SGA Questions $50 Ticket

In response to the recently initiated Clifton practice of ticketing cars parked on Hibben Place and McCosh Road, the SGA legislature has unanimously passed a resolution empowering the SGA lawyers to investigate the $50 fine for possible future court action.

The legislation also enacted a bill calling for an investigation of the uses of the parking fee. This bill asks for a meeting with Vincent Calabrese, vice-president for administration and finance, and Keith Kauffman, vice-president for administration and vice-president, according to Tom Barrett, SGA vice-president.

Barrett explained that in the Clifton matter, the SGA lawyer "seemed to think that we are on pretty firm legal ground." He continued that "they did not know of any other community which requires a $50 fine for a first violation parking offence."

The CLIFTON ordinance, which was passed by the town council last week, also allowed for imprisonment of up to 15 days as well as a fine. Barrett emphasized that the lawyers could find no justification for that section of the law.

Although Barrett admitted that "there is an injustice being done to those people living on the two affected roads, "he believed that "a $50 fine is absolutely excessive and imprisonment is certainly too severe."

Barrett added that "our lawyer is investigating the matter since we do not want this area to reach the point where cars are going to be towed."

FRED JENNY, Council on Commuter Affairs (CCCA) co-chairman, stated that there has been a misunderstanding of the purposes and extent of the municipal ticketing on campus which is slated to begin March 18. He explained that while Kauffman has stated that ticketing will only affect non-decaled cars, Calabrese mentioned that in the future it might apply to all cars.

Jenny emphasized that "if it is to be for other than non-decaled cars, then there is no way that I am going to support it." In an academic community we should not have any need for municipal ticketing of all cars."

Jenny also stated that "we are very unhappy with the type of municipal ticketing warning signs," He believes that the signs are too small to be easily seen by commuting students.

He added that he would like to see some form of written guarantee that municipal ticketing will not be expanded to include decaled cars.

Barrett concluded that "we would like to sit down and talk to both Calabrese and Kauffman to determine finally what the parking policy is." -Mercorelli

Edward Martin, student personnel officer and committee member, stated that at previous meetings personnel reps had cast individual votes. He stated that "we do not consider the matter closed and we are continuing to investigate it.'

Martin commended although his department had determined that the innovative session should be placed in May, he felt that this had nothing to do with the reapportionment of the votes.

ALLOWAY ASSERTED that if any member of the committee objected to the procedures, they could have introduced a motion to overrule the chair. He stated, "I specifically told Genova that he had the right to raise an objection and he did not."

Genova replied that, "I do not think it is my place to question the procedures if they do not affect my vote." He clarified, "I think it is the responsibility of the people involved to object if their votes are threatened.

However Genova stated that according to the instructions given by the SGA legislature, he is continuing his efforts to change the decision through an alternate report to the president.

At the committee meeting, approximately 500 student petitions which faculty members had distributed in their classes, requesting that innovative remain in January were presented by a committee member, Dr. John Sacher Jr., music department.

According to Genova these petitions were misleading in their wording He claimed they led students to believe that spring semester would conclude at the end of May with innovative placed in June.

Genova called this practice "an unethical use of the class room for political reasons." He emphasized that "the proper place to solicit student input is through the SGA which has unambiguously declared its support of my actions to obtain a May innovative."

Alloway remarked that "under the laws of the state, the SGA has no legal grounds to assume that it and it alone may speak for the student body."

Gas Rationing Cards Could Be Crucial

By Carol Epstein

Although gas rationing cards have not been checked this week, according to Greg Carroll, assistant director of the Student Center, rationing cards will be required to purchase gas if a problem with gas supplies occurs.

Gas rationing cards will be distributed next week on Tues., March 19, and Thurs., March 21. Both students and faculty rationing cards will be available at Annex 2, next to College Hall. William J. Kervick, director of business services, urged students and faculty to take advantage of the hours 9 am to 8 pm next week.

Any student having a valid parking decal may pick up their gas rationing card without waiting, Kervick asserted. Those students without decals must bring a valid car registration and either a valid MSC ID card or a tuition receipt.

"Many students have not taken one health course. What they know is what they’ve heard or what they’ve read," according to Ruth Blanche, a faculty member in the health professions department.

To compensate for this, the Student Health Professions Association and the health professions department are sponsoring a health fair on Weds., March 20 in the Student Center ballrooms. The fair will feature numerous exhibits on current health problems, a film festival and free testing services.

Michael Davidson, chairman of the health fair committee and an assistant professor in the health professions department, explained that "the purposes of the fair are both educational and diagnostic."

A MAJOR objective, he said, is to reach people who would otherwise be aware of health problems, giving as an example the fact that "an extraordinary number of people” have high blood pressure while the New Jersey health department will give tests for blood pressure problems, to be conducted by students nurses from Mountainside Hospital.

The Essex County Dental Association will sponsor dental examinations for both dental flaws and oral cancer. Diabetes testing will be conducted by the New Jersey Diabetes Association and eye examinations will be sponsored jointly by the Lions Club of Montclair and the Essex County Optometric Association, Davidson commented.

