Center Policy Board
Voting Termed Heavy

By Patricia Mercorelli

Voter turnout in the Student Center Policy Board elections held Tuesday and yesterday was termed "heavy" by current board chairwoman Betty Ann O'Keefe.

Contrary to previous reports, the election results were already available for Tuesday and Wednesday. However, due to a "clerical error" the wrong days were recorded in the MONTCLARION advertisement taken by the Board, O'Keefe explained. She accepted full responsibility and emphasized that "it was just an honest mistake."

ALL THE posters which have been displayed on campus have the correct days printed on them, she commented.

O'Keefe stressed that she has not received any formal complaints from the candidates indicating that "students are interested in their Center."

O'Keefe mentioned that "the majority of the students are not affiliated with any organizations in the SGA." Most of the candidates are simply interested students, she commented.

The winners of the Student Center Policy Board Election as announced last night are:

Robert Cifrodelli - Jeff Mechanic
Nancy Daugherty - Miguel Mena
Bill Gibson - Betty Ann O'Keefe
Fred Jenny - Scott Winter

Racism Controversy Thickens

By Joan Miketzuk

Professor Michael S. Kogen of the philosophy/religion department, under attack in recent weeks by the Committee Against Racism (CAR), said yesterday that "if the campaign continues, I will take them (CAR) to court."

The controversy began when CAR claimed that a journal, "Ideas," of which Kogen is editor, published articles of a "racist" nature.

Grover Furr, English professor and a member of CAR, said that the articles in question were "primarily against blacks in America." He cited "two articles on Africa" and another on "Arabs being inferior" as being "racist." He emphasized that the articles in the magazine are "very consistently and blatantly racist."

Kogan remarked that one of the articles in question, "Israel and South Africa," by Nathaniel Weil, was published in the journal in 1970, the Winter-Spring edition of the quarterly publication.

The magazine in question is a Jewish publication which, according to Kogan, boasts "leading figures in Jewish theology on the masthead."

He added that the circulation of the journal is "under 10,000," but that it includes "every rabbi in the country."

Furr stated that, according to the journal itself, the magazine is sent to rabbis, judges, senators and congressmen.

"THERE HAVE been over 150 articles published (in the journal) since 1968 (when Kogan became editor) and only one is actually objectionable," Kogan stated. He stressed that "two anti-racism articles appear in the same issue, but they (JACPI) completely ignored it."

Kogan also said that he "didn't agree with the article then and I don't agree with it now."

He added that he refused to defend the article since he was not its author. "It is absurd to believe that an editor agrees with every article he publishes," the religion professor added.

Furr emphasized that the committee was not "harassing" Kogan and that they were criticizing the content of the magazine he edits.

"THE ENGLISH professor stated that about 100 signatures have been obtained on the letter to Kogan. The document "asks him (Kogan) to apologize for the articles and urges him not to print any more of them."

Furr said yesterday in a telephone interview, "Kogan asserted that he refuses to take out answering piece to support his position. "I don't want to reduce it to counterpetition hysteria," he commented."

The CAR petition will be presented to Kogan, according to Furr. Kogan stated that he would answer the accusations.

Furr claimed that Kogan refused a public debate of the issue. "He has not been willing to discuss the issue of racism publically," he stated, although "he has been willing to discuss other topics."

KOGAN REMARKED that he refused to consider a debate until he received a written apology and retraction from CAR.

"I don't agree with it now." Kogan added.

Bike Contest Readies for Second Lap

By Roseanne Rotty

At 1 pm tomorrow, ten of MSC’s finest speedsters will man their bicycles and get ready to do 100 laps around the Student Center mall when the Great Race II takes place.

The racers will be competing for a $100 first prize, a $50 second prize or a $25 third prize. The Great Race trophy, a large loving cup, will be inscribed with the winner’s name. “A trophy case is planned for the Student Center and this is where the two youths were pursued by the campus police. They were joined by two members of the Montclair police. Henderson mentioned that one officer, Ernest Johnson, was slightly injured during the chase.

Although the juveniles were apprehended in Montclair, they were taken to the Little Falls police because the bicycles were stolen in the Little Falls area of campus between History and Finley Halls.

Henderson stressed that the two youths are being investigated by the police. He emphasized that “we are investigating that theory now but at this point it is just a theory.”

Henderson explained that the campus police were alerted to the theft when a concerned citizen, who refused to leave her name, called them. They then dispatched several officers to investigate the situation.

HE STRESSZED that Henderson stated the campus police feel that only an organized ring can account for that large a number of thefts. Henderson mentioned that in the past six weeks five bikes have been stolen and only two were recovered.

While the investigation is continuing, Henderson stressed that they believe the two juveniles “removed at least half of the stolen bikes off campus.”

Juveniles Apprehended in Bike Theft

By Patricia Mercorci

Campus police Tuesday apprehended two juveniles who have been stealing bicycles on campus for the past semester.

