PRIVATE COLLEGES GET AID FOR NJ STUDENTS

By John Piccinich
Staff Writer

In an effort to keep New Jersey college students within the state, the Board of Higher Education has adopted a program that financially compensates private New Jersey colleges for enrollment of New Jersey students.

The program, known as the “Program for Utilization of Resources,” private colleges will be compensated in proportion to their current enrollment of New Jersey students and increases in that enrollment.

Colleges are to be compensated $600 for each additional full-time New Jersey undergraduate enrolled over the total enrollment of New Jersey students in the previous year. For example, if a college had a total enrollment of 700 New Jersey students which increased to 800 New Jersey students the next year, the college would receive $600 for each of the additional 100 students.

Additionally, the colleges will be compensated for their full-time New Jersey undergraduates. The colleges will be allocated $175 for each freshman and sophomore and $225 for each junior and senior.

UNDER THE education grant, colleges are given $300 for each enrolled full-time undergraduate in the previous year. The student must be a recipient of state financial aid, however, he or she may not have received loans or awards by the college of $1000 or more.

Although the aid to independent colleges in the program is primarily financial, the board is also authorized to provide colleges with computers, library materials and any other sources which are available to public colleges, according to the announcement.

The program is being funded through monies appropriated by the state legislature, according to Mary Fairbanks, public information director of the Department of Higher Education.

Fairbanks stated that there was no relation between the aid program and the tuition rise in some colleges. The tuition was raised because of the amount of money the board and the colleges themselves felt was needed, she explained.

ALL INDEPENDENT colleges or universities of New Jersey with regional accreditation and 500 or more full-time undergraduates qualify to receive aid. The minimum enrollment requirement does not apply to a single-purpose professional school, however.

Theological and parochial schools do not qualify to receive aid under the program and colleges will not be compensated for students studying for the ministry or any other aspect of religious life.

Hopefully, the program will increase the number of classroom spaces available to state residents and lower the educational and operating costs per student, Fairbanks said.

The program is included in the “Manual of Administrative Procedures and Regulations for Aid to Independent Colleges,” which was adopted at a board meeting in Trenton on Sept. 15.

The program includes the provisions of an earlier, experimental plan for “contracts with independent colleges” which the board had adopted in 1971.
Robberies Plague Bohn

By Karen Arnheiter Staff Writer

"What happens and what is reported are two different things," said Keith Kaufmann, Safety and Security director. Kaufmann was referring to the rash of crimes committed in Bohn Hall since the beginning of the year.

Kaufmann stated that five "reported" robberies had taken place. Most of the time cash was stolen, but other items such as a driver's license, a checkbook and a clock radio were also found missing. Rooms were entered while the girls had left them unlocked. None of the doors were forced open.

Campus security feels that it is a group working the robberies in Bohn. "Usually there is a knock on the door, if there is no answer the thieves enter. If the door is answered a flimsy excuse is given for knocking," Kaufmann said that one girl was asleep when the thieves entered but they left before the girl could make an identification.

CASE in point is one girl who returned home at 2:15 am to find two thieves in her room. When confronted they ran and she was unable to identify them. Security men were called, according to students on the floor to chase a thief to a lower level. No identification had been made so no arrest could take place. The victim admitted that she had left the key in the door.

According to Kaufmann, "All personnel have been alerted." At a flash inspection last Friday, Kaufmann reported that he still found keys in the doors on the 15th floor.

"If you know of a thief, stop in the security shack and report it," said Kaufmann. The security people have a limited amount of eyes and ears, so the campus community should help, he said. If the students don't let the security department know, the criminals cannot be apprehended.

Kaufmann emphatically suggested that all dorm students lock their doors. Also, girls should not leave pocketbooks in open view.

Tenure Threatened

By Pat Merocorelli Staff Writer

A statement outlining the NJ Board of Higher Education's opposition to a high proportion of tenured faculty was released recently by Ralph Dungan, chancellor of higher education. The statement is designed to keep 40% of the faculty in fear of their jobs according to Robert Dorner and Marcoantonio Lacatena, co-presidents of the MSC Faculty and the American Federation of Teachers local.

"A non-tenured faculty member is a docile faculty member," Lacatena said. "If the state increases the number of non-tenured faculty then it increases the apathy or docility of the faculty. In other words, they won't talk back."

The resolution, which does not have the force of law, states that each individual Board of Trustees should formulate a 10 year plan to insure a "reasonable" level of tenured faculty. According to the statement, the board feels a high proportion of tenured faculty is detrimental to institutional flexibility. Therefore, the 10 year plan would be designed to keep the tenure level consistent. The statement's final acceptance is up to the individual Board of Trustees.

"The resolution states tenure should only be offered to teachers with a doctorate and who have consistently met a high level of efficiency. The statement concluded with the board's desire that each college should establish a procedure for evaluating tenured faculty performance not less than every five years.

