11-1-1973

The Montclarion, November 01, 1973

The Montclarion

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.montclair.edu/montclarion/225

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at Montclair State University Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Montclarion by an authorized administrator of Montclair State University Digital Commons. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@montclair.edu.
SANDMAN himself had been scheduled to appear, but his helicopter was grounded by heavy rains and high winds.

Three pickets for the MSC/AFT stood outside the entrance to the Student Center ballroom as participants filed in to see the rally. Assistant geography professor Howard H. Ballantine, assistant political science professor and sophomore political science major Mary Disney carried signs asking for the abolition of tenure quotas, binding arbitration of grievances and rejecting further tuition increases.

Ballantine described the "counter-rally" as an attempt to "dramatize the issues" of faculty/staff contract negotiations. Bargaining efforts had been stalled since Oct. 8 and are to be submitted for arbitration.

WILENtz, the first speaker at the rally, ran through a list of negotiation measures which he said Sandman had opposed. These included extended unemployment compensation, revenue sharing, the Equal Rights Amendment and a $1 billion dollar bond issue for transportation, education, institutions and housing. He described Byrne as part of the "tradition of moderation and reason of past governors," and accused his opponent of being "out of step."

Wilen tz charged Sandman with running a campaign based on fear of trying to make people "mad, rather than calm," and trying to make people "fear, not understand, their neighbors." He pointed out that Republican Sen. Clifford Case had not endorsed Sandman, adding that N.J. Governor William T. Gibill "hasn't said a word since" his endorsement after the primary.

He ground to a conclusion by harshly declaring that there was "something about Sandman that was unacceptable not only to Democrats but to the people of this state."

Palmeri, stating that he was here to "reason and rationalize," countered by declaring that Sandman was "his own man," and "not a hand-picked candidate."

Commenting on Byrne's failure to take a stand on the death penalty issue, he claimed that Sandman "lets it like it is," with no "yelling, no inconsistency." In an open challenge to Byrne, he demanded, "What have you promised Meany (George Meany, AFL-CIO president) in return for donations he had made to Byrne's campaign."

In a question/answer session, Palmeri slammed CBS TV for being "totally unfair" in its coverage of Sandman's campaign. He also accused the Newark Star Ledger of some instances of biased treatment. Wilentz said Byrne was "generally satisfied" with his media coverage.

PALMIERI ridiculed as "dreamland" Byrne's proposal to state fund future gubernatorial candidates. He attacked Byrne's lack of government experience and declared that Byrne was "totally unqualified to be governor of N.J."

Wilen tz countered with a rundown on Byrne's past administrative experience and commented that Byrne's mind was "still open" and that he did not make "wishy-washy" proposals for funding.

First Dickson Assistant Named

By Carla Capizzi

Dickson Assistant Geography professor, was honored as the new assistant for the department. Dickson has been a valuable member of the department since his appointment in 1970. His contributions to the department have been invaluable, and his presence will be missed.

Dickson's primary responsibilities include grading assignments, conducting recitations, and advising students. He has also been involved in the development of new courses and curriculum.

Dickson received his Ph.D. in geography from the University of California, Berkeley, and has taught at various institutions, including the City University of New York.

Dickson is known for his dedication to teaching and his commitment to student success. He is highly regarded by students, colleagues, and administrators.

Dickson's appointment as the new assistant for the department is a testament to his hard work and dedication. The department is grateful for his contributions and wishes him continued success in his new role.
Consumer Group To Check Campus Services

By Mary E. Marban

A Consumer Action Bureau (CAB), sponsored on a campus with the main objective of acquiring and distributing information dealing with consumer issues facing students here and in the surrounding vicinity, has started. The bureau plans to conduct hearings to accommodate representatives of campus organizations and students with consumer grievances.

According to Linda Brandimarte, student sponsor of the bureau, the main purpose of CAB is "to investigate the different services supplied by the SGA and those provided by the administration." She mentioned the Student Center cafe and yearbook pictures as possible projects for the group. The bureau will be funded by the SGA and placed under the jurisdiction of the Board of Control. The bureau has tentative plans to make a list of the banks in the college area offering the best deals on student loans.

"We're just looking for the legalities," she asserted; "we want to make sure that students get their money's worth." Commenting on student organizations, she added that the bureau "will act as that student money is now wasted, but is used for the right purpose at the right time."

The bureau, according to Brandimarte, will "go in and ask questions" when conducting an investigation (a result of student and/or group complaints). It will look into the refunding and pricing policies of the store or service concerned and make a report. Due to its limited power, the CAB is unable to initiate a legal suit and is therefore unable to guarantee refunds to the student body. However, it will serve as a referral service.

"CAB is an economic, not a political organization," Brandimarte stated. She also said that the bureau will eliminate any political tendencies that may appear in its internal structure.

ITS INTERNAL government will consist of a board of 10 members (students and faculty) to coordinate the actions of the bureau. Other offices such as Project Coordinator and/or Publicity Coordinator will be established later on if needed. Brandimarte concluded by saying that the bureau will not only show the bad but it will also show the good of an establishment or service.

The Council on Commuter Affairs has accumulated this list of rides. All students interested in either getting or giving a ride should contact the council office on the fourth floor of the Student Center.

23 Austin Place

A DISTRESSING PREGNANCY?

Call Birthright at 375-6040.

377-8922.

Consumer Group To

Need A Ride?

Wishing to Give a Ride

Wishing To Get a Ride

ROBIN HOOD INN

"Good Service, Great Food"

1129 Valley Road

Clifton, N.J.

744-4150

College Grads Graduating in January '74

Where do you go from here?

It's a difficult decision, and a hard adjustment from student life to the business world. The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. offers January '74 graduates a chance to pursue a rewarding career with us. We have a complete and effective training program to help you get started. As we firmly believe in the "promote-from-within" policy, your opportunities for advancement are unlimited. All you need is ability and ambition. We'll give you a good starting salary and an exceptional package of fringe benefits.

Start on your way now by calling our Personnel Department, 624-6660, Ext. 557, OR stop in anytime between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co.

529 Broad St

Newark, New Jersey

An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

The Montclairian is published weekly throughout the academic year, except during examination, vacation and innovative periods, by the Student Government Association, Inc., of Montclair State College, Valley Rd. at Normal Ave. Upper Montclair, N.J. 07043. Telephone: (201) 893-5169.

Advertising rates upon request. Known office of publication Upper Montclair, N.J. 07043.

The MONTCLARION is a member of the New Jersey Collegiate Press Association and is free to non-students of The American Library in the Associated Collegiate Press Competition.

The editorial opinions expressed represent those of the editor-in-chief.
SGA legislators debated a proposal to eliminate the 30% quota of the student body required to vote in a campus-wide election in order for the results to be valid. The referendum has repeatedly failed in recent years because of a lack of student interest. In the last SGA elections, three referendums were on the ballot including one which failed in recent years because of a lack of student interest. The results to be valid.

PROSPER WITH HAPPINESS—in the Japanese meaning of Koeikan, a style of Karate studied by the MSC Koeikan Karate dub. Members Betty O'Keefe and Tom Barrett, SGA vice president estimated the percentage to be approximately 700 students.

REP ROBERT Silverman agreed with Genova's proposal, saying that an elimination of the percentage would create "an elite group" making the decision for the whole student body.

