The Montclarion, September 14, 1972

The Montclarion
Garden Complex Under Study

By Carol Giordano
Staff Writer
Montclair State's planned garden apartment complex in Little Falls is currently under study to determine if it is "fiscally feasible," according to Vincent Calabrese, vice-president of business and finance. But he was optimistic as he added, "I see no reason why the apartments can't be built."

The apartments, to be built on a 10-acre tract on Clove Rd., will house 744 students, said Jerome Quinn, facilities director. He noted that cost estimates are due this week. Calabrese said that some of the apartments should be ready by September 1973 and that their cost for students will be "competitive with dorm prices." MSC dormitory costs per semester total approximately $600.

Calabrese said that some of the apartments should be ready by September 1973 and that their cost for students will be "competitive with dorm prices." MSC dormitory costs per semester total approximately $600.

MSC had previously intended to buy apartments in Little Falls but town officials opposed the purchase because it would have meant a loss of about $250,000 in tax revenue.

Quinn explained that new apartments will be very similar to those at Stockton and Ramapo State Colleges. He said they will be fully furnished and air-conditioned, with all utilities, except telephone service, included in the rent. Parking space will also be provided.

"The area where the apartments will be built is heavily wooded," Quinn said, "and we will be able to save most of them." He noted that the college's architects, Mahoney and Zvosek, were successful in saving the trees at the RSC and SSC apartments.

Each of the 186 2-bedroom apartments will house four students. Quinn said. The apartments will also include a kitchen and living room.

Calabrese said that the complex will be owned by the N J Educational Facilities Authority but leased and run by the college.

Voter Signup
Set for Thurs.

Students who have failed to register or who have just turned eighteen will have one more opportunity to register on Thurs., Sept. 21, in time for November's presidential elections.

Personnel from the office of the Commissioner of Registration and Superintendent of Elections of Essex County will be located in the lobby of College Hall from 11 am to 5 pm.

Any students from out of Essex County who are living on-campus or in off-campus housing and who are not previously registered are eligible. Students living in Grace Freeman and Chapin halls may register and vote in Essex County while those living in Bohn Hall may register and vote in Passaic County.

Students living away from home who have already registered in their home counties must vote by absentee ballot.

The final date to register for the November election is Wed., Sept. 28.
SGA Elections

Petitions for candidates for the 25 vacant seats in the Student Government Association legislature will be available in the SGA office, fourth floor, Student Center, on Fri., Sept. 15. The petitions must be returned to the same office by Wed., Sept. 20 at 4 pm to be eligible for the Tues., Sept. 26 elections. A cumulative average of 2.25 is the only requirement for candidates.

The vacant seats in the legislature are:
- Business Administration-2
- Business Education-2
- Chemistry-3
- Classics-1
- Education: Fine Arts-3
- French-2
- German/Italian-1
- Industrial Education and Technology-2
- Philosophy and Religion-1
- Physics/Earth Science-1
- Speech Pathology-1
- Speech and Theater-1
- Speech Pathology-1
- Speech and Theater-2

Schools:
- Humanities-1
- Fine and Performing Arts-1
- Speech Pathology-1
- Music-1
- Business Education-2

The new lot has been constructed at a cost of approximately $80,000, according to Vincent Calabrese, vice-president of business and finance.

In a release from his office, Calabrese said that the parking situation was expected to be critical during the first few days of school. This situation was due to "an initial surge of abnormal traffic," he explained. On the first days of school almost every student is on campus either to go to class, register for courses or meet their friends.

Attendance is good and, as a result, the amount of traffic is at a peak during this period.

A 120 car lot has also been completed in the lower quarry, according to the release. Future improvements include repaving of campus roads, a new walk and steps in the quarry areas and new sidewalks and curbs around Stone Hall. The parking lot behind Webster Hall is also scheduled to be improved.

Inspite of the improvements and the anticipated decrease in attendance, Calabrese said that the parking situation will remain "very tight" in the coming school year.

