STATE/AFT TALKS BREAK OFF

By Patricia Mercorelli

A proposal to double tuition in public colleges has been criticized by several state college administrators. The proposal was made the Committee for Economic Development, a New York-based leading think-tank. The committee’s findings were published in a book entitled, “The Management and Financing of Colleges.”

However, Robert Birnbaum, vice-chairman of Higher Education, stated that “when the Board of Higher Education considers the subject of state college budgeting, this proposal, as it is now coming into the legislature, will be a topic for discussion.”

Though, he cannot make any definitive statements since the board is only now starting to review budget proposals, he added, “I doubt very much that they would take any drastic action on the middle-income bracket. Dr. William McKee, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, stated that the proposal would lead to an increase in tuition hike. He explained that many students already “contribute 1/3 of their total expenses through part-time work.”

Should this proposal be adopted, McKeeey warned, it would drive the “middle-income bracket. It means to “buttress private colleges at the expense of state colleges” He feels it would drive the “poor students would go right out of the educational market.” He agrees that it would “cause a definite decline in the quality of students.”

However, Robinson warned of the proposal’s possible impact on college enrollment. The dean commented, “Coming at a time when all colleges are feeling a pinch in enrollment, it could have very serious recks for the private colleges.”

MCS President Dr. David W.D. Dickson sees the proposal as an “injustice to state colleges and to the middle-income people who use them.”

He added that the proposal was “unfair, unadvised, and not impartially studied by a group of people who are not concerned with this type of education.”

Dickson was concerned that this proposal would lead to an “educational system which only serves the rich and the poor.” He added that “the poor students would get aid, wealthy students would be able to handle it but the middle-class would be forced to go loans to pay for the tuition.”

He fears it would drive the children of middle income families “right out of higher education since many of them are not eligible for it.”

Dickson saw the plan as a means “to hinder private colleges to cover the expense of state colleges.” He contended that “while I would like to see good private colleges to survive, I do not want to see them benefit at the expense of state colleges.”

Montclair, N.J. 07043

STATE/AFT TALKS BREAK OFF

By Patricia Mercorelli

A proposal to double tuition in public colleges has been criticized by several state college administrators. The proposal was made the Committee for Economic Development, a New York-based leading think-tank. The committee’s findings were published in a book entitled, “The Management and Financing of Colleges.”

However, Robert Birnbaum, vice-chairman of Higher Education, stated that “when the Board of Higher Education considers the subject of state college budgeting, this proposal, as it is now coming into the legislature, will be a topic for discussion.”

Though, he cannot make any definitive statements since the board is only now starting to review budget proposals, he added, “I doubt very much that they would take any drastic action on the middle-income bracket. Dr. William McKee, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, stated that the proposal would lead to an increase in tuition hike. He explained that many students already “contribute 1/3 of their total expenses through part-time work.”

Should this proposal be adopted, McKeeey warned, it would drive the “middle-income bracket. It means to “buttress private colleges at the expense of state colleges” He feels it would drive the “poor students would go right out of the educational market.” He agrees that it would “cause a definite decline in the quality of students.”

However, Robinson warned of the proposal’s possible impact on college enrollment. The dean commented, “Coming at a time when all colleges are feeling a pinch in enrollment, it could have very serious recks for the private colleges.”

MCS President Dr. David W.D. Dickson sees the proposal as an “injustice to state colleges and to the middle-income people who use them.”

He added that the proposal was “unfair, unadvised, and not impartially studied by a group of people who are not concerned with this type of education.”

Dickson was concerned that this proposal would lead to an “educational system which only serves the rich and the poor.” He added that “the poor students would get aid, wealthy students would be able to handle it but the middle-class would be forced to go loans to pay for the tuition.”

He fears it would drive the children of middle income families “right out of higher education since many of them are not eligible for it.”

Dickson saw the plan as a means “to hinder private colleges to cover the expense of state colleges.” He contended that “while I would like to see good private colleges to survive, I do not want to see them benefit at the expense of state colleges.”
School Senates In State Of Flux

By Nancy Forden

Throughout the past month the five school senates have been reorganizing their memberships and making plans to develop their role as the policy-making branch of the school.

Senate membership consists of the dean of the school, two members of the Administrative Council of the school, two full-time faculty members and student representatives from each department. Meetings are conducted on a monthly basis.

THE SENATE of the School of Fine and Performing Arts is in the process of revising its constitution. Dean Donald C. Mintz assessed the importance of replacing the dean as presiding officer of the senate. "We are the only school in which the dean himself is the presiding officer and I think it is highly embarrassing," Mintz complained. When asked who would succeed him as president, Mintz said that decision would rest with the constitutional revision committee.

Mintz feels the senate fell into disorder last semester and hopes the revisions will "lift the senate going again. He would like to see the senate play a more active role in implementing school policy. "The senate can have an awful lot of influence in the running of the school," he concluded.

By Alice Hartman

A VD clinic will again be held this year at Montclair State "if students wish," according to Nancy Jardula, dean of the school, two members of student representatives contributed by Michael Festa, head of the Verona Health Clinic.

The center last spring's program a success. About 45 persons utilized the on campus facilities, with others going directly to the Verona clinic. Jardula inferred that the actual number of people who attended the clinic were considered successful as long as someone is helped," she commented. She indicated that feedback from the students body about the program has been positive.

Students were not charged for the program services. The New Jersey Health Department picked up the tab for the biology and the actual testing. Small supplies, such as towels, were paid far by the SGA.

Festa, a registered nurse, attended the clinic. He felt that the college community.