Fred Jenny, history department rep, countered this by pointing out that no voting percentage is required in the SGA executive office elections. The discussion ended when Barrett ruled that the bill must be tested for a week in order for students to become familiar with the proposed constitution change. Genova withdrew his amendment establishing a minimum percentage shortly before the ruling was made.

Commuter Council
Backs Truck Purchase

"The administration will have to do something for the students," remarked Fred Jenny of the Council on Commuter affairs. The council has proposed to the college several possible methods of alleviating the traffic problems on campus.

According to Jenny, one of the major efforts of the council is directed towards pursuing the college administration to purchase a tow truck. "Students are not being as responsible as they should be," Jenny stated, explaining that cars must be towed when they are parked on campus streets and present fire hazards. He feels, however, that the towing fee would be less if the college owned the truck and that the fees would correspond to the lines in that lot. Jenny feels that this would prevent students and faculty from parking in the wrong lot.

THE COUNCIL has asked the college to mail parking regulations to students.

Karate: A Lesson In Non-Violence

By Joan Petti

Despite the recent flood of martial arts films which seem to point to the contrary, the art of Karate teaches non-violence, according the Betty O'Keefe, treasurer of MSC's Koeikan Karate Club.

"Before I use the techniques I have learned, I would try to walk away from a physical confrontation. We do not want or look for trouble, and if possible we try to avoid it," O'Keefe explained.

SHE WENT on to say that "only in a matter of life or death or defense of my principles would I use my knowledge and ability to defend myself."

The Koeikan Karate Club recently became the first self-defense organization of its type to receive a Class II charter from the SGA.

Koeikan is Japanese for "proper with happiness." It is the name of the particular style of Karate studied by the MSC group, O'Keefe said.

KOEKAN KARATE was founded in the mid-fifties by "Sensei" Eizo Onishi, who holds the highest rank possible in this art, a 10th degree black belt. The MSC advisor, Ed Kaloudis, is also called "Sensei," a Japanese title meaning "master." Kaloudis studied under Onishi and is recognized as the second-ranking expert in Koeikan Karate in the world, noted O'Keefe. He holds a sixth-degree black belt.

Barbara Chelak, a green belt and secretary of the club, remarked, "Karate is strictly a defensive sport in which one is taught to utilize the opponent's strength. The word "Karate" itself means 'empty hands.'" O'Keefe explained the three principles of the sport. "They are to utilize the opponent's strength, gentleness and to give the way. "To give the way" means to move from the opponent's direct line of motion without retaliation, she clarified.

In addition to its participation in tournaments, the Koeikan Karate Club also holds demonstrations of its art. O'Keefe told of a demonstration held at a Little Falls nursing home in conjunction with activities of the Newman Community.

The club now boasts approximately 135 members. The group officially meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 8:10 pm in Panzer gym six.
Anne Klein

Women Not Taken Seriously In Politics

By Barbara Buono

Assembl agywoman Anne Klein seemed undaunted by the sparsity of the audience that turned out to hear her speak on the topic of "Women in Politics." Informally organizing the small group into a circle around her, she proceeded to point out that the biggest problem women face on entering the field of politics is that "we simply aren't taken seriously."

In the vein of this expanded statement, Klein remarked, "As far as politics are concerned, women aren't anybody."

She said that being a woman is a handicap in politics because people tend not to regard you seriously and simply write you off.

KLEIN STATED that as a result of this air of indifference, when a woman attempts to run for an elected office she can't receive proper news coverage and the subsequent support and funds needed to run a successful campaign.

She cited her own experience of attempting to secure the Democratic Party nomina tion for governor as an example of the misappre ciation exhibited when a woman runs for office. She said that no one would seriously consider her as a viable candidate, even though her performance in the Legislature attested to her capabilities.

Klein found during her gubernatorial campaigning that "The people and not as prejudiced as the power structure." She related the popular joke circulating among her colleagues, which was taking whether to call her "governor" or "governess."

THE ASSEMBLYWOMAN explained that if a "safe seat" situation exists, in which it is known which party is likely to win a particular seat, that the party will not even consider a woman as a possible candidate. However, she continued, if a party is likely to lose that seat they will at least consider a woman to run.

Her case in point was when she ran on the Democratic ticket in a traditionally solid Republican district for representative of Morris County. She said the fact that she won was a rare exception and that she was considered an "oddball."

Klein said that she received a lot of attention from the news media after taking office. However, she felt that the publicity she received was negative in that her "credibility" constantly had to be established.

INSTEAD OF stressing the fact that she was the first Democrat to win a seat in the State Legislature for many years, she stated that the headline of many papers read "Grandmother Wins District in Morris County." She felt that this was another reflection of the anti-women bias in politics.

Klein suggested that women, interested in entering the field of politics should join the League of Women Voters. A former League member and president, she said that the organization acts as a training ground and provides an essential education of numerous skills, such as organizing and presiding over meetings.

Women Writers Seminar Slated

By Aliee Hartman

The problems of women writers will be the subject of the forthcoming Women Writers Conference at MSC. The two-hour conference, sponsored jointly by the English department and the School of Humanities, will be held on Fri., Nov. 2 at 1:30 pm in Room 140, Ballroom B of the Student Center.

"The importance and significance of women writers is frequently misunderstood," said Carole B. Stone, assistant professor of English. Interviewed in her office, the busy coordinator and panelist of the program stressed the aim of the conference. "We want to place the emphasis of study where it belongs, on these persons as writers and not as women," she said. She cited Sylvia Plath as an example of this misplaced emphasis. "More attention is focused on her psychological problems and eventual suicide, than on her work as a poet."

PARTICIPATING in discussion will be Professor Claire Heley on Amy Lowell, Professor Gerde Stone on Sylvia Plath and Professor Sharon Spencer on Anais Nin. "Sharing the problem of non-recognition in their field, because of their sex, is what links these writers," Stone said explaining why these particular artists were chosen for discussion.

Featured in the conference is a poetry reading by Diane Wakoski, poet-in-residence of the University of Virginia, recently returned from a trip to Greece. Wakoski is currently a resident of New York. Some of her published volumes of poetry include: "The Motorcycle Betrayal Poems," "Inside the Blood Factory" and "Coins and Coffins."

College Life Union Board

Presents

Robert Klein

Opening Act:
Jazz Band
Tues., Nov. 6
8 p.m

Memorial Auditorium
Admission :
MSC Students-$2.50
Others-$3.50
Tickets Go On Sale,
Mon., Oct. 29
Student Center Lobby

WEBSTER DICTIONARIES
Cost New $45.00
Will Sell for $15
Deduce 10% on orders of 6 or more
Make Checks Payable to DICTIONARY LIQUIDATION
and mail to
THE MONTCLARION OFFICE
Fourth Floor, Student Center
C.O.D. orders enclose $1.00 deposit. Pay balance plus C.O.D. shipping on delivery. Be satisfied on inspection or return within 10 days for full refund. No dealers, each volume specifically stamped not for resale. Please add $1.25 postage and handling.

VOLKSWAGEN ENGINES REBUILT
LITTLE CAR CO.
119 Grove St.
Montclair, N.J.
783-5380
7 month, 7000 mile guarantee
WE BACK THEM LONGER BECAUSE WE BUILD THEM BETTER

Any students interested in performing their music live on WMSC are asked to contact Doug Sansavini in the WMSC office on the fourth floor of the Student Center.

UNWANTED PREGNANCY?

AMERICAN FAMILY PLANNING is a non-affiliated organization offering you all alternatives to an unwanted pregnancy. For information in your area, call.

