The Many Faces Of Robert Klein

Racism on and off-campus was examined in a series of seminars Tuesday in the Student Center. The Task Force for Action Against Racism, a student-faculty group, sponsored the day-long chain of workshops and panels designed to increase awareness of racial problems and seek their solutions.

By Carla Capizzi

By day's end, participants had decided to petition the state for increased higher education aid to "attract students to MSC." They also decided to investigate the feasibility of an open enrollment program at MSC. Action against funding increases and continuation of the present Task Force structure were also recommended at the session. The uncontrollability of free tutoring for students, received criticism from both students and faculty participants.

Group members will plot a course of action for the rest of the semester at a meeting Tuesday. The meeting is open to the entire college and will be held in the Montclair room of the Student Center, first floor, at 4 pm.

Participants in the final seminar charged the business and registrar's office and athletic department with racist treatment of students and faculty. A student in the audience suggested that the college re-examine personal hiring procedures to "screen out racist teachers."

Each of the 13 seminars appeared to be well-attended and to receive an enthusiastic response. The sessions explored racism in academics, politics, medicine, communities, the American culture, the plight of the American Indian and the black woman.

A Montclair State senior remains in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit of Mountainside Hospital following a shooting incident at the college entrance on Sunday.

Cavin Blue, 22, of 111 North 16th St., East Orange, was shot at the bus stop on the corner of Valley Road and Normal Ave. "around 2 pm," according to security chief James Lockhart.

They're tents for the retaliation include the publication of a Chapin newsletter to publicize their plight, and a survey of the School of Educational and Community Services faculty who are scheduled to move into Chapin in September.

The dorm's 81 residents have the renovation plans for two years with "Save Chapin Hall" campaigns featuring Chapin alumnus, banner and films. However, Quinn cited pressing needs for academic and office space as necessitating the conversion of Chapin. He said there was "no construction money available" for new buildings.

Stover praised the Chapin community for its "coordinated cohesion" and said he would like to see it remain as a dorm.

POLICE ARE searching for a a man described as a "short, stocky, black man," who was last seen on Wednesday night. According to police, the man is a suspect in the shooting.

According to Montclair police detectives John McGuil, Richardson had apparently been upset that a former girlfriend of his, Elaine Jackson, also an MSC student, had been dating Blue. Blue and Jackson were waiting for a bus when Richardson drove up and shot the woman and killed the man.

ACCORDING TO the detective, Jackson went over to the car and talked to Richardson through the window, then began walking back toward the bus stop. As she approached Blue, he told her to run and then, she told police, he fired shots at Blue, who fell to the ground and Jackson ran to the security shack on campus for help.

When contacted on Tuesday afternoon, McGuil would not provide further information as the detective bureau had not yet received the hospital's report of Blue's condition.

As of Wednesday morning, Blue was in critical condition, but his condition had improved to the satisfactory state, according to a spokesman for the hospital. Blue's condition on Monday morning had been given as critical.

Sept.-Oct Car Thefts Reported

By Nancy Forden

The theft of twenty-five cars from campus parking lots during September and October resulted in an increase in the number of MSC security problems, according to Keith Kaufman, MSC security director.

“In the month of September, 23 items were reported stolen, over half of which (14) were autos. In October, there were 17 thefts with again over half (11) being autos,” Kaufman said.

“With the increase in theft, we have to be run from the studio in the certain amount of feedback regarding the telephone company in to do this work. The next game broadcast by the station was on Sept. 22 of this year.

Following a three hour meeting with Dick Wendi, NJB’s supervisor of New Jersey broadcasting, Hecht indicated that an agreement was reached regarding the renting of telephone lines used to broadcast away sports events. The circumstances that led to the decision to drop the PUC complaint are as follows.

While the station had a favorable PUC ruling, it was denied on the grounds that the PUC did not have jurisdiction. Hecht decided that the filing of the complaint with the PUC was not worth the cost.

According to Hecht, Winsor showed an “intent of good faith” which allowed WMSC and NJB to operate without the telephone company in to do this work.

The circumstances just led to the withdrawal of the complaint with the PUC. Although the telephone company’s service had been inadequate for some time, the station began broadcasting away football games again this fall.

On Sept. 22, “lines” were rented for the game from East Stroudsburg. WMSC paid $75 for three hours of time, but the “lines” did not become available until midway through the first quarter. This specific incident led Hecht to go to the PUC.

According to Hecht, Winsor stated that “more accidents and thefts happened than are reported to security.” He regards this state of affairs as unfortunate and requested that staff and student members report “anything and everything that happens, so we can keep a fresh nature on campus. We really care about it,” Hecht added. The security director learned forward in his chair as if to emphasize his point. “The name of the game is prevention and deterrence. When we ascertain that an area is being hit we’re trying to counter it with patrol. If we get the input, then we will do something about it,” he explained.

Kaufman also offered variations on the accident rate. According to his figures 20 accidents were reported in September and only nine in October. Yet he admitted that “more accidents and thefts probably happen than are reported to security.”

