Off campus housing dilemma:

Apartment uninhabitable

by Chris Carroll

Four MSC students, who have run into problems with their off campus apartment, will not be able to depend on housing to help them if they take their case to court.

The college can only offer "advisory support" on how they can approach the situation, Raymond Stover, dean of housing, said.

John Litowinski, Rich Reber, Mike Palumbo, and Jim Green found their off campus apartment "unfit for living" when they planned to move in on Sept. 1, Litowinsky, a sophomore broadcasting major, said.

"I can't believe a human being could live there," Palumbo, a sophomore computer major, said. The landlord of the Montclair apartment, A.J. Sandquist, was unavailable for comment yesterday.

According to John Shearman, assistant director of housing, the college "has no legal basis" for taking action against the landlord. "We can use the threat of not listing that person's home" on the computer file of off campus apartments, he said. "We don't think this is a very strong threat," he added.

College little help

Stover said the college will "try to act as a mediator" between the students and the homeowners, but it is up to the students to take action.

The four students signed a lease for the four room apartment at the end of May, Litowinsky said. At that time people were living in the apartment and although the students "didn't look at it extensively," Litowinsky said the apartment was "liveable." When he moved into the apartment on Aug. 27, he found pieces of sheetrock strewn about the apartment, holes and cracks in the walls, and many other "bad" living conditions, he said. "There was electricity but no light bulbs," and Litowinsky was forced to spend the night at the apartment because he couldn't leave his belongings "since there were no locks on the doors," he said.

Apartment in shambles

Palumbo said the place "looked neglected for awhile," cont. on p. 4

Coed sexually molested -- suspect still at large

Assault in mid-morning

A 21-year-old MSC student was allegedly molested on her way to a class before lunchtime on Sept. 11.

Celeste Tanguay, a resident of Upper Montclair, was assaulted while walking behind Freeman Hall at approximately 10:37 a.m. last Thursday.

"I was petrified," Tanguay said, "I've been walking that way for four years."

According to the campus police report, Tanguay was walking from her apartment on the sidewalk behind Freeman Hall when a male jumped from the bushes near the infirmary and attempted "with outstretched arms to embrace her," the report stated.

"He tried to grab me," Tanguay recalled.

She screamed. Although the embrace occurred, there was no contact with "intimate parts of her body," the report said.

When she screamed, the assailant backed off and said "I'm sorry." Tanguay said the assailant indicated he thought she was someone else. Starting to walk away, she looked back to see if the suspect had left, but he hadn't. She started to leave again and then noticed the suspect at her left bending over. The suspect asked her what time it was while showing her his watch, she reported.

It was then that the suspect used his left hand to grab her thigh and his right hand to reach up her skirt. Tanguay screamed again and the suspect released her. She ran up the sidewalk into Freeman Hall. She believes the suspect ran back into the bushes.

Tanguay said no one responded to her screams. Tanguay called the campus police from Freeman Hall.

At campus police headquarters, Tanguay described the assailant as "pretty average looking." She said he was a white male, approximately 20 years old, medium build with dark brown hair parted in the middle. She said he was wearing blue jeans and a light blue sweatshirt at the time of the assault.

A search of the area around Freeman Hall and the infirmary was made, but with negative results.

"I've been looking on campus but I haven't seen him since," Tanguay said.

A composite sketch was made of the assailant by the campus police and distributed around campus. According to sergeant William Horaling, in situations such as this one, the sketch is "generally sent to local towns."

Anyone with information concerning this incident or who has seen someone who resembles the sketch should contact the campus police at 201-893-5222. -Chris Carroll

A police composite sketch of an approximately 20 year old, white male being sought in connection with a sexual assault earlier this week. He is described as being about 5'6'' tall, dark brown hair and of medium build.
Piaget dead at 84

(GENEVA, SWITZERLAND)
The man described as the father of modern child psychology, Jean Piaget, is dead in Geneva, Switzerland, at the age of 84. The Swiss psychologist had the nickname "Giant in the Nursery," and had written more than 30 volumes on child development.

Drought takes its toll

(TRENTON, NJ)--Rainfall and unusual summer heat have dried up Northern NJ reservoirs, taken their toll on NJ crops, and reduced crop yields in the Southern part of the state.

New hope for NJ TV station

(WASHINGTON, DC)--The house commerce committee approved legislation today that could help NJ get a VHF TV license. Although the bill was given less than a 50/50 chance of being enacted this year, NJ Congressman Andrew Maguire, the chief sponsor of the TV amendment, says he was extremely encouraged by the vote this morning.

Darkness envelops Montclair

(MONTCLAIR, NJ)--The town of Montclair was plunged into a state of emergency Tuesday afternoon after a backhoe being used to install new telephone lines along Valley Rd. accidently struck a 4,000 underground electrical cable.

According to police the explosion and fire which occurred at the site triggered off a second explosion at the Public Service Electric and Gas/PSE&G substation 100 feet away at Valley Rd. and Bloomfield Ave.

Although fire crews from Montclair had the blaze under control within an hour, damage was extensive enough to black out power to more than 90 percent of Montclair as well as a portion of several surrounding towns.

Massive traffic jams resulted as traffic signals were knocked out along the main thoroughfares, and off duty police were called in to patrol the business district and help ease the construction.

Power had been restored to most of the utilities customers by early Tuesday evening although a portion of Valley Rd. remained closed to traffic in the vicinity of the explosions.

Carter ahead in poll

(WASHINGTON, DC)--President Carter is reported to be in very good spirits today. The reason: the latest polls, which show he's caught up with challenger Ronald Reagan. The New York Times CBS news poll shows Carter leading Reagan 38 percent to 35 percent, but with the survey's three-point margin of error, the two men are in a virtual tie. That's a big jump for Carter. About a month ago, another Times CBS poll had him trailing Reagan 47 percent to 27 percent.

The latest poll shows John Anderson at 14 percent, a one point gain over the earlier survey. Anderson campaigned today in Illinois and Missouri before heading back to Washington. The President is getting ready for his Thursday afternoon news conference. Reagan is preparing for Sunday's debate with Anderson.

Somoza reported dead

(ASUNCION, PARAGUAY)--Former Nicaraguan president Anastasio Somoza has been assassinated. According to radio reports from Paraguay, his home in exile, Somoza's car was ripped apart by an explosion yesterday. The reports say the car was attacked with automatic weapons and bombs in the city of Asuncion, the capital of the South American country. Two of Somoza's companions also are reported killed. It's not known who is responsible for the attack.

Piaget dead at 84

(GENEVA, SWITZERLAND)
The man described as the father of modern child psychology, Jean Piaget, is dead in Geneva, Switzerland, at the age of 84. The Swiss psychologist had the nickname "Giant in the Nursery," and had written more than 30 volumes on child development.

Drought takes its toll

(TRENTON, NJ)--Rainfall and unusual summer heat have dried up Northern NJ reservoirs, taken their toll on NJ crops, and reduced crop yields in the Southern part of the state.

New hope for NJ TV station

(WASHINGTON, DC)--The house commerce committee approved legislation today that could help NJ get a VHF TV license. Although the bill was given less than a 50/50 chance of being enacted this year, NJ Congressman Andrew Maguire, the chief sponsor of the TV amendment, says he was extremely encouraged by the vote this morning.

Darkness envelops Montclair

(MONTCLAIR, NJ)--The town of Montclair was plunged into a state of emergency Tuesday afternoon after a backhoe being used to install new telephone lines along Valley Rd. accidently struck a 4,000 underground electrical cable.

According to police the explosion and fire which occurred at the site triggered off a second explosion at the Public Service Electric and Gas/PSE&G substation 100 feet away at Valley Rd. and Bloomfield Ave.

Although fire crews from Montclair had the blaze under control within an hour, damage was extensive enough to black out power to more than 90 percent of Montclair as well as a portion of several surrounding towns.

Massive traffic jams resulted as traffic signals were knocked out along the main thoroughfares, and off duty police were called in to patrol the business district and help ease the construction.

Power had been restored to most of the utilities customers by early Tuesday evening although a portion of Valley Rd. remained closed to traffic in the vicinity of the explosions.

Carter ahead in poll

(WASHINGTON, DC)--President Carter is reported to be in very good spirits today. The reason: the latest polls, which show he's caught up with challenger Ronald Reagan. The New York Times CBS news poll shows Carter leading Reagan 38 percent to 35 percent, but with the survey's three-point margin of error, the two men are in a virtual tie. That's a big jump for Carter. About a month ago, another Times CBS poll had him trailing Reagan 47 percent to 27 percent.

The latest poll shows John Anderson at 14 percent, a one point gain over the earlier survey. Anderson campaigned today in Illinois and Missouri before heading back to Washington. The President is getting ready for his Thursday afternoon news conference. Reagan is preparing for Sunday's debate with Anderson.

Somoza reported dead

(ASUNCION, PARAGUAY)--Former Nicaraguan president Anastasio Somoza has been assassinated. According to radio reports from Paraguay, his home in exile, Somoza's car was ripped apart by an explosion yesterday. The reports say the car was attacked with automatic weapons and bombs in the city of Asuncion, the capital of the South American country. Two of Somoza's companions also are reported killed. It's not known who is responsible for the attack.

Piaget dead at 84

(GENEVA, SWITZERLAND)
The man described as the father of modern child psychology, Jean Piaget, is dead in Geneva, Switzerland, at the age of 84. The Swiss psychologist had the nickname "Giant in the Nursery," and had written more than 30 volumes on child development.

Drought takes its toll

(TRENTON, NJ)--Rainfall and unusual summer heat have dried up Northern NJ reservoirs, taken their toll on NJ crops, and reduced crop yields in the Southern part of the state.

New hope for NJ TV station

(WASHINGTON, DC)--The house commerce committee approved legislation today that could help NJ get a VHF TV license. Although the bill was given less than a 50/50 chance of being enacted this year, NJ Congressman Andrew Maguire, the chief sponsor of the TV amendment, says he was extremely encouraged by the vote this morning.

Darkness envelops Montclair

(MONTCLAIR, NJ)--The town of Montclair was plunged into a state of emergency Tuesday afternoon after a backhoe being used to install new telephone lines along Valley Rd. accidently struck a 4,000 underground electrical cable.

