MAC Budget Bout Begins

By Susan Kelly and John Picinich
Staff Writers

The Student Government Association delayed passage of the Montclair Athletic Commission’s $126,000 budget Tuesday as the debate continues as to whether MAC should return to the status of a Class One organization.

A 1969 SGA referendum removed MAC from the ranks of the Class One organizations. Although the organization has only been allocated a proposed guideline of $18 per student this year, the referendum entitles it to a mandatory deduction of up to $19.50 per student. Thus, MAC differs from the other student organizations whose budgets are more flexible and are under the surveillance of the SGA.

Robert Watson, a senior history major, began the debate at Tuesday’s meeting by protesting the fact that funds from the student activities fee are not under student control.

LAST SEMESTER, WATSON and several other legislators were instrumental in obtaining SGA passage of a bill stating that no further funds would be granted to MAC until it becomes a Class One organization.

A motion at Tuesday’s meeting to rescind that bill and grant MAC funds under its present status was defeated. The budget was tabled until a solution to the problem is reached.

Watson stressed that “students must be in a position to decide what happens to student funds.” Lionel Geltman, School of Math and Sciences rep, also criticized the events that allowed an organization paid for by student funds to get out student control.

William Dioguardi, Director of Athletics and MAC chairman, complained that fights over that organization’s budget are “an almost annual occurrence.” Although MAC’s budget is always eventually passed, Dioguardi said that it has been an object of controversy for the past nine ten years.

“This has always been a problem,” he said. “I feel like the weatherman. One day it’s sunny, the next day it rains and the next day it’s sunny again.”

The budget delay will force MAC to operate with limitations until a formal decision is made on the subject.

Dioguardi pointed out that a return to a Class One status might mean a conflict with the rules of the National Collegiate Athletic Association which requires that athletic programs be under administrative or faculty control. If MAC should return to Class One status, SGA rules would require that it be student run.

Watson argued this point at Tuesday’s meeting, saying that NCAA rules do not require faculty or administrative control. Crane also said that the rules of that organization are open to interpretation.

Vincent Calabrese, vice president of business and finance, stated that the debate over MAC’s status should have taken place last year. He pointed out that MAC has to make commitments in advance and must be notified in advance if a budget change will take place.

Calabrese praised Dioguardi’s management of MAC, saying that the organization has a “tight” budget. He also stressed the value of the athletic program in terms of public relations. A successful athletic program helps build a name for a college, he continued.

Carol Anne Sakowitz, newly appointed member of MAC, attributed the bulk of the MAC controversy to an unwillingness on the part of Dioguardi to answer student questions concerning his budget, rather than a desire to reduce MAC’s funds.

Sakowitz said that in past budget meetings Dioguardi has been evasive when questioned about specific details of the budget and often does not come to these meetings prepared to answer the questions.

Cane also stated that although Dioguardi was informed that his budget would be discussed at Tuesday’s meeting, there was no one there representing MAC.
Watson, dean of the School of Education, will slowly lose its school of education into the method of student teaching. Unless it is, it has to be dynamic. Watson feels too much study and too little on practical experience. He feels that teaching is a 24-hour-a-day job. He thought a change of leadership would be beneficial both to himself and to the school system. Watson, whose scholastic record includes 10 years as a Press Association and is three time winner of the All-American honors in the state school and several years as a principal of Pine Forge High School, Pa., expressed the belief that while Watson felt he gave the job that commitment, but thought a change of leadership would be beneficial both to himself and to the school system. A panel discussion on the new policy of teacher certification followed by a question and answer period at 7 pm in M-15.

however, Watson stated that it would be important to insure a variety of student opinions. Speaking of his previous position as superintendent of the Trenton school system, Watson said it was a full time, 24-hour-a-day job. He mentioned it required 150% dedication and that one must be completely immersed in the job. While Watson felt it gave the job that commitment, but a student demonstrated capability, the effectiveness of student teacher supervision. He feels the school should turn the supervision over to the school system and attempt to help the teachers charged with the supervision.

We have been attempting to meet student needs,” stated the dean, “as envisioned by the staff.” Watson expressed hope that the newly formed department will receive the necessary “student inputs.” However, Watson stated that it would be important to insure a variety of student opinions. Speaking of his previous position as superintendent of the Trenton school system, Watson said it was a full time, 24-hour-a-day job. He mentioned it required 150% dedication and that one must be completely immersed in the job. While Watson felt it gave the job that commitment, but a change of leadership would be beneficial both to himself and to the school system. Watson, whose scholastic accomplishments include graduation from Delaware State College with distinction and a fellowship to Howard University, expressed the belief that regardless of preconceived prejudices, results can be achieved if the problems are attacked.

Watson comes to MSC with a record that includes 10 years as principle of Fine Forge High School, Pa., several years as a college instructor as well as an measurable administrative experience in the state school system. Stating that he didn’t classify teaching methods as either “old or new,” he nonetheless expressed the belief that innovative techniques can be useful. He praised the implementation of winter sessions and mini-courses, especially those courses which are career-oriented, allowing the students to apply their knowledge to community problems.

Watson, who plans to return to teaching in the near future, concluded that “an educational institution must respond to the needs of its clients.”
No Gimmicks, No Stamps -- Just Service

By Joan Miketzuk
Staff Writer

According to Haynes, all profits realized are used to pay workers and equipment. There are four female students who work at the center. Some of the profit dollars will be put into a cinder block building which will provide more adequate shelter for workers and equipment.

"Last Saturday a man drove up and asked for two dollars worth of gas. I was putting the money in the drawer when he took off with the nozzle still in the gas tank," related Syd Petrelli, who confessed to being kidded about her occupation. "Some call me 'Bunny Bumper' but I don't mind," she commented. "It's a job," she added, philosophically.

Haynes observed that some of the male customers are reluctant to let the girls look under the hood to check the oil. "The girls are just as efficient as the men," he protested proudly.

The prices for gas range from 33.9 cents per gallon to 38.9 cents per gallon. The station less than a mile down Valley Rd. in Clifton lists prices from 17 to five cents more on its tanks.

Who's to blame for the mess we're in?