He regards this state of affairs as an attempt to rectify a problem that existed regarding the renting of telephone lines used to broadcast away sports events. “Time” on telephone lines used to kick around anymore. The next problem that needed to be solved was that of college radio stations. WMSC, the student radio station, would not be able to operate without the telephone company. For example, if the station receives its FM license the application has not yet been approved, “equalized lines” would have to be run from the studio in the Student Center to the transmitter at the state’s broadcast tower on Clove Road in Little Falls, WMSC would not be able to operate without the telephone company.

But as it turns out, WMSC has come away from this confrontation with the same benefits that a favorable PUC ruling would have provided. The station will receive a reduction on its Sept. 22 bill (and possibly on another).

According to Hecht, certain amount of feedback regarding the sound quality of the sports coverage did come into the station from dorm residents.

WMSC "tried to provide better security for faculty and students," he added. "Our goal is to get the crime rate down to zero, if at all possible."

"We have one of the safest campuses in the country," Hecht said. "But that doesn't necessarily mean that security is the best. It only means that not much can go on here," the station clarified. "This seemed to be a typical reaction among MSC students although a few did say they felt the security department to be particularly helpful in times of accident or theft."

Security guards refused to comment on the status of campus crime or offer any information about their roles as security personnel. However, students freely gave their opinions about campus security. "We have one of the safest campuses I know of," stated one resident student. "But that doesn't necessarily mean that security is the best. It only means that not much can go on here," the station clarified.

"Our goal is to get the crime rate down to zero, if at all possible."

The Peace Corps needs hundreds of new volunteers in order to carry the East Stroudsburg State University of Pennsylvania football game from Pennsylvania.

Faculty/State Talks Resume

Talks between the New Jersey state college teachers and the state board of Higher Education resumed on Monday in an effort to ward off an impending faculty strike.

The next meeting of the two parties will take place on Monday with a faculty strike vote scheduled for Sat., Nov. 17.

THE TALKS broke off when the parties reached an impasse in early October. The appointment of a new mediator last week by the Public Employment Relations Committee prompted the new session of negotiations between the state and faculty representatives.

As the MONTCLARION went to press, MSC/AFT president Marco Antonio Lacatena was unavailable for comment, as was Frank A. Mason, director of state employee relations.

NEGOTIATIONS between the union and the state have been carried on since June 30 when the instructors' three-year contract expired.

Lot Conflict Reaches Stalemate

By Patricia Mercorelli

A conflict that has arisen over the possibility was in the former Administration Office on a parking lot or as a recreation field has reached an impasse. According to Jerome Quinn, institutional planning director, there are no plans to develop that area in any way.

The problem came to a head when SGA up at Mesina introduced a bill at the Oct. 30 meeting of the legislature to "honor" SGA and the Student Intramural and Legislative Council (SILC) work together to have that area turned into a recreation field since the facilities on campus are inadequate and the shortage of land is becoming acute.

However, Fred Jennings of the Committee of the legislature stated that the area was slated to be a parking lot. It was then that the bill was referred to the welfare committee of the legislature for further study.

The committee, in consultation with Mesina and SILC, had planned to distribute a questionnaire on campus to determine student opinion. Those plans were scratched when it was discovered that the college had no plans for developing the area in question.

As the present time the committee intends to study the bill and Mesina will contact Quinn to determine exactly what the college plans to do with the area.

Quinn stated that if there were any ideas to give that area, which is only 250 ft. x 380 ft., fitting square for a 300-car lot, "they never got as far as this office." He said that the space "does not lend itself to parking" since the exits lead into Normal Ave. and Valley Rd., an already jammed street.

"Basically it is one of the few green areas we have on campus and we would like to keep it," Quinn commended. McKinley Boston, intramurals director, believed that the area could be put to much better use than parking saying that it is such a small area that it cannot really solve any parking problem. He emphasized that "we are always looking for immediate solutions but we should concentrate more on the future effect of an action."

Boston believes that students would benefit from a recreation field because it would allow intramural program activities during the day. Now they must schedule events that do not conflict with varsity athletics since they both use Pecer Gym.

STU RICHER, student president of SILC, agreed that the area would be put to good use in a recreation field. He explained that "it could be used for softball, football and track, volleyball and generally for student enjoyment. He noted that it would be "a centrally located spot to have a field house for intramurals."

The general consensus now is that SILC and the Committee will wait to see what develops.

Gulf Future Put To Vote

By John Piccioni

It appears that the Gulf Oil service station on this campus is in for a stormy month.

At a Nov. 5 meeting, the Student Center Policy Board voted to put the question of retaining the Gulf station on a referendum within a month, according to Bruce Conforth, chairman of the policy board.

The POLICY board chairman stated that the referendum question will ask if the voter is willing to remove the gas station without the replacement of another type of oil company.

"We (the policy board) are investigating the feasibility of another company on campus instead of Gulf. If another gas company is found, Gulf will be removed by the policy board," he said.

Conforth predicted that the referendum would be the first time in this college's history that a governing board is asking students "what they want" as well as to make a "moral decision," sheding to alleged policies of the Gulf Oil Corporation in supressing Angolan nationals. He attributed the referendum to an "extremely strong board (the policy board)."