Call (215) 449-2006
AMERICAN FAMILY PLANNING
A Medical Service to Help You
Students Open Passaic Spanish Center

By Janet Engel

MSC has moved into the area of community service with the opening of the Spanish Community Center in Passaic. The center will offer tutoring, counseling and other services to minority group residents.

The center is located in the heart of the Spanish-speaking community in Passaic, in a rent-free location donated by the Passaic Police Athletic League. It will be staffed by MSC students who have a working knowledge of the Spanish language and are willing to help the residents of the community in the areas of research, counseling, job development, education and interpretation. When the need arises for professional help, the center will also serve as a referral agency.

The services provided by the center were formerly provided by students working in various community service agencies, under the direction of the Spanish Community program at MSC. The acute need for a center was felt by the students who had become frustrated in trying to work with existing agencies.

"We feel that we should have our own center," said Ruben Henriquez, one of the students originally involved with the project. "Students have special potential, and they should be allowed freedom of choice in trying to work with community problems," he continued.

Dr. Ana Rambaldo of the Spanish department, who directs the program, sees the center as a means of performing a valuable service for people who need it. She notes that the area in which the center is located is made up of 30% Black residents and 30% Spanish-speaking residents. "The center will provide services for the Spanish community which no one is providing at the present time," she said.

The idea for the center in Passaic first came from Casimir Kowalczyk, an English major from Mexico City. Kowalczyk did research on educational problems of the Spanish community while working at a Newark agency. "I was especially interested in the problems which forced people in the community to leave school early," he said. "I think our center could work with people to help overcome these problems." Dr. Rambaldo stressed the need for an unlimited number of qualified, interested students from all fields of study to participate in the project. She added that because the center is a branch of MSC, students can receive up to nine credits per semester for their work. Students must provide their own transportation to and from the center and will be given a three week orientation period before the actual field work begins.

The Drop-In Center

A training session for new staff members will be held from Nov. 15-18. All students interested in joining the Drop-In staff are asked to contact the center, located in the former rec lodge between the Student Center and the Math/Science Building or to call 893-5271.

The MONTCLARION has been awarded the All-American rating of the Associated Collegiate Press for the third consecutive semester. The rating, the association's highest, was based on issues from the spring semester, 1972-73. Only about 30% of the 3000 publications judged by the association receive that rating. The MONTCLARION has earned five All-American ratings since 1970.

In his comments, the association judge commented that the "MONTCLARION always does a good job-this was no exception." He praised the paper as being "professional in content-high in writing and it looks like an All-American." News stories were described as "objective, to the point," with "in-depth and creative" coverage. Feature content was termed "interesting and informative."

The association rates publications on coverage and content, writing and editing, editorial leadership, physical appearance and photography. The MONTCLARION received four of a possible five "Marks of Distinction" in those categories. Those marks are given for "unusually high quality and especially creative or distinctly lively, appealing work."

The Associated Collegiate Press has been evaluating college papers throughout the nation since 1921. It is based at the University of Minnesota/Minneapolis.

SAT. NOV. 17th

JOHNNY MAESTRO & the "BROOKLYN BRIDGE"

* NEW JERSEY'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT....WED's thru SUN's at "Colony Three" in Nutley

LOCATED AT 242 WASHINGTON AVE. (COR. GRANT AVE.)

Oct. 31 * Nov. 2 & 3 "TATTOO"

Nov. 7-9 & 10 "HICKORY"

Nov. 14-16 & 17 "JON STONE Street Band"

MONTCLARION/Weds., Nov. 1, 1973. 5.
News Focus — Part H

controversey," MSC President David W. D. Dickson explained. "We must work with our students," he continued. The townspeople of Little Falls feel that some justification is needed to show that the college should and our students," he continued.

David W. D. Dickson

"I don't despair." MSC President Dickson

"The business of the sanitary landfill is a prime example of the complexity of the controversies. There is more understanding in private negotiations than the Little Falls officials can admit when they think of their worthless constitution," stated Dickson. Dickson went on to say that many of the residents equalized a sanitary landfill as a garbage dump. "He explained that unlike a garbage dump, once the garbage is deposited in the area it is irretrievably covered with several inches of fill dirt. As a result, there are very few of the unpleasantness, such as odor and vermin, usually associated with waste disposal."

Another sore point between MSC and the town has been the proposed expansion of dorm facilities in the Clove Road area of Little Falls. The project has met with strong opposition from the citizens because of the increased tax burden and the concentration of students in a previously quiet residential area.

RESPONSIBILITY

"We must convince them that a school we have a responsibility to provide more dorm area for students," Dickson emphasized. "The question has been raised, "why don't we build elsewhere?"" said Dickson, "and I explained to them that there is no other area, either on or adjacent to the campus, where it would be economically feasible to build the proposed dorms."

"Our living fees are high enough as it is. We can't afford to raise fees—neither do we have rich students," remarked Dickson.

The proposed construction also raises the problem of the disposal of the large volumes of sewage produced by the campus. A barn on new buildings has been placed on Little Falls by the state environmental protection agency. "There are few things to give you a little insight into the glory of the dust that is now being made on the campus," Dickson pointed out that in the past there is a greater concern for the environment. "With the present and future expansion, there must be an increased awareness of Little Falls."

SERVICES

The college has a definite public service function, he said. Dickson expressed his satisfaction with the results that have been obtained through the cooperation of the college with the Little Falls department in making MSC facilities available to the citizens. Anything that can put the college community in direct contact with its neighbors can have positive results, Dickson concluded.

"If there is more interaction, the people of Little Falls will see that they have a fine state college in MSC and that it is a threat," Dickson explained.

"There will always be problems, if only because of the differences between the critical minds of youth. No one likes critical people, especially if they are uncomfortable. Now they may find the questioning minds of youth abrasive, but I think we can work things out," Dickson stated optimistically. "We have to work things out," he added, "I don't despair."
Race Slowly Ends

With the gubernatorial race nearing conclusion, there is little tension in the air as to who will be the victor. Brendan Byrne, the fair-haired child of the liberals seemed slated to galaxy away with the victory on his white charger. Charles Sandman, the villainous conservative, will then sink away into the shadows from whence he came.

Byrne has a very impressive record in the New Jersey judicial system. His motto-'the man who couldn't be bought'-while an obvious capitalization of the problems that have plagued the Republican party, is based in truth. Several years ago, Byrne came through an investigation into organized crime in New Jersey, which exposed many leading political figures, with flying colors.

Sandman, on the other hand, comes across as being "slightly to the right of Genghis Khan" and apparently learned how to deal with newspeople from the Richard Nixon school of press relations. His political record is a long one but not very impressive—he has a record of voting against several programs which were popular with the public, particularly in the area of environmental reform.

With such a marked contrast between the candidates, this campaign should be a lot more interesting than it is. The candidates, however, have failed to take opposing stands on any issues of great importance. In the area of higher education, their stands can be interpreted as being "Why, yes, we like education." There is a noteworthy lack of comment on some of the problems that have plagued higher education (ie: Chancellor Deng). Neither candidate has taken a significant stand on the current troubles between the American Federation of Teachers and the State. A stand on this matter is particularly important in light of the fact that a faculty strike seems imminent.

This election is a prime example of how deeply the Watergate scandal has affected the American political scene. The race seems to be between two stereotypes, the liberal democrat and the conservative republican. It is surprising that the Republican party did not choose a more personable and less ultra-conservative candidate than Sandman. They had an uphill battle to begin with—he didn't do his homework any better.

