Angelo Genova has been elected SGA president with a total of 685 votes. Genova was backed by 56% of those students voting; Kathy Ragan, current vice-president, and Michael King, SGA public relations director tied with 252 votes and 26.6% of the vote. Sophomore Wayne Russin received 34 votes and 2.8% of the vote.

With 446 votes Tom Barrett won the SGA vice-presidency. Betty Ann O’Keefe placed second with 327 votes. Debbie Gerdes had 197 votes and Chris Brennan received 177 votes

Maggie Capuano was elected secretary with 622 votes while Blanche Smith received 459 votes.

Clive Brown had 258 votes. Magda Mena received 357 votes and Blanche Smith received 459 votes.

MONTCLAIRON/John Lane

Montclair, N. J. 07043

By Carla Capuzzi

Staff Writer

THE DIRECTION Genova wants the SGA to go is one of “organizing to its fullest capacity and efficiency focusing primarily on the problems of this campus and maintaining its fight against the state.”

While waiting for the final tally of the election Tom Barrett said, “This is enough to drive anybody to an ulcer.”

Barrett stated after he had seen the official tally that he will try to meet “the expectation of those who elected me to this office.”

“What hurt my margin over O’Keefe was that the MONTCLAIRON endorsed a presidential candidate and a candidate for treasurer but not for a vice-presidential candidate which hurt my campaign,” he said in the lobby of the first floor of the Student Center.

“I have a great deal of compassion for MSC because it’s taken one giant step backward,” King stated in the lobby of the first floor. However, King went on to say that he was not bitter about the results of the election.

By John Piacich and Patricia Miccurelli

Staff Writers

All three referendum questions failed because less than the required 30% of the student population voted in the SGA executive elections which also contained the referendums. Only 14% of the student body cast ballots on the referendum issues.

The first issue on the ballot concerned the lowering of the percentage required for ratification of referendums from 30% to 15%. Of the 1131 students that voted on this question, 568 (51%) voted yes while 563 (49%) voted no.

The second issue involved changing the required cum for SGA executive office from 2.5 to 2.0, the college cum requirement. The issue drew 560 affirmative votes (48%) and 603 (52%) negative votes, with 1163 students voting altogether.

THE CURSE organizations should continue to be funded as Class One organizations was the third question listed on the ballot. It drew the lowest amount of student interest with only 964 votes.

However 682 (70%) of those that voted favored the continuance of the classes while 302 (29%) held the opposite opinion.

M i c h a e l K o s t e r, SGA vice-president for external affairs, commenting on the failure of the issues, said that “it now up to the members to ensure that we will be responsive to the students and the will of the people who have been in the power structure over the years.”

Him on his back and he thanking each of his friends after learning of his victory. Genova captured 56% of the students who voted.

The new SGA treasurer will be Marc Orth who received 147 votes. Miguel Mena received 375 votes and Chloe Brown had 258 votes.

WORD THAT he had won the SGA election reached Genova in his room in Main Hall and his first reaction was an incredulous one but immediately he and some of his friends standing around him engulfed with yells of joy, his friends clapping him on his back and he thanking each one of them.

Speaking on the outcome of the election Genova stated that he felt “very good” that he had won. “I don’t know the number of student I had behind me (he did not know the tally of the election at this point but when I know it will give me an idea of how many people backed me.”

“Students of Montclair State are not swayed by the media or by referendums Detested

All three referendum questions failed because less than the required 30% of the student population voted in the SGA executive elections which also contained the referendums. Only 14% of the student body cast ballots on the referendum issues.

The first issue on the ballot concerned the lowering of the percentage required for ratification of referendums from 30% to 15%. Of the 1131 students that voted on this question, 568 (51%) voted yes while 563 (49%) voted no.

The second issue involved changing the required cum for SGA executive office from 2.5 to 2.0, the college cum requirement. The issue drew 560 affirmative votes (48%) and 603 (52%) negative votes, with 1163 students voting altogether.

WHO THE class One organizations should continue to be funded as Class One organizations was the third question listed on the ballot. It drew the lowest amount of student interest with only 964 votes.

However 682 (70%) of those that voted favored the continuance of the classes while 302 (29%) held the opposite opinion.

Michael Koster, SGA vice-president for external affairs, commenting on the failure of the issues, said that “it now up to the legislature”. He continued to say that they could continue to introduce the same referendum. Although Sam Tate, SGA president, has no plans to be introduced and voted on. However, he sees no way to increase the voter turnout in order to validate the results. Crane remarked that the failure of the referendums to achieve validity “amazes me.”

By Carla Capuzzi

Staff Writer

THE FIRST day of picketing apparently routed little response, however, Service station attendant Alex Kukitabu said that most drivers accepted the group’s literature but all “got gas anyway.”

One customer, apparently annoyed, refused any of the flyers or leaflets, she noted. Kukitahbu also pointed out the group had chosen a “slow time, early this morning," to picket. The demonstrators might have received a different response during a busier period, she commented.

Furbert said the group had communicated with Student Center Director Michael Loewenthal. He was said to be looking into other oil companies for possible replacements to Gulf. A representative from Gulf is expected to appear at a lecture on Friday, along with a female “freedom fighter” from Angola, Furbert said.

The demonstrators will return to man picket lines again today, according to Lloyd Furbert, a member of the Gulf Action Group. He indicated that the group will picket the station until it succeeds in removing Gulf from MSC. “We will escalate our activities according to response,” he commented.

While waiting for the final tally of the election Tom Barrett said, “This is enough to drive anybody to an ulcer.”

Barrett stated after he had seen the official tally that he will try to meet “the expectation of those who elected me to this office.”

“What hurt my margin over O’Keefe was that the MONTCLAIRON endorsed a presidential candidate and a candidate for treasurer but not for a vice-presidential candidate which hurt my campaign,” he said in the lobby of the first floor of the Student Center.

“I have a great deal of compassion for MSC because it’s taken one giant step backward,” King stated in the lobby of the first floor. However, King went on to say that he was not bitter about the results of the election.

