DROP-IN CENTER FIGHTS FOR SPACE

By Tom Bein
Staff Writer

In an apparent attempt to dramatize its inability to agree on a suitable location, the staff of the proposed Drop-In Center erected a tent near the Recreation Lodge this morning.

Mike King, public relations director for the SGA and director of the Drop-In Center, stated that the tent would be used today and tomorrow in an attempt to draw attention to the Center's plight. A decision will remain up next week, King said.

"We were told that because the Drop-In Center is a student activity, it would have to be in the Student Center," King said. "All we really need is a place where we can do our work. I have no objection to moving if a place can be found that meets our requirements."

The administration feels that it would be impractical to move the dean out of that location and has offered the Drop-In Center several alternatives, all of which have been turned down. Dean Mintz stated, "All we can do our work. I have no objection to moving if a place can be found that meets our requirements."

King said, "The Drop-In Center is an SGA-sponsored activity that provides a place for students to bring their personal problems. It will be staffed by students."

The controversy revolves around the Drop-In Center staff's intense desire to locate the facility in the Recreation Lodge, which is currently being used as the office for Dr. Donald Mintz, dean of the School of Fine and Performing Arts. The staff of the Drop-In Center were rejected as alternatives and rejected by the administration because the Drop-In Center is a student activity, it would have to be in the Student Center. That means that either the Student Center would have to be open 24 hours a day or the Drop-In Center would have to change its concept somewhat.

"We are very reluctant to take classrooms because that means that we'll have to admit fewer students when there are already thousands waiting to get in here. I realize that this whole project is very worthwhile, but who are they to say that they are more important than the students?" Jerome Quinn, director of institutional planning for the college and a non-voting member of the Space Allocations Committee, said, "It's apparent that the Drop-In Center is a student function and space for it should and could be found in the Student Center."

Asked if it would be feasible to keep the Student Center open on a 24 hour a day basis, he replied, "Yes, I think so."

The college is reluctant to make the Rec Lodge available to the Drop-In Center because it would involve moving Dean Mintz. In order to move him, though, it would entail tying up a classroom to make room for him.

"SPACE IS TIGHT," Quinn said. "We're very reluctant to take classrooms because that means that we'll have to admit fewer students when there are already thousands waiting to get in here. I realize that this whole project is very worthwhile, but who are they to say that they are more important than the students?"

The staff of the Drop-In Center, in addition to pitching their tent to serve as a temporary location, will circulate fliers and seek to arouse the interest of the student body in their cause. King would not comment on the group's next step if his current plans failed to produce the desired results.

The SGA prepared a report for the college Space Allocations Committee and submitted their request for the Recreation Lodge in December. The committee rejected their request at their December 18th meeting. In a memorandum to Sam Crane, SGA president, and Michael Loewenthal, director of the Student Center, Richard Davis, the recorder for the Space Allocations Committee, stated, "Realizing that space within this building (the Student Center) may be at a premium, the committee has decided to make available space in Life Hall, to be used by some activity which may be transferred from the Student Center. The space in Life Hall is the 400-square foot fourth floor hall of the snack bar. To date, no one has been found who would be interested in using the Student Center to Life Hall, Jerome Quinn, director of institutional planning for the college and a non-voting member of the Space Allocations Committee, said, "It's apparent that the Drop-In Center is a student function and space for it should and could be found in the Student Center."

ASSOCIATION has announced the scholarships for next year's juniors and seniors. Structured criteria will not be used to evaluate the applications, according to Diane Carlson, chairman of the Alumni Scholarship Committee.

"However, stress will be placed on the financial need of the student," Carlson said. "The board expects it to be used for tuition and other educational expenses, Carlson stated. The board also hopes to increase both the number and the size of the grants by next year.

The award will be made in early April. Although the Association's board did not specify the amount that winners must spend the money, the board expects it to be used for tuition and other educational expenses. Carlson stated.

S pra uge has been awarded a FEDERAL GRANT of $50,539, $20,000 of which has been designated for the expansion of holding in the area of service to the disadvantaged. MSC was one of 527 colleges and universities covered in the $10 million higher education grant.

Jack Sampson and Mike Moltane are two typical MSC students. They go to class and even work partime as many other students do. However, the fact that this work simply involves standing around and sometimes wearing expensive clothes for at least $50 an hour puts them in an enviable position. Sampson and Moltane are male models.