TO MAKE students more aware of the meaning of the referendum, the Policy Board is coordinating an information drive with Gulf Action Group of theTask Force Against Racism. Literature will be passed out and seminars will be held.

Conforth stated that he hopes that Gulf will send representatives to these seminars so that "both sides will be presented."

"It is a major decision, it must be a fair one," he concluded.

In recent months, the gas station has been hit by a wave of protest. The Gulf Action Group has been trying to remove the station because of the corporation's activities in the Portuguese colony of Angola, where nationals are fighting for the colony's independence. Gulf is said to be financing the war by paying Portugal a subsidiary of $20,000,000 a year.

However, according to James Walker, public relations director for Gulf Oil Corp., New York, Gulf does not pay a tax in Angola. He added that the taxes and royalties Gulf does pay go in the province of Angola, not the Portuguese government.

Walker stated that the taxes and money help increase the education, health standard and other social economic factors of Angola.

Confronting charges of racism, Walker said that Gulf "does not invest in countries where the government prevents equal employment of whites and blacks."

"The wage minimum," he said, "is 30% higher than the collective agreement minimum, established by the union and the company. It is $97 to $104 a month."

Walker concluded by saying that black employment in Angola has increased since Gulf went into the province six years ago.

VINCENT B. CALABRESE, vice-president of administration and finance, stated that he was a good for a gas station on this campus because of its service to students and employment of students. He also said that he "does not care" what oil company supplies the gas station.

Greg Carroll, assistant director of the Student Center, stated that Gulf is merely a " Acquisition of gas and said that if he could get another supplier offering more gas, he would do so.

A Search For Meaning

The Pre-College Philosophy Conference, which was held on Thurs., Nov. 9 in the Student Center, discussed the possible introduction of philosophy at the grammar and high school levels.

The conference was sponsored by the coordinator of the conference, Dr. Matthew Lipman, "to dramatize the possibility that we may have overlooked a very responsible area." He pointed out that students at all levels on the educational ladder are concerned with a lack of meaning in their courses. "Philosophy," he continued, "is mainly concerned with a search for meaning."

CINA: Combating A Wave Of Apathy

By Patricia Perrone

"Come Cheer, Come Jeer, But Come!" urged the Council of International Affairs in a recent flyer, publicizing an upcoming lecture. The organization is re-thinking their advertising methods this semester in order to promote "a more dynamic type lecture series," according to Roy Hirschfeld, chairman.

CINA members have been distributing large wooden signs, posters and flyers about the campus, in the hopes of arousing more interest in their programs. During freshman orientation they used a truck dressed up as an ape to attract attention. They are presently considering the possibility of using a truck with a public address system for advertising coming events.

THESE ACTIONS are being taken to combat the wave of "lack of desire to bother about what's going on in the world," stated Hirschfeld in an interview in a busy CINA office.

CINA is pursuing this course as part of its "responsibility for bringing scholarship and intellectualism to the campus," Hirschfeld explained.

CINA is attempting to schedule those speakers who will be most interesting to the majority of the students. Hirschfeld stated. Jack Anderson, controversial Washington columnist, appeared last night at MSC. In the past two weeks CINA has presented consumer advocate Ralph Nader and assemblywoman Ann Klein.

The organization criticized student apathy. When CINA has presented speakers such as Hubert Humphrey or Barry Goldwater in previous semesters only about 500 persons, including students as well as outsiders, have attended. "This is annoying," Hirschfeld said, considering the undergraduate population of about 7,000.

The RECENT Ralph Nader lecture drew a crowd of 1300 persons, which was the largest in the history of MSC, the chairman said. However, "This is still not enough," he added. Perhaps "professors and administrators should take some responsibility in the matter," he continued, commenting that many instructors refuse to mention upcoming lectures in their classrooms.

The organization's treasury will allow for only one more major speaker. A major lecturer usually charges about $2500.

National Frat Accepts Alpha Kappa Psi

By Roy Weiss

Alpha Kappa Psi, the newest fraternity on campus, will officially become a member of the national organization of administrative science majors at an installation dinner on Nov. 18 at the Bethwood Restaurant in Totowa, N.J. The newly initiated president of Montclair State, Dr. David W.D. Dickson, will attend the ceremonies along with the fraternity's professional advisor, Dr. Allen Simonson.

The frat was organized late last semester by Paul Stahlin who then applied for a national membership in the organization of Alpha Kappa Psi and received approval to become the Chapter of Kappa Rho three months later. Stahlin was very proud to admit that the three month probationary period was the shortest amount of time a prospective chapter has ever had to wait before becoming accepted by the national fraternity. The MSC chapter has 43 members and Stahlin, who was recently elected president of the frat, says, “the fraternity is still rapidly growing.”

The frat is sponsoring a tour of the Budweiser brewery in Newark on Nov. 15. Anyone wishing to take the tour can sign up in College Hall on the bulletin board located outside on Rm. 206.

