Winter Session program has apparently been phased out of existence.

A proposed calendar for the next two academic years eliminates the three-week period which had been sandwiched between the fall and spring semesters. Before the calendar can be initiated, it must first be approved by MSC President Thomas H. Richardson and, ultimately, the college Board of Trustees. However, Richardson has indicated that approval is almost certain to be forthcoming. Richardson expects a final decision to be made within a week.

The calendar allows for two periods in June which could be used for innovative-type programs, according to calendar committee chairman Marshall Butler. However, a $20 per credit fee would be charged for courses taken in those periods. This is the same fee that is charged during the regular summer session. Winter Session courses had been free of charge.

Additionally, faculty members who teach during those periods would be paid on an overload basis for that course work. During Winter Session, faculty members' course work was deducted from their fall or spring teaching loads.

The calendar for 1973-74 recommends that classes start on Sept. 8 and end on May 18, with the following week set aside for final exams. Commencement would be held on June 2. This spring the last day of classes is June 8 and commencement in June 10.

The calendar also proposes an expanded Christmas break of two full weeks. Although classes would end on Dec. 22, students would return for a week of exams on Jan. 7. They would then receive a week's semester break before beginning the spring semester on Jan. 24.

A "BONUS FEATURE" of the recommended calendar is a week-long "Spring Vacation" from March 25-30, the mid-point of the semester. The regular "Easter Recess" will follow shortly, running from April 12-15.

The calendar for 1973-74 also includes a three-week winter period, to be "January Short Term." Registration for the fall semester would be held in August. Three Saturdays are set aside for exams and class. The fall semester, including final exams, would end before Christmas. The spring semester would be over on May 30.

Richardson agreed that the MSC/AFT calendar was a "viable" alternative, but emphasized that, with the 16-week semester guideline, serious problems could arise.

Richardson noted that although many faculty members and students were in favor of the good points of the calendars, most were unwilling to accept the bad points that arose when the good points were integrated into the calendar. He cited such examples as Saturday sessions and a June closing for spring teaching loads.

This year, the program seemed to finally have taken off after a slow start last year, when a long list of its classes were cancelled due to lack of interest. The 1973 Winter Session offered twice as many courses as the first "Innovative Period" - and found nearly twice as many takers. Several hundred students were closed out of full courses as 2635 of their counterparts swamped the 122 courses offered this time around.

However, Winter Session's increasing popularity may have inadvertently led to its demise. One of its negative aspects, cited by both Richardson and Butler, was the cost factor. While the courses cost the individual student nothing, they did create expenses for the college. As the numbers of students taking Winter Session courses increased, so did costs.

Additionally, MSC faculty members were not paid for their participation in Winter Session. Their course work for the session had been deducted from their fall or spring course loads. Butler pointed out that this set-up could have had adverse effects on regular scheduling.

When Winter Session instructors reduced their fall or spring course loads, it could cut down on the number of course sections offered that particular semester, possible creating much larger classes. Because so many more students enrolled this year than last, any adverse effects will be felt more fully this year. If the session retained its present teaching load set-up and continued to grow in popularity, detrimental effects would be inevitable. Making the session a separate period, independent of other teaching loads, would eliminate this possibility.

It would also, however, necessitate the payment of teachers on an overload basis - an added cost factor.

Still another factor is the change from 15-week semesters to 16-week semesters, instituted by the Department of Higher Education. These additional two weeks, coupled with the three-week winter period, would extend the school year into mid-June. According to Butler, the calendar committee saw this as a possible hindrance to students and faculty members who wished to travel or take summer jobs.

Heilbronner Resigns

By Tom Benn
Staff Writer

Despite the passing of a unanimous resolution by the Student Government Association and a petition in favor of the Drop-In Center signed by 3200 students, Montclair State President Thomas H. Richardson yesterday expressed the administration's unwavering opposition to setting up a center in the Recreation Lodge in a meeting with the Drop-In Committee representatives.

President Richardson could not promise the students that he will call the MONTCLARION for his comments in time to meet the paper's deadline.

