Dungan Offers New Aid Plan

By Josephine Policastro
A proposal for a complete revamping of financial aid was issued by Ralph A. Dungan, Chancellor of Higher Education, late last week.

The result, as reported in last Thursday's Star Ledger, would cut 10,000 students who are now eligible for aid and yet would add approximately 9,000 students who are not aided now. The effect on MSC was not clear.

The Ledger also said the proposal would increase the student aid budget by about $6.4 million.

Dungan seeks to grant financial aid on the basis of student need, with no consideration of merit.

A major emphasis is to simplify the application deadlines and lower the variety of applications now in use.

The proposal would consolidate six state aid programs into one termed the Tuition Aid Program (TAP).

Sam Crane, Executive Director of the New Jersey Student Association (NJSA), said the schedule for implementing the program is extremely tight.

In his timetable for TAP, Dungan is planning implementation for the fiscal year which begins in the fall of 1977. He would have the Board of Higher Education adopt the proposal in January and Brendan T. Byrne, NJ Governor, introduce it in the legislature the same month.

Dungan hopes the legislature would pass it in February.

Crane commented, "It would be extremely surprising to see the legislature process legislation as fast as is proposed."

One intent of TAP is to inform the student on how much aid he or she is eligible for before the time to choose a college.

The program would inform students of how much money they could receive for each type of institution - county, state, private college or Rutgers University.

The formula submitted by Dungan proposes that any student from a five-member family making more than $17,000 would receive no aid.

A student from a family with an income above $12,000 would get no aid if attending a county college. They would receive $250 for a state college, $310 for Rutgers or New Jersey Institute of Technology of $700 for a private college.

If family income is above $15,000 a student would not be eligible for aid to attend a state or county college. They would receive $110 for Rutgers or NJIT or $300 for a private school.

Students from families of $6000 or lower income, could receive $500 for a county college, $700 for a state college, $760 for Rutgers or NJIT or $1600 for attendance at a private college.

Dungan says that TAP would give more aid to more students.

The plan uses Estimated Family Contribution (EFC) as a basis for aid.

EFC takes into account income, number of children, number of children in college, assets held, allowances for retirement and unusual expenses.

The report says, "The TAP would produce greater equity by insuring that all qualified students have at least 40% of their total educational costs met by the combination of family contribution, federal Basic Grants and State grants."

An immediate concern is for those students whose aid will be abolished.

Dungan Offers New Aid Plan

By Josephine Policastro
A proposal for a complete revamping of financial aid was issued by Ralph A. Dungan, Chancellor of Higher Education, late last week.

The result, as reported in last Thursday's Star Ledger, would cut 10,000 students who are now eligible for aid and yet would add approximately 9,000 students who are not aided now. The effect on MSC was not clear.

The Ledger also said the proposal would increase the student aid budget by about $6.4 million.

Dungan seeks to grant financial aid on the basis of student need, with no consideration of merit.

A major emphasis is to simplify the application deadlines and lower the variety of applications now in use.

The proposal would consolidate six state aid programs into one termed the Tuition Aid Program (TAP).

Sam Crane, Executive Director of the New Jersey Student Association (NJSA), said the schedule for implementing the program is extremely tight.

In his timetable for TAP, Dungan is planning implementation for the fiscal year which begins in the fall of 1977. He would have the Board of Higher Education adopt the proposal in January and Brendan T. Byrne, NJ Governor, introduce it in the legislature the same month.

Dungan hopes the legislature would pass it in February.

Crane commented, "It would be extremely surprising to see the legislature process legislation as fast as is proposed."

One intent of TAP is to inform the student on how much aid he or she is eligible for before the time to choose a college.

The program would inform students of how much money they could receive for each type of institution - county, state, private college or Rutgers University.

The formula submitted by Dungan proposes that any student from a five-member family making more than $17,000 would receive no aid.

A student from a family with an income above $12,000 would get no aid if attending a county college. They would receive $250 for a state college, $310 for Rutgers or New Jersey Institute of Technology of $700 for a private college.

If family income is above $15,000 a student would not be eligible for aid to attend a state or county college. They would receive $110 for Rutgers or NJIT or $300 for a private school.

Students from families of $6000 or lower income, could receive $500 for a county college, $700 for a state college, $760 for Rutgers or NJIT or $1600 for attendance at a private college.

Dungan says that TAP would give more aid to more students.

The plan uses Estimated Family Contribution (EFC) as a basis for aid.

EFC takes into account income, number of children, number of children in college, assets held, allowances for retirement and unusual expenses.

The report says, "The TAP would produce greater equity by insuring that all qualified students have at least 40% of their total educational costs met by the combination of family contribution, federal Basic Grants and State grants."

An immediate concern is for those students whose aid will be abolished.

Dungan Offers New Aid Plan

By Josephine Policastro
A proposal for a complete revamping of financial aid was issued by Ralph A. Dungan, Chancellor of Higher Education, late last week.

The result, as reported in last Thursday's Star Ledger, would cut 10,000 students who are now eligible for aid and yet would add approximately 9,000 students who are not aided now. The effect on MSC was not clear.

The Ledger also said the proposal would increase the student aid budget by about $6.4 million.

Dungan seeks to grant financial aid on the basis of student need, with no consideration of merit.

A major emphasis is to simplify the application deadlines and lower the variety of applications now in use.

The proposal would consolidate six state aid programs into one termed the Tuition Aid Program (TAP).

Sam Crane, Executive Director of the New Jersey Student Association (NJSA), said the schedule for implementing the program is extremely tight.

In his timetable for TAP, Dungan is planning implementation for the fiscal year which begins in the fall of 1977. He would have the Board of Higher Education adopt the proposal in January and Brendan T. Byrne, NJ Governor, introduce it in the legislature the same month.

Dungan hopes the legislature would pass it in February.

Crane commented, "It would be extremely surprising to see the legislature process legislation as fast as is proposed."

One intent of TAP is to inform the student on how much aid he or she is eligible for before the time to choose a college.

The program would inform students of how much money they could receive for each type of institution - county, state, private college or Rutgers University.

The formula submitted by Dungan proposes that any student from a five-member family making more than $17,000 would receive no aid.

A student from a family with an income above $12,000 would get no aid if attending a county college. They would receive $250 for a state college, $310 for Rutgers or New Jersey Institute of Technology of $700 for a private college.

If family income is above $15,000 a student would not be eligible for aid to attend a state or county college. They would receive $110 for Rutgers or NJIT or $300 for a private school.

Students from families of $6000 or lower income, could receive $500 for a county college, $700 for a state college, $760 for Rutgers or NJIT or $1600 for attendance at a private college.

Dungan says that TAP would give more aid to more students.

The plan uses Estimated Family Contribution (EFC) as a basis for aid.

EFC takes into account income, number of children, number of children in college, assets held, allowances for retirement and unusual expenses.

The report says, "The TAP would produce greater equity by insuring that all qualified students have at least 40% of their total educational costs met by the combination of family contribution, federal Basic Grants and State grants."

An immediate concern is for those students whose aid will be abolished.

Morale is Low

The Board of Trustees at Jersey City State College (JCS) held a meeting last night at which faculty reappointments and non-reappointments were announced.

Edward Meade, Chairman of the JCS Board, did not attend the meeting. Meade was attending a business trip in Jerusalem. Ironically, Meade also missed last year's Board meeting where the same decisions were made.

Results of a faculty poll on morale of JCS were announced at last night's meeting. The poll described faculty morale, in the words of the professors themselves, as low.

The Board meeting was largely attended by students and faculty members. The faculty members in the audience were very vocal about their feelings on the faculty layoffs. Many faculty members heckled and booed as the Board announced their decisions.

JCS President William Maxwell noted that he will make every effort through the use of research and recommendations to land jobs for the teachers who were not asked to return to JCS next semester.

Rodents Raid GSC

At Glastonbury College (GSC), a student run food service has replaced the Automatic Retailers of America (ARA) this semester. ARA consistently received Conditionally Satisfactory ratings from the State Health Department in the past.

This year, the student run service was evaluated by the Health Department. They, too, received a rating of Conditionally Satisfactory rating.

Reasons for the Conditionally Satisfactory rating include: rodent droppings on the storage shelves of the cafeteria, dead semester. ARA consistently received Conditionally Satisfactory rating.

The change was part of a package of resolutions which the Council of State Colleges proposed to the Board earlier this fall.

Maryanne Prezunkin, SGA President, noted that the General Service Fee will be charged on a per-credit basis with no maximum charge per semester.

Political Protest

This week's meeting of the Board of Trustees at William Paterson College (WPC) was attended by 400 people.

At the meeting, 10 teachers were not rehired for the coming year. Heckling, shouting and fiery speeches followed the Board's non-retenion decision.

One professor, John Murphy from the political science department, received the loudest protest when his non-retenion was announced. Murphy is reportedly a popular professor in the WPC political science department and a large part of the audience was made up of his students.

George Gregoriu, Chairman of the Political Science department, attended the meeting and protested the non-retention of Murphy. Gregoriu noted that Murphy will be a hard teacher to replace in the political science department.

Race Cut to Three

The Board of Trustees is presently seeking a replacement for Burrill.

The Board's Search Committee has narrowed the selection down to three people. They are: 1) Richard Fontena, Dean of Faculty at Southeastern Massachusetts University, 2) Thomas O'Connell, President of Berkshire Community College in Massachusetts and 3) Seymour Hyman, Vice Chancellor of City University of New York.

Information on the three choices was given to the State Beacon, WPC's student newspaper, by a member of the Search Committee to select a President.

The Board will make a final decision on the new President sometime in January.

