Gas Shortage Hits Enrollment

By Nancy Patapchuk

Night class enrollment this spring is down from last semester. According to the partial returns on registration received by the registrar's office, the drop is due to the partial return of the students to obtain gas, Marshall Butler, registrar, believes.

He explained that his office received calls from students who had originally signed up for courses in the spring and were forced to withdraw entirely because of the gas shortage.

The enrollment, usually increasing 10 to 15% from the fall to spring semester, has dropped from 7500 full time day students last semester to 7200 at the present. The part time and graduate levels have increased 10 to 15% from the fall to spring semester to 7200 at the present. The 7500 full time day students last semester had no problem getting gas for themselves. As far as attendance at his classes is concerned, McClure remarked that his students seemed to have been little trouble. "Everyone is making it to class," he claimed.

The enrollment, usually increasing 10 to 15% from the fall to spring semester, has dropped from 7500 full time day students last semester to 7200 at the present. The part time and graduate levels have increased 10 to 15% from the fall to spring semester to 7200 at the present. The 7500 full time day students last semester had no problem getting gas for themselves. As far as attendance at his classes is concerned, McClure remarked that his students seemed to have been little trouble. "Everyone is making it to class," he claimed.

"I THINK that this contract gives a greater measure of job security than the faculty had previously," said Lacatena. The agreement, Bates explained, calls for a Feb. 11 walkout and a rejection of the "sellout" agreement as well as the negotiating efforts of both Bates and Lacatena.

Dr. Lucinda Long (Wanner), an instructor in the political science department, called the agreement after a Feb. 12 faculty meeting in which Lacatena discussed the general aspects of the agreement, a "wipe out" rather than a "sellout." Long was displeased with the agreement.

THE LETTER

By John Picinich

A proposed settlement in the negotiations between the Council of New Jersey State College Locals (CNJSCL) and the State Department of Higher Education averted the faculty strike planned for Monday.

CNJSCL, the bargaining agent representing the faculty of the eight state colleges, reached a tentative agreement with the state at 1 pm Sunday following round-the-clock talks during the weekend, according to Robert Bates, AFT national representative and chief negotiator.

THE EXACT details of the agreement were not released by union or state spokesmen. According to AFT sources the faculty will vote on ratification early next week.

The agreement, Bates described the agreement as "not everything we (AFT) hoped for," but hastened to add that the pact was "significant enough to warrant our (CNJSCL) recommendation as acceptable for the faculty.""It is a good first contract," said Marcoantonio Lacatena, acting CNJSCL president. "While we (AFT) received some very important things such as binding arbitration," he continued, the salary provision as a six percent raise was not as big as we (AFT) wanted, in view of inflation."

"WE (AFT/STATE negotiations) were working with William T. Cahn's budget, not governor Brendan T. Byrne's," he said.

Mary Fairbanks, public information director of the state Board of Higher Education, stated that chancellor of Higher Education Ralph Dungan seemed "pleased" with the agreement. "The department is glad that a settlement was reached without a strike," she remarked. She declined further comment.

Both Bates and Lacatena believe that the proposal will be ratified by the teachers in next week's meeting. As that meeting, according to Lacatena, the provisions of the proposed contract will be given to the faculty in detail with a question and answer period to follow, before the final voting.

Informed sources indicate that one of the key issues in the talks was job security. In fact, the AFT broke off negotiations two weeks ago and threatened to strike when the state refused to discuss that issue. The AFT demanded that the department abolish tenure quotas as well as any budget limitations that would restrict the granting of tenure to teachers who are considered for tenure after a probationary period.

"I THINK that this contract gives a greater measure of job security than the faculty had previously," said Lacatena. The agreement, Bates explained, calls for a commision to be set up by the governor's office to study the question of tenure. He stated that the commission will be composed of an equal number of AFT and state members with a governor-selected impartial chairman who will supervise the meetings.

"The commission has 45 days in which to accomplish its work," he said.

In addition to binding arbitration, the six percent pay increase and the formation of a commission, the agreement calls for additional medical benefits, an increase in overtime pay and the restoration of sabatical leaves, which the department abolished three years ago, according to AFT sources.
Carpools Lack Drive

By Dia Palmieri

Carpools, rising in popularity in light of the present gas shortage, have been formed on the MSC campus since 1971. Established by the Council on Commuter Affairs (CCA), the carpool system, according to chairman Fred Jenny, is on the whole an unsuccessful project on the MSC campus because of the poor location of the campus bulletin board.

The bulletin board which lists both drivers willing to give rides and commuters seeking rides is presently located on the first floor of the Student Center behind the rathskeller.

This location is detrimental to the success of a carpool system because it is in an area not heavily trafficked by students," Jenny said. "If the bulletin board is not in a place where it has maximum exposure many students willing to give or take rides to and from school will not be able to take advantage of the carpool system," he explained.

HEADING THE list of obstacles for a successful carpool system is that of publicity. According to Jenny the CCA had placed ads in the fall semester issue of the MONTCLARION and notices in the CCA newsletter. However, the number of carpools formed is not as great as it could be. Also the formation of carpools is strictly on a volunteer basis. The CCA has no authority to establish mandatory carpools.

According to Betsy Mitchell, a member of the CCA, there is a need to encourage more people to accept rides with other students. Although there has been an increase in the number of us pool volunteers, there are more students willing to give rides than seeking rides.

JENNY ALSO mentioned the lack of response on the part of college administrators to a CCA report. The report described proposals and suggestions for abolishing the effects of the gas shortage on campus.

"Except for Keith Kaufman, director of security, no one else has made any comment or criticism of this proposal or the report," complained Jenny. Jenny characterized Kaufman’s attitude as positive specifically about those portions of the report dealing with a small car parking lot as well as priority parking for car pool participants.

Stop Gap Cards Needed For Purchase

By Bill Gibson

and Jerry Sapienza

New mandatory state gasoline allocation guidelines, effective Feb. 11, have forced the Student Center Gulf branch to modify their operating procedures. Although sales will be limited to cars with valid MSC gasoline allocation cards, the station will enforce the odd-even system of alternate sales days as well as the guideline specifying less than half a tank of fuel before fuel may be purchased.

According to new regulations issued by the center, service will be limited to cars with a valid allocation card. Hours have been cut to 11:30 am to 8:30 pm on Mondays and Tuesdays. Sales will be limited to a $5 purchase per week. Cards will be punched to prevent duplicate sales.

GAS ALLOCATION cards, valid to August, will be issued to all students by the center policy board. Although the new state laws prevent the sale of gasoline on a regular customer basis only, MSC officials are certain that the sale restriction to cars with cards is within the law.

"WE ARE OPERATING under a state law that allows the college to regulate the traffic on campus and to enforce any rules used in this regulation," explained Vincent Calabrese, vice-president for administration and finance. Michael Loewenthal, Student Center director, explained that the station was servicing the entire college community, not just regular customers.

Both Calabrese and Loewenthal pointed out that if the station were open to the general public, the volume of additional cars, especially during crisis periods, would effectively stop all traffic on and around the campus area.

LOEWEANTHAL said that the monthly gasoline allocation of the station is renegotiated each month according to the present federal guidelines. The station then receives a

1. This card is to be purchased once a week depending on available supplies.
2. Actual amount which can be purchased depends on weekly allocations supplied from the supplier.
3. Gasoline is not a guarantee that gas will be available.
4. No station will give you the right to purchase more gas than you have allocation for.
5. Lost cards WILL NOT be replaced.
6. Any alteration of this card will not give you the right to purchase gasoline.
7. Gasoline may be purchased once a week depending on available supplies.
8. Actual amount which can be purchased depends on weekly allocations supplied from the supplier.
9. Gasoline is not a guarantee that gas will be available.
10. This card not transferable.

Carpools, rising in popularity in light of the present gas shortage, have been formed on the MSC campus since 1971. Established by the Council on Commuter Affairs (CCA), the carpool system, according to chairman Fred Jenny, is on the whole an unsuccessful project on the MSC campus because of the poor location of the campus bulletin board.

The bulletin board which lists both drivers willing to give rides and commuters seeking rides is presently located on the first floor of the Student Center behind the rathskeller.