Michael King, the SGA public relations director and director of the Drop-In Center, was obviously disappointed by the resolution at the latest developments to locate the student facility, which was scheduled to open at the beginning of this month. The Drop-In Center Committee has been petitioning for acquisition of the Recreation Lodge while the administration has refused the request.

An amendment to the SGA bill added that Richardson was rendering a negative reply to the resolution the SGA would consider taking the necessary steps to secure the rec lodge at its next regular meeting.

King reacted to the president's action by saying, "I can't stay any what we're going to do. It's a very emotional thing." He added that the president will meet tomorrow to discuss whether or not to abandon the rec lodge.

The Drop-In Center Committee has been trying since early December to get into the Recreation Lodge. They were first turned down by the college Space Allocation Committee and by Richardson yesterday.

Sam Crane, president of the SGA, which sponsors the Drop-In Center, said yesterday that he thought that there were no options except to build another facility over a location for the facility. "I just want to see it get set up and going," he stated.

Donald Mintz, dean of the School of Fine and Performing Arts, is the current occupant of the lodge. He has expressed his willingness to vacate if a suitable office can be found.

"It's a big hassle," the dean said; "but I'm certainly not going to stand at the door with a shotgun."

The resolution passed unanimously by the SGA legislature and presented to the college president cited the reasons for locating the Drop-In Center in the Recreation Lodge. Among the reasons listed were: Dean Mintz's willingness to relocate, the minimal amount of alteration needed on the Rec Lodge, and the low security risk involved with using the lodge as opposed to the Student Center. In essence, the last reason means that by using the rec lodge, an entire building would not be rendered inaccessible to vandals.

The Drop-In Committee also cited the training already undergone by its staff, which numbers about 25 and the support received from the student body for the proposal to use the Rec Lodge. According to the resolution, over half of the student body signed petitions Thursday in support of the Drop-In Committee.

It was Thursday that the Drop-In Committee set up a tent outside the Lodge to dramatize its plight.

The tent was to remain up Friday, but frigid temperatures and strong winds made it impossible for committee members to stay there and the tent was dismantled.

IT APPEARS LIKELY that the college administration will remain adamant in its refusal to allocate the Rec Lodge for the Drop-In Center. Likely alternatives will be for the Drop-In Committee to set up for one of the alternate sites suggested to it. As Crane remarked, the important thing now is for the Drop-In Center to "get set up and get going."

The price is $127.50, which includes round-trip bus transportation motel bill and a $100 transportation damage fee (refundable).

Buses will leave from MSC at noon on April 13 and arrive at Daytona Beach the following day. The group will return to the college on April 22.

Interested students should contact Tom Milner through the SGA office on the fourth floor of the Student Center.

Job Aid
The Student Employment and Placement Office has posted a list of companies recruiting June graduates who need a job when they leave MSC. Representatives from approximately 32 businesses, as well as the military, will be on campus on various dates throughout the next few weeks. The following firms will be recruiting on campus this week:

Have MSC Grad Students Been Forgotten?

In the MONTCLARION article of Feb. 18, 1972, Vincent Calabrese, vice-president for business and finance, stated that "everyone will be entitled to all the benefits of being a student at MSC" as a result of the abolition of the evening division.

However, Carol Dandy of the Graduate Student Organization (GSO) says that she "receives complaints from time to time about poor campus services." Dandy says,

Dr. Sanford Radner, through Examination

Jerry Ice: Registration is Biggest Problem

"Graduates complain about a variety of things, from library and book store hours to courses and advisors."

"Many graduate students have problems with course offerings," Dandy says. In response, Halbronner says, "the State Department of Higher Education wants to keep the number of graduate courses down in State colleges, so we don't have complete freedom to go in this direction or that." But in one department, courses are undergoing a thorough examination. Dr. Sanford Radner, chairman of the English department, states, "In the future, more and more five o'clock classes will be offered for those who get off from work earlier in the day."

PERHAPS THE biggest problem graduate students face is registration. Jerry ice, assistant director of the Graduate Office said, "Registration is a big problem because of the massive organizational changes that resulted from integrating the evening division with the day Administration and record-keeping is still in the process of being computerized in one system." In addition, Ice says that "the fall bulletin listing the classes that have been dropped due to contractual problems between the state and printer.