According to police the explosion and fire which occurred at the site triggered off a second explosion at the Public Service Electric and Gas/PSE&G substation 100 feet away at Valley Rd. and Bloomfield Ave.

Although fire crews from Montclair had the blaze under control within an hour, damage was extensive enough to black out power to more than 90 percent of Montclair as well as a portion of several surrounding towns.

Massive traffic jams resulted as traffic signals were knocked out along the main thoroughfares, and off duty police were called in to patrol the business district and help ease the construction.

Power had been restored to most of the utilities customers by early Tuesday evening although a portion of Valley Rd. remained closed to traffic in the vicinity of the explosions.

Carter ahead in poll

(WASHINGTON, DC)--President Carter is reported to be in very good spirits today. The reason: the latest polls, which show he's caught up with challenger Ronald Reagan. The New York Times CBS news poll shows Carter leading Reagan 38 percent to 35 percent, but with the survey's three-point margin of error, the two men are in a virtual tie. That's a big jump for Carter. About a month ago, another Times CBS poll had him trailing Reagan 47 percent to 27 percent.

The latest poll shows John Anderson at 14 percent, a one point gain over the earlier survey. Anderson campaigned today in Illinois and Missouri before heading back to Washington. The President is getting ready for his Thursday afternoon news conference. Reagan is preparing for Sunday's debate with Anderson.

Somoza reported dead

(ASUNCION, PARAGUAY)--Former Nicaraguan president Anastasio Somoza has been assassinated. According to radio reports from Paraguay, his home in exile, Somoza's car was ripped apart by an explosion yesterday. The reports say the car was attacked with automatic weapons and bombs in the city of Asuncion, the capital of the South American country. Two of Somoza's companions also are reported killed. It's not known who is responsible for the attack.

Piaget dead at 84

(GENEVA, SWITZERLAND)
The man described as the father of modern child psychology, Jean Piaget, is dead in Geneva, Switzerland, at the age of 84. The Swiss psychologist had the nickname "Giant in the Nursery," and had written more than 30 volumes on child development.

Drought takes its toll

(TRENTON, NJ)--Rainfall and unusual summer heat have dried up Northern NJ reservoirs, taken their toll on NJ crops, and reduced crop yields in the Southern part of the state.

New hope for NJ TV station

(WASHINGTON, DC)--The house commerce committee approved legislation today that could help NJ get a VHF TV license. Although the bill was given less than a 50/50 chance of being enacted this year, NJ Congressman Andrew Maguire, the chief sponsor of the TV amendment, says he was extremely encouraged by the vote this morning.

Darkness envelops Montclair

(MONTCLAIR, NJ)--The town of Montclair was plunged into a state of emergency Tuesday afternoon after a backhoe being used to install new telephone lines along Valley Rd. accidently struck a 4,000 underground electrical cable.

According to police the explosion and fire which occurred at the site triggered off a second explosion at the Public Service Electric and Gas/PSE&G substation 100 feet away at Valley Rd. and Bloomfield Ave.

Although fire crews from Montclair had the blaze under control within an hour, damage was extensive enough to black out power to more than 90 percent of Montclair as well as a portion of several surrounding towns.

Massive traffic jams resulted as traffic signals were knocked out along the main thoroughfares, and off duty police were called in to patrol the business district and help ease the construction.

Power had been restored to most of the utilities customers by early Tuesday evening although a portion of Valley Rd. remained closed to traffic in the vicinity of the explosions.

Carter ahead in poll

(WASHINGTON, DC)--President Carter is reported to be in very good spirits today. The reason: the latest polls, which show he's caught up with challenger Ronald Reagan. The New York Times CBS news poll shows Carter leading Reagan 38 percent to 35 percent, but with the survey's three-point margin of error, the two men are in a virtual tie. That's a big jump for Carter. About a month ago, another Times CBS poll had him trailing Reagan 47 percent to 27 percent.

The latest poll shows John Anderson at 14 percent, a one point gain over the earlier survey. Anderson campaigned today in Illinois and Missouri before heading back to Washington. The President is getting ready for his Thursday afternoon news conference. Reagan is preparing for Sunday's debate with Anderson.

Somoza reported dead

(ASUNCION, PARAGUAY)--Former Nicaraguan president Anastasio Somoza has been assassinated. According to radio reports from Paraguay, his home in exile, Somoza's car was ripped apart by an explosion yesterday. The reports say the car was attacked with automatic weapons and bombs in the city of Asuncion, the capital of the South American country. Two of Somoza's companions also are reported killed. It's not known who is responsible for the attack.
Attendance policy under review

by Beth Winkelmann

Classroom attendance is not mandatory at MSC, but that might change starting next fall. Wednesday evening the student senate will vote on a revised policy that will enable professors to penalize students failing to meet attendance requirements.

This policy is the result of a five month investigation which originated when the NJ attorney general’s office notified Dr. Irwin Gawley, vice president of academic affairs, that MSC’s current policy would not be legally defensible. That decision was reached after reviewing a case involving a MSC graduate student and a visiting professor.

Last year, Alice Strathis registered for two courses with a half hour overlap. This caused her to be late for an evening course taught by A. Bell, then in the math department. According to Dr. Robert Garfunkel, chairman of the mathematics and computer science department, Bell objected to this. The department then notified Strathis that she could not come in late and terminated her class registration. Strathis protested, and hired an attorney to represent her case, based on the fact that current attendance policy states that class attendance is required, or that course overlapping is prohibited. However, before the controversy could go to court, the student withdrew due to illness and took the course under independent study the next semester. To avoid similar incidents the college decided to review the current attendance policy.

The current policy outlined in the 1980 schedule of courses states that “Students are expected to fulfill all course requirements and although attendance is not always mandatory it may be desirable.”

In a December 1979 letter to Gawley, deputy attorney general Robert Fagella stated “My concern is that it may appear unreasonable for a professor to refuse to allow a student to enroll in conflicting classes when that same professor is powerless to prohibit excessive class absences which are not caused by course conflicts.”

Gawley approached the faculty senate and asked them to develop a revised attendance policy, keeping in mind the recommendations made by the attorney general’s office. A revised policy was approved by the senate in May, then submitted to Gawley.

He and the academic deans council reviewed the proposal, made some recommendations, and sent it back to the senate. This revision is scheduled to be voted on during the senate meeting of Sept. 24, after which it must be approved by the attorney general’s office before becoming policy.

The policy proposes that, “it is the responsibility of the student to ascertain specific attendance requirements from their instructors... Professors may penalize students failing to meet attendance requirements from their instructors... Professors may penalize students failing to meet attendance requirements... Students are prohibited from enrolling in courses with time conflicts.”

Gawley does not anticipate that the proposal will become an actual policy much before the fall 1981 semester. We are trying to reach a consensus on the part of the students, the administration, and the faculty.”

Lawsuit pending

by Louis Lavelle

College officials are going to Passaic County court Monday to try to recoup over $180,000 in repairs to the Student Center.

A summary report, prepared by the architectural firm of Scennett, Shive, Spinelli, and Peranoti in Somerville for the Educational Facilities Authority/EFA in Trenton, cited $18,888 to repair the aluminum posts anchoring the concrete railings surrounding the building.

The single largest repair expense was $52,150 to replace loose aluminum posts in the front lobby. Others included $18,888 to repair the aluminum posts anchoring the concrete railings surrounding the building; $17,800 to repair leaks on the upper levels, and $10,000 to repair leaks on the West wall of the College Supply Store.

The EFA filed suit against the architect Charles Luckman Associates of New York, NY, and the general contractor, Thomas Construction Co. of Wayne, for $182,000. On Mon. Sept. 8, NJ state deputy attorney general Mary Ann Manning appeared before the Passaic County court to begin the case. The case was postponed because of the Jewish holidays, until Mon. Oct. 12. The lawyer representing Bobrowicz, defending the EFA, Judge Rubin is presiding over the case.

Both sides of repair work were requested on July 18, 1978 and later rebid on Sept. 19, 1978. The low bidder, Deepdarch Construction Co., of Millburn, was awarded a $175,250 repair contract. A change order for $702.27 was later awarded to Deepdarch to install a landing on the East court handicapped ramp.

Bids, for the repair of the exterior precast concrete and aluminum railings, were received on March 30. The report said, “Three sections of these railings had either fallen off or become so dangerously loose that they had to be removed to prevent them from falling.” Enough of the posts were loose to warrant a “total replacement” and repair cement of all the posts. The contract was awarded to Mar Painting Contractors Inc. in Paterson.

Power outage jams traffic

by Naedine Hazell

Dormant since its installation two years ago, the $65,000 TV monitor system was put in working order this summer. “They were fixed around July,” according to Mike Bobrowicz, of student activities, who is in charge of programing the system.

Paid for largely by the SGA, the two-way information system has been best by political and mechanical problems since it was purchased in spring 1978.

The monitors, which are strategically located in Bohn Hall, College Supply Store, the lobby of the Student Center, Mallory Hall, Panzer Gym, Partridge Hall, and in the gym, are attended as means to communicate pertinent information, such as club meetings and registration deadlines, throughout the campus.

Besides the numerous problems of installing the system, there was disagreement between the SGA and the college administration concerning censorship of material displayed on the monitors. “Strictly speaking there is no priority right now. Whatever comes in we put on the screen—usually in the same day,” Bobrowicz said. As to the question of obscenities Bobrowicz claims they have not had any problems with it yet, but should the problem come up, he plans to follow the “normal lines of decency.”

After the censorship dispute was settled, another roadblock presented itself in the form of a mechanical breakdown. The microprocessor, an important part of the TV monitors, was malfunctioning and losing its place on the pages of information. “We shipped it off to Tel-e-measurements who installed the system, they sent it to 3-M who designed and built it, and 3-M fixed it,” Bobrowicz recalled. The total cost of the repairs was approximately $644.

A video monitor board has been set up to handle the nonmessage programs which will be aired on the monitors. An example of this would be weather reports, the local news shows, the first of which was aired Tuesday at 2 pm. The board will be in charge of setting the criteria for other shows.

Bobrowicz said material "must be of interest to the entire college. We don't think people should be bringing in their home movies or anything like that."