This location is detrimental to the success of a carpool system because it is in an area not heavily trafficked by students," Jenny said. "If the bulletin board is not in a place where it has maximum exposure many students willing to give or take rides to and from school will not be able to take advantage of the carpool system," he explained.

HEADING THE list of obstacles for a successful carpool system is that of publicity. According to Jenny the CCA had placed ads in the fall semester issue of the MONTCLARION and notices in the CCA newsletter. However, the number of carpools formed is not as great as it could be. Also the formation of carpools is strictly on a volunteer basis. The CCA has no authority to establish mandatory carpools.

According to Betsy Mitchell, a member of the CCA, there is a need to encourage more people to accept rides with other students. Although there has been an increase in the number of us pool volunteers, there are more students willing to give rides than seeking rides.

JENNY ALSO mentioned the lack of response on the part of college administrators to a CCA report. The report described proposals and suggestions for abolishing the effects of the gas shortage on campus.

"Except for Keith Kaufman, director of security, no one else has made any comment or criticism of this proposal or the report," complained Jenny. Jenny characterized Kaufman’s attitude as positive specifically about those portions of the report dealing with a small car parking lot as well as priority parking for car pool participants.

Stop Gap Cards Needed For Purchase

By Bill Gibson

and Jerry Sapienza

New mandatory state gasoline allocation guidelines, effective Feb. 11, have forced the Student Center Gulf branch to modify their operating procedures. Although sales will be limited to cars with valid MSC gasoline allocation cards, the station will enforce the odd-even system of alternate sales days as well as the guideline specifying less than half a tank of fuel before fuel may be purchased.

According to new regulations issued by the center, service will be limited to cars with a valid allocation card. Hours have been cut to 11:30 am to 8:30 pm on Mondays and Tuesdays. Sales will be limited to a $5 purchase per week. Cards will be punched to prevent duplicate sales.

GAS ALLOCATION cards, valid to August, will be issued to all students by the center policy board. Although the new state laws prevent the sale of gasoline on a regular customer basis only, MSC officials are certain that the sale restriction to cars with cards is within the law.

"WE ARE OPERATING under a state law that allows the college to regulate the traffic on campus and to enforce any rules used in this regulation," explained Vincent Calabrese, vice-president for administration and finance. Michael Loewenthal, Student Center director, explained that the station was servicing the entire college community, not just regular customers.

Both Calabrese and Loewenthal pointed out that if the station were open to the general public, the volume of additional cars, especially during crisis periods, would effectively stop all traffic on and around the campus area.

LOEWEANTHAL said that the monthly gasoline allocation of the station is renegotiated each month according to the present federal guidelines. The station then receives a

1. This card is to be purchased once a week depending on available supplies.
2. Actual amount which can be purchased depends on weekly allocations supplied from the supplier.
3. Gasoline is not a guarantee that gas will be available.
4. No station will give you the right to purchase more gas than you have allocation for.
5. Lost cards WILL NOT be replaced.
6. Any alteration of this card will not give you the right to purchase gasoline.
7. Gasoline may be purchased once a week depending on available supplies.
8. Actual amount which can be purchased depends on weekly allocations supplied from the supplier.
9. Gasoline is not a guarantee that gas will be available.
10. This card not transferable.

Carpools, rising in popularity in light of the present gas shortage, have been formed on the MSC campus since 1971. Established by the Council on Commuter Affairs (CCA), the carpool system, according to chairman Fred Jenny, is on the whole an unsuccessful project on the MSC campus because of the poor location of the campus bulletin board.

The bulletin board which lists both drivers willing to give rides and commuters seeking rides is presently located on the first floor of the Student Center behind the rathskeller.

This location is detrimental to the success of a carpool system because it is in an area not heavily trafficked by students," Jenny said. "If the bulletin board is not in a place where it has maximum exposure many students willing to give or take rides to and from school will not be able to take advantage of the carpool system," he explained.

HEADING THE list of obstacles for a successful carpool system is that of publicity. According to Jenny the CCA had placed ads in the fall semester issue of the MONTCLARION and notices in the CCA newsletter. However, the number of carpools formed is not as great as it could be. Also the formation of carpools is strictly on a volunteer basis. The CCA has no authority to establish mandatory carpools.

According to Betsy Mitchell, a member of the CCA, there is a need to encourage more people to accept rides with other students. Although there has been an increase in the number of us pool volunteers, there are more students willing to give rides than seeking rides.

JENNY ALSO mentioned the lack of response on the part of college administrators to a CCA report. The report described proposals and suggestions for abolishing the effects of the gas shortage on campus.

"Except for Keith Kaufman, director of security, no one else has made any comment or criticism of this proposal or the report," complained Jenny. Jenny characterized Kaufman’s attitude as positive specifically about those portions of the report dealing with a small car parking lot as well as priority parking for car pool participants.

Stop Gap Cards Needed For Purchase

By Bill Gibson

and Jerry Sapienza

New mandatory state gasoline allocation guidelines, effective Feb. 11, have forced the Student Center Gulf branch to modify their operating procedures. Although sales will be limited to cars with valid MSC gasoline allocation cards, the station will enforce the odd-even system of alternate sales days as well as the guideline specifying less than half a tank of fuel before fuel may be purchased.

According to new regulations issued by the center, service will be limited to cars with a valid allocation card. Hours have been cut to 11:30 am to 8:30 pm on Mondays and Tuesdays. Sales will be limited to a $5 purchase per week. Cards will be punched to prevent duplicate sales.

GAS ALLOCATION cards, valid to August, will be issued to all students by the center policy board. Although the new state laws prevent the sale of gasoline on a regular customer basis only, MSC officials are certain that the sale restriction to cars with cards is within the law.

"WE ARE OPERATING under a state law that allows the college to regulate the traffic on campus and to enforce any rules used in this regulation," explained Vincent Calabrese, vice-president for administration and finance. Michael Loewenthal, Student Center director, explained that the station was servicing the entire college community, not just regular customers.

Both Calabrese and Loewenthal pointed out that if the station were open to the general public, the volume of additional cars, especially during crisis periods, would effectively stop all traffic on and around the campus area.

LOEWEANTHAL said that the monthly gasoline allocation of the station is renegotiated each month according to the present federal guidelines. The station then receives a

1. This card is to be purchased once a week depending on available supplies.
2. Actual amount which can be purchased depends on weekly allocations supplied from the supplier.
3. Gasoline is not a guarantee that gas will be available.
4. No station will give you the right to purchase more gas than you have allocation for.
5. Lost cards WILL NOT be replaced.
6. Any alteration of this card will not give you the right to purchase gasoline.
7. Gasoline may be purchased once a week depending on available supplies.
8. Actual amount which can be purchased depends on weekly allocations supplied from the supplier.
9. Gasoline is not a guarantee that gas will be available.
10. This card not transferable.
SC Pub's Future Still Pending

By Bill Gibson

A decision on MSC's application for a beer and wine license to be used for the Student Center rathskeller is expected to be handed down by the NJ Alcoholic Beverage Control soon, possibly within the next two weeks, according to David Conrad, the Student Faculty Coop's attorney.

Conrad said that on Feb. 4, Joseph Lerner, Public Hearing examiner, had handed over to the attorneys for both parties copies of his recommendation report. Lerner is also the chief deputy director of the ABC.

Both attorneys will have ten days, until Feb. 14, to submit lists of changes and exceptions to the report. Copies of these will then be made available to the state and the opposite party.

The attorneys will then have a period of five days, until Feb. 19, to study the lists of proposed changes and exceptions submitted by the opposing side. By the end of this period they must submit their final list of proposals for changes and exceptions to the state.

The report, with the final list of proposed changes and exceptions, will then be turned over to Robert Brover, state ABC director. It is expected that Brover will hand down the decision within four days of the receipt of the report, explained Conrad.

Such a decision is not final since either side is allowed to file an appeal of the ABC's ruling. This could lead to reconsideration or reversal of the decision.

If the license is granted to the college, operations in the rathskeller could begin soon afterward. However, the opening could be delayed by possible appeals.

"As soon as we are legally able, we will open the rathskeller," explained Michael Loewenthal, Center director. "We will move as quickly as possible without placing the operation in jeopardy," he stressed.

The NJ Alcoholic Beverage Control has rejected an application by Glassboro State College for a liquor license to be used in the Student Center rathskeller and formal dining room. This action was taken despite approval of the license by the Glassboro Borough Council in early January.

