The selling of both beer and wine at Carnival was to be a sort of testing ground for the opening of the Rathskeller in which Little Falls officials would determine the fate of the Rathskeller on the basis of the outcomes of the weekend event.

Michael Koser, SGA vice-president of internal affairs, attended an open meeting held on Monday night in the Municipal Building of Little Falls to observe the kind of effect Carnival would have on a liquor license for the Rathskeller. "We are still waiting to decide," he said. Koser stated that the proposed liquor license was neither brought up nor discussed during the meeting.

The difficulty surrounding the liquor license for the Rathskeller is centered on a Little Falls ordinance that allows for only two liquor licenses in the Little Falls area. The American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars have the two licenses.

Carnival’s effect on the Little Falls decision on the liquor license “depends on whether or not the Little Falls officials were sincere” in stating that they would judge the liquor license with Carnival as the testing ground to see the effect the selling of liquor would have on the college community.

Koser stated that many Little Falls residents oppose the liquor license because of the murder that occurred on this campus in late October. Many apparently feel that with the selling of liquor on the campus the potentiality of murder would increase.

Koser also stated that a proposal of the Clove Rd. project for the building of apartments was discussed during the course of the meeting. "Nothing was reaffirmed," he said, "but the project was violently opposed," he continued.

"It’s a shame that after so much work went into Carnival, freak weather put a damper on it," he said.

CARAMELA MARINO, co-chairman of Carnival, agreed that Carnival was a success “considering the weather.”

Both Marino and Ruiz stated that if the weather was better, the turnout for the event would have been larger.

Speaking on the selling of beer and wine at Carnival, both Marino and Ruiz stated that the situation was handled “well.” "There were not any problems," Ruiz said. He went on to say that selling liquor at Carnival was a harder situation to control than the Rathskeller.

According to Marino, there were Montclair policemen at the booths selling liquor checking on the ages of those who bought the beer or wine.

Galumph Spawns Mag

MSC's newest student publication made its debut this week. Its underground comic-style cover carries the warning that it "has absolutely no relation to anything within these hallowed pages," setting the tone for the first issue of Nu Galumph.

"Old-fashioned napkins your summer plans just because you never have to worry about anything," Vanyo said. Galumph is the product of Charlie Vanyo. In his "editorial," he explains the philosophy of his magazine: To make you laugh, not because there's a meaning behind the joke but because the joke is so absurd in itself. He warns anyone looking for a philosophy in the magazine to put it down and invite brave readers into "a world of impossibilities and idiocies." The following seven pages contain an interview with a contestant in a nude quiz show, a puzzleless puzzle page, the mosqui tote tale, "whatever hap ped to Claude Kitchen?", advice on curing warts and an art contest ("Draw the jackass and win a prize. Or don't draw the jackass. We don't really care.").

Vanyo did most of the magazine's art work and all of the writing. Bruce Conforth designed the comic cover. Vanyo described the pamphlet as an "independent" production, entirely student produced and financed by the Galumph staff. Conforth described it as a "prenatal lobotomy in progress."

The "skinny little pamphlet" is a smaller, mimeographed and stapled version of its parent publication, Galumph. In the Galumph tradition, it features humor, satire and commentary ("I may not be to everyone's taste, but that's to be expected.") Unlike Galumph, the magazine will be published monthly, with each issue edited by a different Galumph staffer.

MONTCLARION Wins Fourth All-American Award

The MONTCLARION won its fourth All-American rating from the Associated Collegiate Press. The college newspaper garnered the maximum (five) "Marks of Distinction" for the Fall Semester of 1972. The judges can award bonus points for superior work in the various categories. They gave the MONTCLARION 200 extra points in the "Features" area. Comments by the judges ranged from extreme praise to minor criticism. "News Coverage" was lauded for its thoroughness and balanced presentation. The overall "writing" was characterized for its brightness, clarity and conciseness. "Editorials" were complimented for being writ ten, broad and relevant. "Layout," the judges contended, showed good taste and judgment. The "Photography" was described as "hilarious and imaginative."

On the other side, adverse criticism was offered on the lack of "Alumni coverage. Also, the judges felt that the editors did not refer national issues to campus interests.

