Three MSC students to file civil rights suit

By John Connolly

Three black MSC students are planning to file a lawsuit for violation of their civil rights and have filed a letter of formal complaint against a white Little Falls police officer and his department.

This is the result of an incident which occurred on September 17 involving Gregory Webb, assistant manager of Bohn Hall, Anthony Turner, Shawn Good, and Robert Tull. The four were returning to campus from Clove Road when Little Falls police officer Arthur Katz spotted Webb and Turner, stopped them and forced them to lie face down on the ground. Webb was told to crawl across the ground to where Turner was. They were then permitted to sit in a squatting position while Katz called campus police, who identified Webb as an employee of the college.

The lawsuit, as it stands now, will be filed by only Webb, Turner, and Good.

The four were forced to lie face down on the ground, trampled, and robbed.

The lawsuits and formal complaint accuse the officers of civil rights violations of Webb and Turner, stopped them and forced them to lie face down on the ground. Webb was told to crawl across the ground to where Turner was. They were then permitted to sit in a squatting position while Katz called campus police, who identified Webb as an employee of the college.

The lawsuits and formal complaint accuse the officers of civil rights violations of Webb and Turner.

The lawsuit states the board seeks aid to overcome college crisis.

By Peter Stankov

As a first step toward meeting the growing crisis in public funding of higher education, the Board of Trustees Thursday night unanimously approved the Phase III Report of the Master Plan of MSC and a letter to the college community addressing "the current crisis and plans for a response."

The introduction to the report, written by Roland Garrett, vice president for academic affairs, states, "Changes in state and federal priorities have been dramatic and have had a severe impact on the allocation of resources to higher education and to the public sector in particular. The deterioration of the fiscal and economic climate has not only reduced resources available to colleges and universities, but has made them available to potential students and their parents as well."

The master plan, according to the letter to the college community, "is a response to concerns and priorities expressed by the Board of Higher Education in its statewide plan, not a detailed plan of all MSC's functions or organizations."

The report sets forth broad goals and action plans to respond to changes in policies and directions within the next five years. Objectives and action plans are outlined for the following areas: student financial aid, the educational opportunity fund program, the special tutorial program, weekend college, the center of adult continuing education, the second careers program, the basic skills testing and programs, the academic program quality, graduate programs, vocational education, health professions education, developing international perspectives, bilingual education, and scholarship, public service, serving the urban community, faculty development, the library, computing, and affirmative action.

The open letter to the campus community warns that MSC is currently facing a challenge of crisis proportions" because "colleges and universities across the country are... finding their very continuation threatened by enrollment declines and budget reductions."

In the letter the board invited the "College community to review the problems that the College currently faces and recommended appropriate policy or program changes to the board."

The letter states the board seeks suggestions in the following areas: "Academic program or policy changes that will attract students of high quality in both in professional and liberal arts programs; academic program changes that improve student satisfaction with courses or interrelationships among existing programs; recruitment activities that will enhance the quality of students at both graduate and undergraduate levels; improvements in external relations that will enhance the quality of students at both graduate and undergraduate levels; improvements in external relations that will enhance the quality of students at both graduate and undergraduate levels."
Student Government Association
"Over 10,000 Served"

Your SGA Services
- Free Legal Aid
- Subsidized Pharmacy Program
- Free Notary Public
- Board of Transportation Affairs
- Duplicating Services
- Free Calendar
- Discount Booklets
- Drop-In Center
- Voter Registration
- College Ring Companies
- Emergency Call Boxes
- Escort Service
- Plus much more

Class One Organizations
- Black Student Coop. Union (BSCU)
- Class One Concerts
- Council on International & Nat’l Affairs (CINA)
- College Life Union Board (CLUB)
- Human Relations Organization (HRO)
- La Campana
- Latin American Student Organization (LASO)
- The Montclain
- Players
- Quarterly
- Student Intramural & Leisure Council (SILC)
- WMSC
- Plus Class II’s, III’s & IV’s

We Represent Your Voice on Campus
"Your Problems Are Our Problems"

For more information stop by the SGA office in room 103 of the Student Center Annex or call 893-4202.

Student Government Association is — "Students Serving Students"
Landesberg keeps 'em in the aisles

By Eileen Olekslak

On Tuesday, October 19 in Memorial Auditorium, the Student Government Association sponsored a show that gave its audience two very talented Stevens for the price of one.

The first appearance was made by Steve De Pass. Known as the "Singing Poet," De Pass sang his way into the hearts of the audience through spur-of-the-moment rhyme. De Pass' lyrics had his spectators in stitches. As an opening act De Pass literally brought the house down and exited stage left to a standing ovation.

Steve Landesberg, formerly Sgt. Dietrich on TV's "Barney Miller," gave the audience little reprieve; they had no other choice but to laugh. An impromptu of sorts, Landesberg convincingly portrayed Jimmy Stewart as the actor most likely to succeed as our next president and Henry Kissinger as the newest member of the Harlem Globetrotters.

His humor also took on an ethnic flavor which hinted at the absurdity of the stereotype. "Whoever heard of a Jew as a healer," Landesberg asked the audience, "touch you first? For $1,200, maybe."

"Barney Miller," especially because of Landesberg was asked how he felt about doing the college circuit. He had decided to make a few changes. His advice to the aspiring comedian is to simply "work at it." It's hard to make it as a comedian. There are so many people who attend the Rat on Saturday nights, for example, who attend the Rat on Saturday nights, "you can't keep writing good material," said Hango. Also, production costs of La Campana have been rising an estimated 10 percent annually. "We can't do that," said Hango. In that respect, making the yearbook deficit would be cut in half.

