Rev. Thomas Davis

Goes to New Ministry

campus minister and chaplain of Newman House from 1950 to 1956, is moving to a position as pastor at St. Paul's Church in the Greenville section of Jersey City. He will be succeeded by Father Kenneth Newman.

WHEN ASKED about his departure from MSC, Davis noted his feelings are mixed. "I realized that my involvement on a commuter campus could not be very deep and that I would have to come here and go back often.

Davis described Newman House as "an important part of my life experience." Newman House has been used to hold various seminars and as a meeting place during the facutly strikes of 1969 and 1974.

SOME OF his other accomplishments include the initiation and continuation of the CCP program, which is a seminar on religions of the seventeens which gives Nutley to its participants. Davis has also done extensive work on the Committee for Better Human Relations, the Montclair Fair Housing Committee, and other similar projects.

Davis also approximated that 5 to 20 hours per week were spent counseling students in the late sixties. Davis was very involved in the peace movement, as well as the struggle for racial integration. In addition, a great part of his work included "saving the mess on campus and in Newman House."

University administrators have been supportive of his values and intentions.

His extensive list of accomplishments include involvement in the purchase and renovation of Newman House, a facility on Valley Road which serves as a meeting place not only for Catholics but for all members of the campus community.

Davis describes Newman House as "an important part of my life experience." Newman House has been used to hold various seminars and as a meeting place during the faculty strikes of 1969 and 1974.

AFT, State Lack Final Agreement

The causal issues of the strikes — teachers' salary increase and job security — remain unsolved in its aftermath, as negotiations between the board of New Jersey State College Locals of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) and the state continue from last Thursday and Friday to the end of this week.

"Of the strike issues resolved, not included are the next fiscal year's wages and fringe benefits for teachers," said Frank Mason, a state's negotiator, "and 8% maximum increase over last year. Given the rate of inflation, such a limit represents a substantial reduction of funds."

HE PETITION also alleges that the Board of Higher Education has recommended a $400,000 cut in EOF statewide. The EOF office in Trenton denies that such a cut will take place.

The state would not comment on the 8% maximum increase. The press office of N.J. Governor Brendan T. Byrne did say that all departments would circulate a petition in protest of the alleged cutbacks.

According to the petition, the EOF directors will be told to limit all budget requests to a maximum 8% increase over last year. Given the rate of inflation, such a limit represents a substantial reduction of funds."

Goes to New Ministry

Rev. Thomas Davis, full-time campus minister and chaplain of Newman House since September, 1967, is leaving Montclair State after over seven years of involvement in campus life.

Davis, who also served as part-time installation of EOF statewide. There are 600 students enrolled in EOF, Reuben M. Johnson, director of MSC's EOF program.

Students from Chaplin Hall dramatized their argument against classes held in dorm when they erected a mock classroom outside the door of MSC President David W.D. Dickson's office on Tuesday, complete with desks, chairs, blackboards and erasers, according to SGA vice president Manny Menendez.

The action was the result of a dorm meeting Tuesday night, explained Menendez, when dorm residents decided to demonstrate their extreme concern about dorm space being used as an instructional facility. Dean of Students Lawrence Blanton identified the group as "a very vocal group from Chaplin who wanted to call attention to the issue."

EXPRESSING HIS regrets about the unfortunate lack of class space on campus, Blanton conceded that classes in the dorm may be done so "in an excessive fashion," but reminded the students of the compromise reached last year between the administration, permitting space in Chaplin Hall for space in their residence with academic facilities.

Blanton stated that the original compromise agreement is almost two years old, but the increasing demand for dorm space as well as class space has turned the spotlight to the issue.

In recent months Vice President for Academic Affairs Irwin H. Gawley informed Menendez and Jerome R. Quinlin, director of institutional planning and budget, that steps would be taken to eliminate classroom space in the dorm in the very early and late hours. He stated in a letter to Menendez and Quinlin that he could not see the justification of giving up the dorm space for space in "sub-standard classrooms on campus...such as the old bookstore."

Gawley said, "I would like to remind the Space Allocations Committee that during the past year it was the intent of the College to take over Chaplin Hall completely as an academic facility."

GAWLEY CITED the compromise between the former Space Allocations Committee and the housing people as justification for the dorm-classrooms. Blanton referred to an ultimatum-type agreement between Dickson and dorm residents that gave dorm students choices: either they accept the compromise and share the classrooms with academic operations, or they find housing off-campus.