For those who need counseling from the Graduate Office, Ice says, "This office is open until nine Monday through Thursday, but for those who need more specialized advice, they should see the graduate advisor in their department."

However, Dandy says that "Many students complain that graduate instructors have office hours only during the day, and advisors are never there during the evening." In the English department at least, this is changing. Radner says, "We are trying to provide evening students with the same service as day students, so this semester advisors will be available from six until seven-thirty in the evening."

Another area of complaint for graduate students is directed at the library. "It closes at ten o'clock," Dandy says, "and most graduate classes are just ending then." In addition, "Many students couldn't use the library at all during the Christmas vacation, because it wasn't open evenings, although they had term papers to do." Others complain to her that "Books are not adequate for graduate research."

Dr. JOHN Beard, director of the library, was it and not available for comment, but Halbronner explained that "during vacation, the cost of keeping the library open is not justified by the number of students using it."

Experiments with library hours have been tried before, but the response has been small. "Experiments with library hours have been tried before, but the response has been small."

Presidential Search Nears 'Target' Date

By Diane Forden
Staff Writer

The Presidential Search Committee has selected five candidates who will be contacted for interviews beginning today, according to James W. Cottingham, executive assistant to the president and spokesman for the committee.

At a meeting held Monday evening, Feb. 12, the initial five candidates were chosen. "Eventually," Cottingham stated, "the committee will select more candidates for interviews." The committee has set April 1 as its "target" date in selecting several candidates for presentation to the Board of Trustees. "However," Cottingham noted, "I would like to emphasize that this is just a date and the committee does not want to be bound by it. The most important task of the committee is to choose the best candidates."

As of January 29, the committee has received a total of 511 nominations and applications. According to Cottingham, about 150 were in response to ads placed in various publications and 350 were nominated by people at Montclair or by others whom the committee had invited to submit nominations.

Cottingham described the selection procedure as a "constant process of evaluating and reevaluating." "The committee is trying to be as objective as humanly possible," he stated. "They are putting in a lot of time and effort but what makes it difficult is the fact that there are so many applications and nominations and the selection must be done on the basis of resumes. It is hard to know a person through writing," he continued, "but it is physically impossible to interview so many applicants."

There is a diversity of applicants. Asians, Blacks, Hispanics, whites and women have submitted resumes, Cottingham revealed. There are also applicants from the business field as well as those in higher and lower education. Although the committee has not designated any specific criteria, Cottingham acknowledged that they were "looking for someone committed to the goals of Montclair State College - a creative, dynamic individual who is prepared to help Montclair move toward its goals."

The 28 committee members will meet weekly to choose such individuals, Cottingham said. Five administrators, 11 faculty members, 11 students and one alumna comprise the voting members.

Cottingham also revealed that several "phases" have been established by the committee to thoroughly review all resumes. During Phase I, the resumes are reviewed by two sub-committees before eliminations are made. In Phase II, candidates are asked to react to questions posed by the committee. References are contacted to Phase III and in the fourth and final phase, the interview with the candidate is required.

Eventually, between three to six candidates will probably be chosen by the Presidential Search Committee and those names will be submitted to the Board of Trustees," Cottingham said.

Session End A Mistake

The impending death of the three-week winter session at Montclair State once again shows the lack of imagination and adventure on the part of college administrators. One of the most worthwhile and stimulating ideas in higher education to hit this campus is to be laid to rest because of administrative incompetence.

The Innovative Period did not die because of a lack of interest, as evidenced by the overwhelming number of students who enrolled for it, nor for a failure to achieve desired results. Indeed, those students involved in the winter session only benefited from it. A case in point is the Sociology and Theater Department, which produced "Patches" during the winter session and had to rely on highly professional, high-pressure effort to produce what they described as "one of the best things done here in years."

The administration is now proposing to have the innovative period installed at the end of the school year and preceding the next year, a move we think would be an obvious mistake. Student participation in the summer program would be minimal and thus fatal to the program as many students wish to use the summer to look for jobs or to travel. In addition, those students who used the winter session to study abroad would be at a disadvantage in June, when they would be required to pay higher plane fares during the peak tourist season.