Students to be charged to meet yearbook deficit

By Mona Sehgal

La Campana, the MSC yearbook is $19,000 in debt as a result of over- spending by the 1979-80 yearbook administration. In order to meet this deficit Richard Hango, editor-in-chief, and the present yearbook staff have decided to make a few changes.

The 1982 yearbook, delayed because of a changeover in staff, will come out in late December with fewer pages. According to Hango, this reduction has nothing to do with the debt, but instead is due to a lack of photographs. At the same time, it will save the yearbook approximately $1000.

Next year's La Campana will not be lacking in pages, but will not contain any color pages. Another measure to lessen the deficit, explained Despina Katrinas, SGA treasurer, will be the inclusion of a small and separate booklet of advertisements in the yearbook.

The advantage of the separate ad booklet is that it will bring in extra funds, yet will be easily discardable. Students will also be able to purchase space, for the approximate cost of $1, for personal comments or messages.

Another change will be a purchase charge of $3 for all underclassmen who wish to obtain a yearbook. "Most colleges charge students for yearbooks. Many students don't expect to get the yearbook for free, anyway," said Hango. The staff is also considering the possibility of charging seniors $2 for mailing costs.

"We may start selling unused yearbook pictures to students as well, but it's not definite," Hango said.

The SGA provided La Campana with $46,775 for the 1981-82 school year. But, after past and present payments for printing, publishing, and mailing will be made, the yearbook will have exhausted its budget. The 1979-80 and onward yearbook staffs accumulated deficits by buying unnecessary equipment, such as color processors, and by accepting very high publishing bids. "Now there isn't even enough money to replace deteriorating, needed equipment," explained Hango. "What is the point of a camera," said Hango. Also, production costs of La Campana have been rising an estimated 10 percent annually.

Hango pointed out that if all of the yearbooks are sold, and these new measures work out, La Campana's deficit could be cut in half.

By Frank Rosa

MSC's experiment in modern-day prohibition was washed away Wednesday, October 6, when the Rathsdiske discontinued its recent policy of not serving alcohol on Saturday nights. The no-alcohol campaign was started to encourage students under the age of 19 to patronize the pub.

One factor was predominately responsible for its demise: an obvious lack of customers. No more than 20 people showed up on any of the three nights (September 25 and October 2 & 9). These figures were well below the average crowd of 150 to 200 people who attend the Rat on Saturday nights, usually after sporting events.

Though no one anticipated huge crowds for an alcohol-less Rat on a weekend, reasons for this overwhelming failure were not quite evident.

"I would've liked to have seen it go over really big, and I really thought it would," said Dan Cappa, general manager of the Rat. "We advertised it as far as we could. There was no alcohol, we had no DJ, we turned down by the school administration until a few weeks ago. When approval did come, Cappa and his superior, business services manager, Harold B. Ostroff, decided to put it on a three week trial basis. In an effort to boost the new Saturday night policy, they even brought in a DJ, but to no avail.

Despite the dismal failure, Cappa is not totally giving up on the idea. "There's a good possibility we'll be trying it again, do whatever we can to get a non-alcoholic Saturday night to the fat reversal or liquorless Saturday nights was a non-sensical idea. We can to serve the college community," he said.

On October 19, we're holding a foose ball tournament, which is so far getting a good response. We're also having a Halloween party on October 29, where we have a meeting every Tuesday, to get input from the students on what improvements we can make.

The overall reaction of MSC students to the Rat reversal or liquorless Saturday nights was mixed. As one senior said, "It's cool, but I don't like it."
A hearty student turnout for this year's Health Professions Association fair

By Margaret Raaddy

The eighth annual Health Fair was held in the Student Center ballrooms. Sponsored by the Health Professions Association, over 800 people took advantage of the interesting and informative demonstrations that were presented.

In fact, it was so busy that the table offering blood typing, sickle cell anemia screening, and glucose testing ran out of supplies by mid-afternoon.

The first health fair was instituted by Dr. Michael Davidson. At that time, the fair was a professional service of the HPA. In the past, faculty members were in charge of all aspects of the health fair. Now, many students get involved with this event. Dr. John Redd, HPA faculty advisor, said "It’s a total student program."

The organizations that were present this year ranged from the Lions Club, Upjohn Laboratories, and the MSC Drop-in Center to La Leche League and the Maternity Fitness Program. Blood typing, urinalysis, eye examinations, and electro-cardiograms (EKGs) were among the services which were offered free of charge.

Kim Squattro, vice-president of HPA, said that students should take advantage of the free tests available at the health fair. "The HPA has been making preparations for the fair since last May," she said. "Qualified people are taking a day off to work at the fair."

The motto for this fair was "Health is Wealth." The basic purpose of the fair were to encourage people to have regular medical examinations and to stress that the key to better health is prevention. Squattro noted "We want to promote the different aspects of health and the different fields associated with it." Redd said that "The fair also acts as a career orientation for the students interested in the health professions."

However, the health fair does not replace a physical examination. For instance, many times sickle cell anemia does not show up on the first testing. Also, because one’s blood pressure fluctuates, one must be taking it for high blood pressure more than once to ensure accuracy.

Redd said that each year approximately six people who attend the fair are advised to seek further medical consultation. The common health problems found among college students include anemia and high blood pressure. As a result of the sixty second fitness test, many students are found to be "physically unfit."