Approval of the license by the town allowed the college to make a formal application to the ABC for a club license. This license would permit the sale of all alcoholic beverages in the Center's rathskeller and formal dining areas.

The ABC rejected the application because of a statutory prohibition of the sale of liquor in a public building.

Upon receipt of the rejection, however, the GSC Cooperative Association, which runs the two facilities, will be entitled to file a request for a hearing. They are expected to do so within 30 days, in an effort to have the license review appeal moved to occur as quickly as possible.

Ben Aシュer, GSC SGA president, expects the club license to be denied but is confident that GSC will be able to obtain a beer and wine license.

Legal Services Available to Students

By Carol Epstein

SGA attorneys are still seeking a solution to legal problems that receive their attention from students and staff members.

"It is a very busy time," said Conrad, "but we are trying to have the attorneys work more efficiently.

The attorneys stress that there is a need for referrals. They are able to offer counseling and to handle most legal questions, including immigration, discrimination, employment, motor vehicle, discrimination, employment, motor vehicle, immigration, discrimination, employment, motor vehicle, discrimination, employment, motor vehicle, discrimination, employment, motor vehicle, immigration, and small business requirements.

In the best interests of the free counseling service, a provision in the contract between the SGA and the lawyers prevents them from accepting any counseled student as future paying clients.

LOEWENTHAL VERIFIED

that the actual physical plant of the rathskeller is almost ready and for use, with the exception of the kitchen. He expects this to be ready by September 15.

In addition to the physical readiness preparations, stock, personnel and administrative details must also be worked out. Loewenthal emphasized that this would begin only after legal actions were complete and the college had a clear go-ahead to begin operations.

Library Director Submits Resignation

Dr. John R. Beard, director of the Harry A. Sprague Library, has resigned his position effective in September. When contacted at his New York City home on Tuesday, Beard declined to give a reason for his resignation.

Dr. Irvin Gavely, vice president for academic affairs, announced on Feb. 4 that Beard had requested a leave of absence for the remainder of the 1973-74 academic year and would not be returning to the college.

BLANCHARD HALLER, associate director of public services, has been appointed interim director. A search committee is currently being formulated to appoint a permanent director.

In a release from Gavely's office, Beard was praised: "We all appreciate the growth of the library collection, the expansion of library services and the improvement of library facilities that have taken place under his direction."

Beard had been director of the library for nine years since his appointment in September 1965. Prior to receiving the post, he had served as Director of Library Development Sciences for UNESCO for three years.

A NATIVE of Canada, Beard received his BA from the University of British Columbia and his bachelor of library sciences from the University of Toronto. He earned his doctorate in library sciences from Columbia University.

Beard also served as chairman of the college section of the Association of College and University Libraries from 1972-73 and is currently on the executive committee of the association.

When asked what his immediate future plans were, Beard replied, "I plan to take another position which I am presently negotiating for." He declined to comment on the nature of the position, but did remark that he would be remaining in the metropolitan area.

SC Offices Shuffled Again

By Kim Bogart

Once again the fourth floor offices of the Student Center have been shuffled. The changes were decided upon during the end of the Fall semester and the Winter Session by the Center Policy Board.

The SGA has moved from its front left wing offices to more expanded office complexes in the back left wing and the Koshan Karate-do Club and the Student Intramural Leisure Council (BILC) have been granted space and share the office right off the elevator.

A Betty Ann O'Keefe, chairwoman of the board, said that all the office moves were the result of space made available by the moving of the Faculty-Student Co-op from the Center to quieter offices on the second floor of Life Hall.

According to O'Keefe, Vincent Calabrese, vice-president for administration and finance, came to the policy board and asked that the office change be made. The policy board agreed and thus "a lot of space was made available."

O'Keefe explained that many organizations had applied for space. Some
By Jerry Sapienza

"Today, it is not enough to identify a problem, the key is in implementing a solution," said Dr. Wally Rentsch, director of the Office of Environmental Programs at Montclair State.

As head of MSC's environmental programs Rentsch realizes that students must have a feel for the ecological problems that face society and the challenges they face in correcting these problems.

WORKING WITH Rentsch is Dr. John J. Kirk, director of the School of Conservation (SOC). The SOC operates a year round program of studies designed to enable students to gain field experience in conservation.

MSC's program of environmental studies expanded in the last two years with the acquisition of the New Jersey School of Conservation in 1972. Located on a $4 million complex in Stokes State Forest near Branchville, NJ, MSC's SOC is the second largest environmental studies center in the world. It also operates on an international level, recently having been named a sister-center to the Osaka Youth Activities Center, the world's largest environmental studies facility, by the Japanese government. "Actually, we're probably better known in Tokyo than anywhere else," quipped Kirk.

THE SOC offers courses and field trips for students ranging in age from kindergarten to graduate students and this year expects approximately 10,000 resident students to participate in studies lasting from two and one half to 10 days.

The range in ages of the students attending the SOC is the widest in the world.

Both Rentsch and Kirk see the need for students to have actual field experience in ecology and ecological problem solving so as to realize the red tape involved. Solutions to the problems are not easy to come by. Currently, MSC offers a masters program in environmental studies and encourages students from diverse academic disciplines to matriculate in the program. For the undergraduate, there is a minor available in the field.

According to Kirk, the program that has been set up is dedicated to developing an "awareness of the natural environment and a sensitivity to it."

By Susan Koenig

Paid full-time career-directed employment is offered to juniors and seniors at Jersey City State College for nine credit hours.

A dial-a-job system, which offers graduates the opportunity to dial into the college's dial access audio tape bank to obtain the most recent professional job opportunities, is also offered by the Career Planning and Placement Center in charge of cooperative education.

FRANK CAPONE head of the center, said in a recent telephone conversation, that the programs are "absolutely home runs!"

The types of jobs range from management trainee programs to work at fisheries. According to Capone, 80% of the 102 students who have completed the co-op course have continued in their jobs upon graduating.

Forty-nine students are enrolled this semester in the employment course, referred to as co-op. The course consists of 15 weeks of a full-time, salaried job for which the students receive six credits on a pass-fail basis. The students then attend a seminar for three credits, which is letter graded and usually includes term papers and meetings with their cooperating teachers.

"We don't want automation to take over our office. We want to keep the personal, one to one communication (between student and job placement counselor) but when we aren't available the dial access is available," Capone said.

DIAL A special number at Jersey City State between the months of May and September, seven days a week, 24 hours a day, and an audio tape will inform the caller as to the types of full-time jobs available. The tape will relate the job description, starting date, salary, the person to contact and the phone number.

We're Not Monkeying Around Anymore!

Coming in the spring, WMSC-fm, stereo 90.3, serving the North Jersey area with popular music, local and campus news and sports. Meanwhile, give us a listen on WMSC, 590 am, broadcasting to the dormitories and the Student Center.
Recreation, Parking, Facilities to Expand

By John Zawoyski

Horseshoe pits, a motorcycle and small car parking lot, are the projects set forth by Jerry Quinn, director of institutional planning, for the student center and across from the gas station.

"Construction should begin in April if the weather permits," Quinn said.

He feels the project will result in a safer intersection from the road leading to the quarry. "There will be a larger turning radius and will be much more convenient for vehicles to move more freely. The curbs will be modified to be less dangerous. The project will also improve traffic," the director commented.

LIFE HALL MALL won't look like this soon. It is scheduled for renovation starting in March. Additional lighting and landscaping will be done as well as the elimination of roadways.

Ethnic Survey Taken

By Mark Mulick

A questionnaire requesting information on ethnic background has been circulated among all faculty and staff of MSC by the Affirmative Action Office.

Anita Walters, acting director of Affirmative Action, explained that "the purpose of the questionnaire is to determine the number of women and members of minority groups presently employed by MSC and the level of their jobs."

WALTERS EMPHASIZED that Affirmative Action is not involved in actually hiring people, and that is the responsibility of the individual departments. She continued, "Our job is to see if that special efforts are made to recruit and hire women, blacks, Hispanics, Indians, Orientals and members of any minorities which have been traditionally discriminated against."

The survey is important, Walters explained, because the federal government will withhold funds unless an effort is made to achieve racial balance. This could mean a loss of $2 million which was the 1973 allocation, Walters speculated.

