College Moves To Close Chapin?

After 50 years as a student living quarters, Chapin Hall is being forced to close its doors.

Chapin, the oldest dorm still in use on campus, is destined to be converted to faculty offices and classrooms by next fall, according to Jerome Quinn, institutional planning director.

BIDS FOR the renovation were accepted late last month and work will begin by the end of the academic year.

Officially, the go-ahead for renovation signifies the end of Chapin residents’ two year campaign to save the Spanish mission-style dormitory.

However, Chapin residents are not about to give up the fight. They held an organizational meeting Monday night to map out a strategy to rescue their doomed residence hall.

Their Tentative plans for the reclamation include the publication of a Chapin newsletter to publicize their plight, and a survey of the School of Educational and Community Services faculty who are scheduled to move into Chapin in September.

The dorm’s 81 residents have expressed fervent opposition to the project after the Student Center Policy Board decided to petition the state for increased financial aid. The assistant English professor also denounced educational cutbacks.

Stover praised the Chapin gardens as necessitating the project’s conversion into office space as necessitating the project’s conversion into office space.

Stover and Chapin residents will have to raise all money for the project on their own. Stover added that students, faculty and community members would be invited to serve on the board of the new complex.

A Montclair State senior remains in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit of Mountainside Hospital following a shooting incident at the college entrance on Sunday.

Cavin Blue, 22, of 111 North 18th St., East Orange, was shot at the bus stop on the corner of Valley Road and Normal Ave. "around 2 pm," according to security chief James Lockhart.

Police are searching for a man who ran away from the scene.

According to Montclair police detectives John McGill, Richardson apparently had been upset that a former girlfriend of his, Elaine Jackson, also an MSC student, had been dating Blue.

Blue and Jackson were waiting for a bus when Richardson drove up and shot her to death.

Richardson, also an MSC student, had been dating Blue.

The Task Force was to hold an open enrollment seminar on Nov. 17-18. A national conference on racism and the University at New York University is scheduled to "keep alive" the Task Force structure and keep alive the Task Force structure.

Richardson was also quoted as saying that the cutbacks would "be most responsible for racism on campus campuses and could "pit white students against black students in a competition for available money."
WMSC Drops Utilities Complaint

By Gene Moore

WMSC, the student radio station, will drop a suit filed earlier the fall with the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) against the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. NJUB and American Telephone and Telegraph (ATT), according to WMSC’s general manager Charles Hecht.

The complaint was originally filed as an attempt to rectify a problem that existed regarding the reming of “time” on telephone lines used to broadcast away sports events. Because of the settlement, WMSC will renew its policy of carrying selected football and basketball games, probably beginning sometime during November. The last game broadcast by the station was on Sept. 22 of this year.

A following Thursday meeting with Dick Winding, NJUB’s supervisor of New Jersey broadcasting, Hecht said that an accord had been reached and that he felt he gained respect for the station. Hecht said, “I’m confident that we’re not going to be kicked around anymore. The next time we do business, we should receive proper service.”

The security director leaned forward in his chair as if to emphasize his point. “The name of the game is prevention and deterrence. When we ascertain that an area is being hit we’re trying to counter it with patrols. If we get the input, then we will do something about it,” he explained. "A major problem. There’s just too many cars to watch and I’m always afraid I’ll miss something.”

Kaufman came out in support of the small car parking for recently proposed by the Council of Commuter Affairs (COCA) as a means of alleviating some of the car parking problems.” It’s in the right direction,” he claimed. "By forcing some small cars to the space normally occupied by one, there’s no double in my mind that more room will be created and fewer parking problems will occur,” the director concluded.

Security guards refused to comment on the status of campus crime or offer any information about their roles as security personnel.

However, students freely gave their opinions about campus security. "We have one of the safest campuses I know of,” stated one resident student. "But that doesn’t necessarily mean that security is the best. It only means that not many things go on here,” the student clarified.” This seemed to be a typical reaction among MSC students although a few did say they believed the security department to be particularly helpful in times of accident or theft.

YOUR MIND MISSED THE CHANCE TO FUNCTION!

At the last meeting of the "Periodic Joe," the whole outlook for the year was discussed — how we should present our paper to the unsuspecting world and its universal neighbors.

Our next meeting is Thurs., Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the YM-YWHA of Metropolitan N.J. 1760 Northfield Road, West Orange in Rm. 11.

Lot Conflict Reaches Stalemate

By Patricia Massetti

A conflict that has arisen over the possible use in the former Admissions Office parking lot or as a recreation field has reached an impasse. According to Jerome Quinn, institutional planning director, there are no plans to develop that area in any way.

