT CENTER FUEL STATION

Applications are now available for C.R.I. Travel Cards which will be usable in the Student Center Fuel Station. Applications may be picked up in Room 217C, College Hall and should be returned to Room 217C, College Hall or by mail to Box 466, Montclair State College.
When the new student center opens on June 26, Montclair State will be building that is "architecturally unique and singular in design," according to Michael Lowenthal.

The center will include a bookstore, a snack bar-cafeteria, a formal dining shop, a penny arcade and a clothes store. There will also be a Gulf Gasoline gas station for students at a reduced rate and a general store.

Lowenthal explained that an "exciting atmosphere" will be created through color and design. No institutional colors will be used, he continued. The rooms will be colored in "alive" colors such as red, purple and orange.

Student offices will also be in the building. "We are in the process of space," said Sam Crane, a member of the student policy board. The space will be determined in the near future.

Reaction to the center is varied. Lowenthal said that all opinions that favor the building. Larry Bishop, SGA rep, however, complained about the small lounge fact that there is no bowling alley.

Lowenthal said that the decision to eliminate the proposed bowling alley was made by the student policy board in order to accommodate the greatest number of students.

Freshman Tom Barrett said that he liked the building but it is "very expensive and much abuse." Lowenthal said that the building is designed to look "wear and tear" and the building materials include brick and plaster. He expressed hope that the students will respect the building. Lowenthal also feels that much abuse of buildings could be alleviated.

The center has been under construction for approximately two years and is supposed to open in February. Delays in construction and labor problems have caused delays in the opening. Lowenthal said that the building will be entirely operational except for the rathskeller, a type of bar.

Completion of the center will bring about an increase of $12.50 per semester in mortgage payments but, as Lowenthal stated, MSC will be the first state modern student center.
Dome Decree...

New Student Center

26, Montclair State will be presented with a "singular in design," according to director bar-cafeteria, a formal dining room, a candy will also be a Gulf Gasoline station, selling will also be a Gulf Gasoline station, selling store.

"sphere" will be created through the use of used, he continued. The rooms are painted through the use of used, he continued. The rooms are painted "We are in the process of allotting student policy board. The space allotment should said that all opinions that he has heard are complained of the small lounge space and the be the proposed bowling alleys was made by the greatest number of students.

building but it is "very elaborate and in for this is designed to last "wear and tear" since the He expressed hope that the students "will itself. He expressed hope that the students "will this much abuse of buildings is due to approximately two years and was originally construction and labor problems delayed the MSC will be the first state college with a increase of $12.50 per semester to meet the

This special Montclarion section was put together by the efforts of Sue Kelly and Bill Gibson at the typewriters, Carol Anne Sakowitz with the page design and Guy Ball handling photography and project co-ordination.
Tuition Too High

We, the undersigned state college and university newspapers of New Jersey, are vehemently opposed to any increase in tuition.

We consider the proposed increase to be both unnecessary and unjustified in light of several striking facts. New Jersey currently ranks 48 out of the 50 states in state aid to higher education. This is inconsistent with New Jersey's rank as one of the wealthiest states in the nation in terms of the amount of federal income tax paid.

This management of monies and an antiquated tax system are the culprits responsible for the amount of federal income tax paid.

We agree with the Rutgers/Newark Taxpayers Coalition that the tax structure of New Jersey needs overhauling badly. Current conditions include no direct levy on corporation profits and unequally distributes the tax burden. In view of New Jersey's resources and economic strength, the tuition is too high now and any increase is out of the question. The only fair solution to the fiscal crisis is a corporate profits tax, one of the basic unappetizing sources of revenue in the state.

Translated into dollars, the proposed hike means an increase of $250 for resident undergraduates (62.4% increase for Rutgers undergraduates and a 71% hike for state college undergraduates). Graduate students will be faced with a $950 (118%) rise while out of state undergraduates will be required to pay $500 more (62.5% increase).

Those increases are unacceptable to us and it is time for the students throughout the state to unite against the hikes and make their voices heard in Trenton.

Beacon, William Paterson College
Caillian, Douglass College
Gleaner, Rutgers/Camden
Gothic Times, Jersey City State College
Independent, Newark State College
Medium, Livingston College
Montclairian, Montclair State College
Observer, Rutgers/Newark
Signal, Trenton State College
Targum, Rutgers/New Brunswick
The Paper, Ramapo College
Vector, Newark College of Engineering

Guest Spot

Is 25¢ Too Much?