Another Lot -- 500 Spaces

A new 500 car parking lot is slated to be completed on Sept. 20 in an effort to facilitate the increasing numbers of students and cars at Montclair State.

One thrust of the new revitalized Speech and Theater major, is in attendance, Calabrese said that the parking situation will remain "very tight" in the coming school year.

The Black Organization for Success in Society (BOSS) is now called the Black Student Cooperative Union (BSCU) but the organization members are hoping the change won't be in name only.

Karen Thompson, sophomore speech and theater major, is in charge of the new revitalized organization.

"BOSS served the purpose of bringing black culture to the college," she said, explaining that it gave the black community an organization something with which to relate.

The BSCU is planning to continue that function but on a higher level. "Our new organization will be making success a reality," Thompson said.

Photography workshops, a creative writing project and a newspaper are being considered by the group according to Thompson.

One thrust of the new organization is to acquaint and encourage participation in the various existing Class 1 organizations by the black community.

The BSCU will also continue offering concerts and programs.

BOSS Becomes BSCU To Make 'Success Reality'

The editorial opinions expressed represent those of the editor-in-chief.
By Joan Mietzuk
Staff Writer

Last year you might have bought some books and a felt-tipped marker there. This year the Life Hall bookstore is being used as a classroom. Last year you might have spent your spare time there playing cards with your friends. This year the card room on the lower level of Life Hall is being subdivided into music practice rooms.

Last year you might have bought tickets to on-campus happenings or newspapers or candy there. This year the Fishbowl houses the Office of International and Off-Campus Learning Programs.

All of these changes are part of the transition for Life Hall from student meeting center to classroom space, practice rooms and offices.

As a matter of fact, even some of the offices have changed. The Faculty-Student Co-op is now the Office of Career Planning and Placement. The Office of the Dean of Students is now the Office of Student Housing. These offices are located on the first floor, fronting the lounge area, on the south and north ends respectively.

Although the snack bar will remain open, according to Jerry Quinn, facilities director, its extension in the north end where extra table space provided more space for lunchtime snackers, will be occupied by the Office of Women's Affairs.

The southeast corner of the cafeteria will be utilized by the English department's Writing Workshop, EOF tutoring and a dining area for the home economics department.

The remainder of the cafeteria will be available for student study space.

"Next year the cafeteria may re-open as we increase our enrollment," Quinn stated. He pointed out that because of this, those organizations occupying cafeteria space will be able to use it for the 1973-74 school year only.

The kitchen will remain inactive but intact in case the home economics department wishes to use the facilities, Quinn added.

The main lounge on the first floor and the alumni lounge on the second level will remain open and a meeting room will be opened on the second floor for students' use.

According to Quinn, the rooms occupied last year by the student organizations and publications will continue to house student organizations and publications will continue to house student clubs, although the former inhabitants of this floor have moved to the new Student Center.

Despite the loss of TUB and Life Hall cafeteria, there are still three places on campus where students may purchase food: the Center cafeteria, the formal dining room on the second floor of the Center and the Life Hall snack bar.

Controversial birth control advocate Bill Baird is slated to speak on campus next week. Baird has championed the fight for "women's rights to control their own bodies" for several years. He has been jailed seven times for fighting for the rights of all people to birth control and abortion.

In 1967 he risked a 10-year prison sentence by defying a Massachusetts law and giving non-prescription birth control foam to an unmarried 22-year-old woman.

Baird founded the Parents' Aid Society, a non-profit birth control, abortion and narcotics center. He also is the director of a Hemstead, Long Island birth control and abortion center which pledges to help any women regardless of age, marital status or religion. He has served as adviser on birth control to New Jersey legislators.

The CLUB-sponsored lecture is scheduled for Sept. 21 at 8 pm in Memorial Auditorium.

TODAY, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14
CLUB MEETING. General meeting at 4 pm, in fourth floor meeting room, Student Center.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15
RALLY. Rally for Sen. George McGovern, with Jon Voight from "Midnight Cowboy," at noon, west patio of the Student Center. Another rally is scheduled for 8 pm in Memorial Auditorium featuring speakers, music and a showing of the film, "Milhouse."