The problem came to a head when SGA up on Monday introduced a bill at the Oct. 23 meeting of the legislature to "have SGA and the Student Intramural and Leasure Council work together to have that area turned into a recreation field since the facilities on campus are inadequate and the shortage of land is becoming acute."

HOWER, FRED Jenning of the Committee on State eyes the area was slated to be a parking lot; it was then that the bill was referred to the legislature for further study.

The committee, in consultation with Menello and SGA, had planned to distribute a questionnaire on campus to determine student opinion. Those plans were scratched when it was discovered that the college had no plans for developing the area in question.

"At the present time the committee intends to study the bill and Menello will contact Quinn to determine if the College will do with the area."

QUINN STATED that if there were any ideas to pave that area, which is only 250 ft. x 380 ft., fitting students with another type of oil they need as far as his office. He said that the space "does not lend itself to parking" since the exits lead into Normal Ave. and Valley Rd., an already jammed street.

"Basically it is one of the few green areas we have on campus and we would like to keep it," Quinn commended. McKinley Boston, intramural director, believed that the area could be put to much better use than parking saying that it is such a small area that it cannot really solve any parking problem. He emphasized that "we are always looking for, immediate solutions but we should concentrate more on the future effects of an action."

Boston believes that students would benefit from a recreation field because it would allow intramurals to program activities during the day. Now they must schedule events that do not conflict with varsity sports since they both use Panzer Gym.

STU RICHER, student president of SLC, agreed that the area would be put to good use in a recreation field. He explained that "it could be used for softball, football and track, volleyball and generally for student enjoyment. I feel confident that it would be a centrally located spot to have a field house for intramurals."

The general consensus now is that SLC and the Committee will wait to see what develops.

It appears that the Gulf Oil service station on this campus is in for a stormy month.

At a Nov. 5 meeting, the Student Center Policy Board voted to put the question of retaining the Gulf station on a referendum within a month, according to Bruce Confort, chairman of the policy board.

The POLICY board chairman stated that the referendum question will ask if the voter is willing to remove the gas station without the replacement of another type of oil company.

"We (the policy board) are investigating the feasibility of another company on campus instead of Gulf. If another gas company is found, Gulf will be removed by the policy board," he said.

Conforth predicted that the referendum would be the first time in this college's history that a governing body is asking students "what they want," as well as to make a "moral decision," shying away from alleged policies of the Gulf Oil Corporation in suppressing Angolan nationals. He attributed the referendum to an "extremely strong board (the policy committee)."

"To make students more aware of the meaning of the referendum, the Policy Board is coordinating an information drive with Gulf Action Group of the Task Force Against Racism. Literature will be passed out and seminars will be held."

Conforth stated that he hopes that Gulf will send representatives to these seminars so that "both sides will be presented.

"It is a major decision, it must be a fair one," he concluded.

In recent months, the gas station has been hit by a wave of protest. The Gulf Action Group has been trying to remove the station because of the corporation's activities in the Portuguese colony of Angola, where nationals are fighting for the colony's independence. Gulf is said to be financing the war by paying Portugal a subsidiary of $20,000,000 a year.

Hower, Accordin to James Walker, public relations director for Gulf Oil Corp., New York, Gulf does not pay war tax in Angola. He added that the taxes and royalties Gulf does pay go in the province of Angola, not the Portuguese government.

Walker stated that the taxes and money help increase the education, health standard and other social, economic factors of Angola.

Concerning to charges of racism, Walker said that Gulf "does not invest in countries where the government prohibits equal employment of whites and blacks."

"The wage minimum," he said, "is 30% higher than the collective agreement minimum, established by the union and the company. It is $97 to $104 a month."

Walker concluded by saying that black employment in Angola has increased since Gulf went into the province six years ago.

VINCENT B. CALABRESE, vice-president of administration and finance, stated that he was a need for a gas station on this campus because of its service to students and employment of students. He also said that he "does not care" what oil company supplies the gas station.

Greg Carroll, assistant director of the Student Center, stated that Gulf is merely a "supplier" of gas and added that if he could get another supplier offering more gas, he would do so.

A Search For Meaning

The Pre-College Philosophy Conference, which was held on Thurs., Nov. 9 in the Student Center, discussed the possible introduction of philosophy at the grammar and high school levels.

The conference had signed according to conference coordinator Dr. Matthew Lipman, "to dramatize the possibility that we may have overlooked a very important area." He pointed out that students at all levels on the educational ladder are concerned with a lack of meaning in their courses. "Philosophy," he continued, "is mainly concerned with a search for meaning."

THE EIGHT-hour conference, which was the first of its kind school and grammar school teachers and administrators. Lipman described its as "an exploratory conference to discuss the benefits of teaching philosophy at lower levels." Though he will be pleased if some programs develop out of the conference, he emphasized that this is not its purpose.