By Bill MacKay
Music, '74

It is becoming increasingly more evident that the students at Montclair State College are showing less and less response toward cultural offerings on campus. This problem, obviously a very complex one, seems to have gained impetus well before the present student body of 6000 ever arrived as one of four perspective freshman classes.

The problem specifically seems to be centered not around artistic or theatrical exposures but on concerts offered by the music department, i.e. the Music Organizations Commission, a group of students who are elected from the different student performing groups in the department.

Program's Aim

The aim of MOC is to bring outside professional performers to the campus in order to provide an element of traditional culture to students and the surrounding community. These performers can be easily obtained due to the proximity of New York. In addition to professional performers MOC sponsors student performing groups such as Concert Band, Orchestra, Concert Choir and College Choir.

All of those groups, from the standpoint of student attendance, are not doing well as attracting a large student audience.

MOC is a Class I organization. Naturally, they must show some promise in order to remain in the budgetary good graces of SGA. At its concerts, MOC shows continued success in attracting members of the outside community. However, its primary goal is to provide cultural events specifically for the students.

Soapbox

Crane Gets Boost

To the Editor:-

During this past academic year I have served the Student Government Association in the office of vice-president. Being a junior, I have the option to run for president next year and with the advent of the elections in two weeks have been considered a likely candidate.

This year has been a rewarding one personally. I have learned much and gained many insights into college administration, financing and campus politics. Retrospectively student government has been good.

Looking to next year personal commitments seem to overshadow the duties of SGA. With finances, graduation and credit requirements in mind I have decided not to run for the office of president.

During the course of the year I have had close contact with our public relations officer Sam Crane. He has a thorough understanding of the operations, strong convictions in the students' interest (as evidenced in his state wide leadership to stop the tuition hike) and a responsible attitude toward the job. I respect Sam as a friend and coworker for student government. It is with a strong conviction that I support his candidacy for the office of president and dedicate myself to his election as his campaign manager.

Bill Asdal
Vice-President, SGA
Poll Shows Tuition Is Top Issue

By James D. Hile
Staff Writer

Tuition was the top concern of students as evidenced by the MONTCLARION's recent poll. The results of the poll, which was conducted last week, indicate that tuition is a significant concern for most students.

Although early in the race, none of the candidates running for the presidency had a commanding lead. Sam Crane, who got the most support, had 9.5% of the vote, indicative of the publicity he has received as one of the principals in the tuition problem.

This trend continued with Vic De Luca, another presidential hopeful. His actions on SGA reform as well as his success in placing a student on the Board of Trustees, can be directly related to his second place showing at 9.5% and the second-place finish of SGA effectiveness as an issue.

Bill Asdal was a close third with 9% of the vote. Again, a correlation may exist between the publicity he has received as an advocate of SGA control and his strength.

The other two candidates are relative unknowns, reflected in their limited strengths. Sal Meola, a psychology-political science major and Bruce Conforth, former fine arts rep, both polled less that 7.5% each.

The possible relationship between publicity and strength was further illustrated in the vice-presidential poll. Sophomore math major Kathy Ragan, who, as student orientation chairman and SGA rep, has been in the limelight for the past two years, completely dominated the returns.

Of the 269 balls cast she received over 20% of the vote. This outdistanced Larry Bishop, her only rival, by a margin of over 3 to 1.

For most political contenders to survive they usually must have support in their home territories. However, such is not the case this year.

CONFLICTS

Sam Crane and Bruce Conforth were the only ones to carry their respective schools. Crane, a social science major, carried the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences while Conforth took the Fine Arts school. While Crane did well in other schools, Conforth's support was mainly in his own territory.

The other candidates won outside their areas. DeLuca, a history major, carried the School of Humanities, while Meola, a psychology major, carried the School of Professional Arts and Sciences and the uncommitted vote.

POLLS VALID

As to the poll's validity, demographic information shows that all schools, classes and residency areas were surveyed. The proportions from each class and residency area were fairly close to the actual distribution of students. Although each school was represented, more results from the social science area were received.

Among one of the unexpected results of the poll was the poor showing of the War Memorial Board issue, listed the least important issue by the majority of students. This could be indicative of the possible defeat of a referendum on the problem.

NO LEADER

Another interesting facet was the size of the undecided vote—close to 60% were uncommitted. The election is anything but decided.

