State appeals court remands microwave decision

THE HECKMAN BINDERY, INC., N. MANCHESTER, INDIANA

By Susan August

Last month a three-judge, state appellate court reversed a decision by the Little Falls planning board that would have permitted Wold Communications to build a microwave communications system on the property of the group's owner, W. W. Wold.

According to the August 17 edition of The Star Ledger, "Judge Theodore Botter, Sylvia Pressler and Thomas O’Brien of the Appellate Division of Superior Court said even if the project is immune, at the very least, the college should consult with "local authorities sympathetically and give consideration to local objections, problems and suggestions to minimize the conflict as much as possible."

They said the Wold facility, which includes the four antennas and a building for related equipment, is private and commercial and "the lower court must determine whether it serves sufficient governmental interest to warrant the immunity. The lower court decision last year was made without a full hearing."

Wold and MSC contend that their agreement has sufficient educational value to justify exemption from local rule.

According to the lease arrangement, the college will receive $48,000 annually plus another $22,000 in technical consultation and service; at least two student internships for training in satellite communications; and use of the satellite link, making available a variety of programs from more than 70 channels for classroom instruction.

Nonetheless, township attorney James Segreto questions the health aspect of the site and appropriateness of its location. Property value may decrease and although the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has not yet set a national standard on microwave emissions, "there is the possibility of related cancers and birth defects."

Segreto plans to use (EPA) findings and testimony of experts on the alleged dangers of microwave radiation in his effort to restrain Wold from continuing work on the project.

Wold said the latest decision will have little effect on its plans or on its arrangement with MSC.

Asbestos in Bohn remains; removal planned for summer

By Mary E. Miele

Recently, there has been concern over asbestos in school facilities, which has kept 25 schools in New Jersey from opening this week. Here at MSC, the concern is focused on the asbestos levels in Bohn Hall.

In 1978, Scientific Coating Co. was paid $214,361 to remove the acoustical asbestos from Bohn Hall. In 1982, state inspectors reported asbestos still in Bohn Hall.

Scientific Coating has rejected a request to remove the remaining asbestos asserting that today's standards could not be used on a project completed six years ago.

Following this refusal, a report by a state-contracted environmental firm showed that out of 71 random samples from Bohn Hall, 80 percent contained asbestos. The same firm estimated removal costs from $120,000 to $780,000.

Another contractor already removed asbestos from the dormitory's laundry rooms last summer, adding $20,112 to Bohn Hall's asbestos removal bill.

Recent articles in local newspapers have sparked concern among students as to the safety of Bohn Hall.

In a statement issued on August 14, Raymond M. Stover, Director of Residence Life, said an independent consulting firm and the New Jersey State Department of Health have concluded that there is no existing health hazard in Bohn Hall. Stover said most of the original asbestos has been removed and the remaining asbestos is not flaking into the air.
The Drop-In Center, (an information, referral and peer counseling service) is staffed entirely by student volunteers. The caliber of the service offered to the student body can not be maintained without you. If you want to help people, learn more about yourself, and do something constructive with your time for 10 hours (min.) a week, this could be the toughest non-paying job you have ever loved. While the training is rigorous and the commitment level high, the experience will be carried throughout your life.

The Drop-In Center is a good place to grow for students of all majors. We will teach you the lost art of listening as you learn by doing.

In-service instruction will include; On-Campus referrals, Off-Campus referrals, Bus and Rail routing, Psychological referrals, Health referrals, Sexual Health referrals and Publicity.

Dealing with bomb threats

Bomb threats are not an unusual occurrence, according to Chief of Campus Police Jayne Rich, who recently issued a memorandum on this topic. Included in the notice was a list of proper procedures in dealing with phone call threats.

Rich's advice is to get as much information from the caller, including the exact location of the bomb, time set for detonation, description of explosive or container, type of explosive, and reason for call or threat.

Once the caller has hung up, the receiver should also note the date and time of the call, exact language used, sex of caller, and estimated age of caller. Also of importance are any peculiar or identifiable accents, possible ethnicity, and identifiable background noise, such as music, trucks, background conversation, etc.

W.L. Stanton

Stanton is survived by his father William, sister Jane and brother Thomas. Dr. Robert Fishman, a professor of philosophy at Princeton University, was known to police any suspicious objects observed during their evacuation of the building.

If an incendiary or explosive device is found, all officers will leave the building and immediate notice will be given to the appropriate fire department and bomb disposal unit.

According to Rich, no bombs have ever been found on campus in the history of the college.

MSC will offer three College Level Examination Program (CLEP) tests this fall, along with a series of CLEP preparation workshops. CLEP tests enable students to obtain college credit in various subjects without taking formal classes.

The preparation workshops will take place on Saturdays from 1-3 p.m. in Room 315A, College Hall, and are scheduled as follows: Sept. 8, college study skills; Sept. 15, 22, and 29, mathematics; Oct. 6, humanities; Oct. 13, English; Oct. 20, social science; Oct. 27 and Nov. 3, natural science. The fee for each workshop is $2 and pre-registration is required.

The CLEP test itself will be given in Room 120, Richardson Hall, on the following dates: Sept. 12 and 13 at 5 p.m. (applications due Aug. 20); Oct. 20 at 8 a.m. (applications due Sept. 26); Nov. 14 and 15 at 5 p.m. (applications due Oct. 22). Fee for the test is $30, with a graduated fee for additional tests.