"MSC has set up a specific timetable in achieving racial balance," Walters stated. She mentioned that a survey during the 1972-73 school year showed that 29.2% of MSC employees are women and 7.6% are minority group members.

CLASSIFIED

A DISTRESSING PREGNANCY?

CALL BIRTHRIGHT, 375-6040.

EARN UP TO $1500 a year working on campus in spare time. Send name, address, phone and school to:

Coordinator of Campus Representatives, P.O. Box 606, Ann Arbor, MI 48107.

Call (313) 662-5575.
Which Way?

Every day is moving day at the Student Center. Or so it seems. Take the plight of College Life Union Board (CLUB), for example. When the Center first opened, CLUB had a small office right off the elevator. It was an ideal spot because everyone stepping off the lift walked towards CLUB first.

Then the administrative offices took over that entire wing of the Center and CLUB was shuffled off to an office in the far and rather remote reaches of the building. CLUB's current home is located where the SGA reception office used to be until the SGA took over the complex of offices that included CLUB.

Confused? It gets better.

LaCampana, the yearbook, agreed to shift its production office to the second floor of Life Hall so as to be nearer to the yearbook darkroom. However, the annual must do without being in the mainstream of the other student organizations.

Galumph, whose future is shaky as it is (see below), has been combined with Quarterly to a hole in the wall which has enough space to house a desk and little more.

The Karate Club and Student Intramural Leisure Council (SILC) have reaped the benefits of that elevator adjacent office.

The point of this? The big question is WHY? What is the sense of establishing an office if it's just going to be moved tomorrow?

Granted, student needs change. The growth of the Karate Club and SILC in membership commands a space necessary to transact business. But why the changes every semester?

And why not have this board consider the future a little? Instead of assigning an office with the thought that roots could be and SILC in membership commands a space necessary to transact purposes and goals in mind and not with the idea of creating as much chaos as possible.

The fourth floor is not a doll's house to be played with. It is a mainstream of the other student organizations.

Uprooting an organization wastes time and effort and disrupts the normal functioning of that office.

The fourth floor is not a doll's house to be played with. It is a place of business, a microcosm of industry and should be treated as such. The efforts of the policy board should work with these purposes and goals in mind and not with the idea of creating as much chaos as possible.

Humor Needed

The movement to do away with Galumph has come to light in concrete action: a bill in the SGA. The bill calls for the dissolution of Galumph as a Class One organization but makes no effort to formulate general policy for the Center in accordance with established college policies as well as to establish and maintain an active liaison with the college community and organizations operating within the Center. This is hoped to ensure essential coordination and give the fullest satisfaction to the users of the Center. All students are welcome to come to the policy board office on the fourth floor to discuss problems or issues concerning the Center.

Another road of student input into the policy board is offered through the board's monthly meetings, open to the entire student body. It meets each Monday at 5 pm in the Purple Conference Room on the fourth floor. All interested students are encouraged to attend.

Questions have been raised by students concerning the Center's financial procedures. Bonds for the $5 million structure were floated by the New Jersey Educational Facilities Authority (NJEFA) and in turn the authority has leased the building to the MSC Board of Trustees. The board has in turn leased the Center to the Faculty-Student Co-op.

These bonds are being paid by student fees and revenue produced by functions within the Center. The policy board is presently concerned with determining the policy and procedures of the Golf Station so that it may function to meet the needs of students.

BETTY ANN O'KEEFE

Policy Board Seeks Input

The Student Center Policy Board is a body of 11 students which consists of representatives from various organizations and also includes two students appointed by the SGA to represent the student body at-large.

The following list includes the organization's representatives and the students fulfilling the positions: SGA president, Angelo Genova; Executive board, Bud Schultalber; Council on Commuter Affairs (CCA), Ned Nebbia; Residence Hall Federation (RHF) Betty Cunningham; Investigative reporters employed by a well-known newspaper discovered that this President had hired a man to write and distribute material containing slanderous lies about leaders of the opposition party. When the man who had performed the regular board task was threatened to confess his misdeeds and implicate the President, he was paid to remain silent.

Privately, the chief executive complained bitterly that freedom of the press was being abused by his "enemies" in the newspapers. He pondered various methods for altering the First Amendment so that the government could force the press to turn down its criticism.

Meanwhile, the President continued to impugn the patriotism of his opponents, accusing them of holding "un-American" beliefs which were a menace to the Constitution. One of his most outspoken critics was indicted on charges of disloyalty and a celebrated trial ensued. Seemingly unobscured by the case, the President trampled over civil liberties in his rush to amassed evidence for the prosecution.

The policy board's role is in formulating general policy for the Center in accordance with established college policies as well as to establish and maintain an active liaison with the college community and organizations operating within the Center. It is hoped to ensure essential coordination and give the fullest satisfaction to the users of the Center. All students are welcome to come to the policy board office on the fourth floor to discuss problems or issues concerning the Center.

Mike Lynch

Even Nixon Has Traditions

Once upon a time, there was an ambitious man who rose to become the most powerful politician in the Republican Party. Having served as vice president, he was elected to the Presidency by a narrow margin; four years later he was re-elected in a landslide victory. He was particularly popular among Southern voters, who knew that this President would not do a thing to advance the status of blacks.

Although claiming to be a "strict constructionist" who adhered to the letter of the Constitution, the President never allowed this document to hinder his exercise of power. During his tenure unprecedented authority was concentrated in his office, especially in the field of foreign policy. While skillfully avoiding any open conflict with the two major powers threatening America's security, he waged an undeclared war on a faraway continent.

DIRTY TRICKS

Investigative reporters employed by a well-known newspaper discovered that this President had hired a man to write and distribute material containing slanderous lies about leaders of the opposition party. When the man who had performed the regular board task was threatened to confess his misdeeds and implicate the President, he was paid to remain silent.

Privately, the chief executive complained bitterly that freedom of the press was being abused by his "enemies" in the newspapers. He pondered various methods for altering the First Amendment so that the government could force the press to turn down its criticism.

Meanwhile, the President continued to impugn the patriotism of his opponents, accusing them of holding "un-American" beliefs which were a menace to the Constitution. One of his most outspoken critics was indicted on charges of disloyalty and a celebrated trial ensued. Seemingly unobscured by the case, the President trampled over civil liberties in his rush to amassed evidence for the prosecution.

IMPEACHMENT

Eventually, the defendant went free and the President's flagrant disregard for due process provided possible grounds for impeachment. The President justified his illegal actions by declaring, "Public officials must be prepared to go beyond the law when the preservation of order requires it."

In 1789, all this happened some 170 years ago. The "dirty tricks" operative was a man named James Callendar, the newspaper which exposed his scheme was a New York Journal called The Wasp. The major powers were Britain and France and the war was fought along the Barbary coast of North Africa.

The targets of the smear were George Washington, John Adams and Alexander Hamilton. The critic indicted on these charges was Aaron Burr, U.S. vice-president. The President of the United States was none other than Thomas Jefferson.

BETTY ANN O'KEEFE

Policy Board Seeks Input
Reportage

Self-Gain Behind Moves

By Scott Winter

Well friends, it looks like it is time to play musical offices on the Student Center fourth floor again. It seems that the Student Center Policy Board cannot find contentment in any arrangement of offices on the floor. I have noticed that the policy board's chairwoman, Barry Ann O'Keefe, has a great and important dictate in the decisions for which organization receives office space.

HISTORY

When Bruce Conforth, former editor of Quarterly, was chairman, Quarterly got a brand new office which was bigger than the one they previously had had. Now that Conforth is gone (may he rest in peace wherever he is) O'Keefe is chairwoman and the floor has once again been totally remodeled. Now, during the new reign, Quarterly has returned to its cubbyhole and SGA is taking over four offices: Quarterly's second office; CLUB; the policy board and a new office yet to be completed, which is part of the space originally allocated the MONTCLARION. In addition there are many new organizations which receive office space.

The most unessential of these organizations, it seems to me, is the Karate Club, which now has an office across from the elevator (an ideal spot). Chairwoman O'Keefe just happens to be an active member of that club.

Why cannot someone arrive at one arrangement of offices that will satisfy everyone and make it final? Why must all these clubs which are concerned with only a small part of the student population get office space when there are better ways to use the space? Why must people use their high positions to requisition things they want, while neglecting the needs of the whole student community? Someone please give me an answer to the question.