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16
BASEBALL MSC vs. Lafayette College, noon at home.
FOOTBALL MSC vs. Kutztown State, 1 pm at home.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 17
BASEBALL MSC vs. St. Peter's College, noon at home.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18
MOVIE. CINA sponsors the classic documentary "Sixteen in Webster Groves" at 7 pm in Memorial Auditorium.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19
MOVIE. CLUB sponsors "The Hospital" at 7 pm and 9:30 pm, Memorial Auditorium. Admission .75.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20
MOVIE. CINA sponsors the classic documentary "Sixteen in Webster Groves" at 1 pm in L-135. Admission free.
COFFEE HOUSE At 8 pm in Life Hall.
BASEBALL MSC vs. Seton Hall at 3:30 pm, away.

By Carla Capizzi
Staff Writer

The renovation of Life Hall may have created a problem for faculty members. What was once the faculty dining room has been converted into a fine arts laboratory, leaving the faculty members with no private dining facilities.

So far, few of the faculty members have complained, according to Robert Derner, Faculty Association head. However, he expects more complaints to come once in the novelty of dining in the new facilities.

"I felt-tipped marker there. This year the Life Hall bookstore is being used as a classroom. Last year you might have spent your spare time there playing cards with your friends. This year the card room on the lower level of Life Hall is being subdivided into music practice rooms. Last year you might have bought tickets to on-campus happenings or newspapers or candy there. This year the Fishbowl houses the Office of International and Off-Campus Learning Programs.

All of these changes are part of the transition for Life Hall from student meeting center to classroom space, practice rooms and offices. As a matter of fact, even some of the offices have changed. The Faculty-Student Co-op is now the Office of Career Planning and Placement. The Office of the Dean of Students is now the Office of Student Housing. These offices are located on the first floor, fronting the lounge area, on the south and north ends respectively.

Although the snack bar will remain open, according to Jerry Quinn, facilities director, its extension in the north end where extra table space provided more space for lunchtime snackers, will be occupied by the Office of Women's Affairs.

The southeast corner of the cafeteria will be utilized by the English department's Writing Workshop, EOF tutoring and a dining area for the home economics department.

The remainder of the cafeteria will be available for student study space.

MSC Buses
Shuttle Along

By Susan Kelly
Staff Writer

A campus shuttle bus will soon begin to provide relief to the many Montclair State students who have been forced by heavy student traffic to park their cars farther and farther away from campus.

The Student Government Association has purchased two 20-passenger vans to transport students to campus from the quarry parking lots and back. The service will not be a "car to classroom" service, according to commuter commission member Tom Barrett.

Barrett, a sophomore business administration major, explained that the purpose of the service is to bring the commuters onto campus from the parking areas. At a total cost of approximately $10,000, the vans are "the biggest, most powerful and most dependable vehicles available for the service," Barrett said. The vans will be given to the college upon arrival and the college will pay the operating expenses.

Vincent Calabrese, vice-president of business and finance, estimated that the shuttle service will cost the college approximately $15,000 in labor and maintenance costs.

The vans will be driven by members of the student security force. The service will begin within two weeks, said Barrett. A tentative bus route has been devised with several centrally located stops. Students will not be picked up along the roads and the number of bus stops will be limited in order to get the students to class as quickly as possible.

Tentative bus stops include one or more quarry stops, as well as stops near the Student Center and the Math-Science building. The buses may also stop in front of College Hall to service that end of campus.

Commute Commission co-chairwoman Marguerite Banks stresses that the schedule is just tentative and will probably be changed in the first few months.

If the shuttle buses are successful after one year, a referendum will be put before the student body to determine if they will be willing to pay an increased parking fee to assume the large costs of the service. Calabrese explained that the present $10 parking fee just covers the maintenance costs of the existing lots and would not be enough to fund the shuttle.
How About Some Service?