However, a spokesman for the Little Falls police commented that there is no evidence to indicate that the two juveniles are part of a ring. He emphasized that “we are investigating that theory now but at this point it is just a theory.”

HE STRESSZED that they are basing this belief on the fact that the two suspects used the “same modus operandi that has been used in other thefts.” The spokesman continued that they used bolt cutters to cut through the chains which secured the bikes. This was the same method used to steal the other bikes which have been lost during the semester.

Since “well over twenty bikes” have been stolen this semester, Henderson stated, the campus police feel that only an organized ring can account for that large a number of thefts. Henderson mentioned that in the past week six bikes have been stolen and only two were recovered.

While the investigation is continuing, Henderson stressed that they believe the two juveniles “removed at least half of the stolen bikes off campus.”

Feminist Speakers to Highlight Conference

By Carol Epstein

Two prominent feminist scholars headed the roster of speakers for the all day conference “Women: Advocate and Scholar,” to be held in Student Center ballroom A tomorrow, starting at 9 am and lasting until 4:30 pm.

Dr. Jo Freeman, assistant professor of American studies at the State University of New York (SUNY), Old Westbury, will open the morning session with an address on “Women: Advocate and Scholar,” to be held in Student Center ballroom A.

Dr. Joanne Evans Gardner, founder and editor of KNOW, Inc., feminist collective press, will speak in the afternoon with “Women: The Ultimate Deviant.”

BOOTH FREEMAN and Evans have been active in the feminist movement from its early stages. Freeman helped found the first Chicago women’s liberation group in 1967 and the first national feminist newsletter. Evans is currently the co-director of the eastern region of the National Organization for Women (NOW) and founding president of the Association for Women in Psychology.

According to conference coordinator, Dr. Rhoda Unger, MSC psychology professor, the all day conference features over 33 feminist scholar-advocates representing 10 colleges.

Panel discussions will focus on six categories: “Women and Politics,” “Women and the Irrational,” “Women and Powerlessness,” “Sex-role Stereotypes,” “Women as Artists,” and “The Biological Woman.”

“Women’s Caucus to Welcome Men

By Joan Mikezrak

After two months of deliberating, the Women’s Caucus received a Class Two charter as an SGA, sponsored organization when the bill proposing the charter was passed at Tuesday’s SGA meeting.

The organization, according to its constitution, will attempt to “develop a sense of community identity” among the women at MSC, to help alleviate sex discrimination on campus and to sponsor programs to promote awareness of women’s problems on campus.

Women’s Caucus is open to all MSC students. “sympathetic to the cause,” including men, according to Cathy Battaille, the SGA legislator who sponsored the bill.

ACCORDING TO Battaille and Shirley Grill, housing director, there are about 20 students and 20 faculty members presently involved in the group.

Grill emphasized that there would be a minimum of polarization between faculty, staff, administration and students among the group.

Grill remarked that she saw little difficulty in getting men involved in the Women’s Caucus. She commented, that the “women are pulling ahead of men” in interpersonal relations and that “there are men who are interested in getting away from the stereotypes.”

Among the programs under consideration, in conjunction with the Women’s Center, are a Women’s Weekend and a faculty awareness forum. The latter program was aimed at “making the faculty aware of the things that they do and say that affect women,” Grill explained.

THE DECISION to become an SGA organization was made, Grill said, in order for the group to become a student organization and to “make it part of the establishment.”

“We were underground and now we’re going above ground,” she quipped.
Budgets for all Class One organizations except the Montclair Athletic Commission (MAC) were passed without alteration by the legislature at Tuesday's regular meeting. The MAC budget will be dealt with as a separate piece of legislature next Tuesday.

The budgets, which were passed after only 25 minutes of discussion, carried the legislature without opposition as a packaged bill.

The only questions that arose during the discussion of the bill were a further breakdown of the Black Student Co-operative Union (BSCU) budget and a question on the publishing line for the yearbook, LaCampana.

The LaCampana issue concerned an earlier motion which called for the yearbook to investigate the possibilities of taking the book to a different publisher for the purpose of saving funds.

Connie Bell, current editor of LaCampana, stated that the yearbook received a bid from American Publishing Co., for $3500 lower than the current price, but she stressed that the quality of the work, the service available and the working conditions were not comparable with the yearbook's functioning. Therefore, she said, LaCampana had decided to stay with the Herff-Jones Co., which is presently publishing the MSC annual.

The legislature passed the Montclairion charter without opposition following an amending of the constitution to provide general membership with a vote following participation in the production of 50% of the issues of a semester.

The amendment also called for general members to vote for editors and to be able to override a decision of the editorial board with a two-thirds majority vote.