Richardson To Return To Teaching

MSC President Thomas H. Richardson announced his future plans at the testimonial dinner given Monday night in his honor at the Robin Hood Inn. Richardson, whose resignation will be effective on August 31, stated that in September he will teach philosophy at Newark State College.

In two years, Richardson will return to MSC as a professor of philosophy. "It is my intention to be away from Montclair for two years," he said. The outgoing president explained that he believes this to be the best course of action for both himself and his successor.

RICHARDSON expressed a desire to return to fulltime teaching as "irresistibly" as possible. Approximately 400 people attended the testimonial. The group included administrators, both from MSC and from other state colleges, faculty and a small number of students. Presentation to Richardson of a SGA Presents Dubious Honor

In an emergency session on Monday afternoon, the SGA legislature passed the following bill:

Be it enacted by the Student Government Association, Incorporated of Montclair State College, that President Thomas H. Richardson demonstrates the qualities necessary for admission to the student body of Montclair State College; these qualities being a rebellious nature as evidenced by his attitude toward Trenton and the Board of Higher Education. He is in the interest of dealing with students as in the round-the-clock office hours he held during the days of May, 1970, and his justice in difficult decision-making such as the Recreation Lodge dilemma.

WHEREAS: The aforementioned President Richardson will be leaving Montclair State College as of August 31, 1973,

Be it Resolved That: The Student Government Association, Incorporated of Montclair State College hereby declare President Thomas H. Richardson a life-long member of the student body of this institution and afforded the rights and responsibilities thereof.

This bill was presented to Richardson at Monday night's testimonial dinner by SGA president Sam Crane. After presenting Richardson with his dinner, Crane informed him that he could now grow his hair long and that he will be assessed for back SGA fees.

Weekend College Faces MSC Merger

By Carla Capizzi
Staff Writer

TOM BARRETT, SGA executive vice-president elect, pointed out some possible disadvantages to the proposal. "For one thing, high school students who have different needs from college students," he said warily. "The need for such a union may be great at the college proper. However, both Cuban and Puerto Rican faculty members fear that the integration of the Weekend College will eventually cause it to be phased out.

For three consecutive weekends, Puerto Rican and Cuban members of the Weekend College had boycotted classes and the Cubans had demonstrated in support of Jose Linares, their SGA president. The disturbance was triggered by Linares's suspension for allegedly disrupting a class and was finally resolved when he was removed on April 2.

THE BOYCOTTS and demonstrations, however, were the most recent of many conflicts which have plagued the school in its short history. It is designed to aid Spanish-speaking persons but the Cubans and Puerto Ricans claim they have clashed repeatedly over social and philosophical differences. These conflicts led to the hiring, in August, of two co-directors for the college, one Puerto Rican and one Cuban.

Problems between the groups persisted, however, and "dissatisfaction" with the new administrative structure had been voiced since fall, according to James Cottingham, executive assistant to President Thomas H. Richardson.

As a first step, Richardson met last week with Cuban and Puerto Rican faculty members to discuss "the nature of reorganization." Richardson favors a "greater integration" of the Weekend College into the college proper. He commented that the present structure creates a feeling of "separateness" and this is itself causes conflicts and problems. He is convinced that the troubles of the past semester can only be solved by restructuring the program's administration so that it will run "more smoothly" and "minimize disturbances."

HOWEVER, MIGALOROS Collazo, co-director of the college, stated that the Cubans and Puerto Ricans want the college to "stay as it is." She commented that the groups "are the possibility of eliminating the Weekend College altogether." Since neither group within this, they may have been placed in what Collazo called "the best position to work together."

With integration, she pointed out, the college would no longer have two co-directors. She feels that the present administrative setup is "the most far representation" and "the best solution," at least "for the time being."

IF THE SCHOOL is integrated into the college structure, all its administrative procedures, such as registration, scheduling and hiring of teachers, would be assumed by individual MSC offices and departments. At present, the school handles these arrangements itself. Collazo explained, she feels that the changeover might be "more expensive for the college since it would have to hire bilingual personnel for all the departments and offices involved. Moreover, she pointed out that many "regular professionals" might be unable to teach on a weekend or unable to teach in Spanish. This, she said, could restrict the number of bi-lingual courses available and could even discourage participation in the program.