During the second semester, internships are to be settled on by the student and the chairman of the department.

URBAN STUDIES OFFERED

Recognizing the needs of American cities, the department of geography and urban studies is offering a new minor program in urban studies. To begin in the spring semester 1974, the minor is geared toward preparing students for careers in urban settings.

According to Bertrand Boucher, department chairman, the core of the 31 semester hour minor is a full semester 15 credit internship in an urban agency. An opportunity for on the job training is the underlying principle of the internship. Students will be involved in planning, decision-making and the actual execution of programs.

During their senior year, students will be placed in urban agencies according to personal interest and educational background.

The range of possibilities extends from city planning and housing agencies to urban coalition and social agencies.

Boucher feels that the new program, if supplemented with urban faculties, although open to all students, is directed toward those who are majoring in anthropology, political science, psychology, sociology, geography, history, economics and recreation.

At present, it is not possible to major in urbanology at MSC. Boucher suggests that students interested in the field should meet with him to set up a program which would include the urban studies minor and urban courses from the various departments of the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences.

In the future the department hopes to be offering a formal interdisciplinary program centering upon urbanology. According to Boucher the program would borrow from all areas of study because, "...There is no finite category which urban studies falls into."

Recalling the reasons for initiating the urban studies minor, Boucher cited the need to provide a professional preparation for urban careers and also the responsibility to educate students as to the problems of urban America.

According to Boucher the new program should help MSC to achieve its rightful place among the growing number of New Jersey colleges offering urban studies.

Drop-In Staff
We Try To Cut Red Tape

We're halfway through this semester and almost everyone has heard about the Drop-In Center. Many people may not be sure as to what we actually are or what we are doing, so we feel it is our responsibility to inform you of our function at MSC.

The Drop-In Center is here to meet the needs of the student—your needs. You may have a question we may have the answer. If we don't know, we make it our business to find out for you.

CONTACT
We operate in the small building between the Student Center and the Multi-Science building. Our services are available to everyone 24 hours a day—every day. We provide information, peer counseling, conversation, or human contact. MSC is a big college; we try to cut through red tape and make the services and activities on campus seem cleaner and more available to you.

Contrary to some beliefs, the problem need not be a drastic one for you to receive attention from the staff. We do provide peer counseling, but we also deal with simple requests such as the phone number of the registrar or the name of the academic counselor for the School of Humanities. These questions are met with the same consideration and confidentiality that any other calls receive.

Certain questions are asked of us more often than others. The topics include: campus information, pregnancy, drugs, sex and personal difficulties. We would like to provide everyone on campus with this information.

INFORMATION
In the coming weeks the Drop-In Center will have informative columns in the MONTCLARION.

Should these columns raise any question in your mind, feel free as always to drop in or dial 893-5271 for more information.

Student Involvement
Must Be Meaningful

What if a faculty strike? The time is soon approaching when students throughout the state will be facing one of the most crucial dilemmas in their educational career, a possible faculty strike. The question to consider here is where do we stand?

I am of the firm belief that our stand should be one concerned exclusively for ourselves. We have a right to the education we pay for. We have the right to receive credit for the time we put in. But we are being toyed with and victimized by a political power struggle between the AFT and the Department of Higher Education.

The Department has served, since its inception, as the initiator of low cost accounting education in our state which has only led to decreased quality of education. We can no longer sit back and be computerized, victimized and demonized by a state education system which seems to concern the dollar before the student.

Our faculties have unified in an effort to combat the concept of centralization which the Department has embraced wholeheartedly. We must apply the faculty union for this attempt, but we must consider other ramifications of their direction. In their battle with the state, their contract theoretically jeopardizes student involvement in all aspects of college governance. Their method of employing a strike as a means to pressure the state into negotiation can only hurt students education and future.

Where do we go? I believe we too must attack the Department for their questionable policies for higher education. We must apply the necessary public pressure on the Department to assure us the education we have paid for. It is the responsibility of the Department to come to terms with the faculty.

We demand of the faculty to delete all areas concernive governance, which definitely affect students, from their contract and provide that they be dealt with on the local level. We will not stand back and be removed from the decision making process. As of yet we have possible grounds for enjoinment of the contract; we are prepared to take the risk. In the best interest of students and their education, a wholehearted attack on the Department of Higher Education is a must.

We demand that both parties come to terms. The 99% of the "College Community" will never again idly watch our futures be toyed with by the power structure again. We must assert and be heard!
The ure view that students, faculty and administrators are ready and willing to concern themselves with this issue proved to be a valuable experience for those who attended. The campus turnout and reaction affirms the campus's commitment to addressing issues of racial tension.

WHERE WILL the Chapin residents go if the dorm is used for classrooms?

The MSC community would gain very little by transferring offices and classrooms to Chapin and lose a great deal by abandoning the "Chapin Community." It has something to offer that cannot afford to do without.

To the Editor:

"Awful, Awful" Damage To Ice Cream Cup Is 'Awful, Awful'

The MSC college community deserves commendation for its participation in this week's "Teach-In On Racism."