G. Stewart, RN, was in charge of administering the tuberculosis test. She said "So far, I’ve tested over 160 students. Right now, TB is on the upsurge by a small margin. There are more cases now than there were ten years ago."

May Lipscomb, an American Cancer Society facilitator, was distributing "Kiss Me, I Don’t Smoke" stickers and buttons. She said "Smoking causes premature wrinkling and shortness of breath. People who inhale the smoke suffer as much as the smokers themselves."

There was much controversial discussion at the Right to Choose table. Sue Barrosa, a nutrition major, found that year approximate six people who attend the fair are advised to seek further medical consultation. The common health problems found among college students include anemia and high blood pressure. As a result of the sixty second fitness test, many students are found to be "physically unfit."

G. Stewart, RN, was in charge of administering the tuberculosis test. She said "So far, I’ve tested over 160 students. Right now, TB is on the upsurge by a small margin. There are more cases now than there were ten years ago."

May Lipscomb, an American Cancer Society facilitator, was distributing "Kiss Me, I Don’t Smoke" stickers and buttons. She said "Smoking causes premature wrinkling and shortness of breath. People who inhale the smoke suffer as much as the smokers themselves."

There was much controversial discussion at the Right to Choose table. Sue Barrosa, a nutrition major, found that year approximate six people who attend the fair are advised to seek further medical consultation. The common health problems found among college students include anemia and high blood pressure. As a result of the sixty second fitness test, many students are found to be "physically unfit."

G. Stewart, RN, was in charge of administering the tuberculosis test. She said "So far, I’ve tested over 160 students. Right now, TB is on the upsurge by a small margin. There are more cases now than there were ten years ago."

May Lipscomb, an American Cancer Society facilitator, was distributing "Kiss Me, I Don’t Smoke" stickers and buttons. She said "Smoking causes premature wrinkling and shortness of breath. People who inhale the smoke suffer as much as the smokers themselves."

There was much controversial discussion at the Right to Choose table. Sue Barrosa, a nutrition major, found that year approximate six people who attend the fair are advised to seek further medical consultation. The common health problems found among college students include anemia and high blood pressure. As a result of the sixty second fitness test, many students are found to be "physically unfit."

G. Stewart, RN, was in charge of administering the tuberculosis test. She said "So far, I’ve tested over 160 students. Right now, TB is on the upsurge by a small margin. There are more cases now than there were ten years ago."

May Lipscomb, an American Cancer Society facilitator, was distributing "Kiss Me, I Don’t Smoke" stickers and buttons. She said "Smoking causes premature wrinkling and shortness of breath. People who inhale the smoke suffer as much as the smokers themselves."
By John DelGuercio
On Sunday October 17 a male who was walking alone in lot 17 was attacked. Five other males were claimed to have been responsible, however, the assailants have not been discovered at this time. More violence broke out on this day in Bohn Hall, where males were reported fighting. Upon arrival of campus police the fight was broken up and all non-residents were escorted from the building. A similar incident happened on October 15 in Blanton Hall. A report was called in to campus police of males fighting. Campus police arrived, stopped the fight, and removed all non-residents from the premises.

In the week of October 11 to 17 there were two car thefts. The first took place on October 12. A car had been stolen. The second car was stolen from the building. A similar incident happened on October 15 in Blanton Hall. Again no one was found when the campus police investigated.

Finally, there were two reports of criminal mischief; both on October 11, which seems to have been a busy day for campus police. In Chapin Hall, panels of an air conditioner were cut out of a window. And in lot 4 one of the gate arms was broken. In both cases the criminal was not discovered.

By Lisa Fochesato and Peter Stankov
At last night's SGA meeting Audrey Rosenberg was confirmed as a legislator, after being rejected by the same legislature at last week's meeting. A misunderstanding of voting rules invalidated last week's vote. According to the voting rules a simple majority was required, and abstentions and present votes were allowed. The result of last week's vote was 1-1, a tie against, five abstentions, and five present votes. The voting rules as stated by Miller held that the present votes and abstentions counted as no votes.

It was discovered that present votes and abstentions were not permitted in this type of vote. The legislature then rescinded last week's vote and took a new vote on Rosenberg's appointment as legislator. The vote was a unanimous approval.

Peter Prichard, assistant director of Career Services, addressed the legislature. He said that Career Services and the SGA should work closely together to publicize to the student body the services that can be utilized in Career Services.

Some of the services open to all students are: resume writing, interviewing, job hunting tactics, and choosing a major. Prichard encouraged all students to drop in to talk to the counselors.

From the Mass Transit Authority (MTA) fund, $675 was appropriated for a trip to Howard University. The trip was organized by resident assistants Loretta Redforn and Warren Anthony as an educational project. A problem arose when a legislator pointed out that guidelines for the MTA were not strictly followed. According to the legislator the MTA guidelines state that a table be set up in the Student Center to allow the student body to sign-up for the trip. This was not done, although the bill had already passed. Mark Spinelli said that if a table was not set up prior to the trip, then the trip would be cancelled. He also said the problem arose because the legislator who wrote the bill did not completely understand the rules.

The Spanish Club's class two charter was approved. "Two weeks ago it was incorrectly reported that Frank Little is the president of HRO. Joanne Condo is the president of HRO and Little is the treasurer."

John Engels (left) shows his skateboarding skills in the Student Center Courtyard as he hurdles Jim Murphay. Photo by Bruce Myers
An MSC student (below) is blowing more than hot air during the Oktoberfest celebration last weekend. The festivities were sponsored by the Dorm Federation. Photo by Toni DeMarco

MSC students to file suit

cont. from p. 1
frightened person,” he said.