TIME OF STRIFE — Cuban students demonstrated in late March on behalf of their ousted SGA president, Jose Linares. After presenting Richardson with his dinner, Crane informed him that he could now grow his hair long and that he will be assessed for back SGA fees.

NJ Student Union Plans Expansion

By Michael Horey
Staff Writer

The New Jersey Student Union, currently functioning on a high school level, has formed an organizing committee to bring about "the nation's first statewide union of high school and college students," according to a written statement. The new organization would function as the "exclusive representative of students," as stated in a proposed contract.

According to the contract, one of the main advantages of a statewide student union would be an "organization that could, if necessary, direct its operations. The boycotts apparently have proved an administrative action to restructure the conflict-ridden present administration of the Weekend College proper. However, both Cuban and Puerto Rican faculty members fear that the integration of the Weekend College will eventually cause it to be phased out.

SGA: No New ISP Funds

By Carla Capizzi and Patricia Memoretti
Staff Writers

In a 14-7-1 vote, the SGA last night approved a bill which ends future funding of the International Scholarship Program (ISP) "because it does not benefit the entire college community."

The program, which allows undergraduate students to study independent projects in foreign countries, had been given $4500 by the SGA for this summer's scholarships. Yesterday's bill kills any possibility of future SGA funding of the program.

REP STAN DOMOZYK, one of the bill's co-sponsors, explained that he approves of the program itself but does not feel it is "within the sphere of the SGA." Domozik believes that most organizations will ask for their "full guidelines" next year in order to expand operations. Because of the added expenses this would involve, he said, "In all fairness I couldn't see the SGA taking on that added burden." He felt this increase in requests would deplete the store of funds from which the ISP is funded.

DOMOZIK feels that other organizations need money "here and now," adding that "there is no way we (the SGA) can do it all."

Joseph Klosa, advisor to the program and International Programs director, was apparently upset over the scholarship program's cancellation, which he was not aware of until Wednesday morning. Klosa feels the program is a "vital part of MSC's growth and the country's growth. According to Klosa, the program provided the opportunity for students to pursue valuable educational experiences of their own choosing.

He explained that the program benefits a large majority of students through their exposure to the projects completed by participants. He pointed out that a "project of benefit to MSC" is a requirement for scholarship recipients.

The bill to end ISP funding was originally introduced in early fall, Domozik stated. At that time, it was vetoed by SGA president Sam Crane, who expressed concern that the measure would "kill the program."

"I don't want to do that," Crane informed him that he could now grow his hair long and that he will be assessed for back SGA fees.

The unions organizing committee is holding meetings which are open to the public. Students and interested parties are urged by the union to call the NJ Student Union office at (201) 247-6626 for details.
Gynecological Self-Help Program Slated

A gynecological self-help program will be held in May 10 at 7:30 pm in the Bohn Hall lounge. Lolly and Jeanne Hirsch, a mother and daughter team will be present to aid women in understanding their bodily functions. The Hirsches will show how to perform a self-examination of the cervix and vagina. Slides and discussion will ensue.

SHIRLEY GRILL, Bohn Hall director, explained the program as “an attempt to put people in touch with their bodies and to help them understand what happens to them.”

“We are trying to emphasize the fact that menstruation, pregnancy and the act of child bearing are normal, healthy functions,” Grill continued.

Grill stated that two other important women’s programs will be given by the Bohn Hall House Council. A consumer auto mechanics course will be offered on May 16, 23 and 30 from 7:30 pm in F-117. At the same time a home electricity course will be offered in F-225.

good condition; low rates, convenient location. busted the neighborhood years ago. neighborhood, the white choler crime this kingdom is certainly not going to though, i remember playing here as a i'm going to miss this old tower, i'm going to miss this old tower’

MONTCLARION has done through advertising. Increased funds were used to increase advertising and to adequately fill these positions for several reasons. Very many colleges and universities, to pay students who hold positions but they represent a trend, which can be found in many organizations as clubs instead of as the businesses that they actually are. When a person or group of people is responsible for the disbursement of thousands of dollars, their job leaves the realm of an extra-curricular activity and creates a business. Organizations are business in which a job must be done with these jobs should not be paid. The limited funds available through the SGA is one obstacle in the way of student salaries. A solution might be for the organizations to boost their outside revenue, as the MONTCLARION has done through advertising. Increased funds would facilitate increased programming as well as student salaries.