The demonstrators will return to man picket lines again today, according to Lloyd Furbert, a member of the Gulf Action Group. He indicated that the group will picket the station until it succeeds in removing Gulf from MSC. “We will escalate our activities according to response,” he commented.
Menendez Addresses Environmental Convention

While some of MSC's student population spent their Easter vacations getting sand on Florida's beaches, sophomore Manny Menendez spent his hobnobbing and rubbing elbows with the authorities in Washington, D.C.

Menendez, the head of the environmental protection commission in his hometown of Caldwell, was invited to a national conference of environmental commissioners at the request of the then environmental protection agency director William Ruckelshaus, now the temporary director of the FBI.

At the conference, Menendez presented a statement on the anti-pollution devices established for automobiles. The tax requires that all cars must have such devices by 1976, these gadgets, according to Menendez' statement, will cost $300 to put on early model cars.

"There is uncertain difficulty," the statement continues, "for those car owners who have purchased models that are not equipped with the necessary control devices. Since these people have already purchased their cars and planned their budgets accordingly, they now find themselves at a serious disadvantage."

Menendez proposes "some adjustment through tax deduction or other manner to ease the burden for the common taxpayer."

The 19-year old student has been in charge of the seven-member board of environmental commissioners for the past year and a half. He was elected by the commissioners who are all "over 30" and, at age 18, was the youngest person to serve in this capacity in the nation.

Last Saturday, Menendez was the organizer and host of the Arbor Day Ceremonies in Caldwell.

Conversely, he is so involved in the ecology movement, the physical education major replied, "It's taking care of the world that you live in, taking care of all living things."

In addition to his work in Caldwell, Menendez does freelance photography for a New York-based firm and has made a tour of Europe taking pictures.

Menendez is currently the vice president of the physical education majors club. He also plays soccer and baseball and worked out with the track team this spring.

For some, all this activity might leave one gasping for an unpolished, that is, but for the diminutive Menendez, it's all in a day's work.
Carnival: "Something For Everyone"

Carnival co-chairman Carmela Marino expects the event this weekend to be "the biggest it's ever been," with "something for everyone." That "something" is a potpourri of games, entertainment and refreshments which includes just about everything from eating with your feet to fortune to candy apples to a karate demonstration.

A special added attraction of Carnival '73 is the site of beer and wine. From 6 pm to midnight Friday and noon to midnight Saturday, the Life Hall mall "will be filled with activity," Marino said. Spent 22 different student organizations will set up and operate booths selling souvenirs and refreshments, providing entertainment and featuring games of chance.

BEER AND WINE will be sold at two booths, but must be consumed on site. No carry-on will be permitted, she stressed. Campus and local police will be present at both booths and throughout the Carnival grounds.

A massage parlor is the attraction in one booth, Marino said. Another will feature a magician. VMS will pipe in music, she commented. A frisbee tournament and karate demonstrations are among the offerings of the Intramural Department, the Judoh, Cheer and Women's Volleyball club may also put on demonstrations. A free play area south of the mall is open to all students for volleyball and badminton games. Equipment will be provided free of charge.

Performances of the Likewild Theater will be presented in conjunction with Carnival, at 7 pm Friday and Saturday evenings. A puppeteer, O.T. Zappo, will put on two shows, at 1 and 2 pm on Saturday. These shows will be presented aimed to the many children who often are brought to Carnival, Marino explained.

However, Marino feels that the highlights of Carnival will be the hayride and pony rides offered for the first time this year. Another unusual first is the amusement called "the moonwalk," a huge air-filled tent planted.

Judging of the booths will take place early Friday night, Trophies will be awarded to the best money-making booths in the categories of food, games and entertainment souvenirs. The three booths judged highest in originality will also receive trophies.

Procedures From the various booths is used to pay the expenses of Carnival. Funds left after expenses are paid are divided among the participating groups. Each group whatever of at least 50% of its individual earnings, while the judges for its account of all its earnings.

Barbara Landry, a student and part-time waitress, commented that they are the same as prices anywhere. A puppetteer, O.T. Zappo, will put on two shows, at 1 and 2 pm on Saturday. These shows will be presented aimed to the many children who often are brought to Carnival, Marino explained.

However, Marino feels that the highlights of Carnival will be the hayride and pony rides offered for the first time this year. Another unusual first is the amusement called "the moonwalk," a huge air-filled tent planted.

Judging of the booths will take place early Friday night, Trophies will be awarded to the best money-making booths in the categories of food, games and entertainment souvenirs. The three booths judged highest in originality will also receive trophies.

Procedures From the various booths is used to pay the expenses of Carnival. Funds left after expenses are paid are divided among the participating groups. Each group whatever of at least 50% of its individual earnings, while the judges for its account of all its earnings.

Barbara Landry, a student and part-time waitress, commented that they are the same as prices anywhere. A puppetteer, O.T. Zappo, will put on two shows, at 1 and 2 pm on Saturday. These shows will be presented aimed to the many children who often are brought to Carnival, Marino explained.

However, Marino feels that the highlights of Carnival will be the hayride and pony rides offered for the first time this year. Another unusual first is the amusement called "the moonwalk," a huge air-filled tent planted.

Judging of the booths will take place early Friday night, Trophies will be awarded to the best money-making booths in the categories of food, games and entertainment souvenirs. The three booths judged highest in originality will also receive trophies.

Procedures From the various booths is used to pay the expenses of Carnival. Funds left after expenses are paid are divided among the participating groups. Each group whatever of at least 50% of its individual earnings, while the judges for its account of all its earnings.

Barbara Landry, a student and part-time waitress, commented that they are the same as prices anywhere. A puppetteer, O.T. Zappo, will put on two shows, at 1 and 2 pm on Saturday. These shows will be presented aimed to the many children who often are brought to Carnival, Marino explained.

However, Marino feels that the highlights of Carnival will be the hayride and pony rides offered for the first time this year. Another unusual first is the amusement called "the moonwalk," a huge air-filled tent planted.

Judging of the booths will take place early Friday night, Trophies will be awarded to the best money-making booths in the categories of food, games and entertainment souvenirs. The three booths judged highest in originality will also receive trophies.