"NATIONWIDE and locally, the number of cases (of venereal disease) are increasing yearly," Festa stated. Changing moral standards and the number of cases (of venereal disease) are increasing yearly, Festa stated. Changing moral standards and the"pill" is cited as the primary factors responsible for the increase in the so-called "social diseases."

THE ACADEMIC RESEARCH GROUP, INC.

240 Park Avenue
Rutherford, N.J. 07070
(201) 939-0189

REPORTS, PAPERS, RESEARCH MATERIAL
Quality Service. Low Rates
Call, write or come in.
Mon-Fri: 9-4 Sat: 10-3

A TRULY UNIQUE EXPERIENCE!

Sunday Oct 14 3 P.M.

The Living Church

"THE BRETHREN"

Four young men from Seattle, beautifully suited by the Holy Spirit, to share Jesus Christ through their own contemporary, folk style. The high school campus is a haven of all denominations.

Meeting at The First Baptist Church, Church St. & Thirty Place. Montclair, N.J. 744-3391 for more information.

By Charles Lamont

World's Only X-Rated Hypnotist

Best Drinks In Town Identification Required
Open Wednesday Through Sunday Evenings
For Further Information Call 288-9835
Half Way to $5 Goal

By Gene Moore

The memorial fund established in honor of Dr. Julian Jaffe, the history professor who died suddenly last spring, is close to its projected goal of $1,000. The committee in charge of the fund will be used either to provide a grant or a scholarship for selected students at MSC. Dr. Joel Schwartz, a colleague of Jaffe's and trustee of the fund, said that some of the proceeds may also be used to fund a lecture series on campus.

CRITERIA FOR the grant allocations may not be finalized until next semester. Dr. James Kenen, the treasurer, stated that any decisions will depend in part upon "the amount of money raised and the wishes of the Jaffe family."

"It has been resolved that eligibility for the fund will be open to all students or to history majors exclusively. Keenen said that the money may be used over a number of years with the grant being awarded to one student each year.

Two of Jaffe's greatest interests were the histories of US labor and the American immigrant. According to the Pace Press, students are encouraged to apply for the grant, and the applications will be considered by a committee.

Nader Knocks Big Business

By Barbara Buono

Consumer activist Ralph Nader captivated a full-house audience at MSC last Wednesday, addressing the problem of the divide between socialism and capitalism.

Nader challenged the widespread misconception that US labor and the American business have become "enemies." Instead, he argued, they are co-dependent partners in a global economy.

According to Pearson, the research director, the money will be used to continue the current research and to fund the upcoming projects. The lab will be utilized mainly by those involved in the study of motor learning.

Thinking Ahead

The Student Center Policy Board has formed a subcommittee to investigate the future development of the Student Center. The committee will focus on the feasibility of constructing some type of addition to the Center.

All students and faculty interested in working on the committee are asked to contact Betty O'Keefe through the SGA office.
PIECING IT BACK TOGETHER — Eighteen Montclair State students used modern ingenuity, antique building techniques and lots of hard work to save this 160 year-old carriage house from destruction. The house, almost halfway reconstructed in the photograph above, now stands on the grounds of the MSC-operated School of Conservation in Branchville.

The three stall carriage house was reconstructed on the grounds of the School of Conservation which became affiliated with Montclair State about two years ago. The School, which offers programs on the natural sciences, is the largest facility of its kind in the Western Hemisphere and the second largest in the world.

By M. J. Smith

Learning the professional methods of historical reconstruction may take years of study but 18 Montclair State students skipped the preliminaries this summer in order to save a 160 year-old carriage house from the bulldozer.

The project was actually a three credit course offered from Aug. 13 to 24 by MSC's industrial education and technology department.

The house was built in 1813 on the Old Mine Road, one of the oldest highways in the United States, in Montague. However, that area on the New Jersey-Pennsylvania border will soon be under water when the Tocks Island Dam is constructed.

So THE students took the house apart, piece by piece, and moved it eight miles to a new site in Branchville.

The three stall carriage house was reconstructed on the grounds of the School of Conservation which became affiliated with Montclair State about two years ago. The School, which offers programs on the natural sciences, is the largest facility of its kind in the Western Hemisphere and the second largest in the world.

RESEARCH

thousands of topics

$2.75 per page

Nation's most extensive library of research material

SEND FOR YOUR UP-TO-DATE,

144-PAGE, MAIL-ORDER

CATALOG. ENCLOSURE $1.00

TO COVER POSTAGE

RESEARCH ASSISTANCE, INC.

11941 Wilshire Blvd., Suite #2

Los Angeles, Calif. 90025

(213) 477-8474 or 477-5493

Our research material is sold for research assistance only not as a finished product for academic credit.
Reconstruct History

DR. JOHN KIRK, the School's director, heard about the house from stocklyn Wyght, the School's business manager, who owned the descendents of the Black family who Montague property.

When the building was originally constructed in 1813, only wooden peg and an interlocking joint method was used to hold the house together. In 1898 nails were used to attach new siding.

"The students are maintaining the historical integrity of the building although we lost the second story floor and some wood must be replaced in order to make the house structurally sound," Kirk explained. The second story floor, which was 50 years old, had been eaten away by dry rot.

THE STUDENTS who were working on the house know for a fact that there are 1000 pieces of slate in the roof because they took them all down, one by one.

"Slate is very fragile," explained Keith Luker, an industrial arts major.

Did You Know?...

That all Juniors and Seniors with a 3.35 cum (Or Better!) who have applied for membership in KAPPA DELTA PI (the education honorary society) are eligible for acceptance or who are already accepted into the Education Dept., are eligible for membership in KAPPA DELTA PI.