Karen Wangner
‘i’m going to miss this old tower’

PRESIDENT THOMAS H. RICHARDSON was made a lifelong member of MSC’s student body in a bill passed in response to a petition by the SGA legislature Monday afternoon. As OUTGOING SGA PRESIDENT SAM CRANE expressed at Richardson’s testimonial dinner Monday night, Richardson displayed “all the qualities necessary for admission to the student body of Montclair State College.” Crane also mentioned that Richardson now owns some SGA RETROACTIVE SGA FEES. Of course it was cold, damp and windy Friday night, it was CARNIVAL WEEKEND, wasn’t it? Someone has got to do something about running next year SGA executive board candidates in PROPER CAMPAIGN PROCEDURE. For instance, this year’s presidential winner, ANGELO GENOA, lounged in his Stone Hall den room while the votes were being counted. Where was the FRENZIED M.O.B. OF VESTYERDAY that always thronged outside the SGA office door? Credit goes to DR. JAMES PETTIGROVE, of the English department for taking time to write a column for the MONTCLARION – so few faculty members do ... Someone should tell that student quoted in last week’s article on the Student Center’s price-shading that the CENTER FOOD SERVICE is owned and operated by the Center so his money isn’t going to an "OFFCAMPUS FOOD SERVICE!" like he thought ..."

Job Outlook--Brighter but Tight

By Patricia Mercerefi
Staff Writer

"Job opportunities are tremendously improved over last year," commented Charles Burgersstock, MSC director of career planning and placement. For prospective teachers, however, the situation is not too bright.

Although Burgersstock said that the number of jobs available is still limited, he noted that "the economic picture has improved, causing companies to return to college campuses."

"We are gradually making it known that MSC prepares students in five other schools besides our own," Burgersstock added. Another reason for the improvement, he said, is the fact that companies are just beginning to learn that the two-year old placement office exists.

OPPOSITE

While Burgersstock has found the job market improving, Dr. Norman E. Lange, student teaching and educational placement director, has found the exact opposite to be true in the teaching field.

"We are going into a period when jobs are tightening up," Lange explained. He pointed out that the number of jobs offered has decreased by 23-30% since last year. While his office managed to place 90% of MSC's 1972 education graduates, Lange does not expect to be as successful this year.

Burgersstock mentioned that the report about MSC is "SanPat's Profiles of American Colleges," which objectively appraises the college, has been of help to job applicants. His position as president of the Mid-Atlantic Placement Association has also brought prestige to MSC's placement office.

OPEN DOORS

He commented, "Charles Burgersstock as an individual is not as important as Charles Burgersstock as president of the Mid-Atlantic Placement Association. It has tended to open a lot of doors."

Although there is a large number of teaching positions available, Lange said that the number of applicants for those positions has increased. He noted that one-third of the college graduates in the US are qualified to teach.

This means that "school superintendents are becoming a bit choosy when they offer jobs," said Lange. He explained that they are looking for graduates who can do more than "just come to school at 8:15 am." There is a trend toward hiring teachers who are certified in more than one field and who can handle extracurricular activities, he added.

SUCCESSFUL

At least one 1972 graduate, Richard De Santa, has not noticed any increase in job prospects. An English liberal arts major with a year's experience in retail sales, he has little hope of finding work in his field, and for him an acceptable job has become "one with reasonable pay and a growth possibility."

ADVANTAGE

Ted Oldé, who graduated from MSC in January, had the advantage of looking for employment when most college seniors were still concerned with classes. However, he was also unable to find work in his field of personnel management. The only jobs which were available were in retail sales, which, he remarked, "was not my bag."