---

STRAW POLL RESULTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Presidential Preference</th>
<th>Voting 56.9%</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Asdal</td>
<td>9.0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conforth</td>
<td>5.8%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crane</td>
<td>9.8%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>De Luca</td>
<td>9.5%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meola</td>
<td>7.4%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Others</td>
<td>1.2%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Undecided</td>
<td>57.1%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Vice-Presidential Preference

| Bishop                  | 7.9%        |
| Ragan                   | 29.6%       |
| Others                  | 2.5%        |
| Undecided               | 60.0%       |

---

Demographic Percentages

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Commuters</th>
<th>64.3%</th>
<th>Class 72</th>
<th>11.4%</th>
<th>Dorn</th>
<th>45.6%</th>
<th>27.9</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Off-Campus</td>
<td>20.1%</td>
<td>74</td>
<td>34.6%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>100%</td>
<td>75</td>
<td>20.1%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Issue Concern

- Tuition: 76%
- SGA Effectiveness: 14%
- MAC Funding: 6%
- All College Governance: 2%
- War Memorial Board: 1%
- Other: 1%

*Leader: 100%
Kiley--Broadway Critics Stagnant

By Barbara Harnett
Staff Writer

"Audiences have to be taught to hate," said the pensive star with a note of disgust. The day before the New York critics, for the second time in one season, had pronounced the death sentence of a handsome man. He won a Tony Award, he said. "Right now there is no one role that I would particularly like to play," he said. "But I told Julie Harris, she wants to do a Captain Hook with me," he quipped.

Kiley is known for his special appearances on television, appearing in such series as "Medical Center," "Gunsmoke," "Night Gallery" and "The Name of the Game," as well as such television movies as "Incident in San Francisco."

One of his most sparkling TV performances was his portrayal of King Ethelred in the NET production of "The Ceremony of Innocence." It's a marvelous play about a monarch who is desperately trying to avoid the precocious with war that tears a country apart," Kiley explained. "I did that for cab fare," he added smiling.

TOP OF HIS HEAD
"I like doing television because it'd just too short and under-rehearsed. It's shot off the top of your head," he explained. "The one shot deals that I do are good because you can play different kinds of characters without being concerned with preserving the way you spoke. But it would be agony as a steady diet," he concluded.

Kiley felt that "Voices" was something very different. "It's not formula; not an Agatha Christie type of who-done-it. Perhaps the critics didn't like it because they really didn't know what to make of it," he pondered.

Kiley, who has worked in every medium including radio and live television, said that his first love is the stage. "I like the stage, but not the Broadway stage anymore. The joy has been taken out of it," he admitted.

"I don't know what the reviews were about; I only know they were all bad," Kiley said. "I don't read them anymore. They're not going to teach me anything. Maybe someday the Stones will change. I have a lot to learn, but not from the New York critics," he concluded.

ONE ACTS

AND A MOVIE AND...:
"Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice" and "Wait Until Dark" will be shown on Thurs., April 20 at 8 p.m. in Memorial auditorium. The CINEMA-sponsored movie will be .50 for both SGA and others.

THE BARD AT MSC

The last Players production of the season, "As You Like It" by William Shakespeare, will go up in Memorial auditorium at 8:30 p.m. on April 27 and 28. On April 29 a matinee will be held at 2:30 p.m.

BLACK CULTURE

The Intercultural Student Organization will present an African Night Sat., April 22 at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of the student life building. Admission will be $1.50, a scholarship contribution. The festival will feature dancing, live entertainment and a variety of exotic foods.

America Hits Top

By Bill Gibson
Staff Writer

Perhaps the most promising new group in the rock world is America, whose "A Horse With No Name" has held the top spot on the charts for the past four weeks. Their first album "America" (Warner Brothers-Six Arts) is one of the most cohesive albums of the past year.

America possesses a sound much like that of Buffalo Springfield and/or Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young. The three gentle voices of Dewey Bunnell, Gerry Beckley and Don Peck coalesce in a blend so perfect that the music is almost too subtle to be noticed. The band seems to be the main force behind the group, author of six songs and master of the six string acoustic guitar. Beckley contributed two songs and ranges instrumentally from bass to 12 string acoustic guitar while Peck penned three songs and runs the spectrum of guitars.

The album is smooth and tight, a very impressive feat for a new group. America's control is so perfect that you just want them to break loose, if only for a moment. They never do.

There is very little emotion in the album. One of the few spots is the beginning of "Here", a hauntingly simple yet amazingly persuasive song. Beckley's voice takes on a strange quality while the harmony of Peck and Bunnell quavers and pulsates, almost, but never quite reaching the cracking point. Judging from their first album it appears that America could fill the void left by the passing of the Beatles. It is a classic collection of the second jacket, a practice initiated on "McCarty.

" Maybe someday the Stones will return to the caliber of originality and freshness put forth in "Let It Be," Kiley concluded. Perhaps though, now that the Beatles are gone, the Stones don't know where to go.