In two separate pieces of legislature, the SGA upper the salary of the SGA summer director to $3 per hour from the previous $2 per hour and appointed SGA president-elect Mike Messina to the post.

The legislature passed a bill to investigate the possibilities of instituting an affirmative action program in the SGA and its subsidiary organizations. Such a program would actively seek out minority opinion and input by recruiting specific minorities.

SGA Roundup

A hearing is still before the Civil Liberties Division in Newark concerning charges of discrimination against Dr. Lois More, of the MSC history department, filed by Dr. Jane Price of New York. Price claims she was told by More that men were preferred for a position in the department.

According to More, the incident took place in the fall of 1970 when 66 candidates were recruited for a position in Eastern Studies. Interviews were offered to all candidates whose credentials were in by December 1, 1970. Out of the 66 recruits, she continued, only 11 men and two women took advantage of the interviews.

More explained that she interviewed nine applicants at the American Historical Association Meeting in Boston. Three of the applicants she spoke to on campus with Dr. Richard Barker and another she spoke to on the phone.

"I FEEL that there is no basis for the charges made against me," More stated, "I never said that I wouldn't hire a woman, or anything else to that effect," she added.

Price could not be reached for comment.

"The question doesn't come down to qualifications," More stressed, "Price only has to prove she meets minimum qualifications for the hearing."

Price, according to More, who was interviewed by Barker and herself, did not meet up to the qualifications that Dr. John Olinek, who eventually acquired the position, did. Olinek, unlike Price, had previous teaching experience, lived in Japan and Taiwan and did research in the concerned area, More stated.
African Relief Drive
Brings In Over $200

More than $200 has been collected at MSC for the African Relief Drive and is still going, according to James Harris, assistant dean of students, and Dr. Dorothy Cinquemani, anthropology professor.

Harris and Cinquemani helped to spearhead the drive at MSC, along with the Black Student Co-operative Union (BSCU).

The drive began with a fast on May 1 in hopes that money normally spend on food would be donated to the program which will benefit victims of severe droughts in Africa.

Psych Minor to Stress Community Involvement

By Rosanne Rosty

The MSC psychology department will be offering a new minor program in community psychology. According to Dr. Leonard Buchner, psychology professor and program coordinator, one objective of the program is to "practice what we preach."

Buchner feels that the "college should not be separated from the community." Therefore, one requirement of the minor program is community fieldwork.

"The community psychology program will help to get psychology off the hilltop ivory tower and out to the streets where the people are," Buchner commented.

EXAMPLES OF community psychology are home visitations and a project known as "meals on wheels" in which elderly people and accident victims are brought food, Buchner explained.

"This program is one of the few courses that is truly multi-disciplinary," Buchner continued. "A psychologist can't work alone, he needs other people such as a social worker, a minister or a nurse to help him," Buchner said.

Accordingly, the minor program will include three semester hours of a multi-disciplinary course. This can be selected from suggested courses in the anthropology, psychology, home economics, geography and urban studies, health professions and sociology departments, he continued.

Buchner stated that he will try to find one or two students majoring in home economics or sociology, for example, who are interested in community psychology. He plans to have these students go out and work as a team with the community psychology minors.

A new course entitled "Introduction to Community Psychology" will be one of the required courses for the new minor, Buchner stated. He added that this course will give theoretical background for the required fieldwork.

Some Trust Helps

At this Tuesday's SGA meeting, Class One organization budgets went through in what could be record time. There was a minimum of discussion and no alterations in any budget.

One speculation offered was that the legislature spent more time discussing guidelines and appropriations for each organization rather than on each actual expenditures of the organizations.

In other words, the SGA would be more concerned with what organizations get what portion of the $60 student activities fee rather than with what the organizations actually do with the money. In a sense, they are trusting the Class Ones to know where their cash is best spent.

Out-going SGA treasurer Maria Oliva stressed to the legislature that in dealing with actual spending lines for an organization, the group was playing around with something they "know nothing about."

While it is up to the legislature to make certain that spending lines are not flagrantly abused, the Class One organizations must retain some sort of autonomy. By letting the Class One budgetary requests go through unchanged, they displayed a trust in the judgement of the organizations; a trust that is to be commended and hopefully will be continued.

Congratulations!

Congratulations are in order to Mike Mesina, Manny Menendez, Sherrie Morgen, Peter Lipoi and Angelo Genova for their victories in last week's SGA elections.

After a relatively low-key campaign, the five emerged victorious. With the change in personnel at the end of this month, it is hoped that a drastic shift in policy will not be experienced in the SGA. Student government has developed strength over the past two years, especially on a state-wide level. This collective power should not be ignored by the incoming administration.