Both Oldé and De Santa made the rounds of employment agencies and reached the same conclusion. "They stink," Oldé said. De Santa commented, "Agencies are the biggest sham going," and described several cases of misleading advertising which he encountered.

CONTACTS

Oldé's story does have a happy ending, however. The business major managed to land a job through his own personal contacts with a life insurance company in its sales department. He enjoys being able to choose his own hours and the people with whom he works. "I do not feel that I would have been happier in management."

Burgersstock concluded that opportunities are best in accounting, business, marketing, banking and insurance. While there are not many college graduates looking for sales positions, Burgersstock noted, "This is where the greatest number of jobs are."

At the 'Zoo'

By Susan Cunningham
Staff Reviewer

A darkened room in Partridge Hall, lit only by a few randomly placed candles, was the setting for "Zoo," the dramatic poetry reading presented by senior speech/theater major Steve Insolera on Wednesday, May 2 at 10 am.

"Zoo" was in fact much more than a poetry reading — it was a multi-media happening. Insolera, "It is a combination of poetry and dramatic readings."

Through poetry, prose and music, "Zoo" related the story of one man's life — the joys and traumas of his youth, the happiness of his first love that is soon replaced by pain and disillusionment, the bitterness against society and the establishment and the final fading into old age. "Zoo" was not merely a history of one life but a history of the lives of all men.

Insolera presented "Zoo" before a combined group of students enrolled in "Contemporary Poetry" taught by Dorothy Rudy, assistant English professor.

INSOLERA WAS assisted by junior art major Mary-Justyne Kolita, Quarterly art editor, who provided musical accompaniment on the guitar. Kolita also sang several duets with Insolera in the sketches depicting the first serious love of a young man's life.

"Zoo" had four main characters, all played by Insolera: man, the main voice throughout the presentation; inner man, who appeared to express man's personal feelings and beliefs; the establishment, against which man vents his anger and frustration and the narrator, who introduced the story and gave the concluding remarks.

Insolera constructed "Zoo" from bits and pieces of well-known poems, songs and plays. The audience of almost 60 students sat in silence as Insolera presented pieces from "Journey of the Fifth Horse" by Ronald Ribman, selected poems and letters of Robert Frost including "The Road Less Travelled," Poe's "Annabel Lee," "Camino Real" by Tennessee Williams and Byrons "The Wahlis in Beauty." Along with these classic works, Insolera included lyrics from contemporary songs, such as "Never My Love" and "Something Will Catch It" by the Association, James Taylor's "Fire and Rain," selections from the Beatles' "Abbey Road," "Aequivalences," by Jitroff Tull and Simon and Garfunkel's "Bookends."

In all, "Zoo" was moving, sincere, thought-provoking and sensitive.

"She Loves Me," a musical originally produced on Broadway by Harold Prince, will be presented at MSC on May 17, 18 and 19.

Thomas Babbitt, who made his debut at MSC last year as musical director in the production of Aristophanes' "The Frogs," will direct the musical as an independent study project financed by the Malcolm Fairfield Independent Study Fund. The fund was begun three years ago in memory of Fairfield, a speech and theater student.

"She Loves Me" revolves around a man and a woman who work in the same store and despise each other. Unknown to the both of them, they belong to the same singles correspondence club. After becoming pen pals, they fall in love via the mail. "It's not heavy," Babbitt commented, adding that, if anything, the plot might be considered a comment on the duality of love and hate in a relationship.

"I chose the show because it is representative of a kind of musical theater at its best," Insolera explained. He described the show as being of the Rogers and Hamerstein genre where the music further the mood of the plot.

"She Loves Me" opens on Broadway in 1963. The music was written by Jerry Bock, lyrics by Sheldon Hamnick and dialog by Joe Masteroff. The play was relatively unsuccessful and Babbitt called it "a good piece of musical theater that has gone unappreciated."

Babbitt also chose "She Loves Me" as his project for several practical reasons. He explained that it was necessary to choose a play that "fit into the limitations of MSC." Because the play is to be performed in the studio theater, one advantage is that it is "not too big" to be performed on a small stage. Babbitt called the play "simple, intimate and unpretentious."