Information and applications for the test are available from Dr. Richard Taubald at 893-5154. To register for the workshops, call Dr. Alicia Savage at 893-4431.

The Wednesday Noon lecture series, sponsored by MSC's Women's Center, will begin on Sept. 12 with a program entitled "Employer Related Child Care." The featured speaker will be Lewis Goldstein, assistant director of employer relations, N.J. department of higher education.

This weekly series is offered free of charge, and takes place each Wednesday at 12 noon in Room 417 of the Student Center. Programs on assertiveness training and sexual harassment are scheduled for later this month.

Further information is available from the Women's Center at 893-5106.

Women's Center lecture series begins

"Before I left Montclair to go to graduate school in philosophy, Larry bought me a typewriter saying that it was the tool of the trade and so I needed one. (I was unable at the time to pay for a typewriter myself) I told Larry that I would pay him back as soon as I was able. He told me instead to buy a typewriter for a student in need someday."

Kevin Weinman, currently a philosophy major at MSC, described Stanton as an "extremely intelligent and compassionate person" who related to students in a clear and creative manner.

Following this, call campus police on extension 4111 giving all information pertinent to the conversation.

Evacuation of the building will be conducted by MSC Police. No one is to remain in a building against which a bomb threat has been made. They should move at least 300 feet away from the building and remain there until MSC Police announce that the building is safe and occupancy can be resumed.

Persons leaving the building should, where possible, note and report promptly to police any suspicious objects observed during their evacuation of the building.

WHAT EVERY STUDENT SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN LEASING A TELEPHONE AND LEASING A CHICKEN.

Yes, there are differences. And we think you should know what they are. Ask yourself these questions.

WHEN YOU LEASE A CHICKEN, DO YOU GET THREE MONTHS FREE DURING THE SUMMER?
Probably not. But when you lease your telephone from AT&T this fall, you won’t pay any lease charges next summer. You can use your phone at home, and bring it back to school in the fall.

DO LEASED CHICKENS COME IN A SELECTION OF COLORS AND STYLES?
No. Chickens don’t come in many colors. But the AT&T telephone you lease this fall comes in a variety of colors and three popular styles.

ARE LEASED CHICKENS REPAIRED FREE?
Don’t kid yourself. Repairing a chicken is a delicate process that requires the work of expensive professionals. However, in the off chance your AT&T leased telephone needs repairs, we’ll fix it absolutely free when you visit any of our AT&T Phone Centers.

ARE LEASED CHICKENS SHIPPED DIRECTLY TO YOU?
Ship a chicken? Don’t be silly. However, your AT&T leased telephone will be shipped directly to you after one call to 1-800-555-8111, or you can pick up your phone at any of our AT&T Phone Centers.

THE FINAL QUESTION: DOES IT COST THE SAME TO LEASE A CHICKEN AS TO LEASE A TELEPHONE THIS FALL?
Hardly. While we have no hard data on the exact cost of leasing a chicken, we can tell you with some certainty that the cost of leasing a telephone this fall is far less than you might think. The decision to lease a chicken or a telephone, of course, rests with you. But should you opt for the telephone, remember: you get three months free next summer, and you can take the phone home with you. There’s a choice of colors and styles, free repair, and we’ll ship you the phone or you can pick it up at any of our AT&T Phone Centers.

It doesn’t cost much either. And that’s something to crow about.

Benefits, not hazards

Little Falls has done it again. When it comes to complaining, they've cornered the market.

In a long-running battle with MSC and Wold Communications, Inc., a satellite communication company which operates an earth station on college property, Little Falls officials have protested the building of Wold's satellite antennas from the beginning.

They claim there are health hazards, worry about devalued property, and say that the dishes are an eyesore. They also contend that MSC receives little educational benefits from the facility.

The college and Wold disagree. MSC will receive $70,000 annually from Wold: $40,000 in cash and $30,000 for technical consultation and services for its broadcasting department. The cash goes into the college's overall educational budget. In addition, MSC also receives two paid internship positions with Wold.

That seems a substantial benefit to us. In these budget-conscious times $40,000 is a welcome addition.

Yet Little Falls states that since internships are provided to only two students each semester, the program and Wold's earth station do not benefit all of MSC.

Although the internship program only benefits a minority of students on campus directly, in the long run it does benefit MSC as a whole. The experience these students obtain through the Wold internships will give them a head start in the professional world. They will have an edge over other graduates who have not had similar experiences. This produces better graduates and improves MSC's reputation in the professional world as being a fine education institution.

If the residents of Little Falls are worried about their property being devalued because of Wold's earth station, they should think twice. How much more can property devalue with a railroad in their backyard and their property sitting on the edge of a college campus with dorms just down the block on Clover Rd. If people are concerned with devalued property why are two new homes being built close to the Wold facility?

The health hazard question can be put to rest. MSC has had independent tests run which found that there is no danger from the antenna. The Montclarion also conducted an independent test for radiation and found no radiation levels within two feet of the dishes and the radiation present was minimal. N.J.P. uses microwaves also, should their facility be torn down too?