About five months ago Sampson, a junior from East Brunswick and Moltane, a sophomore from West Orange were asked by Lewis Mollane if they would like to go into modeling. Mollane is the owner of the Lew-Mont Agency.

"I'm always willing to try just about anything. The money was good and I thought it might lead to something," Sampson said looking up momentarily from his copy of Playboy.

THE ROOM became quieter as a hair dryer was turned off. Moltane entered wearing an outfit that suggested he had more than a night of homework planned.

The two men rent rooms from Mollane and are also under contract to him.

"The contract is a loose one. The boys can choose when and where they want to work. They are not obligated to take any job that they don't want to," Montesano explained.

Moltane laughed at this and mentioned that he and Sampson had recently turned down a job of nude modeling for a college art class.

"It wasn't the idea of being naked that bothered us, it's just that the money was not good enough," Moltane explained.

"Our 'families' were not too keen on the idea anyway," Sampson added with a grin.

Sampson and Moltane both work out regularly. Sampson's specialty is gymnastics at which he sometimes works as long as three hours a day. Moltane likes running and exercising.

"I do it because I love to work out," Sampson said while balancing himself on his hands. "I've recently started studying karate to increase my speed and flexibility," he added.

Moltane tries to run about two miles each day but not simply for the love of exercise. His future mother-in-law is Italian and this spurs unemployment when coupled with his love for lasagna.

Students Boycott For Migrant Workers

Bob Covmiar isn’t your usual aerospace engineer. Instead, Covmiar is a member of the United Farm Workers (UFW) which is affiliated with the AFL/CIO. He doesn’t design SSTs, drive a Cadillac or collect a $40,000+ salary. Instead, Covmiar is a member of the UFW, a New Jersey-based union that has been fighting to improve the conditions of migrant farm workers nationwide.

Covmiar is spearheading the local boycott effort against iceberg lettuce. The California growers of the vegetable have failed to recognize the UFW as the legal bargaining agent for the lettuce pickers—thus necessitating the boycott.

In a campus lecture at Russ Hall, Covmiar—who is of French/Canadian extraction—described some of the conditions migrants must endure. “At one migrant farm in Decatur, Ind., the workers had the choice of using either a maggot-infested toilet or revolving themselves in the fields,” he claimed.

According to the mustached speaker, the average yearly income migrants earn is $2,020. Also over 75% of the workers are Mexican. Covmiar went on to state that the average education a migrant farm worker child receives is nine years.

The responsible parties for these seemingly deplorable conditions are the agribusiness complex and the Farm Bureau, commented Covmiar. This complex is made up of large corporations and conglomerates that branch out into agriculture for the tax benefits. As for the government’s Farm Bureau, Covmiar charged it with being responsive only to the farm interests.

In the future, the UFW seeks to put migrant workers on the same plane with their industrial counterparts, subject to minimum wage and social security acts.

Covmiar returned to the lettuce boycott and said one of its primary reasons was the failure of the lettuce growers to recognize the UFW. “They chose to work with the Teamsters Union representing the Protestant Foundation on campus.”

KAIGHN said that the UFW wanted the movement against iceberg lettuce because of all the types of lettuce, iceberg is the biggest moneymaker. A boycott of iceberg lettuce, therefore, would most affect the large farm owners who are held responsible for the poor conditions in which migrant farm workers live.

In a land of prosperity, it isn’t fair that the people who pick the food should receive so little of it themselves—this was the reason given by Ruell Kaighn for the boycott against non-union iceberg lettuce. Kaighn is a Protestant minister representing the Protestant Foundation on campus.

KAIGHN is a member of a group of students and faculty working on the boycott. He explained that the movement is aimed against iceberg lettuce because of all the types of lettuce, iceberg is the biggest moneymaker. A boycott of iceberg lettuce, therefore, would most affect the large farm owners who are held responsible for the poor conditions in which migrant farm workers live.

The original plan was to boycott all types of lettuce but Kaighn said that lettuce is too widely used to be boycotted entirely. The plan was therefore changed to ask that lettuce other than the popular iceberg be used.

Michael Locicero, a senior history major, brought the movement to campus. Locicero became aware of the situation last July at the Democratic National where he came in contact with representatives from United Farm Workers.

The group achieved their first success when Harold Ostroff, director of the Student Center food service, agreed not to serve non-union iceberg lettuce. Locicero said that they are now trying to get Saga food service, the dorm caterer, to join the boycott.