If you want more information about membership, fill out this coupon and drop it off in Dept.

KIRK's newest idea is to build a dining hall which will be heated with solar energy.

The Sapphire: the students quickly learned the almost lost art of peg-making when they had to replace some of the wooden "nails" lost in the move. In 1813, when the house was first built, only these pegs and an interlocking joint method were used to hold the building together.

The only graduate student taking the course, the original builders found a perfectly straight tree more than 35 feet high which was then hewn down to size.

For the School's collection of Colonial farm implements.

The Student Skier

1 Week in SWITZERLAND

from $313

Come see us!
The Student Travel Centre
c/o International Programs

Life Hall

 acceptance or who are already accepted into the Education Dept., are eligible for membership in
By Rosemary Morra and Bill Gibson

"Although relationships between the college and the Little Falls community have improved somewhat over the past six to eight months, both parties should stop and take a closer look at these relationships. If the same arguments that are raging today cannot be resolved and continue to crop up in the next few years, the future looks very bleak," said James Capalbo, mayor of Little Falls.

The continuing expansion of the college coupled with the plans for future expansion have strained the college-community relationship in existing problems and have created new ones. Among the most prominent problems are the future of the rathskeller, additional student housing in the form of apartments, located in Little Falls, the quarry landfill operation and the absence of input by the community into the governing processes which affect Little Falls.

FUROR

Construction of the ultra-modern Student Center on the Little Falls campus area has resulted in a furor over the future use of the Center. In the plans for the Center, as area was designated for use as a rathskeller. Originally, it was expected that beer and wine would be available for sale by the community.

MSC in no position to ignore Little Falls. We plan to exist with or without the college.

Robert Steffy, committeeman

the Center has been unable to obtain the necessary club license to run an establishment in which alcoholic beverages may be served.

"I am against the proposal to grant the college a liquor license. As long as I am on the committee governing the granting of such a license, I will recommend defeat of and vote against any proposal to establish a new license for the use of the college." emphasized Capalbo.

LICENSE

Little Falls Committeeman Anthony Barbieri pointed out that the Student Center rathskeller was built without the prior knowledge of the township and before the college had received or even mentioned the possibility of obtaining a club-license from Little Falls. When the subject finally was discussed Barbieri said that the attitude of the college was one of "we're a state institution and therefore we're going to get a license."

Capalbo explained that there are town ordinances in Little Falls which prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages within 500 feet of a school and which set the number of club licenses available at two. AMEND

"If we were to amend the ordinances to permit the college to obtain a license, it would set a precedent which would be hard to set aside. We'd have to do the same for almost any group who desired such a license," claimed Capalbo. "It could start a trend which would have disastrous results for the community," he added.

Capalbo suggested that, if the college were set up on obtaining a club license, it should go to the state liquor board and ask for a special license. He emphasized, "The burden of the license should not be placed on Little Falls."

ONE-NIGHT

Little Falls Committeeman Robert Steffy noted that the college is still able to obtain a one-night liquor license. He said that the township would be willing to cooperate in the legitimate request for such a license as long as the number of requests does not reach an excess. He also noted that the township committee have been "quite pleased" with the results of the one-night licenses it has granted so far.

With the increasing student population the college has been seeking additional means of housing its students. One of the proposals called for the construction of an apartment complex in the town center. MSC Ties Strained the Student Center rathskeller was built without the prior knowledge of the township and before the college had received or even mentioned the possibility of obtaining a club-license from Little Falls. When the subject finally was discussed Barbieri said that the attitude of the college was one of "we're a state institution and therefore we're going to get a license."

Capalbo explained that there are town ordinances in Little Falls which prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages within 500 feet of a school and which set the number of club licenses available at two. AMEND

"If we were to amend the ordinances to permit the college to obtain a license, it would set a precedent which would be hard to set aside. We'd have to do the same for almost any group who desired such a license," claimed Capalbo. "It could start a trend which would have disastrous results for the community," he added.

Capalbo suggested that, if the college were set up on obtaining a club license, it should go to the state liquor board and ask for a special license. He emphasized, "The burden of the license should not be placed on Little Falls."

ONE-NIGHT

Little Falls Committeeman Robert Steffy noted that the college is still able to obtain a one-night liquor license. He said that the township would be willing to cooperate in the legitimate request for such a license as long as the number of requests does not reach an excess. He also noted that the township committee have been "quite pleased" with the results of the one-night licenses it has granted so far.

With the increasing student population the college has been seeking additional means of housing its students. One of the proposals called for the construction of an apartment complex in the town center.

COMPLETION

Originally the college had proposed to buy an existing complex in Little Falls. However, the college was unable to obtain the proper funding, which prevented a showdown between the college and the community. The sale of this apartment complex to the college, which is a tax-exempt institution, would have resulted in the loss of millions of dollars in ratables and taxes, while the expense for the basic services of police, fire and the like would remain. In the community, "Shellhard increase," explained Committeeman Samuel Sheler.

ALTERNATE

When the college discovered that it would be unable to purchase the apartment complex, it presented an alternate housing proposal in which they would construct a new apartment complex on Clove Road.

The plan met with stiff opposition from the township. The college that made certain concessions which included a cut of 10% in the number of units and the banning of married student students from the dorms.

"At the time the college approached the county planning board with the proposal, Little Falls had been here put under a building ban by the State Environmental Protection Agency because its sewage treatment facilities were being taxed to their utmost capacity," explained Sheler. "Until such time as we could expand our facilities, no building could take place in the township," he said.