The Task Force Against Racism organized an effective and enlightening schedule of events which proved to be a valuable experience for those who attended. The campus turnout and reaction affirms the view that students, faculty and administrators are ready and willing to concern themselves with this ever-present problem.

Last year's racial awareness day had speakers talking to empty seats. But this year's seminars appear to have near capacity.

Success, however, is not measured by bodies in chairs, especially not in this case. The effect of the teach-in will be measured by the ease of racial tensions in the campus community.

MONTCLAIRON Soapbox

The task is difficult and that many mistakes have been made in the past. Any honest effort in fighting racism should include the analysis of errors made by those who claim that they have found a way of eliminating racial barriers.

Socialists and communists claim that racism is a by-product of 'capitalistic society and that it is impossible in countries with collective ownership. Reality does not support this simplistic statement; racism does exist in the Soviet Union, nearly those generations after their revolution took place.

Racial tension, hatred and discrimination were facts of life in czarist Russia. Many honest people joined the revolution to fight racism. They were told that national cultures would flourish after the revolution, that each ethnic group would be able to determine its own destiny, that social prejudices would be replaced by relations based on mutual respect.

The lesson is that in history ideas transcend men; individuals will come and go, but the ideas they express will remain and must be judged on their own merits.

The meteoric downfall of Spiro Agnew was a man of ideas, a true rarity in contemporary American politics. Those of us who idolized him and those of us who despised him should learn a sobering lesson from his rapid and tragic departure from the political scene.

Though many don't realize it, Agnew himself was one of America's foremost dissenters in this age of liberal emphasis. While such values as patriotism, individualism, the family, decency and God are posthumously old-fashioned and anti-intellectual in the academic ivory towers and in the media complexes of midtown Manhattan, Agnew recognized that they still remain strong in middle America. His articulate and forceful defense of these values earned him both worshipers and bitter enemies.

In criticizing the monopoly of opinion in the national news media, Agnew, far from being repressed, was calling for more openness and vitality in both the expression and dissemination of ideas. Such media innovation as CBS-radio's "Spectrum," the New York Times' op-ed page are living monuments to the legacy of what Spiro Agnew had to say.

IDEAS

As Vice-President, Agnew recognized that the government of the 20th century.

While it is the obvious aim of the liberal establishment, in government, in the media and in the academy were rooting in the face of the mindless and often violent radicals of the New Left, it was Agnew who had both the courage and the ability to speak out in defense of America's time-honored principles of order and freedom.

VAGUE

To the Editor:

Save Chapin Hall

Once again Chapin Hall residents are finding themselves fighting for their dorm's survival.

The college's decision to convert Chapin Hall into classroom and faculty office space without providing facilities for the soon-to-be displaced students could not be more timely, particularly since housing is already in short supply.

Blaming Little Falls for not approving apartment construction for students does not hide the college's lack of foresight in planning the move. Little Falls has never been enthusiastic about the proposed garden apartments and problems regarding their construction are nothing new. College officials should have had some alternatives ready in the event that the apartment complex did not materialize as hoped.

Chapin residents and the college as a whole stand to lose much more than just housing space if the planned conversion takes place. Chapin Hall's experiment in Community Living has been a resounding success in every area of campus life, from academic excellence to personal atmosphere in the dorm, a rarity in today's increasingly automated, impersonal society.

The MSC community would gain very little by transferring offices and classrooms to Chapin and lose a great deal by abandoning the "Chapin Community." It has something to offer that cannot afford to do without.
Molly Fails ‘Chicken Soup Test’

By M.J. Smith

The back cover of “Molly’s” opening night Playbill featured a picture of a large lemon. It was a most appropriate illustration. Producers Don Saxon, Don Kaufman and George Dailey certainly gave the musical every chance. It toured the backwoods for ages. They pushed back the Broadway opening a full month. They even called in Alan Arkin to doctor up the direction. Nothing helped.

ESSENTIALLY, “Molly” is a Depression Era tale of the Bronx. Molly’s husband loses his job. Molly wants him to start a dress manufacturing business. He decided to go to California to grow grapefruit but she doesn’t want to go because “grapefruit don’t yoo-hoo.” In the end, she wins by convincing him to make two-piece swim suits from the remnants she had traded for a cemetery plot. Louis Garfinkle and Leonard Adelson’s book is just too, too heart-warming.

Key Ballard, somewhere between “The Mothers-In-Law” sitcom and this Broadway “Mama Knows Best” she lost the “s” at the end of her name makes a rather lukewarm Molly. She’s a fine singer but she’d never pass the chicken soup test.

The only cast member that really shines is Eli Mintz. Mintz created the role of Uncle David in the 1948 Broadway version of “The Goldbergs” and then did a 13 year stint in the tv series. His portrayal of the elderly uncle has moments of true sincerity which the other performances lack.

JERRY LIVINGSTON’S music is easily forgotten and no one in the audience heard the lyrics in the first place. The orchestra consistently drowned out all the singers. Perhaps after the musicians heard Leonard Adelson and Mack David’s lyrics in rehearsal they mercifully decided to spare the audience any further pain.