M.S.C. Communications Sciences and Disorders department will conduct tests for speech and hearing difficulties and the M.S.C. occupational therapy department will be giving tests for tuberculosis, Davidson said. The National Council on Alcoholism will give R.A.P. tests to detect potential drug problems. He continued that the Association for Sickle Cell Anemia will conduct testing for that disease while the New Jersey health department will give tests for venereal disease.

MANNING INFORMATION booths will be such organizations as Alcoholics Anonymous, the Drop-In Center, the Psychosocial Services and the March of Dimes, estates Davidson. The Association for Retarded Children, Birthright, the Epilepsy foundation and the American Cancer Society, he mentioned will also be represented at the fair.

Integrity House, a therapeutic drug addiction community and the New Jersey health department will conduct testing for drug treatment for Essex County representatives will have booths, he explained. "Mead on Wheels," a group concerned with the feeding of the aged will distribute information as well as the New Jersey Hospital Association who will sponsor a "Careers in Health Mobile," he continued.

According to Davidson, there will be several exhibits on safety in such areas such as motorcycle safety and the existence of hazardous toys. A film festival, he added, will be held on various areas of health including cancer and alcoholism.

The fair will be open to all students, faculty and staff with no charge for any exhibits, tests or films, he concluded.

When we speak of "housing" at Montclair State College included in much more than buildings in which people sleep and study. It is residence halls which can put people together in an atmosphere designed to encourage growth and concern for others.

Charles William Eliot, the first lay president of Harvard, suggested that dormitories were a priority item, because in them, students could educate each other. He believed he meant "educate" to include more than a process for the dissemination of facts. Light and air in our MSC housing experience must be included the Dorm Councils, their presidents and the Residence Hall Federation members who work without compensation to reflect and respond to the residents' needs; the Resident Assistants who, through dedication, training and concern, help students individually and collectively to find answers to their problems; the Residence Hall Supervisors and Graduate Assistants who provide support and direction for students in their programs; the desk assistants and maintenance workers whose efforts are geared toward the convenience, comfort and safety of the residents; and finally to the professional housing officers and the clerical assistants, attempt to provide those elusive administrative virtues of intelligent coordination, stimulation, wise direction, and Hay Commission administration, while deftly, delicately and decisively, dean the halls of the house disciplinarian (occasionally), engineer, counselor, group dynamics specialist, CPA and friend.

Much research and my twelve years of association with housing programs suggest strongly that people are more important than floor plans, although size and arrangement of buildings do have their influence. Therefore residents are given much voice in determining the policies of the Residence Halls. Students were in the majority on the recent Housing Policy Advisory Committee. Their recommendations resulted in policies concerning acceptance procedures and building usage which will be in effect next year.

Among these are the Lottery system which allows all returning residents beyond reasonable commuting distance (20 miles) an equal chance of having their reapplication accepted, and an attractive variety of developmental programs and of coed and single-sex Residence Halls. Included here are the successful experiment in coed community living housed in Chapin, the Bohn Hall Freshman Course which will be expanded to include Stone and Webster freshmen next year and a new program in Freeman to help upperclassmen prepare for more success beyond commencement. Student staff members will play a vital role in all these programs.

Room and board rates quite likely will reflect the economic facts of life next year, rising nearly 10% according to current projections. For those who are not accepted into the residence halls or who prefer off-campus living, active assistance and a current list of space in nearby homes and apartments is maintained in the Life Hall Housing Office. Construction of a 350-bed student apartment complex across Clive Road in Little Falls is scheduled to begin when and if planning problems with the outside community can be resolved.

Plans are being made to provide qualified undergraduates with increased responsibility next year. In some cases this will mean filling positions previously reserved for graduate students. Sections of courses related to Residence Life will continue to be offered to Resident Students.

So, good things continue to happen in housing. The timetables described in this section indicates when and where students can obtain and file applications for housing. Faculty and staff who are interested in meeting students in the residence program are invited to sit in either the Bohn or Freeman Hall cafeteria.

The Residence Hall Federation was formed in 1970 to give Residence Hall students a say in the running of their halls. It is composed of elected representatives from each residence hall. The Federation is about as far as any dorm student can get on the ladder before meeting the Housing Administrators. In the past the Residence Hall Federation has procured Personal Property Coverage Plan and signed a Refrigerator Service which allows students to have a refrigerator without worrying about other students in their hall. Every year members work with Housing in trying to get parking decals for the dorm students in general and at least for those who show great need for them. The Food Committee periodically checks the menu, makes suggestions to the Food Service, plans the menus for special dinners and otherwise assists the Housing Services Area.

Perhaps most importantly the Federation has reviewed the Housing Budget in an attempt to keep students' demands as low as possible. Right now it is reviewing requests for physical improvements for the individual dorms and is working closely with all units in Housing on staffing patterns.

This year the Federation has felt the need to promote more social activities than it has in the past. Class One organizations have generally programmed for the week days due to the large number of commuters in the college leaving the weekends fairly open. CLUB has been very helpful in fulfilling this demand void by co-sponsoring movies with Federation. But there are still many more possibilities for social activities which may be developed. The activities undertaken this year include the Christmas dinner, bus trips, movies and parties. A bus trip to Florida is also on the drawing board.

