The selling of both beer and wine at Carnival was to be a sort of testing ground for the opening of the Rathskeller in which Little Falls officials would determine the fate of the Rathskeller on the basis of the outcomes of the weekend event. Michael Koser, SGA vice-president of internal affairs, attended an open meeting held on Monday night in the Municipal Building of Little Falls to observe the kind of effect Carnival would have on a liquor license for the Rathskeller. "We are still waiting to decide," he said. Koser stated that the proposed liquor license was neither brought up nor discussed during the meeting.

The difficulty surrounding the liquor license for the Rathskeller is centered on a Little Falls ordinance that allows for only two liquor licenses in the Little Falls area. The American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars have the two licenses. Carnival's effect on the Little Falls decision on the liquor license "depends on whether or not the Little Falls officials were sincere" in stating that they would judge the liquor license with Carnival as the testing ground to see the effect the selling of liquor would have on the college community.

Koser stated that many Little Falls residents oppose the liquor license because of the murder that occurred on this campus in late October. Many apparently feel that with the selling of liquor on the campus the potentiality of murder would increase.

Koser also stated that a proposal of the Clove Rd. project for the building of apartments was discussed during the course of the meeting. "Nothing was reaffirmed," he said, "but the project was violently opposed," he continued.

Weary Dampens Carnival Spirit

For those who attended Carnival, the event was a success "in spite of the weather," according to Mike Ruiz, Carnival co-chairman. He stated that the people had a "good time" which is the purpose of Carnival.

"It's a shame that after so much work went into Carnival, freak weather put a damper on it," he said.

Carmela Marinino, co-chairman of Carnival, agreed that Carnival was a success "considering the weather." Both Marinino and Ruiz stated that if the weather was better, the turnout for the event would have been larger.

According to Ruiz, 20 MSC organizations had booths at Carnival. "We are proud of the organizations that did stick out the weather. There's talk of apathy, but they worked hard and put their all into Carnival and despite of the cold weather manned the booths."

Speaking on the selling of beer and wine at Carnival, both Marinino and Ruiz stated that the situation was handled "well." "There were no any problems," Ruiz said. He went on to say that selling liquor at Carnival was a harder situation to control than the Rathskeller.

According to Marinino, there were Montclair policemen at the booths selling liquor checking on the ages of those who bought the beer or wine.

Koser stated that Little Falls has brought in an environmental protection agency to oppose the project. He went on to say that the building contractor had asked for a copy of the laws involved with the building of the apartments. To Koser's knowledge the town has refused to send the contractor a copy of the laws. He (the contractor) must go to Little Falls to pick up those copies.

MSC’s newest student publication made its debut this week. Its underground comic-style cover carries the warning that it “has absolutely no relation to anything within these yellow pages.” Setting the tone for the first issue of Nu Galumph.

The “skinny little pamphlet” is a smaller, mimeographed and stapled version of its parent publication, Galumph. In the Galumph tradition, it features humor, satire and commentary (“I may not be to everyone’s taste, but that’s to be expected.”) Unlike Galumph, the magazine will be published monthly, with each issue edited by a different Galumph staffer.

VOLUME 1 of Nu Galumph is the product of Charlie Vanyo. In his “editorial,” he explains the philosophy of his magazine: To make you laugh, not because there’s a meaning behind the joke but because the joke is so absurd in itself.”

Vanyo did most of the magazine’s art work and all of the writing. Bruce Conforth designed the comic cover.

MONTCLARION Wins Fourth All-American Award

The MONTCLARION won its fourth All-American rating from the Associated Collegiate Press. The college newspaper garnered the maximum (five) “Marks of Distinction” for the Fall Semester of 1972. The judges can award bonus points for superior work in the various categories. They gave the MONTCLARION 200 extra points in the “Features” area. Comments by the judges ranged from extreme praise to minor criticism. “News Coverage” was lauded for its thoroughness and balanced presentation. The overall "writing" was characterized for its brightness, clarity and conciseness.

"Editorials" were complimented for being varied, broad and relevant. "Layout," the judges contended, showed good taste and judgement. The "Photography" was described as "thoughtful and imaginative.

On the other side, adverse criticism was offered on the lack of Alumni coverage. Also, the judges felt that the editorials did not reflect national issues to campus interests.

MONTCLARION is published weekly throughout the academic year, except during examination, vacation and innovative periods, by the Student Government Association, Inc., of Montclair State College, Valley Rd. at Normal Ave. Upper Montclair, N.J. 07043. Telephone: (201) 893-5169.