Which mess? Inflation? Urban decay? Unemployment, racism? No matter. They're all tied up with each other. They're all direct results of the capitalist system and its other face -- political government. We'd like to show you why that's so.

So you'll see why politicians can't deliver on their promises: why our problems will worsen as long as capitalism lasts.

Then, if you value life, maybe you'll see that it's time to get rid of the mess.

Time to end capitalism and make a new, free, affluent society. Called Socialism.

Hear about it. For our country's future and your own, it's the least you can do.

It's also the best.

Hear

Louis Fisher
Socialist Labor Party
Candidate for President

Oct. 5, CBS Radio Network
11. CBS Radio Network
19. NBC Radio Network
26. CBS Radio Network
Check radio pages for time

For information (or speakers to address your group) write: Robert Clement, State Sec., P.O. Box 137, Little Falls, N.J. 07424

MONTCLAIR/Thurs., October 5, 1972

Service Station

Inner Dimensions

CLOTHING

RECYCLED (used)

Fall Wear
Jeans Still $2
Cord shirt, sweaters, flannel shirt

Jackets
Suede, leather, cord

Record Albums
$5.98 List
$3.59 with student ID

Jewelry
Pipes
Candles posters games

Papers
15c each or 4 for 50c

127 Watchung Ave.
Montclair

Daily
10 to 10

Wanted
If 10 plus pages of Eve Arden,
Box A, Montclair, Fourth Floor,
Student Center
Mardi Gras Planned

By Thomas Mazzer
Staff Writer

A Mardi Gras theme and the addition of several new events to MSC's annual Homecoming weekend will highlight this year's festival. From Nov. 3 to Nov. 5, the College Life Union Board, Homecoming sponsor, has planned, besides the traditional parade, football game and concert, such novel activities as a jazz jamboree, a flea market and a midnight buffet. Also, from Nov. 2 thru Nov. 5, the MSC Players will stage "Cabaret."

At a meeting on Tues., Sept. 26, committee heads, guided by Michelle Corona, Homecoming Chairwoman, and her apprentice Michelle Toffolo, next year's chairman, formulated tentative plans for the event. The Mardi Gras motif will allow, as club's Peter Winnicki enthusiastically said, "each person to get involved individually or jointly in the way he sees best."

THE WEEKEND begins with float construction scheduled from noon to 8 pm Friday and beginning at 9 am Saturday. The parade commences at 2 pm. Customarily, adherence to strict regulations in the quest for float awards has hampered originality. This year, as club treasurer Clelia Prestifilippo said, "anything goes."

The floats will not have to be constructed on campus and will not have to be covered with crepe paper as in the past. The only rules are that tractor-trailer floats are prohibited as they would favor the wealthier organizations and that the floats must fit under the trees along the parade route and through the campus gate. Smaller flatbeds and cars can be decorated.

To augment creativity the Mardi Gras motif of this parade, unlike that of the famous New Orleans event, is not restricted to mythology. Forceilla explained that, "the judges are going to have a big job cut out for them. How do you set up rules for this type of parade?"

As the committee receives feedback on the types of floats being built it will establish a basis for judging. In place of trophies, this year cash prizes will be awarded.

This parade will also differ from past parades in that hopefully it will include antique cars and fire engines, racing cars, horse-drawn carriages and marching bands from nearby communities. A longer route is also being planned.

The jazz jamboree will be held Friday night in the Student Center cafeteria. Although it will resemble New York's night club "Your Father's Moustache," the jamboree will also be a masquerade party focused on the Roaring 20's. Gamma Xi Iota sorority, annual sponsors of a masquerade ball, will work with Club on this event. As usual there will be various costume contests but outfits are not required as straw hats will be distributed.

Arrangements are being made so that persons who wear a costume to the jamboree can also ride in the parade. A jazz band will provide the music and refreshments will include peanuts, birch beer and root beer.

Saturday from 10 am to 4 pm at Life Hall, a flea market open to the outside and campus communities will be in progress. Club chairman desire that all campus organizations, not just fraternities and sororities, participate as vendors. MSC's Indians contest Trenton State vs. Lions, beginning 8 pm at Sprague Field. This year a fireworks display may be arranged.

AFTER THE GAME a midnight buffet lasting until two or three o'clock in the morning will be served in the SC banquet room. Music will be provided by an orchestra and club is endeavoring to have liquor available. The price of tickets has not yet been determined.

John Sebastian and McKendree Spring will perform Sunday night in Panzer Gym. Especially for such activities as the flea market and the parade, Club needs the cooperation of all the campus organizations. As Prestifilippo said, "If the organizations don't participate then Club can't do anything."

GLENROSE AVE.
MOBILE CAR CARE
Phone 783-5380

LITTLE CAR CO.

V W-DUNE BUGGY
PORTS-SALES-SERVICE
DUNE BUGGIES- OFF ROAD MINUS
PARTS & ACCESSORIES
V W SPEED EQUIPMENT
HOP UP PARTS

NO MINIMUM NO EQUIPMENT CHANGE NO DELIVERY CHARGE
Real Brewed Coffee IN MINUTES
For LESS THAN 5c PER CUP!
The Executive Service
135 GLENROSE AVE., FAIRFIELD, N.J. 07006
Phone: 201-785-2517

 sme

FEARLESS WRITERS AND DARING PHOTOGRAPHERS, COME TO THE MONTCLAIR OFFICE, FOURTH FLOOR OF THE STUDENT CENTER.

OBTAIN an
ASSOCIATE OF ARTS DEGREE IN 1 TO 2 YEARS EVENINGS!

YES, you can receive an Associate of Arts Degree by attending evening classes one or two nights a week, and accomplish this in as little as ONE YEAR!

THE INSTITUTE FOR ADVANCED EDUCATION, in cooperation with the Thomas A. Edison College of the State of New Jersey, is offering college level courses to satisfy all requirements at a total cost of $85.00 per (3) credit college level course.

In addition to the Associate Program, a Bachelor Program in Business Administration will be offered in early 1973. This program could be completed in 2-3% years.