Since the Federation is not a Class One organization it derives no funds from the SCA. The Federation's only asset is the class of students and their time and energy which they devote to their fellow residents.

Housing Application Information

March 18 - Applications are accepted at the Life Hall Housing Office starting at 9 am. Cards will be timed and dated for waiting list priority.

March 27 - Deadline for collection of upperclass applications is 4:30 pm. Late applications placed on waiting list.

April 12 - Notification of acceptances and approximate waiting list priority for non-accepts (date of submission of application is sole criterion for waiting list priority).

Chapin Hall applications are available on March 13 and the deadline will be March 22. Those persons interested in Chapin and other residence halls must file dual applications.

We are proud of the positive role which student residents and staff play on this campus, and of the intentional and serendipitous experiences which contribute to student growth. We hope you will find the articles in this section informative and enjoyable, and will make it a point to stop by either Life Hall, Bohn Hall or Freeman Hall Housing Offices if you have questions or comments.

Housing At Montclair State

Over the past few years an increasing number of Montclair State College students have taken up residence in the neighborhoods surrounding the college campus. The initial move towards off-campus housing was prompted largely by the lack of sufficient on-campus facilities. Although off-campus housing continues to be the solution for many students’ housing needs, some of the motivation to live off-campus is different today.

Back in the good old days, which only a few of the sages will recall, there existed a number of roommates which could have been easily distributed around the college. It has been estimated that in 1970 there were as many as 1,200 off-campus students living in off-campus rooms and apartments. The variety of facilities offered was endless and perhaps a minor attraction for off-campus housing today. With a little persistence and slightly more time it appears that most students in the market have found housing to meet their personal expectations.

The projections for next year seem to indicate that the demand for student housing at MSC will be as great as ever. With the increasing number of students living beyond the campus, the demand will have to be met with off-campus housing. Fortunately the number of homeowners seeking student tenants has also grown in recent years. Higher taxes and empty third floors have prompted many to rent.

In early April updated rental information and handbooks will be sent to the same 860 homeowners in the Montclair area who rent to students. With that they will be requested to renew their listing with the Off-Campus Housing Office indicating how many units will be available for September. Much of this new information will be available to students by the end of April and early May. Interested students should begin the search by the end of the spring semester.
Experience in Community Living

"The dreamers are the saviors of the world. As the visible world is sustained by the beautiful visions of their solitary dreams. Humanity cannot forget its dreamers; it cannot let their ideals fade and die...it knows them as the realities which it shall one day see and know."

With this James Allen quotation eighty-one people embarked last September on a journey through Chapin Hall - An Experiment in Coed Community Living. For the past eight months we've been working to make our dream a reality..."I see Chapin as being an experiment in growth...a place where people can be open and friendly, a deeper sense of self and knowledge of what they could develop...I see us working towards these goals in a positive manner."

"We are people - 81 of us - who believe that the community is worthwhile...This is where we have been. And now it is time to move again - to evolve into a new community with new members; knowing for sure that "...Growing with people you care about makes learning more precious things."

This is where we are going: we invite you to come along and apply.

THE CONCEPT: In an effort to provide as many opportunities as possibilities for alternative life styles in the residence hall program, coed program in community living is going to happen in Chapin Hall again next year. The goal of the program continues to be to integrate living and learning more closely by creating an atmosphere which in living is the environment that is the main source of learning.

In order, also, to incorporate the needs ideas of next year's residents, many policies of the Chapin Hall experience will remain flexible and open to the input of the new students who contract to live there.

THE METHOD: An integral part of the experiment is a three semester seminar in COMMUNITY LIVING facilitated by two faculty members. The seminar provides the interpersonal and community skills necessary to enhance community living. Within the context of the seminar, the group studies and evaluates the process by which the community forms, through examination of the published literature and the living experience. Each resident participates in a weekly seminar in order to facilitate the achievement of the community goals, e.g., learning how a community is developed and how the individual functions in the community situation. From this framework the specifics of the experiment are determined by the residents. By combining a specific living situation with learning tools, the residents of the building are able to create a new kind of human community: one in which the personal growth and the intricacies of group living are the realities of everyone's experience.

THE PLACE: The experiment is to be housed in Chapin Hall.

MEMBERSHIP: Applications are available on March 13. Pick up applications for the Experience in Coeducational Community Living in the Housing Office (Life Hall, Housing Programs Office, Rm. 112 Freeman Hall, BSCU and LASO offices in Student Center.

Enrollment limited to capacity of building. Those persons interested in Chapin Hall residence hall living must file dual applications.

TIME TABLE FOR SELECTION OF RAs

March 20 - 27 - New applicants pick up application packet. Applicants return application to Life Hall Housing Office by March 27.

March 27 - Directors return all Peer Evaluation Forms collected to Housing Office.

March 20 - April 5 (Both Hall only) - Initial Interview process and Evaluation Period for reapplying RAs and ARAs.