Next time: The Student Center Administrators and a better plan for the Student Center fourth floor.

Angelo Genova

A faculty walkout has been averted; our campus returns to serenity and apathy; or do we?

The New Jersey Student Association has been successful in bringing to bear adequate pressure to influence both parties to come to terms. I believe we have had an impact on the collective bargaining process. We have brought student concerns and demands to the attention of both the union and the state. Some credit is due to NSA for its third party efforts in averting the strike.

Two Days In The Life

It seems as nightmarish as the horrors of an Edgar Allan Poe short story. It is also as unbelievable as pure fantasy. But the fact remains that on Tuesday Russian author Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn was arrested and yesterday he was deported.

The Kremlin has seemingly clucked its slowly improving relations with the West down the drain in this blatant silencing of a writer in his own country. Solzhenitsyn has been repeatedly praised in the West for his content and style of writing. However, the Nobel prize-winner has been repeatedly characterized as an enemy of the people in Russia by her propaganda machine, the radio, television and newspapers. This was a sure sign that his days in the Soviet Union were numbered.

The SGA will not sit idly and watch this occur. We expect input and will take any measure to ensure it.
The page contains a mix of articles and notices. Here is a structured representation:

Mandranke Scores Success At Festival

By Hal Plain with Bob Titus

The Major Theatre Series production, "The Mandranke," was well received by both audiences and judges at Hofstra Playhouse on Saturday evening, January 26. The MSC production, one of five productions performed in the Region XII Finals, which were directed by Alan Clarey. It was followed by a critique session for all judges at Hofstra Playhouse. The judges were from one of the Oswego State students whose show had been well received by both audiences and the festival, saw another original work, "The Soft Touch" presented by Douglass College of Rutgers University. The show directed by Jack Bertbenner and performed on Friday afternoon received much praise and is a strong contender for a JFK invitation. Friday evening brought a production of "The Physician In Spite of Himself," by State University College, Brockport, New York. The show was directed by Carol Lorenzo.

SATURDAY THE final day of the festival, saw another original piece, "The Revenger’s Tragedy," by Oswego State College, Oswego, NY, poorly received by audience and critics. The show, a satire of Shakespearean drama, failed to reach the spectators. The number of fine individual performances and a varying ending that left most of the cast stranded, brought down the final jibe at the tidy endings of Shakespeare.

In the evening, the final session of the weekend included guest speaker Margaret Hamilton, the well remembered Wicked Witch of the West in "The Wizard of Oz," and the presentation of the Irene Ryan Foundation Scholarship for the best individual performance of the festival. Sheryl Lee Ralph of Douglass was the winner for her performance in "The Soft Touch." Following the closing formalities, "The Mandranke," was presented to a soundly appreciative audience.

Dr. Jerome Rockwood, director of the show noted that his actors were "in top shape and paid up" for the show. We received more laughs," commented Rockwood after a somewhat longer than usual performance of the show. The judges seemed to agree in the post-show critique session where they lauded the concept and execution of the show, noting especially the "cartoon-like" set by W. Scott MacConnell.

ONE INCIDENT that marred the final critique was an outburst from one of the Oswego State students whose show had been strongly criticized by the panel. He felt the judges had been harsh in their comments and made a bid for the Oswego State students to walk out of the session. A few left although the majority remained despite their disappointment.

The American College Theatre Festival, chaired by Peggy Wood, Founding Chairman, D. Robert Kase, Honorary Chairman and Leonard Levine, Chairman, will hold its final selection session at the end of February to choose the ten finalists who will perform at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts during the third week of April.

---

Fifties Child, Very "Now"

By Marty Yospe

He came out on stage informally dressed in blue jeans, a black sports shirt, orange sweater, brown belt, a blue handkerchief in his back pocket, and wearing sneakers, and the audience laughed and applauded in anticipation. With the opening line, "Who else but one other than Robert Klein, the "Child of the Fifties." Klein was performed his first public appearance on a college campus in the metropolitan area since he resigned his post as Attorney General of the United States last May. Prior to entering MSC, Podence studied piano with the late Jerry Pasquali and has studied with Dorothy Priising and has studied harp with Rosalie Pratt. Recently she presented a piano program for the "Listen to Me" club, a group of well-known authors from the Montclair High School and last spring played for the National Harp Convention held at M.S.C.

Organist Karen Kahn will perform in her senior recital on Wed., Feb. 20 at 8:15 pm in Memorial Auditorium. Her program will include Bach's "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" and selections from the "Orgelbuchlein." In addition, "Sonata in C Minor," the "Adagio" from Widor's "Symphony No. 5 in F Minor," "Two works from Pieces in Free Style," and "Festal Song" by Seth Bingham, will be performed.

Pianist, Lonni Holland, a guest soloist with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, will appear with the Montclair High School Orchestra, at 2 p.m., at $5.50 by phone from the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra at 624-8203 or at the door, and cost $2 with presentation of SGA ID.

In RECITAL

Pianist-harpist Helen Podence will be presenting her senior recital tonight at 8:15 pm in McEachern Hall. A graduate of Saddle Brook High School, Podence will play solo piano works by Bach, Beethoven and Ravel and a solo harp composition by Ferenc Horvath. Cellist Karen Hoogerhyde will join the recitalist in Mendelssohn's "Sonata in D Major for Cello and Piano Nr. 1." Prior to entering MSC, Podence studied piano with the late Jerry Pasquali. At College, Podence has added piano to her talents as Barbara Harris and Alan Alda, in 1965. "I learned everything, discipline, improvisation and the art of working up a comic routine. It matured me as a performer," Klein admitted.

Robert Klein can Impacn Nixon Immediately

"Second City," from which came such talents as Barbara Harris and Alan Alda, in 1965. "I learned everything, discipline, improvisation and the art of working up a comic routine. It matured me as a performer," Klein commented. "Nixon would go, because it is a question of the possible impeachment of Richard M. Nixon, Klein said. Emphasizing that money matters should be instituted in the House of Representatives. Klein stated that the President has no right to impound funds. "It is a good idea to impeach Nixon, immediately, as far as I am concerned," Klein remarked.

KLEIN SPOKE with conviction that "Nixon would go, unfortunately, but not that he should go, because it is a question of the pragmatism-the Republicans will not be able to elect him as President."

Contrasting tv and live performing, Klein concluded that "colleges are a pretty good audience," generally an "automatic winner" with him, whereas tv is "very restricted" as to the type and content of comedy material. Klein has noted a change in college students in recent years: "Booze is back, demonstrational politics is out, while fraternities are on the rise." Klein's upcoming recording album "Mind over Matter" will come out in a few weeks, evaluated other current comics and Klein said, "Chong does not impress him because their punch lines are connected with marijuana smoking," Klein concluded. "But Chong does not impress him because their punch lines are connected with marijuana smoking," Klein said. "But Chong does not impress him because their punch lines are connected with marijuana smoking." But Klein admitted that "they were first in that area and they deserve their success." About George Carlin, an individual he really respects, Klein confided, "I like watching George and I think he feels the same about me." KLEIN SAID that his biggest break came when he joined the Chicago improvisational company "Second City," from which came such talents as Barbara Harris and Alan Alda, in 1965. "I learned everything, discipline, improvisation and the art of working up a comic routine. It matured me as a performer," Klein said. Emphasizing that money matters should be instituted in the House of Representatives. Klein stated that the President has no right to impound funds. "It is a good idea to impeach Nixon, immediately, as far as I am concerned," Klein remarked.

KLEIN SPOKE with conviction that "Nixon would go, unfortunately, but not that he should go, because it is a question of the pragmatism—the Republicans will not be able to elect him as President."