Register Now For November Session

THE INSTITUTE FOR ADVANCED EDUCATION
266-B Route 46, Totowa, New Jersey 07512
Phone: (201) 785-4444

Newman Community Focuses on Life

By Joe DeCanto
Staff Writer

Newman Community opened its Respect Life Week on Oct 1 with a special Mass in Memorial Auditorium, featuring modern dance as an integral part of the celebration. The dance symbolized the close relationship of the body to the spirit that we all should strive for, according to Sister Pat Plourde.

Respect Life Week is being held in response to a suggestion made by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, who asked that each individual parish devote a week of prayer and study to the holiness of human life and the threats made upon it.

Sister Pat, program director for Newman Community's Respect Life Week, stressed the fact that Newman Community is involved in this type of work year round. Students from the community work with orphans in Paterson, senior citizens and have set up a baby care center for parents attending Mass.

Newman Community will focus its efforts in an attempt to inform people of the threats made to human life and have them begin to think seriously about it. The theme of the Mass was "life and beauty come alive" and the dance emphasized the "whole" quality of the soul and body of man, according to Sister Pat.

She explained that the reason Newman Community was having only one event to celebrate this special week was because the community felt it was a year round project and should not be limited to only one week.

CHAMPION TERMPAPERS
636 Beacon St. (4050)
Boston, Mass. 02215
617 536 9700

Research material for Termpapers. Reports, Theses, etc. LOWEST PRICE! QUICK SERVICE. For information, please write or call.
Elections Four Weeks Away

By Rich DeAugustinis

four weeks away, campaign activities on the MSC campus are in full swing—from left to right. Among those most prominent in their campaign activities are the Students for McGovern and Young Republicans.

Due to the recent legislation giving persons 18 years of age and over the right to vote in all national elections in New Jersey, the group's on-campus activities include canvassing by mail and getting out into the communities to work with local volunteers. “I feel the most important thing to do is to talk person to person to get to the grassroots,” said Bogart, explaining his own philosophy of effective campaigning.

John McShane, the driving force behind the Young Republicans, was to be found in the photo lab of the Fine Arts building. He explained that he had not been able to acquire an office to work out of and was in the process of looking for one. However, a table of volunteers for Nixon is set up each day in the Student Center. Bogart, explaining his own situation, said that the office of the Student Center had not been able to acquire an office to work out of and was in the process of looking for one.

The Young Americans for Freedom have established a campus headquarters in the chaplain's office in the Student Center. The emphasis of that group is on urging students to register to vote, Bogart explained, as well as actually supplying transportation to the correct registration sites for those who live on campus. He stressed that October 10 is the last registration date for the national elections in New Jersey.

The group's on-campus activities include canvassing the dormitories and distributing information from a table set up in the lobby of the Student Center.

A trane about future campaign activities, Bob Polledra, Bob had established a campus headquarters in the chaplain's office in the Student Center. The emphasis of that group is on urging students to register to vote, Bogart explained, as well as actually supplying transportation to the correct registration sites for those who live on campus. He stressed that October 10 is the last registration date for the national elections in New Jersey.

Bob Polledra, Bogart has established a campus headquarters in the chaplain's office in the Student Center. The emphasis of that group is on urging students to register to vote, Bogart explained, as well as actually supplying transportation to the correct registration sites for those who live on campus. He stressed that October 10 is the last registration date for the national elections in New Jersey.

The group's on-campus activities include canvassing the dormitories and distributing information from a table set up in the lobby of the Student Center.

Elections Four Weeks Away

Students in Full Campaign Swing

By Rich DeAugustinis

four weeks away, campaign activities on the MSC campus are in full swing—from left to right. Among those most prominent in their campaign activities are the Students for McGovern and Young Republicans.

Due to the recent legislation giving persons 18 years of age and over the right to vote in all national elections in New Jersey, the group's on-campus activities include canvassing by mail and getting out into the communities to work with local volunteers. “I feel the most important thing to do is to talk person to person to get to the grassroots,” said Bogart, explaining his own philosophy of effective campaigning.

John McShane, the driving force behind the Young Republicans, was to be found in the photo lab of the Fine Arts building. He explained that he had not been able to acquire an office to work out of and was in the process of looking for one. However, a table of volunteers for Nixon is set up each day in the Student Center. Bogart, explaining his own situation, said that the office of the Student Center had not been able to acquire an office to work out of and was in the process of looking for one.

The Young Americans for Freedom have established a campus headquarters in the chaplain's office in the Student Center. The emphasis of that group is on urging students to register to vote, Bogart explained, as well as actually supplying transportation to the correct registration sites for those who live on campus. He stressed that October 10 is the last registration date for the national elections in New Jersey.

The group's on-campus activities include canvassing the dormitories and distributing information from a table set up in the lobby of the Student Center.

The Young Americans for Freedom have established a campus headquarters in the chaplain's office in the Student Center. The emphasis of that group is on urging students to register to vote, Bogart explained, as well as actually supplying transportation to the correct registration sites for those who live on campus. He stressed that October 10 is the last registration date for the national elections in New Jersey.

The group's on-campus activities include canvassing the dormitories and distributing information from a table set up in the lobby of the Student Center.

Relief for foot-weary commuters has arrived in the form of two shuttlebuses. Although they were due last week, the vehicles were put into operation as the MONTCLAIRON went to press today.

The buses will run at regular intervals from the lower parking area to the library. Other improvements in the parking and traffic situation will be two additional entrances to the campus. Plans are being made for a back road entrance to the quarry lots with another quarry entrance from Valley Rd. still on the drawing board.

“All along the road and undesigned parking is unauthorized and will be ticketed. There is enough room for all our faculty and students in existing lots, only no one wants to walk,” said Tom Barrett, a member of the Commuter Commission. “I can’t really blame them,” he added.

If students wish to avoid traffic on campus they should arrive via the rear entrance and park in the marked spaces in the paved area parallel to the railroad tracks. The walking distance is shorter than from the quarry lots.
Meditation Society Recruits at MSC

By Carol Neetz
Staff Writer

The Students International Meditation Society (SIMS) of Montclair State College presented the school year's first introductory lecture on transcendental meditation Tues., Sept. 26. Harvey Friedman, TM teacher, spoke to the attentive audience when he confronted them with the financial requirement of $75 for adults and $45 for college students. Some people walked out while others argued and questioned, but Friedman remained unruffled. "There's no program in the world that offers so much for so little," said Friedman.