At the time of the demonstration, Dickson was in Little Falls, "vigorously persuading the town council to rebuild the annex for the off-campus apartments," said Blanton. The town of Little Falls has categorically denied the college permission to build a housing facility on the vacant lot on Clove Road, near the northwest exit of the college. Blanton explained that the apartments were to facilitate dorm students as well as others, so that Chaplin Hall might be completely converted to instructional use.

Gawley has declared that MSC's compromise agreement is almost two years old, but the increasing demand for dorm space as well as class space has turned the spotlight to the issue.

Loss of a Friend Spurs Family Fund
By Michelle Bell

Tragedy hit MSC when 21-year-old freshman Everett Dancy, a Stone Hall resident, set fire to himself with charcoal fluid early morning, Dec. 23.

The Stone Hall resident assistant RA (contact a housing director) and Dickson dorm residents immediately after Dancy's screams were heard in the hall, following his attempts to drown the flames in the shower.

He was rushed to Mountainside Hospital in Montclair, where he died two weeks later after fighting desperately for his life.

In memory of Dancy, his friends will be accepting donations beginning Monday to help Dancy's mother pay his hospital bills.

One of the first to reach Dancy was Jerry Cupples, Stone Hall RA who, along with Dancy, was ripped on camera, was conscious enough to ask them for help, at 3:30 am.

LOOKING WISTFUL, Cupples stated, "He (Dancy) always wanted to deal his own problems. He was a determined individual. Though other articles have cited reasons for the suicide, Dancy never left a direct reason. Instead, it was gathered from the letters Dancy's sister read, that it was a conglomeration of personal problems.

Security responded promptly and found Dancy sitting at the lobby desk, conscious, though his body was stripped and charred, according to James Lockhardt, director of security. He said, "The police questioned Dancy as to the possibility of foul play. However, when they found the gasoline and cinder blocks in his room there were no doubts. A preliminary investigation was made by security who also photographed Dancy's room," continued Lockhardt.

Cupples stated he spoke to Dancy's sister who informed him there was no insurance money to cover hospital bills. Therefore, in memory of Everett, Cupples and Dancy's roommate Rudy Valli, have decided to start a fund to help pay Dancy's phenomenal hospital bills. Their goal is to raise $1000 through donations and the raffling of an almost new black and white TV.

VALLI, who was also on campus that total morning, said, "Everett was a studious person who had planned on being a business major this semester. Before coming here he was at Columbia University for a year, but he had to quit for three years due to finances."

"It's Everett's great love for his mother, who is now collecting disability for an illness, that prompted us to start the fund," said Cupples. They felt this was the one time they could help Dancy as he never asked for anything when he was alive.

John T. Sherman, off-campus housing coordinator, was also there that night. He said, "I worked closely with Everett, who was the vice president of the Resident Hall Federation. Everett was very active in the federation. He had national and regional and was very liked."

"THERE WAS no indication of what Everett was going to do," Cupples stated. "Just three hours before it happened he was in my room talking jokes, he continued.

Valli, who also seemed still shaken by it, said, "After he burnt himself he realized he made a mistake and tried hard to save his life. However, it's not important how he died, but the way he lived. He had lots of friends and is greatly missed."

The New Jersey Student Association (NJSA) is "beginning to look upon itself as a viable student voice," said Angelo Genova in an interview yesterday.
Genova, president of the NJSA, made his remarks after confirming rumors that Kean College threatened to drop out of the association in November because of a disagreement with its handling of the strike.

KEAN WANTED the association to take a unified position against the recent AFT strikes. The decision of the NJSA was to leave every college to themselves in their support or opposition of the strike.

Genova said the Kean threat had a "detrimental effect during the job action, but in due course every disagreement was worked out."
Earl Quenzel, NJSA representative from Gloucester State, called the incident the association's "first great threat." None of the other NJSA members were available for comment.

ACCORDING TO Genova, the organization is currently studying the fiscal crisis and its effect on students.

55% Satisfaction, Says Butler

About 55% of the students at MSC received a full schedule for the spring '75 semester, according to Marshall Butler, registrar.

More students received all the courses they originally subscribed for this semester than in the past, Butler said.

THE REGISTRAR also said that the add/drop process "went well." "A lot of students were accommodated," he continued.
Butler attributed the success of the in-person registration to the fact that since the same methods were used for several semesters, the students "know what to expect."