The system is still being abused by students and maintenance men. Some students are changing the channels on the TV's to watch their favorite daytime soaps. "As The World Turns is very big," Bobrowicz said. The other problem stems from the maintenance men. "Every morning we have to go around and turn all the TV's on, because the maintenance men are turning them off or unplugging them," Bobrowicz said. As the schedule is now, the monitors operate 24 hours a day. But there are hopes that times can be attached to them so they will operate from 7 am until 9 pm.
Apartment unfit

cont. from p. 1

and that they returned their keys so they wouldn't be blamed for any of the damages. Raber, and undeclared sophomores, thought the apartment was uninhabitable.

"I've had to find a place to live. I couldn't commute because I don't have a car," he said.

Litowinsky called Sandquist on Aug. 28 and told him about the condition of the apartment. "I was told that it would be improved by Sept. 1, the commencement of our lease," he said.

When they arrived on Sept. 1, however, they found the apartment to be "in much the same condition," Litowinsky said. He then demanded their security back and the lease negated, he said.

"Sandquist refused. He said he didn't know who was responsible for the damage," Litowinsky said. Sandquist allegedly said they might have their money back in a week. When Litowinsky called, however, Sandquist allegedly told him that his lawyer had advised him not to return their money, he said.

$760 invested

By this time, all four of them had invested $190 each to secure the apartment, Palumbo said. Litowinsky went to the Tenants Association in Montclair and asked the city to inspect the apartment, he said.

An inspection of the apartment was taken and a copy of a "paper consisting of all the infractions in the building" was given to the students, Litowinsky said.

Green, a sophomore business administration major, decided to leave the apartment earlier in the summer and Vinnie Lombardo, a junior home economics major, was going to move in with the other three students.

"When we saw it, it was in livable condition," Lombardo said. Because of its condition now, "I've been forced to sleep on the floor in a friend's house," he said.

The four students contacted a lawyer for "general advice" and spoke to Angelo Genova, the SGA attorney, Litowinsky said. "We are contemplating going to district court," he said.

This is an example of some of the conditions that may be found by off-campus apartment hunters.

Trustees install new officers

May chosen new chairman

by Mary Ann D'Urso

After 13 years of dedicated service to the administration and the student body, Gerald A. LeBoff officially ended his term as chairman of the four trustees at last night's meeting. LeBoff's position has been assumed by Dr. Ernest M. May.

Dr. Robert Birnbaum was installed as a new member of the trustees. Despite earlier opposition from the American Federation of Teachers/AFT, Birnbaum's installation went unprotested. Judge John J. Gavenda, of Little Falls, presided over the ceremony. Later when questioned on his new position Birnbaum stated, "Institutions like Montclair are very complex. I will do everything I possibly can to protect and strengthen this institution while properly serving it and the citizens of NJ."

Following LeBoff's final statements, May chaired the remainder of the meeting. The board elected Gordon R. Putnam, vice chairman, and Millicent G. Ansfield, secretary. It was announced that Stephen Weiss had resigned due to his appointment by NJ governor Brendan Byrne as an administrative law judge.

The death of Walter Kops, long time associate and history professor at MSC, was respectfully remembered by Dr. James Keenan whose fondness for this "great educator" was apparent.

Dean Jean Armstrong was introduced to those at the public meeting of the trustees as the new dean of students.

One of several issues raised concerned assembly bill A-1972 which, if passed, will allocate a portion of the tuition increase funds, originally designated for use within MSC, to the Tuition Aid Grant Program TAG. MSC President, Dr. David W.D. Dickson voiced the administration's opposition to this bill. Student representative to the trustees, Ken Brown, reiterated the president's sentiments as shared by the SGA.

Brown also voiced the SGA's complaints regarding the existing attendance policy. Their chief concern lies with its vagueness. Currently a revised policy is before the senate for debate.

Brian Cige, SGA president, brought up three key objectives accomplished over the summer. They encompass the elimination of late course registration fees, the lowering of prices in the Rathskeller, and the reinstatement of the original Panzer Gym capacity by the fire marshals.

Jeanette Pinkney, MSC student, suggested implementing a major tutorial program in which advanced students could tutor other students. The board agreed and vowed to discuss it further.

Consumer corner

by Lori A. McDonough

You've just finished reading a newspaper ad promoting the sale of a stereo you've been waiting so long to purchase. The sale is a steal. How can you go wrong? You run to the bank to withdraw the money you'll need, then you run even faster to the department store slightly higher price; the faster too the department store slightly higher price; the faster.

Below is a partial list of consumer agencies that are part of the Consumer Affairs Local Assistance Program/CA-LAP. These agencies are staffed by people who serve as appointees of the participating county and local governments. The agencies in your particular area is the first place you should contact when you can't resolve a complaint with a business.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>County</th>
<th>Director</th>
<th>Telephone</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Atlantic</td>
<td>John Legnaioli</td>
<td>(609) 345-6700</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bergen</td>
<td>Jane Bauman</td>
<td>(201) 646-2650</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Camden</td>
<td>Barbara Berman</td>
<td>(609) 757-8387</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Essex</td>
<td>Robert Russo</td>
<td>(201) 226-8500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hudson</td>
<td>Harold Kreiger</td>
<td>(201) 792-3737</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mercer</td>
<td>Elaine Schuman</td>
<td>(609) 989-6671</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monmouth</td>
<td>Joan Litwin</td>
<td>(201) 431-7900</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Morris</td>
<td>Carol Glade</td>
<td>(201) 285-2811</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ocean</td>
<td>Elizabeth Rozier</td>
<td>(201) 244-2121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Passaic</td>
<td>Salvatore Cannata</td>
<td>(201) 881-4549</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Flasher Police Report

Flasher sighted twice

by Chris Carroll

An incident of lewdness was reported in a parking lot on campus on Sept. 12 at 1 pm. Officer Albert Sager reported that a passing motorist told him a male was exposing his genitals in the upper portion of Lot 14. The motorist described the male as being white, approximately 40 years old, having dark brown hair, and wearing a flowered shirt. Officer Robert Williams and two other officers searched the area, but did not find the suspect. Another motorist reported seeing a male who fit the description driving a small white car.

Betty Kanterman, 56, recently had surgery on her knee. She fell when that knee buckled and she experienced intense pain, the report stated. She was transported to Mountainside Hospital in Livingston, NJ. Officer Williams responded.

A report of malicious mischief in the mall in front of Sprague Library on Sept. 16 at 9:30 am and had to be taken to Mountainside Hospital. Kanterman, 56, recently had surgery on her knee. She fell when that knee buckled and she experienced intense pain, the report stated. She was transported to Mountainside and then to St. Barnabas Hospital in Livingston, NJ. Officer Williams responded.

A report of malicious mischief in the mall in front of Sprague Library was reported on Sept. 13 by officer Anthony Ciaramella. While on foot patrol at 11:15 pm, sergeant Charles Giblin observed a vehicle with five males in it. Upon approaching the vehicle, Giblin observed the suspects consuming alcohol. Giblin asked for identification and found the suspects to be 17 years old. The suspects were brought to campus police headquarters and arrested.

We've got it!

HEWLETT PACKARD

HP-41C

Printers
Card Readers
Memory Modules
All Solution Books

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Product</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>HP 31E Scientific</td>
<td>$99.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HP 32E Advanced Scientific with Statistics</td>
<td>$139.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HP 33C Scientific Programmable with Continuous Memory</td>
<td>$99.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HP 34C Advanced Scientific Programmable with Continuous Memory</td>
<td>$139.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HP 37E Business Management</td>
<td>$67.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HP 38C Advanced Financial Programmable</td>
<td>$139.00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

HP-85 PERSONAL COMPUTER IN STOCK

MATTHIJSSEN, INC.
AUTHORIZED DEALER FOR HEWLETT-PACKARD CALCULATORS AND SUPPLIES

"The Calculator Specialists" stocking the complete line of HP Calculators and Accessories.

14 Route 10.
Corner Ridgedale Avenue
East Hanover, New Jersey 07936
(201) 887-1100

Come see how your SGA fees are spent.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT presents

SGA Information Day

This Wednesday, September 24th, 10am — 2pm

In the Student Center Mall

- Get to know your SGA organizations.
- Find out about all SGA services.
- There will be food and drinks at a minimum cost.

"Your Problems Are Their Problems"
SGA News

SGA funds depleted

by Debbie Reynolds

Scott Garrett, SGA treasurer, warned the SGA legislators to be "extremely cautious" when allocating funds to class organizations this year. In his treasurer's report presented to the legislature at yesterday's SGA meeting, Garrett voiced the results of the summer audit of all SGA organizations. The audit, performed by Price Waterhouse and Co. each year, costs the students $8,000.

In a view of past year's excess revenues, Garrett noted an 18 percent abundance in 1976 has decreased to one of minus 2 percent in 1980. He also stressed that the legislature will be able to allot only $26,000 this year, $20,000 less than last year's legislature had to deal with. "It's getting to the point where we're running out of money," Garrett said.

Garrett suggested that the legislature look at the SGA in more of a profit oriented frame of mind. "We should be more businesslike," Garrett said.

Sonjui Lai, director of public relations, announced that SGA Information Day will take place on Wed., Sept. 24 from 10am-2pm in the Student Center Mall. Tables are available for all class organizations to participate.

Parking prohibited

Students should be aware that there is no parking in Montclair between Normal Ave. and Mt. Hebron Rd. and Mt. Hebron Rd., and between Valley Rd. and Upper Mountain Ave. from 8 am-5 pm without a special permit.

The parking regulation was lifted for the last six weeks of the spring 1980 semester, but is now being strictly enforced. Only Montclair residents can obtain special permits which would allow them to park in the "permit only" zones. Students without permits will be ticketed.

North Jersey Women's Health Organization

450 HAMBURG TURNPIKE
WAYNE, NJ 07470

• VD Screening
• Pregnancy Testing
• Abortion Counseling
• Birth Control Information

278-4500

COLLEGE STUDENTS

Improve your grades!

Send $1.00 for your 306-page research paper catalog. All academic subjects.