KAIGHN said that the boycott—organized by the student members conducting the picketing of A&P stores in Paterson—has been successful on other college campuses. The food service chain is viewed as a major offender of the migrant worker’s cause. The MSC protesters have tried repeatedly to contact A&P officials who, according to Kaighn, refuse to see them.

Students interested in joining the boycott or helping to organize it are asked to contact the Chaplain’s office on the fourth floor in the Student Center.

Tax Woes? Help’s Coming

Relief is on the way for students struggling with the annual mental gymnastics of federal income tax forms. Starting on Feb. 14, members of the Accounting Club will dispense free tax advice to anyone who needs help with his return. The tax service, a campus first, will be available every Wednesday and Friday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. until April 15, the deadline for filing tax returns. The club will operate its tax service out of the old SGA office on the second floor of Life Hall.

Senior accounting major Marcia Solomon emphasized that club members can not fill out income tax forms; they can only advise. The 10-15 accounting students involved have all taken tax courses, but, Solomon explained, they are just students, not CPAs. However, she pointed out, the members’ course work does make them more knowledgeable than the average college student. Additionally, club members will check with the Internal Revenue Service on questions they cannot answer. They will then channel the information back to the student involved.

Solomon, who works for the Internal Revenue Service herself, described the club’s project as a “good service to the school.” She commented that the service, while new to Montclair State, has been very successful on other college campuses. The program will also yield practical benefits for its participants, she added, describing it as “a good way to use what they (the accounting students) have learned.”

Bus Re-routed

The SGA shuttle bus has been re-routed in anticipation of mall construction on campus. Starting today, the two buses will travel a route along the outskirts of the campus. Previously, they had made stops within the main campus grounds. However, Tom Barrett of the Commuter Commission explained that the construction of a mall stretching from College Hall to the Math/Science building will begin in June. That area will then be permanently closed to regular vehicular traffic, including the shuttle bus. By changing the route now, Barrett explained, the commission hopes to prepare the commuters for the changeover.

The buses will make eight regular stops, which will be marked by bus stop signs. The orange vans have also been lettered to make them easily identifiable as SGA shuttle buses.

Barrett hopes to obtain shelters for the stops, especially for the stop in the quarry parking lot. Barrett will discuss that possibility with facilities director Jerome Quinn next week.

MORE STOPS CAN be added to the new bus route if necessary, Barrett stated. The commission keeps close tabs on the number of students who use the bus and will evaluate these figures, he explained.

Mixed Reactions
To Draft's End

By James D. Hile

"I think it was a good thing that the draft ended, although I wasn't affected personally," said Bill Muirant, a junior geography major. Such were the kinds of comments which greeted the announcement by Melvin Laird, US secretary of defense, that the draft would end immediately as of Jan. 27, 1973.

For the record, that date would not be inducted all men not officially sworn in by five months.

"I don't want to see our armed forces become mere militia," he commented. "Yet, Barrett did see some good in the government's move. "It will end the hostility that has arisen between the government and students," he said.

Anthony Pallamolfo, another veteran who believes young men can now pursue their education. Pallamolfo, a business administration major, said he enlisted in the Air Force before he could be drafted.

One student seems to have some reservations to the draft ending. Tom Barrett, an administrative science major, hopes the change to an all volunteer force won't lead to a deterioration in service. "I don't believe it will," he said.

Richard Musanti, a junior geography major and Army veteran thinks a volunteer force won't lead to a better armed force will result from the volunteer concept. "It will provide a more professional and highly motivated force," he said. As far as the draft goes Eide believes it was unconstitutional anyway and its termination was a step in the right direction.

Women's Life may claim domain for beauty contests and pageantry on college campuses may continue to grow, but a College Life Union Board committee, headed by senior music major Beverly Vanderhoof, is determined to sponsor a "Scholarship Pageant" to select this year's Miss Montclair State College.

Unlike previous Miss MSC pageants, this year's event will be an "entertainment" program based on the "Miss America" pageant. According to Vanderhoof, 10 cast members will perform song and dance numbers between the swim suit, gown and talent competitions. The show entitled "Celebration," will be preceded by seniors Leony Noten and Tom Reaves. It is scheduled for April 6 at 8 pm in Memorial Auditorium.

"We would really like to see a lot of girls get interested," the spirited Vanderhoof claimed. "We're not asking for too much. We just want to keep the pageant going. It's not just a beauty contest," she continued. "The winner will be representing Montclair State throughout New Jersey. She will also be Homecoming Queen and preside at various college functions."