Procedures From the various booths is used to pay the expenses of Carnival. Funds left after expenses are paid are divided among the participating groups. Each group whatever of at least 50% of its individual earnings, while the judges for its account of all its earnings.

Barbara Landry, a student and part-time waitress, commented that they are the same as prices anywhere. A puppetteer, O.T. Zappo, will put on two shows, at 1 and 2 pm on Saturday. These shows will be presented aimed to the many children who often are brought to Carnival, Marino explained.

However, Marino feels that the highlights of Carnival will be the hayride and pony rides offered for the first time this year. Another unusual first is the amusement called "the moonwalk," a huge air-filled tent planted.

Judging of the booths will take place early Friday night, Trophies will be awarded to the best money-making booths in the categories of food, games and entertainment souvenirs. The three booths judged highest in originality will also receive trophies.

Procedures From the various booths is used to pay the expenses of Carnival. Funds left after expenses are paid are divided among the participating groups. Each group whatever of at least 50% of its individual earnings, while the judges for its account of all its earnings.

Barbara Landry, a student and part-time waitress, commented that they are the same as prices anywhere. A puppetteer, O.T. Zappo, will put on two shows, at 1 and 2 pm on Saturday. These shows will be presented aimed to the many children who often are brought to Carnival, Marino explained.

However, Marino feels that the highlights of Carnival will be the hayride and pony rides offered for the first time this year. Another unusual first is the amusement called "the moonwalk," a huge air-filled tent planted.

Judging of the booths will take place early Friday night, Trophies will be awarded to the best money-making booths in the categories of food, games and entertainment souvenirs. The three booths judged highest in originality will also receive trophies.

Procedures From the various booths is used to pay the expenses of Carnival. Funds left after expenses are paid are divided among the participating groups. Each group whatever of at least 50% of its individual earnings, while the judges for its account of all its earnings.

Barbara Landry, a student and part-time waitress, commented that they are the same as prices anywhere. A puppetteer, O.T. Zappo, will put on two shows, at 1 and 2 pm on Saturday. These shows will be presented aimed to the many children who often are brought to Carnival, Marino explained.

However, Marino feels that the highlights of Carnival will be the hayride and pony rides offered for the first time this year. Another unusual first is the amusement called "the moonwalk," a huge air-filled tent planted.

Judging of the booths will take place early Friday night, Trophies will be awarded to the best money-making booths in the categories of food, games and entertainment souvenirs. The three booths judged highest in originality will also receive trophies.

Procedures From the various booths is used to pay the expenses of Carnival. Funds left after expenses are paid are divided among the participating groups. Each group whatever of at least 50% of its individual earnings, while the judges for its account of all its earnings.

Barbara Landry, a student and part-time waitress, commented that they are the same as prices anywhere. A puppetteer, O.T. Zappo, will put on two shows, at 1 and 2 pm on Saturday. These shows will be presented aimed to the many children who often are brought to Carnival, Marino explained.

However, Marino feels that the highlights of Carnival will be the hayride and pony rides offered for the first time this year. Another unusual first is the amusement called "the moonwalk," a huge air-filled tent planted.

Judging of the booths will take place early Friday night, Trophies will be awarded to the best money-making booths in the categories of food, games and entertainment souvenirs. The three booths judged highest in originality will also receive trophies.

Procedures From the various booths is used to pay the expenses of Carnival. Funds left after expenses are paid are divided among the participating groups. Each group whatever of at least 50% of its individual earnings, while the judges for its account of all its earnings.
TODAY, WEDNESDAY, MAY 2
TENNIS. Monmouth College at MSC, 2:30 pm.
BASEBALL. Monmouth College at MSC, 3 pm.
DISCUSSION. Sponsored by the Psych Club. "A Panel on Women's Psychology," Russe Hall Lounge, 4-5:30 pm.
CATACOMB. Life Hall Cafeteria, 8 pm.

THURSDAY, MAY 3
MOVIE. CINA presents: "December 7, 1941 - 'You Are There'." Ballroom B, Student Center, 1 pm. Admission free.
JEWISH STUDENT UNION. Hebrew language course. JSU Lounge, second floor Lille Hall, 2:30-5 pm.
LEGAL ADVICE AND SERVICE. SGA office, fourth floor.

FRIDAY, MAY 4
LIKWID THEATER. Student Center Ballroom, 7 pm. Admission: $.74.

SATURDAY, MAY 5
BASEBALL. MSC at Trenton State, 1 pm.
TENNIS. Trenton State at MSC, 1 pm.
LACROSSE. MSC at Stevens Institute, 1 pm.
LIKWID THEATER. Student Center Ballroom, 7 pm. Admission: $.74.

MONDAY, MAY 7
LA CAMPANA. Senior Photos. Work file Room, Student Center, 8 am.
SPANISH CLUB MEETING. G-118, 3-4 pm.
BASEBALL. MSC at Baruch College, 7:30 pm.

ROBIN HOOD INN
"Good Service, Great Food!"
1129 Valley Road
Clifton, N.J.
744-4510

THE ACADEMIC RESEARCH GROUP, INC.
240 Park Avenue
Rutherford, N.J. 07070
(201) 939-0189
REPORTS, PAPERS, RESEARCH MATERIAL
Quality Service. Low Rates
Call, write or come in.
Mon-Fri: 9-4 Sat: 10-3

PROBLEM PREGNANCY
Help is as near as your phone call.
call 427-5142
Free and Confidential

SCHILLER'S
The Complete Bookstore
Paramus Next to Gimbels
843-3727
Over 30,000 Titles in Stock.
Including Large Selection in Psychology, History, Sociology,
Literature, Business, Film,
Education, etc.

Open up

The Sport of Parachuting
Demonstration, Film And Lecture
Tues., May 8
Fourth Floor, Student Center

Make the most of it!

Benelli Motorcycles
THE ONLY MOTORCYCLE WITH A 25,000-MILE OR
25-MONTH WARRANTY
LITTLE CAR CO.
173 GLENRIDGE AVE.
MONTCLAIR
783-5380.