MSC President Dickson opened the conference at 9:30 am in the center-ballroom. Dr. Wolfgang Fleischmann, dean of the School of Humanities, introduced Dr. James McLellan, education professor at the State University of New York, who spoke on the reasons for the neglect of philosophy in the American educational system.

Dr. Amato Estron, sociology professor at Columbia University, spoke on the social effect that neglect in the instruction of philosophy has caused. The conference included six panel discussions on topics ranging from the reasons to study philosophy to how to cope with its introduction to school systems.

LIPMAN REMARKED that there are positive benefits to all of society from the study of philosophy at an early age. He explained that "collages will receive students that are more sophisticated and informed view of philosophy." It would quiet "some of the intellectual restlessness prevalent in high school students impatient with academic insistence."

MSC Students Join Essex Photo Show

By Maureen Garde

MSC fine arts students are participating in a three man show of photography at the Essex County Blood Bank in East Orange this month.
According to blood bank officials, MSC's exhibit is the first in a series of monthly shows that will draw on student work from schools and colleges in northern New Jersey.
SENIORS JOHN Piscioli, John Meany and Frank Maddaloni have each contributed a dozen black-and-white prints which opened in the blood bank's donor reception area.

National Frat Accepts Alpha Kappa Psi

By Roy Weiss

Alpha Kappa Psi, the newest fraternity on campus, will officially become a member of the national organization of administrative science majors at an installation dinner on Nov. 18 at the Bethwood Restaurant in Totowa, N.J. The newly initiated president of Montclair State, Dr. David W.D. Dickson, will attend the ceremonies along with the fraternity's professional advisor, Dr. Allen Simonson.

The frat was organized late last semester by Paul Stahlin who then applied for a national membership in the organization of Alpha Kappa Psi and received approval to become the Chapter of Beta Rho three months later. Stahlin was very proud to admit that the three month probationary period was the shortest amount of time a prospective chapter has ever had to wait before becoming accepted by the national fraternity. The MSC chapter has 43 members and Stahlin, who was recently elected president of the frat, says, "the fraternity is still rapidly growing."

TREASURER, JEFF Goldberg, states "that although the fraternity has bowling, basketball, and football teams, the primary function of the organization is to help the administrative science department in dealing with its students."

"We have already packaged and sent boxes and boxes of books to Nigeria in a recent book campaign sponsored by Dr. Elam," Goldberg continued, "and we are also becoming thoroughly involved in the upcoming Career Planning Day. We are 90% a service frat and 10% a social frat."

DR. SIMONSON concurs that "our fraternity has the opportunity to be a force for good and progress in the college community. We will accomplish this by our willingness to assist our new department chairman, the entering freshmen, transfer students, the frat itself and the brothers within it."

Bill Straglinos, the corresponding secretary, Rich Hasselrud, the recording secretary, Bill Fencost, the vice president, all claim that the frat is anxious to accept new members. Although there is no cum average which is required, all applicants must be male and administrative science majors.

Urban Studies Offered

By Dita Palmen

Recognizing the needs of American cities, the department of geography and urban studies is offering a new minor program in urbanology. To begin in the spring semester 1974, the minor is geared toward preparing students for careers in urban settings.

According to Bertrand Boucher, department chairman, the core of the 31-semester-hour minor is a full semester 15-credit internship in an urban agency. An opportunity for on-the-job training is the underlying advantage of the internship. Students will be involved in planning, decision-making and the actual execution of programs.

DURING THEIR SENIOR year, students will be placed in urban agencies according to personal interest and educational background. Placements are to be settled on by students and the chairman of the department.

The range of possibilities extends from city planning and housing to social work and urban coalitions and social agencies.

Boucher feels that the new program, if supplemented with urban studies minors, although open to all students, the minor is directed toward those who are majoring in anthropology, political science, psychology, sociology, geography, history, economics and recreation.

At present, it is not possible to major in urbanology at MSC. Boucher suggests that students interested in the field should meet with him to set up a program which would include the urban studies minor and urban courses from the various departments of the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences.

IN THE future the department hopes to be offering a formal interdisciplinary program centering upon urbanology. According to Boucher the program would borrow from all areas of study because, "...there is no single category which urban studies falls into."

Recalling the reasons for initiating the urban studies minor, Boucher cited the need to provide a professional preparation for urban careers and also the responsibility to educate students as to the problems of urban America.

According to Boucher the new program should help MSC to achieve its rightful place among the growing number of New Jersey colleges offering urban studies.

Drop-In Staff

We Try To Cut Red Tape

We're halfway through this semester and almost everyone has heard about the Drop-In Center. Many people may not be sure as to what we actually are or what we are doing, so we feel it is our responsibility to inform you of our function at MSC.

