The Montclarion, March 28, 1974
Rathskeller Opening Slated for April 19

By Bill Gibson

The tentative opening date for the Student Center's rathskeller will be Fri., April 19 at 4 pm, according to Michael Loewenthal, Center director. Although he was optimistic that the rathskeller would open on the proposed date, he did note that the date would be subject to revision if any major problems develop which would prevent satisfactory operation of the facility.

Loewenthal said that the April 19 date would "give us enough time to go through an organizational period." He added that he does not anticipate any major difficulties.

Tentative operating hours were also released by Loewenthal on Tuesday. Current plans call for the rathskeller to be open Mon. through Thurs., 4 pm to midnight; Fri., 4 pm to 1:45 am; Sat., 2 pm to 1:45 am; and Sun., 6 pm to 10 pm.

ALL STUDENTS who have a currently valid MSC photo ID will be permitted to use the rathskeller. Those students who do not have a currently valid photo ID including graduate and evening students, will be eligible to obtain a special rathskeller card. These cards will be distributed after it has been ascertained that the student currently attends MSC. A time and place for distribution will be announced at a future date.

Loewenthal said that each student admitted with a valid ID will be permitted to bring one guest into the rathskeller. The guest must be signed in at the door after proof of age is presented. Loewenthal emphasized that double verification of age may be required and that a guest may be asked to sign a perjury statement. Any doubt as to the validity of the credentials presented will be grounds for exclusion he said.

"Our main goal will be to protect the interests of the general student body," said Loewenthal, referring to the proposed regulations. He added that "If we find MSC students are being excluded from the rathskeller because of guests, we will immediately reevaluate and possibly discontinue our guest policy."

FACULTY, STAFF and administrators will only be admitted if they hold a currently valid MSC photo ID or obtain a rathskeller card. The rathskeller will accommodate approximately 250 people at one time.

The kitchen will be operational by the first day of classes in the fall, Sept. 3. No decision has yet been reached on operations during registration.

Since Loewenthal said he will not solicit bids for stock until next week, actual prices are unavailable. Loewenthal anticipated a monthly profit of $2000 from operations.

Students desiring employment in the rathskeller should contact Harold Ostroff, food services director, in the Center cafeteria.
Your first tanpon should be a Kotex tampon.

Because only Kotex tampons have soft, rounded ends... gentle insertion guides instead of two bulky tubes... and more protection than the leading brand. But the only way to be convinced is to let a Kotex tampon be your first one.

If it wasn't, here's a second chance.

For a trial size package of Kotex tampons (1 tampons) a pretty purse container with very moderately repealable price, address the order form with 25c in coin to cover mailing and handling is.

Kotex tampons
Box 551 CN
Neenah, Wisconsin 54956

Cafe Theatre
Proudly Presents On Stage
THE WORLD'S LONGEST
RUNNING MUSICAL
TWO WEEKS ONLY
March 29,30,31 April 5,6

The Fantasticks
Starring WILL ROY
Leading Bass of the NYC Opera Company and HUGH THOMAS of the original New York Cast
Duration: 88 minutes 7 p.m. Thursday. Advanced Ticket Sales After 7 p.m.
320 Monroe Street, Passaic 473-9901

The Paperback
Book Shop
50,000 Paperbacks in Stock
Special Orders for Students
At the Five Corners
580 Bloomfield Ave.
Bloomfield, N.J.
743-6740

Raphael's Restaurant and Pizzeria
744-7637
HOME COOKED ITALIAN DINNERS
SOUPS*APPETIZERS*DESSERTS
*VEAL CUTLET *CHICKEN
*SCALLOPS *SHRIMP
SPECIALIZING IN PASTA DISHES* PIZZA'S
You're welcome to bring your own wine or beer.

Grand Opening!
Garden Caterers Inc. Present
ALAMO II
Located In The Garden Building
Garden Street, Corner of Howe Avenue
Passaic, NJ
(Mid-Way Between The Capital Theatre and Joker II)
One Block In From Main Avenue
For Info Call: 779-0301
Opening Week!
Watch for Huge Spotlight - Will Direct You to Alamo II
Can Be Seen For Miles
Grand Opening! Wed-Thurs-Fri-Sat
March 27-28-29-30
NJ's Number One Group!
Godspeed
Harlow
Coming Wed-Thurs-Fri-Sat
April 3-4-5-6
Featuring Their Alice Cooper Show
Special: Every Thursday Beginning April 18
In Addition to Group
CHARLES LAMONT - X-Rated Hypnotist
North Jersey's Newest and Most Beautiful Disco!

The day will conclude with the film "The Warsaw Ghetto No Longer Exists" along with a lecture by Professor Theodore Price, English department.
They also plan a model Seder to be held in Life Hall cafeteria at 6 pm on the same day.
DIVERSITAS, a social and political journal from William Paterson College, will be appearing at MSC within the week. The magazine is accepting articles from other state colleges in order to garner a broader spectrum of opinion.
The next issue's topic is "Nature: A Way of Life, Our Environment and Ecological Abuses." The submission deadline is April 1 and articles may be brought to the MONTCLARION office, Student Center, fourth floor.

The MONTCLARION is published weekly throughout the academic year, except during examination, vacation and Winter Session, by the Student Government Association, Inc., of Montclair State College, Valley Road at Normal Ave., Upper Montclair, N.J. 07043. Telephone: (201) 893-5169.

The MONTCLARION is a member of the New Jersey Collegiate Press Association and is a five time winner of the All-American rating of the Associated Collegiate Press Competition. The editorial opinions expressed represent those of the editor-in-chief unless otherwise designated.

The MONTCLARION
51 UPPER MONTCLAIR PLAZA
UPPER MONTCLAIR, NJ 07043
We Have What They Don't at Reasonable Prices. Try Us. You'll Like Us.
Rock, Folk, Blues, Jazz, Classics, Etc.

MONTCLARION
Frank Balistreri
Michael F.X. Grecco
Mike Finnegan
Maureen Garde
Carla Capizzi
Bill Gibson
Scott Winter
Men of A.P.Q.
JoAnn D'Acunti
Dia Palmieri
Alice Herman
Susan Kelly
Michael Hatem
Bob Adoshio
Hank Gola
Rich Keller
advertising manager advisor
arts editor
assignment editor
associate editors
business manager
circulation
copy editors
editorial assistant graphics manager
magazine editor
photography editor
sports editor
assistant sports editor

The MONTCLARION is published weekly throughout the academic year, except during examination, vacation and Winter Session, by the Student Government Association, Inc., of Montclair State College, Valley Road at Normal Ave., Upper Montclair, N.J. 07043. Telephone: (201) 893-5169.