Quota Prop Needed

The proposal to eliminate the 30% quota of student population needed in order to pass a SGA referendum is a good one. As past performance has shown, it is near impossible to get more students to vote in the SGA elections. Many worthwhile changes and needed programs have been abandoned because enough people did not vote. The people who wish to make constructive change should not be penalized by student apathy.

However, the establishment of 10% of the student population voting as a requirement for validating referendums is a reasonable change to be made to the proposal. Had this been the guideline, the referendums on the ballot in the last SGA elections would have been validated. A total of approximately 700 people needed to make an important change would insure against the decision-making process being monopolized by a small group of people and would put the means to effect change within the grasp of those who are willing to work for it.

Soviet Racism

To the Editor:

Socialism and communism claim that racism is a byproduct of capitalist society and that it is impossible in countries with collective ownership. Reality does not support this simplistic statement; racism does exist in the Soviet Union, nearly three generations after their revolution took place.

Racial tension, hatred, and discrimination were facts of life in pre-revolution Russia. Many bitter feelings joined the revolution to fight racism. They were told that national solutions would follow the revolution, that each ethnic group would be able to determine its destiny, that social prejudices would be replaced by relations based on mutual respect.

All these claims were contradicted by hard reality. We do not see anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union, and we did see collective punishment of the Tatars as a national group for crimes committed by individuals. We know that many prominent scientists who dared to raise the question of self-determination were physically liquified, and that pre-revolutionary nicknames with strong racial overtones are still common among Soviet children.

Ludmila Kossuti
Associate Physics/Geoscience Professor

MSC Gays Should Fight Stereotype

By Joseph A. Scardilli

By the time this goes to print, the Major League Theater presentation of "The Mandrake" will have completed its scheduled performances at MSC. In that production, the proposal that a homosexual priest was permitted to minister to the church and speak efficaciously.

What was portrayed, in fact, was a stereotyped character very similar to that of Emory ("Boy's in the Band") and Herod (in the stage and film version of "Jesus Christ Superstar").

PORTRAYAL

The portrayal of the homosexual in such a manner is not an uncommon one. Unfortunately, it is something too common. How long will the gay community tolerate this? Such stereotypes can only hinder gay people in gaining pride and acceptance.

Guest Spot

In that adaption, the character of a witch is interpreted effeminately. In such a way, it is to make fun of the "usual witch." What was portrayed was that racism is a byproduct of capitalist society and that it is impossible in countries with collective ownership.

By the time this goes to print, the Major League Theater presentation of "The Mandrake" will have completed its scheduled performances at MSC. In that production, the proposal that a homosexual priest was permitted to minister to the church and speak efficaciously.

What was portrayed, in fact, was a stereotyped character very similar to that of Emory ("Boy's in the Band") and Herod (in the stage and film version of "Jesus Christ Superstar").

PORTRAYAL

The portrayal of the homosexual in such a manner is not an uncommon one. Unfortunately, it is something too common. How long will the gay community tolerate this? Such stereotypes can only hinder gay people in gaining pride and acceptance.

Such portrayals feed the guilt of unknown parents who are concerned about their child who may be homosexual and it inhibits persons who may have problems in coming to grips with their own homosexuality. Are there not strong, proud, gay people? Most gays always be shown as weak and intellectual?

Consider, for instance, the character in "The Mandrake." Was it not necessary that the role be interpreted in such a way to make fun of the "usual witch." What was portrayed was that racism is a byproduct of capitalist society and that it is impossible in countries with collective ownership.

By the time this goes to print, the Major League Theater presentation of "The Mandrake" will have completed its scheduled performances at MSC. In that production, the proposal that a homosexual priest was permitted to minister to the church and speak efficaciously.

What was portrayed, in fact, was a stereotyped character very similar to that of Emory ("Boy's in the Band") and Herod (in the stage and film version of "Jesus Christ Superstar").

PORTRAYAL

The portrayal of the homosexual in such a manner is not an uncommon one. Unfortunately, it is something too common. How long will the gay community tolerate this? Such stereotypes can only hinder gay people in gaining pride and acceptance.

MSC Gays Should Fight Stereotype

By Joseph A. Scardilli

By the time this goes to print, the Major League Theater presentation of "The Mandrake" will have completed its scheduled performances at MSC. In that production, the proposal that a homosexual priest was permitted to minister to the church and speak efficaciously.

What was portrayed, in fact, was a stereotyped character very similar to that of Emory ("Boy's in the Band") and Herod (in the stage and film version of "Jesus Christ Superstar").

PORTRAYAL

The portrayal of the homosexual in such a manner is not an uncommon one. Unfortunately, it is something too common. How long will the gay community tolerate this? Such stereotypes can only hinder gay people in gaining pride and acceptance.

Such portrayals feed the guilt of unknown parents who are concerned about their child who may be homosexual and it inhibits persons who may have problems in coming to grips with their own homosexuality. Are there not strong, proud, gay people? Most gays always be shown as weak and intellectual?

Consider, for instance, the character in "The Mandrake." Was it not necessary that the role be interpreted in such a way to make fun of the "usual witch." What was portrayed was that racism is a byproduct of capitalist society and that it is impossible in countries with collective ownership.

By the time this goes to print, the Major League Theater presentation of "The Mandrake" will have completed its scheduled performances at MSC. In that production, the proposal that a homosexual priest was permitted to minister to the church and speak efficaciously.

What was portrayed, in fact, was a stereotyped character very similar to that of Emory ("Boy's in the Band") and Herod (in the stage and film version of "Jesus Christ Superstar").

PORTRAYAL

The portrayal of the homosexual in such a manner is not an uncommon one. Unfortunately, it is something too common. How long will the gay community tolerate this? Such stereotypes can only hinder gay people in gaining pride and acceptance.

Such portrayals feed the guilt of unknown parents who are concerned about their child who may be homosexual and it inhibits persons who may have problems in coming to grips with their own homosexuality. Are there not strong, proud, gay people? Most gays always be shown as weak and intellectual?

Consider, for instance, the character in "The Mandrake." Was it not necessary that the role be interpreted in such a way to make fun of the "usual witch." What was portrayed was that racism is a byproduct of capitalist society and that it is impossible in countries with collective ownership.

By the time this goes to print, the Major League Theater presentation of "The Mandrake" will have completed its scheduled performances at MSC. In that production, the proposal that a homosexual priest was permitted to minister to the church and speak efficaciously.

What was portrayed, in fact, was a stereotyped character very similar to that of Emory ("Boy's in the Band") and Herod (in the stage and film version of "Jesus Christ Superstar").

PORTRAYAL

The portrayal of the homosexual in such a manner is not an uncommon one. Unfortunately, it is something too common. How long will the gay community tolerate this? Such stereotypes can only hinder gay people in gaining pride and acceptance.

Such portrayals feed the guilt of unknown parents who are concerned about their child who may be homosexual and it inhibits persons who may have problems in coming to grips with their own homosexuality. Are there not strong, proud, gay people? Most gays always be shown as weak and intellectual?

Consider, for instance, the character in "The Mandrake." Was it not necessary that the role be interpreted in such a way to make fun of the "usual witch." What was portrayed was that raci...
Brendan Byrne, a former New Jersey Superior Court Judge, is the Democratic gubernatorial candidate in next week's election.