Registration and scheduling are essential for enrollment at Montclair State. It follows the administration of both areas should be as free from mismanagement as possible. Normally there are some mistakes, but this year seemed to produce a bumper crop.

What happened this summer and fall in the areas of tuition payment and scheduling was nothing short of a scandal. To begin with, students were not properly informed of how or when to pay the first part of their tuition bill. Sure, there was a notice for payment in the fall master schedule book, but unless a magnifying glass was handy it could be very easily overlooked.

According to the schedule, students were to remit a payment of $100 by July 15 or forfeit their enrollment. No one said anything about a change of procedure so the vast majority of students were expecting notification in the mail—which was the previous policy.

It was bad enough when undergraduates didn't receive schedules or the courses they wanted. But seniors who needed certain courses to graduate were frequently closed out. The result was monumental lines in front of the gym.

For the increased tuition students are paying, this isn't exactly quality service. Indeed, it is no service at all.

We Remember

We remember an article in last semester's MONTCLARION in which Vincent Calabrese, MSC's vice-president of business and finance, commented that Montclair has the best parking of any college on the East Coast.

Somehow that is very hard to believe. It is hard to believe when students have to thread their way through endless lines of cars parked against every available inch of curb. It is hard to believe when Keith Kauffman, director of safety and security, has to direct traffic every morning.

It's just hard to believe.

Lynda Emery

Prophesy Comes True

"I'm amazed that everyone at Montclair State is so friendly. I had always heard that, well..." One freshman, who was attending last week's orientation, left her sentence unfinished. But plenty of the new students have already verbalized their anticipated disappointment with Montclair State College as an academic and social institution.

Thus, a self-fulfilling prophesy about this college has been established in many student's minds even before they have attended a single class.

"MONKEY STATE"

A number of freshmen enter this college with the attitude of, "It was the only place I could afford," and believe, "Monkey State is only a glorified high school." To those new students I can only say that Montclair State will be only a glorified high school if the students continue to behave and react like high school students and if that is the attitude you take to your new institution of learning, then you are probably not yet sufficiently mature for high school, much less college.

Personally, I believe in this institution and because I do I am neither dejected nor dismayed by those who jeeringly refer to "Monkey State." I only wish that those who view Montclair State in that manner could be put away in their own cages, far away from the rest of the monkeys. Perhaps then, students new to the campus would be forced to judge the school on what they themselves saw and heard and not on what a few malcontents promised would be true.

WORST PLACE

But while I would condemn articles in the "alternative campus newspaper" which make statements such as "...you'll soon find you've definitely chosen the worst place in the universe...and nothing ever happens here." I would also condemn this newspaper or any student, faculty or administrator who bluntly told you that it was a great college, suited to your every need.

Montclair State will prove to be something different to each person. To some, it will provide a successful and enjoyable learning experience. To others, it will be a failure in almost every sense of the word.

Of course, I hope that each new student's experience will be the former. But despite the outcome, my overriding concern is the way in which you will judge this institution. It should come entirely from your own head. If you form your own prejudices, you might be as pleasantly surprised as that first freshman was.

Reportage

By Carol Giordano

Olympics Marred

Once again the Olympic Games were marred by politics—but this time politics ended in tragedy.

The deaths of 11 Israeli athletes and coaches schocked and saddened all peace-loving men. Such senseless killings seem even more tragic in view of their setting—an athletic competition in which fairness, sportsmanship and decent patriotism should prevail. But the Olympics will never bring these things to mankind while they are used by outsiders to achieve other, less idealistic ends.

The Olympic arena offers a unique opportunity for men and would to get an education here..." I would also condemn this newspaper or any student, faculty or administrator who bluntly told you that it was a great college, suited to your every need. Montclair State will prove to be something different to each person. To some, it will provide a successful and enjoyable learning experience. To others, it will be a failure in almost every sense of the word. Of course, I hope that each new student's experience will be the former. But despite the outcome, my overriding concern is the way in which you will judge this institution. It should come entirely from your own head. If you form your own prejudices, you might be as pleasantly surprised as that first freshman was.

reportage

By Carol Giordano

Olympics Marred

Once again the Olympic Games were marred by politics—but this time politics ended in tragedy.