Keeping in mind that the landfill operation had been halted because of failure to obtain the proper permits and failure to meet basic engineering parameters set forth by the State Environmental Protection Agency, the case is being handled by the New Jersey Attorney General for possible prosecution.

One of the reasons for the current animosity might be the lack of communication between the college and the community, said Capalbo. He pointed out that some stripes have been made to lower the tension, especially in the fields of athletics.

He said that the college had made available its swimming facilities for the townspeople over the summer. He expressed a hope that this was only the start of continued cooperation between the two parties.

ADVISORY

The committee members would like to see either the formation of a civic advisory committee or the appointment of a Little Falls citizen to the Board of Trustees in a voting or non-voting representatives. This would provide a much-needed input by the community into the decision-making process as it affects Little Falls. Both proposals are presently being considered by MSC President David W.D. Dickson, said Capalbo.

"MSC is in no position to ignore Little Falls," emphasized Steffy. With a look of determination he added, "(Little Falls) plan to exist with or without the college."
Why Pay More?

Once again students attending public colleges may be faced with a tuition hike. A New York-based group of businessmen, officially known as the Committee for Economic Development has revealed a proposal calling for the doubling of tuition at public colleges. This proposal, which is a nationwide recommendation, would be disastrous for the students involved.

Many students attending colleges such as MDC do so for financial reasons. With the cost of private colleges soaring beyond the financial reach of many families, public education is their only alternative. Students who will pay state taxes all their lives are entitled to a good education at public colleges at a reasonable cost.

The vice-chancellor of higher education in New Jersey has said that the proposed hike will be discussed by the state Board of Higher Education. After all, he says he fears no "drastic steps," the board has a history of making decisions which are not in the best interest of students.

All those with a vested interest in public colleges must take a stand now against the committee's proposal. Delayed action will only be ineffective. One of the reasons that student efforts opposing last year's tuition increase were not successful was that this opposition was organized too late.

The SGA and the New Jersey Student Association should begin to take steps to counter the proposed increase. As was done during the last tuition crisis, the SGA should publish a list of individuals involved.

College students can do without further financial burdens. This proposed tuition increase must be fought and forgotten.

Letters to the Editor

The MONTCLARION welcomes letters to the editor. Letters should be typed and must be submitted to the MONTCLARION, fourth floor, Student Center, no later than 4 pm Friday before desired publication date. We reserve the right to edit letters for style and brevity.

Gary Hoitisma

Academia Shields Soviet Reality

The campaign on the part of the Soviet Government to depict Andrei Sakharov and Alexander Solzhenitsyn has widespread implications for students of the contemporary world.

Sakharov, credited as the father of the Soviet hydrogen bomb, said in 1972 that detente was a political ploy by the West coupled with increased repression committed under communist dictatorships such as Brazil or Greece but virtually silence about any repression committed under communist dictatorships. This makes very puzzling the continued silence of two of America's most important institutions — the White House and the Academy.

President Nixon is in a political dilemma of his own making. Having personally proclaimed the end of the cold war, what does he do when confronted with evidence that it just isn't so? He can and should be pressing into acknowledging certain unpleasant realities at the risk of offending Uncle Leonid.

HYPOCRISY

Much of the American academic community, though significantly not all, has been guilty of the kind of hypocrisy recently deplored by Solzhenitsyn — quickness to chastise any repression committed under military dictatorships such as Brazil or Greece but virtually silence about the same repressions committed under communist dictatorships.

where are today's politically activists making the self-proclaimed advocates of peace, democracy, and the "higher morality" who were so vocal, so "concerned" back in the 60's Now that Vietnam has left the front page, what are they doing?

STENCILING

Still reeling from the landslide repudiation of McGovernism, they are busy deploving Richard Nixon, Watertag, Arthur Jensen, Greek colonels, Gulf Oil, Richard Nixon, Chillingdon, Richard Nixon and now even Pat Oliphant who had the audacity (think of it) to call attention to such an "unprogressive" and "relevent" issue as marked's continuing support of American liberty?

I think it is one we had a re-ordering of priorities.
The Major Theater Series presents

SHE HAS AN AGE-OLD PROBLEM...

THE MANDRAKE

...HE IS COMING UP WITH THE SOLUTION!

Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27, at 8:30 p.m
Oct. 26 at 2:15 p.m.
At Memorial Auditorium
Season Passes and Group Rates Available
Box Office Opens Mon., Oct. 15.
Film Fest 'Simply Great Films'

By Janet Engel

Cannes Film Festival, move over...The Montclair State International Film Festival is about to begin. This year's Festival, sponsored by the MSC English department, is under capable direction of Professor Theodore Price. Professor Price has extensive background and experience in the use of film in teaching both literature and courses in Contemporary Cultures.

This Year's Festival is dedicated to the award-winning film director John Ford, who died in September. During the course of his career, Ford directed such great movies as "Young Mr. Lincoln," "The Grapes of Wrath," "Tobacco Road," "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," "The Quiet Man," and "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance." Being shown at festivals in larger locations, many to be the definitive work in this field. Ford's films are all, by John Wayne, directed his first film in 1917 called "Losile, the Wainne." During the course of his career, Ford directed such great movies as "Young Mr. Lincoln," "The Grapes of Wrath," "Tobacco Road," "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," "The Quiet Man," and "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance."

COWBOYS

The English Department's International Film Festival will present a John Ford classic, "Stagecoach," starring John Wayne and Thomas Mitchell on Tues., Oct. 16. Admission is free. For the location of this 7:30 pm movie, contact the English Dept.