According to a research aide at the Union City Democratic Headquarters, Byrne is running for governor because "he felt the voters believed in and have worked for." Byrne has a 22-year history with the state's judicial system.

AFTER SERVING as a squadron navigator with the Army Air Corps during World War II, he attended Princeton University School of Public and International Affairs, graduating in 1949. He received his law degree from Harvard University and was admitted to the bar in 1951.

The Democratic candidate began practicing law with the Newark firm of John W. McKeohan Jr. after he had served his legal clerkship with Judge Joseph Weintraub, who recently retired as Chief Justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court. He later joined the East Orange law firm of Teltser and Greenberg.

Byrne was appointed as an assistant counsel to Governor Robert M. Meyner in October 1955. He was named Meyner's executive secretary in June 1956.

At the age of 34, he was appointed by Meyner as Deputy Attorney General in charge of the Essex County Prosecutor's office. In July 1969 he was named by the governor to a full five-year term as Essex Prosecutor. He was reappointed to a second term in 1974 by Governor Richard J. Hughes.

WHILE PROSECUTOR, Byrne served as president of the County Prosecutor's Association of New Jersey and as a vice-president of the National District Attorneys Association.

Byrne was named president of the New Jersey State Board of Public Utility Commissioners by Hughes in 1968, which he stayed on until his appointment to the State Superior Court by Governor William T. Cahill in 1970. Byrne was the first judge for Morris, Sussex and Warren Counties in 1972.

A Democratic Party aide described Byrne as "sincere, hard working and well read."

Of the students questioned, 68% indicated that they would vote for the Democratic candidate, Rep. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) was supported by 11.1% of those polled.

Of the students questioned, 68.1% indicated that they would vote for the Democratic candidate. Rep. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) was supported by 11.1% of those polled.

A QUESTION the poll attempted to answer was whether the Hudson County association of Byrne and the southern New Jersey affiliation of Sandman would be a factor in the MSA results. Students were asked their home county, and it was found that neither candidate swept his area stronghold.

Byrne, however, was the unanimous choice of residents of southern counties, including Atlantic, Monmouth and Ocean. This intrusion into so-called "Sandman territory" more than made up for the votes Sandman received from Hudson residents. The majority of Sandman's support came from Passaic and Essex counties.

The state income tax and corruption in government issues were those most often named by MSC students as the main issue of the campaign to be.

Of the students questioned, 68% indicated that they would vote for the Democratic candidate. Rep. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) was supported by 11.1% of those polled.

Of the students questioned, 68.1% indicated that they would vote for the Democratic candidate. Rep. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) was supported by 11.1% of those polled.

A QUESTION the poll attempted to answer was whether the Hudson County association of Byrne and the southern New Jersey affiliation of Sandman would be a factor in the MSA results. Students were asked their home county, and it was found that neither candidate swept his area stronghold.

Byrne, however, was the unanimous choice of residents of southern counties, including Atlantic, Monmouth and Ocean. This intrusion into so-called "Sandman territory" more than made up for the votes Sandman received from Hudson residents. The majority of Sandman's support came from Passaic and Essex counties.

The state income tax and corruption in government issues were those most often named by MSC students as the main issue of the campaign to be.

Of the students questioned, 68% indicated that they would vote for the Democratic candidate. Rep. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) was supported by 11.1% of those polled.

Of the students questioned, 68.1% indicated that they would vote for the Democratic candidate. Rep. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) was supported by 11.1% of those polled.

A QUESTION the poll attempted to answer was whether the Hudson County association of Byrne and the southern New Jersey affiliation of Sandman would be a factor in the MSA results. Students were asked their home county, and it was found that neither candidate swept his area stronghold.

Byrne, however, was the unanimous choice of residents of southern counties, including Atlantic, Monmouth and Ocean. This intrusion into so-called "Sandman territory" more than made up for the votes Sandman received from Hudson residents. The majority of Sandman's support came from Passaic and Essex counties.

The state income tax and corruption in government issues were those most often named by MSC students as the main issue of the campaign to be.

Of the students questioned, 68% indicated that they would vote for the Democratic candidate. Rep. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) was supported by 11.1% of those polled.

Of the students questioned, 68.1% indicated that they would vote for the Democratic candidate. Rep. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) was supported by 11.1% of those polled.

A QUESTION the poll attempted to answer was whether the Hudson County association of Byrne and the southern New Jersey affiliation of Sandman would be a factor in the MSA results. Students were asked their home county, and it was found that neither candidate swept his area stronghold.

Byrne, however, was the unanimous choice of residents of southern counties, including Atlantic, Monmouth and Ocean. This intrusion into so-called "Sandman territory" more than made up for the votes Sandman received from Hudson residents. The majority of Sandman's support came from Passaic and Essex counties.

The state income tax and corruption in government issues were those most often named by MSC students as the main issue of the campaign to be.

Of the students questioned, 68% indicated that they would vote for the Democratic candidate. Rep. Charles Sandman (R-Cape May) was supported by 11.1% of those polled.
By Bill Gibbon and Patricia Morerelli

As the Nov. 6 gubernatorial election draws near, it appears that Brendan Byrne has won widespread support from both students and administrators alike while Charles Sandman has become a "conservative villain."

"Brendan Byrne has shown that he would be willing to do things for higher education that we feel need doing in order to improve the state's system of higher education," explained Dr. James Forcina, executive vice-president of Trenton State College.

"Sandman is yet to express himself on this matter," he continued. "For all he's said, it's hard to tell exactly where he stands."

ANGELO GENOVA, MSC

SGA president and spokesman for the New Jersey Student Association, explained that Sandman, because of his conservative leanings, will probably be in favor of maintaining tight control and willing to sacrifice academics in order to save money.

Byrne, according to Genova, is a strong advocate of autonomy for the state colleges.

"There is a question of whether he will be willing to sacrifice some of his personnel who are advocates of centralization in order to strengthen the autonomy. My hope is that Byrne, if elected, will choose to move in the direction of maximum autonomy for the colleges," Genova expressed.

Dean Julian Robinson, Jersey City State dean of student affairs, showed concern over the possible election of Sandman.

"He is very conservative and in all probability higher education would regress under him," Robinson said.

WHAT IS involved is the fact that the Republican platform returns the structure of higher education to the former structure when a single cabinet member represents the entire field of education," pointed out Dr. Irwin T. Gawley, MSC vice-president of academic affairs.

The feelings of New Jersey voters and the stand each gubernatorial candidate takes on the issues of this year's race will decide who gets the governor's seat.

Just as Republican candidate Rep. Charles W. Sandman used the investigations of Gov. William T. Cahill's administration for ammunition in his primary bid, that same issue of corruption in government could also be used against him by the other camp.

However, both candidates tend to feel that there are more important issues in this election than corruption and their campaigns are being geared to those key issues.

As issue that has apparently received the most impetus from both camps is the income tax question. Sandman has called it the "real gut issue." Both candidates have taken the position that this state does not need an income tax. Sandman went so far as to say that the ever-rising property tax is also an issue.

It appears he would work to end the property tax as well.

Sandman has ranked crime as the second most important issue. Both have said that they favor the establishment of community-based inmate centers in urban areas. Both feel that prisoners could get vocational training as well as act on the job before re-entering society. It seems that Sandman has more far-reaching changes for the prison system as opposed to Democratic candidate Brendan T. Byrne's low key standing on the corrections system.

With regard to higher education, Sandman has said that he favors a restructuring of New Jersey's education system in which a single department would be created by merging the Education and Higher Education departments. Byrne holds that he recognizes legitimate needs of schools and would provide them with continued state support.