Grover Dale’s choreography is a bit stale with a lot of parading around punctuated by a few snappy steps from Mr. Goldberg’s business partner (Swen Swenson).

JULES FISHER’S lighting is passable although his fondness for spotlights gives parts of the show a jarring nightclub atmosphere.

'Full Circle' Barely Survives WWII Bombs

By Michael Finnegan

Air raid sirens whine amid the drone of airplane engines. Bombs explode with deafening resonance. Flickering flashes of light illuminate a marvelous set depicting the rubble of wartorn Berlin. That's how "Full Circle" begins — and nothing else in the play nearly approaches the excitement generated by these first few moments.

To clarify, the late Erich Maria Remarque's only play deals so blandly with themes and characters so hackneyed that one can't help feeling that "we've been here before so who cares" feeling. To further clarify, "Full Circle," written by the author who dealt so passionately with the horrors of war in "All Quiet on the Western Front," is a serious disappointment.

SET IN a Berlin rooming house during the final days of World War II, the plot focuses on the disinterested wife of a resistance hero (Bibi Andersson), who shelters a prisoner (Leonard Nimoy). Along the way they outsmart the Nazi, chatter nonsense, put their feet up on tables when he sits and tempts women with contraband liquor. When Nimoy's fellow escapee, a Jew, is brought in to identify him, one is treated to the classic portrayal of the Jew: an outcast, a wimp, a creature who puts his feet up on tables when he sits and tempts women with contraband liquor. When Nimoy's fellow escapee, a Jew, is brought in to identify him, one is treated to the classic portrayal of the Jew: an outcast, a wimp, a creature who puts his feet up on tables when he sits and tempts women with contraband liquor. When Nimoy's fellow escapee, a Jew, is brought in to identify him, one is treated to the classic portrayal of the Jew: an outcast, a wimp, a creature who puts his feet up on tables when he sits and tempts women with contraband liquor. When Nimoy's fellow escapee, a Jew, is brought in to identify him, one is treated to the classic portrayal of the Jew: an outcast, a wimp, a creature who puts his feet up on tables when he sits and tempts women with contraband liquor.

To his credit, Otto Preminger's staging never bores but on the debit side, one is never stimulated. He fails at eliciting the emotions inherent in the spirit of Remarque's work, but rather simply relies on the cloying diaphragm and surface movement to lull the viewer. Peter Stone's adaptation retains little sense of credibility and atmosphere as well as suspense. For the record, because of the terrific opening sequence, credit is due to set designer Robin Wagner, sound technician Gary Harris and Julie Fisher's lighting effects.

At the play's end, Russian soldiers reach Berlin and arrest Nimoy as a resistor of Communism. Here one sees the significance of the title "Full Circle" as Remarque saw it — the entrapped intellectual is no sooner freed from the bounds of one "ism" (Nazism) than he is forced into conflict with another (Communism), completing the eternal cycle. "Full Circle" can also suggest a doughnut — something that goes around and around — with nothing in the center.
Trucking isn't just for truck drivers.

It's also for college graduates. The American trucking industry is a vast, complex, sophisticated transportation network. A network that moves almost anything you can think of. Almost anywhere you can think of.

And to keep things running smoothly, it needs people. All kinds of people. From computer analysts to cost accountants. Traffic controllers to communications specialists. People like you.

In return, trucking offers you good pay.

Plus a chance to grow fast and go as high as you want to. Because trucking is booming. And it's already the largest and fastest growing segment of the transportation industry. So you can start to contribute some mighty important things to the cause. Now. Not ten years from now.

How do you start a career in this dynamic business?

It's easy, if you know where to look. First, try your placement office. See if there are any trucking concerns interviewing. Next, check out your college placement manual for names and addresses. Finally, look to the surrounding area for companies in operation.

Find out for yourself what a great career trucking can be. Even if you don't drive.

B.F. Goodrich has brought you this message because we're proud to be a part of the American trucking industry. And, as a major developer of radial truck tires, torsilastic springs, caliper disc brakes and skid control systems, we know our future developments — and those of the trucking industry — will depend on people like you.
Squaws Conclude Season

By John Zawoyski

Montclair State's field hockey team's inexperience was evident this season as the Squaws wound-up with a 2-5-2 record.

"This season was a rebuilding one for us. We had four returnees from last year's team, and the remainder of the squad being a combination of freshmen and first year varsity," coach Donna Olson commented as she relaxed at her desk in the Athletic Office.

"Our biggest problem was getting the ball into the net. We were well established in all parts of the field but we did not have any scorers," the coach continued.

"We had a strong schedule going against teams like Princeton and Kings College where they simply outplayed us. Our best played games were against Trenton State despite a 1-0 loss and a deadlock tie with Douglass College," Olson stated.

"Co-captains Patte McCarthy and Laura Sanson are the only members graduating. There will be a full team of returning letter winners. Several girls will attend hockey camp next summer. We expect a bright future for our team next season," Olson concluded.

The team will expect some potential from this year's JV team which turned in a 3-4 season record, lead by captain Joan Van Dorpe. The team was coached by Linda Keeney.