Advertising rates upon request. Known office of publication: Student Center, Upper Montclair, N.J. 07043.

The MONTCLARION is a member of the New Jersey Collegiate Press Association and is a five time winner of the All-American rating of the Associated Collegiate Press Competition.

Today, Thurs., March 28 workshop. "Learn how to Interview Workshops." Sponsored by Career Planning and Placement, 9:30 am, Media Center, C-123.
Carwash. Sponsored by SGA for benefit of Easter Seals, 11 am to 4 pm, behind Webster Hall. Cost: 99 cents.
Poetry Reading. Featuring Erica Jong. Sponsored by Women's Center, School of Humanities. English department and Quarterly, 2 pm, Student Center ballroom B. Admission: Free.
Dinner. Featuring Oriental Foods and native costumes. Sponsored by Housing services and SAGA food services, 4:30 pm-6:30 pm, Bohn and Freeman halls.
Movie. "Executive Action." Sponsored by CLUB, 8 pm and 10 pm, Memorial Auditorium. Admission: 75 cents.
FRI., March 29
Meeting. Psychology club general meeting, noon, Student Center meeting room four.
Mon., April 1
Workshop. Sponsored by Career Planning and Placement, 1:30 pm, Media Center, C-123.
Movie. "Nicholas and Alexandra." Sponsored by CLUB, CINA and the sophomore class, 8 pm, Memorial Auditorium. Admission: 75 cents.
Tues., April 2
lecture-discussion. "Biological Basis of Drug Addiction." Sponsored by Sigma XI, biology department, chemistry department, Drug Abuse Treatment Information Project, Health Professions and psychology department colloquium, 2 pm, Russ Hall lounge. Guest: Dr. Barry Berkowitz from Rock Institute of Molecular Biology.
Open House. Sponsored by Inter-sorority Council, 11:30 am to 3 pm, Student Center ballrooms A and B.

2. MONTCLARION/Thurs., March 28, 1974
SGA Offers Free Student Tax Service

By Robert Baker

The time has come to give Uncle Sam his due. Federal tax returns must be in by April 15 and the SGA, in conjunction with the MSC Accounting Club, has established a tax service to assist students and faculty in drawing up the necessary forms.

The students performing the free service for students and faculty are members of CLEP, an MSC federal tax course to qualify.

The tax service will be available from 10 am to 3 pm every Monday and Thursday or by appointment at the SGA office, fourth floor of Memorial Center.

The student tax service is also available for those who are not members of the MSC community for a minimum fee of $10.

Easter Seal benefit weekend of activities in order to raise funds for the Easter Seal project.

Class One’s Hold Easter Seal Weekend

By Susan Koenig

The Organization of MSC have combined to organize an evening students.

The time during the day because resources and major course offerings as is the curriculum for this situation.

MONTCLARION editor-in-chief Joan Gawley, vice president for academic affairs, the evening students "cannot with all the apathy, this pleases me to no end," he added.

Evening Students: Left in the Dark?

By Dia Palmieri

Part-time and evening division students at WABC, feel that they are left out of the college community’s activities, are planning to formalize a part-time students organization.

Supported by the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) and the SGA, about 40 part-time evening students held an open forum on March 20 to discuss problems as members of the Mott Foundation. Discussion at the meeting centered on the problem of curriculum offerings, communication and availability of campus services.

THE MAJORITY of students present were members of CLEP, an experimental program which allows students to earn up to 60 college credits through advanced placement exams.

One of the major concerns of MSC 1700 evening undergraduates, most of whom are part-timers, is that of being closed out of courses.

One woman present at the meeting expressed the feeling that part-timers are being “cheated out of courses and forced to take trap courses” in order to remain part of the college community.

Students at the assembly blamed the college’s limited evening curriculum for this situation.

According to Dr. Irwin H. Gawley, vice president for academic affairs, the evening students “cannot expect to have the scope of electives and major course offerings as is the case during the day because resources to fund the evening division is about one half of that available to fund the daytime division.”

Students present at the part-time student assembly were also concerned with the problem of communication.

The part-timers felt that they as a group are entitled to coverage in the MONTCLARION since they are also part of the campus community. Many felt that they had been ignored in regards to MONTCLARION coverage.

According to MONTCLARION editor-in-chief Joan Mikoetzuk added, “Communication with the evening students is welcome.”

Many of the part-time students also feel that they cannot get basic services because they cannot reach the campus during the day. Most of the administrative offices and student activities are geared toward the day student and are not readily available to the evening student who goes to school at night.

SGA president, Angelo Genova, agreed that most of the campus activities, services and committees are not “programmed” for the evening student.

"THE SGA has a responsibility to be concerned with all students and we will try to help these part-time students with their particular problems,” Genova said.

However, Genova admitted that “the SGA is not programmed for the part-time evening student.”

A number of evening students also slammed the full-time day student as the cause for getting blocked out of courses. Since most evening students work full-time, they can only take courses at night. Rarely is it possible for the evening student to find a day student class when they are blocking part-timers out of evening courses.

Richard R. Davis, assistant registrar, stated, “evening students have a better opportunity to get evening courses than the day student has of getting day courses.”

"NO DAY student is put into evening sections of a course offered during the day when schedules are processed by computer,” Davis explained.

Priority,” Davis continued, “is given to the day student for day courses and vice versa.” But, to corollude, “day students may pick up evening courses during the change of program period.”

Evening students have the option of either registering by mail or in person. Davis explained that if all part-time evening students were to register by mail they would have a better chance of getting the courses they want.

The students performing the free service for students and faculty are members of CLEP, an MSC federal tax course to qualify.

The tax service will be available from 10 am to 3 pm every Monday and Thursday or by appointment at the SGA office, fourth floor of Memorial Center.

The student tax service is also available for those who are not members of the MSC community for a minimum fee of $10.