Webb said that he wonders what the administration is doing about the situation. Good explained, “First of all, there have been only two administrations involved, and one had apologized: Dr. Jean Armstrong and Dean Harris. No other administrators have shown concern.”

The only description that the officer had to go by was black male with a white jacket. Webb said that he was wearing a white jacket because they were black.

Fortunato feels it is important to build a base of support on the College campus, so he has set a tentative date of November 18 to hold a teach-in regarding civil rights and racism.

Cont. from p. 1
changes and improvements in their program. “Up to now we've been operating on a small manual program, but the grant will enable us to purchase a computer which will store employer and student employee information. This will permit us to keep a complete history of all co-op employers and co-op students. It will also permit us to generate job matches for students and employers,” Lazarus said.

An additional co-op coordinator will be hired to service a greater number of students and increase the number of participating employers. Three graduate students will also be hired to counsel and teach interviewing skills to the co-op students. In addition, 15 faculty members will be given release time to work with co-op students in order to develop their area of study.

"I'm looking forward to implementing the grant," Lazarus said. "It's a great opportunity for the college to build a quality educational program."

The co-op program at MSC was started in 1978 and Lazarus pointed out that the program's success has been proven in a recent survey of former co-op students. According to a survey of former co-op students who had graduated from MSC at least one year ago, 91 percent felt that co-op had prepared them for their first full-time job and 74 percent said co-op helped prepare them for graduate school.

Co-op to grow with grant

cont. from p. 1

kind of courage that Rosa Parks showed when she refused to sit on the back of the bus. The officer had no reasonable grounds to believe that these gentlemen were involved in any illegal activity. He stopped them solely because they were black.

"Their decision to pursue this legally shows me," said Fortunato, "the same
Council on International and National Affairs presents:
A Weekend In MONTREAL, CANADA
November 12 - 14
$89.00 complete

INCLUDES:
Round Trip Transportation
Two Nights At Mt. Royal Hotel
Full Breakfast Daily
Sightseeing Tour of Montreal
Tour of Olympic Stadium

SIGN UP: Tuesday, October 26th, 10 AM - 8 PM, Student Center at CINA UNICEF Fund Drive Table.
$40.00 Deposit Required (Non-refundable)

Halloween Week: October 25 - 29
* Carnations
* Costumes
* Candy
...Surprises

Fund Drive For UNICEF
Come Support UNICEF!! in the Student Center
A Class One Organization of the SGA

La Campana
A CLASS ONE ORGANIZATION OF YOUR SGA
ANNOUNCES
A MANDATORY
PHOTO-STAFF MEETING
THURS., OCT. 28, 3:30 PM
RM. 111 STUDENT CENTER ANNEX
NEW MEMBERS WELCOME!
893-4346

The College Life Union Board of the SGA, Inc. invites you to come to CHINATOWN IN N.Y.C. AT NIGHT on Thursday - November 11th, 1982
BUS DEPARTS 8:00 PM SHARP
and returns to MSC at 1:30 AM
Tickets On Sale
In Student Center
Main Floor Lobby
Starting:
Monday, Oct. 25th
And Continue
Until We Sell Out!
$5.00 w/MSG Student ID
$6.00 All Others
Olympians get a kick out of soccer clinic

For the seventh year straight, the MSC physical education department, in conjunction with the New Jersey Special Olympics, conducted a two-hour soccer clinic Tuesday for mentally retarded athletes throughout the state.

Over 200 Olympians participated in dribbling, passing, heading, shooting, and goalkeeping exercises on Sprague Field. Another 200 students from MSC and Montclair High School served as instructors, referees, and trainers for the athletes.

Dr. Leonard Lucenko, Dr. Joan Schleede, and Tom Sullivan, all members of the physical education department, coordinated the soccer clinic.

"As usual, I'm very pleased by the effort put forth by the MSC students. They always rise to the occasion," Lucenko said. "They presented an outstanding program to the mentally retarded of our state."

Several MSC alums were also on hand to help the Special Olympians, including former MSC basketball star Bob Gleason, former soccer standout and current coach at Kearny High School John Miller, Montclair High School soccer coach Joe McAlister, and Hillside High School women's soccer coach Terri Heddon.

Special Olympics is an international program of physical fitness, sports training, and athletic competition for mentally retarded children and adults. Created by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation, the program is operated by Special Olympics, Inc., a non-profit organization located in Washington, D.C.

The program is based on a grant from the U.S. Department of Education's Bureau of Education for the Handicapped.

Persons eight years of age or older are eligible to participate in Special Olympics. Presently, more than one million special children and adults benefit from its programming.
Phys-ed majors are hailed for olympics

All too often physical education majors are thought of as having more brawn than brain. The stereotypical phys-ed major is a hulking six-foot-six, 250-pound linebacker who is in college only to play football. The physical education department disproved that myth this week with its soccer clinic for handicapped children.

For the seventh straight year the phys-ed department sponsored the clinic as part of the Special Olympics program, allowing handicapped children to experience the thrill of participating in organized athletics. The organizers and phys-ed participants donated their time and effort to make the program successful and enjoyable for all the children involved.

These 200 students, staff, and alumni gave freely of themselves so the handicapped could enjoy a few hours of instruction and competition that they would have otherwise been excluded from. The selflessness displayed by all those involved was extraordinary and should serve as an example to all.