The registrar's "goal" is to bring full student scheduling up to about 70%. To do this, he said it would require "a bigger commitment on the part of the students and faculty."

HE SAID that courses might have to be scheduled more over an 8 am to 5 pm time period than over the present 9 am to 3 pm period. This would mean that students would have to be on campus a little later, but the scheduling would be completed for more people, according to Butler.

Haller Appointed Library Director

SHE JOINED the library staff in September 1973, advancing through several positions, including Associate Director of the library and Interim Director since February, 1974. Haller has been active in statewide library organizations.

"We look forward to her creative, imaginative leadership," Dr. Irwin H. Gazley, Jr., vice-president for academic affairs, commented in a memorandum, "to provide even better library service for the academic community in these times of severe fiscal limitations."

At Prudential, we believe there's a difference between a job and a career. Whether you're interested in marketing management, applied computer technology, sales, accounting, actuarial, or any one of a number of other areas, the opportunity is always the same: a chance to develop to your full potential. Long-term commitment. On both sides. We're looking for men and women who want to set goals for themselves, and then go after them. A Prudential representative will be visiting your campus soon. Check with your Placement Office for the exact date and make arrangements for an interview. When you consider what to do next year, don't just take a step—pick a direction. A direction with a future.
SOS — Save Our Space

According to a recent brochure put out by the office of research of the NJ Department of Higher Education, space on a college campus in our state has become more precious than sugar or oil. The report cites a percentage growth of 8% in New Jersey college enrollments in fall 1974 over the previous year, more than 18,000 students.

Where? MSC has expanded and expanded in the past decade and it still doesn’t seem to be enough. What with Chancellor of Higher Education Ralph A. Dungan proposing a lid to be placed on college enrollments in the future, there’s trouble in sight.

Mental frustrations at mind-boggling situations like this are easy and such a frustration over the “space crisis” exploded Tuesday night when, for the fourth time in a row, students created a mock classroom in front of MSC President Dr. David W. Dickson’s office.

It’s not altogether wise, now, to give up the idea of holding classes in dorms. Concessions often have to be made and while the inconvenience of encountering a class in progress while trying to sleep into the am or in the pm is quite obviously annoying, disruptive protest should be held in abeyance.

But it is wise, for now, to hold on to whatever facilities we presently have, such as the annexes, be they eyesores or not. As drafty as they are and desolate as they look, they can perform the vital function of housing classes.

If they must be redone to fit certain specifications, then they should be repaired. Whatever bit of relief these structures provided by detouring classes from dorms or other unlikely sites was and still should be, welcome.

If classroom space is ample, it should be noted that the annexes could still provide shelter for some activity such as the currently endangered Student Craft Shop. That concern to jeopardized because of the demands for space imposed by Rathskeller operations.

The goal that should be uppermost in everyone’s mind is the establishment of the most reasonable and comfortable social atmosphere in which to carry on the learning process.

And we all need breathing room....

Davis: A Kind Of Spirit

Everyone who simply boasts a smile or holds the door open for a friend spreads the good news of Christianity. A large contributor to the Christian spirit on campus for these past seven years has been MSC’s Catholic chaplain Rev. Thomas Davis.

Davis is regretfully leaving one ministry to undertake another so the work goes on. And “the work,” if that’s what you’d call the activity of the Newman House community during Davis’ outgoing spirit of talking freely to people and being around all over campus made his presence much closer than if he were living in some imposing inner-city rectory.

Davis has brought the Mass all over campus so that it need not merely be a “Catholic” affair, but an easily accessible means of community worship. During his tenure here the various religious groups have worked closer together, perhaps not by any obvious effort, but just by that basic radiation of spirit.

We wish him the best of luck in his new assignment, the parish of St. Paul’s Church in Jersey City and hope that MSC has made as much of an impression on Davis as he’s meant to us. A fond welcome is extended to Davis’ successor Rev. Kenneth Herbst, along with hopes that he and Newman House will see that “the work” goes on.

Stop US Aid to Vietnam

The news media has recently been giving a lot of attention to the current state of affairs in Vietnam. But with this renewed coverage has come some of the same old lies and deceptions. For as I understand the truth about Vietnam we must look at the history of Vietnam’s struggle for independence.