Advertising rates upon request. Known offices of publication Upper Montclair, N.J. 07043.

The MONTCLARION is a member of the New Jersey Collegians Press Association and is four time winner of the All-American rating in the Associated Collegiates Press Competition.

Richardson To Return To Teaching

MSC President Thomas H. Richardson announced his future plans at the testimonial dinner given Monday night in his honor at the Robin Hood Inn. Richardson, whose resignation will be effective on August 31, stated that in September he will teach philosophy at Newark State College.

In two years, Richardson will return to MSC as a professor of philosophy. "I am very disappointed to be away from Montclair for two years," he said. The outgoing president explained that he believes this to be the best course of action for both himself and his successor.

Richardson expressed a desire to return to fulltime teaching as "unquestionably as possible. Approximately 400 people attended the testimonial. The group included administrators, both from MSC and from other state colleges, faculty and a small number of students. Presentation to Richardson of a SGA Presents Dubious Honor

In an emergency session on Monday afternoon, the SGA legislature passed the following bill: Be it enacted by the Student Government Association, Incorporated of Montclair State College, that President Thomas H. Richardson demonstrates the qualities necessary for admission to the student body of Montclair State College; these qualities being a rebellious nature as evidenced by his attitude toward Trenton and the Board of Higher Education, his openness in dealing with students as in the round-the-clock office hours he held during the days of May, 1970, and his justice in difficult decision-making such as the Recreation Lodge dilemma.

Whereas: The aforementioned President Richardson will be leaving Montclair State College as of August 31, 1973, Be It Resolved That: The Student Government Association, Incorporated of Montclair State College hereby declare President Thomas H. Richardson a life-long member of the student body of this institution and afforded the rights and responsibilities thereof.

This bill was presented to Richardson at Monday night's testimonial dinner by SGA president Sam Crane. After presenting Richardson with his dink, Crane informed him that he could now grow his hair long and that he will be assessed for back SGA fees.

Weekend College Faces MSC Merger

The New Jersey Student Union, currently functioning on a high school level, has formed an organizing committee to bring about "the nation's first statewide union of high school and college students," according to a written statement. The new organization would function as the "exclusive representative of students," as stated in a proposed contract.

According to the main advantages of a statewide student union would be an "organization that could, if necessary, direct its energy at the State Board of Higher Education and the legislature." This could be a means of dealing with rising tuition costs at state colleges.

Tom Barrett, SGA executive vice-president, stated, pointed out some possible problems. "For one thing, high school students have different needs from college students," he said warily. "We have to go along with the union being the sole representative of the students. The need for such a union may be great at schools where the SGA is not effective. Schools like MSC, where the SGA has an effective administration, would gain little."

Another possible problem would be the allotment of office space to the union. "There are no plans for it," said Barrett. "We don't have enough space for ourselves, let alone the union," Barrett added.

The union organizing committee is holding meetings which are open to the public. Students and interested parties are urged by the union to call the NJ Student Union office at (201) 247-6626 for details.

SGA: No New ISP Funds

By Carla Capizzi and Patricia Menoretti
Staff Writers

In a 14-7-1 vote, the SGA last night approved a bill which ends future funding of the International Scholarship Program (ISP) because it does not benefit the entire college community.

The program, which allows undergraduate students to study independent projects in foreign countries, had been given $4500 by the SGA for this summer's scholarships. Yesterday's bill kills any possibility of future SGA funding of the program.

REP STAN DOMOZYK, one of the bill's co-sponsors, explained that he approves of the program itself but does not feel it is "within the sphere of the SGA." Domozyk believes that most organizations will ask for "full guidelines" next year in order to expand operations. Because of the added expenses this would involve, he said, "In all fairness I couldn't see the SGA taking on that added burden." He feels this increase in requests would deplete the store of funds available from what is left of the ISP fund.

Domozyk feels that other organizations need money "here and now," adding that "there is no way we (the SGA) can do it all."

Joseph Kiss, advisor to the program and International Programs director, was apparently upset over the scholarship program's cancellation, which he was not aware of until Wednesday morning. Kiss feels the program is a "vital part of MSC's growth and the country's growth." According to Kiss, the program provided the opportunity for students to pursue valuable educational experiences of their own choosing.

He explained that the program does benefit a large majority of students through its exposure to the projects compiled by the participants. He pointed out that a "project of benefit to MSC" is a requirement for scholarship recipients.