Schiller's

40 days until graduation.

Guarantee yourself a summer job.
American Hostess Corp. has positions available in marketing and sales. Start now part-time and start full-time in the summer.
Excellent experience for business administration students. Scholarships available. Call 901-462-10 am or 4 pm for information. Ask for Ms. Turpin.

When you enroll in Air Force ROTC you can get more than a chance at a scholarship and a chance at free flying lessons....

You get a tax-free monthly personal allowance of $100.

If it wasn't, here's a second chance.

BUDWEISER malt liquor

The Sport of Parachuting
Demonstration, Film And Lecture
Tues., May 8
Fourth Floor, Student Center

Guarantee yourself a summer job.
American Hostess Corp. has positions available in marketing and sales. Start now part-time and start full-time in the summer.
Excellent experience for business administration students. Scholarships available. Call 901-462-10 am or 4 pm for information. Ask for Ms. Turpin.

When you enroll in Air Force ROTC you can get more than a chance at a scholarship and a chance at free flying lessons....

You get a tax-free monthly personal allowance of $100.

If it wasn't, here's a second chance.

BUDWEISER malt liquor

The Sport of Parachuting
Demonstration, Film And Lecture
Tues., May 8
Fourth Floor, Student Center

Guarantee yourself a summer job.
American Hostess Corp. has positions available in marketing and sales. Start now part-time and start full-time in the summer.
Excellent experience for business administration students. Scholarships available. Call 901-462-10 am or 4 pm for information. Ask for Ms. Turpin.

When you enroll in Air Force ROTC you can get more than a chance at a scholarship and a chance at free flying lessons....

You get a tax-free monthly personal allowance of $100.

If it wasn't, here's a second chance.

BUDWEISER malt liquor

The Sport of Parachuting
Demonstration, Film And Lecture
Tues., May 8
Fourth Floor, Student Center

Guarantee yourself a summer job.
American Hostess Corp. has positions available in marketing and sales. Start now part-time and start full-time in the summer.
Excellent experience for business administration students. Scholarships available. Call 901-462-10 am or 4 pm for information. Ask for Ms. Turpin.

When you enroll in Air Force ROTC you can get more than a chance at a scholarship and a chance at free flying lessons....

You get a tax-free monthly personal allowance of $100.

If it wasn't, here's a second chance.

BUDWEISER malt liquor

The Sport of Parachuting
Demonstration, Film And Lecture
Tues., May 8
Fourth Floor, Student Center

Guarantee yourself a summer job.
American Hostess Corp. has positions available in marketing and sales. Start now part-time and start full-time in the summer.
Excellent experience for business administration students. Scholarships available. Call 901-462-10 am or 4 pm for information. Ask for Ms. Turpin.

When you enroll in Air Force ROTC you can get more than a chance at a scholarship and a chance at free flying lessons....

You get a tax-free monthly personal allowance of $100.

If it wasn't, here's a second chance.

BUDWEISER malt liquor

The Sport of Parachuting
Demonstration, Film And Lecture
Tues., May 8
Fourth Floor, Student Center

Guarantee yourself a summer job.
American Hostess Corp. has positions available in marketing and sales. Start now part-time and start full-time in the summer.
Excellent experience for business administration students. Scholarships available. Call 901-462-10 am or 4 pm for information. Ask for Ms. Turpin.

When you enroll in Air Force ROTC you can get more than a chance at a scholarship and a chance at free flying lessons....

You get a tax-free monthly personal allowance of $100.

If it wasn't, here's a second chance.

BUDWEISER malt liquor

The Sport of Parachuting
Demonstration, Film And Lecture
Tues., May 8
Fourth Floor, Student Center

Guarantee yourself a summer job.
American Hostess Corp. has positions available in marketing and sales. Start now part-time and start full-time in the summer.
Excellent experience for business administration students. Scholarships available. Call 901-462-10 am or 4 pm for information. Ask for Ms. Turpin.

When you enroll in Air Force ROTC you can get more than a chance at a scholarship and a chance at free flying lessons....

You get a tax-free monthly personal allowance of $100.

If it wasn't, here's a second chance.

BUDWEISER malt liquor

The Sport of Parachuting
Demonstration, Film And Lecture
Tues., May 8
Fourth Floor, Student Center

Guarantee yourself a summer job.
American Hostess Corp. has positions available in marketing and sales. Start now part-time and start full-time in the summer.
Excellent experience for business administration students. Scholarships available. Call 901-462-10 am or 4 pm for information. Ask for Ms. Turpin.

When you enroll in Air Force ROTC you can get more than a chance at a scholarship and a chance at free flying lessons....

You get a tax-free monthly personal allowance of $100.

If it wasn't, here's a second chance.

BUDWEISER malt liquor
Two blood drives a year - one in May and another in November. The blood given in May goes to the MSC Blood Bank and the drive in November usually benefits hemophiliacs. Last November Robert and David Cochener, two brothers who are hemophiliacs, were given 300 pints of blood. They are still about 300 pints in debt. Butler noted that the credits (blood donated) left from the last drive will be donated to them.

By Marilyn Barnes

A Pint For A Pint

By Vincent Biunno

Asian Club Formed

The Veterans Affairs Office

Who Desire Tutoring

Course Registration

For The Good Old Summertime

Turn Mother's Day into Mother's Week

A Sweet Surprise your Mother will love.

Find out how easy it is to send flowers the FTD way. Drop in for your FREE Selection Guide. Wherever you see the famous FTD symbol, you'll be welcome.
The Trust is Gone

On August 29, 1972, President Richard Nixon told members of the press that “no one in the White House staff, no one in this administration, presently employed, was involved…” in the Watergate bugging incident.

Last night, in an unbelievably poor speech, Nixon publicly accepted the resignations of White House aides John D. Ehrlichman, John W. Dean and H.R. Haldeman after the implication of these men in the now infamous Watergate case. Nixon also accepted the resignation of Attorney General Richard Kleindienst, who resigned because of his close personal and professional association with the fallen members of the Nixon administration.