Contrasting tv and live performing, Klein concluded that "colleges are a pretty good audience," generally an "automatic winner" with him, whereas tv is "very restricted" as to the type and content of comedy material. Klein has noted a change in college students in recent years: "Booze is back, demonstrational politics is out, while fraternities are on the rise." Klein's upcoming recording album "Mind over Matter" will come out in a few weeks, evaluated other current comics and Klein said, "Chong does not impress him because their punch lines are connected with marijuana smoking," Klein concluded. "But Chong does not impress him because their punch lines are connected with marijuana smoking," Klein said. "But Chong does not impress him because their punch lines are connected with marijuana smoking." But Klein admitted that "they were first in that area and they deserve their success." About George Carlin, an individual he really respects, Klein confided, "I like watching George and I think he feels the same about me." KLEIN SAID that his biggest break came when he joined the Chicago improvisational company "Second City," from which came such talents as Barbara Harris and Alan Alda, in 1965. "I learned everything, discipline, improvisation and the art of working up a comic routine. It matured me as a performer," Klein said. Emphasizing that money matters should be instituted in the House of Representatives. Klein stated that the President has no right to impound funds. "It is a good idea to impeach Nixon, immediately, as far as I am concerned," Klein remarked.
By Mike Finnegan

When an actor excels beyond all expectations, his performance uplifts the entire production. In "The Last Detail," performed at the Montclair Theatre Company, Nicholson delivers such a portrayal in "The Last Detail," uplifting that film to become a solid, gritty, slice-of-life entertainment.

Nicholson literally envelops the role of Buddusky (nicknamed "B-adass"), a career Navy sailor who, with another "lifer," is assigned to escort a young recruit to Portsmouth Naval Prison, where the 18-year-old will serve an eight-year sentence for the attempted pilfering of a charity collection box. He admirably captures the gruff grandpiness of a lifetime Navy man, dignified over having to carry out "this s--t detail." But the kid's poignancy and lonely nature persuades him that a little horseplay on route wouldn't hurt.

THE ACTOR of "Easy Rider" and "Five Easy Pieces" fame differs from the rather colorless intellectual image of his past films to slip deeply into a different role, that of a contended "gob" who has asked no questions and has complained only half-heartedly as so as not to rock the boat.

So many scenes in his performance stand out: the grumpy, unshaven, cigar-chewing Buddusky freezing in the wintry cold outside a crowded restaurant, the impassioned provocateur of a brawl with Army men in the lavatory of a New York terminal, the leering visitor perusing the wars in a seedy whorehouse, the elation just in guzzling down a six-pack of beer. All of these add up to a finely studied, totally engrossing portrait.

Also escorting the young sailor to jail is "Mule," accurately played by Otis Young. He is also commented with his life and disgusted with this lousy detail, but he is not a militant black, just a proud man, doing his job as he sees it. Neither "Mule" nor Buddusky could foresee the attachment that would develop between them.

RANDY QUAID captures the awkwardness and loneliness of Meadowlark, a young kid sailor, whose attempted theft gets him imprisoned and dishonorably discharged. He doesn't suit the appearance of an 18 year-old, and in scenes with a young prostitute comes up as extremely clumsy-looking, but he nonetheless extracts sympathy enough to portray the eclipse of innocence.

In a brief cameo, Michael Moriarty ("Bang the Drum Slowly" and "Find Your Way Home") is tough and valiant as the Marine officer to whom the sailors must deliver their prisoner.

Much of the crowd language (forgivably overdone) in Robert Town's adaptation of Darryl Ponicsan's novel and the scenes introducing the prisoner to the warden, women and song erupt with easily recognizable humor. However, as the trio nears the jail the tragedy of impeding separation and the conflict of duty and friendship change the mood.

HAL ASHBY directs with a feel for the camera, which is where the emphasis in this otherwise slight story should lie. Many scenes are slow-moving but the actors most always compensate. Michael Chapman's photography highlights the scenic and the geographical the melange of buses, trains, cities and towns represents the commutation of your youth.

But were it not for fine performers such as Nicholson and company, "The Last Detail" would hardly be a show. Since there are capable performers still around, films like "The Last Detail" will always be winning entertainment.

Nicholson Excels In 'Last Detail'
Turnovers Hurt As WPC Dunks Squaws

The Montclair State women's basketball team became the 11th consecutive victim to an extremely sharp and tenacious William Paterson squad, bowing to the tune of 52-41. A crowd of approximately 750 saw numerous turnovers and many fouls, as WPC scored the opening basket and led all the way, though not without much pressure from a tough MSC squad.

THE SQUAWS were led by Joanne Lavorgna, who netted 14 points, while teammate Randi Burdick added 17.

The undefeated Paterson squad had three players in double figures. A winless Glassboro State team (0-4) used a tough man to man defense to thwart the women's basketball squad's early efforts but MSC maintained their poise and boosted their record to 7-1, with a 49-40 win.

A STRONG high scoring second half blotted out the memory of a foul infested first half, as the Squaws ripped the cords, outscoring GSC by 17 points.

Senior captain Mary Jean Hayek played her best game of the season, as she scored 16 points, while taking down 18 rebounds.

Randi Burdick, continuing to impress all in her new starting role, scored nine points.

Joe Cozza, a wing on Coach Bob Wolfarth's soccer squad, was selected by the Philadelphia Atoms of the National Soccer League, and ALTHOUGH COZZA has not been drafted yet with the Atoms, a tryout date has been set with them for sometime in March. Gordon, 21, hails from Irvington, New Jersey. The senior shortstop has negotiated with the Cubs, but is planning to sign with them at the end of this coming season.

He had no idea that he would be selected this year, since last summer he was drafted in the second round of the NASL annual draft held last week. The physical education major started playing soccer at age 14. He had no idea that he would be selected, but had hopes of being drafted.

Fitzgerald shared the accolades with Atom teammates Sheryl Toussaint, Michele McMillan and Brenda Nichols.

SQUAWS TO DUEL

MSC fencers Mary Caprio, Juli Loveridge, Nancy Murray and Kathy Riba will compete in the Hunter College Winter Tournament in New York this Saturday at 2 pm.

Gail Fitzgerald, graduate assistant at Montclair State and member of the 1972 United States Olympic Team, put herself in the record books when she ran the middle leg of the Atom Track Club's world record mile relay. The Brooklyn based team turned in a 3:47.5 clocking at the Jaycees Invitational Track Meet recently held in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

A TV FROM PE

To make up for funds lost at last years canoe trip, the Physical Education Majors Club is holding a raffle. The prize is a portable TV and insurance.

Among other activities scheduled for this semester is a five member women's basketball tournament playing on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, starting on Feb. 18th in the College Gym. Every Monday night starting on Feb. 25th and for ten weeks to follow, there will be co-ed bowling, consisting of four member teams.

A Pinball tournament is scheduled to start on March 11th in which there will be both a single and a double deck league. These games are to be held in the Life Hall Cafeteria during the afternoon.

Fitzgerald shared the accolades with Atom teammates Sheryl Toussaint, Michele McMillan and Brenda Nichols.

SQUAWS TO DUEL

MSC fencers Mary Caprio, Juli Loveridge, Nancy Murray and Kathy Riba will compete in the Hunter College Winter Tournament in New York this Saturday at 2 pm.

Gail Fitzgerald, graduate assistant at Montclair State and member of the 1972 United States Olympic Team, put herself in the record books when she ran the middle leg of the Atom Track Club's world record mile relay. The Brooklyn based team turned in a 3:47.5 clocking at the Jaycees Invitational Track Meet recently held in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

A TV FROM PE

To make up for funds lost at last years canoe trip, the Physical Education Majors Club is holding a raffle. The prize is a portable TV and insurance.

Among other activities scheduled for this semester is a five member women's basketball tournament playing on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, starting on Feb. 18th in the College Gym. Every Monday night starting on Feb. 25th and for ten weeks to follow, there will be co-ed bowling, consisting of four member teams.

A Pinball tournament is scheduled to start on March 11th in which there will be both a single and a double deck league. These games are to be held in the Life Hall Cafeteria during the afternoon.

SILC Slate's IM's

By Chris Natoli

The Student Intramural and Leisure Council under the direction of faculty advisor, McKinley Boston, and student director, Stu Richtor, has a wide range of activities planned for this semester. The program is decided upon by the SILC committee, of which Richter is chairman.

The original eleven member group is being enlarged and is open to students interested in voicing their opinions and planning the intramural agenda.

SILC IM's to be located on the fourth floor of the Student Center. All students are encouraged to come and be informed about future activities.

Among other activities scheduled for this semester is a five member women's basketball tournament playing on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, starting on Feb. 18th in the College Gym. Every Monday night starting on Feb. 25th and for ten weeks to follow, there will be co-ed bowling, consisting of four member teams.