Rathskeller recognizes its weekly beerless bomb

At best it could be described as an idea whose time had not yet come; it could, perhaps, be described simply as a bad idea, but whatever label one chooses to put on it, the "beerless" night at the Rathskeller did not work.

It is no one's fault. The Rat was trying to improve its business and its public image by serving the entire college community instead of just those over the age of 19. The college community, on the other hand, did not go for the idea. The under-19 crowd did not take to the idea of sitting in the Rat and sipping soda any more than those over 19, and both age groups stayed away in droves.

Fortunately Dan Cappa, whose innovative ideas revitalized the Rat last year, knew a bad idea when he saw one and cancelled the experiment after its three-week trial.
Stressful events are just a part of everyday life

Stressful events and emergency situations are part of life. They have the potential of becoming crises. However, a crisis does not necessarily follow from a traumatic event. What is a crisis for one person may not be so for the next. As long as we are able to handle stressful life events, we will not experience a crisis.

There are meaningful differences and relationships between these key words: stress, predicament, emergency, and crisis. Stress is not a crisis; nor is predicament a crisis. What is a crisis does not necessarily follow from a traumatic event. What is a crisis does not necessarily follow from a traumatic event. Whether such predicaments and emergencies become crises depends upon our abilities to handle these stresses.

Some people are at greater risk of crisis than others. Identifying groups of people who are most likely to experience a crisis is helpful in recognizing individuals in crisis. People in a crisis have typical patterns of thinking, feeling, and acting. There is no substitute for thorough assessment of whether a problem or not in a crisis. The assessment is the basis of the helping plan and can avoid many later problems.

Viewing crisis as both an opportunity and a danger point allows for some kind of pre-knowledge about the event. Applying that knowledge, we can prepare for normal life events and usually prevent them from becoming crises. For many people, however, these normal events do become occasions for a crisis in the sense of hazard rather than opportunity.

Crisis intervention should not be regarded as a panacea for all social, emotional, and mental problems. It is not synonymous with psychotherapy. Nor is crisis intervention a method of helping only poor people while reserving psychotherapy for the rich people.

The occurrence of crisis is not dependent upon a person's socioeconomic status, and crisis intervention can be helpful regardless of that status.

The crisis intervention counselor uses several techniques to assist the client in healthy crisis coping. The counselor acts actively and with concern. He or she encourages the open expression of feelings. Through this express- ing, the person gains an understanding of the crisis. Gradually, the client works towards accepting the reality which exists in this crisis situation and exploring new ways of coping with problems. The counselor is aware at all times in counseling the individual that the client must be actively involved in managing it in his or her plan for crisis resolution.

Here at MSC, we are very fortunate to have several unique services which have the capability to assist the person in crisis, such as The Women's Center located in the Student Center Annex, and Psychological Services, located in Gibb House across from Freeman Hall. In addition, the Drop-in Center, located between Richardson Hall and the Student Center, is open 24 hours a day and offers peer counseling, information, and referrals.

You should get involved with student government

By Marc Lavina

I was sitting at a public relations committee meeting for the SGA last Friday, as we were trying to decide what we could do to publicize the SGA and get students involved. I started thinking about the apathy at MSC. Nobody wants to get involved. This really made me mad. Whose fault is it? Is it the student's fault or the SGA's? I've said it before, but I'll say it again: just doesn't know what's going on.

I tell friends that I'm an SGA legislator and they just don't know what I'm talking about. I realized that only a month ago I was just as ignorant as they are. After all, I had just transferred from another school and didn't really know what was going on around the campus. I wanted to join a club, but I didn't know how to do it.

I started looking through the SGA calendar. I received in the mail, which listed different organizations on campus. The calendar also mentioned that five freshman legislators are elected each year, and I wondered if this was true for transfers. Although there aren't special elections for transfers, any student can be appointed by the president to the legislature. Four weeks later, after attending SGA meetings, joining a committee, and talking to other legislators, I was appointed to the legislature.

Now I may be thinking, "why do I care if he's a legislator? I don't want to get involved in SGA. It's not for me." This isn't true, but you'll never know unless you find out what goes on in the SGA and what it really entails. Although you may not realize it, every student is a member of the SGA. You all pay the dues and I would think you might like to know where your money goes.

Come to an SGA meeting (Wednesdays at 4 p.m.) and find out. Student government is a $500,000 a year organization. It provides many services for students.

-- Mary Wilcr Senior/humanities

I think it's bad because it will hurt those who are trying to graduate.

-- Michael Shugan Graduate/religion

I don't like it. I'm very upset that they are being cut, and I think it's Reagan's fault. Not enough money is being spent on education.

-- Theodore Amherst Senior/philosophy

I'm a senior and there are certain courses that I need, but they overlap in the spring semester. If I can't take them in the winter, what can I do?

-- Cindy Vitkovsky Senior/health

It doesn't affect me, but 40 percent is drastic and it's bad for those who need the credits.

-- Ellen Graham Freshman/broadcasting

As a senior I think it's an unfortunate happening. There are increasing scheduling problems already existing in this school, and I think there are not enough funds being put into education.

-- Jim Sivco Senior/industrial studies

What else does the SGA do and where does other money go to? SGA oversees every charter organization on campus and allocates money to some of these organizations. So if government isn't your thing, then there is probably an organization that deals with what you like.

All of you people who went to the beer blast a few weeks ago can thank the College Life Union Board for the great time you had. CLUB is one of the Class One Organizations at MSC. CLUB also brought Steve Landesberg Tuesday night, along with Animal House, Star Trek, and all the other movies.