Student Fees Rechanneled

The name of the Student Service Fee has been changed to General Service Fee by the State Board of Higher Education.

The fee now has a maximum of $17.50 per semester.

In the adopted resolutions, the $2 registration fee and $5 matriculation fee were eliminated.

One resolution gives local boards of trustees the right to redesignate the student activity fee (SGA fee at MSC) to reflect its particular use at each college.

The New Jersey Student Association (NJSIA) desired to have that statement either eliminated or amended to insure the individual student governments a voice in any change in the use or name of the fee. Their request was not granted.

Prezunkin noted the deadline for implementation of the resolutions is the spring semester of 1976-1977.

Elliot I. Mininberg, Vice President of Administration and Finance, said that MSC will start using the new fee structure this spring.

Frozen-out Winter Courses Listed

By Josephine Poliastro

Billing and scheduling for Winter Session courses is expected to be completed this week, according to Marshall A. Butler, Registrar.

Seven study-abroad courses were cancelled, along with a course in instrumental music history and literature, because of low enrollments, he said.

A late registration will be held on Wed., Dec. 29, from nine until noon. Butler said this will give those who did not sign up for a course a second chance. Also students who originally registered for one of the cancelled courses will be able to pick another course.

The 157 students who registered for the cancelled courses have that statement either eliminated or amended to insure

The Board's Search Committee has narrowed the selection down to three people. They are: 1) Richard Fontena, Dean of Faculty at Southeastern Massachusetts University, 2) Thomas O'Connell, President of Berkshire Community College in Massachusetts and 3) Seymour Hyman, Vice Chancellor of City University of New York.

Information on the three choices was given to the State Beacon, WPC's student newspaper, by a member of the Search Committee to select a President.

The Board will make a final decision on the new President sometime in January.

Holiday Activity Flurry

By Josephine Poliastro

Dancing and partying and refreshments will be provided free.

The fee now has a maximum of $17.50 per semester.

In the adopted resolutions, the $2 registration fee and $5 matriculation fee were eliminated.

One resolution gives local boards of trustees the right to redesignate the student activity fee (SGA fee at MSC) to reflect its particular use at each college.

The New Jersey Student Association (NJSIA) desired to have that statement either eliminated or amended to insure

The Board's Search Committee has narrowed the selection down to three people. They are: 1) Richard Fontena, Dean of Faculty at Southeastern Massachusetts University, 2) Thomas O'Connell, President of Berkshire Community College in Massachusetts and 3) Seymour Hyman, Vice Chancellor of City University of New York.

Information on the three choices was given to the State Beacon, WPC's student newspaper, by a member of the Search Committee to select a President.

The Board will make a final decision on the new President sometime in January.

Student Fees Rechanneled

By Josephine Poliastro

Billing and scheduling for Winter Session courses is expected to be completed this week, according to Marshall A. Butler, Registrar.

Seven study-abroad courses were cancelled, along with a course in instrumental music history and literature, because of low enrollments, he said.

A late registration will be held on Wed., Dec. 29, from nine until noon. Butler said this will give those who did not sign up for a course a second chance. Also students who originally registered for one of the cancelled courses will be able to pick another course.

The 157 students who registered for the cancelled courses have that statement either eliminated or amended to insure

The Board's Search Committee has narrowed the selection down to three people. They are: 1) Richard Fontena, Dean of Faculty at Southeastern Massachusetts University, 2) Thomas O'Connell, President of Berkshire Community College in Massachusetts and 3) Seymour Hyman, Vice Chancellor of City University of New York.

Information on the three choices was given to the State Beacon, WPC's student newspaper, by a member of the Search Committee to select a President.

The Board will make a final decision on the new President sometime in January.

Holiday Activity Flurry

By Josephine Poliastro

Dancing and partying and refreshments will be provided free.

The fee now has a maximum of $17.50 per semester.

In the adopted resolutions, the $2 registration fee and $5 matriculation fee were eliminated.

One resolution gives local boards of trustees the right to redesignate the student activity fee (SGA fee at MSC) to reflect its particular use at each college.

The New Jersey Student Association (NJSIA) desired to have that statement either eliminated or amended to insure

The Board's Search Committee has narrowed the selection down to three people. They are: 1) Richard Fontena, Dean of Faculty at Southeastern Massachusetts University, 2) Thomas O'Connell, President of Berkshire Community College in Massachusetts and 3) Seymour Hyman, Vice Chancellor of City University of New York.

Information on the three choices was given to the State Beacon, WPC's student newspaper, by a member of the Search Committee to select a President.

The Board will make a final decision on the new President sometime in January.
Booher Report: Higher Ed’s Fate?

By Rich Figel

Within a year New Jersey may face sweeping revisions in the philosophy and structure of higher education. It may all hinge on a report that is expected from a Board of Higher Education—commission within two months.

Known as the Booher commission, the group is nearing completion of its task. As the release draws near, concerned groups—such as the ideologically leftist Committee Against Racism (CAR) and the more conservative New Jersey Student Association (NISA)—are being heard from with increasing frequency and intensity.

"By late last spring most of the principles of the Commission were apparent. The basic thrust was to do two things: Beef up support for private schools and reduce the scope of admissions," Lucinda Long said. Long, faculty advisor to CAR, maintains that the Commission’s recommendations will be an attempt to “go back to the Fifties when college was an elitist phenomenon.”

Sam Crane, Executive Director of the NISA, feels that "access" to higher education (contingent upon admission standards, enrollment levels and college costs) will be the issue of #1 priority when the report becomes public for possible revisions.

The NJSA would adamantly oppose proposals that would make access any more restrictive than present policies.

The concerns are not unwarranted. Although the Commission has been going about its study with an unassuming aplomb, there is little doubt that the proposals will have far-reaching implications as a model system for other states to seriously consider.

In essence, the report is expected to basically substantiate 20 principles that were agreed upon by the Commission and released last May.

Under a "free market" system, State subsidies to public institutions would be reduced from 75% to 60% to make private institutions more "competitive" with State schools.

The funds reduced from institutional subsidies would be shifted to an expanded student aid program and students could use the money for either public or private schools.

Frank Robinson, NJSA President, believes that the report’s recommendations on student aid will be "pretty consistent" with a restructured financial aid plan, made public by Ralph Dungan, Chancellor of Higher Education.

"The use of testing to exclude is the key issue. A disproportionate number of minority students would be denied access because of inferior education," Long said, underlining CAR sentiments that the Commission’s proposals are racist.

Long voiced CAR’s consternation over a proposal that would force students lacking skills to enroll in community colleges for remedial work before they could attend "senior" State institutions.

After the report is released, there will be public hearings and possible revisions before it goes to the Board. If the Board accepts key recommendations it will send the report to the Legislature for approval.

Cramer hopes the NJSA will be able to prevent revisions.

The NJSA continues to study the proposals and alternatives and CAR continues its informational role through forums and teach-ins.

Meanwhile the future of higher education in New Jersey hangs in the balance of the Commission’s anticipated recommendations.
Datebook

TODAY, TUES., DEC. 9
MEETING: Board of Trustees, College High Auditorium 8 pm. The Board will be held on a meeting on Jan. 6.

TOY DRIVE: Sponsored by Delta Kappa Psi, Student Center Lobby, 10 am to 3 pm. Through Dec. 15. All toys and games — old or new. Toys go to Passaic County Children’s shelter.

MEETING: General membership of Jewish Student Union (JSU). Life Hall lounge, 8 pm. Rabbi Wmn. Horn: "Jewish Attitudes Toward Sex and Marriage." Refreshments served.

MEETING: Psychology Club, Russ Hall lounge, 4 pm.

FRL, DEC. 10
CHRISTMAS PARTY: Sponsored by Ashbee, Math faculty lounge, 6 pm. Free; open to all math majors.

CHRISTMAS DANCE: Italian Club, SC Ballrooms A-B-C, 8 pm to 1:30 am. $4 donation, proceeds toward scholarship fund. Free refreshments: Wine, punch, cold cuts and cheese.

RECORD RIOT: Sponsored by Marketing Club. SC lobby, 10 am to 2 pm through Dec. 16.

MON, DEC. 13
MEETING: Kappa Delta Pi. SC Meeting Rooms 1 and 2, 7:30 pm.

HEBREW CLASS: JSU. Women’s Center Conference Room, Life Hall, 7 pm. Last class of the semester.

TUES., DEC. 14
CHANUKAH PARTY: JSU. SC Ballroom A, 11 am to 1 pm.
MEETING: Economics Club. Russ Hall lounge, 4 pm. Officers will be elected.

WED., DEC. 15
ELECTIONS: Marketing Club. Russ Hall lounge, 4 pm. Guest speaker: Dr. San Augustine.

ISRAELI DANCING: JSU. Life Hall cafe, 6 pm. 25 cents admission. Adults, 50 cents non-students. Last class for the semester.

MEETING: Riding Club. SC Meeting Room 2, 8 pm.

FRENCH TUTOR: French major available for tutoring now and through the Winter Session. Call 891-9939 after 7 pm. Price negotiable.

MAGICIAN FOR HIRE: For the holidays or any special occasion. For info, call 471-6905 and ask for Mrs. Ponsi.

RENTAL: Apartment for rent, 585 Mountain Ave., about 1 mile from campus. $285 per month. Call 667-2375.

BASEBALL CARDS: Anyone on campus want to get rid of their old baseball cards? Contact Tony at the MONTCLARION office or call 891-4199.

EXCELLENT XMAS BUY: Akai-30D Cassette recorder, Great compliment to component set. Call 893-4202.