The Drop-In Center is here to meet the needs of the students - your needs. You may have a question, or we may have the answer. If you don't know, we make it our business to find out for you.

CONTACT

We operate in the small building between the Student Center and the Math/Science building. Our services are available to everyone 24 hours a day - every day. We provide information, peer counseling, conversation, or human contact. MSC has a big college; we try to cut through the red tape and make the services and activities on campus seem cleaner and more available to you.

Contrary to some beliefs, the problem need not be a drastic one for you to receive attention from the staff. We do provide peer counseling, but we also deal with simple requests such as the phone number of the registrar or the name of the academic counselor for the School of Humanities. These questions are met with the same consideration and confidence that any other calls receive.

Certain questions are asked of us more often than others. The topics include: campus information, pregnancy, drugs, sex and personal difficulties. We would like to provide everyone on campus with this information.

INFORMATION

In the coming weeks the Drop-In Center will have informative columns in the MONTCLARION. Should these columns raise any question in your mind, feel free as always to drop in or dial 893-5271 for more information.

Student Involvement

Must Be Meaningful

What if a faculty strike! The time is soon approaching when students throughout the state will be facing one of the most crucial dilemmas in their educational career, a possible faculty strike. The question to consider here is where do we stand?

I am of the firm belief that our stand should be one concerned exclusively for ourselves. We have a right to the education we pay for. We have the right to receive credit for the time we put in. But we are being toyed with and victimized by a political power struggle between the AFT and the Department of Higher Education.

The Department has served, since its inception, as the initiator of low cost accounting education in our state which has only tended towards decreasing our quality of education. We can no longer sit back and be computersized, victimized and demonitized by a state education system which seems to concern the dollar before the student.

Our faculties have united in an effort to combat the concept of centralization which the Department has embraced wholesale. We must apply the faculty union for this attempt, but we must consider other ramifications of their direction. In their battle with the state, their contract theoretically jeopardizes student involvement in all aspects of college governance. Their method of employing a strike as a means to pressure the state into negotiation can only hurt students education and future.

Where do we go? I believe we too must attack the Department for their questionable policies for higher education. We must apply the necessary public pressure on the Department to assure us the education we have paid for. It is the responsibility of the Department to come to terms with the faculty. We demand of the faculty to delete all areas concering governance, which definitely affect students, from their contract and provide that they be dealt with on the local level. We will not stand back and be removed from the decision making process. As of yet we have possible grounds for enjoyment of the contract, we are prepared to take the risk. In the best interest of students and their education, a wholehearted attack on the Department of Higher Education is a must.

We demand that both parties come to terms. The 99% of the "College Community" will never again idly watch our futures be toyed with by the power structure again. We must assert and be heard!
Save Chapin Hall

Once again Chapin Hall residents are finding themselves fighting for their dorm's survival.

The college's decision to convert Chapin Hall into classroom and faculty office space without providing facilities for the soon-to-be displaced students could not be more unimpressive, particularly since housing is already in short supply.

Blaming Little Falls for not approving apartment construction for students does not hide the college's lack of foresight in planning the move. Little Falls has never been enthusiastic about the proposed garden apartments and problems regarding their construction are nothing new. College officials should have had some alternatives ready in the event that the apartment complex did not materialize as hoped.

Chapin residents and the college as a whole stand to lose much more than just housing space if the planned conversion takes place. Chapin Hall's experiment in Community Living has been a resounding success in that it represents a new, personal atmosphere in the dorm, a rarity in today's increasingly automated, impersonal society.

The MSC community would gain very little by transferring offices and classrooms to Chapin Hall and lose a great deal by abandoning the "Chapin Community." It has something to offer that college cannot afford to do without.

WHERE WILL the Chapin residents go if the dorm is used for classrooms?

Racism At MSC

The MSC college community deserves commendation for its participation in this week's "Teach-In On Racism." The Task Force Against Racism organized an effective and enlightening schedule of events which proved to be a valuable experience for those who attended. The campus turnout and reaction affirms the view that students, faculty and administrators are ready and willing to concern themselves with this ever-present problem.

Last year's racial awareness day had speakers talking to empty seats. This year's seminars appear to have been near capacity. Success, however, is not measured by bodies in chairs, especially not in this case. The effect of the teach-in will be measured by the ease of racial tensions in the campus community.

MONTCLARION Soapbox

Damage To Ice Cream Cup Is 'Awful, Awful'

The moronic downfall of Spiro Agnew requires a somewhat soberer analysis than it has received in most quarters. The most important point to be made is simply that Agnew's personal tragedy no way touches on the cogency or correctness of the ideas he expressed as Vice-President. While it is the obvious aim of Agnew's political enemies to bury the ideas with the man, this cannot and will not happen.