In the long run, the problem boils down to money. The ones who wield the power evidently do not like the thought of students getting something for nothing and faculty members do not like the idea of having to work for "cookie wages." Of the available alternatives, a compromise seems to be the best solution. Keep the winter session where it is but charge students the same $20 per credit that they would be paying if they took the courses in the summer.

The MONTCLARION regrets the conclusion that the Calendar Committee arrived at upon its recommendation. For the calendar to be approved would be a blow to the students of MSC and could only re-enforce the thinnest of the power of the poet who once described a camel as "a horse designed by a committee."

Fight Should Continue

President Richardson's decision to deny the Drop-In Center staff use of the Recreation Lodge is an unfortunate one, not only for those involved with the center, but for the entire student body.

The Drop-In Center has long been needed on this campus. Throughout the long campaign to obtain the Recreation Lodge no one has disagreed with this statement. The center would be a place where students could help students both by providing information on a wide variety of subjects and by giving some time and companionship.

The Recreation Lodge is an ideal place for the center. Alternative places have been suggested by the college administration but they simply are not adequate. The center must be centrally located and easily accessible but it must also be somewhat private. To locate it in Grace Freeman Hall or in Life Hall, which are away from the mainstream for student life, would defeat its purpose.

Almost one out of the student body signed petitions supporting the effort to obtain the Recreation Lodge. For such a large number of students to agree on one issue in a minor miracle and it seems incredible such overwhelming support was ignored when President Richardson made his decision.

The fight to obtain the Recreation Lodge should continue. It is possible to find another office for Dr. Minn, but it is not possible to find a more suitable place for the Drop-In Center.

Letters

Letters to the editor should be sent to the MONTCLARION office, fourth floor, Student Center and must be received by 4 p.m. for publication in the following Thursday issue. Letters should be signed with the writer's name, major and year. The MONTCLARION reserves the right to edit letters for style and brevity.

Tenure Percentage Rough

This year has proved to be a major time of decision and discussion on the subject of tenure. Students face a confusing problem with regards to tenure. They have to decide whether the system provides quality teaching or complicity. And does such a system have the ability to hold and allow professors to develop or does it remove the performance of a poor professor from future scrutiny and evaluation?

The tenure system is basically the same as the high school system. The time required before reaching eligibility is three years, really about two and a half years. If you want a lifetime contract which guarantees a professor the job until someone in class or the enrollment in his class falls off so badly that he has no one to teach.

The NJ Department of Higher Education wants to limit the number of tenure professors by setting arbitrary percentages of tenure professors on a college basis, such as 60-40, revised to 40-60. This plan would produce a very unhealthy situation for faculty morale. The fear of losing a position due to a poor performance or a failure to obtain tenure would allow political blackmail to give a place within the tenure portion of the faculty.

The faculty would have almost all of its members receive tenure after three years. This proposal is realistic in the faculties. With the trend in the professional market, a college administration could use teachers for three years and then discard them for cheaper and more educated unemployed professors. The dangerous part of the faculty's idea is that tenure would be an incursion. Neither the Department of Higher Education's plan nor the faculty's idea gives students a chance to review the performance of any faculty member.

I feel that Assembly Bill 328 provides for a compromise solution. It gives the institutions and students the chance to review the development of any faculty member over a period of five years before granting tenure. This should serve to satisfy the Department of Higher Education's fear of tenure by giving its institutions added control of the general faculty.

I would urge students to write their assemblymen and senators advocating the passage of this bill. I sincerely hope it will bring New Jersey colleges in line with the rest of the country and allow a compromise between two immovables; the Department of Higher Education and the NJEA and AFT faculty unions.

Student Power-An Empty Term

College has been the spawning ground for most of the more colorful language used by the counter-culture today. Such terms as "relevancy," "sapping" and the "generation gap" were nurtured in academic environments.

However, there is another movement and missed phase which should be relegated to the scrap heap of trite expressions — "student power." Yet as the present decade matures students as an academic community and concern still exist in our future-shocked world.

The NJ Department of Higher Education wants to limit the number of tenure professors by setting arbitrary percentages of tenure professors on a college basis, such as 60-40, revised to 40-60. This plan would produce a very unhealthy situation for faculty morale. The fear of losing a position due to a poor performance or a failure to obtain tenure would allow political blackmail to give a place within the tenure portion of the faculty.