Julie’s Talk Not Startling

This past weekend, President Nixon’s daughter Julie firmly squashed the growing speculation that her father might be pressured into resigning. "If the House impeaches him," she said, "he won’t quit. He’ll go right through with the Senate trial. Even if there’s only one senator who’d stand by him, he’s taking the chance." Such a revelation is hardly startling. Throughout his entire political life, Richard Nixon has been a fighter. From the Hiss-Chambers spy case, to the Checkers speech, right up to Watergate, he has displayed an extraordinary amount of chutzpah. But while he may be long on guts, he is painfully short on charm.

OPEN CLOSET

Nixon is well aware of his shortcomings. He knows that he lacks Eisenhower’s father image or Jack Kennedy’s sense of humor. He has always understood that while the skeletons of other politicians are decently buried, his own closets will be painstakingly scrutinized by the devoted corps of Nixon haters.

Bugging, for example, is nothing new. During the Kennedy Administration, Attorney General Robert Kennedy tapped the phones of Dr. Martin Luther King and Vice President Lyndon Johnson. Our two most revered Founding Fathers, Jefferson and Hamilton, regularly intercepted each other’s correspondence. Oh well, that’s politics.

But Nixon is treated differently. The White House transcripts reveal that he was so preoccupied with the legal angles of Watergate—as his conduct is branded “shabby.”

And after all this moralizing, who is the front-runner for 1976? Teddy Kennedy. The same paragon of virtue who spent ten hours after the Chappaquiddick accident contriving a story for the police, then huddled for a week with his “brain trust” composing a televised plea for sympathy. Unfortunately, no tapes of those conversations are available.

DUBIOUS PRIORITIES

Of course if Kennedy reacted less than nobly to a difficult situation, he was only being human—a luxury seemingly denied to Richard Nixon. All our great Presidents, as being tough politicians, have abused the powers of that office. But destroying Nixon has become such a lucrative pastime over the last few months...

At this moment, President Nixon and Henry Kissinger are working doggedly to reduce the danger that our planet will be made lifeless in a nuclear holocaust. If these two men can create a stable balance of power, it may be sufficient to carry mankind safely through this troubled century. And that seems just a wee bit more important than finding out who bugged Larry O’Brien’s phone.

Statement Was Incorrect

By Patricia Mercorcelli

In last week’s MONTCLARION, statements were made concerning a comment I was reported to have said to Paula Curtis. Miss Black MSC. That remark was given as “No white students were complaining.”

I never have and never would make such a statement. I do not know who Nemin Buyukmihci heard but it was not I.

Some Contend Kogan Harassed by CAR

To the Editor:
We wish to express our dissatisfaction with the method of the Committee Against Racism (CAR)'s attack against professor Michael Kogan and with the hostility to free thought inherent in the charges made against him. Since the academy, the place in which all ideas may be openly debated, we find CAR's willingness to suppress certain forms of expression antithetical to the academic process and inhibitory of the learning potential of both students and faculty.

Our concern in this case is that the college continue to exist as a form for ideas wherein scholars need not be harassed and maligned with irresponsible rhetoric each time an ideologue makes an appearance. That Kogan has been personally attacked for ideas not his own, represents a deterioration of the academic environment to an ominous degree. We hope that an open and respectful atmosphere can be generated in which the substantive issues can be rationally settled.

Israel Imperialistic

In her early days when she had just wrested the land of Palestine from its rightfult inhabited, Israel was fond of poverty as a policy. Any attempt at socialism would be very hard put to find anything socialist about Israel. In its early days, being a benefactor of the developing countries. But Israeli government relations with developing countries are like her politics in general--designed to serve the purpose of world imperialism.

INTERESTS
The ruling classes in Israel pretend to present Israel as a moderate, socialist nation whose interests are somehow supposed to be compatible with "third world" interests. This has enabled Israel to act as an intermediary for imperialism. It takes for instance Israel's relationship to African nations. Israel single outs for its attention and assistance those bodies of South Africa, the Portuguese colonies, Rhodesia and West Africa. These countries were not among the more reactionary, colonized based nations of Africa. Israel readily supplies military aid and assistance to its friends in those countries. The Israeli government has become very expert in training elite military forces, and these forces are employed by Israel in its genocidal wars against the Arab nations.

In Chad, Israel trained forces to fight against the peoples' armies of the National Liberation Front of Chad. Even in Ethiopia, Israeli military experts trained soldiers to fight the guerrillas on the Ethiopian border and as a token of her appreciation, Ethiopia rewards Israel by allowing the Israelis to establish a military base on islands off the Ethiopian coast, perhaps to insure that no new revolutionary activity would emanate from that part of Ethiopia.

ASSURANCE
The effect of Israel's relations with these nations has been to assure herself of a degree of public relations from which to aid in the prevention of peoples' movements forming to free Africa from the yoke of imperialist domination.

Israel and her politics should be studied in the proper perspective. Her statements and leaders present Israel to the world as a nation engaged in a struggle for survival, when the struggle she is engaged in is now one of expansion and domination.