"What if you can't afford it?" asked a student in the audience. "Get a job," Friedman replied, "the success of the movement depends upon the corporation of its members."

After the lecture Friedman told a small group of prospective students that SIMS and its sister organization, the International Meditation Society, now have over 180,000 members, more than half of whom joined within the last year. He invited the group to attend a second free lecture explaining the mechanics of TM and showing a film of the Maharishi on Oct. 4.

Friedman spoke of TM as the "science of creative intelligence". He stated that Simmons has been funded by the State of Illinois to train public school teachers in TM. SIMS hopes to spread TM through the school system in order to achieve a "world plan." The goal of the 'world plan' is to establish in every population of one million people, one teacher trained in TM. The movement depends upon the personal awareness of one teacher. Friedman spoke of TM as the "science of creative intelligence". He stated that the success of the movement depends upon the corporation of its members.

"The goal of the 'world plan' is to establish in every population of one million people, one teacher trained in TM. The movement depends upon the personal awareness of one teacher." Friedman said, "if frustration and tension can be eliminated in each individual, the the world can be fulfilled."

"There's no program in the world that offers so much for so little," said Friedman.

The audience when he confronted them with the financial requirement of $75 for adults and $45 for college students. Some people walked out while others argued and questioned, but Friedman remained unruffled. "There's no program in the world that offers so much for so little," said Friedman.

"What if you can't afford it?" asked a student in the audience. "Get a job," Friedman replied, "the success of the movement depends upon the corporation of its members."

After the lecture Friedman told a small group of prospective meditations that SIMS and its sister organization, the International Meditation Society, now have over 180,000 members, more than half of whom joined within the last year. He invited the group to attend a second free lecture explaining the mechanics of TM and showing a film of the Maharishi on Oct. 4.

Friedman spoke of TM as the "science of creative intelligence". He stated that SIMS has been funded by the State of Illinois to train public school teachers in TM. SIMS hopes to spread TM through the school system in order to achieve a "world plan." The goal of the 'world plan' is to establish in every population of one million people, one teacher trained in TM. The movement depends upon the personal awareness of one teacher. Friedman spoke of TM as the "science of creative intelligence". He stated that the success of the movement depends upon the corporation of its members.

Confused?
Worried? Be aware!
Confined? Be creative!
Insecure? Be spontaneous!
Fearful? Be effective!
Alienated? Be practical!
Cynical? Be useful!
Frustrated? Be authentic!
Predjudiced? Be honest!
Apathetic? Be active!
Serious? Be appropriate!
Disillusioned? Be sensitive!
Bored? Be respectful!
Pensive? Be human!
Fatigued? Be human!
Apprehensive? Be careful!
Serious? Be practical!
Resentful? Be respectful!
Oppressed? Be reasonable!
Tense? Be appropriate!
Nervous? Be effective!
Depressed? Be human!
Oppressed? Be reasonable!
Tense? Be human!
Anxious? Be careful!
Worried? Be busy!
Confused? Be busy!
Insecure? Be effective!
Confined? Be spontaneous!
Fearful? Be effective!
Frustrated? Be spontaneous!
Cynical? Be busy!
Nihilistic? Be reasonable!
Alienated? Be careful!
Prejudiced? Be effective!
Remorseful? Be reasonable!
Reasonful? Be spontaneous!
Impersonal? Be busy!
Confused? Be busy!
Insecure? Be effective!
Confined? Be spontaneous!
Fearful? Be effective!
Frustrated? Be spontaneous!
Cynical? Be busy!
Frustrated? Be authentic!
Predjudiced? Be honest!
Apathetic? Be active!
Serious? Be appropriate!
Disillusioned? Be sensitive!
Bored? Be respectful!
Pensive? Be human!
Fatigued? Be human!
Apprehensive? Be careful!
Serious? Be practical!
Resentful? Be respectful!
Oppressed? Be reasonable!
Tense? Be appropriate!
Nervous? Be effective!
Depressed? Be human!
Oppressed? Be reasonable!
Tense? Be human!
Anxious? Be careful!
Worried? Be busy!
Confused? Be busy!
Insecure? Be effective!
Confined? Be spontaneous!
Fearful? Be effective!
Frustrated? Be spontaneous!
Cynical? Be busy!
Nihilistic? Be reasonable!
Alienated? Be careful!
Prejudiced? Be effective!
Remorseful? Be reasonable!
Reasonful? Be spontaneous!
Impersonal? Be busy!
Confused? Be busy!
Insecure? Be effective!
Confined? Be spontaneous!
Fearful? Be effective!
Frustrated? Be spontaneous!
Cynical? Be busy!
Frustrated? Be authentic!
Predjudiced? Be honest!
Apathetic? Be active!
Serious? Be appropriate!
Disillusioned? Be sensitive!
Bored? Be respectful!
Pensive? Be human!
Fatigued? Be human!
Apprehensive? Be careful!
Serious? Be practical!
Resentful? Be respectful!
Oppressed? Be reasonable!
Tense? Be appropriate!
Nervous? Be effective!
Depressed? Be human!
Oppressed? Be reasonable!
Tense? Be human!
Anxious? Be careful!
Worried? Be busy!
Confused? Be busy!
Insecure? Be effective!
Confined? Be spontaneous!
Fearful? Be effective!
Frustrated? Be spontaneous!
Cynical? Be busy!
Nihilistic? Be reasonable!
Alienated? Be careful!
Prejudiced? Be effective!
Remorseful? Be reasonable!
Reasonful? Be spontaneous!
Impersonal? Be busy!
Confused? Be busy!
Insecure? Be effective!
Confined? Be spontaneous!
Fearful? Be effective!
Frustrated? Be spontaneous!
Cynical? Be busy!
Lawyer Planned

Hiring a campus lawyer to provide legal counseling for students is a future possibility, according to Sam Crane, SGA president. Crane cautioned, however, that "nothing is definite."

The responsibilities of such a lawyer would be to counsel students on matters pertaining to insurance, contracts, leases and the draft. Crane said that the need for this service will be sharply increased when the law lowering the legal age to 18 takes effect on Jan. 1, since most students will then be able to sign legal documents.