The varsity team had two outstanding players, Kim Hamilton and Karen Dahlinstrom, both making the All-College third team.

O'Donoghue Repeats; MSC Third In CTC's

By Rich Keller

'I am very proud of Tim. He ran a very tough race," said cross country coach George Horn, while relaxing in his momento-filled office.

Horn's expression of pride resulted from Tim O'Donoghue's first place finish, a repeat of last year, and the team's third place finish, in the Collegiate Track Championships. Tim ran the race in a time of 25:24.5, which is 12 seconds off the conference record set in 1969.

The Tribe grabbed third place honors behind C.W. Post and Trenton State, two teams which MSC had beaten by one point and tied.

Let a phone share your room for only 23¢ a day.

And put an end to this.

For only $6.85 a month, plus a one-time $15.00 installation charge, you can have your own private phone. You'll be able to make and receive personal calls. Even reach other campus phones by dialing only four digits. All without going through a switchboard.

How is this possible? Because Montclair State installed Centrex, the modern telephone service. So, look at it this way: if you and your roommate go halves, the cost is roughly 12¢ a day. Well worth it when you think about waiting in pay phone lines on those busy got-to-get-a-date-for-the-weekend nights.

Agreed? Just pick up an application at the Housing Office. And order a phone for your room.

O'Donoghue believes that he would have won last Tuesday's NJ College and University Championships race also, if he hadn't been plagued by tenonitis of the leg.

Squaws Schedule Tryouts

All women students are invited to try out for the women's basketball team. Tryouts for the JV and varsity teams are scheduled for Mon., Nov. 19, at 6:30 pm in Panzer Gym.

Coach Cathy Paskert stressed that the team "is not limited to physical education majors. A lot of the women don't give themselves a chance," she added.

Last year's squad posted a 14-1 record during the regular season and won the state championship.
Cowboys Rope The Men In Coed Finals

By John Delery

The sounds of footsteps and whispers could be heard, as people went pacing back and forth. Back and forth waiting for something to happen. No, they were not waiting for the doctor to announce the arrival of a "bundle of energy" at the maternity ward but for the start of the Montclair State Coed Intramurals Football Championships held Tuesday night at Sprague Field.

Under the lights and the pre-winter weather the Cowboys trampled The Men 13-9 in a hotly-contested game.

The Cowboys opened the scoring when, mid-way through the first half, QB Dave Ferrughielli spotted split end Russ Zinch in the end zone and hit him with a seven-yard scoring pass. The same duo again connected for the extra point and the first half ended with the score 7-0.

The second half turned into a defensive struggle. With each team having numerous chances to score but each called in only once. The Men finally put points on the board at 10 minutes of the second half. Gary "Anthony Davis" McGinnis took a short pass from QB Gary Kuzniack and slithered the final 10 yards into the endzone to make the score 7-6.

Following a victory dance by McGinnis, Kuzniack passed for the conversion point to Joanne Lavorgna to knot the score at seven apiece. The Cowboys started a time consuming drive. Mixing his passes with an occasional running play Ferrughielli moved his team upfield and culminated the drive with a scoring drive strike to Bob Peoples.

The final extra point was good but referee Bob Richter detected offside on the play. Five yards further from the goal than before, the Cowboys went for the point and missed.

With the score 13-7 and time running out, The Men congregated in the goal than before, the Cowboys went for the point and missed.

The Men did score a two-point safety to make the score closer at 15-9.

Even though The Men were in possession of the ball as the game ended, their luck and the time ran out simultaneously.

The battle for the playoffs and the finals began about a month ago. The Cowboys, Sweet-Pups, Chapin Hall and The Men all came away deadlocked in the 10-team division, with 5-1 records. Coincidentally the only loss The Men had all year was to the Cowboys 14-13.

The road to the finals, though, was much easier for the Cowboys. They battered the Sweet-Pups, 41-0, while The Men squeaked by Chapin, 8-7 in the last nine seconds of the game.

Even though the game is called touch football there were very few differences between the sport and regular football, at least rule-wise.

As SILC President Richter explained, "Only two men can rush at a time and they must be designated before the play begins.

In the playoffs, the teams will cross, first place team playing second place team, and vice versa, with the winners meeting in the finals immediately following.

Two Down and Two To Go

By Hank Gola

The Montclair State football team is alive and doing well in the New Jersey State College Conference. The Tribe's up and down fortunes were up again at Dean Field in Ewing where they posted a 24-10 win over Trenton State, raising their record to 4-4.

The skeptic might ask how a team with a .500 percentage could possibly be in the running for conference laurels.

BUT THE Indians own a 2-0 league mark and a win over unbeaten Jersey City State would almost clinch a title. That showdown will occur at Sprague Field on Saturday at 8 pm.

Last week, the Lions were tamed before 1111 windbeaten fans. The swirling gusts battered the spectators so much that they elected to take the ball instead of the wind upon winning the flip. Not one pass was attempted into the wind and punts died after 20 yards.