That was the first time that Cahill ever lost an election, a record stretching back to 1962. The reason why Cahill lost is generally believed to be his unpopular stands as well as indictments against members of his cabinet.

SANDMAN'S political life started in 1956 when he was elected to the state senate. Like Brendan T. Byrne, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, Sandman was an Army Air Corps navigator during World War II in the European Theater of Operations. During his service, he was shot down and captured by the Germans.

After his release, the former prisoner of war returned to New Jersey and enrolled in Rutgers University Law School. He was admitted to the bar in 1949.

His election to the state senate in 1955 came after he had served as Cape May city solicitor. He was reelected in 1959 and 1963 and became a power in New Jersey politics. In 1962 he was elected majority leader by his fellow Republican state senators and two years later was elected president of that senate.

Sandman has served as acting governor, managed gubernatorial campaigns twice, as well as twice missing the party's nomination himself.

In 1966 he challenged former Representative Milton Willets Glenn beating him by a three to one margin in the Republican primary and in November he narrowly defeated Thomas McGrah, a one-term Democratic beneficiary of the Lyndon B. Johnson landslide of 1964.

During his tenure in the House of Representatives, Sandman served on the Select Committee on Crime, chaired by Claude Pepper (D-Fla.). Recently Sandman undertook extensive special inquiries into prison unrest in Rahway and Trenton State prisons.

By Rosanna Conti

Rosen is finished on campus since he never held public office and he has experience dealing with people rather than with politics.

THE BYRNE campaign, stated Rosen, is focused on campus since he believes the democratic candidate has a significant margin of victory. He mentioned his staff of approximately 30 will concentrate their efforts in the Essex County area.

Vitale has met with the same situation as his end of the campaign, the results of Tuesday's gubernatorial elections, regardless of the outcome, will have a great effect on New Jersey college students particularly in the new governor's attitude towards higher education.

Just as Republican candidate Rep. Charles W. Sandman used the investigations of Gov. William T. Cahill's administration for ammunition in his primary bid, that same issue of corruption in government could also be used against him by the other camp.

As issue that has apparently received the most impetus from both camps is the income tax question. Sandman has called it the "real gut issue." Both candidates have taken the position that this state does not need an income tax. Sandman went so far as to say that the ever-rising property tax is also an issue.

It appears he would work to end the property tax as well.

Sandman has ranked crime as the second most important issue. Both have said that they favor the establishment of community-based inmate centers in urban areas. Both feel that prisoners could get vocational training as well as act on the job before re-entering society. It seems that Sandman has more far-reaching changes for the prison system as opposed to Democratic candidate Brendan T. Byrne's low key standing on the corrections system.

With regard to higher education, Sandman has said that he favors a restructuring of New Jersey's education system in which a single department would be created by merging the Education and Higher Education departments. Byrne holds that he recognizes legitimate needs of schools and would provide them with continued state support.

By Rosanna Conti

F. Merrill Adams, coordinator with Montclair for Governor Campaign Headquarters, gave his opinion that Sandman should be governor because of his "experience in government" and "because of his background, he understands the needs, concerns and desires" of New Jerseyans.
Music notes

Percussionist Terry Dite, student of William Lavarek, will be presented in his senior recital on Tues., Nov. 6, at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. The recitalist will be assisted on the program by pianist Thomas M. Baldwin of Linden.

Does play works written originally for percussion by Anthony Crone, Morris Goldenberg, and Paul Creston as well as arrangements of works for other instruments: "Summar, Summer" from "Fiddler on the Roof," and Fritz Kreuder's famous "Caprice Viennois" both arranged for marimba.

Flute featured

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Nov. 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Fri., Nov. 9 at 8 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

CONTRASTING SUBTLETIES

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Fri., Nov. 9 at 8 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

FLUTE FEATURED

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on November 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. The recitalist will be assisted on the program by pianist Thomas M. Baldwin of Linden.

Does play works written originally for percussion by Anthony Crone, Morris Goldenberg, and Paul Creston as well as arrangements of works for other instruments: "Summar, Summar" from "Fiddler on the Roof," and Fritz Kreuder's famous "Caprice Viennois" both arranged for marimba.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Nov. 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Fri., Nov. 9 at 8 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

FLUTE FEATURED

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on November 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. The recitalist will be assisted on the program by pianist Thomas M. Baldwin of Linden.

Does play works written originally for percussion by Anthony Crone, Morris Goldenberg, and Paul Creston as well as arrangements of works for other instruments: "Summar, Summar" from "Fiddler on the Roof," and Fritz Kreuder's famous "Caprice Viennois" both arranged for marimba.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Nov. 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Fri., Nov. 9 at 8 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

FLUTE FEATURED

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on November 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. The recitalist will be assisted on the program by pianist Thomas M. Baldwin of Linden.

Does play works written originally for percussion by Anthony Crone, Morris Goldenberg, and Paul Creston as well as arrangements of works for other instruments: "Summar, Summar" from "Fiddler on the Roof," and Fritz Kreuder's famous "Caprice Viennois" both arranged for marimba.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Nov. 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Fri., Nov. 9 at 8 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

FLUTE FEATURED

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on November 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. The recitalist will be assisted on the program by pianist Thomas M. Baldwin of Linden.

Does play works written originally for percussion by Anthony Crone, Morris Goldenberg, and Paul Creston as well as arrangements of works for other instruments: "Summar, Summar" from "Fiddler on the Roof," and Fritz Kreuder's famous "Caprice Viennois" both arranged for marimba.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Nov. 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Fri., Nov. 9 at 8 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

FLUTE FEATURED

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on November 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. The recitalist will be assisted on the program by pianist Thomas M. Baldwin of Linden.

Does play works written originally for percussion by Anthony Crone, Morris Goldenberg, and Paul Creston as well as arrangements of works for other instruments: "Summar, Summar" from "Fiddler on the Roof," and Fritz Kreuder's famous "Caprice Viennois" both arranged for marimba.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Nov. 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Fri., Nov. 9 at 8 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.

FLUTE FEATURED

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on November 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. The recitalist will be assisted on the program by pianist Thomas M. Baldwin of Linden.

Does play works written originally for percussion by Anthony Crone, Morris Goldenberg, and Paul Creston as well as arrangements of works for other instruments: "Summar, Summar" from "Fiddler on the Roof," and Fritz Kreuder's famous "Caprice Viennois" both arranged for marimba.

Contrasting subtleties

Flutist Debra Thomson will be presented in her senior recital on Nov. 8 at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. Thomson will be assisted on her program by classmates pianist Janet Priesing, Weinreich has also studied with Mrs. Dora Berger of Passaic and Mrs. Lisa Ryan of Paterson.
By Maureen Garde

Al Mercuro doesn't look like a rock entrepreneur. As chairman of the CLUB concert committee this year, he's responsible for arranging every detail of the organization's rock-and-folk-oriented series of concerts, from booking and budgeting to soup, turkey and soda pop for the performers.

Behind his Student Center office desk in a basic blue button-down oxford shirt, he shows no touch of the 'flamboyant, hyper' show business world he brings to Montclair for concerts around a states a year or so.

"CHICAGO" concerts had a few years ago wonder why anyone would play here more of..." the McGuinn-Chapin concert hasn't $4,000, a substantial piece of the concert committee's $16,000 budget for 1973-74. A last minute change in dates by Judy Collins wiped out the scheduled Oct. 28 Homecoming weekend concert. Her appearance has been re-scheduled for Nov. 18.