James Harris, assistant dean of students and coordinator of counseling services, also feels that a lawyer is necessary on campus because there are no sources of legal advice at MSC. Students are usually referred to the Civil Liberties Union, the Legal Aid Society or the public defenders office.

HORNER HARRIS stated that "the image of the defenders office is not a good one." He explained that "the lawyers generally try to get lighter sentences instead of proving a student's innocence."

Students go through a lot of anxiety during this process and Harris feels that an on-campus lawyer would help relieve this anxiety.

Randall Richards, MSC's Selective Service advisor, feels that students would feel much more secure knowing that they are getting professional advice.

Richards' primary function is to so the student's status cards to the draft boards but he also discusses alternate courses with them if they do not wish to join the service.

THE LAWYER should be a practicing one, according to Richards who could be available to students once a week. This lawyer should advise the students, said the draft counselor, and refer them to an attorney if court action is necessary.

Crand cited an example of a lawyer employed by the University of Massachusetts in Amherst. This lawyer does not appear in court but prepares the testimony of a student and that student defends himself. To Crane's knowledge, the lawyer has yet to lose a case.

Folk singer Pete Seeger will not perform at Montclair State as scheduled on Oct. 29. Michael Quick, chairmain of the College Life Union Board, explained that Seeger's concert was postponed because of managerial problems.

CLUB was sponsoring Seeger's concert and will bring him on campus at a later date. CLUB member Peter Winmiki stressed that the concert has not been cancelled but merely postponed.

Seeger has reached national prominence through his protest songs. He has sung against such issues as the Vietnamese War and the pollution of rivers.

Radtke Adds Humor
To Federation Handbook

By Kathy Credo
Staff Writer

"The federation was formed in 1970 by a group of interested students watching "Star Trek." Many students felt that the dorms were like one big space ship and they wanted a Mr. Spock to run to in time of need."

This account of the Resident Hall Federation's history appeared in "A Resident's Guide to Periodical Living," published each year and distributed among incoming freshman and transfers.

THE HANDBOOK, although it touches the lighter side of dorm life, aids the new students by listing the rules and regulations of dormitory life, (i.e. when boyfriends or girlfriends can visit or which dorms have trust funds or can have parties.)

Mike Radtke, alias Mr. Spock, worked all summer to complete the handbook. Radtke, a senior math major, is the president of the dorm federation.

When asked why he decided to add the element of humor to the booklet, which has been on the serious side in previous years, he said, "So people would read it. The longer you've been living in a residence hall, the funnier it gets."

THE HANDBOOK starts with the traditional welcome to students contained in three separate letters from Radtke. The inside of the rest of the traditional welcome letter, please see last years RHF handbook. For those who are interested, last year's welcome letter included "the Philosophy of Dorm Living."

Also contained in the guide are the histories of the individual halls and a list of "bogies" or people to get to know. An article on drugs is presented without widow breaks. The book also covers such areas as food, test keys, liquor and many other tidbits of information.

The only section of the handbook not written by Radtke is the individual description of each dorm. A little goodie from this section is a song about Webster Hall sung to the tune of "America the Beautiful."

PERHAPS THE most artistic part of the whole book is the cover. However, the published cover is not the original one. Radtke ate the original cover with flair and the cover smeared. The book also covers such areas as food, test keys, liquor and many other tidbits of information.

When asked if there has been any complaints against the handbook, Radtke said that there has been none and only one correction. A woman found one of the books on a bus and wrote him a letter saying that, although she enjoyed his book, the bus prices quoted in it had gone up. So, for anyone wanting to take the Decamp bus No. 66, the price is now $1.10 instead of one dollar.
From Year To Year

When student representatives sat down here last week they met to discuss efforts on a major problem facing New Jersey colleges—political power.

Various proposals were talked about, including a $5000 per school contribution scheme financing a professional lobbyist in Trenton. It was quickly discarded and alas nothing was decided upon aside from holding another meeting to further discuss the problem.

However, although the colleges may form an alliance they should not overlook a very critical factor necessary for success—continuity.

No organization can keep on functioning consistently if its leadership changes annually. Indeed this is the major fault of local student governments. The administration can simply procrastinate on various issues knowing they will not have to deal with the same people next year.

One pitfall may doom any hope of effective student power in the future.

Let’s Have An Election

There has been much talk about how President Richard M. Nixon will sweep to an impressive landslide victory over his Democratic opponent Senator George S. McGovern. The most recent polls would seem to verify the speculation.

However, history has repeatedly indicated that large electoral pluralities do little to aid the nation’s leadership. Indeed, they would seem to hinder it.

The election of President Lyndon Johnson by such a margin could have been partially responsible for his misguided escalation of the Vietnam tragedy. The point being that so-called mandates tend to go to a politician’s head, with disastrous results.

But if there is going to be an election this year, it will be up to the Democrats to furnish one.

In closing, I would say that we as responsible citizens wield in our hands the authority to create a responsive base of power in our community and nation. We can establish an alternate that could be a major force in this country if we vote.

To the Editor:

I kindly request that anyone who is a member of this college community refer to the practice of nailing signs on the trunks of LIVING trees. Thank you.

George F. Placek
Associate Prof. Physical Science

To the Editor:

Last year the system made a blunder, it gave eighteen year olds the vote. Upon realizing their oversight and wishing to right their wrongs they have attempted to dissuade us from voting through difficult, confusing and judicial registration laws.

In some states you have to register where your parents live, nor where you reside. Still in others you have only two days out of the year to register. Also involved in registration is the archaic machine politics.

The system is aware of the new voters. Presently we have a potential 25 million young voters in this country. We could have a whole new ball game—with a new general manager.

It is a major fault of local student governments. The administration can simply procrastinate on various issues knowing they will not have to deal with the same people next year.

One pitfall may doom any hope of effective student power in the future.

To the Editor:

I hope that there will be some black folks on that search committee set up to find a successor for President Thomas H. Richardson. It should be understood by everyone that because of the increasing percentage of black folks on campus it is important that our new president be just as relative and responsive to our needs as he is to the rest of the college population.