For all you rock 'n' rollers there is the Ramones and all the other beer blasts, concerts, or a student government the Class One Concerts. They brought us beer blasts, concerts, or a student government.

The Montclarion/Thurs., Oct. 21, 1982
YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO AN AFTERNOON LECTURE WITH

Alexandro Borgia
Journalist of the bilingual newspaper “INCOGNITA”

Discussing issues on the realities behind the FALKLAND (MALVINAS) CONFLICT

DATE: Tuesday-Oct. 26, 1982
LOCATION: Russ Hall Lounge
TIME: 4:00 to 5:30
ADMISSION FREE

Co-Sponsored by Hispanic Caucus & L.A.S.O. CLASS ONE organization of S.G.A.

SELF HELP GROUPS are
When people who have similar ideas or experiences get together and share them. Group members offer each other knowledge, support, strength, and hope. They have a little bit of courage, a sense of commitment, and a lot of caring.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN:
- test anxiety
- anxiety
- the draft
- substance abuse
- personal growth
- single parenthood
- abused children
- death and dying
- Vietnam Veterans
- homosexuality
- divorce
- older students
- Agent Orange Problem
- another topic

The Drop In Center is networking self help groups based on student response. If you are interested in joining a group fill in the coupon below and return it to the Drop In Center in person or by mail.

I’m interested in participating in ______________________
I’m interested in organizing ______________________

* The Drop In Center is not partial to any political doctrine, movement, or exclusive groups. All topics subject to the final approval of the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs, the Student Government Association and the Drop In Center.

--- A service of your S.G.A.
Mirage brings Fleetwood back

By Tim Brooks

Fleetwood Mac has spanned the last several years in a commercial disarray—the album "Tusk" was a disappointment after "Rumours," and the next LP, "Fleetwood Mac Live!" only tapped into diminishing public interest in the band. In addition to that, several members of the band were occupied with solo projects—which generated murmurs of a breakup among the band's fans. To back up this pianist John McVie and bassist Christine McVie ended the marriage, guitarist Lindsay Buckingham and Stevie Nicks called it quits, and drummer Mick Fleetwood was having his share of marital problems. The album "Mirage" is that this has any long-lasting effect from these problems on the band's recharted course.

There is a strong effort here for Fleetwood Mac the band, as opposed to something divided among the individuals of the band. All of the tracks carry the steady Mick Fleetwood."A New Rush" puls which so typifies Fleetwood's strong hold on the easy-listening, three-minute numbers. Lead vocals are evenly divided among the band's vocalists, and there is a definite presence of all the instrumentalists on each track.

This album is reminiscent of "Rumours" in that it is very enjoyable all the way through. The songs show progress from what the band has done before, in a manner which makes this album the most likable to date. The lyrics and the words are somewhat more realistic and understandable (though sometimes simple) than some of the earlier works by the band. The possibilities for singles are numerous, and this is evident by the two that are concurrently on the charts: "Hold Me" and "Gypsy."

For the Fleetwood Mac enthusiast, this album represents a slightly different sound. With four songs, the band is expressing itself. Those less acquainted with the band will probably be hearing a lot more about them if they haven't already. In the words of Lindsay Buckingham, "We're back!"

Pavarotti says "An" in "Georgio"

By John Parks

Yes, Georgio, a film starring Luciano Pavarotti and Kathryn Harrold, has all the attributes of a comedy, musical, and romance rolled into one. Georgio Pini (Pavarotti), the world's foremost opera singer, enjoys the luxuries of life, including an occasional fling.

Yes, Georgio, based on an English novel by Anne Piper, opens in a small town in Italy, where Pini is singing at a friend's wedding. Here we get a sample of Pavarotti's virtuoso ability, and one cannot help but to be enthralled by his amazing voice. And, as predictable by now, she fears she is falling in love with Georgio. After a short lapse of uncertainty he is reopening the investigation in her case, and as such, is more a matter for the Perry Street Theatre in Manhattan.

The acting by Kathryn Harrold is certainly a worth-while movie to see. Although it has no finesse with emotional scenes and fails to effectively convey complex emotions and feelings simply by a facial expression. Her subtle gradations of voice tone lend an in-depth meaning to the situations at hand.

Pavarotti, on the other hand, is much less versed in acting skill. She is able to express complex emotions and feelings both as the two are drawn closer together by their love, but at the same time. He is less versed in acting skill. From a theatrical viewpoint, he is a clod. He has the finesse with emotional scenes and fails to effectively display contrasting moods. Perhaps, this adds to his image as a professional. His simplistic, nonchalant attitude associated with a care-free and childlike Georgio.

It is Harrold the actor and Pavarotti the singer who make Yes Georgio the film of superb. She is able to stand in awe of the man's phenomenal voice while peaking to a high note. His manager calls a throat specialist, who turns out to be an adorable female doctor named Pamela Taylor (Harrold). After she promises not to fall in love with him, she does.

Life grows increasingly strenuous for both as the two are drawn closer together by their love, but at the same time. She promises to remain a one long after leaving the theater to a 'boring' room. The movie dispels the notion that there is anything divided among the individuals of the band. All of the tracks carry the steady Mick Fleetwood. 'A New Rush' puls which so typifies Fleetwood's strong hold on the easy-listening, three-minute numbers. Lead vocals are evenly divided among the band's vocalists, and there is a definite presence of all the instrumentalists on each track.