The bill to end ISP funding was originally introduced in early fall, Domozyk stated. At that time, it was vetoed by SGA president Sam Crane, but was unsuccessful. Kiss stated that it was "hard to get different funding," on campus and that the SGA action would probably kill the program.

In two years, Richardson will return to MSC as a professor of philosophy. "I am very disappointed to be away from Montclair for two years," he said. The outgoing president explained that he believes this to be the best course of action for both himself and his successor.

Lolly and Jeanne Hirsch, a mother and daughter team will be present to aid women in understanding their bodily functions. The Hirsches will show how to perform a self examination of the cervix and vagina. Slides and discussion will ensue.

SHIRLEY GRILL, Bohn Hall director, explained the program as "an attempt to put people in touch with their bodies and to help them understand what happens to them."

"We are trying to emphasize the fact that menstruation, pregnancy and the act of child bearing are normal, healthy functions," Grill continued.

Grill stated that two other important women's programs will be given by the Bohn Hall House Council. A consumer auto mechanics course will be offered on May 16, 23 and 30 from 7-9 pm in F-117. At the same time a home electricity course will be offered in F-225.

Student Pay In Offing

As budgets for the Class One organizations come before the SGA legislature for approval, a new area of concern is developing — the question of paying students for services rendered to the organization.

An attitude evident in many SGA legislators is typified by the following quote from Tuesday’s meeting — “I don’t believe in paying students.” This attitude, however, is illogically based and the question cannot be so easily dismissed.

Organizations requesting funds to pay students include the MONTCLARION and WVMS. The MONTCLARION has served as a guinea pig in this area because for the past year we have paid our business and advertising managers. These students are responsible for the supervision of our weekly printing expenditures, totaling approximately $1,000, and for the creation of our advertising revenue, which added about $12,000 this year to the funds which we received from the SGA. WVMS is also requesting funds to hire an advertising manager.

In the past it has been very difficult to find volunteers to adequately fill these positions for several reasons. Very few people are willing to assume such a workload, particularly one of a financial nature. These positions must also be filled by people with a solid business background. When an organization is dealing with thousands of dollars, a knowledgeable business supervisor is needed to maintain the financial control essential to the operation of the organization.

In order to find and keep a person who meets these requirements, the organizations must offer a salary. The requests to pay students are largely to fill these financial positions but they represent a trend, which can be found in many colleges and universities, to pay students who hold any position of responsibility in an organization.

Conflict results from a tendency to view the organizations as clubs instead of the university that they actually are. When a person or group of people is responsible for the disbursement of thousands of dollars, their job leaves the realm of an extra-curricular activity and enters that of a business.

Organizations are in business which a job must be done within certain financial limitations. The officers are responsible for the performance of their staffs and in getting the work done. There is no reason why the students with these jobs should not be paid.

The limited funds available through the SGA is one obstacle in the way of student salaries. A solution might be for the organizations to boost their outside revenue, as the MONTCLARION has done through advertising. Increased funds would facilitate increased programming as well as student salaries.

Protect Hard-Won Rights

What students want is a return to a safe, placid academic environment devoid of all rational decision making. One look at Genova’s campaign reflects this fact amply. He intends to concentrate on SGA problems such as traffic tickets, thus implying state issues can take a walk.

BETRAYAL

Perhaps he’s right in believing this. But somehow it is a callous betrayal of the sacrifices and work many student leaders have accomplished over recent years. Faculty evaluation, a rep on the board of trustees, weren’t won by sponsoring leg ceremonies or banana bong. It was done with song, long hours, and hard-nosed attitudes when all else failed.

The SGA is the main body, for better or worse, which articulates student interests. If the executive leadership is strong, the chances are a status quo will exist between students, faculty, and administration. But if there is no leadership and the SGA devours endless time in petty issues the balance is lost and the opportunity for one of the other two groups to assume greater control is multiplied.

BALANCE

Hopefully, Genova is aware of this precarious balance. Maybe I’m being too harsh on him but he must be cognizant of the fact that a group of 500,000 organization is more than a mere social club. Maintaining good community relations is one of his responsibilities but there is also a higher duty involved that calls for the protection of hard-won student rights.

"Job opportunities are tremendously improved over last year," commented Charles Burgerestock, MSC director of career planning and placement. For prospective teachers, however, the situation is not too bright.