FOR SALE: 63 Chevy without engine, transmission. Good condition, original paint, chrome wheels, $300. Call Bob 935-3200, ext. 216 between 2 and 5 pm.

FOR SALE: 68 Olds station wagon P/B P/B 955 factory air, new tires, brakes and batteries. Asking $450. Call 893-0324.

FOR SALE: 1975 Peugeot, 504 sedan, runs shift, AM/FM stereo, 8 tracks, 15,000 miles. Call 893-5756.

Congratulations!

Mickey Carroll and Beth Fallon
Your Marriage has been held on a meeting on Jan. 6.

MEETING: Marketing Club. Russ Hall lounge, 4 pm.

MEETING: Economics Club. SC lobby, 10 am to 2 pm through Dec. 16.

MEETING: Kappa Delta Pi. SC Meeting Rooms 1 and 2, 7:30 pm.

MEETING: Economics Club. Russ Hall lounge, 4 pm. Officers will be elected.

MEETING: Marketing Club. Russ Hall lounge, 4 pm. Guest speaker: Dr. San Augustine.

MEETING: Riding Club. SC Meeting Room 2, 8 pm.

Steve Nuiver, Sports Editor, was elected Editor-in-Chief of the MONTCLARION last week, along with 13 other staff members who will compose next year’s MONTCLARION Editorial Board.

Nuiver, a junior history major, remarked, "I've been on the paper since I came here and I thought it would be a challenge to be Editor-in-Chief. What has to be done will be done and I won't let anything falter."

"The new team looks like they're in good shape," Donald Scarinci, Editor-in-Chief, said. "There's no doubt they'll be able to take the MONTCLARION several steps further."

Frances Fleischer, presently the Feature Editor, will take the post of Managing Editor. New departmental editors include:

Steve Nuiver, Sports Editor — Rich Figel, presently Assistant Sports Editor. Editorial Page Editor — Sharon Beren, presently a staff reporter, Arts Editor — Anthony Grasso, presently Copy Editor, Features Editor — Tom Craigwell, currently a staff reporter and Sports Editor — Bill Mezzomo, presently a sports writer. Helen Moschetto will be the Assignment Editor.

"I plan on making some changes that will suit my own character," Nuiver explained.

Some of the present MONTCLARION editors will be assisting the newcomers by holding various positions. Scarinci will be holding the position of Associate Editor during the coming year. Editorial Assistants will be Irene McKechnie, presently Managing Editor, and Barbara Cesario, presently Copy Editor. Barbara Pousi, presently News Editor, will serve as Copy Editor next year, being joined by present staff reporters Mary Valenti and Rich Galasso.

"New people are always welcome also," Nuiver stressed. "There are always people needed in every part of the paper, whether it be news, feature, arts, sports, photography or graphics."

Also elected to editorial positions were Tim Costello as Photography Editor, presently Assistant Photography Editor, Meryl Younghurst as Magazine Editor, presently a staff reporter and Kevin Kesby as Treasurer, presently Editorial Assistant.

Maurice Carroll, NY Times political writer, will remain as advisor for Spring '77.

NJSIA to Testify for Tenure

By Renee Varlan

At its monthly meeting December 5 at Trenton State College, the New Jersey Student Association (NJSIA) voted to testify in favor of a tenure system before the Joint Educational Committee.

The focus was on a good evaluation process, with student involvement. The present system includes a quota system, which, according to Frank Robinson, NJSIA President, "tends to lock schools into programs and is inflexible."

The NJSIA also discussed but did not take a stand on the A-328 guidelines which say that as of April 1977, all tenure faculty must go through periodic evaluations of performance.

"This includes career development. For example, whether a tenure faculty member needs a sabbatical or a course of studies to improve capabilities," Robinson said.

Also discussed was the evaluation of the NJSIA Newsletter and a stress on awareness of an impending state budget crisis.

Winter’s On Its Way!!!

Sign Up Now For The Waiting List for Second Semester Housing.

Apartments

And Dorms

Applications Available From The Life Hall Housing Office at Call 893-4155.
Prof Generates Interest
In Earth Energy

Have you ever been intrigued by the strangest set of contraptions to hit MSC since Saxon Soffer’s metal sculpture made its brief debut near College Hall? Located outside the Industrial Arts building, they are part of a course in “Alternative Sources of Energy Conversion” taught by Marty Greenwald, industrial arts professor.

“Alternative Sources of Energy Conversion” is a recently initiated course in the industrial arts department. Students in the course get a “hands on” experience with energy conversion technology. The course material deals with subjects such as solar heating and cooling, wind energy, sewage treatment and methane gas generation and nuclear energy. The subject is dealt with on both theoretical and practical levels. Each person must construct a solar-derived or alternative energy conversion system.

Most visible of the class’s projects is John Gercon’s 15-foot wind generator (right). Begun as an independent research project 18 months ago, the generator has been revamped by Gercon this semester. Working at full capacity, the generator puts out 45 amps at 12 volts. The instrument is self-feathering at wind speeds above 40 mph. This protects the blades from shattering at such a high RPM.

Utilizing the power inherent in a small stream, Frank Hurley has designed and built a hydroelectric generator (lower right). In the final stages of construction, Greenwald (right) confers with Hurley on lubrication of the main shaft. One feature of the generator is that the rotor rises and falls with the water level to retain peak efficiency.

Adjusting the mount on his recently erected solar collector (below) is Ron Simms. With 16 square feet of surface area, the collector contributes to the heating requirements of an industrial arts shop by circulating 16 gallons of 160-degree water through the room. The collector contains over 30 feet of copper tubing, through which water circulates and is heated by the interior temperature of the instrument, which reaches 450 degrees.

Photo Essay By Tim Costello
Save Your Money For

Daytona'77

April 2-9 Choice Of Either Bus Or Plane

Plus: Hotel Accommodations At The Plaza (Directly On The Beach)
Free Cocktail Party
Transfers From MSC To Newark Airport & Plaza Hotel

Options: Daytona '77 T-Shirts Efficiency Rooms
Car Rental Breakfast Plan
Hayride Roller Skating
Disneyland

More Info: Jan. 31 Meeting Noon & 4 pm In Ballroom B
Film Presentation
Prices Of Trip Full Explanation Of Entire Trip

See You There!!!!!!!
By Josephine Policastro

Tonight's Board of Trustees meeting will include action on reappointment of tenured faculty, reappointments of third and fourth year faculty and reappointments of professional staff with more than two years service.

According to MSC President, David W.D. Dickson, the Personnel Committee is expected to submit a report which will make recommendations to the Board. In addition, Dickson emphasized, the Facilities Committee will be presenting two proposals:

One is a concept letter for the future of the quarry. Dickson said that MSC architects, Mahoney and Zvosec, have suggested terracing the quarry by blasting high areas of rock and using it to fill in and level the land. Dickson explained that if the proposal is accepted by the Board a letter requesting funds will be sent to the New Jersey Educational Facilities Authority. He estimated the project will cost $3 million.

Smiling, Dickson said the land would be used to build a field hockey area, soccer field and more tennis courts.

Money which has been saved from the general service fee (formerly the student service fee) and summer school fee will help pay for the proposed project, he said.

Dickson also said there are plans before the Board to accept the Studer property, located on 44 Upper Mountain Ave.

MSC now takes care of the grounds on the three acre estate, Dickson said. The property is to be willed to MSC by the owner Margot M. Studer, who now occupies the home.

The procedure for faculty evaluation begins at each individual department Personnel Advisory Committee and then moves to department chairperson, the dean of the school involved, the Vice President for Academic Affairs, Dickson, the Board of Trustees Personnel Committee and finally to the Board.

Dickson said he sent letters on Nov. 22 to those being considered tonight. They must be notified of their status by Fri., Dec. 15, he explained.

The decisions on first and second year faculty and staff are expected to be voted on in February, Dickson said.

Twenty faculty are up for tenure, 50 for reappointment and 60 professional staff members are being reviewed for reappointment tonight.

Dickson said a faculty member is either given tenure after the fifth year or terminated.

He continued, "MSC does not have a quota system on the number of faculty to be awarded tenure."

He said it is difficult to decide on the awarding of tenure. The Board is increasingly examining the number of tenured faculty in any department, he said.

By Irene McKnight

Robert Cherry, assistant professor of economics, has circulated a petition to MSC faculty members asking for faculty support for his reappointment.

Cherry has not been recommended for reappointment by the Personnel Advisory Committee (PAC) of the economics department. MSC President David W.D. Dickson recently sent Cherry a letter stating that he is not recommending Cherry's reappointment to the Board of Trustees. The Board will make a decision tonight regarding Cherry's reappointment.

Last year, the PAC did not recommend Cherry for reappointment. At their December meeting, the Board followed Dickson's recommendation not to rehire Cherry. Later in February, Dickson reversed his decision and the Board followed suit. Therefore, Cherry returned to MSC this year.

Cherry has already planned a grievance hearing on Fri., Dec. 17 in expectation of the Board not rehiring him.

Cherry describes the PAC evaluations as "a major distortion and outright inaccuracy" in his petition to campus faculty. The PAC reports say that Cherry is stressing personal theories such as racism in his classes, rather than concentrating on economic theories.

So far, Cherry has received over 60 responses from faculty members who support his cause and have signed the petition. Cherry described his active solicitation of faculty support as "fairly imposing."

"Faculty members in one department do not like to concern themselves with hiring procedures in other departments," Cherry said. He said that he was pleasantly surprised at the response to the petition, which was signed by a cross-section of faculty ranging from staunch conservatives to radicals, he added.