The condition of life and the economics of the little theatre have had a very bad effect upon the theater," said the tall, handsome Irishman as he took time out from his hectic schedule to chat for a while. "And the critics are nailing it to the ground, it seems to me," he added with a note of disgust.

Edward Mulhare, who has played everything from Hamlet to Gidget's first love, spoke from immediate experience. The production of Bernard Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell" in which he starred closed at New York's Palace Theater after only three weeks.

"We were only there for a limited time anyway. We only had a limited season of four weeks and unfortunately it built up too fast," Mulhare explained as he relaxed in his New York hotel room. "The notices by the Times and things like that didn't help the advance. And it was a very expensive show to mount and unfortunately it built up too fast," Mulhare continued. "Don Juan in Hell" came to Broadway with an all-star cast headed by Ricardo Montalban as Don Juan and Mulhers as the Devil. Paul Henreid played the Commander and Agnes Moorhead reprised her original role of Dona Ana. They had been touring in the show since last August.

"We received all sorts of critical acclaim around the country and very enthusiastic audiences not only around the country but enthusiastic audiences in New York," Mulhare continued. "We had a standing ovation practically every night," he added.

"In Boston, Elliot Norton wrote it up and wrote Mulhare's performance up as one of the great performances of the year," Mulhare said. "He also wrote a second article which started with "That's No Reason For Being Blue," a bouncy musical stage that you should not miss.

Directed by Stuart Gordon, the show is the first of a projected three plays staged Forties style, topped off the evening. Written and orchestrated by Tom Babbitt, Patches' musical director, "No Reason" conclusively proves Babbit has more talent than any one person has a right to possess.

A fresh, entertaining collection, "Patches" was a welcome addition to the Monclair season.

- Escape Chaos?

"I think it was two years too long, myself," he continued. "It was during rehearsal that the first time it was tremendously stimulating. I wanted to get up in the morning and think about what I was going to do that night," he said.

"Don Juan in Hell" added one more to the list of Shaw's works which Mulhare has performed. "I happen because he was an Irish writer," he said lightly. He has also played several plays which were written by Rex Harrison.

"That's just coincidence," he explained, adding that he was no resemblance between the two. The most famous role in which he succeeded Harrison was Henry Higgins. "He was pretty good," Mulhare said. "I was pretty good too," he added flippantly.

He was reminded by a friend that it was a "pretty good" part. "Yes, but it needed playing. The day is there if you can use it," he responded with a smile. "Pretty good writer. In spite of Clive Barnes," he stated conclusively.

Women should compete in what they like to compete in. It does not have to be in their education or a contact sport,” said women’s fencing coach Domenica Desiderioscioli.

The women have been given minor recognition, and facilities due them to establish the quality programs that female athletes possess? Such an opportunity exists for the women athletes at MSC.

THE WOMEN do not want to further their involvement by participating in intramurals but rather by participating in their own sports. The women at MSC seem to have a separate philosophy about sports completely divorced from that of men.

An example of this is given by Donna Olson, current assistant athletic director who commented about the different philosophy of recruiting. “The women don’t recruit. We belong to the IAW (Intercollegiate Athletics for Women) which has certain rules that we must follow,” Olson said.

One of those rules, she explained, “is that we are not allowed to recruit, I hope that the women never have to recruit because it wouldn’t be good academic wise.”

THE WOMEN seem to be superior in their outlook. Far too often male athletes are accepted to college on the basis of athletic ability alone with academics disregarded.

“The problem is money.

We need to get the people aware of this…”

Squaws Crush

Trenton, 15-1

Domenica Desiderioscili, coach of the women’s fencing team, has been building one with confidence at the squad’s success, the latest victory a 15-3 pasting of Trenton State.

The coach’s confidence doesn’t slip at the mention of tonight’s match with Lehman College in Panzer Gym at 5 pm.

IT’S WHEN you bring up William Paterson (Thurs., Feb. 22) that the Squaws’ stifled competition to date. “They’ve got four really strong girls,” Desi admitted, citing freshman Faras in the team’s outputting fencer. The team had little trouble with Trenton State, however, and had no trouble with Buffalo College because they never showed up for the triangular match.