Highlighting the weekend will be the NJ Easter Seal College Network Radiothon which will be broadcast at WMSC, the campus radio station, beginning Saturday at 6 pm until 8 pm Sunday.

NINE NJ college radio stations will participate in the radiothon which will be the first in the country. The project was the brainchild of WABC-radio DJ Frank Kingston Smith.

“This is the first time that a majority of the Class One organizations are working together,” said Charles Hecht, general manager of WMSC. “As this college goes, with all the apathy, this pleases me to no end,” he added.

Representatives from the other stations will be based at MSC to broadcast through WMSC, 990 am, according to Anne Fahrenbruck, em program manager of WMSC.

THE RADIOTHON will announce all donations over the radio and the WMSC staff has "offered to do just about anything for a donation to the Easter Seal drive," Hecht said.

"There's even a rumor that I'll be asked to streak in the Student Center mall for a donation of $5 a lap," he laughed.

College Life Union Board (CLUB), the Student Intermural and Leadership Council (SILC) and the Karate Club are among the other Class Ones sponsoring benefits for the Easter Seal program.

The weekend events will be held in conjunction with the national Easter Seal Telethon which will be broadcast this weekend. All proceeds will benefit crippled children and adults and all donations are tax deductible.

The idea to form an evening students organization was initiated last fall when members of CLEP formed their own student group. When faced with the realization that they had a limited constituency and limited power, the group leaders met with SGA officers, Genova and Casale, to discuss the possibility of forming an organization that would represent all part-time and evening students.

Dickson Appointed to Board

MSC President David W.D. Dickson has been appointed to the board of advisors of the Charles Stewart Mott Foundation, Flint, Mich., created to guide the future of community education in the US, according to a press release from the foundation.

Community education refers to the concept of sharing facilities for public education with the community as a whole, Dickson explained. "The foundation discovered that many schools were used only five days a week during the school year and fall," Dickson added. "The foundation, for 25 years, has been paying for the use of the facilities and providing staff to increase their use by part-timers of the community."

THE FOUNDATION, which has cooperative programs with 46 colleges and universities, initiated the board to advise them on the continuing growth of flexible and complete education, Dickson mentioned.

The announcement was made, the release stated, at the group’s initial meeting on March 4 and 5, which Dickson attended. Other members, it continued, include college presidents and deans.

stated that “once these students have representatives on the various campus committees they will have to be considered in consideration when campus policy is made, which is not now the case.”

The students performing the free service for students and faculty are members of CLEP, an MSC federal tax course to qualify.

The tax service will be available from 10 am to 3 pm every Monday and Thursday or by appointment at the SGA office, fourth floor of Memorial Center.

The student tax service is also available for those who are not members of the MSC community for a minimum fee of $10.

Highlighting the weekend will be the NJ Easter Seal College Network Radiothon which will be broadcast at WMSC, the campus radio station, beginning Saturday at 6 pm until 8 pm Sunday.

NINE NJ college radio stations will participate in the radiothon which will be the first in the country. The project was the brainchild of WABC-radio DJ Frank Kingston Smith.

“This is the first time that a majority of the Class One organizations are working together,” said Charles Hecht, general manager of WMSC. “As this college goes, with all the apathy, this pleases me to no end,” he added.

Representatives from the other stations will be based at MSC to broadcast through WMSC, 990 am, according to Anne Fahrenbruck, em program manager of WMSC.

THE RADIOTHON will announce all donations over the radio and the WMSC staff has "offered to do just about anything for a donation to the Easter Seal drive," Hecht said.

"There’s even a rumor that I’ll be asked to streak in the Student Center mall for a donation of $5 a lap," he laughed.

College Life Union Board (CLUB), the Student Intermural and Leadership Council (SILC) and the Karate Club are among the other Class Ones sponsoring benefits for the Easter Seal program.

The weekend events will be held in conjunction with the national Easter Seal Telethon which will be broadcast this weekend. All proceeds will benefit crippled children and adults and all donations are tax deductible.
CLUB Presents

An Easter Seal Benefit Dance Marathon

March 29-30-31

Winners On TV

CLUB Presents

Easter Seal Dances

March 29 8pm-2am

March 30 8pm-2am

Music By Thunderhead

Admission $1

Student Center ballrooms
Murray Wins First Economics Scholarship

By Rosanne Rosty

A $400 work scholarship in economics has been established according to Richard E. Weber, assistant professor in the economics department.

The scholarship is funded by the American Federation of Information Processing Societies (AFIPS) of Montvale, a non profit organization that "finds and publishes information about computer user personnel," Weber related.

The organization "wants someone to do economic research on labor in the computer user field," Weber stated. "The work will be done under my guidance," he added.

THE REQUIREMENTS of the recipient of the scholarship, Weber related, are a senior economics major with "an interest in or some familiarity with computers such as simple programming or simple gathering of empirical data and testing it."

According to an economics department news release, the first recipient of the scholarship is Nancy Murray, a senior economics major from Wayne. She will work on a project involving the analysis of the supply and demand for labor in the computer user industry.

Weber, who chose Murray for the scholarship, explained that in the beginning the scholarship wasn't going to be open. Now that it will definitely be offered next semester, the economics department as a whole will probably choose the recipient, he added.

"AFIPS will reveal in July whether or not it will fund the scholarship after next semester," Weber related.

ACCORDING TO Weber, "Last year the organization paid a student $200 plus. "The amount of work they will be paid," Weber reported. "As long as they do a reasonable amount of work they will be paid," he related. Therefore, Weber feels, the scholarship is more beneficial to the student.

Since no income tax has to be paid on it and therefore it is of increased value to the student," he explained.

HE ADDED that over 58% of last year's teacher graduates got the positions they wanted. Strong fields in placement last year were business, music, industrial arts and home economics, Lange said.

The most difficult fields to place were English and social studies since, as Lange related, "The number of English and history majors always exceeds the number of openings for either of these fields."

The teacher education program is just as large for next year, Lange commented. Whatever effect these changes have on the curriculum planning of incoming students and present freshman and sophomores won't be felt until they commit themselves to a major in their junior year, he added.