Collegiate Research
P.O. Box 250974
Los Angeles, Ca. 90025

Enclosed is $1.00.
Please rush the catalog.
Name
Address
City
State Zip
ARE YOU COMING UP SHORT AT THE END OF THE MONTH?

There's one thing that's probably common to all college students. They have to watch their finances. Here's news about some help you may be able to get.

Air Force ROTC has four, three and two-year scholarships that provide you $100 a month and cover all tuition, books and lab fees. As an AFROTC cadet, you'll enter an exciting program of Air Force instruction that prepares you for one of the most gratifying management jobs available today.

Then, as a commissioned officer in the Air Force, you'll find responsibility and challenge from your very first assignment...you'll find that people respect you for what you do best.

Consider the Air Force as one of your goals, and consider the AFROTC program as a road to that goal. If you need financial help to free your mind for your studies, find out about AFROTC scholarships today.

AIR FORCE ROTC AT MONTCLAIR STATE

Montclair State College students may enroll in Air Force ROTC at New Jersey Institute of Technology (NJIT) in Newark with no obligation. Air Force ROTC will prepare you for a challenging career in the Air Force, and you will earn an Air Force commission while going to Montclair State. Students with 3 or 4 years of college remaining may enroll in the ROTC program. The Air Force accepts students in all academic majors in ROTC. Scholarships are available for navigator and missile launch officer candidates and also for computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering majors. Contact the Department of Aerospace Studies today for more information on Air Force ROTC. We are located in Room 210, Faculty Memorial Hall on the NJIT campus in Newark or you can call us at (201) 645-5239 or 5240.

We will be glad to tell you about the many job opportunities offered by the U.S. Air Force.
Tension not needed

The current attendance policy stating that “Students are expected to fulfill all course requirements and although attendance is not always mandatory it may be desirable,” must stand as is.

The forcing of students to go to class under threat of grade reduction is unnecessary and insulting in a college situation. We would think that students and faculty are intelligent enough to grasp how much class attendance is needed for each course.

At MSC a mandatory attendance policy is nothing short of absurd. Students here have chosen to pay to continue their education, and how they elect to handle themselves scholarly and socially should be left to their own discretion.

College should be the place for the refining of one’s maturity, intellect, and sense of responsibility; not a system which encourages prolonged adolescence through the likes of a mandatory attendance policy.

Safety first

The SGA student escort service is available to all students after 10:30 pm. If you need a companion before 10:30 pm, ask a friend to accompany you.

Don’t leave valuables in your car. Put all of your books, tapes and anything else of worth in your trunk or leave them home, and keep your car locked at all times.

Don’t leave your purse unattended in an office, restroom, or cafeteria. Dorm students, keep your rooms locked when vacant and all night long.

For your own safety please visit campus police headquarters for many more tips.

Students walk around campus everyday-- and night-- without realizing how dangerous this campus can be for the careless.

The campus police would be the first to tell you: don’t leave yourself open. There are a few safety tips that everyone should learn and follow.

Don’t walk around campus alone at night and stay alert even during the day. If you see anyone or anything suspicious, we urge you to contact the campus police at 893-5222 immediately.

College students unite

State college students of NJ, you’ve been burned.

The board of higher education raised your tuition over the summer with the understanding that the increase would be used to restore funds that were cut by our beloved governor Brendan Byrne. The New Jersey Council of State Colleges - NJCSC - reluctantly went along with it because they needed the money for the hard hit services, such as the libraries.

Now comes the fun part.

Joseph Merlino (D-Mercer), state senate president, aghast at the discovery this past summer that the Tuition Aid Grant (TAG) program was operating at a loss by some $4 million, decided that a good way to raise some of the money to cover the deficit is to take the funds from the tuition hike and funnel them into TAG.

In other words, state college and university students are footing the tuition bills for private, community, and yes, even out of state college students.

Isn’t it nice to know you’re putting someone through UCLA?

What’s that? You don’t think it’s fair to take our money and give it to other colleges?

Neither do I. Neither does MSC President Dr. David W. Dickson, the American Federation of Teachers (AFT), and the NJCSC. They have all filed protests against bill A. 1972, as has the board. For once in God knows how long nearly all sectors of the entire higher educational community agree on one thing: bill A. 1972 must be stopped.

The faculty and administration have done all they can. It is our turn now. If we sit back and let this happen, half our tuition hike will go to pay someone else’s tuition. Dickson thinks that the bill is “...inflicting a burden—a kind of taxation—on our own students.”

If I remember my history correctly, one of the causes of the Revolutionary War was “No taxation without representation.” That slogan is none the worse for being two centuries old. Merlino’s bill is certainly not in the best interests of state college students. He’s not my representative. No one in the department of higher education asked him to butt in.

One of the main problems with this bill is that Merlino seems to be doing this to rack up points with the electorate. He has his heart set on running for governor next year, and no senator or assemblyman in his right mind is going to step on his powerful little toes.

Another problem seems to be that there is a grand old tradition in the legislature to the effect that half of any tuition hike is used for student assistance. This “tradition” is pathetic. NJ is 47th out of the 50 states in per capita spending on education. To take money out of the students’ pockets in this manner makes it appear that the legislature is doing its best to make us 48th.

Now that I’ve thoroughly depressed you (or bored you), I have a few suggestions that I’d like you to think about.

Writing to your representative would be nice, but I doubt it will work. Those of you who would like to, however, can get the name and address of your assemblyman from the SGA office on the fourth floor of the Student Center. Letters from your parents would also help.

The SGA is in the process of investigating ways to prevent the passage of A. 1972. A special committee was formed last week, and all interested students are welcome to join. All you have to do is contact me in either The Montclarion Office or the SGA Office.

One last thing: prepare yourselves for a statewide student strike. Merlino is leaving us no other choice. Stay tuned.
Students Speak

TV monitors given a fair rating

by Georgia Panagakos and Phil Lanoue

Did you know that the tv monitors are working now?

“No. Since I've been here for only a short time, I haven't been around to see what's going on at the college because of my tight schedule.”

-Livina Amstula
1983/accounting

“No, but I think it's good because I'm a broadcasting major. I also think they should be used for more than just flashing information up there. They really should expand their programming.”

-Susan Zander
1984/broadcasting

“Yes, I saw it. I noticed it, but I really didn't pay much attention to it. If it gives out some information, I feel it's worthwhile, but I don't see anybody paying attention to it.”

-Jackie Michelli
1984/undeclared

“Yes, I did. They're good, except you have to stand there for 20 minutes to read. They're useful, but I don't think it was worth the money.”

-Donna Steele
1980/economics

“I didn't even know they were working, or supposed to be working. I really don't care and don't think they were worth it.”

-Alan Hamby
1985/undeclared

From The President's Desk

The future shaping of MSC's goals

by Dr. David W.D. Dickson

At the beginning of each academic year the hustle and bustle can become overwhelming and altogether confusing. Particularly this fall: the clamor of new construction, the delay in the paving of parking lots, the confusing. Particularly this fall: the hustle and bustle can become overwhelming and altogether confusing. Particularly this fall: the clamor of new construction, the delay in the paving of parking lots, the

Black Perspectives

BSCU: programming for all MSC students

by Michael Smith

The Black Student Cooperative Union-BSCU extends a warm embrace out to all MSC students. The newly-elected executive board of BSCU are as follows: Michael Smith, president; Richard Shorter, executive vice president; Dr. Donn Fagg, treasurer; Michael Fox, executive secretary; Kasib Bryant, vice president of cultural affairs; and Bateer Saleem, vice president of academic affairs.

BSCU offers a great many outlet for the MSC student, such as the choir, which is headed by Rosalind Pinkney. The Kitabu, which is a collection of Black literary work, can be found in the library. Venus Danes is the coordinator for the Kitabu.

BSCU also offers a drama workshop, which will exhibit many performances, both dance and theatrical, during the fall semester. Janice Bland holds down the post of editor-in-chief of the Strive magazine. BSCU's programming will possess a wide base, which in effect, will possibly incorporate the interest of every MSC student. The programming will be constructed from such events as dance festivals, international student forums, Black history programs, religious seminars, a Black child convention, a costume party, the Kwanza celebration and various lectures and films.

The executive board of the BSCU is always open for suggestions which will further the enlightenment of the MSC student to the true Black Culture. Also an additional greeting to all the other class organizations, and remember the BSCU door will always be open. Additional information can be obtained by attending a BSCU meeting, which are held every Tuesday at 12:30 and 7 pm in the meeting rooms on the fourth floor of the Student Center.
1981 YEARBOOK NEW MEMBERSHIP MEETING

Place: 2nd floor Life Hall

Time: Wed., Sept. 24 4PM

If you cannot make the meeting, please call 893-4346 and leave your name phone number, and special interests
NEEDED:
PHOTOGRAPHERS
WRITERS
LAYOUT PEOPLE
FUTURE EDITORS
ANYONE
INTERESTED IN GETTING INVOLVED

LACAMPANA/YEARBOOK is a Class One Organization of the SGA

"Students Serving Students"
by Carla Zarro
"There I was, sitting in the office, talking to the company's service manager about how to roll a joint. I glanced up and saw a bunch of cop cars surrounding the street outside. There were cops everywhere. The street looked like a sea of blue uniforms."

MSC's Marilyn Cole continued, "Both of us ran to the window. I couldn’t believe what I saw; four cops piled on top of one man. They were trying to hold him down, but they were not doing a good job of it."

"You had to see this guy. He made Godzilla look petite. He was at least seven feet tall and had to weigh 350 pounds. It would have taken three whole police departments to hold him down, not just four puny guys," she laughed.

A nutrition major, Cole is now a junior at MSC. Seated in the Student Center Cafeteria, she continued her tale. "After breaking away from the cops he started to run towards our office."

Now she stopped laughing. Her light blue eyes became pensive. "He burst into the office, grabbed Tony, a coworker, by the arm, and said, "Get me out of here or I'll break it off." Tony pointed to the steps leading into the lower offices and also to the back entrance."

Shivering slightly and lowering her voice, Cole said, "Then he grabbed me and demanded that I show him the way. I was petrified. I couldn't even move." She emphasized in the meantime the cops had come in, but it was too late; the intruder forced her downstairs.

"Once downstairs I showed him where the door was. He pushed me aside and ran out. The cops were there waiting for him with guns drawn."