The deaths of 11 Israeli athletes and coaches schocked and saddened all peace-loving men. Such senseless killings seem even more tragic in view of their setting—an athletic competition in which fairness, sportsmanship and decent patriotism should prevail. But the Olympics will never bring these things to mankind while they are used by outsiders to achieve other, less idealistic ends.

The Olympic arena offers a unique opportunity for men and would to get an education here..."
It's Too Late For Cari

By James D. Hile
Staff Writer

Men in the control booth signaled directions to the moderator as the set lights warmed up. The candidate sat facing a battery of newsmen for the nation-wide broadcast. Cameras were ready. Thirty seconds to go.

Another form of lighting warmed the air around Pontiac.

Today's colleges are part of the modern environment, an environment which, if not more violent, is at least more openly violent than ever before.

Bloustein commented that it was the parcelers themselves who requested the sidarm.

More important, the Black Organization has taken a new identity with a different purpose.

What we've known for so long as being the Black Organization for Success in Society, (BOSS) isn't BOSS any longer. It is now the Black Students Cooperative Union, (BSCU). Aside from the range of security-wards, which would be necessary in standard police procedure and campus police, who have passed the standard tests.

By James D. Hile

Staff Writer

Men in the control booth signaled directions to the moderator as the set lights warmed up. The candidate sat facing a battery of newsmen for the nation-wide broadcast. Cameras were ready. Thirty seconds to go.

Another form of lighting warmed the air around Pontiac.

Guns Breed Guns

Edward J. Bloustein, Rutgers University president, announced Friday that he may authorize the school's security police to carry guns during night patrols.

So now carrying firearms may become standard in the academic community.

A college campus should be the perfect society—a community devoted to the ideals of learning, experimentation and the betterment of the human condition.

In a more realistic vein, it is easy to see why the Rutgers' police should require firearms— the New Brunswick campus is located in a decaying city as is both the Camden and Newark campuses.

However, when Rutgers leads it has been the unfortunate tendency for other state colleges to follow.

Michigan. The sun was just rising above the home of Cari Merchant, an auto worker in the middle-class town.

The senator felt quite comfortable as he fielded questions from the amiable reporters. His statements on Vietnam, tax reform and the campaign were as realistic and naive as only George McGovern could make them.

Karen Thompson, the mother of Cari, was gone.

"Busing should not be an issue in the campaign....

The order presented.

"Busing should not inflame people..."

Cari was gone.

BOSS Is Dead

What we've known for so long as being the Black Organization for Success in Society, (BOSS) isn't BOSS any longer. It is now the Black Students Cooperative Union, (BSCU).

Aside from wondering where Webster men are well known for grabbing gusto, among other things.

POLICE

Another new, less noisy addition to the game was "Guerrilla Warfare." You might have known the Arabs and the Israelis would be up there at the top, with the German police right behind. Seems like the German were third in about everything, didn't it?

The judges and referees weren't involved in making anyone come in third, though. They were impartial, because they weren't even paying attention. This was the first year that the judges played more games than the athletes: diving, gymnastics, boxing and basketball.

At least there weren't too many political protests by the competitors this year. We all know that wasn't a real protest by Wayne Collet. He just didn't have a clear conscience. The only trouble is, after those Olympics, nobody else really does either.

The Olympics--Munich's Beerhall

J.P. Cain

Here it is.

You could have made a hell of a movie out of those Olympics. This year's little sprint at the finale of summer was controversial, to say the least. The very least. "The Games of the Twentieth Olympiad" (and nobody but Howard Cosell could take that title seriously) were viewed by millions, but it's still hard to believe that some of the things really happened.

IN SHAPE

Aside from wondering where Cosell runs his mouth to get it in shape for the hosing coverage, Olympic fans got to spend lots of time wondering about other things. Can Bobby Fischer play chess as well as Mark Spitz can swim? Why did Dave Wottle wear that freaky hat? How come everybody said Cathy Bigg is going to be so great? Who really won the gold medal in basketball? When are they going to start the games again? And how did Erich Segal get out of the Olympic stadium?