When asked to give some advice to uncommitted underclassmen, Lange commented positively, "If you want to be a teacher, do it. Don't choose your life career with an eye on the job market."
Moosers Have No Justification

The evening and part-time students hardly ever see the Montclair State campus in the light of day. Consequently, these students miss most of the daytime activities – the sales in the Student Center lobby, the rafts lining the pool, the hawkers selling fresh flowers. Because they cannot get to the campus during the day, they also miss out on student services – legal services, consumer services and financial services. In short, the evening students can be a forgotten minority at MSC.

While they are justified in organizing for the purposes of representation in campus committees and to protect their rights as members of the campus community, some of their complaints cannot be justified.

How can these part-time students demand SGA services and the reservation of pages in the SGA-funded campus newspaper when they contribute nothing into the SGA, while daytime students supply $60 per year? Such a practice is commonly known as mooching.

Since the part-time students cannot take more than nine semester hours of credit (half of the technical full-time limit of 18 hours) perhaps this situation can be reconciled by imposing a $30 a year SGA fee for part-time students.

This way, the students could rightly request SGA services.

An alternative to this would be for the part-time students to form their own organization and work to provide their own services, solely for evening and part-time students. But to demand identical rights and services without providing identical input is unfair to the full-time students who do provide the input.

Compensating injustice with another injustice solves nothing.

Everyone Happy?

The finalized calendar that has come out of the president's office as a result of numerous meetings, conferences, consultations and confrontations is a compromise of two factions and should, for at least a year, keep everyone happy.

The evening and part-time students hardly ever see the Montclair State campus in the light of day. Consequently, these students miss most of the daytime activities – the sales in the Student Center lobby, the rafts lining the pool, the hawkers selling fresh flowers. Because they cannot get to the campus during the day, they also miss out on student services – legal services, consumer services and financial services. In short, the evening students can be a forgotten minority at MSC.

While they are justified in organizing for the purposes of representation in campus committees and to protect their rights as members of the campus community, some of their complaints cannot be justified.

How can these part-time students demand SGA services and the reservation of pages in the SGA-funded campus newspaper when they contribute nothing into the SGA, while daytime students supply $60 per year? Such a practice is commonly known as mooching.

Since the part-time students cannot take more than nine semester hours of credit (half of the technical full-time limit of 18 hours) perhaps this situation can be reconciled by imposing a $30 a year SGA fee for part-time students.

This way, the students could rightly request SGA services.

An alternative to this would be for the part-time students to form their own organization and work to provide their own services, solely for evening and part-time students. But to demand identical rights and services without providing identical input is unfair to the full-time students who do provide the input.

Compensating injustice with another injustice solves nothing.

More Gas But Higher Prices

Has all the freezing and shivering gone for naught? Even though the college has managed to save 269,719 gallons of fuel in a three-month period the costs surpised those in the past.

It is, of course, not the fault of the college that oil prices have risen. In fact, the college community is to be congratulated for their efforts in conserving fuel. If the fuel bills have risen so drastically even with a drop in consumption, the cost of fuel for the past three month periods would have been astronomical.

Soapbox

Give Dorm Residents Parking

To the Editor:

It has come to our attention that individual residents of Freeman Hall have reacted to the ticketing activity of the campus security police. Subsequent reactions on both sides have polarized the situation between residents of Freeman and campus security. Initiation of off-the-record conversations with the involved security officers have yielded substantial results in the alleviation of tensions. But this forms what is only a surface solution and does not remedy the underlying cause of such friction.

It is disturbing that at this date municipal ticketing has been implemented. What distresses us most is the lack of student input into the decision-making process behind this policy. We further feel that as currently enrolled students we possess a marked naive concerning year 1974-75 and permanently thereafter. The continuance of such an absence in parking for residents and the continuance of decreased enrollment go hand in hand in forming a logical argument for the granting of parking rights for resident students.

We realize our partnership but it only extends from abrupt, topical interpretations of existing college regulations which, in light of the recent decision to issue municipal tickets, strike us as unreasonable and unfair in their decided effect upon on-campus residents.

Therefore, we suggest resident inclusion in any college-wide assessment of parking facilities and the re-evaluation of designated "emergency access routes." We base this proposal on the reality that emergency vehicles have already made their way along existing paths of access complete with illegally parked vehicles which supposedly should have stopped such entrance.

Douglas Bey, Resident Assistant, Freeman Hall
Keith McGill, President,
Grace Freeman Residence Hall Council

To the Editor:

Last October I wrote a column calling on SGA president Angelo Genova and others to attempt to come to terms with certain theoretical issues dealing with education. In a letter to the editor a month ago I sought to remind him and the others that I am still waiting for a reply as I feel the questions I raised are crucially important to the future of MSC.

Also, in a series of articles over the past year I have tried to point out that one of the purposes of education is to assist the student in coming to proper ethical values by intellectual means. The educated student should understand, for instance, why kidnapping, terrorism and theft are morally wrong. That a MONTCLARION columnist should take pains to demonstrate his lack of such an understanding is enough to make one wonder just what, in heaven's name, are they teaching at MSC? I felt it symbolically important that someone point out that, to the extent of which such ignorance is a product of an MSC education, it is not exactly something we want to go around boasting about.

Hence, I do not believe my comments were unwarranted or in any way unprofessional. If Miss Wagner or anyone else disagrees with the content of what I have to say, I certainly expect that they will not hesitate to write the MONTCLARION and make their views known.

Gary Hietema, History, 1974
Crisis Ends: But High Prices Stay

By Mike Lynch

The green flags are flying everywhere. The seemingly endless gas lines which plagued New Jersey a few short weeks ago have vanished. It seems like only yesterday that energy czar William Simon was promising relief to the belabored motorists of the Northeast. "Just give us a little more time," Simon pleaded. "We fully intend to distribute the shortage fairly among all regions of the country."

But for the time being, Simon seems to have been as good as his word. Naturally, the easing of the shortage can be attributed to a number of factors: reallocation by the Federal Energy Office (FEO); the refinery shift from heating oil to gasoline and utilization of emergency stocks which are being released now that the Arab embargo has been lifted.

Of course, there is always the danger that the American driver will revert to his old wasteful habits. But the massive switch to gas-saving compact cars will help the situation.

High Prices

While the mile-long lines may have evaporated, the sky-high prices are here to stay. Many motorists are apparently convinced that the whole shortage was staged merely to justify the recent drastic price jumps.