For centuries Vietnam was under the political and cultural influence of China. In the 19th century, while China was crippled by western imperialism, the French began the takeover of Indochina. When the French seized the Saimal area, the Vietnamese asked China for military assistance but because of its weakened position China was able to do little.

After many years of French domination Vietnam was temporarily controlled by the Japanese during World War II. At the end of the war Japanese occupation of Vietnam ended and the Vietnamese declared their independence. But their independence did not last long.

FRENCH RULE ENDS

The British went to Vietnam and helped the French to restore their rule. But the French troops were armed and supplied by the U.S. and France was able to regain much of its previous control over Indochina. The Vietnamese were determined to win independence and in 1954 the French were defeated in the famous battle of Dien Bien Phu.

At the Geneva conference France recognized the independence of all of Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. The Geneva agreement called for national elections in Vietnam. However, the French did not implement this agreement and the US was opposed to it because of the certainty of Ho Chi Minh’s election. Even President Eisenhower admitted that anyone knowledgeable on Indo-Chinese affairs knew Ho would win with possible 99% of the vote.

MORE AID

The US put billions of dollars into the puppet regime which is established. National elections were never held and US aid continues to support an unpopular, brutal government. The US gives ten times as much aid to president Thieu’s government than either France or China gives to the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and now President Ford wants us to give more.

Our government is not acting in our interest by giving aid to the Saigon regime. The big corporations know that there are great profits to be made from the cheap labor and abundant resources available in Indochina and a favorable government in Vietnam could help exploit these. Our government is acting in the interest of these corporations.

It is becoming more and more difficult to make a distinction between government and big business especially with our beloved new vice-president Nelson A. Rockefeller. We must understand the situation in Vietnam, in spite of the often unsatisfactory news media and we must do what we can to stop US aid to Vietnam.

Disagreements Hinder Document’s Approval

Last spring the SGA spend many hours working on a document entitled "Student Rights, Freedoms, and Responsibilities." This document goes into writing present student rights and privileges that should be adopted by the college and distributed throughout the entire community.

The document was voted upon and accepted in the spring of 1974 by the SGA legislature. Once the work of compiling and coordinating the document was complete and accepted by the students, the next step was for the administration to adopt the document. During the summer months I presented the document to the administration and, in my opinion, felt they were about ready to accept it.

FACULTY DISPLEASED

Unfortunately, the faculty leadership learned of the contents of the document, that it contains policy statements which affect faculty in certain areas. Because the process for grade appeal is altered within this document and this document is more democratic and reasonable for students for their basic rights, the faculty leadership blocked the adoption of this document.

I strongly believe that an academic institution exists for the transmission of knowledge, the pursuit of truth, the development of students, and the general well-being of society. Free inquiry and free expression are indispensable to the attainment of these goals. The faculty leadership has stymied and attempted to remove student rights by refusing to discuss this document with the student representation.

MEETING INCONCEIVABLE

At this particular time, the document is being reviewed by the faculty leadership but they still refuse to meet with students and the administration. The union will not sit down with the other two parties and discuss this very important document.

The students who adopted this document are amenable to changes and revisions within the contents of student rights and responsibilities. What we are requesting is that the faculty meet with us and the administration to draft a document that is acceptable to all three parties.

We as students are simply asking for the right and the opportunity to present our proposal to the faculty and the administration to draft a document that is acceptable to all three parties.

We as students are simply asking for the right and the opportunity to present our proposal to the faculty and the administration in one joint meeting. I contend that students as citizens and people have the right to be heard.
To the Editor:

November 21, 1974 marked an important day in the lives of many students and faculty members of Montclair State College. They briefly experienced what it is like for one day what millions of people all over the world experience every day in their lives—hunger. These students and faculty gave up eating for one day and contributed the money saved to the Oxfam-American Corporation in order to help restore damaged crops in the Third World.

The following is an excerpt from a letter sent to the College Community by Reginald Flax, Executive Director, Oxfam-American Corporation:

On November 21, you thought about hunger. We think you did much more. The “fast for a world harvest” has been a complete success. Whether measured by the number of people involved, the amount of money or “consciousness” raised it is clear that the Fast moved people to begin dealing with the “Food Crisis.” We wish to thank you for sharing this day with us, for involving your friends and neighbors and most of all for contributing to the funds necessary to set up developmental, agricultural projects in the poorer nations.