“I don’t like to run up the score like that,” Desi remarked about the one-sided victory. “I would have put the JV fencers in sooner but theJV and varsity were fencing at the same time,” she explained.

ALL FOUR varsity fencers were undefeated, with Nancy Murray, Julie Leverage and Mary Lou Caffaro notching four victories each. Mary Caprio was 3-0 until removed in the last bout of the match.

Caffaro, a Trenton State transfer and the team’s only left-handed fencer, had only four touches scored against her in the last match with Lehman College in Panzer Gym.

The Squaws will be faced with another challenge in the post-season intercollegiate Tournament at Trenton State, to be held in April.

There are probably as many answers as there are individual Maryknoll priests and Brothers. Some men are deeply moved when they hear of babies dying in their mother’s arms because of hunger or disease. Others are disturbed by the growing arrogance and separation between the rich and the poor nations. More are concerned about the great injustices that have been inflicted upon the poor by those who possess more power and wealth.

There is a separate philosophy about sports completely divorced from that of men. William Dioguardi, director of athletics, explained, “I hope that the women never have to recruit… it wouldn’t be good academic wise.”

Montclair State's women's basketball team continued to overpower all opposition as they crushed William Paterson College, 50-19, Tuesday night. The win enabled the team to run their winning streak to eight. Once again, defense was the main factor in the game. The Squaws were shooting easily, making 18 baskets and 14 free throws. Paterson was held to only five baskets. After leading 25-5 at halftime, the Squaws exploded for 20 points in the third quarter, then simmered down to a seven point final quarter.

JOANNE LA VORGINA, who has been averaging over 11 points per game, led both teams in scoring with 14 points. Anna Melnyk, although not among the high scorers on the team, played her usual tough defensive game to keep Paterson's tally low.

The JV team didn't fare as well as the varsity. They lost a close one, 39-38, to the Paterson JV's.

Last week, the Squaws won their sixth and seventh straight games, besting Trenton State and Lehman College, respectively. Trenton was the first team this year that really pressed MSC. At the half, the Squaws led by one point, but in the second half, behind a tighter defense, Randi Burdock and Roberta Vasko came off the bench to spark the team to a 69-49 victory. Burdock and Vasko combined for 13 points.

MARY HAYEK was high scorer with 15 points, and led both teams in rebounds. The loss ended Trenton's four game undefeated streak.

The Squaws ended another four game winning streak when they beat Lehman College, 35-31, in a home game Thursday night. MSC held a five point edge at the half, but Lehman came back strong, outscoring the Squaws, 19-18, in the second half.

Montclair State's swim team upset their record to 5-3 Tuesday with a 58-36 triumph over Douglass College. Diane Jaglowski turned in another strong performance for MSC, taking first place in three events. In the 200-yd. freestyle competition, 'Jag' finished ahead of Douglass' Judy Melick, a '72 Olympic diver and teammate Debbi Atkinson who finished third.

MSC's Laura Sanson finished first in the 50-yd. backstroke with a time of 35.7 seconds. The Squaws took second and third places in the 50-yd. breaststroke as Nancy Reiling and Sue Montgomery took the first two spots. Randy Uminowicz finished second behind 'Jag' in the 100-yd. freestyle events.

Margaret-Ann Atkinson took first in the diving competition, edging out Douglass' diver and teammate Debbi Atkinson who finished third. The Squaws took second and third places in the 100-yd. individual medley and the 100-yd. freestyle events.

LaVorgna took charge of MSC's offense, leading all scorers with 13 points. Lehman came to town during the last two minutes, but the team, according to coach Cathy Paskert, "reacted well under pressure and now to the occasion."

MEANWHILE, THE Squaws are looking forward to Friday's game against Queens College in Pancr Gyn. Queens come into the game with an 8-1 record, including a tipped victory over St. John's, 70-22. Last year, Queens finished fifth in the national playoffs.

The Squaws have averaged 200-400 people attending their games. "The girls perform better in front of a crowd," Paskert said, and the teams are expected to fill Panzer Gym to capacity.