Although Burgerestock said that the number of jobs available is still limited, he noted that "the economic picture has improved, causing companies to return to college campuses."

"We are gradually making it known that MSC prepares students in five other schools besides education," Burgerestock added. Another reason for the improvement, he said, is the fact that companies are just beginning to learn that the two-year old placement office exists.

OPPOSITE

While Burgerestock has found the job market improving, Dr. Norman E. Lange, student teaching and educational placement director, has found the exact opposite to be true in the teaching field.

"We are going into a period when jobs are tightening up," Lange explained. He pointed out that the number of jobs offered have decreased by 23-30% since last year. While his office managed to place 90% ofMSC's 1972 education graduates, Lange does not expect to be as successful this year.

Burgerestock mentioned that the report about MSC in "Sanquin's Profiles of American Colleges," which objectively appraises the college, has been of help to job applicants. His position as president of the Mid-Atlantic Placement Association has also brought prestige to MSC's placement office.

OPEN DOORS

He commented, "Charles Burgerestock as an individual is not as important as Charles Burgerestock as president of the Mid-Atlantic Placement Association. It has tended to open a lot of doors."

Although there is a large number of teaching positions available, Lange said that the number of applicants for these positions has increased. He noted that one-third of the college graduates in the US are qualified to teach.

This means that "school superintendents are becoming a bit choosy when they offer jobs," said Lange. He explained that they are looking for graduates who can do more than "just come to school at 8:15 am." There is a trend toward hiring teachers who are certified in more than one field and who can handle extracurricular activities, he added.

UNSUCCESSFUL

At least one 1972 graduate, Richard De Santa, has been of help in his search for employment. He applied to all of the major area newspapers but was unable to find a job on any of them.

"The only jobs that are being offered are the ones where you cannot make any money," De Santa remarked. Sales positions are also available, but he commented that "if you do not want to sell, then you are in trouble because only sales positions are open."

De Santa sent out approximately 45 resumes and received only a few replies. After working temporarily as an elevator repairman, he has started the job-seeking process over again. He has little hope of finding work in his field, and for him an acceptable job has become "one with reasonable pay and a growth possibility."

ADVANTAGE

Ted Oldc, who graduated from MSC in January, had the advantage of looking for employment when most college seniors were still concerned with classes. However, he was also unable to find work in his field of personnel management. The only jobs which were available were in retail sales, which, he remarked, "was not my bag."

Both Oldc and De Santa made the rounds of employment agencies and reached the same conclusion. "They stink," Oldc said. De Santa commented, "Agencies are the biggest sham going," and described several cases of misleading advertising which he encountered.

CONTACTS

Oldc's story does have a happy ending, however.

The business major managed to land a job through his own personal contacts with a life insurance company in its sales department. He enjoys being able to choose his own hours and the people with whom he works. "I do not feel that I would have been happier in management."

Burgerestock concluded that opportunities are best in accounting, business, reading, merchandising, banking and insurance. While there are not many college graduates looking for sales positions, Burgerestock noted, "This is where the greatest number of jobs are."

It's Happening At the 'Zoo'

By Susan Cunningham

A darkened room in Partridge Hall, lit only by a few randomly placed candles, was the setting for "Zoo," the dramatic poetry reading presented by senior speech/theater major Steve Insolera on Wednesday, May 2 at 10 am.

"Zoo" was in fact much more than a poetry reading — it was a multi-media happening. Insolera described it as "a combination of poetry and dramatic readings."

Through poetry, prose and music, "Zoo" related the story of one man's life — the joys and traumas of his youth, the happiness of his first love that is soon replaced by pain and disillusionment, the bitterness against society and the establishment and the final fading into old age. "Zoo" was not merely a history of one life but a history of the lives of all men.

Insolera presented "Zoo" before a combined group of students enrolled in "Contemporary Poetry" taught by Dorothy Rudy, assistant English professor.

Insolera was assisted by junior art major Mary-Justyna Kolba, Quarterly art editor, who provided musical accompaniment on the guitar. Kolba also sang several duets with Insolera in the sketches depicting the first serious love of a young man's life.

"Zoo" had four main characters, all played by Insolera: man, the main voice throughout the presentation; inner man, who appeared to express man's personal feelings and beliefs; the establishment, against which man vents his anger and frustration and the narrator, who introduced the story and gave the concluding remarks.