The modern-day actions of the United Nations (as well as of the rest of the world) are not indoctrin of the rhetoric of Israel's actions. This is demonstrable. Democratic alliances are placed and the nations who support her are another indication. Her genocidal wars against the Arabs and the Arab people are a prime example of these alliances.

To the Editor:
I afer want to comment on some of the statements made by Steve Prentiss in last week's MONTCLARION.

I agree with Lewis that there is truly been a lack of black music played on WMSC. The radio station has been geared toward the pleasing of its white listeners for as long as I can remember and I have been a full-time, on campus student for three years.

The only black music I did hear came on when they had "black DJ's." During their shows also I heard some types of white music. This has been gradually to the pleasure of its black listeners. Now black DJs are on the air and they played only white music.

I feel that it is a total injustice to the black DJs and the minorities that this type of music is not fairly represented. Why is it that the white DJs are given more recognition and have to play "art" type of music, while the black DJs are denied this opportunity to express themselves and their feelings?

I totally disagree with Frank Kingdon Smith's contention that the radio station is not a democracy. Although the FCC has stipulated that any broadcast medium is be geared toward the public interest, convenience and necessity, who is really interested in the public interest of the station? Is it the big businessmen of Montclair, Bloomfield and Cedar Grove? Am I? Glick

I truly feel everyone and anyone is entitled to voice their opinion whether they be black, white, Chicoan, etc., without the absurdities of "brown, purple and green" people. I think all who condemn and are irked by Fonda Lewis's reply to WMSC's situation should take another look at themselves and ask: "Who am I to judge?"

I am quite sure that they are white and unappreciative of Lewis concern as well as those who have been so discerned that they could not speak. Both Steve Prentiss and Andrew Pat are making Lewis look like a fool and feel quite insulted. As a woman, I feel that both are accusing her right to speak not just for the racial discrimination but recognition of the other members (blacks) on MONTCLARION campus. Both should not be so quick to condemn without at least giving Lewis a hand fairly.

It seems as though most whites on this campus are so afraid of non-whites revolutionizing this campus. I think they would feel secure if we - non-whites - would just sit around, as usual, and just become more suppressed through and by their dumbass resolutions. Okay, maybe she does not, like myself, know exactly what is happening here in hell? I honestly doubt if they do! Have been both questioning people involved.

"Lewiss is the only narrow-minded person who should be torturing and punishing people. She is engaged in a campaign of creating friction between black and white students, a situation which would surely exist if more people believed as she does." Both would just love to "torture and punish" her and myself and many more who are so called "narrow-minded."

NO students at local or state negotiations.

Chairman, as well as management-oriented administration have become the ever present tide eliminating the autonomy.

There are many issues forthcoming that are subject to local negotiations. Quality education, curriculum and all-college governance are issues which concern the students.

Students are the majority portion of this college. If we are not seated at local negotiations this essential element of the academic community is removed. Therefore, our college will not progress but will wallow in the stagnation of politics and self-interest.

For the past two months I have been the object of the hostile attention of something called the "Committee Against Racism" (CAR). They did this to win the attention of the campus by making in a series of semi-literate articles on a wide variety of topics of ludricous to label this publication as obscurantist. They have seized on the passion that can only harm the cause of racism is so all-encompassing as to obscure any intelligent discussion of racist; "The belief that one culture according to James Harris, assistant communication. The results of the survey were indicative of the social extent, of racism on campus. Of the blacks questioned believing the survey were indicative of the social change without any restructuring in students, stated that BSCU has set a pace for all campus activities and organs are inevitably to serve the interest of MSC students. Failure to address itself. Though intent may not have been very constructive and encouraging. This group is made up of people who have never met me yet who are expressing their own thoughts on what I said in it. The article in question was a review of a book on race relations by Max Geltman. In the review I discussed several of Geltman's positions including his view that "The black family structure is marathons the father of being either absent completely or only temporarily present. Is this racism? Some have a national television network carried a program produced by blacks which reported the latest government finding that virtually all of black households are headed by women; that is, totally without a father present in the home. Add to this, the number of black households in which the male adult is "only temporarily present" and you have the same finding that Geltman reported in his book and with which I agreed. I have never heard any criticism of the idea that there may be any white-denying the existence of the "absent father syndrome" in the black community. The first requirement for solving a problem is to recognize that it exists. Any why should this problem not exist? For 300 years, white America engaged in a systematic destruction of the black family. A husband would be sold to a plantation in Alabama, the mother and end up in Georgia, the children perhaps in Mississippi or Virginia. The horrors of slavery have taken their toll on all of us, including the black family. But to CAR, the very mention of this and similar problems plagues the black community constitutes racism? Thus, those who would exploit the racism issue short circuit all attempts to solve serious problems by denouncing as racists all who acknowledge that the problems exist. Ghetto Drop Out Problems By Kai Dixon is a piece which has been labelled as racist by CAR is the following: "With the dropping out of just one minimum points unflinchingly to the widespread absence of educational motivation and initiative in the black community." Is this racism? Every responsible student of the problem has been appalled at the high school dropout rate in ghetto areas as well as the small number of blacks going on to college. No one in his right mind would claim any genetic causes for this state of affairs but an the same time no one wishing to help the situation would deny the existence of the problem. The point is that had I not recognized the existence of the problem of black dropouts I would have been motivated to do something to alleviate it. That I should now be hitting back at CAR is outrageous to say the least. CHARACTER ASSASSINATION By Kai Dixon, reporting the new McCarthyism of CAR over the past weeks has been both distressing and encouraging. I have been characterized as a racist without the slightest evidence to support such a charge. It is disturbing enough when this type of character assassination comes from sources outside the campus-us was true in the mid-1950's. When it comes to the black community itself, it is profoundly depressing. The same time, I have been reassured of the basic soundness of the intellectual community. New McCarthyism on this MSC Campus