This particular conspiracy theory overlooks one inescapable fact: the price of crude oil on the world market has quadrupled since October, Iran, Venezuela and other non-Arab oil producers may not have embargoed us but they have increased their prices.

And the resumption of shipments from the Arabs will not lower gas prices significantly. Up until last year, the American oil companies operating in Saudi Arabia paid King Faisal $1.80 for every barrel of crude they extracted. Now that tax has risen to approximately $20, a fourfold increase. Within a year or two, this cost may rise further as the oil-producing countries assume complete ownership of their resources.

Dr. Gene Baillie

Public Schools Provide Labor Force

Our society has long been permeated with the idea that education is equal for all people and that the children of the poor receive the same chances in the school system as do the children of the ruling classes. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Most children of poor and working class families receive, partly by the children of the working classes, an isolated education by the children of the ruling classes. Nothing could be system as do the children of the poor receive for economic reasons, at best a high permeated with the idea that that the children of the poor receive that the children of the poor receive that the children of the poor receive that the children of this country begins in the public school system. There they are forced to sit for endless hours learning history written to make the oppressors look like what they are not and which seldom mentions anything with which children from the lower classes can identify. If the boredom does not drive them back onto the streets where another type of education is given, they suffer through the process and emerge with a high school education that is worthless; because even if their aspirations have changed, the opportunity to fulfill those aspirations has not been granted to them. Reformers have from time to time recognized the inequities of the system and have struck out to create something better: evidence the experimental schools in slum districts and such ideas as open curriculums and more choice in the curricula. But these reforms are feeble attempts that are starting at the wrong end.

If we are to change the school system, we must change the socio-economic system it caters to. We must make a system that is responsive to the needs of all the people and is not class oriented. We must rid ourselves of the profit-driven fiends who seize every opportunity to poison the minds of the population with their propaganda.

In this land of great inequality, there are few resources designed for educating children of its class purposes. Just enough change is permitted for just long enough to keep the wool pulled over the people's eyes.

The far greatest damage done to the children of this country begins in the public school system. There they are forced to sit for endless hours learning history written to make the oppressors look like what they are not and which seldom mentions anything with which children from the lower classes can identify. If the boredom does not drive them back onto the streets where another type of education is given, they suffer through the process and emerge with a high school education that is worthless; because even if their aspirations have changed, the opportunity to fulfill those aspirations has not been granted to them. Reformers have from time to time recognized the inequities of the system and have struck out to create something better: evidence the experimental schools in slum districts and such ideas as open curriculums and more choice in the curricula. But these reforms are feeble attempts that are starting at the wrong end.

If we are to change the school system, we must change the socio-economic system it caters to. We must make a system that is responsive to the needs of all the people and is not class oriented. We must rid ourselves of the profit-driven fiends who seize every opportunity to poison the minds of the population with their propaganda.

Public Schools Provide Labor Force

Our society has long been permeated with the idea that education is equal for all people and that the children of the poor receive the same chances in the school system as do the children of the ruling classes. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Most children of poor and working class families receive, partly by the children of the working classes, an isolated education by the children of the ruling classes. Nothing could be system as do the children of the poor receive for economic reasons, at best a high permeated with the idea that that the children of the poor receive that the children of the poor receive that the children of the poor receive that the children of this country begins in the public school system. There they are forced to sit for endless hours learning history written to make the oppressors look like what they are not and which seldom mentions anything with which children from the lower classes can identify. If the boredom does not drive them back onto the streets where another type of education is given, they suffer through the process and emerge with a high school education that is worthless; because even if their aspirations have changed, the opportunity to fulfill those aspirations has not been granted to them. Reformers have from time to time recognized the inequities of the system and have struck out to create something better: evidence the experimental schools in slum districts and such ideas as open curriculums and more choice in the curricula. But these reforms are feeble attempts that are starting at the wrong end.

If we are to change the school system, we must change the socio-economic system it caters to. We must make a system that is responsive to the needs of all the people and is not class oriented. We must rid ourselves of the profit-driven fiends who seize every opportunity to poison the minds of the population with their propaganda.

In this land of great inequality, there are few resources designed for educating children of its class purposes. Just enough change is permitted for just long enough to keep the wool pulled over the people's eyes.
By Michael Finnegan

If Hollywood is dead and buried as has been proclaimed, its ghost will rise from the grave again next Thursday to commemorate Academy Awards night.

One of the year's big nights for the film industry, the 46th annual Oscar presentations of the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences will take place on April 2 (and be telecast on NBC Channel 4). As uncertain as foretelling the appearance of a ghost is the predicting of who will win, but it becomes an avid, anticipatory pastime nonetheless.

FOR EXAMPLE, the fight for best film honors rages among a sensational box-office smash ("The Exorcist"), a cinematic tour-de-force ("Cries and Whispers"), and a well-crafted sleeper ("American Graffiti"), with "A Touch of Class" and "The Sting" along for the ride.

"The Exorcist" should nose out the other contenders (money always triumphs, somehow), although "American Graffiti" is the most satisfying of the films. But "American Graffiti" and "The Sting" are from the same studio and just might cancel each other out. (Don't ask how the voting works.)

Best actor laurels will be awarded to either the sentimental favorite (Jack Lemmon, "Save the Tiger"), or the rising newcomer (Al Pacino, "Serpico"). Pacino should win here.

Other contenders (money always wins) include an austere professor in "The Paper Chase," and he is the most deserving, although Vincent Gardenia (nice as the coach in "Bang the Drum Slowly") or Jack Gifford ("Save the Tiger") could snatch a sentimental victory.

The supporting actress race has been termed "the battle of the babes," as it's neck and neck (or brat vs. demon, whichever you prefer) between Tatum O'Neal ("Paper Moon") and Linda Blair ("The Exorcist"). One hopes that Madeleine Kahn's masterful caricature performance in "Paper Moon" is awarded, rather than either of the Bobbsey twins.

OSCARS FOR BEST DIRECTOR have usually corresponded to the Best Picture, and an exception like last year comes along (Best Picture "The Godfather," Best Director Bob Fosse for "Cabaret"). Who knows? "Day for Night" will wrestle with "The Pedestrian" for Best Foreign Film, as most people haven't heard of the other nominees in this category.