In his speech, Nixon proclaimed his undying loyalty and love for the country guided by saying “God bless all of you.” After the wave of nausea that must have passed over the nation subdued, the gravity of the situation becomes apparent.

Americans have always had great respect for the office of the President even if they do not particularly like the man who holds that office. The Watergate scandal, however, has shattered Nixon’s image.

Nixon firmly adheres to the story that he was assured of the innocence of his aides and when it became apparent that the story was false, he ordered a full investigation. It seems inconceivable that the President’s two closest advisors would attempt something of that magnitude without consulting him.

It is possible, however, when the personalities of Ehrlichmann and Haldeman are considered. These are men who have vigorously isolated the President from all criticism. They have surrounded him with men who share his political opinions and his mistrust of the press. These men are largely responsible for the widening gap between Nixon and the American people. Whether they conspired to do this final step for what they considered to be the good of the President without his consent remains unanswered question.

It is a question which was not answered by Nixon in his syrupy speech last night. The speech was poorly written and our tear-eyed President used some very tired cliches. Although the Rev. Billy Graham suggests a return “to the law of Moses” and prayer as a solution to this problem it has completely destroyed much of that respect.

Although the Rev. Billy Graham suggests a return “to the law of Moses” and prayer as a solution to this problem it has completely destroyed much of that respect.

For many students the activities of Gulf leaves are not only unprofitable but downright impoverishing. Suppose I chose not to avail myself of $60 worth of student activities during the school year, which many students do, double, choose not to do. By golly, I need that money to pay those ridiculous prices in the cafeteria every day.

End Forced SGA Fee

Gary Hoitsma

During the recent SGA election campaign, it was obvious that the candidates were courting issues to talk about. Even though the campaign itself is now over, a fortuitous discussion of the one issue which directly concerns every student is long overdue; namely, that the mandatory student activities fee should be terminated. The reasons why manipulating students should not be required to pay the fee are both practical and theoretical. Consider:

Every year each student is forced to hand over $60 to the SGA. The SGA represents a minority of students. It will probably be considered good if 2000 of our 7000 students bothered to vote in the recent SGA election. In addition, it is being asserted that we should lower than 30% to 15% the percentage of the student body required to vote in order to make a passed referendum effective:

The effect of which would be to increase the tyranny of the minority over the majority. Whatever happened to democracy and majority rule?

DANGER!

The minority SGA, which, according to the MONTCLAIRION, is in danger of being deprived of power “it cannot afford to lose” if the turnout requirement is not lowered from 2.5 to 2.0 (what’s this world coming to?), will in turn spend the majority’s money regardless of the majority’s wishes.

For many students the activities fee is not only unprofitable but outright impoverishing. Suppose I chose not to avail myself of $60 worth of student activities during the school year, which many students do, double, choose not to do. By golly, I need that money to pay those ridiculous prices in the cafeteria every day.

FORCED

The mandatory fee is an insult to our intelligence. It assumes that you know how best to spend your own money regardless of the majority’s wishes. If I personally resent the fact that my intelligence is presumed, why should I have to pay a tax of $60 to have it tested? The SGA itself has jettisoned, once students understand their right to be taxed, the spontaneous generated dollar is not the money which donors voluntarily.

And in the interests of education this voluntary fee and that all the present campus organizations will die as a result. To the extent that this is true, it is based almost purely on economic ignorance of the above. And in the interests of education this ignorance should be corrected.

MONEY

I contend that once the myth of the spontaneously generated dollar is jettisoned, once students understand that they cannot have anything without paying for it and that they are right now paying for much that they don’t want, then they will not hesitantly to keep alive those organizations they want by paying for them voluntarily.

The organizations themselves should endeavor to raise money privately through the use of advertising, fund-raising activities, and admission charges at their events.

They should use their imaginations and try some of their own entrepreneurship which, may even help them learn to upon leaving MSC, they must confront the “real” world.

Those organizations which cannot survive in this manner simply do not have enough student support to justify their continued existence. Teachers.

For many students the activities fee is not only unprofitable but outright impoverishing. Suppose I chose not to avail myself of $60 worth of student activities during the school year, which many students do, double, choose not to do. By golly, I need that money to pay those ridiculous prices in the cafeteria every day.

The mandatory fee is an insult to our intelligence. It assumes that you know how best to spend your own money regardless of the majority’s wishes. If I personally resent the fact that my intelligence is presumed, why should I have to pay a tax of $60 to have it tested? The SGA itself has jettisoned, once students understand their right to be taxed, the spontaneous generated dollar is not the money which donors voluntarily.

And in the interests of education this voluntary fee and that all the present campus organizations will die as a result. To the extent that this is true, it is based almost purely on economic ignorance of the above. And in the interests of education this ignorance should be corrected.

Those organizations which cannot survive in this manner simply do not have enough student support to justify their continued existence. Teachers.

End Forced SGA Fee

Gary Hoitsma

Finally, the mandatory fee perpetuates economic illiteracy in that people continue to possess the illusion that guest speakers, athletic events, etc., are “free”. As your economics teacher will be the first to tell you, nothing is “free”, somewhere along the line somebody pays. In this case it is you and I who are paying for everything whether we want to or not.

The immediate solution is to make the fee voluntary. Now I can already hear the cries of those who will say that nobody will pay a voluntary fee and that all the present campus organizations will die as a result. To the extent that this is true, it is based almost purely on economic ignorance of the above. And in the interests of education this ignorance should be corrected.

MONEY

I contend that once the myth of the spontaneously generated dollar is jettisoned, once students understand that they cannot have anything without paying for it and that they are right now paying for much that they don’t want, then they will not hesitantly to keep alive those organizations they want by paying for them voluntarily.

The organizations themselves should endeavor to raise money privately through the use of advertising, fund-raising activities, and admission charges at their events.

They should use their imaginations and try some of their own entrepreneurship which, may even help them learn to upon leaving MSC, they must confront the “real” world.