By Kai Dixon

In September 1968, under the new Educational Opportunity Fund Program (EOF), 75 disadvantaged black students arrived at MSC to begin undergraduate studies. Since that time there has been little concerted effort to bridge the gap between the races. As a result of this failure, interracial relations at MSC have been deplorable. A random sampling of 100 MSC students between April 29-May 12, it was revealed that there was little, if any, interracial communication. The results of the survey were indicative of the sociological gulf between blacks and whites. RACISM When questioned about racism, 58% of the whites surveyed believed that blacks tended to block race out of proportion as opposed to 82% of the blacks questioned believing that whites tended to play down the extra emphasis on race. Clearly many white Americans do not realize or will not admit that blacks and other minority Americans are put at a disadvantage by their beliefs. Further, 70% of the black students surveyed believed that blacks had tended to be basically racist as compared to 38% of the whites believing the same. Some of the most glaring manifestations of interracial tensions are the popularity of the BSCU/MONTCLARION incident. In both cases, criticism and charges of blatant racism and inactivity on the part of the Pipeline and on the part of the community are rampant. The first requirement for solving requires that it is recognized that this problem exists. It is not obvious that this problem does not exist! According to English major Ray Phillips, who conceived and organized the event, the concert will employ lighting effects, slides, props and quadrophonic sound to recreate pictorial interpretations of various bands on the recording. A live band will add to the Pink Floyd sound in their renditions, while taped segments from the album will augment slides and film footage of such scenes as the Apollo XI space shut-off.

According to producer-director Phillips, the concert is "95% student organized" and completely on a volunteer basis. The theme of the concert will be "man's relationship to the universe" to be explored in pictures and sound.

Thriller

By Mike Finnegan

Suspense thrillers without a comfortable director at the helm can easily deteriorate into formula emptiness. And almost everything In successful themes are present — the Don Siegel's new film "The Black Windmill" is one of these.

"The Black Windmill" is built around a British events that don't possess interesting qualities in this movie — a British secret service agent becomes a fugitive when as he tries to recover his kidnapped son he is framed for failing marital relations. That sounds very amusing. But THE characters and the events don't possess interesting qualities in this movie — a British secret service agent becomes a fugitive when as he tries to recover his kidnapped son he is framed for failing marital relations. That sounds very amusing.

Michael Caine as Major Tarrant the emotionless antihero is a natural in the role, but he makes the character neither complex nor appealing (the advertising milks his past appearance in "The Ipcress File"). Tarrant's superiors are supposed to be cold and callous men, and all of the actors in these roles perform with bland indifference, even though it is filmed on location of Hitchcock.

Siegel attempts some touches of humor, ribbing the British police and their ways of getting things done but it seems quite awkward and out of place in a film in which the images and action should knock us out, but don't. His budget is obviously more generous, and he does provide some decorative scenes of the European countries. But "The Black Windmill" is as bland and cold as its characters, with not very much to recommend it. It has neither the slick action of "Dirty Harry" nor the tight editing and compelling script of "Invasion of the Body Snatchers."

The plot of "The Black Windmill" cries out for action, quality performances and a modicum of emotion — all of which it doesn't get, and lost in a stale formula format, the viewer feels this lack.

Squaws Upset in Net Finale

By Carol Rozak

The Montclair State women's tennis team was upset for the second consecutive time as they dropped their final match Tuesday afternoon to Brooklyn College 4-3. Their previous loss was to William Paterson College, 3-2.

In singles play Ellen Fishc trounced her opponent 6-0, 6-0, bringing her record to 6 wins and 1 loss. Didi Wein picked up the other singles win 3-6, 7-5, 7-6.

PIXXIE FALCON had a disappointing season, dropping her fourth match 7-5, 6-0. Sue Marchese and Ann Catroppa also were defeated 6-4, 6-3 and 6-2, 7-5.