Along with the ghosts come the goblins of deserving nominees who received no recognition. How astrue of the Academy to nominate "Cries and Whispers" in major categories, and not recognize any of the fine ensemble of actresses in the film, including Liv Ullman, who also did good work in "The New Land." That flick also boasted a memorable performance from Max Von Sydow, and they didn't even tap him for anything. Although Vincent Gardenia's "The Paper Chase," and he is the most deserving, although Vincent Gardenia (nice as the coach in "Bang the Drum Slowly") or Jack Gifford ("Save the Tiger") could snatch a sentimental victory.

The supporting actress race has been termed "the battle of the babes," as it's neck and neck (or brat vs. demon, whichever you prefer) between Tatum O'Neal ("Paper Moon") and Linda Blair ("The Exorcist"). One hopes that Madeleine Kahn's masterful caricature performance in "Paper Moon" is awarded, rather than either of the Bobbsey twins.

OSCARS FOR BEST DIRECTOR have usually corresponded to the Best Picture, and an exception like last year comes along (Best Picture "The Godfather," Best Director Bob Fosse for "Cabaret"). Who knows? "Day for Night" will wrestle with "The Pedestrian" for Best Foreign Film, as most people haven't heard of the other nominees in this category.

Along with the ghosts come the goblins of deserving nominees who received no recognition. How astrue of the Academy to nominate "Cries and Whispers" in major categories, and not recognize any of the fine ensemble of actresses in the film, including Liv Ullman, who also did good work in "The New Land." That flick also boasted a memorable performance from Max Von Sydow, and they didn't even tap him for anything. Although Vincent Gardenia's "The Paper Chase," and he is the most deserving, although Vincent Gardenia (nice as the coach in "Bang the Drum Slowly") or Jack Gifford ("Save the Tiger") could snatch a sentimental victory.

The supporting actress race has been termed "the battle of the babes," as it's neck and neck (or brat vs. demon, whichever you prefer) between Tatum O'Neal ("Paper Moon") and Linda Blair ("The Exorcist"). One hopes that Madeleine Kahn's masterful caricature performance in "Paper Moon" is awarded, rather than either of the Bobbsey twins.

OSCARS FOR BEST DIRECTOR have usually corresponded to the Best Picture, and an exception like last year comes along (Best Picture "The Godfather," Best Director Bob Fosse for "Cabaret"). Who knows? "Day for Night" will wrestle with "The Pedestrian" for Best Foreign Film, as most people haven't heard of the other nominees in this category.

Along with the ghosts come the goblins of deserving nominees who received no recognition. How astrue of the Academy to nominate "Cries and Whispers" in major categories, and not recognize any of the fine ensemble of actresses in the film, including Liv Ullman, who also did good work in "The New Land." That flick also boasted a memorable performance from Max Von Sydow, and they didn't even tap him for anything.
Tues., April 2 at 8 pm in Memorial Auditorium. The free concert is open to the public.

The 60-piece State Symphony Orchestra is performing under a grant from the Musical Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industries. Moore, a member of the MSC faculty, has conducted the Orchestra since its founding in 1969.

Philadelphia, a member of the Montclair String Quartet and teacher viola. He has formerly conducted the Orchestra da Camera of Long Island.

Trumpeter Rutherford Lieberman and the Jazz Impacts will present "The Evolution of Jazz" in Memorial Auditorium on Sat., March 30 at 3 pm.

Proceeds will benefit the varied programs and activities of the Ethical Culture Society of Essex County, which is sponsored by the event. Tickets cost $4.50 general admission and $2.25 for students and may be reserved by calling 762-1414 before 9 pm and 762-1142 after 5 pm.

TEEN ARTS FESTIVAL

February 1-20 10 am-3 pmSaturday, March 31 and 30 at 3 pm.

On March 30 visual entries will be featured, as paintings, sculpture, drawing, photography, graphics, ceramics and crafts will be exhibited around Life Hall Lounge, including the lobby and passageway, and also in and around Studio Theater. On March 31 the accent will be on the performing arts as entrants will give offerings in poetry, dance, film and will present one-act plays in Studio Theater.

STUDENT FILMS

MSC's Student Filmmakers will present a film festival of their works during the week following spring vacation.

We'll have a little bit of everything," Student Filmmakers president Richard Matuszewski advised. "From a biblical epic to a horror film in Vermont." No "Betsy Jacobs" sequel, though.

QUICKSILVER CONCERT

Quicksilver Messenger Service will play in concert with special guests JF Murphy and Salt in two shows, 7 pm and 10:30 pm, at the Central Theatre in Passaic tomorrow. Tickets cost $5.50 and $6.50, and are available at the WMSC studio on the 200th floor.

Gatsby: Vivid Images But Lacks Substance

Reminiscence often conjures up vivid images, even more vivid in memory than the real events themselves. But for all of his literary imagination, Fitzgerald could not convince us, even annoyingly humorous.

From cautiously real scores as Nick Carraway, the compassionate outsider, to the world of the elusive Gatsby, who becomes Gatsby's close friend, his story telling and voice student of Brenda Miller Cooper at MSC will be soprano soloist in the "Te Deum." The free concert is open to the public.

The State Symphony Orchestra on Thursday, April 2 at 8 pm in Memorial Auditorium. The free concert is open to the public.

The 60-piece State Symphony Orchestra is performing under a grant from the Musical Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industries. Moore, a member of the MSC faculty, has conducted the Orchestra since its founding in 1969.

Hyman is a member of the Montclair String Quartet and teacher viola. He has formerly conducted the Orchestra da Camera of Long Island.

Trumpeter Rutherford Lieberman and the Jazz Impacts will present "The Evolution of Jazz" in Memorial Auditorium on Sat., March 30 at 3 pm.

Proceeds will benefit the varied programs and activities of the Ethical Culture Society of Essex County, which is sponsored by the event. Tickets cost $4.50 general admission and $2.25 for students and may be reserved by calling 762-1414 before 9 pm and 762-1142 after 5 pm.

TEEN ARTS FESTIVAL

February 1-20 10 am-3 pmSaturday, March 31 and 30 at 3 pm.

On March 30 visual entries will be featured, as paintings, sculpture, drawing, photography, graphics, ceramics and crafts will be exhibited around Life Hall Lounge, including the lobby and passageway, and also in and around Studio Theater. On March 31 the accent will be on the performing arts as entrants will give offerings in poetry, dance, film and will present one-act plays in Studio Theater.