Cherry Circulates Petition Seeking Faculty Support

The decisions on first and second year faculty and staff are expected to be voted on in February, Dickson said. Twenty faculty are up for tenure, 50 for reappointment and 60 professional staff members are being reviewed for reappointment tonight.

Dickson said a faculty member is either given tenure after the fifth year or terminated. He continued, "MSC does not have a quota system on the number of faculty to be awarded tenure."

He said it is difficult to decide on the awarding of tenure. The Board is increasingly examining the number of tenured faculty in any department, he said.

By Irene McKnight

Robert Cherry, assistant professor of economics, has circulated a petition to MSC faculty members asking for faculty support for his reappointment.

Cherry has not been recommended for reappointment by the Personnel Advisory Committee (PAC) of the economics department. MSC President David W.D. Dickson recently sent Cherry a letter stating that he is not recommending Cherry's reappointment to the Board of Trustees. The Board will make a decision tonight regarding Cherry's reappointment.

Last year, the PAC did not recommend Cherry for reappointment. At their December meeting, the Board followed Dickson's recommendation not to rehire Cherry. Later in February, Dickson reversed his decision and the Board followed suit. Therefore, Cherry returned to MSC this year.

Cherry has already planned a grievance hearing on Fri., Dec. 17 in expectation of the Board not rehiring him.

Cherry describes the PAC evaluations as "a major distortion and outright inaccuracy" in his petition to campus faculty. The PAC reports say that Cherry is stressing personal theories such as racism in his classes, rather than concentrating on economic theories.

So far, Cherry has received over 60 responses from faculty members who support his cause and have signed the petition. Cherry described his active solicitation of faculty support as "fairly imposing."

"Faculty members in one department do not like to concern themselves with hiring procedures in other departments," Cherry said. He said that he was pleasantly surprised at the response to the petition, which was signed by a cross-section of faculty ranging from staunch conservatives to radicals, he added.

Cherry Circulates Petition Seeking Faculty Support

By Irene McKnight

Robert Cherry, assistant professor of economics, has circulated a petition to MSC faculty members asking for faculty support for his reappointment.

Cherry has not been recommended for reappointment by the Personnel Advisory Committee (PAC) of the economics department. MSC President David W.D. Dickson recently sent Cherry a letter stating that he is not recommending Cherry's reappointment to the Board of Trustees. The Board will make a decision tonight regarding Cherry's reappointment.

Last year, the PAC did not recommend Cherry for reappointment. At their December meeting, the Board followed Dickson's recommendation not to rehire Cherry. Later in February, Dickson reversed his decision and the Board followed suit. Therefore, Cherry returned to MSC this year.

Cherry has already planned a grievance hearing on Fri., Dec. 17 in expectation of the Board not rehiring him.

Cherry describes the PAC evaluations as "a major distortion and outright inaccuracy" in his petition to campus faculty. The PAC reports say that Cherry is stressing personal theories such as racism in his classes, rather than concentrating on economic theories.

So far, Cherry has received over 60 responses from faculty members who support his cause and have signed the petition. Cherry described his active solicitation of faculty support as "fairly imposing."

"Faculty members in one department do not like to concern themselves with hiring procedures in other departments," Cherry said. He said that he was pleasantly surprised at the response to the petition, which was signed by a cross-section of faculty ranging from staunch conservatives to radicals, he added.

Cherry Circulates Petition Seeking Faculty Support

By Irene McKnight

Robert Cherry, assistant professor of economics, has circulated a petition to MSC faculty members asking for faculty support for his reappointment.

Cherry has not been recommended for reappointment by the Personnel Advisory Committee (PAC) of the economics department. MSC President David W.D. Dickson recently sent Cherry a letter stating that he is not recommending Cherry's reappointment to the Board of Trustees. The Board will make a decision tonight regarding Cherry's reappointment.

Last year, the PAC did not recommend Cherry for reappointment. At their December meeting, the Board followed Dickson's recommendation not to rehire Cherry. Later in February, Dickson reversed his decision and the Board followed suit. Therefore, Cherry returned to MSC this year.

Cherry has already planned a grievance hearing on Fri., Dec. 17 in expectation of the Board not rehiring him.

Cherry describes the PAC evaluations as "a major distortion and outright inaccuracy" in his petition to campus faculty. The PAC reports say that Cherry is stressing personal theories such as racism in his classes, rather than concentrating on economic theories.

So far, Cherry has received over 60 responses from faculty members who support his cause and have signed the petition. Cherry described his active solicitation of faculty support as "fairly imposing."

"Faculty members in one department do not like to concern themselves with hiring procedures in other departments," Cherry said. He said that he was pleasantly surprised at the response to the petition, which was signed by a cross-section of faculty ranging from staunch conservatives to radicals, he added.

Cherry Circulates Petition Seeking Faculty Support

By Irene McKnight

Robert Cherry, assistant professor of economics, has circulated a petition to MSC faculty members asking for faculty support for his reappointment.

Cherry has not been recommended for reappointment by the Personnel Advisory Committee (PAC) of the economics department. MSC President David W.D. Dickson recently sent Cherry a letter stating that he is not recommending Cherry's reappointment to the Board of Trustees. The Board will make a decision tonight regarding Cherry's reappointment.

Last year, the PAC did not recommend Cherry for reappointment. At their December meeting, the Board followed Dickson's recommendation not to rehire Cherry. Later in February, Dickson reversed his decision and the Board followed suit. Therefore, Cherry returned to MSC this year.

Cherry has already planned a grievance hearing on Fri., Dec. 17 in expectation of the Board not rehiring him.

Cherry describes the PAC evaluations as "a major distortion and outright inaccuracy" in his petition to campus faculty. The PAC reports say that Cherry is stressing personal theories such as racism in his classes, rather than concentrating on economic theories.

So far, Cherry has received over 60 responses from faculty members who support his cause and have signed the petition. Cherry described his active solicitation of faculty support as "fairly imposing."

"Faculty members in one department do not like to concern themselves with hiring procedures in other departments," Cherry said. He said that he was pleasantly surprised at the response to the petition, which was signed by a cross-section of faculty ranging from staunch conservatives to radicals, he added.
Exchange of Taste

By Kathy McNeill

Seven British exchange students from Brighton, Lincoln and Leeds Polytechnic colleges in England, where they are sophomores in home economics, have spent the fall semester at MSC.

Each girl was invited into an American home for the Thanksgiving weekend. Four of the students described their holidays.

Katie Hogg, blond-haired with pretty green eyes, spent the Thanksgiving weekend in Englewood with the Sanderson family. The Sandersons, once lived in England and knew Hogg’s family very well.

“It was very relaxing,” Hogg, who helped with the preparation, said. “I ‘stoofed’ one end and she ‘stoofed’ the other,” she said with her English accent, “and we met in the middle! I peeled and chopped the apples for a pie and set the table, too,” she said.

Dinner at the Sandersons included nine people. Hogg took a deep breath before describing the menu.

“Fresh cream of mushroom soup with sherry — Mmmmmm, that was nice — turkey with ‘stoofing’ sweet potatoes, wild rice with sunflower seeds — unusual but quite nice — brussel sprouts with fresh cranberry sauce and gravy.

“Dessert was pumpkin and apple pie served with wine,” Hogg said, her eyes sparkling. “Then coffee and tea. We ate and ate! Afterwards we collapsed in the sitting room. After ‘mucking about’ (sitting around) awhile, I taught the kids the ‘hoosle,’ which I learned in America!”

Val Green and Carol Slinger spent Thanksgiving in Somers Point at the home of their Resident Assistant (RA), Nina, of Bohn Hall.

“We watched the football match on tv in the afternoon and then the six of us went out for dinner,” Slinger said.

“It was delicious,” she added. Dinner included succotash and mincemeat pie which were new to the girls. “We quite liked it,” they remarked.

Dot Ramsey celebrated Thanksgiving with Beth Catz, an industrial arts major, with her family in Bloomfield.

“For many families, that morning is spent at the town’s high school football game meeting friends and cheering the team on. The Catz family is no exception to this rule. Ramsey and Catz attended the Bloomfield-Montclair game. “I really enjoyed it,” Ramsey said, “since football is not played in England.”

The Catz family shared their traditional turkey dinner with Ramsey that afternoon. “It was a very good weekend,” the girls unanimously agreed.

“We wanted to experience an American Thanksgiving. It is not celebrated in England,” Hogg explained, “but our church often has a special service where fruits are brought for the poor of the parish.”

The girls have been in America since early September and have seen much of the US. Highlights of their travels include Quebec, Florida, Philadelphia and New York City. They have been to Chinatown, Mama Leone’s, a famous Italian restaurant, as well as the Playboy Club at Great Gorge.

“Everyone has been so nice,” Green said. “We’ve been made to feel so welcome.”

“I really feel at home,” Slinger agreed. “I think we could all go home for Christmas and come back again.”

Ramsey jumped up from her position on the floor. “I’d like to say thank you to everyone in Montclair for being so nice.”

The girls will be returning to England on Friday, Dec. 17.

College ID Cards

Below Is The Make Up Photograph Schedule For The New College ID Card For All Those Who Missed The Initial Scheduling. Beginning With The Spring Semester 1977, The New College ID Card Will Replace Your Present Library, SGA And Rathskellar Cards And Will Be Required To Gain Access To SGA/College Sponsored Social, Cultural And Athletic Events As Well As The Media Center And Other College Facilities.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Dates</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Times</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Dec. 13</td>
<td>SC Ballrooms A&amp;B</td>
<td>Noon-4 pm 5-8 pm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dec. 14</td>
<td>SC Ballrooms B&amp;C</td>
<td>Noon-4 pm 5-8 pm</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Towing Goes ‘Black Tie’

By Barbara Cesario

In the midst of complaints by towing victims, the MSC Campus Police will establish a formal towing policy in the near future, Sgt. Bill Hotaling of the department said.