"The resolution states tenure gives a fantastic amount of lip service to quality," Dorner commented that the MSC board assured him that they would form their own opinion of the document.

"But," Dorner added, "he gives a fantastic amount of lip service to quality." Dorner continued, "If he really wanted to improve the quality of education at Montclair, he should add $10000 to the salary ranges so the college can hire more experienced teachers." Dorner and Lacatena assert that a tenured faculty member is liable to dismissal for various reasons and the college has mechanisms for abolishing departments even if the faculty members have tenure.

As now established by state law, a teacher is given tenure when he or she is re-hired for a fourth year. Once a teacher is granted tenure, the state must furnish a set of reasons for his dismissal.

"To dismiss a tenured teacher, the college officers must present formal charges which can then be challenged in court."
THR Rejects Day Care Proposal

By Susan Pickels
Staff Writer

Montclair State President Thomas H. Richardson has rejected a proposal for day care facilities, citing a lack of space and money as the reasons for its rejection.

The proposal was presented in August by the Affirmative Action Committee on the Status of Women (AACSW) and its Day Care Facilities Subcommittee (DCFS). These groups, concerned with issues effecting women’s rights, feel that a day care center would, as stated in the proposal, “correct a situation which hinders or prevents women from pursuing a career or an education while being a parent.”

Richardson said that the proposal as defeated partially because it was to be located on campus. He explained that “the state would not allow campus space to be set aside for a day care center. It considers such a service to be peripheral, that is, not necessary to MSC’s central goal of education.”

“I do not want the day care center to be established off-campus,” stated center advocate Carol Teploff. She continued to say that a “major point in having the facilities on campus is to provide a place where parents and children can be together during the day.”

The nature of the center was also a disputed topic. The committees envisioned it to be not merely custodial in nature but also educational.

“The children would be in our care for many hours every week,” explained Huberta Alcaro, chairwoman of the DCFS. “Instead of merely babysitting for them, we wanted to put the time to good use and offer them a chance to learn.”

The center was intended to be run along the lines of a nursery school with a certified teacher present.

Richardson opposed this idea saying that “the goal in recent years has been to phase out anything on campus that is not directly concerned with education at the college level.” He pointed out that College High will be removed from campus as of next year and that “that state would not allow an educational day care center on campus.”

Another controversial area was the proposal that children be accepted on a first come, first served basis with each campus group-faculty, students and staff/administration-receiving 1/3 of the available space. A survey of the people who would use the facilities, taken by the committees, indicated that space for 48 children should be made available.

Based on these figures, only 15 children of students would have been accepted. “This is totally unrealistic,” Richardson said. “No matter what system we used, it would not be fair,” he continued. “There would be charges of discrimination by those who were rejected.”

Alcaro does not think that the idea of a day care center is dead but she feels that greater student support is needed for it. She recalls that the DCFS was composed mainly of faculty members, with only one student showing up for the meetings.

“We were not able to show that this was not merely a faculty idea,” Alcaro said. “The faculty feels that they have done all they could,” she continued. “Now, it is up to the students to work for the day care facilities if they want them.”

Alternative methods of establishing a center will be investigated. “Studies of the day care centers that have been set up at other state colleges could reveal possible sources of funding,” Teploff said. The church at the corner of Valley Rd. and Mt. Hebron has been suggested as an alternate location.

Anyone interested in working on the center can contact Huberta Alcaro in V-152.

Members of Alpha Sigma Mu, the veteran's fraternity on campus, are soliciting signatures for a veteran's benefits bill currently on the floor of the US Congress. The fraternity brothers are set up in the lobby of the Student Center and are collecting signatures all week.

The bill Alpha Sigma Mu is trying to influence concerns educational benefits. The Senate version, which is in committee, proposes an increase from $175 to $250 per month while the House bill, which has already been passed, provides for a $275 increase.

Robert Cominsky, fraternity president, remarked, "That is what the petitions are for, just to get them to act on the bill." The veterans have already sent approximately 2000 signatures to Congress.

While many students don't know about the bill at first, once the vets explain it, "most students are really anxious to sign it," Cominsky said.

Cominsky stated that he hopes the bill will be passed by Monday, Veteran's Day.
SRA to Push For Student Power

By Theresa Donnarumma

"Students have the power to influence decisions made by local, state and federal political and social groups," said Julie Vega, a member of Students for Reform and Action (SRA), a new organization on campus. "Our purpose," continued Vega, "is to make students aware of the existing conditions on and off-campus and to encourage the utilization of the power they have to change conditions."

According to the SRA statement of purpose the organization is "a leaderless, non-bureaucratic, non-partisan, open and democratic committee to investigate, cajole, publish information and physically protest if need be, to bring an end to the many intolerable conditions that exist today."

The most pressing issues concerning the SRA members is to make the students aware of the attempt of centralization in NJ's higher education system and of American involvement in Indochina.