A Pinball tournament is scheduled to start on March 11th in which there will be both a single and a double deck league. These games are to be held in the Life Hall Cafeteria during the afternoon.

SILC Slate's IM's

By Chris Natoli

The Student Intramural and Leisure Council under the direction of faculty advisor, McKinley Boston, and student director, Stu Richtor, has a wide range of activities planned for this semester. The program is decided upon by the SILC committee, of which Richter is chairman.

The original eleven member group is being enlarged and is open to students interested in voicing their opinions and planning the intramural agenda.

SILC IM's to be located on the fourth floor of the Student Center. All students are encouraged to come and be informed about future activities.

Among other activities scheduled for this semester is a five member women's basketball tournament playing on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, starting on Feb. 18th in the College Gym. Every Monday night starting on Feb. 25th and for ten weeks to follow, there will be co-ed bowling, consisting of four member teams.

A Pinball tournament is scheduled to start on March 11th in which there will be both a single and a double deck league. These games are to be held in the Life Hall Cafeteria during the afternoon.
Sauaws Split In Competitive Meets

By Len Guida

One week, just one week, was all the time necessary for the Montclair State swim squad to snatch two adversaries and nearly topple a third.

Against area rival William Paterson College the Squaws showed off their prowess by reaping every first place, save one, in a 66-20 triumph.

AS FOR Queens College of New York, they were wishing the George Washington Bridge had been built. Much to their dismay, however, the MSC swimmers trucked into the City and demolished Queens 69-29.

Tuesday the squad remained in Panzer Gym to confront a strong Southern Connecticut State team of 18 swimmers MSC Coach Kay Meyer confided that she again lacked depth, notably relying on the foursome of Old Jaglowski, Killeen, Relling, and Sanson to carry the load.

Meyer mentioned, "Southern Connecticut has a bigger squad. Last year they entered 3 in every event and we just don't have enough girls." Coach Meyer had 9 swimmers and 4 divers on hand to compete against SC.

BEFORE THE MEET commenced, SC's Coach Kay Fromer, oddly possessing the same first name as MSC's coach, asserted several audacious comments concerning her strategy. She placidly purported, "Today I'm just experimenting with my team. I have to find out the right squad to compete in New England."

When much to her surprise about the caliber of the MSC team she'd be encountering, Fromer replied, "This is basically the same team as last year. They're weak in the backstroke and not too tough in the breaststroke. Their strong point is wherever they are, put Jaglowski." She further added that she'd watch out for Relling also.

Southern Connecticut, facing tough competition in the form of Westminster, Springfield, and Yale, was anxious to open up a sizeable lead for their team.

MSC was not to be denied their moment of glory. The girls were not to be underestimated nor underestimated. Co-captains Sanson and Brooks proudly exclaimed that they surprised SC and hope to give Trenton State a run for their money on Thursday.

---

MSC Is in TV a Flop Debut

By Joe Calvana

It may be true that "all good things must come to an end." But why on the homecourt, before the 1400 loyal fans and a few unassuming, non-partisan TV cameramen Talk about humiliation.

In what probably wasn't one of the most memorable television (UHF) debut in recent history, the Montclair State Owlettes remained almost shockingly intact.

It now remains for Carrington to decide on his future course. His play in Sunday's exhibition might be his ticket into the USLTA.

---

De Cicco Sits Out

By Tony Cafiero and John Zawosky

Operating without their coach, Rocco DeCicco, the Montclair State fencing team faces four more matches before the season ends, including their toughest challenges from William Paterson College and Seton Hall University.

DeCicco has been laboring in the hospital due to a kidney ailment and will miss the meet against St. John's University but is expected back for the remainder of the schedule.

MEANWHILE the women's fencing team has been foiling their opponents, extending their record to 2-0.

The Squaws defeated Trenton State 11-5. Senior captain Nancy Murray prolonged her undefeated personal record, winning all four bouts. Teammate Mary Caprio won three out of four while Mary Lou Cafiero broke even, winning two out of two.

"We were just more skilled and experienced than TSC," Coach Ducci commented.

The Indians cut out a solid performance versus St. Peter's, defeating them decisively to the tune of an 18-6 score while upping their record to 5-4.

IN THAT MEET both Manny Bueno and Bob MacKay swept the three bouts that are allotted to each fencer. Record-breaking platoons was Bob MacKay who also has seven losses. Team captain George Pearse has an 18-6 record and Bueno has the lead in percentage with .833 by virtue of his 15 victories in 18 decisions.

When asked the Indians chances of ending the season over the 500 mark, sophomore man Joe Dotta replied, "I think we will, even though Wes Hartley who Ducci termed as 'the toughest.'" Seton Hall and Paterson finished 1-2 respectively in the North Atlantic Championships in Rochester, New York last year with Montclair State finishing third.

---

Loop Courts Carrington

By Hank Gola

It was billed as an exhibition between two North Jersey tennis pros. But the deary tennis follower would have known that there was more than pride at stake when Arthur Carrington toppled Steve Siegel 10-7 Sunday evening at Panzer Gym. The mere "exhibition" label could have been misleading as building up "Deep Throat" to be the dramatic story of a budding falsetto.

It was a classic matchup between Carrington, the 1973 champ of the predominantly black American Tennis Association and Siegel of the larger and more prestigious United States Lawn Tennis Association. Carrington had the stringier build, with his long right arm functioning as a catapult for hot serves and vicious backhands.

THE YOUNGER looking Siegel was short but well built as he waited the lockeroom, detoured by an interview. The Indians cut out a solid lead in percentage with .833 by virtue of his 15 victories in 18 decisions.

BUT SIEGEL, a former high school All-American and current pro at the Englwood Tennis Club, came back to snatch Carrington's jutted net play to break his service and eventually go ahead 4-2.

By his advantage. He exchanged passages with the ball girls while Carrington traced his mistakes by swinging his racket and mumbling to himself. The Indians cut out a solid lead in percentage with .833 by virtue of his 15 victories in 18 decisions.

It now remains for Carrington to decide on his future course. His play in Sunday's exhibition might be his ticket into the USLTA.

"I was a do-or-die situation out there tonight and it was obvious which course we took," reflected a solemn Ollie Gelston. "We weren't getting anywhere against their zone, and when you fail to penetrate, your only hope is to hit from outside. We didn't even do that." he continued.

It was apparent right from the start that the Indians had seen better days, taking almost three minutes to score their first two pointer, a right side jumper by Jim Rake, to pull them within 2 points.

ALTHOUGH MSC managed to tie it at 8-8, following Chuck Holland's two free throws with 14:41 left in the first half, they were never able to pull ahead. The Professors, a ball-controlled, outside shooting club, much in the manner of the New York Knicks hit a torrid 51.8% from the field, enabling them to stay just out in front at the half, 26-24.

A layup by Ralling, a backdoor jumper and a three point play by Holland opened the second half to give the Indians the lead for the first time in 29-28. A bank shot from the right side by Dom Carrera put Glasstown ahead 4-2.

---

MSC Is in TV a Flop Debut

By Joe Calvana

It may be true that "all good things must come to an end." But why on the homecourt, before the 1400 loyal fans and a few unassuming, non-partisan TV cameramen Talk about humiliation.

In what probably wasn't one of the most memorable television (UHF) debut in recent history, the Montclair State Owlettes remained almost shockingly intact.

IT WAS a do-or-die situation out there tonight and it was obvious which course we took," reflected a solemn Ollie Gelston. "We weren't getting anywhere against their zone, and when you fail to penetrate, your only hope is to hit from outside. We didn't even do that." he continued.

It was apparent right from the start that the Indians had seen better days, taking almost three minutes to score their first two pointer, a right side jumper by Jim Rake, to pull them within 2 points.

ALTHOUGH MSC managed to tie it at 8-8, following Chuck Holland's two free throws with 14:41 left in the first half, they were never able to pull ahead. The Professors, a ball-controlled, outside shooting club, much in the manner of the New York Knicks hit a torrid 51.8% from the field, enabling them to stay just out in front at the half, 26-24.

A layup by Ralling, a backdoor jumper and a three point play by Holland opened the second half to give the Indians the lead for the first time in 29-28. A bank shot from the right side by Dom Carrera put Glasstown ahead 4-2.