STUDENT FILMS

MSC's Student Filmmakers will present a film festival of their works during the week following spring vacation.

We'll have a little bit of everything," Student Filmmakers president Richard Matuszewski advised. "From a biblical epic to a horror film in Vermont." No "Betsy Jacobs" sequel, though.

QUICKSILVER CONCERT

Quicksilver Messenger Service will play in concert with special guests JF Murphy and Salt in two shows, 7 pm and 10:30 pm, at the Central Theatre in Passaic tomorrow. Tickets cost $5.50 and $6.50, and are available at the WMSC studio on the 200th floor.
Tribe Moves

By Lonny Cohen
Montclair State soccer is moving some of the best players from last year's team indoors, in preparation for the upcoming season.

Equestriennes Don't Horse Around

By Renee Rovelli

What in the world could possibly get eight girls up at 5:30 on a Sunday morning?

The eight girls that make up the Montclair State Equestrian team have grown accustomed to not sleeping late on Sunday, but there is a lot more they have to cope with. They spend their Friday evenings (from 4 to 11 pm) receiving lessons at a stable near Vernon Valley. The girls try to get in a few hours of riding during the week if possible.

ON SUNDAYS they're off to local colleges for horse shows. This past weekend the girls attended the Adelphi University-C.W. Post College Horse Show held at the North Shore Equestrian Center of Long Island University.

THE GIRLS have no official coach. Captain Terry Renz is the team leader and is so designated as such. "It would be great if we could have a coach, but since we don't, we (the team) try to help each other," Renz stated. Despite all their sacrifices, the girls do exceptionally well in the shows. Last season the team finished in first place in the Region I Division on the Intercollegiates Horse Show Association, which consists of 40 schools. They are fielding well this season, with Cheryl Repke and Fran DelGatto having already qualified for the regional show.

The girls are presently in fourth place in the Region I Show Association, which consists of 40 schools. They are fairing well this semester, with Cheryl Repke and Fran DelGatto having already qualified for the regional show. The girls performed rather well with three of the ten best players from each of the participating schools will field five men and five girls in this extension of the sport.

Competing with MSC for the crown at Hartwick will be Oneonta College (number 2 in the country last year), Hartwick (also in the top ten) and the NJ All-stars (heptopus junior players in the state). Powers already entered in the Connecticut tourney are Adelphi University, University of Bridgeport, and renowned City College of New York (ICCNY).

Outstanding players such as Joe Cozza (defeated by the Philadelphia Atoms) and Bernie Petcoff (a free agent to the Atoms) will represent MSC against such top players as Tony Dorico (drafted by the Seattle team of the NASL), and Felix Fuchman (outstanding fullback at CCNY).

"We enjoy a definite advantage playing indoors," remarked senior fullback John Tkaczuk. "Everyone on our team has played in one indoor tourney this year."

Definite bid to the Hartwick tourney on April 5-6 and is expected to receive similar invitation to the Huskies' event. Last year MSC reached the finals in both tournaments only to lose out in the championship game.

TEAMS COMPOSED of the ten best players from each of the participating schools will field five men and five girls in this extension of the sport.

PI 8.2 WINS

An enthusiastic crowd saw PI 8.2 edge past the Knicks 28-26, in the women's intramural basketball championships, held in Panzer Gym last week.

Sue Albright was the game's leading scorer, as she ripped the cords for 16 points. PI 8.2's high point getter was Kathy Marquis with 12.

The trophy for the high league scorer getter was Kathy Marquis with 12.

RIDERS WANTED

Anyone who wishes to join the Montclair State Riding Club is asked to leave their name and phone number in Pati Clift's box in the SGA office.
Squaws' Coach Raps Team's Attitude

By Len Guida

"Decelerate slowly!" A driving instructor didn't shout this precaution but it was Dr. Joan Schleede, women's track coach, at the end of these words. Since March 1, Schleede has been gearing her 15 girl squad towards their first track meet against Rutgers University next Wednesday.

Concerning the girls' dedication, Schleede stated, "The girls do the workouts on their own terms. They have an unrealistic outlook towards track. They think of track as an intramural sport."

SCHLEEDE HAS been teaching her girls efficiency of motion in running. This involves proper leg lift and arm movement. "Most of the girls do not have high school experience in track," Schleede says. "And this is because the NJSIAA (New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association) has just recently permitted more interscholastic sports for girls."

Yet Schleede, an avid track advocate, had nothing but high aspiration for the future of women's track. "Track is an upcoming sport. It's growing on the high school level. As for the future of Montclair State's women's track, Schleede mentioned that she had a strong running contingent but is somewhat weak in field events. Sophomores Diane Christoferson and Alice Thompson will supply the legs in the half-mile and mile respectively. "Alice has done a 5:28 mile in high school and has the potential to be the best college miler in the state," Schleede said.

SCHLEEDE HAS some strong sprinters in sophomore Ann Kelley, and freshman Latania King, Kathy Kwyer, and Terry Smith. Freshman Leslie Romano will be leaping through the 80 yard hurdles and Cathy Dever will handle the long jump.

For the field events, Marguerite Bloodgood will scale the discus. Ann Halton will put the shot and throw the javelin, and Cathy Mosolfi will triple in all three throwing events.

Schleede will be assisted by Olympian Gail Fitzgerald, who last year was the nucleus of the team. Presently, only two dual meets are scheduled at home due to the needed reconsidering of the track.

Squaws Spruce Up Their Big Lumber

By Rich Keller and Chris Natoli

"We have good ability and are hoping to have a successful season, barring any mishaps," women's softball coach, Marilyn Taigia exclaimed during an interview via telephone.

"We have practically the entire team returning except for an opening at second base," stated Taigia. She continued, "There are ten varsity returnees, which should bolster our attack."

AMONG THE returning players, there are six who attained batting averages of better than .350 last season. The most consistent of the high batting averages belongs to fourth year varsity Squaw Gloria Mercurio.

"The girls had been working on their own pre-season conditioning, which included daily warm-ups, including push-ups, sit-ups, running laps, throwing and fielding," Taigia related.