Little Falls has no case: as in the past it seems they just like to make noise.

Training students to help students

By Margaret Tortorelli and Vicki Podell

Almost everyone who visits MSC wonder about the house located between the Student Center and Richardson Hall. They ask, "What little house is that?" That little house is the Drop-In Center. Here students volunteers serve MSC and the surrounding communities by providing information, referrals, and peer-counseling service 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The Center is looking for students who like to become staff member trainees. Students who come to the Drop-In Center to fill out a training application will be greeted by the staff member on duty. He/she will explain the high level of commitment involved both for training and as a regular staff member. The commitment involves manning the center, attending staff meetings and being on a committee. The student will then fill out an application and be given a tour of the building.

The initial training will start Sunday, Sept. 16. This is an all day workshop where the current staff members will explain the reflective style of listening and present some of the different types of calls received at the Drop-In Center. There will be opportunities to learn more about the Center and get acquainted with the other trainees and the staff.

An Underground Guide to MSC
Dear Incoming Student:

The Montclarion is proud to present to you our annual “Guide” to MSC. Everything you always wanted to know about the school, but didn’t know who to ask.

We’re sure by now you’ve been deluged with pamphlets, flyers and booklets, sat through endless hours of orientation lectures and endured your OWL guide’s tour, with each one telling where to go and what to do at MSC. We also have an inkling of what you’ve done with all that stuff. That’s why we provide this “Guide” as our service to all the new students of MSC.

We like to think that ours is the authoritative guide to MSC, authoritative because it has been built upon the foundation of three years experience with similar publications. We’ve also drawn upon our staff’s collective experiences of those early wandering days spent at MSC, when we didn’t have such a guide to turn to. In our quest toward making your first year at MSC easier, we have tried to compile a complete source of everything a new student needs to know about MSC, though we admit we may have missed a few things.

Contained in these pages is all the information you’ve probably already received, plus a bit more. All in one convenient package, readily available throughout the year. We’ve also included some things that they never told you during orientation, like where to go for great pizza, where to satisfy those midnight cravings for White Castle hamburgers and phone numbers of all the local movie theaters.

As a new student you may be wondering why we call this “An underground guide to MSC.” Well, first is because this is an edition of our magazine, From the Underground, and second because the magazine and the newspaper are produced underground, in the Student Center Annex (which strongly resembles a fallout shelter). Another reason is like we said, you’ll find things in here that you won’t find anywhere else.

Speaking of the Student Center Annex, it may seem a bit confusing at first, but just remember it’s a rectangle and if you walk around in circles long enough you’ll find what you’re looking for. Though if you don’t feel like walking in circles, just stop by The Montclarion office, Room 113, and ask us, we’re always in and always happy to help!

Just one piece of advice before I end: if at first you feel lost or alone or get bored with just coming to classes and going home again; get involved! There are over 60 student-run organizations at MSC which cater to almost every taste. If you’re interested in sports, becoming a radio DJ, helping to produce a concert, or perhaps in sharing your culture and heritage, there’s a group here for you.

Join an organization, they’re always looking for members, especially The Montclarion. Write for us and get between our sheets, because we keep you covered!

Sincerely,

Jim Benson
Editor-in-Chief
The Montclarion
I am pleased to have this chance to welcome back to campus last year's students and to extend my congratulations to our incoming first time students for having achieved a place in MSC's class of 1988.

MSC is a special place. If you will let it, it will challenge you to grow both personally and intellectually. It will offer you friendships that can last a lifetime, good times that will see you through the moments of crisis, and enough plain hard work to prove you have what it takes, and more.

Most of all, your education at MSC should be seen as a journey, not a destination. It shouldn't provide you with just a degree at the end of four years, but a way of seeing things, a method of thinking, and a sensitivity of spirit that you can call on for the rest of your life.

During the portion of this journey you will spend at MSC, we hope you will learn what you want, whether you major in English, or broadcasting, in computer science or music or business.

We know you will learn much more than you plan—both about what you believe and what you don't believe. You may even learn that you are not so sure about all the answers, because just when you think you have things together you will discover something that shows you don't. That's education.

And all the while you are learning, we at MSC will insist, and encourage you to believe, that your work needs to be measured by our high standards. We think that's what you expect of us.

We are glad you're here. We are delighted you're back. You are the important reason why MSC can claim to be the best. Please accept this warm welcome and my personal best wishes for a happy and productive academic year.

Who is running the country?

“The President has asked us to back his foreign policy. Bill, how can we back his foreign policy when we don’t know what the hell he is doing? . . . This is an act violating international law. It is an act of war.” —Sen. Barry Goldwater to CIA Director William Casey, April 9, 1984

“There is a lot of talk about not trying to overthrow the government, but the facts speak for themselves. Unless you’re trying to do this, why else would you mine their harbor?” —Sen Patrick Leahy

In early April, the press revealed that the Central Intelligence Agency was directly involved in mining Nicaraguan harbors. Senators Goldwater and Moynihan accused the Administration of concealing from their Senate committee the information about covert activities required by law. While members of Congress expressed outrage, the rest of us were left wondering “who is running the country: The President? The C.I.A.? The Pentagon?” Whatever became of government by and for The People? What happened to the open government we were promised after the Watergate break-ins and cover-ups?