With his hair resting on a "Modern Economic Organization" textbook, Mercuro discussed the routine of scheduling and budgeting the series that can sometimes result in problems with cancelled concerts, disappointing attendance or the inability to book much-needed acts.

"Our three least basic in organizing concerts are availability of facilities, availability of performers and money. The combination of these factors severely limits our options in arranging successful concerts."

"THE ONLY space on campus that can hold a profitably-sized audience is Panzer Gym-capacity 2,000. Because athletic events have scheduling priority, we're pretty much limited to Sunday dates for concerts," Mercuro stated.

"Once we know which Sundays we have to work with, we ask around booking agents to see which groups are available on those dates," he continued. "We don't just ask a particular group to play here, Performers arrange tours through booking agents, and we are available to use them only at certain limited times."

"The scheduling conflicts with athletic events create flexibility problems. When Judy Collins wanted to shift her scheduled Sunday date in October to Saturday night at the last minute, we had to cancel the concert, and weren't able to get another group for that exact date on such short notice. So we had no concert Homecoming weekend. The closest we could come was the Nov. 4, Poco-Chad Stuart concert."

"WE know which groups are available to us, the next step is to consider finances...how much we can afford to spend on a concert against what size audience a given group can draw, balanced by how much we want to charge for tickets. These considerations must constantly be juggled," he said.

According to Mercuro, the object of the juggling act is to present a series that appeals to the widest segment of students at prices that everyone can afford. "The groups that have the most 'appeal' don't always come at the right price," he continued, "which we feel is $5 or less per ticket. And with a budget of $16,000 for an entire year we must depend largely on ticket sales to pay for the concerts."

Mercuro calculates that an average concert can easily cost $14,000-$2,000 for expenses such as lighting, sound equipment and security and $12,000 to the performers. A sell-out crowd of 2,000 for one performance would mean a $7 per ticket charge for the concert to break even. He tries to book performers for two shows in order to cut ticket prices.

"WE MUST remain competitive in price with other campuses and commercial enterprises because almost inevitably, the groups available to us are also being booked elsewhere in the area at the same time," he said.

Mercuro says that although the college is a more intimate place to perform for the groups, the concerts are "commercial operations which can pay better fees and have more booking flexibility can frequently sign desirable acts before we get a crack at them. Then they have written into the performance contracts clauses that limit publicity for dates on campuses in the area within two weeks of the concert date. So in some instances we are legally prevented from promoting our better ticket prices outside the college community, which can be a handicap," he explained. "I can understand profit-making businesses trying to protect themselves, but it's another limiting factor in our concert planning."

Another option Mercuro discussed was booking superstar groups to guarantee sell-out crowds at high prices. He says that students who remember the enormous success the McGuinn-Chapin concert lost disappointing attendance or the last minute change in dates by Judy Collins wiped out the scheduled Oct. 28 Homecoming weekend concert. Her appearance has been re-scheduled for Nov. 18.

"It is difficult to restrain our enthusiasm for the Advent 201. The band came with a demonstration tape that had been dubbed onto a Crotean tape by a group of people from a Dolby "A" tape. The sound quality, especially with the finest playback amplifiers and speakers, was literally aweful, so was the total absence of hiss or any background noise."

"Summarizing, the Advent 201 is a tape deck of superlative quality. It is difficult to imagine how its sonic performance can be substantially improved...this is the one that sets the standard for cassette recorders."
CINA
Presents
Washington Columnist
Jack Anderson
Weds., Nov. 7
8 pm
Student Center
Ballroom
Admission: $1 Or Free With MSC ID Card

Bus Tour Of
Lower Manhattan
Fri., Nov. 9
Cost: $4.50
Leaving: 8 am
Returning: 7 pm

INCLUDES STATUE OF LIBERTY, FRANÇOIS TAVERN, NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE, FEDERAL HALL MUSEUM, COLONIAL FRIGATES AND FULTON STEAMSHIP.

LIMITED TO THE FIRST 41 PEOPLE WHO PAY. INFORMATION AND APPLICATIONS IN THE CINA OFFICE, FOURTH FLOOR STUDENT CENTER.
IM GRID DELAY
Due to inclement weather, some of the Intramural football championship games were postponed. The revised schedule is as follows:

Thursday: 4 pm on the Bohn Hall Field - Men's Division II semifinals

Friday: 4 pm on the Bohn Hall Field - Men's Division II semifinals

Intramural football games include:
- Titans vs. Smokers
- Wallburgers vs. Something Easy

LIFTERS' MEETING
Field • Men's Division II semifinals
Two basketball clinics, one for men and one for women, will be held on Tuesday at 4 pm.

Epsilon Psi Omega: 9 pm - Division II Coed Division championships
Irondukes v. Something Easy: 8 pm - Division II consolation game

The Intramurals are a curious blend of school yard basketball and organized play. Played as half court contests, like pickup games in backlots, they are smoothed by the presence of officials.

The intramurals are a curious blend of school yard basketball and organized play. Played as half court contests, like pickup games in backlots, they are smoothed by the presence of officials.

OTHERS ON THE roster include Jerry Ice and Bruce Smith, graduate assistants, faculty members Rick Davis, Joe Brunner and Joe Freeman, and assistant freshman football coach, Dick Grey.

The intramurals are a curious blend of school yard basketball and organized play. Played as half court contests, like pickup games in backlots, they are smoothed by the presence of officials.

SAVE ON THESE FAVORITE NAME BRANDS
KLH • Panasonic • Alpine
Sony • Kenwood • Nikko
Sherwood • Martin • DAIKOKU
Fisher • Sharp • Concord
Duel • AR • AKAI
BSR • Suparx • BMI
Garrett • Dynaco • Northern
Ampex • Empire • Pickering
ADC • Marantz • Harman Kardon
Teac • Marmite • Kras

SPECIALY OFFERED TO STUDENTS AND FACULTY FOR LESS THAN THE RECEIVER, PER SE

SPECIALS OFFERED TO STUDENTS AND FACULTY FOR LESS THAN

KLM 518A/KLIST $105.00
KLH 52 LIST $289.00

$289.00

COMPLETE

CONVENIENT FINANCING AVAILABLE

HOUSEHOLD APPLIANCE CENTER

20 Passaic Avenue
Fairfield, N.J. 07006
(201) 227-6808
Branch Showroom
73 Lafayette Avenue
Route 59
Suffern, N. Y.
On All-College Team

Gather their teams together to give them words of encouragement. Starting time, and the three coaches anxiously awaiting the triangular Friday as a group of young men from Squaws were among 12 schools participating in the New Atlantic Hockey Tournament. The runners walked to the starting line, beaming confidently amid the cheering home crowd.

The Black Knights were surprisingly tough as they filled 12 of the top 22 places. Rutgers grabbed surprisingly tough as they filled 12 of the top 22 places. Rutgers grabbed

SCHILLER'S
The Complete Bookstore
Garden State Plaza
Paramus Next to Gimbels
843-3727
Over 35,000 Titles in Stock, Including Large Selection in Psychology, History, Sociology, Literature, Business, Film, Education, etc.

WANTED — Roommate for Montclair Apartment. Conveniently located between Teimer's and the apartment. Shared kitchen, bath, and Heritage through Song - Story - Art.