This album is reminiscent of "Rumours" in that it is very enjoyable all the way through. The songs show progress from what the band has done before, in a manner which makes this album the most likable to date. The lyrics and the words are somewhat more realistic and understandable (though sometimes simple) than some of the earlier works by the band. The possibilities for singles are numerous, and this is evident by the two that are concurrently on the charts: "Hold Me" and "Gypsy."

For the Fleetwood Mac enthusiast, this album represents a slightly different sound. With four songs, the band is expressing itself. Those less acquainted with the band will probably be hearing a lot more about them if they haven't already. In the words of Lindsay Buckingham, "We're back!"

Pavarotti says "An" in "Georgio"
Attention—YOU DIRTY RAT; the person who stole my Cliffs Notes: You can steal my car, steal my watch, even steal my notes, but to steal my Cliffs Notes is a low blow indeed. Just because they give a great review and make those tough lit assignments easy to understand is no excuse. Next time, go to the bookstore and buy your own Cliffs Notes. May the bird of paradise nest in your mind. — S.A., L.W., R.T., and L.L.

Studying in China: (Hong Kong, Bangkok, Singapore, and Taipei) and earn three credits during winter session (December 29 through January 16);蛋白, or an am/fm clock radio; 25¢ for raffle tickets will go on sale October 13; proceeds will be used toward the cost of a mural on Hispanic culture; sponsored by the Hispanic Committee of the Alumni Association.

Spanish Tutoring: Meeting to discuss and improve pronunciation; if you're interested contact Professor Eduardo Vargas, G-432, 893-7511.

When the party is BYOB (Bring Your Own Brush), you find out who your friends are.

Friends aren't hard to find when you're out to share a good time. But the crowd sure thin out when there's work to do. And the ones who stick around deserve something special.

Tonight, let it be Lowenbrau.

Löwenbräu. Here’s to good friends.
Fri., Oct. 22
— Philolus Dance Theatre: To be held in Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m.; admission is $5 with student ID (and for seniors over 65), and $10 for all others; for additional information call 893-5112.

Sat., Oct. 23
— Lecture: Women in Politics: Mary Mochary, mayor of Montclair will be guest speaker; sponsored by Professor Sammartin (Political Science) in Partridge Hall, Room 314, at 9 a.m.; admission is free.
— Management Leadership Skills: Workshop presented by The Women's Center in the Student Center Annex, Room 106, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.; enrollment is limited; pre-registration, a $40 fee, is due by October 18; for more info call 893-5106.

Mon., Oct. 25
— General Meeting: Of The Women's Center Student Group in the Student Center Annex, Room 106, at 4 p.m. All students are welcome.
— Executive Board Meeting: Mandatory meeting for all executive board members of CLUB, to be held in the Student Center, fourth floor, meeting room two at 4 p.m.
— Supper: Sponsored by the Newman Community in the Newman Center at 5:15 p.m. Admission is $4 per person. For further information call 746-2323.
— Chinatown Ticket Sales: Tickets for the NYC after dark trip sponsored by CLUB will go on sale at 9 a.m. in the Student Center, main floor lobby. Cost is $5 with student ID, and $6 for all others. Tickets on sale until sold out!

Wed., Oct. 27
— Test Anxiety Workshop: To be conducted by Dr. Bob Goodkin; presented by Psychological Services. To be held in the Psychological Services Center, Gilbreth House, opposite Freeman Hall at 12 p.m. Just the thing to calm your nerves before mid-terms.

Mon., Oct. 31
— Professional Bartending Course
  Day & Evening Classes
  Job Placement Assistance
  Internship Training in Local Restaurants
  Easiest Family Life! Free Approval Fee in 1977
  99 Kings Rd.
  Madison, N.J. 07944-1411

For More Information Call: 893-4198
Friday, October 22 – Saturday, October 23
8:00 PM — Memorial Auditorium

PILOBOLUS DANCE THEATRE
$8.00 Students, Faculty, Staff
Available in College Art Gallery
Weekdays, 10 AM - 4 PM

Look..., It's a Variety Show!

Date: October 25, 1982
Place: Calcia Auditorium
Time: 8 o'clock PM
Price: Students: $1 with ID
All Others: $2

For More Information Call: 893-4198
Sponsored by
THE DRAMA WORKSHOP

New Jersey GYN Associates, Inc.
ABORTION SERVICES
Free Pregnancy Testing
- Abortion Procedures
- Birth Control Counseling
- Breast Screening Clinic
- Complete Obstetrical and Gynecological Care
- Sterilization Procedures including Vasectomies

Phone 373-2600 to make an appoint.
Hours: 9:30 to 5:00 Monday to Saturday
Owned & Staffed by N.J. Lic. Bcl. Gynecologists
22 Boil St., Irvington, N.J. 07111
(3 blocks off N.J. G. Bus Terminal)

DATE: Thursday, October 21
— Resume Clinic: An informal session for resume critiquing presented by Career Services in the Student Center Annex, Room 206, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Admission is free.
— Interviewing I: Provides an understanding of the interviewing process presented by Career Services in the Student Center Annex, Room 206, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Admission is free.

For senior citizens), and $10 for all others; for additional information call 893-5112.

For More Information Call: 893-4198
Sponsored by
THE DRAMA WORKSHOP

Friday, October 22 – Saturday, October 23
8:00 PM — Memorial Auditorium

PILOBOLUS DANCE THEATRE
$8.00 Students, Faculty, Staff
Available in College Art Gallery
Weekdays, 10 AM - 4 PM

Look..., It's a Variety Show!