Research is now being done by the SRA on the Board of Higher Education's centralization plan to leave Trenton as the sole organizing power of all state colleges. On the centralization issue the SRA program states, "We oppose the attempts of the Committee of Higher Education to reduce the free academic community at MSC and other state institutions to an automation producing factory. We have a right individually and collectively to determine our own educational goals. We plan to unite with active groups on other state and community college campuses to present a united statewide student front to prevent this oppressive institution of state control."

On Oct. 18 SRA took part in a campus forum to let MSC students know about the centralization issue. Reg Murphy, another member, said, "Indochina is one of our prime concerns. We have allied ourselves with the Indochina Peace campaign-a new organization."

SRA's new approach is to acquaint the people with the history and culture of the Vietnamese as well as an examination of the impact of the war on the daily life of the Vietnamese.

SRA has and will continue to sponsor speakers for MSC students. Antwier activist David Dellinger has already appeared on campus and on Oct. 20 at 2:00 pm in Life Hall cafeteria Dr. Benjamin Spock will talk to the students. The Socialist Labor Party will be on campus on Oct. 30.

Jerry Carver, a member of SRA, said, "All these speakers come for free. The only cost is security."

Carver adds, "Speakers like this have always been available, but the only organization on campus that sponsors speakers is so concerned with balance (in the political sense) that they don't get newsworthy people. We are an unchartered organization that can cut through bureaucratic nonsense and get the speaker we want."

In addition to speakers SRA will establish referral services such as food stamp information, free abortion referral, legal aid and draft counseling.

The SRA program asks the student to "unite for peace, freedom, justice and jobs."

NIGHT HOURS
MSC's student personnel offices, which include housing, counseling and other services for the campus community, will now be open during the evening according to Edward Martin, assistant director of students.

In addition to its current hours of 8:30 am to 5 pm, Monday through Friday, the personnel offices will be open from 6 to 8 pm, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings in College Hall 217.

On and off-campus housing offices in Life Hall will be open Monday through Thursday, 6 to 8 pm.

BUS STOP
Commuters from New York City will be able to take the #66 bus to the Montclair State campus, through an experiment of the DeCamp Bus Line.

Starting Mon., Oct. 16, the bus will begin its route leaving at 8:15 am, Monday through Friday. Leaving from NY Port Authority, the bus will turn up Normal Ave., stopping at the first campus entrance.

However, at least 15 rides are needed daily in order to make the program financially practical.

Let a phone share your room for only 2¢ a day.

And put an end to this.

For only $6.55 a month, plus a one-time $12.00 installation charge, you can have your own private phone. You'll be able to make and receive personal calls. Even reach other campus phones by dialing only four digits. All without going through a switchboard.

How is this possible? Because Montclair State installed Centex, the modern telephone service. So, look at it this way: if you and your roommate go halves, the cost is roughly 10¢ a day. Well worth it when you think about waiting in pay phone lines on those busy got-to-get-a-date-for-the-weekend nights.

Agreed? Just pick up an application at the Housing Office. And order a phone for your room.

The women of Dalphac and Delta will sponsor the 16th annual Greek Sing on Fri., Nov. 1, at 7 pm in Memorial Auditorium. Sororities, fraternities and other campus organizations are eligible to participate in the Sing, designed to eliminate apathy in a spirit of friendly competition and entertainment.

Chairwomen Penny Galos, Carol Roof and Eileen Weiner have devised the rules for the program. "All organizations must perform from eight to ten minutes and have no more than 23 or less that 10 participating," said Galos, a junior.

Each group will enter competition by presenting three songs which adhere to any central theme of the group's choice. All presentations must be a cappella (unaccompanied) chorus with at least a two-part harmony. "Attire shall be uniform and decided upon by each group," added Weiner. Hand gestures and body movements are allowed but fast dance steps are not, explained Galos.

Impartial judges will be selected both from the music and speech and theater departments. "Contestants will be judged on originality of theme, arrangement, appearance stage personality and overall effect," stated Weiner. No definite decisions have been made concerning the prizes, which will be awarded at the close of the program.

"Probably trophies will be awarded to first, second and third place winners," Weiner said. Eight sororities, three fraternities and three organizations have already entered the contest. Theme, list of selections and $5 entrance fee should be submitted no later than Oct. 27.

LAST YEAR the over-all trophy went to Alpha Sigma Mu, whose theme was "man's quest." Sigma Delta Phi followed with its theme of "season to remember."

Greek Sing was inaugurated at Montclair State in 1957 to provide the opportunity for competition, recognition and entertainment through the medium of song. "The affair was an aim to get the student body together," said Laura Latka of Dalphac.

Latka explained the format is unchanged with the exception that all campus organizations are now invited to participate. The women of Dalphac and Sigma Delta Phi traditionally open Greek Sing with their rendition of "It's a Grand Night for Singing."