Nov. 15 at 7:30 pm. In The Student Center Ballroom. Admission - $1 Sponsored By The Office Of International Programs, Life Hall.
By Hank Gola

Manny Menendez had been restlessly pacing the sidelines for the greater part of MSC's soccer win over Stony Brook, almost wearing a path into the Long Island grass.

The score was tied, the Indians were flat and Menendez was coiled in a ball of energy. It was the midway point of the second half and coach Bob Wolfarth decided that it was time to insert the scrappy forward.

But Ferin couldn't have gone to work any faster. Menendez out hustled everyone on the field and, with a great individual effort stole the ball in the middle of the penalty area and booted it into the upper right hand corner of the goal.

The score gave MSC a 2-1 lead and proved to be the deciding goal in the Tribe's 3-1 win, raising their record to 5-1-5.

The match had started out nicely for the Indians when they took a 1-0 lead at 6:56 of the first half, following a direct kick from coaching staff and a spere for the matchmaking Parsons.

Manny Menendez shot physical, Indian coaches Wolfarth and Manny Schellscheidt got irritated with the officials.

"I can't understand their interpretation of a dangerous play," complained Wolfarth throughout the match.

"These guys can't differentiate between what is or isn't a foul. They have no feeling for what is happening out there," echoed Schellscheidt.

Regardless of whether or not the Parsons were fouling, their aggressiveness paid off at 20:58 of the first half. Tommy Kauders put a direct kick past goal tender Chuck Dowan to tie the game at 1-1.

The pace of the match slowed down until Menendez came into the lineup. But his determined play didn't stop after his goal.

With 1:10 left in the contest, Menendez drew an interference penalty from the Pats. Benie Petocelli slipped the penalty kick into the left side of the goal to close out the scoring at 3-1.

The win kept alive hopes of a post season tournament bid. A tie may be just kisine your sister but with a deadlock against Stony Brook, the Tribe could have kissed any tourney chances goodbye.

SCHELLSCHEIDT GETS HIS KICKS FROM COACHING

By John Delery

"Involvement in coaching is just the big thrill for me. In the environment and attitudes of the players are good it doesn't make any difference where I coach," said Manny Schellscheidt, assistant soccer coach, after the Indians 3-1 triumph over Trenton State on Tuesday.

A native German, Schellscheidt came to the country in 1964, and brought with him a fine soccer talent and also a good head for the game.

SCHELLSCHEIDT BEGAN his career at the age of nine in junior ball. From there he moved up the ranks which included two years of amateur ball, and stints with the Sports Club of Elizabeth and also a team from Orange County, California in the German-American Soccer League.

Two years ago Schellscheidt met up with Al Miller, the coach of the Philadelphia Atoms, and formerly head coach at Hartwick College, a perennial national collegiate powerhouse. After that meeting the path was set up for Manny to begin playing and coaching in the North American Soccer League for the Atoms.

Schellscheidt is devoted to the game of soccer and to the betterment of the players he coaches. The only thing he wants is that a person go out on the field and give 100% all the time.

Without raising his voice or getting overly excited, Schellscheidt gets his point across in a quiet organized manner that takes only once to make an impression. As former Manny Menendez said, "While other coaches try and stress their ideas with giant pep talks, Coach Schellscheidt just says what he wants done and you just go out and do it."

His whole idea is that "teamwork," not one or two outstanding individuals, wins ballgames, and that is why he is very proud of the way this year's Indian squad has responded.

He feels the presence of such individuals as Nick and Bob Mykulak, John Tzaczuk, Benie Petocelli, Joe Cozza and Dick Moore has helped the team considerably to attain its fine record up to date.

Along with head coach Bob Wolfarth the two have molded a team that has a good chance of gaining a bid to the upcoming NCAA soccer championships.

Schellscheidt feels that the American version of soccer is improving, and it is up to the colleges and universities to do their part in developing these talents. "American colleges and universities should start to stress even more the game of soccer; especially around the New Jersey and metropolitan area where the greatest soccer talent in the US can be found," he concluded.

MSC RIDERS CAPTURE SIX BLUE RIBBONS

Monmouth State's riding team capped as blue ribbons and the show championship last weekend as they opened their season at Stony Brook State College, Long Island.

Of the contingent of nine riders that made the trip, six took first places. On the strength of the top finishers, the MSC squad earned enough points to capture the team championship.

Team captain Terry Renz took a ribbon for the advanced walk-trot- canter, as did Pati Cuff, Frank Del Gatto won a blue ribbon for her performance in the advanced walk-trot class.

In the beginner categories, Carole Fedete (walk-trot) and Cheryl Reppke and Carol Anderson (walk-trot-canter) also won first place ribbons.
THREE ON ONE: The football's on its own in this battle as MSC receiver Paul Pignatello (25) and Southern Connecticut's Phil LaRosa (32) and Jerry Rosemeyer (24) vie for possession. Southern Connecticut managed to spoil the Indians' homecoming, 34-20.

By Joe Castronovo

The Montclair State football squad once again employed the use of what seems to be an ever-growing pattern Saturday night in their 34-20 loss to Southern Connecticut State.

Actually, the pattern isn't at all that complex, and can be readily learned by the average fan with little time or effort. The first is commonly called the fumble. It is carried out (initially by the offense) by merely dropping the ball, preferably into the hands of the opposing defense.

The second maneuver is a bit more complicated and involves the quarterback and any one of the opposing defenders. It is called the interception, and occurs when the former throws the ball to, or near, the latter, enabling him to catch it.

Add to this the lack of a pass rush, which allows the opposing quarterback ample time to take a short nap and still find a receiver downfield, and you have a rough description of the tactics (which were by no means deliberate) occurring in the game under discussion.

PICKING UP the action early in the second period, with MSC ahead, 7-3, after a field goal by SCS's Bruch Wall (37 yards), a 23-yard touchdown sprint by Bob Hermanni (the result of a fumble recovery), and the PAT by Moses Lajterman, we see Indian halfback Franklin Walker successfully fumbling away the ball.

It was recovered by Southern Connecticut's Steve Betz on his own 40-yard line, and led directly to quarterback Tony Jaskot's three yard touchdown run.

Two more Lajterman field goals followed, one from 26 yards out, the other from 47. A one-yard touchdown plunge by SCS's Jeff Castolene made the score, 17-13, in SCS's favor (lack of a pass rush evident in this 44-yard drive).

IN THE four period, MSC's quarterback Craig Hugger gave up the ball when he was solidly belted by SCS's Steve Stack at the MSC 23. Joe Racine recovered for SCS at the nine and from there, Jaskot fired a bullet to Paul Comkowyz for the TD. Wall's PAT made it, 24-13.

One minute and three seconds later, Southern Connecticut's Steve Thomaras intercepted a Hugger pass and went 12 yards for another score. Wall's kick put the game slightly out of reach, 31-13.

Then, with 3:14 remaining in the game, MSC's Jim Gwathney fumbled, setting up a 32-yard field goal by Wall.

FRANK RIPLEY grabbed a Gary Acker pass and scooted eight yards for the Indians' final touchdown with 54 seconds left.

A disappointed Clay Anderson expressed defense of his team. "It's true that turnovers cost us the game tonight, as well as having no pass rush. He (Jaskot) picked us apart tonight (203 yards passing to 50 for MSC). They obviously had a better pass rush than we did, as well as a lot more momentum," Anderson remarked.

MOTHER NEVER TOLD HER: that you don't flash those Ultra-brites when your side is losing.