The Police began towing in November, Hotaling said, though a deal they have made with a towing company in Verona.

“Our interim policy consists of towing vehicles in extreme situations such as when they are impeding access to fire zones or blocking other vehicles from coming and going,” Hotaling explained.

Since Nov. 1, 30 cases have been towed to the garage in Verona, police records show. Hotaling prefers not to have the company mentioned by name. When possible, he explained, they have towed a vehicle blocking a roadway, for example, police will issue a ticket to declare that the vehicle is illegally parked. The towing company is then called to remove it, Hotaling said.

If possible, the owner of the car is notified. “This can be done by checking the decal number with the registrar and trying to locate the owner,” he continued, admitting that if the owner is not in a class or dorm, the police wait for him to contact them.

A fee of about $19 must be paid when the owner goes to retrieve his or her car, Hotaling said.

One towing victim who complained to the police officially was Donna Hoffman, a student from Trenton.

Hoffman said that her car was towed from the Clove Rd. apartments parking lot after having only been parked for 10 minutes.

Hotaling disregarded the time element and said that Hoffman's car was illegally parked in a registered spot and was towed "upon complaint." Six vehicles have been towed from the Clove Rd. lot upon complaint since November.

"We can't crack down on everyone but we hope that towing will act as a deterrent to others," Hotaling said.

Towing costs $23.50 a car.

COCA: What Does It Stand For?

By Eileen Curtis

The Council on Commuter Affairs (COCA) has kept a close eye on campus this semester. Many students don't even know what COCA is.

Lori Winke, an MSC freshman, commented, "They've never done anything for me." A sophomore remarked, "Who is COCA?"

Last semester, COCA helped almost 80 people to declare that the vehicle had been towing in extreme situations such as when they are impeding access to fire zones or blocking other vehicles from coming and going."

Hotaling explained.

Since Nov. 1, 30 cases have been towed to the garage in Verona, police records show. Hotaling prefers not to have the company mentioned by name. When possible, he explained, they have towed a vehicle blocking a roadway, for example, police will issue a ticket to declare that the vehicle is illegally parked. The towing company is then called to remove it, Hotaling said.

If possible, the owner of the car is notified. “This can be done by checking the decal number with the registrar and trying to locate the owner,” he continued, admitting that if the owner is not in a class or dorm, the police wait for him to contact them.

A fee of about $19 must be paid when the owner goes to retrieve his or her car, Hotaling said.

In that case because of the money hassles involved. But the administration decided against the municipal tickets and still didn't get the board back."

He added pensive, "I don't think there's a precedent where the SGA took something like that back from a service organization. You have to wonder about the motives.

This semester COCA attempted a car pool but only ten people ride together as a result. COCA was also instrumental in getting the handicapped parking lot behind the student center.

Comeleo commented, "The SGA took over the ticket appeals to see what other things COCA could do for commuters. But we had a very regular and successful appeals board last semester. We had a board of 10 to consider the appeals. If a parking appeal was accepted, we'd have it wiped out on the computer."

He added, "The SGA has been doing an erratic job with their board of about three. Appeals that we would have accepted, they denied and vice-versa. They don't even alphabetize their lists."

"We're not sure what else we can do. Parking tickets are 90% of the commuter problem. We're not in as much contact with commuters now that we don't appeal their tickets."

Student opinion concerning COCA was open-minded.

Kathy Foley, a junior marketing major, remarked, "I tried to appeal a ticket last semester but ended up paying it anyway. They (COCA) were helpful though."

Tom Rucinski, a senior finance major, said, "I've lived with the parking problem for four years now. The answer lies in some kind of car pooling, yet that causes personal hardships for some people. COCA is in an unenviable position."

Only one unidentified commuter questioned had never encountered a parking problem. "No sweat," he said. "I've been in the parking in the teacher's lot for almost four years and I've never been caught. I'm practically a part of the faculty."
Calm Before
The Storm

The end of the year is always a time for reflection and thought. It's a time to critically review what has taken place and look to the future with hope.

1976 began in crisis. It saw Ralph Dungan, Chancellor of Higher Education, bombarded with eggs as he announced the anticipated tuition increase, a decrease in enrollments and larger classes with fewer teachers for 1977.

All the fuss was blinding to many and just what the doctor ordered for others. Marcoantonio Lacatena, AFT President, had his performing stage and Manny C. Menendez, the dynamic and often autocratic SGA President, had fuel for his ego.

Over 500 students went to Trenton to protest the situation but little could be accomplished. The tuition increase was inevitable.

All the thrill and excitement of the tuition crisis distracted student and administrative leadership from looking at home affairs. The ensuing months saw an SGA executive election invalidated and the schedule booklet issued without faculty names.

But with the healing effect of time, the problems were soon forgotten and Maryanne E. Preztunik assumed the SGA corporate throne with a narrow and marred election victory.

The administration went through its metamorphosis but in this case, at least, it was for the better. Elliot Mininberg was hired as Vice President of Administration and Finance.

And so we go through all with the MONTCLARION and Mininberg as the main items in the news.

The new People's President of SGA is too busy administering the corporation to take the forefront on major student issues.

And Mininberg, the new administrative VP, has his tenure to consider, after all. The rest of the campus, with the exception of a few bright spots, is relatively opinionless or too afraid to express an opinion.

So it all makes for a comparatively calm autumn. But what of the future?

Spring '77 will see the great SGA ripoff of the part time student.

Spring '77 will see the much needed change of the SGA system of club structures into a more organized one.

Spring '77 will see another threatened (and almost unavoidable) tuition increase—or an equal loss of services and programs.

Spring '77 will see an SGA executive election that promises to be the most exciting in years.

So, maybe there is always a calm before a storm.
Leadership Challenge

By Elliot I. Mininberg

All of us are frequently presented with opportunities to assume administrative leadership roles, some for short periods of time and others as careers. There are any number of presumed inducements for us to grasp these opportunities and accept the so-called challenge. Such inducements that quickly come to mind are increased income, status, power, authority and freedom.

None of these inducements, to whatever extent they exist, in actuality is sufficiently rewarding to offset the burden of administrative work which is beset with conflicting demand pressures and a myriad of bureaucratic obstacles. To derive a sense of satisfaction from administrative work, one really must enjoy problem solving. As Bertrand Russell, a philosopher said, “Skilled work, of no matter what kind, is only done well by those who take a certain pleasure in it, quite apart from its utility, either to themselves in earning a living or to the world through its outcome.”

“The administrator must always remember that his/her reason for being is to make the work of others more possible.”

The administrator needs to be both initiator and facilitator, both responsive and responsible, open yet decisive, confident of his judgment yet willing and able to accept advice from others. The administrator must always remember that his/her reason for being is to make the work of others more possible.

The administrator may be viewed as a “facilitator,” a “mediator,” or even a “link” or “bridge.” In effect, we must have character traits that permit us to be effective in our work as facilitators. This means that we must be not only enthusiastic about our work, but also accessible, responsive, and enthusiastic about the work of others. We must also be able to accept advice from others. The administrator must always remember that his/her reason for being is to make the work of others more possible. The administrator must always remember that his/her reason for being is to make the work of others more possible.

Leadership Challenge

By Elliot I. Mininberg

All of us are frequently presented with opportunities to assume administrative leadership roles, some for short periods of time and others as careers. There are any number of presumed inducements for us to grasp these opportunities and accept the so-called challenge. Such inducements that quickly come to mind are increased income, status, power, authority and freedom.

None of these inducements, to whatever extent they exist, in actuality is sufficiently rewarding to offset the burden of administrative work which is beset with conflicting demand pressures and a myriad of bureaucratic obstacles. To derive a sense of satisfaction from administrative work, one really must enjoy problem solving. As Bertrand Russell, a philosopher said, “Skilled work, of no matter what kind, is only done well by those who take a certain pleasure in it, quite apart from its utility, either to themselves in earning a living or to the world through its outcome.”

“The administrator must always remember that his/her reason for being is to make the work of others more possible.”

The administrator needs to be both initiator and facilitator, both responsive and responsible, open yet decisive, confident of his judgment yet willing and able to accept advice from others. The administrator must always remember that his/her reason for being is to make the work of others more possible.

There is, of course, the “system” through which we fulfill our roles. The administrator must always remember that his/her reason for being is to make the work of others more possible.

Vision not only of a future for our institutions but a clear vision of our role in that future. We cannot allow ourselves to come to the point where our jobs are more important in themselves than the role they play in facilitating the work of others.

Secondly, we must be decisive and willing to take risks. To do so fairly requires a clear sense of justice. Choices are not always clear-cut nor do they always satisfy all constituencies equally. Nevertheless, we have the obligation to choose. Implicit here is a willingness to accept being wrong from time to time. In my judgment, all administrative errors should be errors of commission not omission.

Third and most important, the administrator must be able to respect and use others. Customers. To do so, you must personally take them to the store’s credit office with your credit card. At that time, “holiday money” or “store money” is issued by the store. Once issued, the “money” can be used by anyone and the original customer is liable for payment. For students who have credit cards, this is a time when it is very easy to get carried away. Remember, you are responsible for paying back all of your charges after the season. No one likes to find a $250 bill in January — especially if it takes until June to pay it up.