From the invasion of Grenada to the not-so-secret war in Nicaragua, we see abuses of executive power and the exercise of an invisible government. This violates the American people’s right to know.

We believe that there can be little doubt that this executive misconduct constitutes “high crimes and misdemeanors.” Nor is Congress blameless in this matter. The press seems to know more about what is happening than does Congress. In its disinterest in the existence of both covert and overt war Congress has abdicated its constitutional responsibility to the American people.

The National Emergency Civil Liberties Committee demands an end to President Reagan’s dictatorial abuses of executive power, to covert activities and secrecy in government. And we say that it is time the people know who is running the country. If you agree, join with us to bring an end to the invisible government.

Safety tips from chief Jane Rich

Many students tend to "assume" that colleges are relatively "crimefree." Don't Assume. MSC isn't the most dangerous campus around, but it is certainly not the safest. Don't believe it's safe to leave a car unlocked, walk alone at night, or carry large sums of money in your wallet. Crimes do occur on campus, so know how to protect yourself and your property. Jane Rich, chief of campus police, suggests the following precautions:

In the Dorms:
1. Keep your door locked at all times—even if taking a short nap, visiting a friend's room down the hall, entertaining friends, or just sitting and studying.
2. Don't prop exterior or interior doors of dorms for easy personal return or for friends who are coming over later.
3. Always know who is knocking before you open your door.
4. Don't leave keys, checkbooks, credit cards, money, jewelry or other valuables lying about in your room.
5. Never lend your dorm key to anyone. Report lost or stolen keys immediately to housing personnel and campus police.
6. Participate in Operation ID. Our crime prevention officer Vicki Brown will assist you in engraving identifying numbers on your property.
7. Do not allow strangers to attend your parties.

In Your Car:
1. Drive with doors locked and windows rolled up.
2. Lock doors and trunk when parking.
3. Do not leave books, cameras, clothing, CB's, stereos or other valuables in your car.
4. Park in well lighted areas.
5. Visit campus police headquarters in Chapin Holland to learn about anti-theft devices for your car.
6. Do not park your car in the same place for long periods of time. If you will not use it during the week, be sure to move it at least once each day.
7. Be alert in parking lots to suspicious persons and activities. Call campus police at X4111 or use an emergency phone.
8. Visit campus police headquarters for further safety and security tips.
9. Arrange presentations on Self Protection.

When You're on Foot:
1. Don't walk alone on campus. If it's dark and you can't find friends to walk with, use the campus bus. When the bus is not running, call campus police at X5222 for an escort.
2. Women should dress for safety. Wear shoes and clothing that will permit you to run if you must.
3. Look around. Know who is near you. Walk in a purposeful manner.
4. Use well lighted walkways. Avoid shortcuts through isolated or dark areas.
5. Do not hitchhike. Men as well as women have been victimized while hitchhiking.

General Tips:
1. Mark your textbooks so that you can identify them if they are stolen.
2. Do not leave purses, textbooks, or other valuables on the shelf outside the bookstore.
3. Protect your checkbook and credit cards. Do not leave them unprotected and accessible to thieves.
4. Remember to take coats, books, jewelry and other property with you when you leave restrooms, classrooms, music practice rooms, labs, etc.
5. Report all suspicious activity immediately to campus police at X4111 or by emergency phones.
6. Ensure that you have companions in the dance studio, arts labs, music practice rooms, etc.
7. Be alert to the presence of intruders in shower rooms, and restrooms. Report their presence immediately to campus police at X4111 or by emergency phone.

Psychological Services
The ethical practice standards of the American Psychological Association are the guidelines used by the specially appointed staff at Psych Services. This assures that the contents of therapy sessions can not become part of a student’s record without their consent. An appointment should be made with the staff secretary for the first interview. Depending on staff availability, students can participate in selecting their psychologist, but may not choose a current professor. Psych Services is located behind Freeman Hall in the Gilbreath House. 893-5194.

Career Services
By planning, students can improve their chances of finding satisfying careers. To aid students with career planning, Career Services has resource materials to broaden your knowledge of careers and lists non-teaching job opportunities. Students are urged to begin using the office as early as freshman year. Open 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Career Services offers counseling, a career library, on-campus recruitment, employment referrals, group seminars, career development workshops, an alumni network, newsletter, resume critique, credential service, vocational training, graduate school information and a candidate retrieval system. Career Service is located in Room 104 of the Student Center Annex, 893-4426.

Co-Operative Education
Co-Operative Education enables students to explore a specific field and become proficient in a given professional area by actually working at a job related to their major. Students can also earn college credits while working.

- A minimum GPA of 2.25 and 45 credits earned (15 credits from MSC for transfer students) are required before applying for a Co-Op position.
- Co-Op offers academic and career counseling, employment referrals, hiring supervision and evaluation and career development seminars. Co-op is located in Room 104 of the Student Center Annex. 893-4426.

The Women’s Center
The Women’s Center (WC) aims to expand women’s freedom and self-reliance. Personal and career counseling is provided free of charge, as well as references to lawyers, doctors, and health and financial assistants.