CHURCH MUSIC

The Cathedral of the Sacred Heart in Newark will present the fourth recital in its Cathedral Concert Series on Tues., Oct. 16 at 8:30 pm. Featured organism will be Richard Barron of The Reformed Church, Ossend, N.J. Admission is free. THE MAGICIAN!

Tickets are now on sale at the Memorial Auditorium box office for all performances of "Mandarkie," the first major production of the speech and theater department. "Mandarkie" will run from Wed., Oct. 24 through Sat., Oct. 27 with a Friday matinee at 2 pm. For further information call 746-9132.

GALLERY ONE

Graduate Student Marlene Lasker will be the first exhibitor in the new Gallery One located in the Student Wing, second floor, Life Hall. The prints and paintings will be on display through Oct. 31 from Sat. to Sun. from 9 am to 5 pm daily.

ANOTHER SHOESHINE

As part of their continuing Sunday afternoon film program, the State Museum in Trenton will present "Way Out West" on Oct. 14. Starring Laurel and Hardy, the film centers around a pair of hoofers attempting to deliver a sheik to a gold mine. Tickets are available in the lobby at 3:30 pm and 5:30 pm. Wondersoul World

With October designated as Salute to Walt Disney month, the State Museum has performed such conductors as Mitropoulos, Beecham, and Bernstein. He has been on the Montclair faculty since 1966.

INAUGURATION CONCERT

A concert in honor of the inauguration of Dr. David D.W. Dickson as president of Montclair State College will be held on Sun., Oct. 21, at 8 pm in the Student Center Ballroom. The program, a continuation of the Inaugural Day's festivities, is open to the public free of charge.

Featured will be "Ceremonial Music," a work for piano and electronics written by Dr. Dika Erawan especially for the occasion and presented by the composer. Newlin, a noted author and scholar, will study with Roger Sessions, Arnold Schoenberg and Arthur Schurack in the analytical study, "Bruckner-Mahler-Schoenberg," which is considered by many to be the definitive work in this field. She joined the MSC faculty this fall.

Cellost Chaim Zemach, also a new member of the MSC faculty, will play "Hungarian Folksongs," and "Hungarian Folk Dances," with the Bach Choir. Zemach is internationally acclaimed, and principal cellist with such orchestras as the Warsaw Philharmonic, Philadelphia Orchestra, and the Rochester Philharmonic. His concert artist, will sing the tenor solos in the Bach Mass in B minor, "B-WoO," for SATB, and his concert will be held on Sun., Oct. 21, at 8 pm in the Student Center Ballroom. The program, a continuation of the Inaugural Day's festivities, is open to the public free of charge.

Museums

BY MAUREEN GARDE

MSC students who need a museum visit for an art course requirement and don't care for trekking to New York, take note: there's an excellent small museum just a ten minute drive from the campus. The Montclair Art Museum is discreetly tucked behind a screen of trees at 35 Mountain Avenue in Montclair, just off Bloomfield Avenue.

The pleasant and airy main galleries are showcases for the museum's permanent collection of American art and for exhibits on loan. Each of the two large galleries is large enough to hold a substantial exhibit, but small enough not to weary the viewer and the feet. The remainder of the museum houses an American Indian collection, studio space for art, and an art reference library.

Until Oct. 28, the center gallery is an exhibition entitled "Enriching a Tradition." It will be the second of a series, "19th Century American Painting," highlighting the museum's American art collection. Each exhibition in the three-part series serves as the focal point for a lecture by Patience Young, a member of the art faculty of Drew University. The lecture keyed to the upcoming exhibit will be presented Thursday, Oct. 25 at 10:30 am. The lecture is free to museum members, $1 per session to non-members.

The exhibition of "19th Century American Painting" is sponsored by the NJ Arts Council.

PART TWO

A special series of exhibitions will continue on Oct. 14 with the opening of a show entitled "Enriching a Tradition." It will be the second of a series, "19th Century American Painting," highlighting the museum's American art collection. Each exhibition in the three-part series serves as the focal point for a lecture by Patience Young, a member of the art faculty of Drew University. The lecture keyed to the upcoming exhibit will be presented Thursday, Oct. 25 at 10:30 am. The lecture is free to museum members, $1 per session to non-members.

The exhibition of "19th Century American Painting" is sponsored by the NJ Arts Council.

ART CLASSES

In addition to exhibits and lectures, the museum offers a program of art classes open to the public that includes drawing, painting, portraiture, sculpture and watercolor painting.

You can make the museum a shopping stop as well. The Museum Shop offers hand crafts, American Indian jewelry, textiles, wall hangings and small artifacts.

The museum hours are 10 am to 5 pm and 2 to 5:30 pm Sundays, closed Mondays.

Wilt Date Set

Thomas Wilt, well-known New York flutist and composer will be presented in a faculty recital on Sun., Oct. 14 at 4 pm in Edna M.E.cehan Recital Hall, Montclair State College. The recital is open to the public free of charge.

Wilt's audience will be afforded the opportunity to hear the solo flute presented in a wide variety of idioms. He will play a baroque concerto with harpsichord, a classical sonata, a duo with piano, impressions on H-industrian raps, adaptations of Hungarian folk music, 20th century French impressionistic music, and a work scored for flute and synthesizer.

Wilt received his B.M. and M.M. degrees from the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., where he studied flute with Joseph Marin. Further graduate study and research at the City University of New York has led to the formation of the Collegium Musicus, a group of instrumentalists who perform medieval, renaissance, and baroque music at Montclair State.