SCENES

Murray's Named VP

Montclair State's women fencers placed 11th out of 28 schools in the National Intercollegiates Women's Fencing Association last weekend in a two-day competition. MSC SOPHOMORE Nancy Murray was also elected vice-president of the national association.

"It was a very well-run competition," said Coach Domenica Desiderio. She also pointed out that the Squaws went into the competition with two fencers who had not participated in a tournament of this nature before.

Asdal Sparks Golf Victory

By Bob Watson
Sports Writer

EAST ORANGE - Montclair State golfers continued their upswing Monday, routing Upsala College 14'/4-3'/4 on the losing team's home territory. Now 3-1, the Indian linkmen have also defeated Seton Hall and Stevens Tech.

TRADING SHOTS the entire four periods, the Indians battled the home team to a 3-all tie, and the deciding overtime goal by Houston Weber put the game out of reach for the veteran NSC squad.

Weber led the Indian-attack with two goals and one assist, while Franklin Walker and Charlie Noonan tossed in one tally apiece.

DEFENSIVELY, Jackson had accolades for goalie Frank McNulty, who managed 17 saves.

"Actually I can't really say either the offense or defense did it," Jackson hedged. "It was a total team effort; in fact I hesitate to single any man out--the whole squad was just unbelievable."

The Indians go on the warpath again on April 24, facing Princeton in a road contest, and will take on Marist College April 29 for the season's lone home effort.

Stickmen Stun NSC On Weber's OT Goal

By Kathy Blumenstock
Sports Writer

UNION - Montclair State's lacrosse team invaded intercollegiate competition last Monday afternoon, emerging triumphant in the season's first outing with a 4-3 overtime victory over neighboring Newark State.

The Indians go on the warpath again on April 24, facing Princeton in a road contest, and will take on Marist College April 29 for the season's lone home effort.

"IT WAS one heckuva game--even the referee couldn't believe we're only a first-year team," commented MSC coach Al Jackson, excitement over the initial win still evident in his voice. "I don't think we made any glaring mistakes. The clearing, the riding-everything was just perfect," he noted.

TRADE SHOTS the entire four periods, the Indians battled the home team to a 3-all tie, and the deciding overtime goal by Houston Weber put the game out of reach for the veteran NSC squad.

Weber led the Indian-attack with two goals and one assist, while Franklin Walker and Charlie Noonan tossed in one tally apiece.

DEFENSIVELY, Jackson had accolades for goalie Frank McNulty, who managed 17 saves.

"Actually I can't really say either the offense or defense did it," Jackson hedged. "It was a total team effort; in fact I hesitate to single any man out--the whole squad was just unbelievable."

The Indians go on the warpath again on April 24, facing Princeton in a road contest, and will take on Marist College April 29 for the season's lone home effort.

Would you share malt liquor with a friend?

Sure. Now there's no question about it. Because now malt liquor has a good name. BUDWEISER. BUDWEISER Malt Liquor is 100%-malt, malt liquor (no other grains are added). This makes BUDWEISER the first malt liquor that really is . . . malt liquor.

MONTCLARION photo by Guy Ball.

FACING THE SITUATION: MSC lacrosse goalie Frank McNulty kept his eye, or rather nose, on the ball during this week's practice. McNulty registered 17 saves as the Indians downed Newark, 4-3, in overtime.

MONTCLARION THURS., APRIL 13, 1972. 11.

Murray's Named VP

By Kathy Blumenstock
Sports Writer

Nancy Murray was also elected vice-president of the national association.

"It was a very well-run competition," said Coach Domenica Desiderio. She also pointed out that the Squaws went into the competition with two fencers who had not participated in a tournament of this nature before.

Asdal Sparks Golf Victory

By Bob Watson
Sports Writer

EAST ORANGE - Montclair State golfers continued their upswing Monday, routing Upsala College 14'/4-3'/4 on the losing team's home territory. Now 3-1, the Indian linkmen have also defeated Seton Hall and Stevens Tech.

John Jones and Bob Nitkewicz. Rounding out the scoring were Paul Kuehner with one point, Al Hyers, two and one-half points, and John Weber, two points.

In the Stevens Tech match, the Indians sent the visitors home with a 5-1 loss, MSC's Weber the only man to drop a point in succumbing to Bob Cosindis's low round 62 on the final hole.

HIGHLIGHTING THE afternoon's play was DeRosa's two-under-par 35 on the difficult second nine. Joining DeRosa in the round was MSC Athletic Director William Dioguardi.