For those students who are on limited budgets, as most of us are, there are a few things that can alleviate our going into debt. Take advantage of sales during the season and be sure to comparison shop. For non-clothing gifts, consider shopping at discount stores such as Value House and Grand Catalogue Showrooms. Prices for identical brand name items are considerably less when bought here rather than in department stores.

Leadership Challenge

By Elliot I. Mininberg

All of us are frequently presented with opportunities to assume administrative leadership roles, some for short periods of time and others as careers. There are any number of presumed inducements for us to grasp these opportunities and accept the so-called challenge. Such inducements that quickly come to mind are increased income, status, power, authority and freedom.

None of these inducements, to whatever extent they exist, in actuality is sufficiently rewarding to offset the burden of administrative work which is beset with conflicting demand pressures and a myriad of bureaucratic obstacles. To derive a sense of satisfaction from administrative work, one really must enjoy problem solving. As Bertrand Russell, a philosopher said, “Skilled work, of no matter what kind, is only done well by those who take a certain pleasure in it, quite apart from its utility, either to themselves in earning a living or to the world through its outcome.”

“The administrator must always remember that his/her reason for being is to make the work of others more possible.”

The administrator needs to be both initiator and facilitator, both responsive and responsible, open yet decisive, confident of his judgment yet willing and able to accept advice from others. The administrator must always remember that his/her reason for being is to make the work of others more possible.
Soapbox

Part-Timers Protest SGA Fee

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to protest the SGA decision which would force part-time students to pay a $2.50 per credit fee. Both the decision itself and the manner in which it was reached are highly objectionable.

As far as I know, part-time students were not even consulted on the matter of SGA membership of alleged benefits. If there are indeed some students who derive benefits from SGA services, it would be appropriate for those students to pay for the services on an individual basis. But there is no justification whatever for any group, including SGA, to arbitrarily decide how the rest of us should dispose of our money. This is particularly unfair in the case of part-time students, many of whom work their way through college.

As Dean of Students, I hope that Lawton Blanton will take the necessary action to redress this injustice. I strongly urge other concerned students to join me in protesting this decision. Do not let your apathy make it possible for the SGA to defraud all of us. The cost of attending college is high enough without SGA’s confiscatory policy.

Nicole Acher
Sophomore '79

Slanderous Letter

To the Editor:

I wish to respond to Harold Ferguson’s letter of Nov. 18 slandering the Humanities Curriculum Committee. His letter was obnoxious and full of falsehoods.

It was stated in the letter that Theodore Price, assistant professor of English, believes in the format of Winter Session. It is unfortunate that he does not also believe in department and school procedures. He is in fact responsible for most of the difficulties.

Student interests were considered at all times in the school committee’s consideration of the “Masterpieces” course. We eight student representatives have an equal voice and the four of us present were in unanimous agreement with the professors to cancel the course for academic reasons.

I vigorously object to the charge of “elitism.” Membership on the committee is voluntary and usually rotated annually, so no one person can dominate the proceedings. Also, we student representatives are obviously not part of an “elite” group, as the committee has been labelled.

Critics should be armed with objective facts before they make unsubstantiated and irrational charges. Anyone who had taken the time to inquire about the committee and its members would have discovered the truth.

Bill Bartholomé
History, French '77

Reportage

Peace on Earth,
Good Will to Men

By Frances Fleischer

Disatisfaction among students, faculty and administration has characterized 1976 at MSC.

Faculty firings, parking problems, schedule foul-ups, complaints about student organization, strike threats, tuition increases—all of these and many more have not exactly been conducive to an atmosphere of peace and unity on our campus.

Yet now we find ourselves approaching Christmas, the season symbolic of “heavenly peace.” For 20 centuries, millions of people have found such peace and unity in their common following of the “Prince of Peace.”

It is this, a common ground, our underlying oneness, which becomes to easily obscured during a year of injustices and irritations. It’s hard to discern amid the confusion of misunderstandings and angry emotion, our basic strivings towards the same goal; our efforts made towards the same basic end—learning.

Somewhere such dimension don’t fit in with the mood of Christmas. Whether you’re Christian or not doesn’t really seem to matter; everybody experiences a kind of elation, a feeling of positive expectation, at this time of year.

This is the feeling that we should take advantage of now. Maybe now it can be a little easier to remember that we all make mistakes, that we’re not the only ones with problems, that the people who are giving us problems certainly have problems of their own.

And while we’re feeling more kindly disposed towards others, why not think back on some of the positive aspects of the year? Fired faculty were rehired, the strike was averted, the ID card problem was solved.

Believe it or not, people on the whole are not out to give us trouble. It is impossible to satisfy completely the diversity of interests on this campus, or to right all the wrongs that we see, overnight. Yet we should never stop trying.

What does all this have to do with Christmas? Christ knew when to criticize the injustices of His time. But He also knew when to take time out, to put aside differences and concentrate instead on the humanity He shared with all men.

This is not a request for apathy; rather, it is a plea for “good will” on the MSC campus at Christmas time. It is a Christmas wish that the MSC community will allow the essential peace of the season to reveal the heart of our special oneness.

Frances Fleischer is Feature Editor of the MONTCLARION.

Express Views

It Would Be Nice

To the Editor:

Last month my legally parked car was trapped in by two illegally parked cars. The cars were parked perpendicular to mine with about a foot to spare on each bumper.

I contacted the campus police who never showed up after almost one hour of waiting.

A kind student stopped to help me after dozens of others just passed me by. I finally angled my car out of the space with his help.

I think that this school should be a lot tighter in their security. The police should move a lot faster, give a few more tickets and make sure that these cars can’t part illegally in the first place.

Finally I think that the students should get a little friendlier, not be so stuck up and give someone a hand when he/she needs help. If one of them were in trouble, they’d want some help.

Nancy Podlas
Business Administration '79

Gremlin Village

To the Editor:

The New Jersey Student Association (NJSFA) has selected me, Maryanne E. Prestunuk, as its representative on the Advisory Committee to the Search Committee to select the next Chancellor of Higher Education in this State. The Committee consists of 17 representatives from the various interests in the higher education community.

In representing the interests of the students in the state college system, I must be able to have access to your views on higher education and in particular, on qualifications for the next Chancellor. Please express your opinions at the earliest date possible.

Maryanne E. Prestunuk
President, SGA

Maryanne E. Prestunuk
President, SGA

Nicole Acher
Sophomore '79
Stereo Components for the Holidays

at Unbeatable Prices!

If you do not have your "Wholesale Privilege Card", bring your I.D. to our showroom and we will issue a card.

30 DAY EXCHANGE PRIVILEGE If any component is found defective.

STEREO COMPONENTS

JENSEN - ULTRALINEAR - WATTS - STANTON - PIONEER - MARANTZ - SANSUI
KENWOOD - JBL - SONY - TECHNICS - SHERWOOD - DUAL - TEAC - AKAI - BOSE - AR - EMPIRE - SHURE
KLH - THORENS - KOSS - DYNA - GARRARD - ESS - MAXELL - CRAIG - PHILIPS - BIC - AMPEX - BASF

SALES/use your "Wholesale Privilege Card" from any component we sell.

SAVE $110 NATIONAL ADVERTISED VALUE $259

CRAIG UNDER-DASH CAR STEREO

The Super Specials......

PONG TV GAME

NOW $49

AM/FM 8 TRACK RECORD PLAYER

SAAE $110 NATIONAL ADVERTISED VALUE $299

With Two Speakers

NOW $99

With Two Speakers

NOW $67

HEADQUARTERS FOR C.B. RADIOS, POLICE SCANNERS & TELEPHONE ANSWERING DEVICES

Choose Name Brands Like: PACE - COBRA - SHARP - BEARCAT - PHONEMATE

30 DAY EXCHANGE PRIVILEGE IF ANY COMPONENT IS FOUND DEFECTIVE

Many one of a kind -- Many below cost -- First come -- First served -- Many Unadvertised Specials
Piano Man Entertains MSC Crowd

By Lydia De Fretos

"You go out on stage, do your stuff and people clap...you get this charge," said a worn-out piano player after a two hour sold-out performance Dec. 7 in Memorial Auditorium.

The man's name, none other than contemporary troubador Billy Joel and the performance, just this side of incredible. All of the 22 songs Joel and his entourage played were greeted with thunderous applause from the crowd.

Joel is a rare artist who communicates with his audience and played for them rather than at them. His sharp-toned humor, including a good imitation of Bruce Springsteen and the excellence of his singing, songwriting and playing add up to an example of a total entertainer.

Among the highlights in the club-sponsored event were; "Miami 2017 (Seen the Lights Go Out on Broadway)", complete with echo chamber, a new instrumental "Handball," "Captain Jack" an in-depth look at suburban society, "You're Just a Regular Person," and the excellence of his singing, songwriting and playing add up to an example of a total entertainer.

The ability to improvise and handle any situation that may arise on stage is one of Joel's assets. When drummer Liberty De Vitto broke Joel up on "James" with some added sound effects, Joel laughed and picked up where he had left off. A surprise side-door visit to the audience startled the crowd and Joel was immediately surrounded by kissing girls. This unique audience/performer relationship is due to a charisma that emanates from Joel as soon as he steps on stage.

After three encores with the band, (the other members include; Howie Emerson on mandolin, guitar and lap pedal steel, Richard Cannata on keyboards and horns, bassist Doug Stegmeyer and Russell De Vitto broke Joel up on "James" with some added sound affects, Joel laughed and picked up where he had left off. A surprise side-door visit to the audience startled the crowd and Joel was immediately surrounded by kissing girls. This unique audience/performer relationship is due to a charisma that emanates from Joel as soon as he steps on stage.

"I'm just a regular person." Joel admitted he gets a charge out of performing.