During his 15 years as professional flutist, he has had engagements with the Rochester Philharmonic, Indianapolis Symphony, Kansas City Philharmonic and Toronto Opera Company. He has performed with such conductors as Mitropoulos, Beecham, and Bernstein. He has been on the Montclair faculty since 1966.

NEW MUSEUM OPENINGS

A special series of exhibitions will be a continuation of the Inaugural Day's festivities, is open to the public free of charge.

MUSEUM DIVERSIFIED

MONTCLAIRON/Thurs., Oct. 11, 1973.

The pleasant and airy main galleries are showcases for the museum's permanent collection of American art and for exhibits on loan. Each of the two large galleries is large enough to hold a substantial exhibit, but small enough not to weary the viewer and the feet. The remainder of the museum houses an American Indian collection, studio space for art, and an art reference library.

Until Oct. 28, the center gallery is an exhibition entitled "Enriching a Tradition." It will be the second of a series, "19th Century American Painting," highlighting the museum's American art collection. Each exhibition in the three-part series serves as the focal point for a lecture by Patience Young, a member of the art faculty of Drew University. The lecture keyed to the upcoming exhibit will be presented Thursday, Oct. 25 at 10:30 am. The lecture is free to museum members, $1 per session to non-members.

The first part of the exhibition/decture series ended Oct. 7, and the third part will be presented in November.

A short-step museum visit for some students, the permanent exhibit of American Indian artifacts in the small upstairs gallery can provide a wealth of design ideas for crafts or fine arts students. Each showcase arranged according to geographical area and holds clothing, bakeware, weapons and jewelry from a particular Indian group.

ART CLASSES

In addition to exhibits and lectures, the museum offers a program of art classes open to the public that includes drawing, painting, portraiture, sculpture and watercolor painting.

You can make the museum a shopping stop as well. The Museum Shop offers hand crafts, American Indian jewelry, textiles, wall hangings and small artifacts.

The museum hours are 10 am to 5 pm and 2 to 5:30 pm Sundays, closed Mondays.
Konarkowski Sets Pace for Harriers

By Rich Keller

From junior, grade basketball, to high school and college cross country, a big change for Joe Konarkowski, Montclair State cross country co-captain.

In ninth grade, Joe went out for football and basketball. "I always wanted to be a basketball player. The next year, I started doing leg exercises and decided to run cross country to build up my wind. Before I knew what was happening, I was the number two runner on the team."

When asked who he thought was instrumental in convincing him to continue running, Konarkowski replied, "my teammates, my coach, and myself."

Joe attributes his success over the years to "proper guidance in high school. I had them, as I have now, an excellent running partner and one of the best coaches around."

After a highly successful high school campaign, Joe went on to college but didn't run as a freshman. He elaborates, "I was accepted at Ohio University and went out for their cross country team. During the season, I broke my foot and ended that!" Joe eventually transferred to MSC.

Konarkowski considers his home course at Garrett Mountain in West Paterson, to be the toughest course he has run on because "even though it is natural (not prefabricated or altered in any way), it has a lot of rocks and roots. It also has many hills and running hills is the weakest part of my race. Garrett Mountain definitely provides quite a challenge for me."

Joe continued, "I enjoy running over natural surfaces tough, but not dangerous. Many people are manipulating cross country and its courses by placing obstacles along the routes. This is similar to the European cross country courses. I think this tends to take all the sport out of cross-country."

When asked about his improvement over last year and why he is running consistently well this year, Konarkowski replied: "One positive thing is that my mental attitude has improved. Last spring, I started to become more active socially. This has definitely helped me. I find it easier to calm down before a race and as a result, my times are down."

Konarkowski's time was down to 24:51 against William Paterson College this week as he finished first. But the Indians lost the meet, 27-28.

Also in last week's action, the Indians squeaked past C.W. Post 29-28, and then breezed to a 17-41 victory over Southern Connecticut State in a tri-meet.

Little Car Company 119 Grove Street
Montclair, New Jersey 783-5380

Is Pleased To Announce The Grand Opening
Of Their New Ultra-Modern Facility

Featuring Benelli Motorcycles
Sales Service, Accessories
Custom Equipment • Used Car • Automobile Parts
Opening Week of Oct. 1-6

Student Role Must Be Guaranteed

Beneath the major issue of a strike which seems to be our major topic of concern lies the real question that students need to confront and to reckone with. This question deals with the role of students in the collective bargaining process.

The term "academic community," which is consistently used in negotiation, discussion and development of collective bargaining agreements and policy seems to be loosely employed by both the Board of Higher Education and the faculty. The question arises as to how both of these entities can propose to meet the interests of the academic community when the largest portion of the community, the students, have little if any input into the decision making process. It is evident that the Board of Higher Education and the faculty are in definite conflict with each other. It is also evident in this conflict that narrow self-interest seems to be the overriding concern of both parties.

Where are the students in this conflict? We are the victims of the struggle for power in higher education in New Jersey. Collective bargaining has served ideally in industry where self-interest is the concern of both employer and employee. Within the realm of faculty/employee negotiations, matters under discussion go beyond what industrial and public employment may describe as terms and conditions of employment, typically monetary benefits. The collective bargaining process excludes student input. Previously, governance structures provided student input. The collective bargaining process can theoretically usurp the privileges secured by student activism of the late 60's.

Faculty contracts have gone beyond economic issues. Governance, academic freedom, class size, facilities and services are all subject to negotiation. Educational policy rests within the scope of faculty contractual negotiation. The governance structures that students have secured participating in will be virtually worthless in comparison to the legal commitment that a contract encompass. So what is the student left with? We are well aware of the jeopardy that a faculty contract places us in.