They threw him on the ground, handcuffed him, tied his belts, and six cops carried him to a waiting police car.

Cole said she later found out that a police officer had approached this man for littering. He then proceeded to beat the offender because he was helpless against such a large person. "Tony and I both pressed charges. We don't know what will happen now. It's just fortunate no one was hurt," Cole said.

by Lori A. McDonough
"I just found out that Alexander was gay when someone started ringing the doorbell furiously. Alexander is a character from Ron Juiff's novel Class Reunion, which I was curiously reading. The someone turned out to be a policeman who was the last person I expected at 11 pm on Labor Day weekend."

Relaxing in the third floor lounge of the Student Center, senior Annie Meehan continued, "Looking back at the incident now, I can laugh, but at the time I didn't think it was funny at all. I was afraid because the cop was interrupting the most interesting part of the book, and also frightened because I didn't know what he wanted."

"I live with my parents in an apartment complex, and as I was running downstairs I could hear someone ringing my neighbors' doorbell also. My cautious nature kept from opening the door before I asked who it was. A gruff but nervous voice answered, 'It's the police. There's a fire in the building, and everyone must be evacuated immediately.'"

The brunette's fair skinned face flushed as she explained what happened the next moment or two. "After all, in the movies once a robber would usually flood the clerks' mind. "After all, in the movies once a victim sees the criminal's face the criminal would usually shoot the victim because they would be afraid of being identified."

"As the blood from the tanned clerk's face quickly rushed to her toes, and her heartbeat shot flooded the clerk's mind. "I had begun to run out the door when the policeman told me to go back inside and throw the door open. When I walked down at my clothing, I realized I had run out in extremely skimpy pajamas and no shoes."

"I quickly ran back up stairs and threw half of my clothes in my closet on the floor until I found my robe. Then I put on my only moment of saneness throughout the situation, I grabbed my checkbook and my makeup, and threw it in my pocketbook. If anything bad was going to happen, I was going to look good when it did."

"I still didn't have any shoes on when I got back downstairs, but it would have been too dangerous to go back. I gathered with the other neighbors who were being instructed by the firemen to move away from the building because there was a possibility of an explosion. It was then that I saw the flames and smoke pouring out of the basement entrance."

Later, the victim was told she would be asked to make a composite picture of the armed robber. She hesitantly consented and by and large, to the surprise of another detective, an extremely war and compassionate individual who was also working on the case, the again ran clerk proved to be a perfect witness to the police had to retyped a written statement."

"When I tell people about that, I had to weight 350 pounds. It was at least seven feet tall and to have a fairly accurate seven feet tall and was in denominations of 10's, five's, and one's," she added with disbelief.

Shunning by the fact that there were no 20's, the armed robber inquired, "Where are the 20's?" Nervously he replied, "I don't know, I don't have any shoes."

Within 20 seconds the robber walked out of the pharmacy carrying his gun and $67. In return, he left one pharmaceutical clerk on the verge of collapse, one hysterical middle-aged customer, who previously had been ordered to shut her mouth, and one pharmacist who didn't know what had happened in the last five minutes.

Six minutes later, two policemen and one detective were at the scene of the robbery and were questioning the victim. The clerk was informed that she would have to write a detective at police headquarters for a written statement."

The statement was taken and typed by a stenographer at the police station. Consequently, the report had to be retyped after the fulltime college student, partime clerk had corrected six spelling errors.

My hands were shaking, but I was still able to place the money on the counter without crying, and the man was with his words. He said, "I don't have the cash register, and give me the money."

As the blood from the tanned clerk's face quickly rushed to her toes, and her heartbeat shot flooded the clerk's mind. "I had begun to run out the door when the policeman told me to go back inside and throw the door open. When I walked down at my clothing, I realized I had run out in extremely skimpy pajamas and no shoes."

"I quickly ran back up stairs and threw half of my clothes in my closet on the floor until I found my robe. Then I put on my only moment of saneness throughout the situation, I grabbed my checkbook and my makeup, and threw it in my pocketbook. If anything bad was going to happen, I was going to look good when it did."

"I still didn't have any shoes on when I got back downstairs, but it would have been too dangerous to go back. I gathered with the other neighbors who were being instructed by the firemen to move away from the building because there was a possibility of an explosion. It was then that I saw the flames and smoke pouring out of the basement entrance."

Later, the victim was told she would be asked to make a composite picture of the armed robber. She hesitantly consented and by and large, to the surprise of another detective, an extremely war and compassionate individual who was also working on the case, the again ran clerk proved to be a perfect witness to the police had to retyped a written statement."

"When I tell people about that, I had to weight 350 pounds. It was at least seven feet tall and to have a fairly accurate seven feet tall and was in denominations of 10's, five's, and one's," she added with disbelief.

Shunning by the fact that there were no 20's, the armed robber inquired, "Where are the 20's?" Nervously he replied, "I don't know, I don't have any shoes."

Within 20 seconds the robber walked out of the pharmacy carrying his gun and $67. In return, he left one pharmaceutical clerk on the verge of collapse, one hysterical middle-aged customer, who previously had been ordered to shut her mouth, and one pharmacist who didn't know what had happened in the last five minutes.

Six minutes later, two policemen and one detective were at the scene of the robbery and were questioning the victim. The clerk was informed that she would have to write a detective at police headquarters for a written statement."

The statement was taken and typed by a stenographer at the police station. Consequently, the report had to be retyped after the fulltime college student, partime clerk had corrected six spelling errors.

"My hands were shaking, but I was still able to place the money on the counter without crying, and the man was with his words. He said, "I don't have the cash register, and give me the money."

As the blood from the tanned clerk's face quickly rushed to her toes, and her heartbeat shot flooded the clerk's mind. "I had begun to run out the door when the policeman told me to go back inside and throw the door open. When I walked down at my clothing, I realized I had run out in extremely skimpy pajamas and no shoes."

"I quickly ran back up stairs and threw half of my clothes in my closet on the floor until I found my robe. Then I put on my only moment of saneness throughout the situation, I grabbed my checkbook and my makeup, and threw it in my pocketbook. If anything bad was going to happen, I was going to look good when it did."

"I still didn't have any shoes on when I got back downstairs, but it would have been too dangerous to go back. I gathered with the other neighbors who were being instructed by the firemen to move away from the building because there was a possibility of an explosion. It was then that I saw the flames and smoke pouring out of the basement entrance."

Later, the victim was told she would be asked to make a composite picture of the armed robber. She hesitantly consented and by and large, to the surprise of another detective, an extremely war and compassionate individual who was also working on the case, the again ran clerk proved to be a perfect witness to the police had to retyped a written statement."

"When I tell people about that, I had to weight 350 pounds. It was at least seven feet tall and to have a fairly accurate seven feet tall and was in denominations of 10's, five's, and one's," she added with disbelief.

Shunning by the fact that there were no 20's, the armed robber inquired, "Where are the 20's?" Nervously he replied, "I don't know, I don't have any shoes."

Within 20 seconds the robber walked out of the pharmacy carrying his gun and $67. In return, he left one pharmaceutical clerk on the verge of collapse, one hysterical middle-aged customer, who previously had been ordered to shut her mouth, and one pharmacist who didn't know what had happened in the last five minutes.

Six minutes later, two policemen and one detective were at the scene of the robbery and were questioning the victim. The clerk was informed that she would have to write a detective at police headquarters for a written statement."

The statement was taken and typed by a stenographer at the police station. Consequently, the report had to be retyped after the fulltime college student, partime clerk had corrected six spelling errors.
by Barbara Spaltitta

Admit it. Yeah you. Don’t look around. I’m talking to you, and by the way, everybody knows it. They all know that you have done it before so don’t try to deny it. Don’t even say you don’t know. How come you don’t all know? That’s simple; it’s because everybody has done it. And I’ll be the first to admit it, I have done it (but, please I beg of you—don’t tell anyone). You know what I’m talking about—don’t you?

Example:
Scene: You walk into a store; a grocery store, clothing store, liquor store, drug store—any store (get the picture?).

Action: You choose an item, any item which you “intend” to buy.

Meanwhile: You have lots and lots of things on your mind. A paper was due two days ago; a paper is due today, two or three; I lucked out the day after tomorrow. You wonder if you have enough money for gas to get to where you want to go, or whether you can go around more easily, and you find that you have any money left after you go there to afford to do anything? You wonder, etc., etc., etc.

Then: You leave the store. Question: But what has happened? Answer: You have forgotten to pay for the item (Naughty, naughty).

Result: A guilty conscience. Now, I’ll admit it happened to me (notice that I didn’t “do” it—but it “happened” to me!) It seems like only yesterday that it occurred. (It was yesterday or the day before yesterday, three months, and four days ago—something you never forget). When this occurs you can do one of two things—return to the store to convince the owner that it was a “mistake.” But that would be stealing—or would it?

Well at first I did neither of the only two things that a person can do. I simply went off the deep end. I became paranoid and shook at the sound of every siren (be it an ambulance, fire engine or police car). “Oh no. They’re coming to take me away. I will never see my family or friends again. I will never see anything but stripes and chains and sledge hammers I thought cringing.

Of course I brought back the six pack (of coke) and was rewarded a candy bar for my good and honest deed. But some things one will never forget—like forgetting to pay for something.

So if anyone of you want to face up to your duty as a good, honest person, take it back.

by Donna Cullen

“I was walking home from school one day when some guy in a car pulled over. He got out of the car to the side of the road. He whistled for our attention and then exposed himself,” Theresa said.

“I suppose fires aren’t all that uncommon. You read about them a lot in the newspapers, but you never dream of it happening to you. It wasn’t a real crisis, thank God; no one was hurt, but it still shook me up. I wasn’t able to sleep all night for fear the fire would start again, and no one would smell it. So do you know what I did?” questioned the student.