To the Editor:

I hope also that from now on, anyone being appointed to the administration and faculty be somewhat concerned with our needs and aware of our problems. And while this school makes plans to expand it had better plan to expand for us. We also know that the new Student Center, thrown together like some urban renewal project, was not planned with black students in mind, but we are going to have to let that slide.

The point is, we are looking forward to becoming a part of every aspect of this college community. If this means that we will have to kick down some doors in order to get more space for our black library, then we’ll just have to start kicking down some doors. If it means turning over some tables to catch someone dealing under the table on us, then we are going to turn over some tables.

STRONG

The black population is too strong now for us to continue to except the lies being told to us. And the ones who have been lying to us, we’re going to deal with them too. And we won’t allow ourselves to be tricked out of doing what we are here to do. We couldn’t care less about what Joseph Vitalic says about undemocratic, because we know when he talks about individual rights, we can interpret it as meaning “keep niggers in their place.”

The election of President Lyndon Johnson by such a margin could have been partially responsible for his misguided escalation of the Vietnam tragedy. The point being that so-called mandates tend to go to a politician’s head, with disastrous results.

But if there is going to be an election this year, it will be up to the Democrats to furnish one. Nixon is too content to stir from the safe bastions of the White House and would prefer to ride the tide of approval from Year To Year.
People Don't 'Buy' McGovern Line

Carol Fryczynski
Vice Chairman CINA

Now that the campaign for the Presidency is in full swing, I find it rather ridiculous that Sen. George McGovern (D-SD) is offering dynamic solutions to the nation's ills. Recent polls suggest the American people don't buy this line—even McGovern's cherished under-30 voters are going 60% for Richard Nixon. What do they know that the campus community doesn't?

For one thing, federal spending on social programs has nearly doubled since Nixon took office, while the Pentagon budget has decreased slightly. This re-ordering of priorities is lost on those students who are devoted to hating the President and think McGovern will remedy all those evils they've heard Simons and Garfunkel sing about.

They didn't mind when it turned out that McGovern's proposed budget, containing plenty of cash for every good cause, would spend a hundred billion dollars more than the President would take in. Even his incredible prescription for the economy got by the "Give everyone a job. Once we hit full employment, inflation won't be a problem." The fact that full employment has always been accompanied by wild inflation was apparently buried along with Sen. Tom Eagleton in the vice presidential candidate for a week.

Nixon supports want answers about President Richard M. Nixon. What do they know that the campus community doesn't?

The subject of patriotism seems to be a favorite with the present administration in Washington. As a result, they have played on the emotions of the American public and have indoctrinated many into believing that patriotism means giving complete support to the values and positions of the President.

When one thinks of patriotism in this way, in view of the fact that Americans are quick to honor such historical figures as Thomas Jefferson, it should become apparent that it is an irrational conception of the term.

Nixon Is A Liar

Rhonda Katz
Bohn's Shaft

What takes an hour to go up and two hours to come down? Why, the Bohn Hall elevator—of course! Notice, I say elevator, singular. Bohn Hall has two elevators. One broke down over a week ago and it hasn't been fixed yet. Rumor has it that the guarantee has expired though, that must be given some attention. Do you remember Jimmy Hoffa? Well not only did his union file the $400,000 pledge for the San Diego Republican Convention? We all know the anti-trust court query against "four companies"? The best thing for the American voters would be to get away without paying any taxes. Nixon, however, has concentrated his efforts on trying to convince the American public that his wage and price controls are working despite the fact that the price of food keeps going up and up.

McGovern does not support Nixon's positions. He is a dissenter, his dissent is as American as apple pie.
Man: African Images

Photography by Guy Ball.
Rockwood Presents
Theater Pastiche

By Deborah Lombardi

"Where can you do a play that takes three minutes?" inquired Dr. Jerome Rockwood of the speech and theater department last week. "These short plays that Harold Pinter and Edward Albee write...I keep running across them over the years," he remarked and then proposed a solution. "Let's just do an evening of these quickie plays."

However, Rockwood foresees a problem in producing these short theater pieces. "I don't have enough material for an entire evening," the mustachioed director lamented. "There must be people around who write little things, scenes, descriptions...therefore, I would like to invite all students and faculty members to submit any material: short plays, songs, dances, or mimes." He continued impishly, "Just slip them under my door, room K101."

The show, for which Rockwood suggests a title of "Patches," will be in rehearsal during the January innovative period. It will be performed as soon as school resumes. "I'll cast K101." Rockwood sat beneath the orderly office and thought, "They could work scenes." He suggested, "I'd like the studio music for us. I'd like the studio improvisation to develop upon suggestions from the audience."

Auditions for the ensemble will be held sometime in November. "The auditions will have to be based on the type of material we get," explained Rockwood. "We'll have Tom Babbitt, a music major, do the music for us. I'd like the studio theater turned into a flexible environment in which the ensemble can cast all the scenes."

Rockwood cautioned, however, "it must be understood that I'm not inviting people to come and entertain--I don't want someone to come and play his guitar, for instance--the ensemble will do all the performing. This offer is to prospective playwrights and poets. And," he emphasized, "all credit will be given to the authors."

"Man: African Images," an exhibition of African art, began its month and a half long stay at MSC amid much student and faculty acclaim on Oct. 2. The exhibition is the outgrowth of the enthusiasm of two MSC students, Deborah Glenfield and Susan Kittel, who had just completed a semester course in African art. The exhibition was conceived and developed by Glenfield and Kittel as an independent studies project.

By bringing the African sculpture to campus, they hoped to introduce to the students and to share with them their enthusiasm for and appreciation of African art. "We hope that our audience will develop a deeper awareness of the richness and beauty of African art," explained Glenfield and Kittel.

Working closely with their advisor, Betty Schlossman, assistant professor in the fine arts department, the duo contacted many of the major collectors and museums in the area in order to get a complete and representative exhibition of African art.

They received wide response to their requests. Among those who made the exhibition possible with their loans of artifacts are The American Museum of Natural History, New York City; Dr. and Mrs. Ernst Anspach, New York City; Dr. and Mrs. George Preston, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tombsch, Forest Hills, N.Y.; and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Wingert, Montclair, N.J.