How have we reacted? Our initial reaction was one of fear and anger. We have reacted to the process through the New Jersey Student Association, made up of student representatives from the eight state colleges. Our primary concern is student interest. We are disillusioned with the management-oriented philosophies embraced by the Chancellor and the Board of Higher Education. We are disputed with the increased cost of our education with a decrease in quality. We will no longer abide and be more victims to a process which so greatly influences our future.

We are committed to our rights to secure input into governance. We will not stand aside and watch the power to determine governance go from the Board of Higher Education to the faculty without being assured of significant input. We are committed to maintaining a third party role in the fact that there are many common feelings between faculty and students, issues such as class size and faculty-student ratio, when kept at a minimum, are to our common benefit.

We are not adverse to the concept of unionism. We foresee in the future where students will unionize in order to legally protect their collective bargaining process. We are not adverse to the concept of unionism. We foresee in the future where students will unionize in order to legally protect their collective bargaining process.

Will the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?

You have named students as a party in your contract. We must be insured that through this clause retained, you have legally accepted our input. The question remains as to the nature of that participation. You are well aware of our aggressiveness to be involved in all levels of college governance.

We, the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?

You have named students as a party in your contract. We must be insured that through this clause retained, you have legally accepted our input. The question remains as to the nature of that participation. You are well aware of our aggressiveness to be involved in all levels of college governance.

Will the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?

You have named students as a party in your contract. We must be insured that through this clause retained, you have legally accepted our input. The question remains as to the nature of that participation. You are well aware of our aggressiveness to be involved in all levels of college governance.

Will the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?

You have named students as a party in your contract. We must be insured that through this clause retained, you have legally accepted our input. The question remains as to the nature of that participation. You are well aware of our aggressiveness to be involved in all levels of college governance.

Will the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?

You have named students as a party in your contract. We must be insured that through this clause retained, you have legally accepted our input. The question remains as to the nature of that participation. You are well aware of our aggressiveness to be involved in all levels of college governance.

Will the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?

You have named students as a party in your contract. We must be insured that through this clause retained, you have legally accepted our input. The question remains as to the nature of that participation. You are well aware of our aggressiveness to be involved in all levels of college governance.

Will the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?

You have named students as a party in your contract. We must be insured that through this clause retained, you have legally accepted our input. The question remains as to the nature of that participation. You are well aware of our aggressiveness to be involved in all levels of college governance.

Will the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?

You have named students as a party in your contract. We must be insured that through this clause retained, you have legally accepted our input. The question remains as to the nature of that participation. You are well aware of our aggressiveness to be involved in all levels of college governance.

Will the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?

You have named students as a party in your contract. We must be insured that through this clause retained, you have legally accepted our input. The question remains as to the nature of that participation. You are well aware of our aggressiveness to be involved in all levels of college governance.

Will the AFT in the negotiation and in the future truly allow for real student input or will we again face the mockery of student input we have now under the administrative structure?
Montclair State's field hockey team's inexperience was evident last week as the Squaws dropped their first two games of the season. King College didn't prove to be amiable hosts last Tuesday as they ousted the MSC team, 6-1.

GLASSBORO STATE didn't help themselves much either as they blanked the Squaws, 7-0, last Friday. The team travels to Lehman College on Friday before facing William Paterson Tuesday at their home field (Brookdale Park in Bloomfield) at 3:30 pm.

Glassboro's Donna Heyn riddled the MSC defense with three goals while Janice Alberti netted two. Jane Cordingly and Barbara Cunningham each tallied a goal to close out the Glassboro scoring.

COACH DONNA Olson could not fault her netminder Laura Sason who made some fine stops on the Glassboro forwards. "The score was not telling of her play," Olson said. "There were just too many open shots in the circle (the defensive area around the goal)."

The varsity game was highlighted by two penalty shots which are similar to penalty shots in ice hockey. When the goalie prevents a sure goal by illegally blocking, holding or catching the ball, a face off is held approximately six yards in front of the net between the goalie and the player whose shot was blocked.

THE BULLY is ever when a goal is scored or the goalie succeeds in getting the ball outside of the defensive circle.

"The penalty bully is quite rare," Continued from pg. 12

MSC Slays...

Craig Hugger let loose with a aerial that stunned the fans as well as the Cortland secondary, landing in the seven-yard line. Fifty-two seconds later, on second and goal from the five, fullback Frank Ripley exploded up the middle, breaking a few Cortland bones along the way, to another MSC touchdown.

Lajtermann came out and did something very strange. He missed an easy point, his second in two weeks. His teammates weren't exactly in tears about it though, as they assumed command, 27-14, and that's the way it stayed.

Kretzmer MSC Chess King

The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

THE INDIANS converted another Red Dragon fumble into points when, on third and seven from their own 11-yard line, and 7:54 left in the contest, Cortland surrendered the ball with fullback Brian Madsen's fumble. The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

WHEN ASKED if the length of the final matches tired them out, Bower summed up the finals when he said of his opponent, "I was just a matter of his proving his obvious superiority." He missed an easy point, his second in two weeks. His teammates weren't exactly in tears about it though, as they assumed command, 27-14, and that's the way it stayed.

Game Four

SQUAW Vs.

Why do some people think Bud is sort of special? Go ahead and find out why! (Brewing beer right does make a difference.)

When you say Budweiser, you've said it all!

When the goalie prevents a sure goal by illegally blocking, holding or catching the ball, a face off is held approximately six yards in front of the net between the goalie and the player whose shot was blocked.