As Vice-President, Agnew rendered a great service to our country and I, for one, feel that history will credit him for it. At a time when the leaders of America's liberal establishment, in government, in the media and in the academy were reeling in the face of the mindless and often violent radicals of the New Left, it was Agnew who had both the courage and the ability to speak out in defense of America's time-honored principles of order and freedom.

VAGUE

Agnew said "no" to the Ben Specks, the William Sloan Coffins, the slew of others who urged, America are condemned or apologized for the defense of law in the name of some vague "higher morality." He pointed out that dissent must in a free society remain within the bounds of the law and that dissenters must, like everyone else, tolerate those with whom they disagree.

Though many don't realize it, Agnew himself was one of America's foremost dissenters in this age of liberal emphasis. While such values as patriotism, individualism, the family, decency and God are post-posted as old-fashioned and antiquated in the academic ivory towers and in the media complexes of midtown Manhattan, Agnew recognized that they still remain strong in middle America. His articulate and forceful defense of these values earned him both worshippers and bitter enemies.

In criticizing the monoply of opinion in the national news media, Agnew, far from using repression, was calling for more openness and variety in both the expression and dissemination of ideas. Such media innovation as CBS-radio's "Spectrum," Channel 5's Dr. Martin Ahmed, and The New York Times' op-ed page are living monuments to the legacy of what Spiro Agnew had to say.

IDEAS

Spiro Agnew was a man of ideas, a true rarity in contemporary American politics. Those of you who admired him and those of us who despised him should learn a sobering lesson from his rapid and tragic departure from the political scene.

The lesson is that in history ideas transcend men; individuals will come and go, but the ideas they express will remain and must be judged on their own merits.

To the Editor:

We believe that although it all started in good fun, the destruction of the "Awful, Awful" cup is deplorable. The cup was given to the college to use as some sort of landmark and even though the moving of the cup from place to place was innocent in itself, the war for the cup between the three dorms was quite childish. We don't refer to the water fight, but the trash caused things a bit too far. We don't think that the students had any right to use the cup as their toy. They ruined it, so they should be made to fix it, not the fine arts department. As for the matter of introducing the fire extinguisher, he should be punished. He could have blinded someone. The kids were wrong; make them fix the cup. It beats us how anyone can be having fun while they are ruining something of sentimental value.

Toy Drive

To the Editor:

We would like to inform your staff and the College that the Spanish Community Program is sponsoring a toy drive for the needy children of the Spanish Community in Passaic.

Please make a child happy by bringing a toy to our table at the Student Center on Friday, December 12-16. Otherwise you can help by dropping a coin in our kitty.

Molly Fails ‘Chicken Soup Test’

By M.J. Smith

The back cover of “Molly’s” opening night Playbill featured a picture of a large lemon. It was a most appropriate illustration.

Producers Don Saxon, Don Kaufman and George Dailey certainly gave the musical every chance. It toured the backwoods for ages. They pushed back the Broadway opening a full month. They even called in Alan Arkin to doctor up the direction. Nothing helped.

ESSENTIALLY, “Molly” is a Depression Era tale of the Bronx. Molly’s husband loses his job. Molly wants him to start a dress manufacturing business. He decided to go to California to grow grapefruit but she doesn’t want to go because “grapefruit don’t yoo-hoo.” In the end, she wins by convincing him to make two-piece swim suits from the remnants she had traded for a cemetery plot. Louis Garfinkle and Leonard Adelson’s book is just too, too heart-warming.

Kay Ballard somewhere between “The Mothers-In-Law” sitcom and this Broadway “Mama Knows Best” she lost the “i” at the end of her name makes a rather lukewarm Molly. She’s a fine singer but she’d never pass the chicken soup test.

The only cast member that really shines is Eli Mintz. Mintz created the role of Uncle David in the 1948 Broadway version of “The Goldbergs” and then did a 13 year stint in the tv series. His portrayal of the elderly uncle has moments of true sincerity which the other performances lack.

JERRY LIVINGSTON’S music is easily forgotten and no one in the audience heard the lyrics in the first place. The orchestra consistently drowned out all the singers. Perhaps after the musicians heard Leonard Adelson and Mark David’s lyrics in rehearsal they mercifully decided to spare the audience any further pain.

Grover Dale’s choreography is a bit stale with a lot of parading around punctuated by a few snappy steps from Mr. Goldberg’s business partner (Swen Swenson).

JULES FISHER’S lighting is passable although his fondness for spotlights gives parts of the show a jarring nightclub atmosphere.

'Full Circle' Barely Survives WWII Bombs

By Michael Finnegan

Air raid sirens w hile amid the drone of airplane engines. Bombs explode with deafening resonance. Flickering flashes of light illuminate a marvelous set depicting the rubble of war-torn Berlin. That's how "Full Circle" begins — and nothing else in the play nearly approaches the excitement generated by these first few moments.