With the largest county operated mental hospital in the country located in nearby Cedar Grove, college students in this area have a unique opportunity. Overbrook Hospital features a college companion program in which each student is assigned to a patient and visits him on a regular basis to help the patient establish and maintain social relationships which are so instrumental in the patient's recovery.

Organized with only 10 psychology students in 1964, 8 years of growth has seen the program expand in both number and background. In addition to psychology students, it now includes over 200 young men and women of all academic areas with one common bond—the desire to help others in times of emotional distress.

The coordinator of the program is Lillian Brunell, head of the psychology department.

Sororities Sponsor a Night of Song

"Is love real?" asked Jill Beerman. Even if it's not, the new "Love Class" certainly is. According to Beerman, the purpose of the course is "to make people aware of alternate ways of love that they haven't yet learned."

"You learn emotion. Therefore it is possible to unlearn and then relearn emotions to satisfy other needs," she added. The few students who regularly attend the unstructured course have happy with how the seminar is progressing.

One of the many topics the students hope to discuss is the adjustment to adulthood and the new relationships that face them.
The construction of the mall is nearing completion. It's beautiful landscaping and walkways are designed for the needs of the campus community—or is it?

Unfortunately the mall is not designed to accommodate the handicapped and those confined to the limited mobility of wheelchairs. True they are only a minority, but if one ever was disabled he or she would find navigating not only the mall but the entire campus quite difficult. Such things as doorway posts in Mallory Hall and the absence of ramps to the entrances of many buildings make classes an ordeal to attend and dangerous as well.

But there does seem to be someone listening. Jerry Quinn, MSC director of institutional planning has met with handicapped students. To get an even better perspective, Quinn plans to travel around in a wheelchair. Hopefully, Quinn's experiment will provide some first-hand understanding for this seemingly forgotten group. Afterall, they too have paid for their education.

Day Care Needed

It is regrettable that the initial proposal for a day care center has been rejected. The fight for a center has been raging for several years and it is undeniable that the center would provide a much needed service to those MSC students who have children.

MSC president Thomas H. Richardson criticized the plan as being not directly related to education responsibilities. But there does seem to be someone listening. Jerry Quinn, MSC director of institutional planning has met with handicapped students. To get an even better perspective, Quinn plans to travel around in a wheelchair. Hopefully, Quinn's experiment will provide some first-hand understanding for this seemingly forgotten group. Afterall, they too have paid for their education.

There has seldom been a group of people who need to be "liberated" as much as the men at Montclair State do. Or perhaps the problem is not confined to this campus and the men here simply manifesting a national problem. The phenomenon of oppression has traditionally been thought of as applying to only women and racial minorities. Within the past two years there has been, therefore, a great consciousness on the part of women and most minorities.

The Women's Center has been set aside in Life Hall to deal with the problem of female oppression. Representatives from this organization are being included more in campus life. The black students at MSC have created a Class 1 organization whose main purpose is to explore and explain the black person.

STRIDES
But while one could speak at great lengths of the strides taken by these "third-world" people, I believe that the one group which needs liberation the most is men. In our society men live an even more stereotyped, predetermined existence than women do. A woman's advocate would rage that society expects women to grow up, search for a husband, marry and live a dull, secure life as a wife and mother.

Admittedly it sounds grim, but what society expects of men is even worse. Men have equally stereotyped expectations (have some "kicks" then settle down, provide for a wife and children) with an added problem—they are expected to be campusburgers. It is expected of men, especially white men, that they always be the rulers, whether it is in a family situation or at a job. Any man who does not strive to oppress women or anyone who is at a disadvantage to him, is considered unmanly.

She can be an equal "bread-winner" for the family. But what man could choose to be the full-time "housekeeper" for his family and not be fearful of being condemned as being feminine? A woman can live in either world, the domestic as well as the outside, a man has no freedom of choice.

ASPECT
Oppression of males is not limited to that one aspect. There are many more examples that space limitations do not allow me to go into. But the most unusual thing is that few men even comprehend that there is a problem. They smuggly maintain that things are the way they are because that is how they want it. I just want to ask that men, and women too, consider the possibility. The conclusions are, I believe, amazing and almost frightening.

Liberate' The Men

Dash it, fellows, it would appear that sturdy Sam and ever-loving Angela are in for a pack of trouble from ne'er do well Bob Winsome and his band of troublemakers. High above the new Student Center there circled a strange-looking "aeroplane." It was a makeshift craft, but it appeared to fly better than many professionally built ones. Inside the odd ship was the hero of many an adventure, Sam Plain. Some of you may have met him earlier in this series, when he and his chums tried to solve "The Mystery of the Tuition Increase," and give that bully, Dogone, the thrashing he so well deserved.

But that is another story. Right now, the "aeroplane" was making a perfect three-point landing on the lawn of Montclair State, a picturesque institution of higher education located in upstate New Jersey. Whereupon, you may be sure, many an admiring glance was turned upward at the intrepid Plain.