We know that the “Food Crisis” is intricately tied to political and developmental issues. In order to act so that people in the Third World can become more agriculturally independent and self-sufficient, Oxfam-America believes it is essential to begin to understand how we in the richer countries are connected to those in the poorer countries. At Oxfam believe that for many the Fast was such a beginning.

On behalf of the Oxfam-America Corporation I would like to thank all those who helped in anyway on the day with us, for involving your friends and neighbors and most of all for contributing to the funds necessary to set up developmental, agricultural projects in the poorer nations.

To the Editor:

As traffic director both I and the staff of WMSC have put alot of time and effort into putting the college radio station on the air. It has been brought to my attention by both the students and faculty members at Montclair State College that the radio station has not been played through the public address system of the Student Center during the station’s operating hours of 2 pm until 11:30 pm. We at WMSC are to become as listener oriented as possible. But how are we to if the students who wish to listen to the station while on campus are not permitted to do so. I hope this problem will be alleviated.

Tradition Earmarks Festival

By Mike Finnegar

Tradition was the keynote of the American College Theatre Association’s Northeast Region XII Festival, hosted by the SWC from Jan. 15-18. No new original play nor any extraordinary staging techniques marked the festival's main event, but rather a couture-like showcase of the philosofy of our own state greeted the theatregoers who attended the five productions from various colleges in New York and and Pennsylvania in Memorial Auditorium.

WHAT DID greet the viewer were the works of established playwrights (from ancient Greece to contemporary America) and some artistic and inventive stagecraft in setting and costume design. But most effective in the quintet of plays were instances of stirring representational acting which were highly praised in the various critique sessions in Studio Theater that followed each performance.

This was especially prevalent in the festival’s most warmly received production, John Guare’s “The House of Blue Leaves,” produced by Fordham University, New York. The show was fervently acted by Ben Lustman, not always successful but often harrowing as Stanley Kowalski, but the show was stolen by John Jordan as Mitch. His clumsy, halting portrait earned great favor with the audience and the judges at the critique session afterwards, and was doubly distinguished for being his first acting role.

Annie Malina as Stella Kowalski and Janice Reisnick as Blanche Dubois each had moments of distinction, the set and costumes were appropriate and some great jazz music laced the scene changes.

Musical additions were not the highlight of Hunter College’s production of Tennessee Williams’ “A Streetcar Named Desire,” presented at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, DC in April.

Another production strong in the acting department was the festival’s closing play, Tennessee Williams’ “A Streetcar Named Desire,” presented at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, DC in April.

The slowly-paced production had no standout actors what it did re-create was the restless boredom of Chekhov’s lost individuals at the country house of the title sisters. If the cast was not always as interesting as Chekhov’s dialogue, the judges apparently (as indicated at the mostly affirmative critique session) chalked it up to the establishment of this mood of restlessness in everyday life. Gary Dartt’s pattern-filled wooden set was interesting to look at, if perhaps it suggested more than it captured.

WHERE THE festival strayed from straight representational acting was in the most unfailingly received show, Aristophanes’ “The Birds” (in a translation by Walter Kael), from Edinboro State College, Edinboro, Pa. The cast and the director Elwood Williams stressed obvious comic buffoonery over theawan of believable characters and this resulted in a negative reaction, although the school groups who attended the performance contained more than the slapstick than they might have to flat-out Aristophanes.

The set by M.C. graduate Robert W. Schwartz, representing a huge, white rock formation, and the colorful bird costumes by Nancy Jo Owins sparkled great interest but the show’s slapstick mood and execution were strongly incompatible enough to prod guest judge David Davis of Fordham University, New York City to say that “this show doesn’t belong in the festival.” Davis fellow judges, Miriam Tulin of Hofstra University, NY and Jack Bettenbender of Rutgers/New Brunswick, also pronounced the cast “unseasoned” and the production “unprofessional.”

From the audience at that critique a woman of obvious Greek ancestry spoke up, noting that the essential Greek spirit of calamity and catharsis was totally missing from the Kerr translation used by this company.

THE FESTIVAL’S other highlights outside of the five plays included the presentation of a gold medalion for outstanding service to college theater to famed Broadway director Alan Schneider (“Who Afraid of Virginia Woolf?” “A Delicate Balance”), a performance of black ensemble theater, The Root Ensemble from Rutgers/New Brunswick, and a panel discussion on touring for the festival.