Those organizations which cannot survive in this manner simply do not have enough student support to justify their continued existence. Teachers.
Guest Spot

Oil Costs Shake Dollar

By Mike Lynch
Perspective Editor

Last month the newspapers were filled with headlines like, "Dollar under attack in world money markets" and suddenly our currency was devalued 10% for the second consecutive year. The basic problem boils down to this - there are too many dollars floating around outside the United States because America imports more than she exports. This means that billions of dollars go overseas and don't come back.

The money panic in Europe is mirrored in America. The United States remains a great and powerful nation, but we must understand our limitations. The conservatives must realize that we can't afford to play global policeman, and the liberals should attack tax-dodging oilmen, not new oil wells. With a little luck and some pragmatic planning, our technology will eventually come to the rescue.

Rebuttal

Students Are Not 'Lambs' of Past

By James F. Pettingrove
English Professor

In the April 5 issue of the MONTCLAIRON, Mr. Gary Hoitsma regrets the superficiality of education on this campus, he feels this "is the inevitable result of the intellectual stagnation that has set in with the ascendancy of liberalism." In a carefully reasoned presentation, Mr. Hoitsma seems to deplore the purpose, aims, courses, and content of the education pursued by MSC students. I should like to react to some aspects of this challenging article.

"FUNDAMENTALS"

To be educated, says the writer, is "to know what right conduct is." One wonders whose "right" is meant. Bertrand Russell said pacifism was "right" during World War I, the British government jailed him because, for all his education, he was "wrong." Would not an education in right conduct amount to indoctrination?

If education's aim is to "forward knowledge," one must ask which knowledge. In view of the modern proliferation of the sciences, the traditional approach to education through the "fundamentals" has lost much of its meaning. To be sure, there are some consequences which the student can hardly avoid.

THE PAST

Current affairs, according to Mr. Hoitsma, are not essential to an education. Serious courses ought not, he feels, to cater to students' emotional needs. When change is slow and relatively predictable, there was considerable value in centering one's study on the past. I recently read that the navigators of the Spanish Armada sailed by Julius Caesar's directions in his Gallic Wars. Today events move more rapidly, and fundamentals vanish overnight. In our time what is more basic than environmental studies?

The present and the future have superseded the past as the central point of education. Mr. Hoitsma states that the present and future cannot be grasped without an acquaintance with the past. Of course he's right. One cannot understand his personal tolerances, prejudices, and motives in general, without examining his past.

INVESTIGATING

In my opinion, MSC students are better informed, more eager to learn, less fettered by indoctrination, than ever before. Granted, uninterested people will never vanish from the earth - nor from college campuses. MSC students today are not the lambs we used to herd into Processions programs. Lambs are knowable, yes, but at least they can only develop into sheep.

College Life Union Board

Presents

Assemblywoman Ann Klein
Candidate For Governor Of New Jersey

To Discuss Such Topics As
Women In Politics, Taxes, Tuition, Etc.

Thursday, May 10
Noon - 3 p.m.
Ballroom A Student Center
Great American Novel Strikes Out

By Joan Miketzuk
Staff Writer

Attempting to review Philip Roth's latest book "The Great American Novel" (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 382 pages, $8.95), is sort of like contemplating one of those apple turnovers (no slight to apple pie intended) with 32 layers of pastry. The book can fill a summer afternoon or evening with a few chuckles and guffaws because it is funny (honestly), especially in the beginning. But if entertainment was Roth's only purpose in writing the tale of the Ruppert Mundys baseball team, he should have stopped after the first chapter. After that the humor takes a tumble, becoming almost sickly in taste and character. A section which describes the old Negro League is enough to turn one's stomach, but at the same time too it is enough to force the blood to rush to one's face in shame. Likewise is another section depicting the adventures of two midgets in the Patriot League: the humor is sick, but the indictment of American treatment of the handicapped is clear.

In SIMILAR fashion, Roth spends most of the book taking swipes at Americas with his typewriter and he hits harder than if swinging with a 34 ounce baseball bat. Using baseball as a model of society, the author touches all bases as he sends the reader back to the centerfield fence in search of the ideals he has destroyed. The supposed sacredness of American literature is called out on strikes, Herman Melville batting leadoff, in the first line: "Call me Smitty." Borrowing techniques from Melville's much-celebrated but seldom-read "Moby Dick" and a lengthy introduction from Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter," Roth lets fly using the annual losers of Port Ruppert, N.J., as his targets.

The Mundys, a conglomerate of kooks and degenerates, are evicted from their hometown because of Hitler's War and are forced to play all their games in "away gray." Roth takes the reader behind the scenes of the ballclub and its front office, portraying The American version of "big business" and the "fate of many in the hands of few" pictures in vivid color.

WINNING FOR the Mundys is success and success is printed in green and white portraits of Washington, Lincoln, Hamilton, et al. Corruption runs rampant through the pages and along the basepaths in the chase for the elusive buck that accompanies fame and fortune.

The Mundys obtain the latter via the ingestion of the Breakfast of Champions (Wheaties) which are supercharged by Isaac, the super kid with the super mind. Isaac is hardly altruistic, seeking only to make money by betting on the Mundys during their brief winning streak. The plot falls though, however, as the team loses their last game by 31 runs and Isaac loses his small fortune.

If I didn't know better, I'd swear the author of "Goodbye, Columbus" and "Portnoy's Complaint" was pulling my leg with all this. Unfortunately, he's not.

You can laugh through "The Great American Novel." You can wince through "The Great American Novel." But it is impossible not to think about "The Great American Novel." The book itself, though, is based on a tired theme. Roth is trying to throw a scuffed up baseball and make it do tricks. Written five or 10 years ago, the book would have been as brilliant. Now, it's just another look in the mirror.
Three scenes from three different operas will be performed by the Opera Workshop in a performance on Tues., May 8, at 7:30 pm in Studio Opera Workshop in a performance on Theater Department will be performed.

The operas being performed are "Orpheus and Euridice" by Gluck, "Rigoletto" by Verdi and "The Count Ory" by Rossini.

The program, which is open to the public at a charge - $2.50 for Monclair State College Students, $5.00 for other students and $8 for non-students - is under the direction of Jack Sacher and Donald Sobolik, Monclair State faculty members.