Montclair has two major shopping centers. The first, Montclair Centre, is located at the junction of Bloomfield Avenue and Church Street. On Bloomfield and Church, grouped around the Claridge Movie Theatre, is a new shopping center called the Claridge Commons. At 480 Bloomfield Avenue is Quino’s Café, where you can sample different coffees. The Claridge Booksmith is also here; some books are sold at bargain prices—classical records are also offered. A gourmet shop, a sports shop, Computer Graphics and Natalie’s Shoes are all in this area. Natalie’s offers some cheaper shoes and handbags, but prices in the Commons are apt to be quite high.

Church Street also offers The Cat’s Pajamas, a novelty shop which offers Gumbys, galores and new-wave and Art Deco novelties.

Before stopping there, start at the beginning of Church Street where it meets Bloomfield, and grab a cone at Batchmaker’s. Homemade cookies and ice cream are sold there. Stop at Piccadilly Square, the town’s premier gift and novelty shop. Boynton greeting cards, stationery, party goods, stuffed animals, calendars, and Garfield items are all offered here. Walk up to the Foot Fair Salon and check out the ladies shoes—there are frequent sales. There is a small bakery nearby; you can take your snacks outside and eat under umbrella-shaded tables.

Although Church Street is mostly gift shops, there are some places to buy clothes. If you like international fashions, 481 Church Street has the Foreign Connection.

If Church Street is too quiet and overpriced for you, walk up Bloomfield Avenue. At 515 is Health Foods, which offers Tofutsi Frozen Yogurt, iced tea, and of course, vitamins. CVS Pharmacy is across the street, and offers everything you see in a supermarket—except food. Up the street are two record shops, Crazy Rhythms and The National Music Shop (361 and 570 Bloomfield Avenue). National has sheet music, instruments and Ticketron. Crazy Rhythms supplies most of your modern music needs, with cassettes, 45s and LPs. Next door is Yesterday’s Books and Records. Foreign language dictionaries and Shakespeare plays can be purchased here. Their hours are from noon to 4 p.m. and they are closed on Mondays. This is, alas, the state of most Montclair, but some shops are open Thursday nights until 8 p.m.

Across the street at 556 Bloomfield Avenue is J.G.L. Meyer’s 5 & 10 Dime Store. Here you can get many postal and school supplies, sewing needs and children’s toys. On South Park Street is an Indian Clothing shop, Intermezzo Deli and a fried chicken restaurant. At the YMCA across the street from the Park Diner is the bus stop where you can catch a 60 back to the college, a 64 a night, tapes are $3, to East Orange or a 34 to Newark, The New York bus also stops here.

That is Montclair Center in a nutshell, but one can go farther down to 416 Bloomfield Avenue and find Boombeang, a vintage clothing shop. Also located here are numerous antique shops and the Wellmont Theatre, another cinema triplex. The new kid on the block is From Rags To Records which sells second-hand records, and across the street is Madison’s, one of Montclair’s oldest shops. It offers books, stationary and all of your school and office needs.

Down Bloomfield Avenue toward the old train station at Lackawanna Plaza is another new shopping area, containing Susan’s Closet (more vintage clothes) and Montclair Home Video, amongst others.

Off the beaten path, on Glenridge Avenue is GeoGraphics, a map shop with travel books, etc., and the Complete Strategist, which offers all the games for Dungeons and Dragons fans.

Uptown, At Upper Montclair Centre (Bellevue Avenue and Valley Road), You will find the Bellevue Triplex Cinema. Located at 644 Valley Road is new store called Box Office Video. Here you can rent a VCR for $8 a night, tapes are $3.

Bellevue Avenue also offers Geissman-Kaplan, a men’s clothing shop, the Wits End gift shop and the Book Corner, which has a few sole items. Across the street from the book shop is a Carvel, where you can get a Mona Lisa ice cream cake or just snack on an ice cream sandwich. There is another small shopping area at Watchung Plaza, where there is a classical record shop, a book store, Fabricville and Flannery’s Corner—an arts supplies shop. All the stores in Montclair could never be mentioned here, but per shops, supermarkets, hardware stores also exist. FALL SPORTS SCHEDULE
SGA extends welcome to incoming students

By Dave Handal
SGA President

Welcome new students! First of all, I would like to say I extremely enjoyed meeting many of you during New Student Orientation, and I am looking forward to meeting and working with many more of you in the upcoming year!

I was very impressed by the energy and enthusiasm displayed by the new students. I know there was much information to be absorbed during the two days of orientation, but I know that the students who stuck it out will certainly benefit in the long run, and I would like to thank them.

Again, on behalf of the SGA, the executive board, the president’s cabinet and the legislature, I would like to welcome you to MSC, New Jersey’s #1 state college!

At the same time, I would like to welcome you all as members of the SGA. Each undergraduate at MSC pays an SGA fee. These collected monies total almost half a million dollars. This money is disbursed by the SGA through different organizations to bring you concerts, movies, trips, services, cultural events, plays and New Jersey’s leading collegiate newspaper and radio station. These are just a few of the many examples of programming and services the SGA has to offer.

I hope that throughout the year you will look into joining the SGA or one of its 85 organizations. The SGA and its organizations have plenty to offer you. At the same time, we realize you have even more to offer us. So get involved now and make your college experience a memorable and rewarding one!

Please feel free to stop at the SGA office anytime for help, information or just to say “Hi!”