"Caliber-wise, Southern Connecticut University should prove to be our toughest competition," Taigia prophesized.
Girls Out Of Their League

By Coreen Onnembo

MONTCLARION

Before you label me as a biased male, treat you thoughts that girls coming out of Little League would have much interest as baseball and the dream match with UCLA? wouldn't think of stepping out on the court if Stan Smith steps up to bat. After tasting some sand or shaking off the effects of being hit, she might develop a phobia about fastballs. Twelve year olds are quite capable of slight slips in their pitching delivery.

IF WE go to the Now Organization for Women, a phobia about fastballs. Twelve year olds are quite capable of slight slips in their pitching delivery.

THE WATCHFUL EYE of Montclair State lacrosse coach Glen Brown is focused on midfielder Rich Keller (right) as he takes a long pass during weekend practice at Brookdale Park. The Indians open up their schedule at Marist College on April 3.

Montclair State lacrosse squad kicks off the new season on Wed., April 3, at Marist College. In the words of Coach Glen Brown, "We have a young and building team and are looking forward to a successful season." But this kind of talk is handed out by every coach, at the start of every season and in every sport. So let's take a look at the MSC club.

Leading the Indian attack are two men who Brown says have "basic offensive punch." Richard Keller, a stater from last year and Dean Witty appear to be capable of putting on good offensive pressure.

The MSC midfield position looks to be in good shape, headed by Franklin Walker and Bill Swann. Walker, an ex-football player possesses "great agility and quickness" according to Brown. Keller and Swann is a "very consistent athlete and has great ball control.

Brown Sees Sticky Season

By Tony Cafiero

Lacrosse isn't the most popular spring sport, it doesn't command as much interest as baseball and the average person probably has never even seen a lacrosse match. But this sport does have a fascinating appeal to it, because it brings together a conglomeration of other games. It supplies the roughness of football and hockey, while providing the skills needed in baseball and requires the stamina of a soccer player.

THE MONTCLAIR STATE lacrosse squad kicks off the new season on Wed., April 3, at Marist College. In the words of Coach Glen Brown, "We have a young and building team and are looking forward to a successful season." But this kind of talk is handed out by every coach, at the start of every season and in every sport. So let's take a look at the MSC club.

Leading the Indian attack are two men who Brown says have "basic offensive punch." Richard Keller, a stater from last year and Dean Witty appear to be capable of putting on good offensive pressure.

The MSC midfield position looks to be in good shape, headed by Franklin Walker and Bill Swann. Walker, an ex-football player possesses "great agility and quickness" according to Brown. Keller and Swann is a "very consistent athlete and has great ball control.

PLAYING DEFENSE for the Tribe are Jim Seehaw and seniors Craig Degnaro and Al Tinquist, who are large and agile men. In the nets will be freshman Mike Slemmer, who Brown states, "improves with each day."

The Indians 10 game schedule will be climaxed on May 10 against Kean College. All home games are slated for Brookdale Park off Grove Street in Bloomfield.

MONTCLAIRION

Montclair, N J 07043

Thursday, March 28, 1974

Girls Out Of Their League

Bobby Riga, what have you done? Ever since he was knocked off his pedestal in Publicity Bowl II, his defeat has gone to the heads of liberated mothers across the nation. Anxious to breed a race of little Billie Jeans, they are pushing their daughters out onto Little League baseball diamonds to compete with the boys.

The whole situation is very nice if you are interested in letting the girls play where they normally would not. But as things stand now, girls will end up on the short end of the score. Currently, most towns have active girls softball leagues, complete with fanatical coaches and raving fans. So the controversy is not centered on giving females a chance to play, but on tearing down the label that Little League is for little boys only.

IF THE courts set a precedent and force Little Leagues to admit girls, girls softball leagues would likewise have to open up their membership to boys. The result would be that boys would dominate the starting lineups in both leagues, and in the interest of winning ballgames, the less talented girls would be left out.

Players for 1974 were needed, but exclude girls from participation in Little League. It would only be injurious to girls' leagues. Diamonds are a girl's best friend, but not when boys are accustomed to running over them.

Lacrosse Squad kicks off the new season on Wed., April 3, at Marist College. In the words of Coach Glen Brown, "We have a young and building team and are looking forward to a successful season." But this kind of talk is handed out by every coach, at the start of every season and in every sport. So let's take a look at the MSC club.

Leading the Indian attack are two men who Brown says have "basic offensive punch." Richard Keller, a stater from last year and Dean Witty appear to be capable of putting on good offensive pressure.

The MSC midfield position looks to be in good shape, headed by Franklin Walker and Bill Swann. Walker, an ex-football player possesses "great agility and quickness" according to Brown. Keller and Swann is a "very consistent athlete and has great ball control.

PLAYING DEFENSE for the Tribe are Jim Seehaw and seniors Craig Degnaro and Al Tinquist, who are large and agile men. In the nets will be freshman Mike Slemmer, who Brown states, "improves with each day."

The Indians 10 game schedule will be climaxed on May 10 against Kean College. All home games are slated for Brookdale Park off Grove Street in Bloomfield.

MONTCLAIRION

Montclair, N J 07043

Thursday, March 28, 1974

Indian Flounder On Florida Tour

By John Delery

Florida may be the land of sunshine but ever since the Montclair State baseball team arrived last Friday their season has been a little overcast. Following back to back victories over Biscayne College (8-0 and 15-4) last Saturday and Sunday, the Indians have taken a small step backwards and are riding a two game streak after losses to Miami University (5-0) and Michigan State University (9-0).

Against Miami on Monday, the Indians stranded 15 runners after getting nine hits off Miami freshman Tom Bausta, a product of Bayonne High School. They had the bases full in the fifth and the sixth frames but couldn't score. In the fifth, Bob DeJianne popped up to short and Jim Rake skirted to first to end the sixth inning.

MIAMI GOT to MSC starter Rich Keller for two runs in the third and fourth innings. In the third, Rich D'Innocenzio drew a one-out walk and later scored on a double by Phil LoMedico. The Hurricanes scored their second run on a throwing error by catcher DeJianne then scored him with a two-run circuit blast to left. Stu Richter leading hitter so far with a .571 average and Tony Scarlattelli contributed doubles to the attack.

With the score tied 1-1, Dan Dunn led off with a single. DeJianne then scored him with a two-run circuit blast to left. Stu Richter leading hitter so far with a .571 average and Tony Scarlattelli contributed doubles to the attack.