March 28 - 29 - Directors schedule Initial Interviews in Building/unit.

April 1 - 5 - Initial Interviews are held. Decisions made on new applicants with each building/unit.

April 1 - 5 - Packets distributed to all RAs and ARAs (except seniors). Extra evaluations given to directors to be made available to seniors who want to evaluate themselves.

April 5 - Directors return peer evaluations, director evaluations, complete folder on each new applicant that should go onto second interview and a list of those applicants from their building who should not go onto second interview to Life Hall Housing Office. ARAs and RAs return self evaluations to Housing Office.

April 15 - 18 - Schedule Second Interviews.

April 19 - 26 - Second Interview Period. (Based on two interviews a day; twelve groups; times: 10 am to noon, 2 pm to 4 pm.

April 29 to May 3 - Review of all material gathered.

May 8 - Letters of notification and contracts issued.

May 13 - Room assignments made in conjunction with Director.

New Developments

Programming in the residence halls has taken a new twist. In an attempt to integrate "living and learning," courses are being developed for resident students which directly reflect their special needs. While for the past two years residence hall courses have been offered, those courses generally were just sections of regularly scheduled college classes. This September we experimented for the first time with a course specifically designed for residence hall students - the Bohn Hall Freshman Survival Course. The course primarily used the small group discussion format led by resident assistants, and allowed new students to explore the various facets of college life.

There is a committee presently exploring the possibility of expanding this course to all new students on campus so that anyone would have the same opportunity to enroll. So as not to ignore our upperclass residents, a similar program is being developed to be housed in Freeman Hall next September. This course - better known as the Exit Program - will attempt to deal with the concerns of upperclassmen who are in the process of planning what happens after college.

In halls development programs are an effort to minimize the fragmenting effect that college often has. Too often we have one life on campus and one life outside of the classroom, experts to deal with either/or, but no one to help us learn our roles together. The Survival Course and the Exit Program are just two of many other programs which could be done. It is time to recognize that effective learning is a valid area for student development. In halls, there is a committee presently exploring the possibility of expanding this course to all new students on campus so that anyone would have the same opportunity to enroll. So as not to ignore our upperclass residents, a similar program is being developed to be housed in Freeman Hall next September. This course - better known as the Exit Program - will attempt to deal with the concerns of upperclassmen who are in the process of planning what happens after college.

These two programs are part of an attempt to structure experiences that will have an impact on the full development of the students. Programming does not have to be totally independent of the student's academic life nor do classes have to be irrelevant to whatever is happening in the individual's personal growth. Student
BEOG Grants Still Available

By Jerry Sapienza

The deadline for submission of applications for the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program (BEOG) has been extended to April 1, 1974. The BEOG is a federal program designed to provide financial assistance to those who need it to attend post high school educational programs.

RICHARDS EXPLAINED that the deadline has been extended to accommodate those potentially eligible students who may not have been aware of the assistance available under the program. He emphasized that funds are still available and that each student eligible would be entitled to a Basic Grant as long as his application is filed by April 1.

Johnston explained that those students who have attended a post high school educational institution at any time before July 1, 1974 are not eligible for the program, although he was careful to point out that beginning with next year’s new school term, sophomores who were not in the program during their freshman year will also be eligible to apply. Applications are available at Johnston’s office in College Hall.

Grants are awarded according to family needs. The student and his parents must fill out an application to determine the amount of aid for which they are eligible.

According to Johnston, MSC was given an allotment of $45,720 for the 1973/1974 school year but if this amount is exceeded more money is available. Currently, there are more than 170 MSC students involved in the program.

Seeking new employment opportunities for MSC graduates, the School of Mathematics and Science is formulating a computer science minor. According to Dr. Anthony Sanzone, coordinator of the proposed course offering, “A very marketable person is one who has a business major and a computer minor.”

Awaiting approval by the Board of Higher Education, the new program was unanimously approved by the mathematics faculty on March 5.

The course would be introduced in the fall of 1974 and would be available to all students, regardless of their major.

CITING RECENT employment opportunities in the New York Times financial section, the program’s director believes that the proposed minor would assist MSC graduates in obtaining positions. In addition to the business world, Sanzone explained that those students entering the field of teaching could benefit from the minor because of the many area high schools now using computer programs.

Sanzone, assistant professor of mathematics, said that according to Lynn Truesdell, head of the Computer Center, College Hall, the MSC computers are presently used for administrative purposes only, such as billing and scheduling. Sanzone envisions computer minors using those facilities, as well as the math/science machines for courses.

MONTCLAIR/Thun., March 14, 1974
Agreement Should Satisfy Majority

The controversy over next year’s calendar, more specifically the issue of whether to place Winter Session in January or in May, seems to be confusing a lot of people, even those involved in the Calendar Committee.

The committee, while it ignored to reconvene, would not agree to reconsider its vote to keep Winter Session in January. Granted this sounds odd. Why should a committee agree to go through the trouble of meeting over again and then refuse to discuss why they were there in the first place?