To clarify, the late Erich Maria Remarque's only play deals so blandly with themes and characters so hackneyed that one can't help feeling that "we've been here before so who cares" feeling. To further clarify, "Full Circle," written by the author who dealt so passionately with the horrors of war in "All Quiet on the Western Front," is a serious disappointment.

SET IN a Berlin rooming house during the final days of World War II, the plot focuses on the disinterested wife of a resistance hero (Bibi Andersson), who escapes from a German prison camp (Leonard Nimoy). Along the way they encounter the Nazi, a Russian, a Jew, rather cynically about the approaching Russian troop advance, make mention of a black-mailing Gestapo officer and fall in love — nothing new. One senses the theme of survival no matter what the cost vs. death for one's principles — nothing new.

What is different and quite bothersome are the awkward infusions of humor into the story, which — "dramatically" set up as a tragedy. The housekeeper (Linda Carlson) bristles with excitement at the thought of being raped by Russian soldiers. Peals of laughter reverberate through the theater when the Gestapo arrive, and in trying to substantiate Nimoy's deportment stories, contact a local hospital and find it to be already captured by Russians.

The characters are so bland that the efforts of the cast are wasted. Andersson's performance as Anna is so broad and expressionless that one yearns for the subtlety and intimacy that Ingmar Bergman elicits from her in his films. For a tortured intellectual, the role of escapee Eric Rohde lacks any color or distinction and Nimoy lends a certain precision but not any fireworks.

THERE IS no cloche missed in the next characterization. Of the three Gestapo officers — one is a carking loudmouth who shouts "Shutup!" in his best Brooklynese; another is the silent, bone-cruncher gorilla type and their captain is one of those bitch, who puts his feet up on tables when he sits and tempts women with contraband liquor. When Nimoy's fellow escapee, a Jewish man, is brought in to identify him, one is treated to the classic portrayal of the half, douching water with glasses that seemed to be the popular image of WWII Jewry. As Katz the Jew, James Tolkan commits suicide in fine style, falling out a window, shouting what a "shitty spine" Hitler is.

To his credit, Otto Preminger's staging never bares but on the debit side, one is never stimulated. He fails at eliciting the emotions inherent in the spirit of Remarque's work, but rather simply relies on the crazy dialogue and surface movement to involve the viewer. Peter Stone's adaptation retains little sense of credibility and atmosphere as well as suspense. For the record, because of the terrific opening sequence, credit is due to set designer Robin Wagner, sound technician Gary Harris and Jules Fisher's lighting effects.

At the play's end, Russian soldiers reach Berlin and arrest Nimoy as a resistor of Communism. Here one sees the significance of the title "Full Circle" as Remarque saw it — the entrapped intellectual is no sooner freed from the bounds of one "ism" (Nazism) than he is forced into conflict with another (Communism), completing the eternal cycle. "Full Circle" can also suggest a doughnut — something that goes around and around — with nothing in the center.

Trucking isn’t just for truck drivers.

It’s also for college graduates.
The American trucking industry is a vast, complex, sophisticated transportation network. A network that moves almost anything you can think of. Almost anywhere you can think of.
And to keep things running smoothly, it needs people. All kinds of people. From computer analysts to cost accountants. Traffic controllers to communications specialists. People like you.
In return, trucking offers you good pay.
Plus a chance to grow fast and go as high as you want to.
Because trucking is booming. And it’s already the largest and fastest growing segment of the transportation industry. So you can start to contribute some mighty important things to the cause. Now. Not ten years from now.
How do you start a career in this dynamic business?
It’s easy, if you know where to look.
First, try your placement office. See if there are any trucking concerns interviewing. Next, check out your college placement manual for names and addresses. Finally, look to the surrounding area for companies in operation.
Find out for yourself what a great career trucking can be. Even if you don’t drive.

B.F. Goodrich has brought you this message because we’re proud to be a part of the American trucking industry. And, as a major developer of radial truck tires, torsilastic springs, caliper disc brakes and anti-lock control systems, we know our future developments—and those of the trucking industry— will depend on people like you.
Squaws Conclude Season

By John Zawoyski

Montclair State's field hockey team's inexperience was evident this season as the Squaws wound-up with a 2-5-2 record.

"This season was a rebuilding one for us. We had four returnees from last year's team, and the remainder of the squad being a combination of freshmen and first year varsity," coach Donna Olson commented as she relaxed at her desk in the Athletic Office.

"Our biggest problem was getting the ball into the net. We were well established in all parts of the field but we did not have any scorers," the coach continued.