THE BULLY is ever when a goal is scored or the goalie succeeds in getting the ball outside of the defensive circle.

"The penalty bully is quite rare," Continued from pg. 12

MSC Slays...

Craig Hugger let loose with a aerial that stunned the fans as well as the Cortland secondary, landing in the seven-yard line. Fifty-two seconds later, on second and goal from the five, fullback Frank Ripley exploded up the middle, breaking a few Cortland bones along the way, to another MSC touchdown.

Lajtermann came out and did something very strange. He missed an easy point, his second in two weeks. His teammates weren't exactly in tears about it though, as they assumed command, 27-14, and that's the way it stayed.

Kretzmer MSC Chess King

The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

THE INDIANS converted another Red Dragon fumble into points when, on third and seven from their own 11-yard line, and 7:54 left in the contest, Cortland surrendered the ball with fullback Brian Madsen's fumble. The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

WHEN ASKED if the length of the final matches tired them out, Bower summed up the finals when he said of his opponent, "I was just a matter of his proving his obvious superiority." He missed an easy point, his second in two weeks. His teammates weren't exactly in tears about it though, as they assumed command, 27-14, and that's the way it stayed.

Kretzmer MSC Chess King

The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

THE INDIANS converted another Red Dragon fumble into points when, on third and seven from their own 11-yard line, and 7:54 left in the contest, Cortland surrendered the ball with fullback Brian Madsen's fumble. The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

WHEN ASKED if the length of the final matches tired them out, Bower summed up the finals when he said of his opponent, "I was just a matter of his proving his obvious superiority." He missed an easy point, his second in two weeks. His teammates weren't exactly in tears about it though, as they assumed command, 27-14, and that's the way it stayed.

Kretzmer MSC Chess King

The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

THE INDIANS converted another Red Dragon fumble into points when, on third and seven from their own 11-yard line, and 7:54 left in the contest, Cortland surrendered the ball with fullback Brian Madsen's fumble. The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

WHEN ASKED if the length of the final matches tired them out, Bower summed up the finals when he said of his opponent, "I was just a matter of his proving his obvious superiority." He missed an easy point, his second in two weeks. His teammates weren't exactly in tears about it though, as they assumed command, 27-14, and that's the way it stayed.

Kretzmer MSC Chess King

The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

THE INDIANS converted another Red Dragon fumble into points when, on third and seven from their own 11-yard line, and 7:54 left in the contest, Cortland surrendered the ball with fullback Brian Madsen's fumble. The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

WHEN ASKED if the length of the final matches tired them out, Bower summed up the finals when he said of his opponent, "I was just a matter of his proving his obvious superiority." He missed an easy point, his second in two weeks. His teammates weren't exactly in tears about it though, as they assumed command, 27-14, and that's the way it stayed.

Kretzmer MSC Chess King

The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

THE INDIANS converted another Red Dragon fumble into points when, on third and seven from their own 11-yard line, and 7:54 left in the contest, Cortland surrendered the ball with fullback Brian Madsen's fumble. The only scoring done in the third quarter brought Cortland seven points closer as Boettger hit split end Mark Jenkins with a 34-yard bomb.

WHEN ASKED if the length of the final matches tired them out, Bower summed up the finals when he said of his opponent, "I was just a matter of his proving his obvious superiority." He missed an easy point, his second in two weeks. His teammates weren't exactly in tears about it though, as they assumed command, 27-14, and that's the way it stayed.
MSC Slays Dragons

By Joe Castronovo

"Yes, of course I’d have to say that this victory will give us a lift. We played all around good ball tonight. Our running game went well and our passing game improved, both on account of the fine blocking job the offensive line did. That’s not to say that the defense didn’t hold its own. We capitalized on their mistakes tonight, and those mistakes were due to our rugged defensive play which caused them to happen."

The words were those of Clary Anderson, head coach and spiritual leader of the MSC football squad. The occasion was a 27-14 triumph over Cortland State Saturday night at Sonage Field. Along with the victory came sights of relief, prayers of thanks and a good deal of laughter, all from the winners’ locker room.

THE GAME began via differently than most of the Indians’ previous encounters. It began with their opponent scoring first. In this case, it was the Red Dragons’ halfback Bruce Livingston who, on first down from the MSC 29-yard line, took a lateral from QB Ralph Boettger and made it worthy of six points.

Kicker Tom Helfgan added another with his PAT, and it looked like another one of those long, cold nights for MSC fans as they reluctantly watched the Tribe fall behind.

On the ensuing kickoff however, the Indians proceeded to march 61 yards in 11 plays, culminating in a Franklin Walker touchdown. The speedy halfback left his footprints on the Cortland helmets as he scooted around the right end for 17 yards with 2:34 remaining in the quarter. Kicker Mowes Lajtermann booted the extra point and the score was even. BOTH TEAMS spent most of the second period running up and down the field while the crowd indeed its disapproval. They were awakened when MSC decided to pounce on a high, spiraling boot by the Cortland punter which landed only 18 yards away, on its own 33-yard line.

Five plays later, fullback Ray Vandezon went into the end zone from two yards out, with 2:23 left in the half. Lajtermann’s kick was good, and the Indians were ahead, 14-7.

The Tribe’s tenacious defense wasn’t through however. With the Red Dragons apparently looking ahead to their coach’s fast-breathing halftime lecture, MSC linbacker Greg Fitzpatrick recovered a fumble on his own 46-yard line.

NO SOONER did the Indian offense race onto the field than SQ

Continued on pg. 11