There was a great degree of confusion regarding voting procedures and exactly how much input each member of the committee was supposed to get. It seems that certain groups, while represented by two or three people, were only allowed one vote. This only adds chaos to chaos. Isn’t it possible to have one representative for each of these two interest groups, business services and personnel services? Or are these groups so divided amongst themselves that in order for such a diversity of opinion to be represented, the votes must be split between the delegates?

Questions as to whether all members of the committee were informed of procedures beforehand must remain unanswered as the committee has no written minutes or records of their session. The fact that a committee of such importance has not bothered to keep minutes is absurd.

We must repeat our stand, stated in an editorial two weeks ago, that the placement of the program is not the most imperative issue. Students will enroll in the program if the offerings are worthwhile, that the placement of the program is not the most imperative issue.

Keeping everyone happy all of the time is a tough job, but if there is a compromise or a way around this controversy, it lies now with the president. May the majority not be silent — and may they rule in fact and not in theory.
Community?

The Rev. Thomas A. Davis

Rutgers and Seton Hall started as religious institutions but as they expanded, they became less religiously oriented, thus leaving a religious vacuum. He explained that in the late 19th century a group of students at the University of Pennsylvania decided to deepen and strengthen their religious commitment by initiating the first Catholic campus ministry: the Newman Club.

HISTORY

The club was named after John Henry Newman, an Episcopalian priest at Oxford who converted to Catholicism. Newman later became a Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church. Many American schools such as Princeton, because he was a symbol of searching for truth. The idea then spread to other campuses.

The chaplain pointed out that although the Church frowned on Catholics attending non-Catholic institutions, it realized that after World War II, the GI bill made it impossible for all Catholics to attend Catholic institutions. Many divorced then began to support the Newman movement with manpower and bullfights.

There was once a religious vacuum at MSC. Up until 1950 Catholic students at MSC attended Mass at St. Casimir in Montclair. "In 1950," Davis added, "a group of MSC students came to me at my parish, Immaculate Conception of Newark. They informed me that RKA had approved their charter and that the Archdiocese of Newark had agreed to give me a part-time assignment if I was agreeable."

OUTREACH

The full-time outreach program is an attempt to become involved with the community beyond the campus. We have groups which visit nursing homes, orphanages and prisons in an attempt to share the good news of Christ," said the chaplain. "Presently, we are jointly sponsoring a permanent drop-off center for used clothing. The items collected will be turned over to charitable agencies for distribution," he added.

According to the Rev. Davis, the Liturgy (Mass or any other religious celebration) is an important part of the Newman ministry. "The reason," he said, "is because the Liturgy attracts people from neighboring communities to MSC to celebrate Mass. This is a sort of real life experience for students who can easily fall into the "if-the-devil-can-deceive-the-sheep" syndrome on campus."

"The Newman House," the chaplain emphasized, "is a facility of the Catholic campus ministry. There we offer counseling and assistance to all those associated with MSC. Newman House has also played an active role in many of the social issues of our times."

HEADQUARTERS

"For example, in the spring of 1970. the peace movement used Newman House as a strike headquarters against US involvement in Cambodia. Earlier this semester, the AFT also used Newman House as a strike headquarters," he pointed out.

The Rev. Davis also commented on some of the social and moral dilemmas that MSC students might face. On the issue of contemporary morality, the Rev. Davis said: "As people come to experience themselves and their relationship with others, they find that the nature of life is to grow and develop. Morality is consistent to growth and development. I'm not saying that moral absolutes do not exist but that you just do not wake up with a new morality over night. I feel that in the way of progress, man has experienced more since World War II than his total prior history on earth."

SEXUALITY

"Promiscuity is not the ideal," the chaplain continued, "I hold to the Christian ideal of human sexuality. Intercourse is a unique expression of where that particular relationship is at. The Christian ideal is a permanent commitment; a total commitment to each other. Though I have my ideas, I don't condemn others for theirs."
'Black Mosaic' To Play At WPC

Classical guitarist Robert Greenleaf of MSC's music department will be presented in a recital with soprano Jeanne Distell on Sun., March 17 at 4 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. The free recital is open to the public.

Distell and Greenleaf, playing the lute as well as guitar, will perform music by English lutenists Thomas Morley, the most eminent composer of Elizabethan music, Weiss (a contemporary of Bach), Scarlatti, Mozart, Turina and Villa-Lobos will be performed.

IN ADDITION to receiving his BA from Queens College and his MA from Hofstra University, Greenleaf studied classical guitar with Jose Francisco, a former assistant to Andres Segovia in Spain, and with Leonid Bolotine, director of the department of classical guitar at the Mannes College of Music. Greenleaf's performances in this area include concerts at St. Peter's Church and First Moravian Church in Manhattan and Hofstra University and recitals for numerous private organizations in New York and New Jersey. The New York State Council on the Arts sponsored him in a series of programs in the Wantagh school system. Most recently he was a performing member of Master Classes with John Duarte and Carlos Barbosa-Lima. He is under the concert management of David Schiffman.