As last year's Miss MSC pageant winner, Vanderhoof acknowledged a personal interest in the program. "I've been a part of the pageant and just do not want to see it die," she stated. "I'm aware of the apathy and can understand it, too, but we are going to do what we believe in and hope others will support us. A girl from Montclair State should be recognized at the state pageant along with girls from other state colleges."

Applications for the show are available today, Feb. 8, in the Student Center until March 1. All interested applicants will leave their name and phone number in the CLUB office until contacted. "By March 15 we would like to get all the girls together and talk to each entry individually to maintain her interest in the pageant," Vanderhoof stated. "If the response is good, we may have to have a screening to select the 10 finalists. Then, again, if we don't receive enough applications we will extend the deadline date," she conceded.

Among the benefits the winner and her four runners-up can enjoy are the scholarship and trophy for Miss MSC as well as the promise of past appearances and trophies and savings bonds for the runners-up. "Savings bonds have never been given before to runners-up," Vanderhoof noted, "so we would like to initiate that this year."

The winner is also eligible for the $5,000 Miss New Jersey State Pageant scholarship and the $10,000 Miss America scholarship. "We are still soliciting money for our scholarship from benefactors and sponsors," the former winner revealed. "We haven't arrived at any set amount yet, but we're hoping for as much as we can get."

The Miss MSC pageant was initiated in 1963 by Phi Lambda Pi fraternity, which sponsored the event annually until last year. Because of the "pressure and expense of the program, the pageant was conducted by the Student Activities Office in 1972. "If this year's show is a success, CLUB would like to continue it," Vanderhoof stated. "It takes an organization like CLUB to build up the prestige for Miss MSC."

The MSC pageant judge, including Miss New Jersey 1970, Hela Yungst, will also judge the Miss New Jersey pageant this year. Miss New Jersey will be appearing as well as contestants from past Miss New Jersey pageants and those vying for this year's title. After the show, a reception for the winner and runners-up will be held in the Commuter's Lounge adjoining Memorial Auditorium.

No-Fault Gets Green Light

By Mike Lynch
Staff Writer

Three years ago, in January 1970, I had the misfortune to be attending Seton Hall University as a freshman. We didn't have any “innovative” period then, so we returned to begin the spring semester right after Christmas vacation. In those days I wrote an occasional column for the campus undergraduate newspaper, the Setonian, which resembled the MONTCLARION somewhat. The Setonian used to fight tuition increases, too. Of course at Seton Hall that meant holding things down to $40 per credit.

In any event, I walked into the Setonian offices, full of energy following the Yuletide break, ready for the new year. I approached the desk occupied by the features editor, one of those real bitchy Madison Avenue career-girl types who thought she was Katherine Hepburn or something.

SUDDENLY I noticed she was wearing a green button with some kind of Greek letter stamped on it. I asked her if she'd thrown away her old monogram button. "Thrown away? Bite your tongue! They're recycled so that the metal can be re-used to protect rather than harm the environment." I forget exactly what they did with the metal. Somebody told me they forged it into automobiles, smashed them up and sent the wreckage down to the shore to build up the dunes. It sounds odd, but you know for years they've been using wrecked cars to build up the dunes.

MY BITCHY features editor explained that 1970 would be the year of the environment, and that a series of teach-ins would be held concerning this vital subject come April. She assigned me to “kick off” the Setonian’s campaign with an ecology column. It was filled with sentences like, “Time is running out but it’s not too late,” and “Action must be taken now.” Well, at least I didn't quote any of those doomsday incantations. Remember that stuff? “If the present rate of atmospheric pollution in the Boston-Washington industrial corridor continues, the price of oxygen will rise to seven dollars per cubic ounce by the year 1974.”

How quaint it all seems now. My only regret is that I didn't make any cash out of it, like that professor in the commercial about the beach touting the benefits of his new phosphate-free detergent “Ecolo-G.” Did the Federal Trade Commission ever catch that guy?

Letters to the editor should be sent to the MONTCLARION office, fourth floor, Student Center and must be received by 4 pm, Friday for publication in the following Thursday issue. Ins-and-Outs of the NJ ‘No-Fault’ Law

By Susan Kelly

Auto accidents will no longer be covered by the MSC Student Insurance Plan...

No accompanying decrease in rates is foreseen in the near future.

Department of Transportation found that the "tort" system did not afford maximum protection. The survey revealed a tendency for small losses to be overpaid and large losses to be underpaid. The department also found fault with the settlement delays and the legal costs.