Murray's Named VP

By Kathy Blumenstock
Sports Writer

Montclair State's women fencers placed 11th out of 28 schools in the National Intercollegiates Women's Fencing Association last weekend in a two-day competition. MSC SOPHOMORE Nancy Murray was also elected vice-president of the national association.

"It was a very well-run competition," said Coach Domenica Desiderio. She also pointed out that the Squaws went into the competition with two fencers who had not participated in a tournament of this nature before.

Asdal Sparks Golf Victory

By Bob Watson
Sports Writer

EAST ORANGE - Montclair State golfers continued their upswing Monday, routing Upsala College 14'/4-3'/4 on the losing team's home territory. Now 3-1, the Indian linkmen have also defeated Seton Hall and Stevens Tech.

John Jones and Bob Nitkewicz. Rounding out the scoring were Paul Kuehner with one point, Al Hyers, two and one-half points, and John Weber, two points.

In the Stevens Tech match, the Indians sent the visitors home with a 5-1 loss, MSC's Weber the only man to drop a point in succumbing to Bob Cosindis's low round 62 on the final hole.

HIGHLIGHTING THE afternoon's play was DeRosa's two-under-par 35 on the difficult second nine. Joining DeRosa in the round was MSC Athletic Director William Dioguardi.

Murray's Named VP

By Kathy Blumenstock
Sports Writer

Montclair State's women fencers placed 11th out of 28 schools in the National Intercollegiates Women's Fencing Association last weekend in a two-day competition. MSC SOPHOMORE Nancy Murray was also elected vice-president of the national association.

"It was a very well-run competition," said Coach Domenica Desiderio. She also pointed out that the Squaws went into the competition with two fencers who had not participated in a tournament of this nature before.
Injuns Cop Six Straight

DiJianne Knocks In 1 HR, 5 RBIs

Montclair State's baseball team hosted its fourth consecutive slugfest yesterday, romping over Newark State College, 17-1, at Pittser field. The easy victory was the sixth for the undefeated MSC nine. Tuesday the squad blasted Paterson State, 24-4. The Indians meet Newark Tech today but the big game comes Saturday afternoon when they clash with Glassboro State, home at 1 p.m.

SENIOR PAUL Parker is slated to go against prof hurler Phil Bush. Last year Bush shut out the Indians, 5-0, on the MSC diamond to knock the New Jersey State College Athletic Conference crown from the Indians' grasp.

Bob DeJianne and Lou Recchia led the Indians in the hitting department. DeJianne hit a solo homer over the left field fence in the seventh inning. He doubled in the fifth to knock in two runs, he had five RBIs in the game, and spelled the doom for the Squires' starting pitcher, Roger Schreiner. Schreiner left the game following the hit after giving up 13 runs on nine hits.

Recchia also homered in the game. His four runs-batted-in brought his total up to nine. Bob Cosentino slammed a solo homer in the third. His hit went to deep center and rolled past the end of the fence despite a gallant attempt by centerfield Kermit Clements to stop the ball.

Reilly Wins On Flirtation

STORRS, CONN. - Michele Reilly, advisor of Montclair State's equestrian team, riding a little mare called "Flirtation" placed first in the faculty class at the Intercollegiate Horse Show on Sunday.

REILLY TOOK home a blue ribbon and a silver trophy for her victory. Rich Dobrou of Jersey City and Terry Renz of Teaneck carried off 4th place ribbons; Marie Tursi of Monticello New York took a 5th place; and Kathy Roy of Stillwater and Lisa Beddini of Montclair received 6th place ribbons in their respective classes.

Twenty-five colleges and universities competed in the show.

A Man For All Seasons

Behind every successful team there's a coach and Montclair State's guiding force in baseball is none other than Clary Anderson. Clary's boys have been white washing local opposition lately, but last week against Long Island University they found some trouble before downing the Blackbirds, 4-2. Pictures about spotlight Anderson in the final innings of the game. (Top left) Anderson yells encouragement to an MSC batter and (Top right) later directs outfielders to different positions. (Bottom left) The MSC mentor glances at pitchers warming up in bullpen, then (Bottom right) returns his attention to the game.

Provo Aims For Record

By Carol Sakowitz
Sports Writer

To be a good officer takes a lot of stamina and endurance, thinks Montclair State fine arts major Bruce Conforth. For that reason Conforth, a contender for the MSC Student Government Association presidency, and the Provo candidates for the other offices will hold a marathon tennis match today at the MSC courts.

Conforth and candidates Susan Haslett, Cora Fisher, and Val Missett intend to break the existing record. According to the Guinness Book of World Records, the six-hour feat was performed in 1920. A rain delay caused the extended tennis match noted...