Distell graduated from St. Petersburg Junior College, where her voice attracted so much attention that she was persuaded to concentrate on singing rather than on instrumental studies. Her American debut was in 1973 with the St. Paul Opera Association in 'Die Walküre' and "The Crucible." Her European debut was as Anne Truelove in Stravinsky's "The Rake's Progress" at the International Festival of Opera in Barga, Italy.

Seddon will be assisted by pianist Maureen McCormick in works by Brahms, Debussy, Barber and Verdi. Flutist Nancy Englehardt will join Seddon and McCormick in Mozart's "Exultate, Jubilate."

A music education major, the recitalist transferred to MSC from Hartt College of the University of Hartford (Connecticut) where she studied with Cantor Arthur S. Koret. She presently studies under Brenda Miller Cooper at MSC, where she was a member of the Concert Choir. During high school she sang in the New Jersey All-State Chorus.

STRAWBS-BERRY JAM-The rock group Strawbs will be featured in College Life Union Board's first concert of the spring semester on Sun., March 17. The group has recently gone through some drastic personnel changes with the addition of John Hawken, keyboards, formerly of the Nashville Teens and Renaissance; Rob Combes, drums, formerly of Stealers' Wheel; and Donnie Black, bass. Tickets, on sale in the Student Center lobby are $3 for members, $3 for non-members, and free for children and students.

MONTCLARION/Thurs., March 14, 1974

'Black Mosaic,' a production of MSC's Black Theatre Workshop, will be presented at William Paterson State College in Shea Auditorium on Sun., March 17 at 8 pm. Admission is free.

"Black Mosaic," conceived by Dr. Dennis McDonald of the speech and theatre department, grew out of his Winter Session course "Black Culture in Performance." It was first presented here in Studio Theater on Jan. 28, having been written and compiled by the entire class under McDonald's direction.

This revised version will be directed by Keith Childress and Deborah Sanders and choreographed by Robert Smith and Paula Johnson, and produced in association with the Modern Interpretive Dance Ensemble (MIDE) and the Inter-Denominational Gospel Choir Ensemble.

"Black Ensemble" is a theatrical experience delving into culture and heritage of black people. The show includes poetry, blues, Gospel music, African dance, modern dance and commemoration of the Black Renaissance. The possibility of a repeat performance of "Black Mosaic" at MSC is being considered.

RECITAL SLATE

Soprano Donna Jill Seddon will be presented in her senior recital tomorrow at 8:15 pm in McEachern Recital Hall. The free concert is open to the public. and stairs become passages and district. It suggests the dark, the background unfolds the allegorical set plunges the playgoer into recesses of the mind. ED WITTSTETT's dim, dreary set plunges the playwright into Nighttown, Dublin's "red light" district. It suggests the dark, the hidden, the frightening, as doorways bold, eccentric and even perverted, creates in the staging of Marjorie Barkentin's adaptation of portions of James Joyce's highly regarded novel "Ulysses." These images are often bold, ecstatic and even perverted, which Joyce realized in print and Meredith now realizes on stage.

Meredith maintains the "stream of consciousness" flow. If one loses the use of scrim curtains, suggestive to the mind's dreams, but through the voice of thought, fills the audience in on what can't be staged, and senses the language - in other words, no holds barred, for the mind holds no secrets. Jules Fisher's lighting and Pearl Learner's costumes contribute to the over-all effect. Peter Link's incidental music maintains a wistful Irish twang.

As Bloom, Zero Mostel vies for a well-modulated performance, generally subdued in character but not lacking those comic touches which are his hallmark. Flannan A. Flannan rivets the attention as the derisive Molly Bloom and Tom Lee Jones as Daedelus, Danny Mehan as Blates Byran and Swen Swenson as Bella-Bello are assured and affecting in their various ways.

But no one character ultimately dominates - not even Mostel as the flow of words, sometimes clumsy as it is, issues from a broad pantomime, painted character with a deep, lordly and proud voice lends greatly to his task as narrator and though no one could understand fully everything happening, having read Joyce or not, he serves as a capable guide.

NO ONE could fully recreate Joyce's Dublin or Thomas' Welsh village on a theater stage but a skilled director could create an even deeper sense of environment through picturing the drives and thoughts of the characters imaginatively - and Meredith's "mind's eye" has done such a job in "Ulysses in Nighttown."

The Office of Cultural Programming has announced its plans to purchase, construct, and install a sculpture on campus. "Bofin Hall, the electrical cubicle behind the Student Center and the empty grassy mall between buildings all display a need for the personal touch," Harry Rosenzweig, Director of Cultural Programming, explained.

All students and artists are encouraged to leave drawings or photographs of their conceptions of art for the campus at the Office of Cultural Programming at Gallery One, Life Hall. If a selection committee is impressed by the quality of the work, the idea will be purchased for as little as the price of materials and constructed on campus.

ROSENZWEIG DISCUSSED the benefits of this type of program. "Every artist has a conception of an art piece that he would like to create someday," he said. "The college is giving the artist who contributes his idea the opportunity to place his conception, for the cost of production, in a public space. The value of the piece may increase in time, bringing fame to the artist and credit to the college," Rosenzweig reflected.