The SCENE for the Gluck opera is set in a dark subterranean vault between the land of the living and the world of the living. Orpheus has been allowed to bring his beloved Euridice back to life, provided he not look at her until the upper world has been reached.

The "Rigoletto" scene depicts a tavern and its surroundings along the banks of the Mincio River, just beyond the walls of the city of Mantua. Rigoletto, a hunchback, is freeing his employer under the protection of Duke of Mantua, against whom Rigoletto has sworn vengeance for the seduction of his daughter, Gilda.

The special scene chosen from the Rossini opera is a lighter vein. The opera is "The Count Ory" by Rossini, set in a dark subterranean vault between the land of the living and the world of the living. Orpheus has been allowed to bring his beloved Euridice back to life, provided he not look at her until the upper world has been reached.

The "Rigoletto" scene depicts a tavern and its surroundings along the banks of the Mincio River, just beyond the walls of the city of Mantua. Rigoletto, a hunchback, is freeing his employer under the protection of Duke of Mantua, against whom Rigoletto has sworn vengeance for the seduction of his daughter, Gilda.

The special scene chosen from the Rossini opera is a lighter vein. The opera is "The Count Ory" by Rossini, set in a dark subterranean vault between the land of the living and the world of the living. Orpheus has been allowed to bring his beloved Euridice back to life, provided he not look at her until the upper world has been reached.

The "Rigoletto" scene depicts a tavern and its surroundings along the banks of the Mincio River, just beyond the walls of the city of Mantua. Rigoletto, a hunchback, is freeing his employer under the protection of Duke of Mantua, against whom Rigoletto has sworn vengeance for the seduction of his daughter, Gilda.

The special scene chosen from the Rossini opera is a lighter vein. The opera is "The Count Ory" by Rossini, set in a dark subterranean vault between the land of the living and the world of the living. Orpheus has been allowed to bring his beloved Euridice back to life, provided he not look at her until the upper world has been reached.

The "Rigoletto" scene depicts a tavern and its surroundings along the banks of the Mincio River, just beyond the walls of the city of Mantua. Rigoletto, a hunchback, is freeing his employer under the protection of Duke of Mantua, against whom Rigoletto has sworn vengeance for the seduction of his daughter, Gilda.

The special scene chosen from the Rossini opera is a lighter vein. The opera is "The Count Ory" by Rossini, set in a dark subterranean vault between the land of the living and the world of the living. Orpheus has been allowed to bring his beloved Euridice back to life, provided he not look at her until the upper world has been reached.

The "Rigoletto" scene depicts a tavern and its surroundings along the banks of the Mincio River, just beyond the walls of the city of Mantua. Rigoletto, a hunchback, is freeing his employer under the protection of Duke of Mantua, against whom Rigoletto has sworn vengeance for the seduction of his daughter, Gilda.

The special scene chosen from the Rossini opera is a lighter vein. The opera is "The Count Ory" by Rossini, set in a dark subterranean vault between the land of the living and the world of the living. Orpheus has been allowed to bring his beloved Euridice back to life, provided he not look at her until the upper world has been reached.

The "Rigoletto" scene depicts a tavern and its surroundings along the banks of the Mincio River, just beyond the walls of the city of Mantua. Rigoletto, a hunchback, is freeing his employer under the protection of Duke of Mantua, against whom Rigoletto has sworn vengeance for the seduction of his daughter, Gilda.

The special scene chosen from the Rossini opera is a lighter vein. The opera is "The Count Ory" by Rossini, set in a dark subterranean vault between the land of the living and the world of the living. Orpheus has been allowed to bring his beloved Euridice back to life, provided he not look at her until the upper world has been reached.

The "Rigoletto" scene depicts a tavern and its surroundings along the banks of the Mincio River, just beyond the walls of the city of Mantua. Rigoletto, a hunchback, is freeing his employer under the protection of Duke of Mantua, against whom Rigoletto has sworn vengeance for the seduction of his daughter, Gilda.

The special scene chosen from the Rossini opera is a lighter vein. The opera is "The Count Ory" by Rossini, set in a dark subterranean vault between the land of the living and the world of the living. Orpheus has been allowed to bring his beloved Euridice back to life, provided he not look at her until the upper world has been reached.
Senior Banquet
May 18, 1973
Neptune Inn, Route 4, Paramus
Tickets -$8/person
SENIORS ONLY

Cocktail Hour 7-8 PM 3 Hr. Open Bar
Dinner & Dancing Class Gift Presented

Music By
Ruby And The Dykes

350 Seats Avail.
STUDENT CENTER LOBBY MAY 7

IMPORTANT:
Also pick up graduation invitations at same table
By Joan Miketzuk
Sports Writer

It didn't take much time, in fact it took less than half an hour for slaughter to take place. MSC's lacrosse team netted four goals in the first period of last Wednesday's game with York College and from that point on it was only a matter of finishing the job, 11-2.

Co-captains Bill Paladino and Dick Keller were accomplices to the crime, each scoring three goals and riddling the York defense most of the afternoon. Houston Webber was the team's henchman, tallying two goals and assisting on Paladino's second marker.

TIM FLYNN was responsible for the first strike and Webber, Paladino and Keller followed up before the second quarter started.

Two straight Paladino goals, the last assisted by Charlie Noonan, put MSC up, 5-0, and completed the first strike and Webber, Paladino and Keller followed up before the second quarter started.

Franklin Walker scored MSC's 10th goal when he netted a rebound of a Paladino shot midway through the fourth quarter.

Webber, who had been frustrated by Gaddie a few times and hit the crossbar once, ended his frustration when he put a hard, waist-high shot on the York goalie. Keller finished his hat trick with about two minutes left to play but York had long been buried.

Friday's game with Maritime College was washed out and will be rescheduled for the near future. Following yesterday's contest with Southampton College, the MSC squad travels to Stevens Institute Saturday for a 3 pm game.