"We had a strong schedule going against teams like Princeton and Kings College where they simply outplayed us. Our best played games were against Trenton State despite a 1-0 loss and a deadlock tie with Douglass College," Olson stated.

"Co-captains Patte McCarthy and Laura Sanson are the only members graduating. There will be a full team of returning letter winners. Several girls will attend hockey camp next summer. We expect a bright future for our team next season," Olson concluded.

THE TEAM will expect some potential from this year's JV team which turned in a 3-4 season record, lead by captain Joan Van Dorpe. The team was coached by Linda Keeney.

The varsity team had two outstanding players, Kim Hamilton and Karen Dahlstrom, both making the All-College third team.

O'Donoghue Repeats; MSC Third In CTC's

By Rich Keller

"I am very proud of Tim. He ran a very tough race," said cross country coach George Horn, while relaxing in his momento-filled office.

Horn's expression of pride resulted from Tim O'Donoghue's first place finish, a repeat of last year, and the team's third place finish, in the Collegiate Track Championships. Tim ran the race in a time of 25:24.5, which is 12 seconds off the conference record set in 1969.

THE TRIBE grabbed third place honors behind C.W. Post and Trenton State, two teams which MSC had beaten by one point and tied.

"The pain was so bad, I needed cortisone shots," stated the 21-year-old junior.

Joe Konarkowski, who placed third for the Indians, received a minor cut on his left leg early in the race, but since he did not know the seriousness of the injury, Horn stated. "It may have been in Joe's mind and could possibly have effected his race."

The third medal winner for MSC was freshman Mike Exton, who finished 10th.

Squaws Schedule Tryouts

All women students are invited to try out for the women's basketball team. Tryouts for the JV and varsity teams are scheduled for Mon., Nov. 19, at 6:30 pm in Panzer Gym.

Coach Cathy Paskert stressed that the team "is not limited to physical education majors. A lot of the women don't give themselves a chance," she added.

Last year's squad posted a 14-1 record during the regular season and won the state championship.

Let a phone share your room for only 23¢ a day.

And put an end to this.

For only $6.85 a month, plus a one-time $15.00 installation charge, you can have your own private phone. You'll be able to make and receive personal calls. Even reach other campus phones by dialing only four digits. All without going through a switchboard.

How is this possible?

Because Montclair State installed Centrex, the modern telephone service. So, look at it this way: If you and your roommate go halves, the cost is roughly 12¢ a day. Well worth it when you think about waiting in pay phone lines on those busy got-to-get-a-date-for-the-weekend nights.

Agreed?

Just pick up an application at the Housing Office. And order a phone for your room.

O'Donoghue believes that he would have won last Tuesday's NJ College and University Championships race also, if he hadn't been plagued by tendinitis of the leg respectively during the regular season.

Cowboys Rope The Men In Coed Finals

By John Delery

The sounds of footsteps and whispers could be heard, as people were pacing back and forth, back and forth waiting for something to happen. No, they weren't waiting for the doctor to announce the arrival of a new "bundle of energy" but for the start of the Montclair State Coed Intramurals Football Championships held Tuesday night at Sprague Field. Under the lights and the pre-winter weather the Cowboys cramped The Men 13-9 in a hotly-contested game.

THE COWBOYS opened the scoring when, mid-way through the first half, QB Dave Ferrerghelli spotted split end Russ Zitch in the end zone and hit him with a 33 yard pass. Ferrerghelli and Zitch continued to dupe the opponents defense throughout the game.

The second half turned into a defensive struggle. With each team having numerous chances to score but each cashed in only once. The Men finally put points on the board at 10 minutes of the second half. Gary "Anthony" Davis McGinnis took a short pass from QB Gary Kuzniack and slithered the final 10 yards into the endzone to make the score 7-6. Following a victory dance by McGinnis, Kuzniack passed for the conversion point to Joanne Lavorgna to knot the score at seven apiece.

Even though The Men wore in possession of the ball as the game ended, their luck and the time ran out simultaneously. The battle for the playoffs and the finals began about a month ago. The Cowboys, Sweet-Pups, Chapin Hall and The Men all came away deadlocked in the 10 team division, with 3-1 records. Consistently the only loss The Men had at year was to the Cowboys 14-13.

THE ROAD to the finals, though, was much easier for the Cowboys. They battered the Sweet-Pups, 41-0, while The Men squeaked by Chapin 8-6 in the last two weeks of the game.

Even though the game is called touch football there were very few differences between the sport and regular football, at least rule-wise.

As SILC President Richter explained, "Only two men can rush at a time and they must be designated before the play begins."

FOOTBALL

In the Men's Intramural Football Tournament semifinals, Phi Lambda Pi beat Epiton Phi Omega, 12-4, to take the Division I championships.

The Titans won the Division II title when they upset the Iron Dukes, 7-6.