“Now, I’ll admit it happened to me (notice that I didn’t “do” it—but it “happened” to me!) ”

Tues., Sept. 23
8 pm
Student Center Ballrooms
$.75 MSC Students
$1.25 for all others

CLUB presents: its FIRST PARTY with THE METROS
&
THE MODERNS

Thurs., Sept. 18
8 - 12 pm
Student Center Ballrooms
$1 w/ID
$2 w/out
FREE MUNCHIES
MUST BE 19 YEARS OLD
2 ID'S REQUIRED
Saturday in the park
by Stephen J. McLean

As a number of concerned people and rock superstar Elton John set out to prove last Saturday, truly one of NYC’s greatest treasures is Central Park. Though it’s a place that encompasses several lakes, walking paths, a zoo, tennis courts, baseball football fields, and playgrounds. The park also offers the chance to participate in and enjoy: road races, concerts, art exhibits, and a number of other exciting activities.

In the interest of preserving this park Elton John performed a free concert on Central Park’s 18 acre great lawn for a record breaking crowd of 400,000 fans. The concert was sponsored by Calvin Klein Jeans, WNEW fm, and the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation.

Through the sale of T-shirts and buttons an estimated $75,000 has been raised for the Parks “Keep it Green” program. With this money, plus 5 percent interest on TV and film rights, the park department plans on restoring and renovating a number of NYC’s landmarks and parks. The concert began at 3 pm with an opening act by singer Judie Tzuke. At 4 pm in the midst of a multicolored barrage of balloons, released from behind the stage, Elton John, sitting at a white piano and wearing one of his typical garish suits, began his three hour concert with a striking performance of Funeral for a Friend.

Working with a five member band, including Dee Murray on bass guitar, and Nigel Olson on drums, John performed a number of his greatest hits such as Benny and the Jets, Saturday Nights Alright for Fighting, Philadelphia Freedom, and Tiny Dancer. He also did a few of his more recent hits from his 21 at 3’s album, and the number Imagine by one of his close friends, John Lennon.

Changing his outfit three times, John showed off a variety of his outlandish wardrobe ranging from a red, white, and blue glittering jumpsuit with a cool boyfriend hat, to a yellow and white duck costume.

The performance in Central Park showed a marked upswing in musical quality as compared to John’s last few years of solo concerts. The music was much more lively and upbeat than previous years, comparable to that of concerts during his earlier years when he was at his musical peak.

The crowd reflected this excitement by calling John back for two encores as well as by standing for the entire three hour performance, and by all in all having a great time without causing much trouble.

In keeping with the theme of the event, “Keep it Green,” at the close of the concert park employees distributed trash bags throughout the audience so the fans could clean up after themselves. Thous¬ands of people pitched in to help collect the debris left behind proving that they cared about NYC’s parks. But, most of all these people made a spectacular fund raising event; the success it was planned to be. As far as the future, for those who missed the concert, or even those who made it, look forward to radio rebroadcasts of the concert and even a TV special. But best of all one can probably look forward to more free concerts and other equally fun events in NYC’s parks.

Elton John lends his talents to a worthy cause.

Langella strikes again
by Victoria Michaels

Ah...the greasepaint, the lights, the crowds...the theater. Anything to be on the stage—anything to hear that applause night after night. The rejection; the pain. How disillusioning, how pathetic. How wonderful.

Those Lips, Those Eyes brings to the silver screen all of the elements, tribulations, and truths of the matter is: Crystal is a lovable, youngster, the scarred, yet still hopeful veteran, and the theater? What entices you to participate in and enjoy: road races, concerts, art exhibits, and a number of other exciting activities.

In the interest of preserving this park Elton John performed a free concert on Central Park’s 18 acre great lawn for a record breaking crowd of 400,000 fans. The concert was sponsored by Calvin Klein Jeans, WNEW fm, and the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation.

Through the sale of T-shirts and buttons an estimated $75,000 has been raised for the Parks “Keep it Green” program. With this money, plus 5 percent interest on TV and film rights, the park department plans on restoring and renovating a number of NYC’s landmarks and parks. The concert began at 3 pm with an opening act by singer Judie Tzuke. At 4 pm in the midst of a multicolored barrage of balloons, released from behind the stage, Elton John, sitting at a white piano and wearing one of his typical garish suits, began his three hour concert with a striking performance of Funeral for a Friend.

Working with a five member band, including Dee Murray on bass guitar, and Nigel Olson on drums, John performed a number of his greatest hits such as Benny and the Jets, Saturday Nights Alright for Fighting, Philadelphia Freedom, and Tiny Dancer. He also did a few of his more recent hits from his 21 at 3’s album, and the number Imagine by one of his close friends, John Lennon.

Changing his outfit three times, John showed off a variety of his outlandish wardrobe ranging from a red, white, and blue glittering jumpsuit with a cool boyfriend hat, to a yellow and white duck costume.

The performance in Central Park showed a marked upswing in musical quality as compared to John’s last few years of solo concerts. The music was much more lively and upbeat than previous years, comparable to that of concerts during his earlier years when he was at his musical peak.

The crowd reflected this excitement by calling John back for two encores as well as by standing for the entire three hour performance, and by all in all having a great time without causing much trouble.

In keeping with the theme of the event, “Keep it Green,” at the close of the concert park employees distributed trash bags throughout the audience so the fans could clean up after themselves. Thousands of people pitched in to help collect the debris left behind proving that they cared about NYC’s parks. But, most of all these people made a spectacular fund raising event; the success it was planned to be. As far as the future, for those who missed the concert, or even those who made it, look forward to radio rebroadcasts of the concert and even a TV special. But best of all one can probably look forward to more free concerts and other equally fun events in NYC’s parks.

Elton John lends his talents to a worthy cause.

Shoemaker’s first day on the job is, of course, a disaster. He is dejected and verbally abused by the show’s director for his ineptness backstage. He is also befriended by the company star, Harry Crystal.

Langella is at his best—he has to be to play such a loser as Crystal with such finesse. Crystal is a veteran actor, still waiting for his big break. He is unfaltering in his hope, and dreams of Shubert Alley dance in his head.

As bright and water are to us, hopes of Broadway are to Crystal. He is a lovable, compassionate sucker. He is also a mediocre actor. The truth of the matter is: Crystal is far more successful in his personal relationships than he ever can be in his chosen profession.

The relationship established between Crystal and Shoemaker seems a bit unrealistic. What actor in his right mind would pay any attention to a lowly prop master? Throughout the movie, the relationships explored are depicted as transient, selfserving, and virtually nonexistent.

The relationship they establish becomes the only viable part of their world.

Pressman has placed several contrasting elements of interest in the film: the theater-smitten youngster, the scarred, yet still hopeful veteran, and the already wiley, young dancer. What becomes uncomfortable for the viewer as the film progresses is that we are not quite certain if we are being told that life is theater or theater is life (if, in fact, the distinction can be drawn).

What is the attractiveness of the theater? What entices human beings to bring themselves up, only to be knocked down? Pressman gives us Shoemaker, who admits defeat after a summer stock stint, and Crystal, who will still wait every night for a phone call from his agent to carry him to Broadway.

Who is the sinner of the two? Pressman doesn’t glorify the theater. He doesn’t have to. He also doesn’t have to exaggerate the pain. It’s there, along with the glory.

Shoemaker is torn. We are torn. Crystal is sure. He tells Shoemaker, “You’re hooked. If you don’t stay in, you’ll have an ache in your heart for the rest of your life.” What Pressman has Crystal also saying is, even if you do stay in, you’ll have an ache in your heart for the rest of your life. Shoemaker’s naivete and indecision along with Crystal’s weary acceptance, yet continuing perseverance, blend together, forcing us, but not allowing us, to take sides.

At movie’s end, I was not sure what I believed. We humans seem to have the ability to convince ourselves of most anything, at times grabbing any semblance of a dream; temporarily satiated, only to be uprooted again. Those Lips, Those Eyes made me feel like clicking my heels together and saying over and over “there’s no place like home.”

Gallery Two presents...

Lorraine Conte and Zdenak Nakoneczny stand among "The Seven Muses," a sculptural exhibition by Peter A. Marcalus.
Alston makes debut

by Stephen Kantrowitz

I recently had the twofold honor of hearing a very impressive, and one not so impressive, recital in West Orange. On Sat., Sept. 14, Richard Alston, pianist with enormous potential. I literally "stole" him from Metuchen, and Angela Kasius, soprano, performed at the YM-YWHA of Metropolitan New Jersey. They were two of the winners of the 10th annual Young Artists Competition.

The concert followed a reception honoring Leonard Shiman. Shiman is the cofounder of the chamber music series that the YM-YWHA supports. In June 1943, Shiman founded the Y's chamber series in association with Eugene Parsonner of Millburn.

Kasius is an attractive young performer who needs quite a bit of polishing before she will be ready to pursue a professional career. She has a certain amount of potential, but she is not in full control of her voice. The range is somewhat limited, which presents her with some problems when she reaches for high notes. Her glides and the range of her voice are quite sloppy. Her voice was pleasant to the ear, and her variance of volume was more than adequate.

She began her part of the recital with songs My Mother Taught Me by Antonin Dvorak. Kasius is a National Merit Scholar, and Kasius' part to perform this particular piece as her opening number. She was obviously not warmed up properly and it was reflected in her singing. At times her diction was unclear, and her tone was flat and rather monotonous.

Towards the end of the piece, her sweet, tender voice was apparent and Dvorak's beautiful expressions and sustained notes were brought out.

Worth mentioning is the third piece she sang. Titled Come Read and See Me, it was written by her accompanist, Richard Hendley. Hendley is a fine accompanist and a modest composer. The music was fairly interesting, but the lyrics left something to be desired. I had some difficulty in understanding Kasius.

I believe she has a great deal of talent and that the music she has written for the theater, but not operatic songs. Wearing a flashy red dress, it would have been better for the part. During the recital, she sang music from the Broadway genre of entertainment.

The second performer, Alston, is a fiery young artist with tremendous abilities. He is an exciting and talented pianist with enormous potential. He literally "stole" the show from Kasius. However, the pieces he performed were not musically balanced to give an overview of his musical potential. Alston is capable of unleashing tremendous bursts of energy and catly electrify his playing. But he doesn't seem to be quite in control of this aspect of his playing. At times it made the surface when it moved.

An other times, when it was inappropriate, it never appeared. This is a minor point that will certainly rectify itself with practice.