THE SUBURBAN
Friday and Saturday Night
Live Entertainment
Wednesdays . . . . . . . . . . . . Singles Night
Pizza - Home Style Sandwiches
619 Bloomfield Avenue Ample Parking
Montclair, N. J.
(Just off Valley Road intersection)
Guys Drop First Game

By John Tobiason

Sports Writer

Last Monday, Montclair State College's tennis team lost their first meet of the year, at Upsala College, 6-1. This was a complete turnaround from the results of last week.

All the Montclair State College tennis courts were empty late on this gray overcast Wednesday morning, a typical scene where Petey Krukel, playing his baseline style, battled intense, hot tempered Don LeFante of Newark College of Engineering. Both men were grizzled.

HAVING LOST the first set, 4-6, LeFante had battled back to take a 5-lead in the second. Yet Krukel refused to yield. coolly returning LeFante's drives low and hard, he took the crucial 12th game, to set up a nine-point tie breaker. Shouting "Whoa!" he kept the set in victory to clear hands with his disappointed foe.

The small clutch of about 15 spectators, mostly teammates, broke into a roar. The win gave MSc a 5-1 margin, clinching the victory and extending the Indians' undefeated streak to seven. The doubles results brought the final score to 7-2.

"The key was being steady," said the suphrenme Krukel, taking the "hit - and - hit" game from the LeFante baseline. "I played steadier than usual, hitting back and deep" he expounded...grandiose.

TALL TANNED George List easily whipped NCE's John Tobiason, 6-1, 6-0. In a battle of the underdogs, MSc's John Donovanley was unable to capitalize on enough of Chuck Kirby's occasional mistakes, lob balls and drop shots to take off the result, 7-6, 7-6.

"I had a first set," explained the lanky junior to his teammate, "then I just fell apart in the second."

Intramurals Stumble In Administrative Undergrowth

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveller, long I stood
And looked down as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth,

When I had heard that the intramural department was going to become separate from the athletic department, I immediately thought of Robert Frost's poem "The Road Not Taken." It seemed fitting to use the words depicting the fork in the road as an introduction to a column on the great schism.

But these words have a sadder tinge. They are almost a reminiscence of Robert Frost's poem "The Road Not Taken." It seemed fitting to use the words depicting the fork in the road as an introduction to a column on the great schism.

THE FIRST hint of the split came in January. In the intramural department, they moved out of the athletic office at the rear of the main gym and into a little cubbyhole in the right corner in the basement of College High School.

Rumors flew faster than snowflakes (it was a gray winter, remember?) People talked in hushed voices about "what's going on down at the gym," glances were exchanged, snickers were muffled; secret conferences were held. The chess pieces of the campus were in motion in strange and unusual ways. No one opened with P-K4.

IMTRAMLAR DIRECTOR Hami Schmidt and his assistant Barry Henni, who arrived at this campus from Alabama in September, had just together a hang-up program in the fall semester. Those umpires run by the intramural director, the divorce of the two had not taken place. Strange bedfellows though they were, athletics and intramurals seemed destined to be fighting over who's got the most money. And in a sense this was inevitable, because the president's desk. "It's out of my hands." "I don't know a thing about it."

Despite the fact that a neat little diagram of the Panzer structure school had been sketched and distributed, with athletics run by the national Athletic Association, and intramurals run by the intramural director, the separation of the two had not taken place. Strange bedfellows though they were, athletics and intramurals seemed destined to be fighting over who's got the most money. And in a sense this was inevitable, because the president's desk. "It's out of my hands." "I don't know a thing about it."

With a sadder tinge, they are almost a reminiscence of Robert Frost's poem "The Road Not Taken." It seemed fitting to use the words depicting the fork in the road as an introduction to a column on the great schism.

The variety of answers ranged from the ridiculous to the vague and fuzzy. "It's not official yet," "It's on the president's desk." "It's not official yet," "It's on the president's desk." "It's out of my hands." "I don't know a thing about it." Everyone knew, but no one knew for sure.

Then the new catalogue for 1973-74 made its appearance and only helped compound matters further. It listed the intramural department separately from athletics. If it's printed in the catalogue, everyone must know about it. It must be official, right? Wrong. Inquiries addressed to the powers that be blocked one of the biggest moves, despite the fact that the separation of intramurals and varsity sports was recommended by a committee studying the subject three years ago, despite the fact that the dean of the School of Professional Arts and Sciences approved the move, despite the fact that the national trend is towards autonomous boards of intramurals, run by students and supervised by intramural directors, despite all this, to use a cliché, "It can't happen here."

The chance was there this semester. But too many people played jump rope over the abyss with red tape.

Intramurals Stumble In Administrative Undergrowth

Gals Still Undefeated

By John Tobiason

Sports Writer

Last Monday, Montclair State College's women's tennis team completed their second consecutive shutout win, trouncing Upsala 5-0. About 20 spectators were on hand to see the fuzzy sphere go "thud-thud" overwhelmingly in favor of the home Squaws. Four out of five matches were decided in straight sets. Only D.J. Novogrod took three sets to win.

NOVOGROD WON the first set, 6-2, and things looked easy. But in a sudden reversal, she dropped the next, 6-0. Her baseline game disintegrated and she blew a couple of easy shots. After the first set she let down," coach Karen Anderson remarked, "but she's strong, she'll come through."

And so she did. Darin left and right, Novogrod kept her opponent off balance and managed to regain control of the game with her long drives to the baseline.

With a 5-1 lead, she wound up her serve, fired the ball, and calmly watched her opponent hit out to end the game and the match. Smartering applause broke out from the crowd.

"I knew I'd win," "Novogrod smiled, holding her racket under one arm, "but I don't know I knew."

"I thought I'd get more out of breath," she explained.

With a confident, smile occasionally breaking through her stern facade, Denise Fiore handled Upsala's Joanne Berens 6-0, 6-2, in the quickest singles match of the day.

"It was a good match," she explained.

"I hadn't played her before, and she had no experience."

"We had to get our bearings," Anderson interjected, "then we just fell apart in the second."

The doubles team of Pixie Falcon and Cathy Sierbeck romped to a 6-1, 6-0 win, followed by Roberta Vasko and Mary Ellen Mahan, who did them one better, 6-0, 6-0.