John Volpe, US Secretary of Transportation, stated that the existing system of auto insurance will serve the accident victim, the insurance company, and the general public.

The law requires that all drivers carry "no-fault" insurance under penalty of law. The insurance covers the insured person and resident relatives who are injured in any accident involving a private passenger car. The policy also covers those people occupying the insured person's car or using it with the permission of the time of the accident.

The mandatory benefits are unlimited as to any dollar amount as well as to the length of time in which expenses may be incurred. They include:
- Payment of medical, surgical, X-ray and other diagnostic treatment, dental, rehabilitative, prosthetic, orthopedic, or physical therapy.
- Medication, hospital, nursing treatment as well as necessary expenses resulting from treatment performed by a physician, dentist, chiropractor or religious healer.
- Funeral expenses ($100 limit per individual).

The "no-fault" law does not grant accident victims the right to sue for damages, which he most definitely has under the "tort" system. The "no-fault" plan is a "general" damages, covering such damages as sprains, cuts, bruises confined to the soft tissue of the body and minor cuts, bruises confined to the soft tissue of the body. The law also eliminates the tort exemption.

The law increases financial responsibility to $15,000 for bodily injury liability, $30,000 for accident and property damage liability limit of at least $5000 per accident. The car owners are also required to purchase uninsured motor protection.

Insurance companies have been issued identification cards which must be carried. Drivers who fail to carry this card can be fined.

If an automobile is operated knowingly without the proper insurance, the car owner can be fined up to $500 or imprisoned for six months or both. Drivers who fail to maintain the proper insurance coverage or are found guilty of fraudulent representation will forfeit the right to drive for one year. Can be confined for further violations.

Insurance companies cannot cancel or fail to renew anyone's policy without the permission of the commissioner of insurance.

The "no-fault" law requires that bodily injury rates be reduced by 15%. Licato explained that this reduction is due to the fact that now the injured party only collects once for damages from his own insurance company instead of collecting once from one company, once from another, and once from a firm such as Blue Cross.

The "no-fault" law is in NJ too new for its success to be evaluated. A similar plan, extending the property damage liability, speeded up case disposition in 1971. Massachusetts reduced rates and solved inflated insurance rates. The "no-fault" plan because it does not provide the accident victim with a windfall.

Soft tissue injuries include sprains, cuts, bruises confined to muscles, tendons, ligaments, cartilages, nerves, sinews, arteries and skin. A broken bone would eliminate the pain of the injury.

Edward Martin, MSC assistant director of students, stated that auto accidents will no longer be covered by the MSC student insurance plan. Martin said further that no accompanying decrease in rates is foreseen in the near future.

Blue Cross has also eliminated auto coverage. Licato said that in the case of low-income Blue Cross has added coverage for awed persons.

"You gotta have a gimmick," advised the stripper in the 50's musical, "Gypsy," which opened Tuesday night at the Golden Theatre in New York, took the advice too far. "Shelter," the story of Maud, a professional cleaner, who is only in it to feed her family. Her husband, Michael, has just left her. While cleaning her way through a house, she meets the commercial's writer, Michael (I have not been drinking!).

The exhibit's director, John Starckowski, has included one outstanding photograph which must be a tribute to the dedication of the Fourth Estate. A group of reporters, exiled from the press trailers at President Nixon's Camp David hideaway, were photographed as they continued working on a picnic table during a driving rain, their typewriters and phones shielded by a plastic tarp.

The photographs will be on exhibit until April 28. Admission to the museum (11 W. 53rd) is $1 for students with current ID's.

MUSEUM HOPPING

The Whitney (Madison Ave. at 75th) is exhibiting their biennial Contemporary US Painting/Sculpture Show until Mar. 19. Middle Ages and Renaissance stained glass windows at the Metropolitan (5th at 82nd) through February. Primo is women artists on display until May 31 at the NY Public Library (Fifth at 42nd). American occultism at the Museum of American Folk Art (W. 53rd) until March 11.

SHAVIAN WIT-G. B. Shaw originally wrote "Don Juan in Hell" as the third act to his "Man and Superman." But the sophisticated thrust-and-parry dialog of this two hour dream sequence makes it a delightful repose after an hour at its own. Ricardo Montalban gives an outstanding performance as the Spanish nobleman with Ages Morehead, Edward Mulhare and Paul Herodor completing the all-star cast.