Date: October 25, 1982
Place: Calcia Auditorium
Time: 8 o'clock PM
Price: Students: $1 with ID
All Others: $2

For More Information Call: 893-4198
Sponsored by
THE DRAMA WORKSHOP

New Jersey GYN Associates, Inc.
ABORTION SERVICES
Free Pregnancy Testing
- Abortion Procedures
- Birth Control Counseling
- Breast Screening Clinic
- Complete Obstetrical and Gynecological Care
- Sterilization Procedures including Vasectomies

Phone 373-2600 to make an appoint.
Hours: 9:30 to 5:00 Monday to Saturday
Owned & Staffed by N.J. Lic. Bcl. Gynecologists
22 Boil St., Irvington, N.J. 07111
(3 blocks off N.J. G. Bus Terminal)
MSC SKI CLUB
presents
Sugarbush Valley Vt. Ski Week
January 2 - 9
Price of $215 plus $25 deposit includes:
* 7 days-6 nights at Mountainside Condo's
  (on the Mt.)
* 5 1/2 day Ski Lift Ticket
* Beer & Wine Party
  First $50 Deposit due Oct. 20, 27

Limited space still available for Mt. Snow Vt.
December 3, 4, & 5
Price of $93 includes:
* Lodging at Horizon Motor Inn
* 2 day Ski Lift Ticket
* 2 Complete Breakfasts, 1 Dinner
  Payments for Mt. Snow due Oct. 20, 27

SKI CLUB MEETINGS:
Wed., October 20 - 12:00 PM
October 27 - 12:00 PM
November 10 - 12:00 PM
Purple Conference Room
For further information call Pres. Ken Budasa
239-0020

BE A BLOOD BUDDY
Alpha Phi Omega's
BLOOD DRIVE
October 27 & 28
10:00 - 4:00
Student Center Ballrooms

Vote
State & Local Elections
Nov. 2
Make your voice count!
Ad paid for by your Student Government Association

Women's CC remains undefeated

By Kathy Szorantini

The undefeated women's cross country team increased its winning record to 4-0 by beating St. Peter's College last Tuesday (19:36) at Garrett Mountain in West Paterson. Pat Salmon of MSC finished first in 19:58, with teammate Dana Caruso close behind with a time of 20:07. Amy McLaughlin took third for the Indians with a time of 21:29, Sarah Soman was fifth in 21:43, and Laura Frisch placed eighth in 22:34. Barbara Pachella and Cyndi Maddox finished 12th and 13th respectively.

On Saturday, the team returned to Garrett Mountain for the New Jersey Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Cross Country Championships, where Patty Leisher led the team to a third place finish behind Rutgers University and Trenton State College. Leisher finished the 5,000-meter course in 18:37 to take second place overall. Pat Salmon placed eighth in 19:49 behind a pack of Rutgers runners who took fourth through seventh places. Dana Caruso was the next MSC finisher placing 16th in 20:16. Sarah Soman was 19th. Amy McLaughlin 25th. Laura Frisch 31st. and Cyndi Maddox 38th.

Water polo team wins tournament

Indians scalp Pioneers for fifth straight victory

By Robert Thibault

Mark Casale and Bob Vannoy both set school records and the Indians won the game 28-7, but last Saturday's football game against William Paterson was marred by sloppy play by both the offensive and defensive units of the undefeated Indians.

Quarterback Casale completed 18 of 29 passes for 265 yards, setting a new school record for career touchdown passes with his 23rd—a 36-yard bullet to end Ken Oliver in the first period. Casale, however, also threw one interception and fumbled twice. One of the fumbles came inside the five-yard line and stalled what seemed to be yet another MSC touchdown drive.

The touchdown pass to Oliver came on the opening drive of the game and capped a 73-yard march. Dan Deneher converted the first of four extra points to put the Indians ahead 7-0.

Later in the quarter, the Indians went 76-yards in six plays for their second score of the game. Bob Vannoy went over from the four-yard line for the touchdown.

Vannoy gained 109 yards in 24 rushes to bring his career yardage to 2,170—breaking Bill Grundy's old mark of 2,152. The Indians, penalized 12 times for 90 yards, were held scoreless in the second period, but came back in the third quarter with a spectacular 57-yard punt return by Bob Daly to go ahead of the Pioneers 21-0.

WPC got its lone score early in the fourth period on a nine play, 41-yard drive capped by a Craig Depascale to Anthony Avillo touchdown pass.

The defense again sparkled as the Indians downed the William Paterson Pioneers 28-7. The lone Pioneer score came in the fourth quarter.

The following week the Indians will return to Sprague Field to face arch rival Trenton State in what promises to be the game of the season.

Score by periods

MSC (5-0-1) 14 0 7 7 28
WPC (2-4) 0 0 0 7 7

First Period
MSC
Oliver (36-yard pass from Cassale) Deneher kick
MSC
Vannoy (4-yard run) Deneher kick
Second Period
No Scoring
MSC
Daly (57-yard punt return) Deneher kick
Fourth Period
WPC
Avillo (1-yard pass from Depascale) Depuls kick
MSC
Cucci (1-yard run) Deneher kick

(Above) Bob Vannoy (20) breaks through the Pioneer defensive line on his way to a total of 109 yards for the night. (Left) Pierce Fraunhelm (84) eludes two Pioneer defenders after a reception from quarterback Mark Cassale. Photos by Rob Thibault