Trouble
But even as he descended to meet his old friends, trouble was brewing in the basement of the Center. For there, "hanging around" in the billiard hall and, no doubt, smoking "cigarettes," lurked Bob Winsome and his despicable accomplice, Mumps Giltswoman. With them was their usual companion, William Ashill, whose folks were the rich and doting Presidents of the National Toothpase Company. Our hero, of course, had met with Winsome before and well knew the habits of the boy bully, who was several years older than his class-mates, having been "left back" several times. Winsome and his crony, hearing the cheers from above, threw down their "cue sticks" and rushed to the stairs, for they were sure that their old enemy had arrived.

A DIME
"They wouldn't cheer for anyone but that rat, Plain." Winsome was heard to say nastily. He left a "dime" on the counter as they went out.

"You always wanted to be SGA president, didn't you?" said Mumps Giltswoman. "You're a durn tootin,'" swore Winsome viliy.

"Wait a minute, boys," cried Ashill, stopping the others in their tracks, "I think I have a way to pay Plain back for the way he picks on us!"

And with that the three sneaks bent their heads together. What did they have planned?

McGovern Edges Nixon In Poll

If Montclair State is any indication, Senator George McGovern will fall short of receiving an overwhelming majority of the college vote. In a poll conducted by the MONTCLARION during the week of Oct. 9, McGovern holds a lead of only 2.5% over President Richard M. Nixon. Social science majors gave the South Dakotan much of his support while the GOP standard bearer's strength rests in the math/science area.

A trend developed along sex lines, as 45% of the males polled voted for McGovern, whereas 40% of the females did. The ladies man appears to be the ladies man as 15% of the cords favor his candidacy.

ISSUE
Perhaps one of the reasons for McGovern's capturing many male votes is the rating of the Vietnam war as the top campaign issue. The pole indicates that much of the organizing done by the campus McGovern forces has gone for naught. The close results are bad news for Democrats who were depending on a college sweep to bolster the youth vote. Without it, the youth vote will not figure in the election. Although 20% of those polled are undecided it does not mean McGovern can recover any sizable majority.

An interesting aspect was the parental support for each candidate. The support for Nixon is more than 2 to 1 over McGovern.

Three hundred students comprised the sample. They were polled randomly using statistical methods. Each school received a number of ballots based upon the number of students enrolled. Another survey is planned before the election.

Mike Lynch

Nominee Too Lofty

Last week I approached the kids manning the McGovern table in the Student Center and asked, "What is Senator George McGovern's plan for controlling inflation?" There were thirty seconds of dead silence. Finally one of the volunteers admitted, "I don't know. All I know is, he's a moral man and he'll control prices somehow."

McGovern's emphasis on lofty themes like morality enables him to avoid grubbly little subjects like money. When "Meet the Press" interviewers asked how he would obtain the necessary funds to finance his campaign, he asked how he would obtain the money to get started. As for the price of the poor, McGovern's answer was "affordable housing."

Let It Slide, Clyde--

To the Editor:

This is a response to Clyde King's article, 'Believe Me Something,' in the MONTCLARION, October 5, 1972. I would like to know, just what are "black needs?" Just how do they differ from everyone else's needs on this campus?

As for Mr. King's comments about the Student Center, I think Mr. King has a helluva nerve saying that black students weren't in mind when it was planned. Who holds title of the jobs at the Center, especially the gas station? The Center is open and all facilities are available to any student or support group, whether black or white or brown or what have you.

The music in the game room is almost entirely black. The game room is about the best facility I've seen as serving all the students and their needs. I hope the "black folks" aren't too upset that they have to pay to use the game room facilities. I have to pay and I'm white. If there's a line to wait for these facilities I have to wait just as long as "black folks". How much more equal can it get?

Equality is fine as long as one accepts the disadvantages as well as the advantages. As for King's article and false accusations, "We just have to let that slide."--Frank J. Tymoshki

Bill Biard statement that the Catholic Church is sexist and racist without defining those labels within the context of his own understanding is both presumptuous and specious.

Farther, Archbishop Humberto S. Medeiros, of Boston is of Portuguese extraction. Aux. Bishop Juan A. Arribae of Los Angeles is of Ecuadorian descent. Aux. A Campus Walk

Stirs Memories

By Kay Finlaw
Staff Writer

For those seniors who have been at MSC for their entire college career a walk around campus stimulates many memories and realizations of change.

Walking down the hall in Freeman and seeing guys names on the doors reminds one of the days when Freeman Hall was strictly female, complete with 11 o'clock curfews, sign-in procedures, and no visitation policy. A visit to your professor's office in the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences could mean a visit to your old dorm room in Russ Hall. Somehow it doesn't seem like the place you use to call home, though.

All that cement at one end of College Hall and the protruding pipes with steam coming from somewhere are the only remnants of TUB. You can't help thinking how permanently temporary that building was. A walk through Life Hall just isn't as interesting as it use to be. Where are all the people? And what happened to all the memories and realizations of change.