MSC gymnasts soar to new heights in Monday night's 82-80-52.79 win over visiting Hofstra University. The score was a season high for the home team. Jan King (right) scored an 8.47 in vaulting and went on to an 8.23 in the floor exercise, both career highs. At left, Eileen Wans soars for a 7.87 as MSC took first and second in the event. The girls also swept the uneven bars and took first and second places in the balance beam and floor exercise events.
Deacons Defrocked In Squeaker

By Joe Cartonnoy and Joan Miketzuk Sports Writers

It's a good thing for Montclair State's men's basketball team that "almost" count only in horseshoes, because they "almost" lost in the closing minutes to Bloomfield College Monday night, hanging on for a 72-71 victory.

Leading by seven with four minutes on the clock, MSC watched the Deacons roll up six straight points via a Pat DePoto basket and two free throws, and a Vin Conti turnaround.

THEY LEAD right down to one point, the Indians missed a costly free throw with less than 20 seconds remaining. Bloomfield couldn't muster the two points to win, however, as Conti's last-ditch attempt circled the rim and bounced out.

MSC's Jim Rake shot 10 of 15 from the floor for 20 points, while Scott Riley chipped in 13 and Tom Dux and Chuck Hofland added 12 apiece. Calabrese was the game's high scorer with 28 points.

The Bloomfield victory was but poor consolation for the 57-62 defeat Saturday night at the hands of upset Glassboro State. The New Jersey State College loss left the Indians one game behind Trenton City State.

BUT THE new sight is Trenton State and William Paterson, with records of 4-2, are only two off the top spot.

Six times they've seen each other this season, the Indians swept a weapon this season, having done so in sabre two weeks ago.

"We thought the match would be tougher than it turned out," explained MSC wrestling coach Larry Sciacchetano, referring to last Saturday's 35-11 rout at Seton Hall University. "We should win the championship... but as long as we can keep our poise and hang on," he added.

MSC STARTED the game as though there was no tomorrow, reeling off five quick points in a mere 48 seconds. Trenton State, seeming themselves that tomorrow would arrive, answered with an outburst of seven straight points, taking a 15-15 lead, with 15:50 left in the first half.

What followed in the three minutes and thirty seconds afterward looked like the Wimbledon tennis championships on the sidelines. Trenton State scored a 15-5, with 15:50 left in the first half. The Indians grabbed it for good with 9:53 to play in the half.

However, things remained remarkably close until MSC, with the aid of a 12-point spurt, widened the gap to 16 points with less than a minute to play in the half.

WITH THE Indians ahead, 25-29, Larry Hughes began the crusade with a bucket from underneath. Rake and Horley Black followed with the next four points, ending the half with the score 39-29.

In the second half the teams got back on the court as Calvin Blue, Dux and Hofland contributed six more points to the cause. Apparently the Lions decided that it might be fun to play "fast", and ended the contest with a layup and a free throw by Bob Hutchinson, making the score 41-28 with 18:34 to go.

Overcome by a fit of jealousy, MSC's Holland grabbed the ball and pounded in the next five points, giving his team an awesome 18 point budge. But alas, all good things must come to an end, as did the 18 point margin. Pressing and ballhawking all over the court, the Lions are up 14 points against Trenton State as Trenton State picnicked Trenton again, allowing the lead no lower than seven times. The Indians grabbed it for good with 9:53 to play in the half.

MSC Marchegiano, a senior, has scored 12 wins against only three losses since becoming a starter in the 1:28 that remained.

Dux padded all scorers with 19 points. Mustilli owns the best records for the foil and sabre team, Yee has scored seven victories against four losses.

Sophomore Tommy Ye registered a 2-1 record for the foil team. Since resuming so the foil squad after a brief snot with the same team, Ye has scored six victories against four losses.

Co-captain Marchegiano owns the best records for the sabre and musketeer, each with 22 wins on the season. Marchegiano has scored seven victories against three losses.

Sabre specialist Frungillo, as well as foilist Frank Mustilli, were also underwhelmed.

The sabre squad's Carl Davis and Ben Frungillo, as well as foilist Frank Mustilli, were also underwhelmed.