The show, directed by John Houseman, completed its limited run at the Palace on Feb. 4.
Swimmers Split; Records Fall

Diane Jaglowski should be a familiar name, if not to Montclair State's 1,100 followers, then to the record keepers. "Jag" broke six records last week, three in Tuesday's triangular meet against Monmouth College and William Paterson, which had the Squaws fall to Monmouth, 62-48, but victorious over William Paterson, 79-25.

Three Panco pool records fell as Jaglowski took first place in the 200-yd. medley relay (1:59.7), the 100-yd. individual medley (1:00.7) and the 100-yd. freestyle (.59.9).

MSC's ONLY other first place came in the 200-yd. freestyle relay event. Bridget Welsh, Sue Montgomery, Jaglowski and Nancy Relling posted a winning time of 1:51.8.

Montclair swept up firsts in the other events including the 200-yd. medley relay, 50-yd. backstroke, 50-yd. breaststroke, 50-yd. freestyle, diving events, 50-yd. butterfly, 100-yd. backstroke and 100-yd. freestyle.

MSC, however, placed second and third in the diving competition. Relling, the second place in the 100-yd. breaststroke and 50-yd. freestyle and Welsh, the second in the 100-yd. freestyle breaststroke event.

Montclair Tied for second with a time of 28.5 in the 100-yd. freestyle event.

On Saturday, the team participated in the Montclair Invitational Swimming and Diving Meet, placing second to Monmouth, (again) out of eight schools. Jaglowski placed first in three of the 11 events and broke three invitational meet records. Jaglowski capped first place in the 200-yd. freestyle with a time of 2:05.5. She also took the 100-yd. freestyle in 55.8 seconds and the 400-yd. freestyle in 4:15.3.

The relay team of Samsen, Relling, Welsh and Montgomery placed second in the 200-yd. medley relay. Jaglowski, Samsen, Welsh and Relling combined for a second place finish in the 200-yd. freestyle relay. Samsen brought home two of the three third place finishes taking third in the 100-yd. individual medley and the 50-yd. backstroke events. Relling finished third in the 50-yd. breaststroke competition.

In the diving competition, Margaret Atkinson, Terry Spatholoz and Tonya Barbieri took the fifth, sixth and eighth places respectively with scores of 93.30, 87.05 and 63.85.

Monmouth College walked away with the team honors scoring 200 points to MSC's 247. Other schools participating in the meet were Ursinus (172), Dominican (135), Georgian Court (91), Jersey City (87), Fordham (28) and Douglass (11).

The team to Westchester was held today for a 4 pm meet with Westchester and Trenton State. Douglass College plays host to the Squaws on Sunday at 6:30 pm. The next home swim meet is Wed., Feb. 21 at 4 pm against Queens College.

Women's Basketball

There's an old coaching cliché that runs something like "Defense is the name of the game." Well, the Montclair State women's basketball team is proving that it's not just a cliché—it's a sound theory. As evidence, the Squaws left no opponents by the wayside, the latest being Tuesday's 69-49 triumph over Trenton State.

The defense sparked on Sat., Jan. 27, and Central Connecticut was the main gym at 3 pm on Saturday with sneakers and a glove. All female students who wish to participate in the game should leave their names with the scorekeepers and general helpers for the squad of timekeepers, organizational meeting in September.

BASEBALL POW WOW

If you wish to participate in the tournament but cannot attend meetings, the club may be contacted through their mailbox in student activities office, fourth floor, Student Center.

Gestapo in Tourney

The Gestapo, champions of Montclair State's intramural basketball program, will face Fairleigh Dickinson University's championship intramural squad on Saturday in the opening round of the Schaefer Intramural Basketball Tournament.

The tournament will be conducted on a single-elimination round robin type basis throughout February with 23 four-year colleges and nine two-year colleges sending representatives.

GLASSBoro - Montclair State College's wrestlers steamrolled the Profs from Glassboro State College Tuesday night 40-7, before a crowd of about 400, to complete a five match sweep through the winter season.

Central Connecticut State, Fairleigh Dickinson University, City College of New York, and Newark Rutgers had all previously fallen to the hard-charging Indians by equally lopsided scores.

"I'm real pleased," said MSC coach, Larry Schiaccetano of the GSC match. "We're coming along well. The guys are starting to realize that they're pretty good," he commented. "However, it's still tight in the Mets (Metropolitan Tournament)."