The field where your gym class use to play softball has become the Math-Science Building. Few people ask about the Recreation Lodge because they can't even see it any more unless they are standing ten feet away.

You pass the construction of the mall and can't imagine anything except all the cars that used to park there. And all wish you had a dollar for every time you had to wade through that mess? Where are all the people? And what happened to all the memories and realizations of change.

'Hurry Harry' Dies
Survived By Cast

By Hal Plain

Actors have a difficult time finding work in today's job market. This must be the reason why "Hurry Harry" still had a cast when it opened for its market. This must be the reason actors apologizing as they that the audience could feel the painfully written and directed walked through their pieces.

"Hurry Harry," at the Ritz Theatre, is directed by Jeremiah Morris and written by Morris, Lee Kalcheim and Susan Perkins. Actually, "written" and "directed" don't really apply to this show. It seems to have just happened, like a terrible accident.

The set, by Fred Voelpel, was an enormous, multi-leveled lump of wide-wale corduroy covered something or other. With swinging and revolving doors and a drawerbed, the set looked as ridiculous as it sounds and did absolutely nothing for the show at all.

The lighting by Martin Aronstein was also quite unremarkable. Not only was there no imagination but there no light during periods of important action.

As for costume, there was none. The actors simply seemed to have walked in off the streets in what they had on that afternoon. In the one production number, it appeared that designer Sara Brook was in an extreme hurry, on the afternoon she designed them.

GERALD TEIJELO'S choreography looked like a passable high school production. The cast did not appear well rehearsed as they stumbled through the dances. But then nothing could have helped the staging.

The music and lyrics by Bill Weeden and David Finkle were terribly typical, indistinguishable from any other second-rate rock show. As if that weren't enough, the music was performed poorly, sounding muddy and wilted.

The storyline of a young man who has everything and then decides that he doesn't want it has been trite for over 20 years. It is on this excuse that the author's inflict some really painful review-type material as the boy wanders through the real "me." Despite everything, the cast tried to do the best it could with this poor material. Out of pity for their reputations, the names of the cast won't be revealed. They just couldn't help themselves.

Hopefully the show will be survived by the cast.

Scott Livens LAPD

"We are the new centurions, holding the line against the barbarians." Such are the words of Andy Kilvinski, a hard-nosed, uncorrupt, misunderstood, somewhat philosophical cop on the Los Angeles police force. Such is the theme and mood of "The New Centurions."

The film has excellent acting, revealing insights into the nature of law and order and a few exciting scenes. However, its direction under Richard Fleischer is erratic as one scene incoherently slips into another. The Sterling Silliphant script is in keeping with the direction, consists of little more than typical glib action and "sudden shocks, all of which lack dramatic intensity.

George C. Scott plays the role of Andy Kilvinski, the old pro cop who breaks in the rookie, Roy Fayler, played by the new and highly talented Stacey Keach. It is Kilvinski's example and philosophy that cause the young rookie to fall in love with the action, danger and challenges of the streets.

Scott proves again that he is one of the best in his portrayal of Kilvinski. His moods range from the tough cop to a knowledgeable, philosophical law enforcer and finally to a lonely and desperate man dedicated to his work.

The film is dedicated to his work. Unfortunately he is subject to the easy gaps and cheap thrills of Fleischer and Silliphant. In one scene, which borders on the ridiculous, he hangs on the door of a speeding car and is dragged endlessly, over picket fences, bushes, roadblocks and other obstacles.

"The New Centurions" is one movie that characterizes the side of a police officer's life that demands sympathy and respect—a theme which has not been too common lately. It is a movie that demands attention to the down to earth ugliness of his job and the desolation of his life of dedication.

While lacking a coherent narrative, this new Fleischer presentation still comes off—thanks to Scott and Keach—as a sufficient and perceptive film.

Montclair State took the team championship last Saturday in the Montclair-Upsala Fall Tennis Tournament for the second time in as many years, 13-10, over Upsala. Tom Krukel was the only MSC player to get to the semifinals where he was defeated by the tournament runner-up Steve Americo of Fairleigh Dickinson University, 6-1, 6-2. Tom King of Upsala topped Americo, 6-2, 6-2, for the individual title.

MSC took the doubles competition as John Donleycott and Dennis Insel defeated Newark College of Engineering foes Chuck Kirby and Don LaFonte, 6-4, 6-2, 7-6.

MSC's Hobie List and Kim Marchese got past the second round of individual competition only to fall in the quarterfinals to Americo and Neil Friedman of Trenton, respectively.

Other teams participating were Trenton State (seven points), FDU (four points), NCE (three points), St. Peter's (two points) and Jersey City State (one point).

In last year's tournament, MSC triumphed over Upsala, 17-16, in the team competition.

New Coach Named

Brian A. Hill will succeed Jack Gryzmko as junior varsity basketball coach for the 1972-73 season.