Roberta Vasko and Mary Ellen Mahan had a terrific season, picking up their seventh win (against one loss) as they survived a tense tiebreaker 6-3, 4-6, 7-6.

The second doubles team, Gail Hamersma and Cathie Serbeck, did not do as well, as they allowed their Brooklyn opponents to sweep by them 7-6, 6-0.

Overall, the women's tennis team compiled a disappointing 4-4 record, and stronger opposition must be confronted in the near future as the girls will be going into fall tennis come September.

MSC Has Ringers Ready

The national championship of college pinball will be on the line when Montclair State's representatives trek to Jersey City State College's Voids Recreation Hall tomorrow at 11 a.m. The Gothbros are understandably recognized as national champs since they haven't lost yet while the MSC contingent will be playing in its first match. Early odds make JSCU the strong choice.

THE MR. PINBALL trophy, a silver ball with a pin insert, will be awarded to the winning team as a symbol of national supremacy. MSC captain Barry Friedman seems confident of gaining control of the moment on the basis of the Indians' dominance over JSCU in other sports. A crowd of better than 300 is expected to pack the pinball hall, with the cheerleaders, trainers and a medical crew in attendance. The Jersey City school has been overtaken with Pennant fever, and are known to upset visiting teams with their enthusiasm.
Marchese and Schmitt Take Honors

By Rich Keller
The New Jersey State Athletic Conference tennis championships, held at Montclair State this past weekend, saw MSC's Kim Marchese and Kevin Schmitt crowned as doubles champions while Tom Krukiel had to settle for a runner-up spot in singles competition.

"Marchese and Schmitt get along and work well together," Coach George Petty said. Petty continued, "They played excellent tennis, it was really fun to watch."

Krukiel, who had a bye during the opening round, defeated John Bacha of Trenton State College in the semi-finals, 6-3, 6-0. Then in the finals he lost to Joe McGrath of GSC, 8-1, 6-2.

The Indians' coach, Marilyn Taiga reported. "John Fox (coach of GSC) has told me that this year's team is the finest team he has ever had."

THE TEAM state championship was won by the Profs of GSC, as they scored eight points. The Tribe's entries scored six points, capping second place.

In the Indian's last regular season match, the Profs bombarded MSC, 8-1.

"None of the matches were even close," Petty Stated. He added, "John Fox (coach of GSC) has told me that this year's team is the finest team he has ever had."

MSC had a final record of 8-4 and though it may not look too good, Petty was "satisfied." It hurt us to lose Toby List at the beginning of the season, but the team came around and played good, solid tennis," Petty concluded.

Squaws' Runs: Better Late Than Not at All

By Chris Natoli
Waiting till the last moment isn't always advisable. But the Montclair State women's softball team can attest to the fact that winning is sweet no matter how late you start rolling. The Squaws were held to one hit through the first five innings of Tuesday's game with Queens College, but scored 13 times in the last three frames to come from behind and beat the Knights 13-12 in extra innings.

The score tied at 12-12 in the top of the eighth, the Squaws' JoAnn LaVorgna drew a walk and stole second. Louise Andriola lined a single to left that Knight leftfielder Mary Ann Jancewiz couldn't handle.

The ball made a baseline through her legs, while LaVorgna streaked home with the go ahead run.

SQUAW HURLER Pat Killian was faced with a mild threat in the bottom of the inning, but struck out the last two batters to strand a runner on second and end the game. The Knights had forged ahead 7-0 with the help of two big innings.

The Squaws made up that margin in the top of the sixth, sparked by a three run homer by Maria Web that tied the game at 7-7.

In the seventh, MSC's LaVorgna led off with a walk, stole second and went around to third on catcher Maddy Tilker's bad throw to second. Andriola followed with a pop fly to the shortstop, but LaVorgna caught Queens napping and tagged up to score on the play.

Linda Primera kept the inning going with a single and was forced to second when Andriola got a free pass.

RANDI BURDICK drove both runners in with a line double to give MSC a 10-7 lead. Michele Mazanec then singled and went around to second on a throwing error by Judy Spina, while Burdick scored.

Julie Schroeder drove in Mazanec and scored on an error in the last two batters to strand a half point due to a doublet match rain-out.

But Queens came right back to tie the game at 12-12. The Knights put together a one out rally on two hits, an error and five walks. Four of them in succession. Tilker finally ended the merry go round by grounding out to short.

"The girls were lucky to win," Petty said. "Between poor defense and little hitting it's tough to make a comeback," she added.

MSC coach Marilyn Taiga reported. "Between poor defense and little hitting it's tough to make a comeback," she added.

Taiga will be praying that the Squaws won't have to make any more comebacks. Time may not be on their side next time.