Against Glassboro, Montclair led from the start on Lenny Cholish's pin (3:18) in the 113 class, Eddie Alter (120) followed suit in 6:41 after leading 21-3. Craig Spencer (134) was frustrated as Paul Albino fought off a pin to lose 15-4. However, Larry Hayvipli (142) and Oscar Zavala (150) picked up the best again, packing away their opponents in 4:52 and 6:15 respectively.

AFTER MICKEY Jursinic's 4-1 decision (158), Glassboro fans found their last match swept through the winter season.

Central Connecticut State College 33-5 on Jan. 24 to start their streak. A crowd of about 300 watched Kevin Winter (120) and Oscar Zavala (150) register pins for the home team.

"It was a good, solid win," said MSC assistant Rich Sofmann.

Schiaccetano thought, "We might have trouble, but we look pretty good at this point."

In the triangular against FDU and CCNY Montclair was overpowering, winning 40-2 and 51-0 respectively. A variable endurance contest for spectators, MSC was monotonous in victory.

Rounding out their streak, the Indians demolished Newark Rutgers on Sat., Feb. 3, by the score of 46-0. To say that MSC is the 'class' of the area is an understatement.

"We've had no problem with any of their local teams," commented Schiaccetano, "The guys are building confidence. We've still got to get our condition sharper and out perform opponents of late."

The Indians had previously wiped out Prout Institute, 16-11, on Mon., Jan. 29, and mercifully gored Fairleigh Dickinson University, 21-6 on Sat., Jan. 27.

DAVIS, WHO has been tearing apart opponents of late, was the only MSC fencer to win three bouts against Pratt. However, Frongillo, Cotrelle, Musitii and foilist Roger Marchegiano all posted two wins to aid the cause.

Sophomore Tommy Yee was also 3-1 against Pratt, having returned to the foil team.

There was no saving grace for the FDU fencers who appeared doomed from the minute they set foot in Panzer Gym four. The elder team of Montreal's, Frongillo and Bob Smith won all nine bouts, the first time this season that MSC shut out an opponent in any one weapon.

THE FDU team added six points to the onslaught with Marchegiano scoring three victories and Musitii posting a 2-1 record, his loss coming against lefty Tom Depoto. Both fencers shut out one opponent. Yee bested FDU's Joe Castellano for the other foil win.

The Indians' reap team of Bob Gioquinto is a victim of a Glassboro take down as ref motions for two points. Gioquinto was decided by Prof Jeff Pallies in this match, but MSC was stingy with the points won, 40-7.

The Montclair State College State Hall of Fame will expand to 13 members this month when Nick Petti and Henry Schmidt are inducted.

Schmidt, the current tennis coach and intramural director, will formally enter the Hall of Fame on Wednesday during the halftime ceremonies of the Newark-Rutgers basketball game. Petti, a former basketball and baseball player, will be inducted on Sat., Feb. 17, as a part of the homecoming ceremonies during halftime of the William Paterson game.

ONE OF the best big men in the Indians' early years of intercollegiate basketball, Schmidt led MSC to records of 14-3 in 1935-36 and 19-3 in 1937-38 while playing for coach and Hall of Famer Cherry Pitter. Schmidt was the leading scorer both years.

In addition to basketball, Schmidt was also a top baseball player during his infantry days. In 1945, he was one of the few athletes to captain both the basketball and baseball teams in MSC athletics history.

Following graduation, Schmidt was appointed director of athletics, basketball and baseball coach at William Paterson College, then Paterson State College.

Schmidt came to MSC as an athletic director in 1949 and served two years in that post before being called back to the army. After being discharged in 1954, he was again reappointed athletic director and head basketball coach, a post he held for ten years. His teams posted 130 wins and 122 losses. The former figure is still the record for the greatest number of victories in a career by any MSC hoop coach.

The Indians' best single season mark under Schmidt came in 1961-62 when they posted a record of 19 wins and 9 losses.

In addition to basketball, Schmidt has also coached tennis and cross country during his tenure at MSC. Three of Schmidt's tennis teams have captured the New Jersey State College Concerence championship (1966,68,70). Montclair Makes Foes Blue

MONMOUTH: Yes, friends, Calvin Blue has arrived. The high jumping MSC forward who leaps tall buildings in a single bound, as well as fellow basketball players, sparked MSC’s men’s team three straight victories over the past two weeks, bringing their overall mark to a respectable 10-5.