Of the 100 contributions received between five and ten pieces will be chosen. The selection committee will consist of: Samuel Miller, director of the Newark Museum, John Czerkowitz, a Fine Arts faculty member; Patti Sciffo, a student representative of the Fine Arts Council and Rosenzweig himself. If possible, a curator from either the Whitney Museum or the Museum of Modern Art will also be included on the panel.

Having selected the conceptions by the end of this month, there will be a fund raising show of the ideas sometime in October. This show will use maquettes or scale models of the sculpture and designate areas where they could be placed.

STARTING WITH the $1,000 kickoff donated by the Campus Development Fund, Rosenzweig hopes to be able to raise $25,000. He said, "We would like to interest the SGA, alumni, foundations, business, and the government to contribute or match funds for this program." With the fund raising show to open in October, Rosenzweig plans to have the first sculpture going up next spring.

Glassboro To Host 'Underground Show'

"Montclair at the Underground," already a road show veterans, hits the road again soon, heading for Glassboro State College.

After MHC's photo exhibit played at New York City's Underground Gallery on Fifth Ave. last November, it was set up on campus at Gallery One on the second floor of Life Hall. In January, it opened for one week at the Oorrie Schnitzer, MSC professor of fine arts, floor exhibit was very well received.

"The program will be rather flexible in a public space. The credit to the college," Rosenzweig said.

According to Blais, the executive board will reserve the final say in broadcasting decisions, and executive board will reserve the final say in broadcasting decisions, and will exercise the right to substitute an alternate program or censor any given talk or activity.

TELERAD IS tentatively scheduled to be broadcast on campus on May 14, running from approximately 8 am to 4:30 pm. "The program will be rather flexible in that the material will be of the innovative rather than the professional," Blais remarked.

IM Wrestling Draws Ex-Schoolboy Talent

It didn't resemble the recent nationals in Wilkes Barre, Pa., nor will the winner go to Iowa to compete in any post-season tournament. But all in all, the caliber of wrestling was outstanding at the first annual Montclair State Intramural Wrestling Championships, held Tues., March 5, and Wed., March 6, in Panzer Gym.

The meet began with more than 40 wrestlers vying for the first place trophies which will be given out at a later date. THIS EVENT has been held in previous years but according to Stu Richter, Student Intramural and Leisure Council (SILC) president this was the first year that it has been really organized.

Being that it is an intramural wrestling championship one might get the impression that the wrestling would be more of the street brawling type but that was not true. Many of the men competing in the eight weight classes were high school wrestlers with years of varsity competition behind them. But because of the high degree of excellence achieved by this year's MSC varsity squad many of these wrestlers saw the stiff competition they would've had to face and decided not to go out.

Top Ranked Immaculata Ousts Squaws

By Rich Keller

After the success that MSC sports teams have experienced during the '73-'74 school year, it would not be far-fetched at all to expect to see the women's basketball team reign as regional champs and represent this whole eastern region in the national tournament.

Things don't always work out the way some people would like them to, for while the Squaws did defeat an aggressive Temple University squad 53-37, in the first round of regional competition they didn't fare as well versus the number one Eastern Regional team, Immaculata College, 66-51.

"BEING PUT in the most competitive division the past few years has been a bone of contention," explained MSC coach, Cathy Paskert. She continued, "The first place team from this area has constantly been punished by having to play the very best first. We would be better off if we were to finish third or fourth in the state tournament. Then we would get a better spot in the division."

When asked if Immaculata played like a regional champion, the MSC mentor answered, "Definitely, they always seem to be such a tired group, but they come through and win."

"Temple's aggressiveness caused them to foul a lot and that was their downfall," concluded Paskert.

Our Officer Selection Officers are looking for a few good college men—maybe 3 out of 100—who will make good Marine officers. If you're one of them, we'll give you a chance to prove it during summer training at Quantico, Virginia.

Our program is Platoon Leaders Class, PLC. With ground, air and law options, you might even qualify for up to $2,700 to help you through college. But if money is all you're looking for, don't waste your time.

The challenge is leadership. If you want it, work for it. If you've got it, show us. It's one hell of a challenge. But we're looking for one hell of a man.
It's not streaking

Collegians Put Bodies On Display

By Chris Natoli
I imagine six muscular men parading into Panzer Gym nude, except for a skimpy pair of bathing trunks, displaying their bodies in front of about 600 people. Are these physique nuts exhibitionists? Are they preparing to streak or pose for Playgirl? No, instead, they were the six contestants in the 19th National Collegiate Mr. America Contest, sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Union, over the weekend.

The overall title was won by Central Connecticut State College's Bob Gallucci. Gallucci won first place trophies in five of the six categories (best back, best legs, best arms, best chest, and most muscular).

GALLucci, A 22 year old physical education major, stands at five foot, nine inches and tips the scales at 206 lb. He had won every major physique title in the east, before being matched in this competition against Pacific Coast champ Mike Dayton of Naples College (Calif.). Dayton finished a distant second, taking the best abdomen title and finishing as runner-up in four other categories.