Fun and fantasy in bloom at Renaissance Festival

By Michelle A. Congello

Since Father Time has not yet revealed the mystery of time travel, nor have any of the numerous theories on the subject been consummated, we are, alas bound to the present. Being unable to thrust ourselves into futurity, we create our hopes and fears in the form of science fiction. Also realizing that we are powerless against the paddocks on the tightly sealed book of yesterday, we recreate it in the form of theater, literature and the New York State Renaissance Festival.

Good morning, welcome to the Shire of Sterling fair gentles, Hail and well met! Immediately upon entrance you will be greeted by lusty wenches who will try either to sell their wares to the lords and lads, or convince the ladies that theirs is “an honest profession.” Before actually entering the gates to Queen Winifred’s festival, the ruthless, coldblooded sheriff issues a word of warning against a cutthroat villain who lives in the far reaches of the forest—he goes by the name Robin Hood. If you should spot Robin or one of his band, you had better give notice of it either to the sheriff or one of Her Majesty’s Loyal Guards; but not to worry, there is room on the shelf next to the many heads of John the Baptist. The illustrious English explorer, Sir Walter Raleigh, summed it up well when he addressed the crowd saying, “One must not drink...one must be drunk. One must not simply nibble...one must be...one must gorge. And most importantly, one must not love...one must make love and do it with pride as a true Englishman does! Huzzah!”

During the morning address, Queen Winifred proclaims, “There will be a joust.” This is the highlight of the day, as well as its end.

If you have ever wondered what it is like to enter a dream world, the New York State Renaissance Festival is the place to fulfill your fantasies.

Naturally, complete authenticity is impossible because twentieth century man attends the fair, and also because it is a revenue-seeking organization. True authenticity, with regard to recreation, is a true rarity. It is not so much the “major” events of the day that hurl you willingly back into the latter stages of the Renaissance, such as the awe-inspiring state-liness of Her Majesty’s Procession, Robin Hood’s courage and chivalry, Chaucer’s Canterbury Tales, the meticulous staging of all the sword fights, the living chase game, the dancers, the madrigal singers, the witches and warlocks, the mimes, Merlin’s magic, the guards’ austerity, the wenches’ willingness and the grandness of the knights on horseback jouusting toward each other, their lances held high with pride.

Of course all these aspects are of paramount importance in order to create the overall ambiance of the fair, but it is also the seemingly “little” things that make this festival as genuine as possible.

It is a venture back to a time when maidens tied favors on the arms of their enamoured ones, as opposed to branding them by sucking on their necks; when a “masterpiece” was not synonymous with colored splatters of paint on a black canvas. It was a time of great artistic achievement and intellectual enthusiasm. During this period, romance was a science rather than something “you will grow out of once you have been married for two years,” and every-day language was a sincere form of art, rather than simply a tool...

For those who plan to attend the closing weekend of the fair, you are in luck. The good Lord Shakespeare, being the humble poet and playwright he is, has consented to allow his newest comedy, Twelfth-Night; Or, What You Will, be performed at the Globe Theatre. An Equity production of Shakespeare’s enchanting comedy is brilliantly executed on the small, barren stage encompassed by the tall timbers of the Shire of Sterling. The environmental situation of the stage affords the audience the privilege of observing the actors’ expressions as they most likely never have before. The skillful denouement of the play is combined with the curtain call, thus softening the hard hand of reality; the separation between fantasy and factuality is not as conspicuous. It makes one feel as though he or she has just witnessed the marriage of two old and dear friends. To go to the Renaissance Festival and not experience Twelfth-Night; Or, What You Will, is like going to Europe and not seeing any of the wonderous sights it has to offer.

Which-ever road you decide to meander down on this sixty-five acre hamlet, you will encounter appropriations, belly dancers, fortune tellers, mud men, fair maidens, magicians and jugglers. If you are still convinced that the sun revolves around the earth, the famed Italian scientist, astronomer and philosopher, Galileo Galilei, will share with you his observations, experiments and ultimate theories on the subject of the sun’s relationship to the earth. Make sure you do not let the Lord Shakespeare hear you reciting any of his prose or poetry—royalty fees did exist then! Chimes, flutes, horns and bagpipes fill the air as you stroll around the beauteous grounds, across the kissing bridge and mount yourself on a horse-drawn carriage waiting to escort you to the joust.

Although our flesh is tethered to this earth and this epoch, our mind is limitless, and this is our imagination. The Renaissance Festival simply offers you a foundation; it is from there that your chainless mind can soar, fully accepting the unfortunate fact that it must eventually land.

Lord Shakespeare’s Puck, or if you will, Robin Goodfellow (A Midsummer Night’s Dream), epitomized this disembarkment well in his final monologue:

If we shadows have offended, Think but this (and all is mended.)
That you have but slumber’d here. While these visions did appear.
And this weak and idle theme,
Now to ‘scape the serpent’s tongue,
We will make amends, ere long:
Else the Puck a liar call.
So, good night unto you all.
Give me your hands, if we be friends, And Robin shall restore amends.

The New York State Renaissance Festival will end its seventh successful season on Sept. 9, so you still have the opportunity to experience a world of “Whare all the fair truly is a stage!”