This is the first time that there has been any cooperative exhibition between a major museum and MSC. Schlossman hopes that the project will be the basis for future cooperative efforts between MSC and the major collectors and museums in the area, enabling the college to achieve its potential as an important N.J. cultural center.

Many of the objects on display are originally from western Africa and the Congo. However, even within this somewhat limited scope, there is a great variety of styles because of the various tribal distinctions.

ALTHOUGH MUCH of African art is highly conventionalized, western African art leans toward abstraction while that from the Congo is more naturalistic. Many of the pieces on exhibition have incorporated into them, in one way or another, the human figure. The figure is often that of an ancestor but may also embody some element of the supernatural.

The artifacts do not limit themselves to only one facet of African life nor do they represent any one class of functional sculpture. Instead they cut across all facets of African life.

There are fetishes of several types which were used in the magic rituals as well as a brass crucifix from the Congo. There is a very simplistic mask from Tanzania as well as an elaborate female mask from Sierra Leone. Figures are used as decoration for comb handles as well as for the legs of a stool. There are religious figures as well as several almost comical figurines of Europeans. No matter which way you turn there is diversity of composition and purpose.

The exhibition is housed on the second floor of the Student Center. It will remain on display daily until Nov. 11, from 10 am-8 pm.
Every Tuesday and Thursday, Montclair State students and faculty find themselves walking to march tempo as the MSC "Miracle" Marching Band rehearse for its weekly performances.

The 65 member "miracle" band begins its second year as an all college band assembled on a voluntary basis. Several innovations have been added to the band and the year promises to be a good one, according to Bernard Baggs Jr., band president.

A much different and more varied type of instrumentation is evident in the band this year, Baggs said. He explained that the drum and trumpet sections in particular are well developed. Another innovation is the addition of 12 red and white flags to the band to heighten the visual effect of each performance.

THE COLOR guard has undergone extensive renovation this year, Baggs said. The group is now a part of the band, whereas in past years it was a separate unit. The guard has an instructor to teach the precision drill which it will exercise in future performances.

Baggs said that the guard will march more in a drill style this year than it has in past years. Perhaps the greatest strength of the band will lie in the enthusiasm of its members. Baggs explained that an extensive campaign was waged to "dig out" new members. The band contains mostly freshmen and sophomores although there are juniors and seniors also. The general attitude of the band is very good this year, he said.

The highlight of the season may be an appearance in Mary's Thanksgiving Day parade on Nov. 23. Macy's personnel will observe the band at work and will decide if they will be able to march in the famous parade.

BAGGS POINTED out that participation in this event will be a "good plus" for MSC. This year the band will do some traveling in addition to usual attendance at the home football games. On Oct. 28 the band is slated to accompany the football team to Southern Connecticut to perform in the halftime show.

Music Organizations Commission
Presents
Organist
E. Power Biggs
April 4
Mime
Marcel Marceau
April 10
Vienna Boys’ Choir
March 21

SGA Student Tickets Available in MOC Office, Memorial Aud.
Judy Tagliabue, 6-0 and 6-3, in ALL STRUNG OUT the first round of the women's collegiate championships will be sending a team to the national office.

New facilities and plans for sending a team to the national intramural tennis program. Ruth participating but cannot be present will contact Barry Hennis in the athletic office.

Barb Willamey defeated Judy Tagliabue, 60-63, in the first round of the women's doubles. Fitch and Denise Fiore face Gail Scheible and Linda Sheppard in the other doubles match.

Tom Neroda and Mark Fister each received a bye in the first round of the men's singles. The pair will clash in the second round. Other first-round matches have: Kevin Schmitt vs. Mike Cuoco and Mike Jankowsky vs. Robert Opsut.

A KING AND HIS CASTLE

There will be a second meeting for all students interested in joining the chess club on Tues. Oct. 10 at 8 pm in Annex B, room 4.

By Joe Castronovo Sports Writer

CLIFTON-Last Wednesday was as likely any other day of the week. The sun rose in the east and set in the west. Children attended school, adults went to work, and the Montclair State fall baseball team won another game. So what else is new?

This time, the victory came over a sweatshirt-clad, mustachioed and bearded Upsala team. The entire effect bore a slight resemblance to that Palis Island Blue Ribbon Beer commercial shown so frequently on TV. The ad depicts a "Gay Nineties" softball team guzzling down the brew after a big game.

THERE WASN'T ANY beer at Holster Park that gray afternoon but there sure was enough rain. However, even the downpour didn't deter the Indians from gaining their sixth straight victory of the season by edging their opponents, 6-4.
Dux and Suhr
Set for Season

By Joan Miketzuk
Sports Writer

It was a rainy morning in September when Tom Dux and Brendan Suhr, veterans of Montclair State's basketball wars, strode into the MONTC LAR I ON office to discuss the upcoming campaign.

"Do you know what dux means in Latin?" asked Suhr, as they munched on a giant gumdrop.

"It means leader," he smiled, thoughtfully considering a gumdrop before popping it into his mouth, at a time of day when most people are still buttering their morning toast.

When questioned about their training procedures, Suhr mumbled something about this being their only food of the day; "We'll have a strong defense," commented Suhr, "but we'll also have a good fast break."

DUX EXPLAINED THAT this season's squad might suffer from a relative lack of playing time together. "All of the players who graduated had been playing together since they were sophomores," he said.

Suhr agreed that a lack of experience might hinder the team, although "all seven of the players coming back started at one time or another last season." "You can count on a set team yet because we haven't worked together," the brown-haired guard explained. "The starters might not be the five best individuals, but the five who work best together.

THE ADDITION of two assistant coaches is another change for the Indians to ponder. Tom Riley will help out on the varsity level while Brian Hill will fill the JV spot.

Riley last year coached Dalesburg High School to the Group 2 State Championship while Hill coached at Clifford Scott High School in East Orange. They replace John Gryzmko and Bob Elder who left to take teaching posts in other New Jersey high schools.

Both athletes agree that although Gryzmko and Elder were "excellent," Riley and Hill "will help us a lot."

"Our schedule will be a little easier this year," Suhr explained. "Navy dropped us and Delaware dropped us for a year because they got an offer to play Dartmouth."