Collegiate Mr. Americas are judged on the basis of masculinity, symmetry and presentation. Muscularity insure that the contestant is well developed from head to toe. Symmetry accounts for a well balanced body, without freakish overdevelopment in one particular area. Presentation includes not only a poising routine, but features such as hair, face, teeth and skin.

A maximum of 25 points may be awarded for each of these three qualities. In addition, each participant is interviewed to prove his ability at a public appearance. In total, a contestant can win 80 points at the most from each judge, 25 for each of the three qualities and five points for the talk session.

The MEET was very well run," was the only statement MSC coach Linda Monaco was willing to contribute about the state championship tournament. The meet, which was held at Trenton State College, was won by the perennial champs (four years in a row), the home team Lionettes. TSC swept every event, with the exception of two third place finishes by MSC's Jan King (vaulting, uneven parallel bars).

THE MEET was very well run," was the only statement MSC coach Linda Monaco was willing to contribute about the state championship tournament. The fact that things went smoothly seems to be a reward in itself.

When asked, via telephone, which gymnast she thought contributed the most to this past season, Monaco gave her stock answer. "The girls work as a team, perform as a team and do not wish to be singled out as individuals," she said. Still, one can't overlook the facts.

The gymnast who racked up the most first place finishes during the '73-'74 campaign, was junior Jan King. King performed well all season, even though she could only salvage two thirds against state tourney competition (or should it be versus Trenton Stater?).

THE TSC Lionettes have picked the bones clean (their dual meet victory over MSC, 86.28-76.71) and buried the carcass (the run-away state tournament win).

The Eastern Regional Tournament, a two day affair, is being held this weekend at the University of Massachusetts. Monaco predicted pessimistically, "We (MSC gymnasts) won't place, but we should finish ninth or tenth."

LIFTERS CROWNED NATIONAL CHAMPS

By John Delery
Spurred on by the record breaking performance of Phil Grippaldi the weightlifting team has brought the first national championship to Montclair State College after having been in existence for only two years.

GRIPPALDI SET two national collegiate records. In the snatch competition (a one motion lift) he hoisted 319 lb. in the clean and jerk (a lift consisting of two separate motions) he broke the record with a 424 lb. lift. These two set a new total standard of 743 lb.

Terry Manton (MSC) put two records into the books in the super heavyweight division. Manton snatched 275 lb. and totaled 655 lb.

MSC, WITH the help of the herculean efforts of Grippaldi, Manton and Legget set six national records and a new team scoring mark of 70 points in winning the 19th Annual National Collegiate Weightlifting and Physique Championship held on Saturday and Sunday at Panzer Gym in front of 2,500 enthusiastic fans from across the country.

Despite weighing less than competitors in the heavyweight classes, Grippaldi can achieve heavier lifts, because of his great speed, an ingredient necessary to the success of any lifter. Grippaldi is also competitive with the best international lifters, while the superheavyweights entered in the weekend meet have not yet reached that status.

Grippaldi, fresh from his victory over the weekend, has embarked on a two week tour of Armenia, where he will compete in the Russian Invitational. He and Dan Cantore were the only two Americans invited to go up against the world’s best lifters.

THE ENTIRE contest went down to the last two weight classes on Sunday afternoon before the outcome was finally decided. Going into the final weights (242 and super heavyweight) the MSC squad was tied with Louisiana State University with 34 points while the University of Texas was only one point behind at 33. Then the team of Manton, Legget and Mike McNeil took over to ice the victory for the Indians.

McNeil (242) took a third place finish in the 242 lb. and McNeil (242) took a third place finish in the super heavyweight division. Manton set two records in the snatch and the total weight categories while Leggett put his name in the record books when he lifted 281 lb. in the clean and jerk.

SUNDAY’S ACTION opened up with the 198 lb. class and even though 14 competitors were entered, the competition came down between Grippaldi and Mark Cameron of the University of Rhode Island. In the snatch competition, they both waited until weight got up to their desired level. Grippaldi made his first lift at 297 followed by Cameron who was also successful at the same weight. They then went next at 308 lb., which broke by eight Grippaldi’s record. Both then went to their coaches to talk over the strategy for their next attempts. When they returned Cameron asked for 314 lb. to put on the bar. He missed.

All eyes fell on Grippaldi to break the tie. He proceeded to snatch 319 lb. over his head to break in five minutes his new record. In the clean and jerk competition both men were again pitted against each other. Grippaldi came out on top with another record breaking lift of 424 lb.

Other winners were Tim Tong (114) LSU, Joel Widell (123) of the University of Northern Iowa, who also broke his own snatch record with a lift of 209 pounds, Frederick Masten (132) of Staten Island Community College, Don Walker (148) of San Diego City College, Blane Krauer (166) of the University of Maryland at Baltimore and Rick Faustini from Bergen Community College a winner of the Most Outstanding Lifter Award on Saturday, a feat which Grippaldi repeated the next day.

IT TOOK a long time in coming but the MSC lifters finally got what they were working for. “The guys came through when they had to. It went down to the wire but they really exploded in the end,” Barry Hennis, weightlifting advisor, concluded.