Tickets are available at the gate. For more information call (914) 351-5171.

By S.C. Wood

The Girl on the Via Flaminia is too snappy a title for this plodding melodrama. Alfred Hayes' story of a token "good girl" who fakes a marriage with an American soldier in order to quell her hunger pains is supposed to elicit our horror over the condition of women during the American occupation of Italy. But this wartime tragedy wastes its breath philosophizing in cliches about women, war, and life. The play drains the audience of energy rather than evoking pity or terror; the numb bitterness of Lisa anaesthetizes one with its antiseptic, speechless gloom.

An exterior of dull apathy thinly covers Lisa's disgust with her situation; she merely goes through the motions of giving herself to the American: even her carriage becomes a sort of sluggish mechanical crawl. Unfortunately, her character is barely developed beyond its Mechanical crawl. Unfortunately, her character is barely developed beyond an exhausted revulsion. The few scenes which break into conflict barely penetrate her exterior. Ironically it is Robert, the supposedly callous American soldier, who elicits some sympathy through his awkward attempts at amiability. But even he, like most of the other characters, is a caricature, a pasteboard all-American boy who hardly moves beyond his circumscribed role as an unseeing intruder. It seems unreal that he does not "divorce" his digusted and bitter mate. It seems unreal that he does not overwhelm his digusted and bitter mate. His attempts to lift her spirits are illogical and clumsy. His attempts to lift her spirits are illogical and clumsy.

Robert and Ugo excited any sympathy at all, for their unsuccessful efforts at amiability were easy to identify with. This feeling of sympathy for the men moves one away from taking the women's positions seriously; after all, the play's tragic theme is that of an honorable woman selling her body to escape starvation. Instead, the snappy hotel proprietress, Adele Pulcini, illogically orders her husband to fetch coffee at a traumatic moment. This causes puzzled laughter rather than effective comic relief, while Lisa's dull monotone moodiness loses the audience's sympathy and creates a gap between her and the audience. Perhaps if she had shocked the spectators by brutally murdering the congenial American and left the scene with a quiet smile, it might have added some spice to this depressing piece of writing.

The production was lightly salted with such trite statements as: "stealing is fashionable now; with a gun, one is a little more equal." Elicited bitterly, such remarks have the effect of uttering one pseudo-comic outraged outburst. For this quietly dying flop. Paula Goldberg expressed Lisa's sickly disgust through an effectively nauseated socratic limp. Kernan Bell as Robert is a good foil. He sways between the discomfort of a foreigner amid hostile Italians, and naive affability toward a girl who so obviously despises him. The other actors function as fine trimmings, bright garnishes laid on an empty plate. Jillian Armennante's ever-expressive face goes to waste on the trite dialogue; her most effective spots are those in which she is allowed to mourn, brood or worry in silence. Gary A. Mink's character, the voluble Bolognini, might have been built into some comic stature, but he is only permitted one pseudo-comic outraged outburst.

The script offers the trials of the actors no compensation: Thom Sweeney's energetic spoutings become merely wearisome cliches to the listener. The script is not an out-an-out bomb: it falls quietly, slumping like a piece of neglected drapery. A real curtain in the Studio Theatre would have been welcome to add a silent sigh of finality to this piece of wartime weariness.

The sad story is that MSC's aspiring actors must waste their energies on a second-rate script and a sadly disintegrating story. The occupation of Italy could also have been done justice by a more controversial script.

The play runs Sept. 6-8 at 8:30 p.m. with a matinee at 2:15 on Sept. 7, at the Studio Theatre.

Casale bounces back to USFL's Generals

a Bills' defender when Casale and his receiver got their signals crossed. He did not have another attempted pass the rest of the game as the Bears were content to run out the clock on a 36-7 romp.

Despite his performance, he said the decision that he would be cut was already made before that game. After Fuller was injured, Ditka made his decision to go for an experienced back-up, Casale said.

In the game against the Bills, he played before a sellout crowd at the new dome stadium in Indianapolis. However, the television exposure and the large crowd didn't affect his performance and the only difference Casale could see between there and at playing at MSC Sprague field "is your playing in front of 75,000 people instead of 2,000."

Casale also found playing with NFL stars, like Walter Payton, no different than the NCAA Division III competition he faced. "It was pretty sharp going up against people you have heard so much about, but they are the same as you and I."

When he was waived by the Bears on the final day, he described it as "a weird feeling. It felt like my heart fell into my stomach. In a way, I wish I had been cut by the Bears earlier because then I would have had more time to get back into the real world."

"I am thankful I had the opportunity to try out. I was there and that's more than most can say," he commented.

Although he would still like to someday play in the NFL, Casale learned a lesson in training camp. He discovered that football is an occupation just like any other job and an important factor is money. "When I went into camp, I just wanted to play football. However, I learned the number one goal of pro players is to make money. If I can make more money in the USFL than in NFL, I will play in the USFL because money is it."

If and when Casale signs with the Generals he will be practicing with his coaches at Giants Stadium this fall, until training camp officially opens in January. He will put the past behind him and concentrate on the future. "Now, my goal is to make it in the USFL." With his confidence and determination even stronger than before Casale should be able to make a living in professional football.