In addition, the regional competition for the Irene Ryan Foundation Acting Scholarship awards opened the festival on Jan. 16 in Studio Theater. The top prize of $500 and a trip to the national finals at the Kennedy Center in April was captured by Bill Foote of Villanova University, Villanova, Pa. from a field of eleven contestants.

Tradition was in evidence, then, in the selection of material, in the style of execution and in the low-keyed atmosphere that one can’t disagree with respect to college theater. But, even though one may have had to look a bit for them, the rewards were there.

EMMITTsburg, Md. — It took Montclair State's basketball team about four hours to journey here for its game with Mt. St. Mary's College. Saturday and about 10 minutes for the Indians to lose the contest.

The home squad got off to a quick lead, never trailed after that and eventually came up with a convincing 91-71 decision. It dropped MSC's season mark to 8-7 and continued the wave of on again off again basketball that has marked the Tribe through January.

"IT WAS a good ball game," Montclair State's basketball team coach Ollie Gelston said of the contest. "But we also hurt ourselves in the early going by committing too many fouls. Larry recalled.

Saints. "But we also hurt ourselves in the early going by committing too many fouls. Larry recalled. "We blew five layups within a short period of time at that point."

This cost us our momentum and they took control," Gelston explained. "It was in the first half, however, the Mt. St. Mary's looked as though it had taken control of the game. Leading 16-14, the Saints' George Randall hit on a driving layup and soon after connected on a corner jumper to spark MSC to its first streak of 10 points.

Mt. St. Mary's (91) — Cataline 5-1-12, Gallagher 9-0-0, Kidwell 2-0-4, Maguire 4-0-11, Ranzi 10-1-21, Rice 5-0-10, Rubin 1-0-2, Sweers 0-0-0, Williams 1-2-4, Wentzel 2-2-7, Witherpoon 1-0-2.

Total — 91.

Montclair State (71) — Auerbacher 6-3-15, Hughes 2-1-5, Maguire 4-3-11, Randall 10-1-21, Reec 5-0-10, Rubin 1-0-2, Schnur 2-0-4, Smith 0-0-0.

Total — 71.

"They were a sharp-shooting team and they hurt us in the early going by jumping to a 12-point lead," MSC mentor Ollie Gelston said of the Saints. "But we also hurt ourselves by committing too many fouls. Larry Hughes had three called on him within the first five minutes," he recalled.

Gelston, whose squad won its own Christmas tournament, noted. "The score did not reflect the type of game that was played. Actually it was a see-saw affair until about midway through the half."

That juncture was a three-minute span during the second stanza when Mt. Saint Mary's ran off 10 straight points before MSC's Chuck Holland retaliated with two foul shots.

Bob Reese started the streak for the winners with an outside jumper that shot the home side a 53-49 lead. Four of his mates followed with baskets of their own to advance the lead to 61-49, a deficit that proved to be insurmountable for MSC.

"We blew five layups within a short period of time at that point."

MSC fought back, however, as Holland, John Oakes, Jeff Auerbacher and Pat Hagan each contributed toward a 13-6 burst that narrowed the margin to 31-27. The remainder of the half was closely contested with MSC coming as close as one point on two occasions. The Saints took a 42-39 lead into the lockerroom.

Feats were indeed a problem to both teams. Each side was charged with 25 fouls and five players were forced to desert early after fouling out. For the Indians, Hughes, Auerbacher and Holland all had early evenings.

Holland led both sides in scoring with 28 points and was the only bright spot for MSC.

Montclair State swimming coach Kay Meyer isn’t pulling any punches. Her Squaws opened the season with an easy thrashing of local rival William Paterson College 98-33 but Meyer realizes there may not be many more cakewalks this season.

Meyer showed shades of caution optimism as she pointed to the WPC results and she wasn’t totally disappointed by a 94-46 loss to highly-regarded Yale University. "We’ve cancelled meets against rival teams and have accelerated our schedule this year, so that the rest of the season will be much tougher," she explained.

"MEYER FEELS it will aid the swimming program because “you don’t improve by constantly defeating weaker teams.”"

"The toughest upcoming meets figure to be against Princeton University, Rutgers University and Monmouth College. Meyer mentioned that the swimmers’ strength should lie in their depth. Diane Jaglowski will return after setting 10 MSC freestyle marks over the past two years. Besides her, Pat Conway appears strong in the freestyle. Denise Killean should do well in the butterfly and Beth Schur is a good breaststroke performer."