Alston opened by playing Polonaise in F minor, op. 44 no. 3, by Fryderyck Chopin. It was an amazing piece of pure piano wizardry. It was obviously chosen to showcase Alston's potential, which it certainly did. However, I would like to impress the audience with the musical variety that he looks for in his choice of pieces. Alston needed to balance his program by performing pieces that would exhibit all the facets of his musical and technical personal.

One piece that came close to doing this was Song Without Words, op. 38 no. 6, by Felix Mendelssohn. It was an amazing piece of pure piano wizardry. It was obviously chosen to showcase Alston's potential, which it certainly did. However, I would like to impress the audience with the musical variety that he looks for in his choice of pieces. Alston needed to balance his program by performing pieces that would exhibit all the facets of his musical and technical personal.

CLUB presents
Gene Roddenberry
creator and producer of
STAR TREK
Lecture And Film
Sept.30 at 7:30pm
Memorial Auditorium
$3.50 w/ID  $4 w/out

We need writers
Full Time - Part Time
RESERVE YOUR FALL JOBS NOW
$4 - 8 per hour
Due to expansion International Company has openings in all departments.
FOR INTERVIEW CALL
(201) 338-1900 - ext. 19

CLASS 1 CONCERTS presents
STEVE FORBERT
There will be a limited number of tickets available at the door.
4:00 pm Sunday
Panzer Gymnasium
FOR SALE: 1975 Dodge Dart, 55,000 miles, excellent condition, $1,700 or nearest offer. Also, anyone interested in a position from Parsippany on Tuesday, Thursday, or Friday, call Geetha Sridaran after 5 pm at 263-4661.

FOR SALE: 1977 Honda, 750 K, with extras, excellent condition, 5,000 miles, garage kept. Call Scott after 4:30 pm at 867-8325.

FOR SALE: Convertible Chevelle, 1972, 507, automatic, mounted, snows, radials, excellent mechanical condition, some rust, asking $1,900, call 943-2364.

FOR SALE: Three male registered Doberman puppies, black and rust, ears cropped, tails and nails cut. Two shots, black and rust, 746-9845. OR. Call Bonnie after 7 pm at 744-8821.

FOR SALE: 1979 Datsun 280SX, excellent condition, five speed, fully equipped, best offer, must sell, good gas mileage. Call 933-2965 after 6 pm.

FOR SALE: Cougar convertible, Herst 4 speed, ps, pb, new starter, battery and tune up. Runs on regular, fun car $600 or best offer. Call Ronne after 7 pm at 746-9845.

WANTED: Babysitter needed for country western dorm party. Fee to be arranged. Call F.A. 893-4843 or Frankie ext. 5558.

WANTED: Townhouse for country western dorm party. 27 mpg. regular gas, asking $575. Phone 744-8821.

WANTED: Someone that can fix refrigerator only three miles from campus. Anyone interested please call Gini at 278-5478.

WANTED: Campus representatives to promote student travel programs. Earn money and free trip. Contact The American Student Travel Center, 151 Main Street, Winsted, CT 06098 (203) 379-7508, (800) 243-2848 toll free.
Any college student who doesn’t know these words is asking for trouble.

Blue Cross.
Blue Shield.
Rider J.

If you’re in college, now is the time for total health coverage.

Students over 19 may no longer be covered under their parent’s Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans.

That’s why now is the time to apply for Student coverage—protection against health care costs at special low rates.

Apply today for this special coverage that includes Blue Cross, Blue Shield and Rider J—a most comprehensive health care package.

Complete the application and mail it to us. You will receive membership contracts and identification cards promptly. A bill will follow—only $31.59 per quarter.

My Signature__________________________________________________________ Date of Application____________________________________

I represent that to the best of my knowledge the statements made herein are true. It is by the Plan(s). It is further understood and agreed that my enrollment under the Student Certificate(s), if issued, may continue for only as long as I remain eligible for such enrollment.

My Signature ____________________________ Date of Application ____________________________

31,000 students can’t be wrong. Join them.

Yes, there are many students already enrolled for individual coverage with Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey—the finest protection against health care costs. With rates that are extremely attractive, this plan is obviously a “best buy.”

We’ve cut the red tape to streamline the application process and reduce delays in your enrollment. For your peace of mind, complete and mail the application today.

Rider J covers

* Required with Blue Cross Association
* Required with Blue Shield Association

Friends wish you luck on a big exam. Good friends stick around to see how you did.

Harriers aim for national finals

by Fran Harwell

The MSC men's cross country team is once again on the move. Coach James Harris was encouraged by the team's performance during the recent weekend they spent at the Poconos. The team ran an intense workout of approximately 60 miles in three days. Harris said that most of the runners were in excellent shape.

"The goal this year is to improve on our record of last year, and to qualify for the national finals," Harris commented. The veterans who are returning to help achieve this goal are: senior captain Ian Gordon; juniors Julius Mumme and Steve Boyle; and sophomores Dan Wiggins, Tom Schwarz, Charlie Cilwik, and Dave Henigan.

The newcomers are: juniors George Conners, Kevin Leonard, and Jeff Holt; sophomores Frank Nelson, Peter Smith, and Peter Gutter; and freshmen Loyd Mandell.

Those interested in joining the men's cross country team may come out on Sat., Sept. 20. The team meets at the rear of Panzer Gym everyday at 3 pm. Freshmen are especially encouraged to come. Come out and contribute to our cross country team.

10-0 possible again

The outlook for the women's varsity cross country season for 1980 is clouded right now.

With only four returning runners, after losing their first and third scorers to graduation, MSC faces a rebuilding year.

The team will have greater balance in 1980, with stronger performances expected in larger meets where running in pack is essential for high team scoring.

The schedule has been expanded this year, opening with a strong US Military Academy team on Fri., Sept. 19.

The Squaws meet four division I schools and one division III team when they trek to Princeton University on Fri., Sept. 26.

The early start of the season this year will mean rough going in dual meets. MSC will be pointing to the state championships on Sat., Oct. 18, followed by the Eastern Association Intercolligate championship meet at Indiana University of Pennsylvania on Fri., Oct. 31 and Sat., Nov. 1.

The Squaws expect to have a winning season, but it is always tough to follow a 10-0 season, as they did in '79.

Team members include: senior--Pat Cavallaro; juniors--Beth Fallon, Laura Glishinski, and Jill Philpot; sophomores--Pat Salmon and Lori Pomeranz; and freshmen--Linda Glishinski and Karen Reid.

Löwenbräu. Here's to good friends.
Tribe uses long ball to rout LIU, Pace

cont. from p. 24

Playing second base will be Billy Schoenig. Schoenig was drafted in the 41st round by the Cleveland Indians last June. He's been on the varsity team for two and a half years.

On the left side of the infield, at shortstop, is Mark Bujnowski, a veteran of two and a half varsity seasons. Playing the hot corner will be Bob Fortunato. Fortunato batted .384 last season, 31 RBIs, and five home runs. He made second team all New Jersey State College Athletic Conference/NJSCAC last spring, and will be starting for his third season. Glen DiLeo is a reserve infielder.

Tiberi, a power-hitting senior, will do the catching. Tiberi will be backed up by Don Rossi, a freshman from Holmdel.

The starting outfield includes left fielder Dave McLaughlin, an outstanding hitter who batted .345 last spring; Sabato mans center, and Steve Lipinski, a sophomore from Lenape Valley High School, courses at right field. Mike Nicotra, a freshman from Belleville, will be a reserve outfielder.

Starting pitchers include Bob Buccino, a senior transfer student from Seton Hall. "I want to keep the intensity level up, so when we start pracice for spring in January, the players will feel like their season just ended and is starting again, instead of that seven month wait you have between spring season," Schoenig concluded.

SMOKE SIGNALS: The Indians defeated LIU 15-12 in last Friday's season opener. In the first game of Saturday's twinbill, Pace won 8-4 on the strength of three home runs. Last spring MSC won the NJSCAC championship by defeating Ramapo in a one game playoff.

The starting outfield includes left fielder Dave McLaughlin, an outstanding hitter who batted .345 last spring; Sabato mans center, and Steve Lipinski, a sophomore from Lenape Valley High School, courses at right field. Mike Nicotra, a freshman from Belleville, will be a reserve outfielder.

Turning a weekend a month and two summers into $6,000 for college.

Need some extra money for college? You can earn up to $6,000 while you're in school, serving part-time with the Army Reserve. Unlike many part-time jobs, ours fits into your schedule. All it takes is a weekend a month during the school year, the rest of your training is in the summer—seven weeks one summer, at least eight weeks the next, plus two weeks annual training. Interested? Stop by today.

Meet Today's Army Reserve.

Major Stanley Fisher
Gateway building, Suite 1616
Newark, NJ
201-645-6686

Kenny's

All New Look for Fall

Swedish Clogs featuring... Mia, Skandal's, Olof Daughters & Anatomy in the Newest Western & Jazz Looks

Danskine

The Full Fashion Leotard

Leotards, Tights, Socks in dozens of Colors for swim, evening, Casual wear, Outdoors & of course...DANCE!
New Indians open season tomorrow night vs Mercy

by William Delorm

When the soccer Indians take the field tomorrow night in their home opener vs Mercy College, Mercy (Sprague Field is set), it will mark the beginning of a new era in MSC soccer.

New coaches, a dozen new players, a new winning atmosphere, and an all around running atmosphere will enhance Sprague Field.

The '80 Indians are out to show MSC that they are winners and that they deserve the recognition that some of the other sports on campus receive.

MSC's opponent tomorrow night, Mercy, has always been a difficult team for coach Phil Santiago. During his coaching days at New York Institute of Technology, they were one of only a few teams that really played his club.

Tomorrow, however, will hopefully be a different story.

"Mercy is one of the biggest games on our schedule. A victory here is a must," Santiago commented about MSC's opener.

"Every game is a big game. We must have them all if we want a shot at an NCAA bid at the end of the season!"

Mary Lee DeFeo won 6-2, 6-3 decision in MSC's final singles victory.

DeFillipas and Conners are two leather flung wingers that never stop running. Both can be found during a game taking under passes from the wheelhouse, winning 30-50 balls at midfield, or making a run at the opponent's net.