Insolera constructed "Zoo" from bits and pieces of well-known poems, songs and plays. The audience of almost 60 students sat in silence as Insolera presented pieces from "Journey of the Fifth Horse" by Ronald Ribman, selected poems and letters of Robert Frost including "The Road Less Traveled," Poe's "Annabel Lee," "Camino Real" by Tennessee Williams and Byron's "She Walks in Beauty." Along with these classic works, Insolera included lyrics from contemporary songs, such as "Never My Love" and "Everyday That Touched a Star" by the Association, James Taylor's "Fire and Rain," selections from the Beatles' "Abbey Road," "Acoustic" by Jethro Tull and Simon and Garfunkel's "Bookends."

In all, "Zoo" was moving, sincere, thought-provoking and one acts BLACK ART

An exhibit of black art will be shown Tues., May 15 and Wed., May 16 as part of the Black Students Cooperative Union's Black Week celebration. The exhibit, on display in Ballrooms B and C of the Student Center, will open at 6 pm on Tuesday and 9 am Wednesday.

"She Loves Me"

Music's the Greatest Star

"She Loves Me," a musical originally produced on Broadway by Harold Prince, will be presented at MSC on May 17, 18 and 19.

Thomas Babbit, who made his debut at MSC last year as musical director in the production of "The Frogs," will direct the musical as an independent study project financed by the Malcolm Fairfield Independent Study Fund. The fund was begun three years ago in memory of Fairfield, a speech and theater student.

"She Loves Me" revolves around a man and a woman who work in the same store and despise each other. Unknown to the both of them, they belong to the same singles correspondence club. After becoming pen pals, they fall in love via the mail. "It's not heavy," Babbit commented, adding that, if anything, the plot might be considered a comment on the duality of love and hate in a relationship.

"I chose the show because it is representative of a kind of musical theater at its best," Babbit explained. He described the show as being of the Rogers and Hammerstein genre where the music futhers the mood of the plot.

"She Loves Me" opened on Broadway in 1963. The music was written by Jerry Bock, lyrics by Sheldon Harnick and dialog by Joe Masteroff. The play was relatively unsuccessful and Babbit called it "a good piece of musical theater that has gone unappreciated."

Babbit also chose "She Loves Me" as his project for several practical reasons. He explained that it was necessary to choose a play that "fit into the limitations of MSC." Because the play is to be performed in the studio theater, one advantage is that it is "not too big" to be performed on a small stage.

Babbit called the play "simple, intimate and unpretentious."

The play was also chosen because it is not technically difficult to perform. However, there are 60 people involved in the production — 20 in the cast, 20 in the orchestra and 20 involved in sets and make-up.

The seven students involved in character roles are: Virginia Craig, James Van Treuren, Christine Finlay, Stuart Zagnit, Michael Z. Murphy, Martin Van Treuren and Alan Tutin. Larmina Priska is the show's choreographer. The set designer is Cari Weil and Nancy Dobrynio is in charge of costumes.

"The star of the show is the music," Babbit emphasized. The play consists of 22 songs, seven or eight more than in the average musical. The junior speech and theater/music major will be conducting the orchestra. "This will be the first time that I've conducted," Babbit said. His job will be complicated somewhat by the fact that the orchestra will be situated behind the set. There is no orchestra pit in studio theater.

 Curtain time is 8 pm. Admission to the play is $1 for non-reserved seats and $1.50 for reserved seats.

Spring In Chorus

Two major choral works will highlight the annual MSC College Choir on Tues., May 15, at 8 pm in Memorial Auditorium. The 135-voice student ensemble is under the direction of Leon Hyman, a Montclair State music faculty member.

The first of the featured numbers will be Brahms' "Schicksalslied" ("Song of Destiny") with concert pianist Michael May as guest artist. May's own arrangement for two pianos will be performed with Gail Archer, a Montclair State piano student, at the second keyboard.

The second major offering of the evening, Leonard Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms," will feature a member of the Newark Boys choir in the boy-solo part and four soloists from the college. An ensemble of brass, percussion and harps will join May, now at the organ console, for the grand finale.

This work, written for the 1965 music festival at Chichester Cathedral in England, uses as its text six psalms sung in Hebrew.

The program will also include several short works by di Lasso, Victoria, Hassler and Mozart. The concert is open to the public at $1 for students and $1 for others.

Superstitions Haunt MSC Pair

By David Benavage
Sports Writer

If an MSC baseball player takes the field with his shirt on backwards and his left shoe on his right foot, it's bound to be Bob DeJianne in a batting slump.