The play was also chosen because it is not technically difficult to perform. However, there are 60 people involved in the production — 20 in the cast, 20 in the orchestra and 20 involved in sets and make-up.

The seven students involved in character roles are: Virginia Craig, James Van Treuren, Christine Finlay, Stuart Zapitz, Michael Z Murphy, Martin Van Treuren and Alan Tulin.

Larina Pioanka is the show's choreographer. The set designer is Cami Welt and Nancy Dobyns is in charge of costumes.

"The star of the show is the music," Babbitt emphasized. The play consists of 22 songs, seven or eight more than in the average musical. The junior speech and theater/music major will be conducting the orchestra. "This will be the first time that I've conducted," Babbitt said. His job will be complicated somewhat by the fact that the orchestra will be situated behind the set. There is no orchestra pit in studio theater.

Curtain time is 8 pm. Admission to the play is $1 for non-reserved seats and $1.50 for reserved seats.

Spring In Chorus

Two major choral works will highlight the annual MSC College Choir on Tues., May 15, at 8 pm in Memorial Auditorium. The 135-voice student ensemble is under the direction of Leon Hyman, a Montclair State music faculty member.

The first of the featured numbers will be Brahms' "Schicksalslied" ("Song of Destiny") with concert pianist Michael May as guest artist. May's own arrangement for two pianos will be performed with Gail Archer, a Montclair State piano student, at the second keyboard.

The second major offering of the evening, Leonard Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms," will feature a member of the Newark Boys chorus in the boy-alto part and four soloists from the college. An ensemble of brass, percussion and harps will join May, now at the organ console, for the grand finale. This work, written for the 1965 music festival at Chichester Cathedral in England, uses as its text six psalms sung in Hebrew.

The program will also include several short works by di Lassus, Victoria, Hassler and Mozart. The concert is open to the public at $1 for students and $1 for others.

DeJianne and Gordon
Superstitions Haunt MSC Pair

By David Benavage
Sports Writer

If an MSC baseball player takes the field with his shirt on backwards and his left shoe on his right foot, it’s bound to be Bob DeJianne in a batting slump.

Baseball players are a superstitious lot and the MSC team has its share.

DE JIANNE (DJ) explained, “I’m very superstitious so if I’m in a slump I’ll dress in a pattern. One day I’ll put my socks on first, then my shirt. But if I don’t break out of it, I try a different pattern the next day.”

Besides DJ’s quirks, the squad also tolerates shortstop Karl Gordon’s habit of keeping his batting glove in his left pants pocket and his handkerchief (to wipe off his glasses) in the right pocket.

But of the two, DJ is the most superstitious. And the most talkative. “I usually hit fifth in the lineup and one day coach (Clary) Anderson put me in the third slot. I didn’t hit for a few games so I asked him if he’d move me back. Then I started hitting. It sounds crazy but I hit better in that slot,” remarked the dark-haired junior.

Both players have worked together on summer league teams and opposed each other in high school. The fair-haired and studious Gordon boasts a .314 batting average with eight runs batted in. The Indians’ lead-off hitter has been doing his job of getting on base and has yet to strike out in 51 times at bat.

DJ is also having a good season, but in right field and at home plate. He’s batting .333 with 13 RBI’s. DJ also shares the team lead in the home run category with two circuits and has committed one error in 20 games.

The team got off to a slow start this year which both Gordon and DJ attribute to sloppy defense. “The team just hasn’t come around yet,” the latter remarked.

Gordon provided some insight into DJ’s fiery nature when he related: “We were playing a game against Adelphi and the players on the Adelphi team would shout and yell every time DJ came up to bat. In the eighth inning, DJ grounded out as he went 0 for four on the day.”

“While he was running down to first,” the shortstop continued, “he stopped after the umpire called him out, turned to the Adelphi team and challenged the whole team to fight him after the game. It was one of the funniest things I’ve ever seen.”

DJ remembered the time that Gordon hit one of his rare home runs. As the bespectacled infielder rounded second base, he tripped over the bag, DJ recalled.

“Yeah, I remember that,” Gordon retorted. “Then you came up and hit a home run and tripped over the same base.”