Suhr should regret the Navy more, because it was his free throws in the final seconds that secured the MSC upset of the mariners last year. "But," he said, "one shot doesn't make a game."

The future looks brighter for the Indians, who work best together. Tom Riley will help out on the varsity level while Brian Hill will fill the JV spot.

Riley last year coached Dallesburg High School to the Group 2 State Championship while Hill coached at Clifford Scott High School in East Orange. They replace John Gryzmko and Bob Elder who left to take teaching posts in other New Jersey high schools.

Both athletes agree that although Gryzmko and Elder were "excellent," Riley and Hill "will help us a lot."

"Our schedule will be a little easier this year," Suhr explained. "Navy dropped us and Delaware dropped us for a year because they got an offer to play Dartmouth."

Suhr should regret the Navy more, because it was his free throws in the final seconds that secured the MSC upset of the mariners last year. "But," he said, "one shot doesn't make a game."
Booters Take Home Opener

By Joan Miketuk

"Winning becomes a habit just as losing becomes a habit," head soccer coach Bob Wolfarth said Saturday following his squad's second win of the season. It seems that the Indians have developed this habit of winning along with the habit of shutouts because they have yet to allow a goal in their first two games.

Saturday the Montclair State team was hardly the ideal guest as it made a first half goal by Paul Papadogeorgopolous stand up against host Newark State College, 26-29 at Garret Mountain. The Indians suffered slight injuries to Reusch (twisted knee), who had to be replaced in the second half by Doran, and Caycano Bastidas who was shadowed for most of the afternoon.

"We controlled the game very well as a team," remarked Wolfarth. "I would have felt better if the weather wasn't so bad," he added, explaining that Glassboro's fast break style of play had better chances of working if an Indian slipped on the muddy terrain.

"They bend, but the mudhole and chilly fall winds didn't break," he concluded. "They're so up to beat us," the first-year MSC coach conceded. "Hitting's a two-way street," he added, "but in a game like this you run the risk of losing a key player."

The Indians suffered slight injuries to Reusch (twisted knee), who had to be replaced in the second half by Doran, and Caycano Bastidas who was shadowed for most of the afternoon.

Both Should Be Ready for Action Against Arch-Rival Jersey City State (away, yesterday) and Saturday's 2 pm clash with CCNY at Montclair's Brookdale Park.

Mudders Win Another Meet

By John Tobiason

The weather was fine for sleeping but terrible for running. Nevertheless Montclair State's cross country team ran through the mud last Saturday to beat Glassboro State College, 26-29 at Garret Mountain. The team's record now stands at 4-1.

"It's a funny thing," said coach George Horn. "Every team, we've run against figures they've won until the final score comes out. They're so up to beat us." On this dark and rainy day, Glassboro thought so too. How they could have is a mystery, for when the runners burst into view on the home stretch, there was Tim O'Donohue with another first place (25:38) followed by Joe Kornakowski at 26:06, Joe Frankel at 27:29 and Roy Pityanger (27:33) followed by Joe Kornakowski at 26:06 for a one-two sweep. John Fisher took a fifth with 27:03.

"One should be ready for action against arch-rival Jersey City State (away, yesterday) and Saturday's 2 pm clash with CCNY at Montclair's Brookdale Park."

MONTCLAIRION/Thurs., October 5, 1972.
By David Banavage
Sports Writer
Montclair State's football team has been trying to beef up its schedule for the past couple of years but it's not going to be able to do it in the future if it keeps treating its newly-acquired opponents inhospitable. How else can you describe the Indians' home victory over C.W. Post last Saturday, 21-14. It was Montclair State's second win in three games.

The Indians will begin a two-game road trip, facing Cortland State College this Saturday at 1:30 pm, then traveling the following weekend to Central Connecticut State College.

IN REFERRING TO Cortland State, coach Clary Anderson said that they are a team that is very similar to MSC's. Other than that, Anderson did not venture any more opinions about his next opponent.

In referring to C. W. Post submitted the term by Anderson as "a team victory." He also stated, "The defense played exceptionally well, with such standouts as defensive tackle Doug Kulikowski, defensive end Robert Martin and left tackle Bob Korzik."

Anderson commented that "the offense wasn't great," but he was very much impressed with quarterback Gary Acker and running back Fred Caruso. C. W. Post opened the scoring in the first period on a 29-yard pass play from quarterback Brian McAuley to wide receiver Jim Cara, Tom McMenemy kicked the PAT.

On the following kickoff, Carly's boys used a little "razzle-dazzle" to put Montclair State on the scoreboard. Acker received the kickoff on the six yard-line, then lateraled cross-field to Bob Hermanni, who sailed down the sideline for a 94-yard kickoff return that put MSC on the scoreboard. Moses Lajterman failed to make the extra point, thus leaving the Indians trailing, 7-6, at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter showed no scoring. However, it seemed as if nobody wanted the ball, as the period was dominated by numerous fumbles and interceptions.

In the third quarter, MSC's circus act scored another TD as Hermanni took another lateral from Acker, then threw downfield to tight end Don Whiteman for a 22-yard scoring play.

QUARTERBACK GARY WASSEL threw to Whiteman for the two-point conversion, making the score, 14-7, Montclair. A few minutes later the Indians put another drive, highlighted by Caruso going over from the 4-yard line to give the Red Machine what proved to be their insurance touchdown. The successful PAT by Lajterman made the score 21-7.

On the following kickoff, MSC's "not-so-sparkling" special team gave up a 90-yard kickoff return to C. W. Post's Len Izzo. With McMenemy's successful extra point attempt, Post made the score 21-14.

IN THE FOURTH quarter, both teams put a long drives, but the defenses tightened up and allowed no more scoring. With two minutes remaining in the game, the Indians had the ball on the Post 10-yard line. At this point, the game suddenly erupted with fist-fights all over the field. Both coaching staffs were able to restrain their teams and keep the game from turning into a riot.

PASSING FANCY: Montclair quarterback Gary Acker releases a pass seconds before C.W. Post linemen. Bob Foster (88), Jeff Hit (65), Tom Quinn (74) and George Pelcher (70) go for the tackle. MSC upset the visiting Post squad, 21-14, last Saturday night.