There were a couple of new events this year. You all saw that great exhibition of beer-mug carrying at the Hofbrauhaus. Fourteen Mug! Webster Hall has already started training for the '76 Olympics. After all, it's never too soon to start-you only get to go around once in life, and you have to grab for all the gusto you can. Webster men are well known for grabbing gusto, among other things.

Michigan. The sun was just rising above the home of Cari Merchant, an auto worker in the middle-class town.

The senator felt quite comfortable as he fielded questions from the amiable reporters. His statements on Vietnam, tax reform and the campaign were as realistic and naive as only George McGovern could make them.

Karen Thompson, the mother of Cari, was gone.

"Busing should not be an issue in the campaign....

The order presented.

"Busing should not inflame people..."

Cari was gone.

BOSS Is Dead

What we've known for so long as being the Black Organization for Success in Society, (BOSS) isn't BOSS any longer. It is now the Black Students Cooperative Union, (BSCU).

Aside from wondering where Webster men are well known for grabbing gusto, among other things.

POLICE

Another new, less noisy addition to the game was "Guerrilla Warfare." You might have known the Arabs and the Israelis would be up there at the top, with the German police right behind. Seems like the German were third in about everything, didn't it?

The judges and referees weren't involved in making anyone come in third, though. They were impartial, because they weren't even paying attention. This was the first year that the judges played more games than the athletes: diving, gymnastics, boxing and basketball.

At least there weren't too many political protests by the competitors this year. We all know that wasn't a real protest by Wayne Collet. He just didn't have a clear conscience. The only trouble is, after those Olympics, nobody else really does either.

The Olympics--Munich's Beerhall

J.P. Cain

Here it is.

You could have made a hell of a movie out of those Olympics. This year's little sprint at the finale of summer was controversial, to say the least. The very least. "The Games of the Twentieth Olympiad" (and nobody but Howard Cosell could take that title seriously) were viewed by millions, but it's still hard to believe that some of the things really happened.

IN SHAPE

Aside from wondering where Cosell runs his mouth to get it in shape for the hosing coverage, Olympic fans got to spend lots of time wondering about other things. Can Bobby Fischer play chess as well as Mark Spitz can swim? Why did Dave Wottle wear that freaky hat? How come everybody said Cathy Bigg is going to be so great? Who really won the gold medal in basketball? When are they going to start the games again? And how did Erich Segal get out of the Olympic stadium?

There were a couple of new events this year. You all saw that great exhibition of beer-mug carrying at the Hofbrauhaus. Fourteen Mug! Webster Hall has already started training for the '76 Olympics. After all, it's never too soon to start—you only get to go around once in life, and you have to grab for all the gusto you can. Webster men are well known for grabbing gusto, among other things.

POLICE

Another new, less noisy addition to the game was "Guerrilla Warfare." You might have known the Arabs and the Israelis would be up there at the top, with the German police right behind. Seems like the German were third in about everything, didn't it?

The judges and referees weren't involved in making anyone come in third, though. They were impartial, because they weren't even paying attention. This was the first year that the judges played more games than the athletes: diving, gymnastics, boxing and basketball.

At least there weren't too many political protests by the competitors this year. We all know that wasn't a real protest by Wayne Collet. He just didn't have a clear conscience. The only trouble is, after those Olympics, nobody else really does either.
New Magazines for the 'New Woman'

By M. J. Smith
Staff Writer

In "The Feminine Mystique," Betty Friedan wondered what intelligent women would want to read about Edna St. Vincent Millay's cooking. Yet for almost 40 years, intelligent women have found such articles abounding in the so-called "women's magazines." Produced by men, periodicals like Good Housekeeping have relied on such "Kinder, Kuche, Kirche" staples to keep themselves in print.