MSC Nine Razes Gothics, Eyes Conference Crown

DeJianne, who now has 11 home runs for the season and 22 for his career, both records, connected for a leadoff homer in the second then added a two run blast in the sixth inning. Petite, who also had three singles for the day, followed DeJianne’s first shot with one over the centerfield fence.

The Indians opened the scoring with three runs in the second with the help of those two home runs, a triple by John Scoras and a two out single by DeJianne, run by Dan Dunn. They added two more runs in the third, aided by a walk, a double by Kevin Donohoe and back to back runs producing singles by DeJianne and Petite. This gave the Tribe a 3-0 lead and with fire-balling Rich Waller on the mound it looked like it was going to be an easy game.

But the Gothics had other plans and rallied for four runs in the third on two sacrifice singles, a walk and a hit batter.

SHORTSTOP RICH Casey led off the inning with a Texas-League single to center and promptly stole second base. A free pass to first and a hit batter loaded the bases with no outs. Second baseman Mark Sheridan drilled a single up the middle and the first two runs scored and cut the lead to 5-2. Designated-hitter John Gaddis then laid down a perfect bunt down the third base line to again fill the bases.

Two consecutive force outs brings home two more runs and the Gothics were right back in the ball game. But from there on, Waller shut them off allowing only one more hit while retiring 18 of the last 19 men he faced, including 11 in a row.

The Indians added solo runs in the fourth and fifth innings and never looked back after that. In the fourth they scored with the help of only one base hit. Tony Scarlatelli stroked a two out single to left and proceeded to steal second. Catcher Stu Richter then hit a hot smash to second which Sheridan bobbled for an error. Scarlatelli never hesitated and scored without even drawing a throw.

In the fifth McCaffrey did the same as he hit a liner his third hit of the day to left field and was pushed to third by another hit off the bat of Scoras. He then scored on a double to left by Karl Gordon. The Indians added two runs each, in the sixth and ninth to ice the game away.

STRETCHING THE POINT: Jersey City State’s catcher Jim Garrick (9) leaps high into the air in search of the sometimes elusive baseball as MSC’s Tony Scarlatelli (15) slides to score the Indians’ sixth run. MSC won 11-4 to keep alive hopes for a conference title.

Squaws Run Past TSC in Last Meet

By Len Guida

Enjoying both sunny weather and swift performances, Montclair State women’s track team ended their season with a 3-4 record by defeating Trenton State College 89-60. However, Cathy Mosolino, who won both the shot put at 33 feet 3 inches and the high jump at 4 ft. 6 in., will be graduating along with Caroline Boyd. Coach Joan Schleede will have some difficulty replacing them.

"Mosolino competed in four field events in each meet," Schleede commented, "But the squad is a young one, with seven freshmen and nine first-year competitors. All we need next year is some depth," she added.

The GIRLS didn’t lack depth against TSC as they captured eight of a possible 13 firsts. Alice Thompson set a school record in the mile with a 5:46.4 clocking and also won the 880 yd. run in 2:41, Patty Garty sprinted to a 65.3 sec. victory in the 440 yd. dash, in the hurdles, Leslie Romano ran to victory in 12.3 and Ann Halton threw the javelin 110 ft., 9 in. for a first place finish. The 440 yd. relay of Latania King, Carol Mazugian, Cathy Dwyer, and Diana Cristoferson whizzed to a 58.2 sec. win.

"The girls worked hard all year and I was very pleased with the whole season," Schleede concluded, hoping this year’s experience will make for a stronger squad next year. With all but two girls returning next year, the team should have the basis for a winning season.

Kean Sticks Indians

By Tony Caferro

The Montclair State lacrosse team ended their season by defeating City College of New York 15-7. The win was a good way to end the campaign and might have taken away some of the sting from losing their post-season tournament hopes in the Kean College game last Friday.

The men from Kean defeated the Indians 15-5, led by the superb goalstending of Jim Montalbano who recorded 26 saves. The contest started out with the play being even and remained scoreless until the 6:08 mark when Indian Tim Flynn found the cords. Then the Squires took over the score-sheet by making all their shots count.

MSC Coach Glen Brown lamented over this harsh fact. "We actually controlled the ball for three-quarters of the game in our own end," he pointed out. "We just couldn’t put it in the net."

The Indians opened the scoring in the third, aided by a walk, a double by DeJianne and retired 18 of the last 19 men he faced, including 11 in a row.

The Gothics had other plans and rallied for four runs in the third on two sacrifice singles, a walk and a hit batter.

SHORTSTOP RICH Casey led off the inning with a Texas-League single to center and promptly stole second base. A free pass to first and a hit batter loaded the bases with no outs. Noting that the conference championship hinges on the last two games of the season and one more loss means elimination, the Montclair State baseball team did not let the pressure bother them as they took on Jersey City State College 11-4 on Tuesday afternoon. They followed with a win over Kean College