Hill, a 1969 Graduate of John F. Kennedy College in Wahoo, Neb., comes to MSC after two years as assistant basketball coach at Clifford J. Scott High School in East Orange.

Walker, Thompson Give 1-2 Punch

In Montclair State’s first football game against Kutztown State, Franklin Walker stretched some muscles in his right leg. Last Saturday, in MSC’s fifth game against Central Connecticut State, Walker showed he was back in the groove as he scored the Indians’ second touchdown and rushed for 63 yards.

“It bothered me when I ran,” Walker commented. “You try to forget it, but it inhibits your movement,” he added.

Fellow running back and teammate Al Thompson, however, has remained nearly injury-free this year. “Injuries are mostly luck and I guess I’ve been lucky,” he said.

Most times the two stickmen find themselves blocking for each other. The offensive line usually carries the blocking load, but according to Walker and Thompson the inexperience of this line has caused the slow start of the Indians’ running attack.

“They’re inexperienced in working together,” remarked Walker, with emphasis on the last word.

“The men (up front) get used to where you hit the hole,” said Thompson, explaining the importance of knowing what a teammate will do before he does it. “But it’s tough on the linemen, too;” he sympathized, “especially the younger ones.”

Nevertheless, Walker is the team’s second leading rusher with 166 yards with Thompson right behind with 123 yards.

Two of “the more unusual occurrences of the Indian’s season came during the East Stroudsburg game two weeks ago. The first was a ”flipping” kick-off return which saw quarterback Gary Acker take the kick and pull the defense towards him before interalling to Bob Hermanni who scampered down the field with the score.

“THE FUNNY PART about the play,” explained Walker, “was that Acker and Hermanni were the only ones who knew we were going to do it then.” If the blockers had known the play, they would have shifted to Hermanni’s side of the field and the lateral would not have been as successful, the junior physical education major rationalized.

The other oddity occurred in the fourth quarter of the same game and directly involved Thompson. “I was carry the ball and slipped;” he recalled. “They dived on me and when I looked up, everyone was fighting,” said Thompson.

“IT’S MAINLY TO build skills and teach the fundamentals to all new members, as well as help the present team keep in shape,” he explained. “We’ll be ready for the season if we work together all the way through.”

Jim Cresbaugh, a ‘72 MSC graduate who played lacrosse last spring, will be assisting at the practices and aiding coach Al Jackson during the ‘73 season.

The Indians have gained a slot in the Knickerbocker Lacrosse League, Davies continued, and will play a number of Long Island teams.

“We’re unsure of our exact schedule as of now,” he added, “but we hope to have more home games this year, if we have Brookdale Park as a playing and practice field.”

The new varsity status of the stickmen will guarantee more equipment, Davies said, stressing the fact that “almost everyone who comes out will make the team.”

Stickmen Begin Warm-Ups

Fall means football for players, coaches, cheerleaders and fans, but for the MSC lacrosse team, Fall also signals the start of conditioning for the lacrosse team, Fall also signals the start of conditioning for the coming spring season.

According to team co-captain Bill Davies, the stickmen will be working out daily in and around Panzer Gym for the next three weeks.

Lacrosse is one sport where no experience is necessary,” he smiled. “We welcome the kids who’ve never played before—we’ll teach them everything.”

DAVIES ADDED THAT he and co-captain Houston Webber are planning to hold clinics to explain the sport to students.

“With at least eight men returning, and eight promising rookies, we should have a really good season,” he said optimistically. “And we want everyone to understand what it’s all about.”

BOOTERS TO OPEN FOUR-GAME STAND

By Joan Miketzuk

Montclair State's soccer team suffered its first loss of the season last Saturday at New York University, 4-1. Joe Cozza tallied his second goal of the season for MSC's only score assisted by Nick Mykulak.

Following yesterday's game at Newark State, the Indians will open a four-game home stand Saturday with the first contest at 11 am against Queens College. The game site then switches to Pittser Field to Sprague Field on Wednesday when MSC takes on Fairleigh Dickinson University under the lights at 8 pm. Stoney Brook and Trenton State complete the home stand.

The game against Queens was MSC's only score of the season for state complete the home stand.

THE NYU CONTEST was scoreless at the half; but the Indians took a quick 1-0 lead at the beginning of the second stanza on Cozza's goal.

Following what coach Bob Wolfarth termed "a questionable call" against the MSC defense, the dikes burst open and NYU scored twice to take the lead. However, the defense of fullbacks John Tkaczuk and Mykulak and goalkeepers Reach and Chuck Doran have kept the goals-against average down to 1.0 per game.

Despite their winning record, MSC has yet to oppose a team state and William Paterson and tying Jersey City State.

MSC's record now stands at 3-1-1 overall and 2-0-1 in the New Jersey State College Athletic Conference.