Sparked by the Women's Liberation Movement, a new crop of magazines have appeared on the newsstands in recent months with such varied titles as New Woman, Essence and "Ms.", The New Woman, whose slogan is "the first magazine for the thinking woman," is the movement's Cosmopolitan. Both magazines have remarkable similarities: covers beautifully made-up, impeccable coiffed women. In all fairness, it should be noted the Women covers are cropped at the neck while Cosmo has no such scruples.

LEGAL COLUMN

While New Woman does have such basic features as a monthly column called "Know Your Rights" written by a woman lawyer, each issue is also sprinkled with articles like "Things Your Husband Never Told You About Sex." Essence is New Woman's black sister magazine. Written "for today's black woman," the monthly is largely financed by a load from Chase Manhattan Bank with Hugh Hefner's Playboy owning 10% of the stock.

Although editor Marcia Ann Gillespie and most of the editorial staff are female, editorial director Gordon Parks ("Shaft") and all of the publishing staff are male. Essence, now over a year old, considers the Women's Movement only incidental to its inception. However, it shows the movement's influence in such features as a series on birth control and an article in the September edition of how to start a cooperative daycare center.

COLLECTOR'S ITEM

"The Dec. 15 first edition of Ms. is now a collector's item. Originally financed by New York magazine, Ms. (the title used to indicate female as Mr. indicates male) is probably the only magazine published primarily to promote the Women's Movement.

However, the creators of Ms., Elizabeth Forsling Harris and Gloria Steinem, have taken care to ensure that their monthly will compete favorably with any other mass-distribution magazine. Steinem, well known in the movement, is still editor and president. Harris, listed as publisher in the masthead, is a former vice-president of CRM, Inc., owners of Intellectual Digest and Psychology Today as well as the recently-acquired Saturday Review.

Ms. is perhaps the most esoteric of the new breed of magazines. Unlike other periodicals, Ms. includes historical articles on such early libbers as Victoria Woodhull, first woman candidate for the US Presidency.

Other unusual features of the September issue were a scathing article on the "wife and mother" orientation of Hollywood fan mags and "Mom, the Wolfman and Me," a juvenile novel written by Norma Klein.

Taking their role in the liberation movement seriously, Ms. included a fairy tale, suitable for clipping, in the August issue. Centering on a little girl named Gwendolyn who "liked geography," the story explains how Gwendolyn saved the prince from the dragon by "using her head."

Unlike New Woman whose ads consist mainly of plugs for perfume, lipsticks and feminine hygiene sprays, Ms. is screening out ads they feel are "insulting to women."

LETTERS

An example of the comments Ms. is asking for can be found in this month's "Letters to Ms." column: "The two page ad placed by Leilani Rum is downright disgusting. I resent the condenscent that says "You've probably got a recipe for scrambled eggs that's harder than this...What didn't you understand? The time? The sugar?... Read it again, sisters and ask the ad agency to come off it."

The new magazines have influenced each other—and the more established "homemaker" periodicals as well. Over at the Ladies Home Journal, editor John Mack Carter seems to be waiting to see if the movement is a passing fad.
Athletic Notices

The Montclair State Department of Athletics has released its swimming pool schedule beginning Mon., Sept. 11 to Sept. 30. It will be available Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m., Wednesday, from 8 to 10 p.m., Saturday, from 2 to 5 p.m., and Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

Admission is open to faculty, staff, and college students with identification cards. Children (under 18) of the faculty, staff, or students will be admitted only with an adult member of the family.

Basketball

There will be a meeting for all JV and varsity basketball candidates who haven't participated before on Sept. 19 at 4 p.m. in Gym #2.

Fall Tennis

Tennis registration will begin on Mon., Sept. 18 for men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

Basketball

There will be a meeting for all JV and varsity basketball candidates who haven't participated before on Sept. 19 at 4 p.m. in Gym #2.

Fall Tennis

Tennis registration will begin on Mon., Sept. 18 for men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

Basketball

There will be a meeting for all JV and varsity basketball candidates who haven't participated before on Sept. 19 at 4 p.m. in Gym #2.