Javors on acoustic and electric guitars), Joel returned to the stage for a solo song. The poignant "Souvenir" from Streetlife Serenade was a perfect touch to end a musically satisfying night.

Backstage Joel was weary, this concert being only a minute segment on a nine month tour that included a trip to Australia. He is planning to have a new album ready by the summer.

Sometime in the future there are plans for a live record which would give him the opportunity to rerecord some of the material now no longer available without having to actually go into the studio and come up with new versions. As for the choice of material it varies and Joel and the band switch songs around for variety. He added that he never gets a chance to get tired of performing the numbers because the applause and reactions from the audience is enough of a reward and incentive to play such classics as "Piano Man."

As Joel walked into the shabby room set aside for the interview he startled as he had changed from his suit into a tee shirt and jeans and quite unconsciously I said, "You look just like a regular person," Joel smiled and retorted "Of course, I am just a regular person." Perhaps that is what makes Billy Joel such a fine performer.

THE ENTERTAINER: Contemporary troubador Billy Joel had the crowd in Memorial Auditorium on Dec. 7 on their feet after his first song, A true showman Joel played for almost two hours and returned for four encores.

My Home" and "She's Got A Way," a song from an early, now out of print LP Cold Spring Harbor.

The group including Garrett Smith and friends, explore many realms of musical styles including some subtle jazz and rhythm and blues. Among the best cuts are "Lightening Lady," "Forever" and "Only Love."

As a major representative of the Seattle music scene BrownSmith are an indication that a great deal of unexplored talent lies out there.

Gold-plated aptly describes the music of the Climax Blues Band, one of England's oldest groups. On their newest album Gold Plated, (Sire SASD 7523) the Band shows what a true fusion of rock and roll and blues sounds like.

The strongest cuts on the LP include "Together and Free," "Mighty Fire" and the best-selling British single " Couldn't Get It Right.
"Together and Free" showcases Peter Haycock's expertise on guitar (his own really is gold plated).

The only way to describe the style of music the Climax Blues Band play is that it builds in intensity, thus their name. Gold Plated is a shining example of a band at the high point of their career.

---DeFretos

Recent Releases

It's hard to listen to Joan Baez just for her music because there's so much in her lyrics. But by the same token it's equally as difficult to follow her lyrics as there's so much there. This is the main problem with her latest record Gulf Winds (BA&M SP-4603).

Because Baez has an unusual vibrato in her voice it can at times irritate and is easier to handle when she is singing songs the listener is already familiar with.

The highlights on the album include the melodic "Still Waters at Night," the rocking "O Brother!" and the enduring "Time is Passing Us By."

Baez, at 35, is still an accomplished singer but her songwriting can be a hindrance at times. For devoted Baez fans Gulf Winds will be a breeze to accept while for others it will take a few listenings to get used to it.

An album of mostly pleasant folk, romantic music is the premiere disc by BrownSmith aptly titled Brownsmith, (Capitol ST-1534) the LP is mostly soothing with similarities to early Hall and Oates, Loggins and Messina and even England Dan and John Ford Coley.

There is plenty of sentimentality here with all of the songs dealing with love in some form or another. The majority of the compositions written by Don Brown, who plays guitar and handles lead vocals, are mellow tunes.

The group including Garrett Smith and friends, explore many realms of musical styles including some subtle jazz and rhythm and blues. Among the best cuts are "Lightening Lady," "Forever" and "Only Love."

As a major representative of the Seattle music scene BrownSmith are an indication that a great deal of unexplored talent lies out there.

Gold-plated aptly describes the music of the Climax Blues Band, one of England's oldest groups. On their newest album Gold Plated, (Sire SASD 7523) the Band shows what a true fusion of rock and roll and blues sounds like.

The strongest cuts on the LP include "Together and Free," "Mighty Fire" and the best-selling British single " Couldn't Get It Right.
"Together and Free" showcases Peter Haycock's expertise on guitar (his own really is gold plated).

The only way to describe the style of music the Climax Blues Band play is that it builds in intensity, thus their name. Gold Plated is a shining example of a band at the high point of their career.

---DeFretos
Faculty Exhibition

By Nina Lacy

The Fine Arts Faculty second biennial exhibition is now on view in Gallery One now through Fri., Dec. 17, Mon.-Fri. 9 am-5 pm.

The most interesting aspect of this show is the superior quality and range in silver with stones by arts in NJ. Its or her art expression at MSC, of media facilitate the student to diversity of the MSC Fine Arts of the works which reflect the 9 am-5 pm.

The student may be inspired to look out for. Mike Berry was fortunate enough to play with Buddy Holly's Crickets back in 1961 and also to possess a voice very similar to that of the late, great Holly. Berry's album, Rock in My Head (Sire SASD 7524) tries in vain to pay tribute to the early rock master. Berry absolutely murders "Peggy Sue" and "Think It Over" and his version of "Hey Baby" lags compared to Ringo Starr's new rendition.

"That'll Be the Day" is performed adequately as is the old Elvis tune, "Don't Be Cruel." Berry's guitar isn't that bad as he captures that Holly sound and echo.

"Rock in My Head should be lively, as any LP would be that salutes such an innovator a Buddy Holly- but this album is bland.
His premiere disc prove that he is a man to be aware of. Vocally he bears some resemblance to early Dylan.

"Song of the Long Grass" from the LP is receiving considerable airplay and hopefully Bird will soon be headlining on his own.

Ned Doheny has switched from folk rock to a type of disco and lyrics of Tony Bird, a new album titled Help Is On the Way, {Anita 4095} Manchester is suffering from a lack of creativity. The only salvagable cuts on the record are "There's More Where That Came From," the title track and "The Somebody."

"Help Is On the Way" is proof that what Manchester needs is an innovation to ward off the ever-threatening fiend called staleness.

 Did you feel left out and lonely during the Thanksgiving holidays? Did you procrastinate and leave papers and studies to the last minute? Would you like to change?

Take charge of your feelings. Learn to do what needs to be done when you want to do it. Join a TA therapy group at the MSC Center for Personal and Organizational Change. Transactional Analysis, Gestalt Communication are combined in a growth experience, Bilingual (Spanish-English) if desired. Group rates available. Contact Charles McFarren, M.Div., M.A., Phone 744-4780.

Dance Faculty Concert
Free Admission
Fri., Dec. 17 8:30 pm
Calcia Auditorium, Fine Arts Building
Dancers- Hermans, Nave, Roberts, Swinston & Guest Jeanette Stoner

Classical Music on Campus
Fri., Dec. 10
Pianist Berenice Lipson-Gruzen will present a concert in Memorial Auditorium MSC on Fri., Dec. 10, at 8:30 pm. The concert is part of a Fall Semester series of classical music. Tickets at $2.50 for general admission, $2 for senior citizens and $1.50 for students may be reserved by calling (201) 893-5112.

After a major European tour in 1973, Lipson-Gruzen returned to the US for a series of concerts, including a solo recital at Lincoln Center's Alice Tully Hall and another in 1975, at Carnegie Recital Hall.

Previewing two works that it will perform in Carnegie Recital Hall next Spring the MSC 20th Century Ensemble will present a concert on Sun., Dec. 12, at 8 pm on campus in the Student Center Ballroom.

The ensemble, under the baton of Gerard Schwarz, will play Aaron Copland's "Appalachian Spring," in its original version for 13 instruments and Debussy's "Prelude to the Afternoon of a Faun."

Concertmaster of the ensemble is Oscar Ravina, a member of MSC music department who is also a violinist with the New York Philharmonic and concertmaster of the Philharmonia Virtuosi of New York.

Wed., Dec. 15
The MSC Symphonic Band, under the baton of Thomas Wilt, will present a concert in the college's Memorial Auditorium, on Wed., Dec. 15, at 8 pm. The public is invited and admission is free.

The 50-member group will present a varied program featuring two pieces by Clare Grundman, "Hebrides Suite" and "Fantasy on American Sailing Songs." Among other works to be performed will be an arrangement for band by Finck of Bizet's "L'Arlesienne Suite."

A member of the MSC faculty since 1966, Wilt is well known as a flutist through appearances with leading orchestras.

 ACADEMIC RESEARCH PAPERS

 THOUSANDS ON FILE

Send $1.00 for your up-to-date, 192-page, mail order cata'og.

11326 Santa Monica Blvd.
Los Angeles, Ca. 90025

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.

Original research Isr ivailable.
I all the way."

... said. "He was on pace (30 seconds per 220 yards) and he had a lot left over. He has steadily improved since he came to us last spring."

Wallace Paces MSC

The MSC men's indoor track team scored in every race it entered in the Metropolitan Association's Amateur Athletic Union Track Meet on Dec. 3.

Sophomore Rich Wallace was the Indians' lone first place winner. He ran a come-from-behind victory in the 1,000-yard run.

"Rich had control of the race all the way," coach Dick Grey said. "He was on pace (30 seconds per 220 yards) and he had a lot left over. He has steadily improved since he came to us last spring."

Indian Captain Gene Russell

Jazz For The Sophisticated Collegiate

Parkview Lounge

493 Bloomfield Ave.
Bloomfield, NJ
748-9808

Mon. & Tues. - Unescorted Ladies
50 Per Highball

Wed. - Jazz Quintessence
Thurs. - Segue
No Admission Ever

Acres Of Free Parking
"Break The Suburban Tierney's Syndrome"

The MONTCLARION

Is Hiring

★ Assistant Business Manager
★ Graphics Aide

Good Pay

Nice Working Conditions

Starting January 1977

Apply At The MONTCLARION Office,
Fourth Floor SC
893-5169, 893-5230.