State back on top all too abruptly, 46-34, a score that from that point on, with only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned.

The Pros gradually began to pull away, building their lead to 46-36 after a stretch that saw only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned. The Pros gradually began to pull away, building their lead to 46-36 after a stretch that saw only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned.

The Pros gradually began to pull away, building their lead to 46-36 after a stretch that saw only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned.

The Pros gradually began to pull away, building their lead to 46-36 after a stretch that saw only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned.

The Pros gradually began to pull away, building their lead to 46-36 after a stretch that saw only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned.

The Pros gradually began to pull away, building their lead to 46-36 after a stretch that saw only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned.

The Pros gradually began to pull away, building their lead to 46-36 after a stretch that saw only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned.

The Pros gradually began to pull away, building their lead to 46-36 after a stretch that saw only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned.

The Pros gradually began to pull away, building their lead to 46-36 after a stretch that saw only a minute and thirty nine seconds gone, the night was over as far as the Tribe were concerned.
Tribe Preps for Gold

Drop Finale

By John Keller

The only other winner for the tribe was a very convincing 10-2 decision for John Reid (190), who is just rounding into shape after a stint in the Army.

"We were tired from an awful lot of matches which we scheduled on purpose just so we would be in top shape for the end of the year. Also one good thing that came out of the Wilkes match, I think, was that we learned how to wrestle in front of this crowd. So when we come back here for the nationals in a few weeks I think we now have a chance to catch them," Sciachetano concluded.

Larry Sciachetano

Lack of Depth Hurt

By Larry Sciacchetano

The Montclair State gymnastics team treated Kean College (formerly Newark State) as a starving man in their backyard of Wilkes Barre, Pa.

The Indians came out with fire in their eyes and took the first two matches of the night in easy fashion. Eddie Alber (118) defeated Rich Mahonski 9-4 while sure fire All-American candidate Nabil Guketlov (126) did his thing to the tune of a 17-7 superior decision victory over Lonnie Balum.

The Indian grapplers now look forward to the second season.

The Metropolitan Wrestling Championship will be held at Panzer Gym beginning on 4 pm Friday and going through Saturday at 1 and 8 pm. This is the big step to the national NCAA tournament to be held at Wilkes Barre, Pa. and the MSC squad looks like the team "most likely to succeed."

The Indians' chief competition should come from C.W. Post and Trenton State both of which lost handily to the MSC squad this year.

In summary, the entire season Sciachetano though that a lack of depth hurt them in the early going. In the final six matches we had to go with some inexperienced wrestlers and because of this we weren't in top condition.

--Deley

Gymnasts Set to Stalk Lionettes

By Rich Keller

The Montclair State gymnastic team treated Kean College (formerly Newark State) as a starving man. They were to be a three course meal, as they literally ate up Kean, 77-60-49-25.

MSC 77,60
KEAN 49,25

VAULTING
1st Jan King 6.85 (MSC)
2nd Eileen Wans 6.85 (MSC)
3rd Pat Guillion 6.4 (MSC)

UNEVEN P-BARS
1st Jane Rolef 6.25 (K)
2nd Eileen Wans 6.85 (MSC)
3rd Pat Guilano 6.4 (MSC)

BALANCE BEAM
1st Eileen Wans 7.5 (MSC)
2nd Jan King 6.1 (MSC)
3rd Elisabeth Laskowski 5.75 (MSC)

FLOOR EXERCISE
1st Jan King 7.95 (MSC)
2nd Eileen Wans 7.6 (MSC)
3rd Jane Rolef 6.45 (K)

Trenton State invades Panzer Gym for a dual meet. The meet for the Squaws, as the mythical conference title is placed on the line.

"MSC's" total score versus Kean was a little low," said gymnastics Coach Linda Monaco, in a post-meet chat. Realizing TSC's strength, Monaco has expectations that they will be coming to Montclair State slightly overconfident.

SOME FANS think that gymnastics is an individual sport and it may well be at some other schools, but at MSC, the key is teamwork.

Montclairion

Vol. 48, No. 1
Montclair, N J 07043
Thurs., Feb. 14, 1974

Met Favorites

With the thoughts of a very successful campaign dancing through their heads the Indian grapplers now look forward to the second season.

The Metropolitan Wrestling Championship will be held at Panzer Gym beginning on 4 pm Friday and going through Saturday at 1 and 8 pm. This is the big step to the national NCAA tournament to be held at Wilkes Barre, Pa. and the MSC squad looks like the team "most likely to succeed."

The Indians' chief competition should come from C.W. Post and Trenton State both of which lost handily to the MSC squad this year.

IN SUMMARY, the entire season Sciachetano though that a lack of depth hurt them in the early going. In the final six matches we had to go with some inexperienced wrestlers and because of this we weren't in top condition.

--Deley

The Montclair State gymnastic team treated Kean College (formerly Newark State) as a starving man. They were to be a three course meal, as they literally ate up Kean, 77-60-49-25.

MSC 77,60
KEAN 49,25

VAULTING
1st Jan King 6.85 (MSC)
2nd Eileen Wans 6.85 (MSC)
3rd Pat Guillion 6.4 (MSC)

UNEVEN P-BARS
1st Jane Rolef 6.25 (K)
2nd Eileen Wans 6.85 (MSC)
3rd Pat Guilano 6.4 (MSC)

BALANCE BEAM
1st Eileen Wans 7.5 (MSC)
2nd Jan King 6.1 (MSC)
3rd Elisabeth Laskowski 5.75 (MSC)

FLOOR EXERCISE
1st Jan King 7.95 (MSC)
2nd Eileen Wans 7.6 (MSC)
3rd Jane Rolef 6.45 (K)

These were the results of the Kean College dual meet.

1. Jan King 7.95 (MSC)
2. Eileen Wans 7.6 (MSC)
3. Pat Guilano 6.4 (MSC)

1. Eileen Wans 6.85 (MSC)
2. Pat Guilano 6.4 (MSC)
3. Jane Rolef 6.25 (K)

Editors Note: Key Quinn, of MSC, seems to be lumping for her fifth as she performs on the uneven parallel bars.

Montclairion/Ida Brandon

Met Outlook

118 EDDIE ALBER (MSC) vs. Frank Lazzaro (ITC) A fine 25-8 record this year and the fact that he is the defending champ make Alber a strong choice.

126 NABIL GUKETLOV (MSC) vs. John Craddock (ITC) Guketlov has beaten everybody this year including Craddock (12-3) and there is no reason why he is going to stop now.

134 CRAIG SPENCER (MSC) vs. Rocky Davey (CWP) Again Spencer is a defending champ but Davey gave him a tough match in the regular season. It could be close.

142 LARRY HAYSPPELL (MSC) vs. Tony Defendus (TSC) HayspPELL was the 134 champ last year and Defendus won this weight a year ago. But Defendus is just back from an injury which could be a question mark.

150 OSCAR ZAVALA (MSC) vs. Lou Chlorde (TSC) Chlorde beat Zavala in the regular season 8-4 but Zavala now looks ready for a re-match and a step upward from his second place finish of last year.

158 BOB WOODS (MSC) vs. George Davenport (TSC) Woods has had a fine freshman season and would want nothing more than to add a Met championship to his list of credits.

167 BILL TODD (CWP) vs. Bill Hayne (TSC) Todd could either wrestle at 167-190, but has wrestled at 167 all year and looks like a strong contender.

177 STEVE STRELLNER (MSC) vs. Kevin Beck (CWP) Strellner has wrestled back and forth at 177-190, but this looks like his top weight and should have little trouble winning this one.

190 JOHN REID (MSC) vs. Glenn Carson (TSC) Carson is the defending champ but Reid is just rounding into shape after his Army stint and his convincing defeat over Joe Orinckon in Wilkes and his fourth place finish in the nationals make him the slight favorite.

Montclairion/Ida Brandon

Hart MIKE DUMIN (TSC) vs. Ted Von Puznak (CWP). Both have fared well against MSC this season but Dumin looks like the man to beat out for the title.

Editors Note: Key Quinn, of MSC, seems to be lumping for her fifth as she performs on the uneven parallel bars. Quinn scored a 4.8 as the Panzer Gym crowd saw the gymnasts coast to their fifth victory over Kean College, 77-60-49-25.