Fall Tennis

Tennis registration will begin on Mon., Sept. 18 for men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

Basketball

There will be a meeting for all JV and varsity basketball candidates who haven't participated before on Sept. 19 at 4 p.m. in Gym #2.

Fall Tennis

Tennis registration will begin on Mon., Sept. 18 for men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

Basketball

There will be a meeting for all JV and varsity basketball candidates who haven't participated before on Sept. 19 at 4 p.m. in Gym #2.

Fall Tennis

Tennis registration will begin on Mon., Sept. 18 for men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

Summer Lacrosse (Continued from Page 8)

alumnus cited lacrosse as "the perfect way to keep fit, physically and psychologically—it's a more competitive outlet for frustration than tennis or slow-pitch softball."

A good spirited contest may be the main objective, according to most players, but every team does like to see the score in its favor, as evidenced by the same kind of "sideline quarterbacking" seen at any Saturday afternoon football game.

Although Sparky Lyle's pitching arm and the pennant race dominated much of the nation's summertime sports conversation, lacrosse, at least for its fervent fans, should be around at least a few more summers.
A LOOK BACK—Kutztown halfback Doug Dennison is tied up by MSC's Jerry Caputo in last year's season opener. MSC is hoping to echo that 25-20 win in tomorrow night's game.

MSC Opens Fall Season

By Joan Miketsuk

It would be a fine script for a championship game. Down, 14-10, in the second half, the home team goes into the two-minute drill offense. Two strikes get them inside the endzone with a minute left and the home team comes up with it, 17-14.

It wasn't a championship game, however. Last Saturday's content with Nassau Community College was only a tune-up for tomorrow night's opener with Kutztown State at 8 p.m. at Sprague Field.

The game was marked by fumbles and interceptions as "the offense tried to catch up with the defense."

For Coach Clary Anderson, it was supposed to be a game to iron out the wrinkles and make the final decisions. Some of the wrinkles were ironed out, but the decision still has to be made.

Jim Wassel and Craig Hugger, a junior and sophomore respectively, are both vying for the quarterback position. Wassel started the game, but it was Hugger who threw the two passes that took the team into the endzone in the final minutes.

"Wassel was the most experienced," Anderson commented. "But on passing he seems to want to wait too long."

However, Anderson lauded Wassel's command of the running game.

"Wassel or Hugger will start (tomorrow) but it depends on how they do in practice," the mentor concluded.

The touchdown pass that won the game Saturday was a Hugger-to-(Paul) Pignatelle combination that clicked for the freshman team last year.

Hugger's familiarity with his receiver's moves may have played a role in the success of the play, but Anderson pointed out that it was the first time that the two had run the pattern in a game situation.

As for the defensive unit, which caused two fumbles and picked off three NCC passes, Anderson commented, "Nobody from the defensive unit who played regularly is back, but our defense should be just as good or better than last year."

MSC Harriers

Can They Do It Again?

The question now facing cross country coach George Horn and his harriers is: "Where do we go from here?"

Last year, led by captain Vic Mizzone and Kevin McGrath, MSC went undefeated in its 14 meets, a first for the team. It placed second in the New Jersey State College meet, following Princeton and edging Rutgers University. Mizzone also placed in the top 10 of the ICAA championships at Van Cortland Park in the Bronx.

Mizzone's absence on the squad this season presents a problem to Horn if he wants to extend the string of 19 dual-match wins.

Mizzone has one more semester to complete at Montclair but has already competed in the four semesters of cross country allotted by the NCAA.

"You cannot help but miss a number two man behind Mizzone. "He was an extremely good performer," reminisced Horn.

As has been the usual procedure for the past three summers, Horn had some of his lettermen spend a week at his Long Island home for practice.

With him this year were co-captain Bill Lowing, Tim O'Donoghue, Fred Geiger, Al Johnson, Guy Pillsbury, Jim Migiorini and Greg Weiss.

Horn rates O'Donoghue as the number one runner this year.