Rounding out the team are Barbara Berg, Nora Leonardis, Vivian Suarez, Brigitte Welsh, Gail Ludikewitz and Alisa Zulauf. Debbie Ankelein, Martha Curran and Marianne Umholtz will compete in the diving events.

In the Squaws’ opening win, this depth was quite evident. Jaglowski and Killean took three firsts each while Schur garnered two and Conway one. Curran and Ankelein finished one-two in the diving competition.

With last semester's success behind us, the Student Intramural Leisure Council (SILC) is eager to match that success this semester.

SILC's programs will start immediately with applications now out for our bowling league, women's basketball league and our men's own one-on-one basketball tournament. For those of you unfamiliar with this program, here is a capsule summary of the three leagues.

This year for the first time, SILC will provide shirts similar to the men's league. However, a $10 fee must accompany each roster.

On Feb. 10 and 11 (possibly 13) SILC will sponsor a one-on-one tournament. All applications must be returned by Feb. 10 at noon in order to be eligible. There will be two categories of play, the under 6 ft. and the 6 ft. and over. The rules will be explained that night, but you will be prepared to play immediately.

Another SILC challenge this semester will be the improvement of our newsletter, the "SILC." Last semester it was printed at the college and the price per participant for three games is $1.

The women's basketball league will begin play on Mon., Feb. 16 in Panzer Gym. The final deadline for all applications will be Feb. 12 at 3 pm. The winners of five and a maximum of 10 games per roster. Individuals are encouraged to sign up and will be placed on a team.

These are the three events that will begin immediately, but SILC has a lot more planned. Perhaps the highlight of the semester will be March 19, when SILC has rented the South Mountain Arena for ice skating. More information will come out later in the semester. Some other events include a wrestling tournament, a badminton tourney and tennis tournament.

Another SILC challenge this semester will be the improvement of our newsletter, the "SILC." Last semester it was printed at the college but the long delays made it useless. This semester it will be printed outside the college within one day so we hope all our issues are current and that you will now find the newsletter both interesting and relevant.

SILC still has some openings for both men and women in our programs as a referee. The pay is good, however you must set an appointment with Stu Richter in the SILC office to discuss your qualifications. This is a good chance to pick up some spending money, yet get involved at the same time.

SILC wants to announce that the weight room on Monday thru Thursday will be open from 3 pm - 9 pm. This is a great opportunity to work out at your own pace. The hours of the gym and the pool will be announced as they become finalized. If you are interested in becoming a SILC member, we welcome you and remind you that our meeting is every Thursday, at 3 pm on the fourth floor of the Student Center.

Finally, we would like to congratulate the TOP Guns on successfully defending their men's basketball title. We want to wish them and our girl's team the best of luck in the Schaeffer tournament. We are all behing you. If anyone seeks further information, come on up to the SILC office or call 893-5245.

If you were told that a certain women's gymnastic team was weak on the balance beam and lacked the record of last year and beside that contradictory. Montclair State is in this predicament. However, the fact that MSC is strong in the other three events, has seven returns from last year's squad and has scored more points in the first meet of this season than it did in any one meet last year, should make the above seem more feasible.

THE THREE OTHER events (uneven parallel bars, floor exercise and vaulting), should be led by senior Jan King, who won three of the four events at Queens College, the opening match of the season. While King has proven herself the stalwart of the team, a freshman, Debbie Rapp, a graduate of Paramus High School, is just starting her four-year career at MSC and could conceivably blossom into something big in years to come. Both these girls will take on the all-around chores. Having seven of approximately 13 or 14 competitors from this year's squad as veterans isn't going to hurt you and nine times out of ten, will not seeing 89.35 points. The Queens meet ended in an 89.35-76.00 clubbing, MSC coping by dominating all events. "We had nationally rated judges for that meet," new coach Nannette Schnaible commented. She then added happily that "this should be a good indication of how we will do this season."

TO PROVE how significant that point is, it should be noted that last year's finals, diluted to a tenebrous East Stroudsburg State squad, produced 80.73 points, the highest point production of the year.

Schnaible, MSC's second new coach in three years and a former member of the Southern Illinois University gymnastic team, has high hopes for the campaign at hand, "If the Queens meet is any indication of how we will do this year, it looks encouraging."

Schnaible, who takes over for Linda Monaco, now coaching in high school, added, "we hit quite well and should break the 90-point barrier very soon."