Baseball players are a superstitious lot and the MSC team has its share.

DE JIANNE (DJ) explained, "I'm very superstitious so if I'm in a slump I'll dress in a pattern. One day I'll put my socks on first, then my shirt. But if I don't break out of it, I try a different pattern the next day."

Besides DJ's quirks, the squad also tolerates shortstop Karl Gordon's habit of keeping his batting glove in his left pants pocket and his handkerchief (to wipe off his glasses) in the right pocket.

But of the two, DJ is the most superstitious. And the most talkative. "I usually hit fifth in the lineup and one day Coach (Clary) Anderson put me in the third slot. I didn't hit for a few games so I asked him if he'd move me back. Then I started hitting. It sounds crazy but I hit better in that slot," remarked the dark-haired junior.

BOTH PLAYERS have worked together on summer league teams and opposed each other in high school. The fair-haired and studious Gordon boasts a .314 batting average with eight runs batted in. The Indians' lead-off hitter has been doing his job of getting on base and has yet to strike out in 51 times at bat.

DJ is also having a good season, but in right field and at home plate. He's batting .333 with 13 RBI's. DJ also shares the team lead in the home run category with two circuits and has committed one error in 20 games.

THE TEAM got off to a slow start this year which both Gordon and DJ attribute to sloppy defense. "The team just hasn't come around yet," the latter remarked.

Gordon provided some insight into DJ's fiery nature when he related: "We were playing a game against Adelphi and the players on the Adelphi team would shout and yell every time DJ came up to bat. In the eighth inning, DJ grounded out as he went 0 for four on the day."

"While he was running down to first," the shortstop continued, "he stopped after the umpire called him out, turned to the Adelphi team and challenged the whole team to fight him after the game. It was one of the funniest things I've ever seen."

DJ remembered the time that Gordon hit one of his rare home runs. As the bespectacled infielder rounded second base, he tripped over the bag, DJ recalled.

"YEAH, I remember that," Gordon retorted. "Then you came up and hit a home run and tripped over the same base."
Croddick, Mykulak
Take One-on-One

By Andy Miketzuk
Special to the MONTCLARIonian
Sophomore Jim Croddick and junior Nick Mykulak were the winners of the first intramural one-on-one basketball championship held last Wednesday night at Panzer Gym.

Croddick downed Tom Cesaretti in the under 5 foot 10 inch division title game, 20-16. Meanwhile, Mykulak was disposing of Gary McGriff, 22-18.

Both games were tightly battled and well fought contests. In his final round match, Croddick, who won four games in getting to the finals, tied the score at 10, 12, and 14 points on 15-foot jumpers. He went ahead, 16-14, only to have Cesaretti knot it on a 15-footer.

Croddick hit again from the area of the foul line, and, after two offensive fouls and a missed field goal by Cesaretti, the sophomore washed out the cords from 10 feet to win.

Mykulak, who won five games en route to the championship trif, got off to a quick start against McGriff, scoring the first six points. He took a 10 lead on a twisting drive down the middle, but McGriff came back to tie the score with two free throws. The game was even at 12, 14, 16 and 18 points.

At this point the game was held up as Mykulak was cut on the right arm, apparently on a drive to the basket. After the first aid was administered, he sunk a driving layup at 20-18.

The score was tied at 20, 22, 24, and 26 points. At 28-26, Mykulak was disposing of Gary McGriff, 22-18.

The Shots and Briers lead the Wednesday bowling league with a 9-0 record. The Alpha Sigma Mu (team B) right behind at 8-1. Tau Sigma Delta is also 9-0 in the 400 and above division followed by Alpha Sigma Mu (team A) at 6-3.

THE GREAT RACE

A 100-lap bicycle race around the Student Center Mall will take place on Fri., May 18. Registration forms are available in the Student Center lobby until noon next Tuesday.

The karate and judo exhibitions which were cancelled previously will be held at 1 pm on May 18. The chess club is scheduled to give a demonstration that afternoon, too.

There are probably as many answers as there are individual Maryknoll priests and Brothers. Some men are deeply moved when they hear of others suffering and sacrifice their lives to the sick, to the poor, and the priests who have gone up with a different mentality than that which is theirs. All feel that the only solution to the crises that threaten to split men and nations is the love of God as shown in the life of His Son, Jesus Christ. This love of God urges men to go forward and be missioners so men can love one another.

If you keep saying you want to do something with your life — here's your chance to prove it.