Blue returned more to scoring points rather than hauling in rebounds, his main obsession so far this season. He led all scorers in two of the three contests. His biggest tally came against Hofstra. Earlier in the week, Stony Brook State.

MSC had just won their season’s opener, defeating Douglass College Tuesday night 74-54. The girls won every event to remain undefeated, 2-0. The girls had opened their season with a 39-37 deficit to a 41-39 edge, which they held for good. Their bakers came near the end of the first half.

In the first half, Monmouth climbed the gap. The point leader the whole way was Tony Massa canned a shot with 3:26 left, getting the Indians back into the game.

The Indians retaliated with a basket which gave the Indians a 20-19 lead with 8:05 remaining. Blue added another field goal, which was all they needed. Monmouth was neither desiring of their latest three triumphs, West, Jan. 24, as the Indians showed once again why their team motto should be “Never say die!”

In the battle, the ire based NJSCAC opponent Newark State, 64-59, but only after staging another one of their usual second half miracles in which they rebounded from a 10 point first half deficit to take the lead for the first time in the second half.

With the score, 53-43, in MSC’s favor, and 7:57 remaining in the game, the Indians poured in 12 unanswered points, taking the upper hand for good, 55-53.

ONCE AGAIN it was “Calvin the Reliable” whose two free throws moved MSC ahead 59-53 to climax the scoring rampage.

Following yesterday’s NJSCAC contest with Trenton State, the team travels to Glassboro on Saturday for an 8 pm clash. Monday sees the Indians at Bloomfield College at 8:30 pm prior to hosting Newark-Rutgers at Panzer Gym at 8:15 pm on Wednesday.

Indoor Thincads
Cop Four Medals

Despite having its premier runner fighting a bout with the flu bug, Montclair State’s indoor track team still managed to make a show of it Saturday at Queens College in the CTC Relays. The squad entered five relays and brought home four medals to display for their city’s glory.

Greg Wies, who was the NCAA’s selection for the college division outstanding 1972 runner, is recovering from the flu.

COACH GEORGE Horn will be taking a squad of 17 of his trackmen to the Coast Guard Invitationals on Saturday. The meet, which Mon will termed “one of the ‘class’ meets,” will include such schools as Tufts, Wesleyan, Amherst, Boston State, and Central Connecticut. The only other New Jersey school to be invited to the Invitationals is Fairleigh Dickinson University.

The Winning Form:

Gymnasts Flip Douglass and SBS

Montclair State’s gymnastics team defeated Douglass College Tuesday night 14-23.2. The girls won every event to remain undefeated, 2-0. The next homepage is Monday 7 pm against Hofstra. Earlier in the week, the girls had opened their season with Stony Brook State.

“I knew we would win here, but we’ve got some tough meets coming up,” said Mrs. Gail Bakker, coach of Montclair State gymnastics team, last Wednesday night. MSC had just won their season’s opener, defeating Stony Brook State 63.1 to 30.8, before 350 fans in Panzer Gym.

STONY BROOK, coached by Lynn Cross, a former Montclair State gymnast, featured only five girls.

“I hate to beat anyone that bad,” commented Bakker, “so we used a lot of freshmen and new girls.” The effort was plenty. Although anti-climactic, the night was spiced by a few exciting performances.

The first event was vaulting; MSC highlighted by Marie Zullo’s 5.6. Sue Laskowski (3.7) gave MSC another first with a 7.2. She was followed by generous applause for another first with a 7.3. Chris Natoli (5.2) and Jan King (4.9) combined to give Montclair a 1-2-3 sweep.

The balance beam event was highlighted by Maria Zurlo’s 5.6. Sue Gonfly with a 5.1 and Elizabeth Laskowski (3.7) gave MSC another sweep. Out in the open on a four inch beam nervousness or lack of experience takes no greater toll, and this night was no exception. There were a number of falls and missed routines because of it. Nevertheless, Montclair upped its lead to a 44-13.5. The Squaws maintained their dominance throughout the final event, the floor exercises Zurlo was another first with a 7.2. She was followed by Maureen Durr (6.8) and Gal Zaccoglini (5.4) both teammates. Tom Babbit’s piano added another dimension to the event, taking the place of the sometimes stale sounding tapes.

A COURTEOUS silence was maintained for each competitor, followed by generous applause for both teams, a sharp contrast from the more raucus followings of other sports. Of course, the outcome never was in doubt.

“The girls got needed experience, but we’ve still got work ahead of us,” concluded Bakker.