BUY DIRECT AND SAVE!

6-Function L.E.D. Watch

only

$16.95

JEWELRY-CASE GIFT BOX WITH EACH WATCH

The MONTCLARION

Jewelry-case gift box with each watch.

Teltronics manufactures and sells exclusively these quality-crafted solid state watches worldwide—over 1 million sold at much higher prices. Now, order direct and get tremendous savings, all these features:

• Full year warranty against defects in materials or workmanship, except battery. We will repair or replace any Teltronics watch developing such defect within 1 year of purchase. Full year warranty against defects in materials or workmanship, except battery. We will repair or replace any Teltronics watch developing such defect within 1 year of purchase.

• 6 functions controlled by a single button: hour, minutes, seconds, month, date, and day. Accurate within 2 minutes per year.

• Matching bracelets.

• Ultra thin case, with stainless steel back. All watches have matching bracelets.

• 30-day home trial, if not completely satisfied with your watch, return it within 30 days for full refund of purchase price, no questions asked.

• 8 functions controlled by a single button: hour, minutes, seconds, month, date, and day. Accurate within 2 minutes per year.

• Full year warranty against defects in materials or workmanship, except battery. We will repair or replace any Teltronics watch developing such defect within 1 year of purchase.

• 6 functions controlled by a single button: hour, minutes, seconds, month, date, and day. Accurate within 2 minutes per year.

• Full year warranty against defects in materials or workmanship, except battery. We will repair or replace any Teltronics watch developing such defect within 1 year of purchase.

• Full year warranty against defects in materials or workmanship, except battery. We will repair or replace any Teltronics watch developing such defect within 1 year of purchase.

• Full year warranty against defects in materials or workmanship, except battery. We will repair or replace any Teltronics watch developing such defect within 1 year of purchase.

• Full year warranty against defects in materials or workmanship, except battery. We will repair or replace any Teltronics watch developing such defect within 1 year of purchase.
Grapplers Host Georgia

Most of the students at the University of Georgia are concerned with the Bulldogs' chances of upsetting No. 1 Pittsburgh in the Sugar Bowl, but the Georgia wrestlers couldn't care less.

Those Bulldogs are preoccupied with one of their biggest matches of the season when the Georgians visit powerful MSC on Thursday, Dec. 9, 8 pm.

If this first game was any indication of the Squaws future, MSC may be headed for that lonely but coveted position at the top of the totem pole. Number one in the nation. MSC is now 1-0. Princeton is even at 1-1.

MSC is 3-1, having swept through the Temple University Quadrangular meet. The Indians defeated Princeton, 28-15, Temple, 24-10 and Dalhousie University of Canada, 51-0 but lost to Clarion State, 34-9, Tuesday night.

Sports Sidelines

Eight MSC gridmen were named to the NJSCAC All-Star football team. Making the first team squad were Pat Connolly and Neil Torino as the guards, Bob Gardner at fullback and Orlando Alvarez at tight end. Defensively the Indians placed four players on the team. Tackle Mario Benimeo, defensive end Mike Fox, middle guard Ralph Betcher and defensive back Mike Christodore helped fill out the 12-man squad.

Charles DiPaola, a starter for last year's Trenton State College varsity basketball team, has been named women's junior varsity basketball coach.

Fencers Win

MSC's fencing team defeated Rutgers/Newark 16-11 on Tuesday. Leading the team was George LaTorre who had a 3-0 record for the night. In the foil category Renee Miranda shined, going 3-0 also.

Channukah Party

Tues. Dec. 14
11 am - 1 pm
Ballroom A
SC

Games, Latkes, Music,
Dancing, Candle Lighting
Everyone Welcome!!!
Paddle Tennis Team Wins

By Jeff Barish

In spite of the Billy Joel concert which robbed MSC of four players, a makeshift lineup handily defeated their Wagner opponents 4-1.

The key may have come at the tail end of the first half. After the Indians had built up and maintained an early six to eight point lead, Kean opted for the full-court press, a type of strategy which can either make it or break it. They made it. The press caused the Tribe to commit a number of forced errors (A game total of 23 turnovers, 17 of those on steals.) A pair of free throws by Squire Vince McDonald put Kean on top 28-26 with 2:26 to go.

Although the Indians bounced back on scores by John Minnema and Doug Brown to lead 32-30 at halftime, their opponents had put themselves in the position to take the lead. And that they did. The Squires reeled off some quick baskets, out-pointing MSC 14-2. Led by Chuck Raub and Nick Yankowitz, Kean went on top 28-26 with 2:26 to go.

MSC's revival was short-lived. So when three consecutive steals by Kean guard Eloy Ashworth resulted directly into scores, the Squires iced the game.

We adjusted well to their defense in the second half,” Gelston said. “But we missed too many damn easy shots underneath.”

By Bill Mezzomo

“With Billy Joel’s concert, we got to practice a lot. We didn’t practice a lot.”

Attribute the previous statement to Indian basketball coach Ollie Gelston. Harsh words? Maybe. True? Well, from the looks of things Tuesday night at Panzer Gymnasium the coach’s comments seem to be valid. Witness the score: Kean College - 72, MSC - 58.

It should be noted at this point that this was the Indians’ first loss to the Squires since 1969. That’s right 1969 – the year of Vietnam, college demonstrations and the moon shot. That’s a long time without losing a game to one opponent, maybe too long. There is always the inevitable law of averages and the possibility of over-confidence.

“I don’t think we were ready to play,” Gelston noted. “We weren’t ready physically, mentally or emotionally.”

Gelston indicated that he saw the trouble before hand.

“I didn’t like our attitude in practice. We weren’t working hard so in the game we didn’t take it to them. You can’t just step out on to the court and expect to win.”

But don’t get the wrong impression, Kean worked for the win. The Squires played more like knights, a young team last year with another year of experience under the belts.

“We knew they were good and had the potential last season,” Gelston noted.

The key may have come at the tail end of the first half. After the Indians had built up and maintained an early six to eight point lead, Kean opted for the full-court press, a type of strategy which can either make it or break it.

They made it. The press caused the Tribe to commit a number of forced errors (A game total of 23 turnovers, 17 of those on steals.) A pair of free throws by Squire Vince McDonald put Kean on top 28-26 with 2:26 to go.

Although the Indians bounced back on scores by John Minnema and Doug Brown to lead 32-30 at halftime, their opponents had put themselves in the position to take the lead.

And that they did. The Squires reeled off some quick baskets, out-pointing MSC 14-2. Led by Chuck Raub and Nick Yankowitz, Kean went on top 44-34.

However, the Indian offense started to get moving. Baskets by John Manning and Reggie Belcher closed the gap. Then, with 10:12 remaining in the game, Brown sunk two shots from the foul line knotting the game at 47.

MSC’s revival was short-lived. So when three consecutive steals by Kean guard Eloy Ashworth resulted directly into scores, the Squires iced the game.

“We adjusted well to their defense in the second half,” Gelston said. “But we missed too many damn easy shots underneath.”
MSC Cages Tigers, 89-39

By Pete Baligian

MSC didn't just beat Princeton University's basketball team Tuesday night - it committed first degree murder.

The eighth ranked Squaws annihilated the Princeton Tigers 89-39 in Jadwyn Gym by simply outplaying Princeton in every phase of the game.

The harassing defensive play of guards Jill Jeffrey and Alice Schmidt in the final half opened the gates for the ensuing flood of points. Every time the opposition brought the ball down court, a Squaw would pick their pocket clean and cash in on an easy layup.

In fact, most of the second half was played in the Tiger half of the court because Princeton could not get past the aggregative Squaws.

But while the second half belonged to MSC, the first half was a virtual toss up.

Princeton played tough and stayed closer to the Squaws than anyone expected. The game, a bit sloppy at the outset, settled down to be what looked like a tough game.

Although they took a 32-25 lead with them to the locker room at the half, the Squaws just weren't playing up to their potential.

"We were really tight in the first half," head coach Maureen Wenelken reflected. "I guess part of the reason was that it was our first game, but mostly it was because we were all a little scared that we weren't going to make the game."

Wenelken was referring to mechanical difficulties the Squaws experienced on the way to Jadwyn Gym.

MSC's cross country team made a significant improvement over last year's 6-10 record. The barriers went 9-5 in dual meets placing second in the NJSCAC. Cliff Hampson came in third in the conference individual championship with a time of 27.10.

The women's tennis team finished the season 6-4. The team of Stella Bednarz and Karen Patrick finished 8-2 at second doubles. Ann Nesko and Sue Regan, the third doubles squad, were 7-1.

The eighth ranked Squaws annihilated the Tiger half of the court because Princeton could not get past the aggregative Squaws.

The Squaws were a different team in the second half. They did more than settle down. They went berserk.

All-American forward Carol Blazejowski was all over the court, scoring 30 points and rejecting more shots than a squeamish patient. She literally intimidated the whole Tiger squad.

Forward Pat Colasturso played aggressive offense, scoring 13 points while Wanda Sezemeta clogged the middle for the Squaws and made life miserable for the Tigers.

Janice Ternyk played well off the bench at center with a 12-point total.

Although 89 points in a 40-minute game seems to indicate offensive superiority, it was the unrelenting defense that made the game a joke.

Princeton never had a chance to try a comeback because Jeffrey (the "midget quarterback") of the team and Schmidt never let them bring the ball up court.

"We just outclassed them," Wenelken summed. "Our defense played the way they are capable of playing."

"It's a little early in the season to be worried about our rank," the amiable coach said. "We're still (Cont. on pg. 18)"