Uelsink, known to his teammates as the "Pirate," possesses the hardest shot on the team. Known for his hustle like yelling and bowing to distract an opponent. Uelsink's later shot can be effective from anywhere at 30 yards.

The man with the most pure skill on the front line is Tuffy. After missing most of '79 with a back injury, he has shown that he can pull the ball in the back of the net.

MSC's midfield will be strengthened by three returnees—Joe DaRocha, Gary Holt, and Steve Reiterberger.

DaRocha, a native of Newark, NJ, is a deceptive dribbler who distributes the ball to either wing with accuracy.

Second-year man Holt can also play fullback or wing. He's superb ball control and his combination under pressure makes

Squaws serve up victory

The women's tennis team made their '80 opener a success last Friday by defeating Fairleigh Dickinson University-FDU, 6-3. Sue Dobosh and Mary Tuffy contributed victories in both singles and doubles to pace the Squaws.

In first singles action, Dobosh blanked FDU's ace 6-0, 6-0 in a quickly played match. Dobosh's awesome power serve was rarely returned by her opponent and rarely was she threatened with as much as a short rally.

Mary Lee DeFeo won 6-2, 6-0 in a quickly played match. DeFeo's philosophy of attacking the net worked to her advantage as she continually caught Chong off balance and running all over the court.

Third singles was all Mary Tuffy, as her blistering overhand, baseline smashes shelled her opponent, 6-2, 6-0. Throughout the match, Tuffy laid back and waited for the time when she could ram the ball back past her less agile opponent.

Sandy Ficerta's long volleys finally took their toll on FDU's final singles competitor as she was also victorious, 6-2, 6-0. Donna Spector rallied for a 6-2, 6-3 decision in MSC's final singles victory.

Dobosh and Tuffy clinched the win for the Squaws by taking the first singles match 6-2, 6-1. The two worked well as a unit, switching off and running their opponents into the court.

Sandy Ficerta's long volleys finally took their toll on FDU's final singles competitor as she was also victorious, 6-2, 6-0. Donna Spector rallied for a 6-2, 6-3 decision in MSC's final singles victory.

Tickets to all home games except tournaments, are free. Just present MSC ID card.

MSC faces stiff competition

by Steve Houde

As the start of the '80 field hockey season draws near, coach Donna Olson is looking forward with high expectations.

"We have several people returning from last season, and the return of the entire defensive unit will be a real plus for us. "We've had some key goals for the Tribe."

"TC" Conners, and freshman Tom Uelsink, newcomer Tom "TC" Conners, and freshman Tom were one of only a few teams that really played his club.

"My goal is to improve on last year's disappointing 5-7-1 mark. I'd like to finish over 500. I'd also like to make it to the regional tournament," the coach commented.
Philipp Thesis: Taking the kind of liberties they does is give slaps on the wrists. Jeff Greulich, and Bobby Vanius, First year men Dave Corish, Rich Gallacher, John Hofgen, and Scott LeDoux. Stalviss rate the defense.

Eh, a tough competitor, communicates well both his defensive mates and goalkeeper, as do Gallagher and Greenhalgh. All three are respected for their hard, clean tackles and ability to rough up opposing forwards. MSC usually dominates the air thanks to their two giant backs—Corish and Hofgen. Both players stand over 6 feet 6 inches tall and constantly clear out dangerous crosses.

Vanius is the Tribe’s best two defender, overlapping the field and breaking up to try and score. His most effective weapon up to this point has been his diving head.

Stalviss, a transfer from Glassboro State College, has been shuffled from wing to fullback as the Gifts lack the skills to able to survive in a tougher conference. For the past three weeks, veteran Mike Tropeano and new comer Paul Haggel have battled each other for the starting position. Tropeano, who posted 86 goals against average in three scrimmage in excellent value it comes to grabbing high crosses in the box or floaters on net.

Haggel (1.45 goals against average), on the other hand, has done a fine job coming out to stop break away attempts. The question is; however, that Tropeano may get the call tomorrow night due to his experience and the fact that Haggel yielded a bad goal in the team’s final scrimmage vs. Rider College.

Santiago, who told his players “If you don’t think you’re on your best, your stuff’s in the gutter. And Blame the schools and their followers.

The upcoming heavyweight fight on Oct. 2 between WBA champ Larry Holmes and former champ Muhammad Ali can only be described one way— who cares? Of all the boxing divisions the heavier in recent years has to be the heavyweight. There really isn’t a fighter with the flair of a Sugar Ray Leonard or the talent of a Roberto Duran or a Tommy Hearns.

What’s Left? Well, you’ve got the promoters’ circle scheme. This means for a period of years you get sucked into watching dead heat fights with dead beat fighters. The circle includes, among others, such losers as John Tate, Mike Weaver, Jimmy Young, Scott LeDoux and Duane Bobick.

What next? The promoters, men like Don King and Bob Arum, realize the sad condition of the heavy weight division, so they wave greenbacks in front of an over weight former champ. They are counting on Ali’s charisma and showmanship to excite the public and build up the gate.

What they fail to understand is that Ali doesn’t have anymore. Ali ended his career with the second Spinks fight and he is only doing this fight for either money, stupid pride, or both. It’s time for fresh new blood to enter the heavyweight division. The public will always pay to see a top fight (witness the success of the Duran/Leonard fight). What the public is tired of is being blood sucked by money hungry promoters who stage worthless fights with even more worthless fighters.

EXTRA INNINGS: After completion of the indoor arena at the Meadowlows next April or May plans are being completed for the construction of a baseball stadium, the world’s largest shopping center, and another Disneyland operation....After two weeks of pro football the following observations can be made; the New York Jets have let their presason headlines go to their heads, and as a result are 0-2. The Giants, meanwhile, are a surprise and could finish the season with a 500 record.

At the end of this baseball season the New York Yankees should realize that third baseman Craig Nettles has had it. Of course, he’s had a run-in with hepatitis, but let’s face facts. If Yankee Stadium didn’t have a 310 foot porch in right field, Nettle’s home run power would be zero, or close to it. A player the Bombers should concentrate on getting is the Atlanta Braves’ Bob Horner, Horner is young (23) and his future is promising. Beyond that, his hatred for the Braves owner, I’d turner, rivals that of the Ayatollah for Jimmy Carter. Ho net wants out of Atlanta and George Steinbrenner could solidify the Yanks for years at third by getting him....Born Bong has every right to be disappointed in losing in the final of the US Open. What amazed me was the thought of former tennis greats Don Budge and Bobby Rigg’s who believed Bong not to be the greatest they’ve seen in tennis. Come on now; they’ve got to be joking. Bong has won five consecutive Wimbledon singles titles and has been practically unbeatable the last couple of years. If it weren’t for John McEnroe, Bong would be untouchable. Of two thing you can be sure; when the Swede finishes serving and volleying he’ll be rated as the greatest in tennis, and he’ll have won at least two US Open titles.

The business of sportswriting can sometimes make writers look like idiots, a case in point being Jack Nicklaus and Chris Evert-Lloyd. Practically every sportswriter had written these greats off. Well sports’ best story is the comeback and both of these superstars did it in spectacular fashion. Nicklaus won the US Open the PGA while Evert-Lloyd won the Women’s Open. So much for predictions.

Matt Ward is a former sports editor at the University of South Carolina.
Wagner shocks Tribe in opener, 12-10

by John Huegel

"We had a chance to win...and we didn’t," coach Fred Hill commented dejectedly after his Indians’ 12-10 loss to Wagner College/Wagner last Friday night.

On the last possession of the game, MSC took over possession on their own 48 yard line with less than a minute to play. After Wagner’s 24 yard field goal to take the lead, the Indians were looking for a first down to start the drive.

Quarterback Joe Rebholz hit flanker Tim McMahon up the middle for 36 yards. McMahon ran for four and two yards, while Bob Wojtowicz was stopped for no gain.

With the ball at the 14 yard line, Rebholz hit McMahon again for a 27 yard field goal.

The kick, which would usually have been a chip shot, was rushed and sailed wide with only five seconds left in the game.

Wagner took a commanding 12-0 lead with 56 seconds left in the first half. Vernon Hall, the Seahawks’ speedy kick returner, took an Al Merusi punt, broke two tackles, and went the distance up the right sideline for a touchdown. However, an ensuing two point conversion try was incomplete.

The Seahawks’ first score also came late in the second quarter. After an interception by safety Paul Santillo, Wagner drove 47 yards in 10 plays for the score.

The key play on the drive was a 31 yard pass interference call against MSC safety Carl Adams. The Seahawks converted on a fourth and one on the two, and also scored their touchdown on fourth down. The extra point was blocked by the Tribe’s Terry Potter and was no good.

MSC finally got on the scoreboard with 20 seconds left in the half by a 34 yard field goal by Sahlin.

Defensively, third baseman Bill Slawinski, who also had a good defensive effort from the Tribe, was hit in the left-center field gap. Baker made a diving snare, saving one run and possibly two.

"Mark’s a good player. He’ll push some of the varsity players," Schoening added.

One case in point is Paul Lampert, a freshman pitcher. Lampert went the distance in the second game of last Saturday’s doubleheader against Pace University Pace at Patrice Field, winning 5-3. After a rocky first inning, in which the Indian right-hander gave up three runs, he settled down to blank Pace the rest of the way.

"I like Paul’s composure," Schoening stated. "He fell behind by three runs early, but battled the rest of the game," he noted.

Lampert received offensive support in the game from catcher Vin Tiberi, who drilled a two-run homer in a three-run second inning and center fielder Tony Sabato’s solo shot in the third.

Defensively, third baseman Bill Slawinski, who also had a good day at the plate-two-for-three with one RBI—was flawless. Slawinski handled seven plays and made good defensive efforts, going to his left on high-hop grounders.

Additionally, centerfielder Mark Baker, a transfer student from Brookdale College, made an excellent game ending defensive play.

With a man on first, two out, and the score 5-3, a line drive was hit in the left-center field gap. Baker made a diving snare, saving one run and possibly two.

"Mark’s a good player. He’ll push some of the varsity players," Schoening commented.

This season’s varsity infield is an experienced one with all seniors at the positions.

Starting at first base this fall will be Gene McDonald. This will be McDonald’s second season at first after winning the starting role midway through last spring.