THE INDIANS won the game on the ground. MSC ate up the clock with multi-play drives until the spectators weren't the only group to get tired of watching them.

Trenton gave up two fourth quarter TD's and were almost helpless during the second half when MSC dominated the ball.

The clincher came with MSC leading 10-3 and 7:56 left in the game. Ray Vander May went over from the one on fourth down and Moses Lajterman's placement made it 17-3, forcing the Lions to play catch-up football.

THAT TACTIC backfired when MSC took over on downs at their own 31. Three running plays moved the ball to the TSC 49 where the right side of the line broke Bob Hermanni for a streaking six-pointer. Lajterman's PAT closed out the Indian's scoring at 24.

Hermanni had scored the first touchdown of the game on a six-yard scat around left end. The speedy Indian ran for 134 yards, and is rapidly approaching the 1000-yd. mark for this season.

Jim Stanko kicked a 36-yard field goal to bring the Lions to 7-3, but Lajterman tied the MSC season record with a second half field goal to up the Indians' lead to 10-3.

AFTER THE two late MSC touchdowns, Trenton got a so-what score when Mike Oswald took a short pass from Bill Paskewich and ran 70 yards for the TD. Stanko converted with no time remaining to make it 24-10.

Coming on the last play of the game, it would have been a story book ending, had the game been closer. It now remains for coach Clary Anderson to dig into his playbook and find some way of beating Jersey City.
GETTING BY: MSC forward Manny Menendez puts a move on Brooklyn defenseman Whitely (17) as he heads toward the net. Menendez netted the winning goal for the Indians in second half of the 2-0 victory.

A NETMINDERS NIGHTMARE is personified in Manny Menendez. Brooklyn goalie Cyril Thomas was harassed by Menendez all afternoon at Brookdale Park Saturday, capped off by the MSC forward’s goal.

Booters Blank Brooklyn

Eye Tournament Bid

By Joan Miketzuk

Montclair State’s soccer team kept alive its hopes for a post season tournament when they shut out Brooklyn College last Saturday, 2-0.

Following yesterday’s match with Long Island University, the Indians close out the regular season with a game against Adelphi University, Adikapi, a nationally-ranked squad, will invade Brookdale Park (Grove Street in Bloomfield) at 2 pm. Saturday.

IF THE Indians get by the LIU Blackbirds unscathed, the Adikapi game looks as the decider between a post season tournament and a premature winter rest.

Saturday’s Brooklyn contest boiled down to a clash of wits between MSC center forward Manny Menendez and Brooklyn goalie Cyril Thomas, a battle Menendez won more than once.

As the visiting netminder would catch and hold the ball, making a save on an MSC shot, Menendez would hawk him, giving Thomas little room to maneuver and feed the ball to his defensemen.

THE SCRAPPY forward’s tenacity was rewarded. As the game wore on, Thomas appeared to become more and more unsure of making simple saves, juggeling the ball after making a catch and moving slowly to block the MSC shots.

But the Brooklyn defense wasn’t giving up that easily, and the Indians had trouble getting their shots through consistently. Thus, the game was scoreless through the first half, even though it appeared all that MSC would have to do to fill the net would be to make Thomas handle the ball.

Apparently MSC realized this and started pressing the Brooklyn squad into making mistakes. At 16:00 of the second half, Menendez fired one of these mistakes into the net, climaxing his game-long battle of wits with Thomas.

THE PLAY started at the center of the field, with John Tkaczuk taking a swing at the MSC netminder. He had his shot on net, climaxing his game-long battle of wits with Thomas.

The ball bounced around until Bob Mykulak put Menendez in the knotter. As the Indian went by, Trachtenberg challenged him with as he posted his fifth shutout of the year.

Mario Kawzcynski gave Doran some breathing room with 3½ minutes left in the game as he scored his first goal of the season.

Shooting from an extreme angle, Kawzcynski booted the ball high towards the crossbar, over Thomas’ outstretched hands. Hitting the crossbar on the underside, the ball slid neatly behind the tall, thin netminder.

KAWZCYNSKI CAME around until Bob Mykulak put Menendez in the open win a pass. Menendez looked up to find a clear shot at Thomas.

Seizing the opportunity, he barely paused to corral the ball before sliding it along the grass into the lower right hand corner of the net.

THOMAS, REALIZING he had no chance on the shot, hardly moved.

Menendez compensated for the goalie’s lack of mobility, however, when he leaped into the air as the ball hit the crossbar.

The remainder of the game was played mostly in the Indians’ end of the field, with Brooklyn pressing for the knotter.

It never came, as the defensive play of Jim Ostrowski, captain Nick Mykulak and Bernie Petricelli kept Brooklyn from getting any really good shots at goalie Chuck Doran.

THE MSC netminder neatly stopped the nine shots Brooklyn challenged him with as he posted his fifth shutout of the year.

Heading for a bid is MSC’s Bob Mykulak as he races away Brooklyn forward Gallimore (13) and defenseman Kawzcynski (18) to direct the ball to a teammate. The win over Brooklyn keeps MSC’s chances for a post-season bid very much alive.