ROUNDBALL TITLE TILT

The finals of the Three-man Basketball Tournament will be held next Wednesday in Panzer Gym at 8:00 pm. The Passionettes have locked up first place in Division I with the Raiders finishing second.

Division II is knotted with the CO's TAB and Duh all tying for the two playoff spots. TAB and Duh are tied for second place with both teams having to play one more game.

In the playoffs, the teams will cross, first place team playing second place team, and vice versa, with the winners meeting in the finals immediately following.

SUBS WANTED

Substitutes are needed for the Intramural bowling competition at the Bowlero Lanes at 4 pm on Mondays. Anyone interested in participating should come to the lanes at that time.

FREE-FOR-ALL

Panzer Gym will be open for coed volleyball on Thursday nights from 8 pm until 10:30 pm. No teams are necessary and all students are invited. Come dressed to play.

Two Down and Two To Go

By Hank Gola

The Montclair State football team is alive and doing well in the New Jersey State College Conference. The Tribe's up and down fortunes were up again at Dean Field in Ewing where they posted a 24-10 win over Trenton State, raising their record to 4-4.

Skeptic might ask how a team with a .500 percentage could possibly be in the running for conference laurels.

BUT THE Indians own a 2-0 league mark and a win over unbeaten Jersey City State would almost clinch a title. That showdown will occur at Sprague Field on Saturday at 8pm.

Last week, the Lions were tamed before 1111 windbeaten fans. The swirling gusts battered the spectators so much that they elected to take the wind instead of the ball upon winning the flip. Not one pass was attempted into the wind and punts died after 20 yards.

THE INDIANS won the game on the ground. MSC ate up the clock with multi-play drives until the spectators weren't the only group to get tired of watching them.

MSC took over on downs at their own 31. Three running plays moved the ball to the TSC 49 where the right side of the line broke Bob Hermanni for a streaking six pointer. Lajterman's PAT closed out the Indian's scoring at 24.

Hermanni had scored the first touchdown of the game on a six-yard scoot around left end. The speedy Indian ran for 134 yards, and is rapidly approaching the 1000-yd. mark for this season.

Jim Stanko kicked a 36-yard field goal to bring the Lions to 7-3, but Lajterman tied the MSC season record with a second half field goal to up the Indians' lead to 10-3.

AFTER THE two late MSC touchdowns, Trenton got a so-what score when Mike Oswald took a short pass from Bill Paskewich and ran 70 yards for the TD. Stanko converted with no time remaining to make it 24-10.

Coming on the last play of the game, it would have been a story book ending, had the game been closer. It now remains for coach Clary Anderson to dig into his playbook and find some way of beating Jersey City.

Why do some people think Bud is sort of special?

Go ahead, and find out why!
(Brewing beer right does make a difference.)

When you say Budweiser, you've said it all!
GETTING BY: MSC forward Manny Menendez puts a move on Brooklyn defenseman Whitely (17) as he heads toward the net. Menendez netted the winning goal for the Indians in second half of the 2-0 victory.

ON THE WING: MSC winger Bill Gaertner flies down the sidelines with the ball under control in Saturday's game against Adelphi University, Akiskalah, a nationally-ranked squad, will invade Brookdale Park (off Grove Street in Bloomfield) at 2 p.m. Saturday.

IF THE Brooklyn contest boiled down to a clash of wits between MSC center forward Manny Menendez and Brooklyn goalie Cyril Thomas, a battle Menendez won more than once.

The remainder of the game was played mostly in the Indians' end of the field, with Brooklyn pressing for a tie. Menendez had trouble getting shots through consistently. Thus, the game was scoreless through the first half, even though it appeared all that MSC would have to do to fill the net would be to make Thomas handle the ball.

Apparently MSC realized this and started pressuring the Brooklyn squad into making mistakes. At 16:00 of the second half, Menendez fired one of these mistakes into the net, climaxing his game-long battle of wits with Thomas.

THE PLAY started at the center of the field, with John Tkaczuk reaching over Gaertner's shoulder, swiping at the ball. Gaertner had beaten Trachtenberg when he instinctively reacted by blocking the shot. As the Indian went by, Trachtenberg turned and blocked the ball with his right hand.

As the visiting netminder would have to do to fill the net, climaxing his game-long battle of wits with Thomas.

THE SCRAPPY forward's tenacity was rewarded. As the game wore on, Thomas appeared to become more and more unsure of making simple saves, juggling the ball after making a catch and moving slowly to block the MSC shots. But the Brooklyn defense wasn't giving up that easily, and the Indians had trouble getting shots through consistently. Thus, the game was scoreless through the first half, even though it appeared all that MSC would have to do to fill the net would be to make Thomas handle the ball.