Croddick, Mykulak
Take One-on-One

Sports in THE MONTCLARION

Sophomore Jim Croddick and junior Nick Mykulak were the winners of the first intramural one-on-one basketball championship held last Wednesday night at Panzer Gym.

Crockett downed Tom Cesaretti in the under 5 foot 10 inch division title game, 20-16. Meanwhile, Mykulak was disposing of Gary McGriff, 22-18.

Both games were tightly battled and well fought contests.

In his final round match, Croddick, who won four games in getting to the finals, tied the score at 10, 12, and 14 points on 15-foot jumpers. He went ahead, 16-14, only to have Cesaretti knot it on a 15-footer.

Crockett hit again from the area of the foul line, and, after two offensive fouls and a missed field goal by Cesaretti, the sophomore upped the score from 10 to 12.

Mykulak was disposing of McGriff's shoulder in an attempt to block the latter's shot in last Wednesday's one-on-one basketball 9 inch and under class finals.

Handball: Gary McGriff reaches over Nick Mykulak's shoulder in an 11 foot and over division. Jim Croddick beat Tom Cesaretti in the 5 foot tournament Mykulak defeated McGriff in the contest, 22-18, to win the 5 foot 10 inch and under class standings.

The tournament was conducted similarly to the NBA elimination format.

why does a man join Maryknoll?

There are probably as many answers to this question as there are individual Maryknoll priests and Brothers. Some men are deeply moved when they hear of babies dying in their mother's arms because of hunger or disease. Others are distressed by the growing alienation and separation between the rich and the poor nations. Many are concerned about the great injustices that have been inflicted upon the poor by those who possess wealth and power to an excessive degree.

Others look to learn from peoples who have grown up with a different mentality than that which is theirs. All feel that the only solution to the crises that threaten to split men apart is the love of God as shown in the life of His Son, Jesus Christ.

This love of God urges men to go forward and be missioners so men can love one another. What could be a better reason for joining Maryknoll?

If you keep saying you want to do something with your life — here's your chance to prove it.
MSC Nine Blooms in May

BY JOE CASTRONEVO
SPORTS WRITER
April showers bring May flowers, and for the MSC baseball team, better luck. It looks as though the Indians are finally off and flying, although where to is hard to say.

As mediocre as Clary's boys looked in April, that's how good they've appeared in May. The Indians started the month of May with a bang, beating Glassboro, 7-1, in their previous meeting.

The effort brought his record to 3-2. The victory pulled MSC to within one percentage point of Trenton State as far as league standing goes, giving them a 6-3 mark to the Lions' 5-2 showing.

THE INDIANS scored their second run in the fifth when, with the score 1-0 in their favor, Rake got a hit. What proved to be the decisive run was scored in the bottom half of the fifth inning when Bob DeJianne sacrificed to third and finally scored after a bad throw to third sailed out of the playing field, enabling MSC to take the lead for good, 5-4. They added two more insurance runs in the next inning.

Glassboro, 79-65

"I didn't collapse for about two weeks after it's all over," moaned George Horn in his office Wednesday. After traveling down to Quantico, Va., last Friday for the Quantico Relays, the Montclair State track team returned home Monday to defeat Glassboro, 79-65, before traveling to Trenton for the NJSCAC Championship Wednesday.

Against Glassboro, the feature attraction was Arnie Whitely. The junior scored a hat trick, winning the 100-yr-dash in 10.3, the 120 high hurdles in 15.2 and running a leg on the winning 440 relay team to pace the Indians to their fourth dual meet victory of the year.

DOWN IN Quantico, MSC's best was not quite good enough. In the half mile, Greg Weiss got nipped at the wire in what appeared to be a photo finish.

"It was a strange thing," explained Horn. "He went into his final kick too soon," he continued.

In the sprint medley MSC managed a third to finish their scoring. They were led by Rake, who was a photo finisher in the 100-yr-dash, scoring a run in the bottom half of the fifth inning.

The victory pulled MSC to within one win of Trenton State as far as league standing goes, giving them a 6-3 mark to the Lions' 5-2 showing.