EIGHT OF THE Indians' last nine games will be against teams of the Metropolitan Collegiate Soccer Conference (Division I). MSC has yet to oppose a team from this conference, its only slated contest thus far being rescheduled (City College of New York, Mon. Nov. 13, 3 pm at Brookdale Park).

Indians Make Devils Blue, 28-23

By Joe Castronovo

NEW BRITAIN, CONN.—Saturday’s hard-earned, Connecticut State couldn’t have come at a better time for the Indians. The game marked the sorely needed, especially after Paterson College 8 pm this Saturday at Sprague Field. The effect of the victory showed the Indians Make Devils Blue, 28-23. All of the remaining contests are either EFC or New Jersey State College Conference battles. Montclair State’s Eastern Football Conference opening of Montclair State’s Conference battles.

MSC faces its first NJSCAC adversary against William Paterson College 8 pm this Saturday at Sprague Field. THE WIN OVER CCSC was sorely needed, especially after the heart-breaking defeat the Indians suffered at the hands of Cortland State the week before. The effect of the victory showed on the beaming fact of coach Clary Anderson.

“I was very impressed with the game,” he commented. “CCSC is a great team with an explosive offense. They picked up 562 yards against Bridgeport last week. Beating a team that good has to be a big win.”

Strangely enough, CCSC lost the Bridgeport game, 25-18. They also outgained the Indians in total offense, 346 yards to 223, but were again defeated. The reason being two costly turnovers by the Blue Devils, both of which the Indians capitalized on.

THE FIRST ONE came during the closing minutes of the second quarter with CCSC leading, 10-7. On second down and nine at the C-16 yard line, Blue Devil fullback Bill Tinlin fumbled, and MSC safety Rich Tate recovered it there, giving his team a first down and excellent field position. Taking advantage of the situation, halfback Franklin Walker proceeded to put the Indians in front by carrying the ball five consecutive times, the last being a one-yard run off left guard into the endzone. Kicker Moses Lajterman completed the PAT, making the score, 14-10, in MSC’s advantage.

The second blunder occurred at the tail-end of the third quarter with 1:31 to go and the score in CCSC’s favor, 17-14. Again on second and nine, but this time with the ball on the Connecticut’s 38-yard line, Blue Devil quarterback Dennis Schermerhorn, under the pressure of MSC left end Sylvester Burroughs, threw right into the open arms of MSC cornerback Frank Bender. Bender grabbed the ball at his own 48-yard line, and ran 56 yards for the TD. Lajterman kicked the extra-point, putting the Indians ahead, for good, 21-17.

MSC’s last touchdown of the day was the end result of a 28-yard drive which originated when CCSC punter Steve Robinson, under great pressure from the aggressive MSC defenders, booted one only six yards. The Indians took over at the CCSC 28-yard line and in another four plays had six more points on the board. This time it was fullback Frank Ripley who bulled his way into the CCSC end zone with a seven-yard run up the middle. Lajterman came out once more and did his thing quite well, making the score, 28-17, MSC on top.

THE TD CAME with 14:23 left in the game, ample time for a team like CCSC to grab two more touchdowns. But somehow, they just couldn’t do it. They did manage to push one more across however, marching 79 yards in eight plays which culminated in a two-yard touchdown run by halfback Jim Lally. Schermerhorn’s attempted run for the two-point conversion failed and with 6:57 left in the game, the score read, 28-23, in favor of MSC, which is how the contest ended.

“IT WAS A TEAM EFFORT,” Anderson stated after the game. “Acker (Gary) handled the ball very well, Whitman (Don), who accounted for MSC’s first TD with a 13 yard pass reception, punt-ed excellently and Bender and Tate’s great defensive play was also a major factor in the win.”

Bender had two interceptions on the day and Tate accounted for 20 tackles, 18 of them unassisted, as well as recovering the fumble that led to a touchdown. Anderson summed up his jubilant feelings when he concluded.

“I MISSED A class reunion at Colgate, my old alma mater today, for this game, but I must say, it was well worth it. I’m really deeply satisfied.”

Anderson didn’t look so satisfied at the start of the game when CCSC jumped out to a quick 10-0 lead via a five-yard TD pass from Schermerhorn to Bob Hayes and a 27-yard field goal by Bob Chalmers. The touchdown came after the Blue Devils had charged 98 yards in 13 plays. After Chalmers had booted the extra point, MSC aficionados were overcome with "It looks-like-another-one—of-them-days" blues.

Following Chalmers’ three-pointer with 2:08 remaining in the first quarter, it seemed as though everyone had given up hope at any chance for the Indians to win. Everyone, that is, except the Indians.

IT SHOULD BE noted here that Clary’s boys were five point underdogs going into the game. It should also be remembered that the Big Red Machine wasn’t given much of a chance against Colgate, C.W. Post either. They won that battle 21-14.

No doubt being labelled underdog induced the Indians’ need to win all the more, as a method of proving the odds-makers wrong.