"It is a little hard, but it is a short in the depth department," analyzed Schnaible. "But as long as we do good on our spots and in good shape, they concluded."

SCHNAIBLE HERSELF competed in gymnastics at Mishawaka High School (Ind.) and moved on to Southern Illinois University gymnast, where gymnastics is tops. According to Schnaible, "most of the girls there competed on international levels...they were Olympic material," she explained.

The Pioneers finished next to last in the New Jersey State College Athletic Conference standings this past season. Included in their seven losses was a 43-0 debacle to Montclair State.

All Baseball candidates are requested to report today to the main gym from 2 pm. Coaches Clary Anderson and Alex Tornillo will be there to conduct workouts.

It's a Western Inferno Minus Dante

By John Delery

Earlier in the year head coach Larry Sciacchetano thought that only a rash of injuries would keep his potentially powerful team from achieving the recognition it deserved. His worries turned into reality and they couldn't have come at a more inopportune time.

Just when it looked like MSC was going to pull off a major upset against a group of Iowa State University wrestlers who ranked second in the nation it came up one wrestler short. So the Indians took it on the chin. 8-0.

THE REASON for the case of bad arithmetic happened two nights before in Iowa City when Dante Caprio pulled up lame and defaulted to his match against the University of Iowa's Dave Wegenman. Caprio (167) was leading 2-1 in the second period when he tore a hamstring muscle. So what was supposed to be a win and three points for the Indians turned into an unexpected six point gift for the Hawkeyes. Those points meant virtually nothing as the Tribe was pounded 47-0 by the awesome UI attack. But it would seem crucial Monday evening as the Indians faced CCNY for it.

Lehman, on the other hand, was leading 12-8 after the first six matches, it came time for the 167 pound match and on stopped Caprio night. If your answer was yes to the above question take three giant steps backwards. Because it was Mark Thurston. Thurston was an amiable replacement (the won 6-0) but it led to the problem mentioned earlier.

With Thurston having already wrestled there was nobody to face All-American 177 pounder William Gadson. They could have put freshman Jeff Jocaosena on the man to face him but that fiasco shouldn't be wished on anyone. So Sciacchetano turned Jocosaena for the 190-pound bout instead.

With SIX points handed to them the Cyclones were able to close the gap to 15-14 and iced away the match a few moments later when Al Racine pinned Joostema. Steve Caldwell made it close with a 5-3 decision over a gargantuan Robin Wilkman, "small Iowa boy" who tops the scales at 300 and stands 6-foot-4. So just looking around the figures you get this reasoning. If they didn't forfeit to Gadson one of two things could have consolately happened. Either Gadson wins by a superior decision and MSC ties or Gadson wins by a regular decision and MSC wins.

Regardless of the outcome, Sciacchetano is a happy man just the same. "We thought that it was really serious at first and that (Caprio) was through for the season," Sciacchetano offered during a telephone interview Tuesday night. "But he was able to walk around on it a little later that night. So after undergoing a few check-ups we think he'll be ready for the Alps coming up soon," the relieved mentor added.

THE INDIANS started their 12 day excursion to the mid-west with a very convincing 3-0 pasting of the University of Indiana. Then came the hard part. Michigan University and Indiana State followed back to back and the scorestand tallied to 1-2. A victory over the University of Notre Dame (9-1) and a split with Coe College (20-20) put them back to 500. But the insurmountable task of facing both Iowa and Iowa State proved to much to handle. The Indians ended up getting thrashed 26-5, by the University of Northern Iowa.

James Leads Ski Team

By Steve Nuiver

TWO POINTS

James personally undertook the task of getting together a competitive team and he acted as captain and his top-skier when the Indians opened their season last night at Great Gorge. The 22-year-old James is ranked nationally and has competed for the Eastern States Skiing Association. But James sits back and takes it in stride. "I know I'm nationally ranked, but I don't know where because I never bothered to check," admits James as he chops on a BLT.

JAMES GD'T started in skiing at age 12 when he joined a family group on a ski weekend. Since then, he's been a snow nut and an accomplished racer.

"I'm the only one on the squad with any racing experience," the bearded James revealed. "Everyone else is very proficient technically but never got into racing because no one brought it up."

The Tribe will compete in a non-NAIA sanctioned league every Wednesday night at Great Gorge. Included in the loop are such schools as William Paterson College, County College of Morris, Fairleigh Dickinson University and Ramapo College.