The rally is being held to build support for the Indians home opener against archrival East Stroudsburg University on Saturday, Sept. 15, at 8 p.m. on Sprague Field. The MSC cheerleaders, the marching band and the entire football team will be on hand to psych up the crowd. Stop by and show your MSC spirit.

Women’s basketball coach, named

Jill Jeffrey, former MSC standout guard, is the new head coach of the women’s basketball team. Jeffrey replaces Micki Cirello, who served as coach for one year.

During Jeffrey’s four years as a starter, MSC compiled a 90-22 record. She was twice named to the second team NJIAAW All-Star squad.

Jeffrey, a 1980 MSC graduate, was an All-American football player and played baseball for two seasons.

New Assistant football and baseball coach

MSC alumna, Terrance Porter has been named the full-time assistant football and baseball coach.

Porter, a 1982 graduate, is a former professional football player. Upon graduation, he played in both the Canadian Football League and most recently with the Jacksonville franchise of the USFL. A pre-season injury this past spring to his elbow ended his playing career. He was also assistant football coach for MSC in 1983.

During his college days at MSC, Porter was an All-American football player and played baseball for two seasons.

intensity and they are much more aggressive coming into camp this year,” explained Daly. “Sure we have young kids, but they are picking up the keys to playing defense and many are very talented. I feel confident in them,” stated Daly.

Defensive coordinator McKinley Boston, who has been with the Indians for 11 seasons now, was impressed by many of the freshmen on the team this season. At inside linebacker, Donnie Roman, has been very impressive and in the secondary freshman Dexter Strickland at cornerback, and Leander Knight at safety have been making progress. If they continue the way they have been preforming, they will be solid playing time this season. “I was very impressed with Bobby (Daly) and the way his knee has held up all through camp,” stated Boston.

“Our philosophy at MSC is to bend but not break. I don’t expect our club to give up the cheap touchdown. If our opponent scores on us I want them to have used 13 or 14 plays to do it,” explained Boston.

MSC’s experienced secondary, should be able stop the opponent’s long pass. Curtis Gaines, Mark Ortman, and Daly are a tight seal in the secondary and the Indians hope no holes will open in it.

The defensive line is bringing back three experienced players that will be able to get the job done. They are Bob Gross, Ed Poveromo, and Pete Guzzi. “The only pressure I feel is what I have put upon myself, to produce twice as hard,” Guzzi commented.

Overall, better athletes with experience and intelligence will mold a solid defense. The MSC Indians are getting ready for an intense game against Wagner, Saturday night. Last year MSC battled to a 20-20 tie with Wagner for the second straight year. This time the players have hopefully built enough intensity to walk away with the win.

Casale waived by Bears but...

Generals pick him up the day he is cut

By John Connolly

Mark Casale, MSC's recordbreaking quarterback of a year ago, was waived during the NFL's final cut day by the Chicago Bears. However, his agent is currently negotiating a three year contract with the USFL's New Jersey Generals.

After being released by the Bears on "Black Monday," Aug. 27, Casale arrived at his home in Union and a few hours later the Generals, hearing of his release, called to speak with the leading passer in New Jersey collegiate history. He will most likely sign with them in the next week.

Casale is no stranger to the Generals, he was selected by them in the USFL draft in January. He decided to pass up the Generals' offer, to take a shot at the NFL.

Casale's feelings are mixed about being picked up by the Generals. "I was glad the Generals called because I was feeling depressed about being cut, but I have mixed emotions. I really would have liked to stay in Chicago and I feel I really should still be there."

The 6-foot-3, 225 pound play caller was competing against starter Jim McMahon and back-ups Steve Fuller and Bob Avalini for the three spots on the Chicago team. However, Fuller was injured in the pre-season and Head Coach Mike Ditka, who is in the final year of his contract, waived Casale because he wanted an experienced NFL quarterback to be the second back-up while Fuller is out, according to Casale. "Ditka felt I could not do the job right away."

Casale also feels his chances of making the team would have been better if Fuller was not injured. "If Fuller was healthy, it may have been a different story," he said, believing he could have beat out Avalini for the third quarterback spot. "The Bears have since picked a player with NFL experience, Rusty Lisch, to back-up with the St. Louis Cardinals."

"I had a great training camp and I felt I had one of the strongest arms there. I was able to do everything, but I lacked experience."

There is no way anyone can tell me that McMahon, Fuller, Avalini or Lisch is better than I am. The only thing I lack is experience. I know I am as good as they are and that's the way I have to approach it," he asserted.

Casale had a less than stunning debut on national television. He replaced the fourth quarterback against the Buffalo Bills on Aug. 26, the day before final cuts. His first pass was intercepted by Steve Corley and returned for a touchdown. Casale's next pass was also intercepted by Corley and returned for another score. "Offensively we will lack experience because of the young kids we have, but they are skilled and enthusiastic individuals that are excited about the season," commented Giacola. A few of the returning veterans will be running backs Archie Peterson, who saw time when Bobby Vannoy was injured last season, and Pat Luzi, who was the backup to Jerry Wassell, MVP of last years Pride Bowl. The quarterback duties will be handled by Walter Briggs. Briggs was Mark Casale's backup. Casale was drafted by the Chicago Bears (NFL). "Walter is young, but he has been working very hard and will show his leadership on the field," explained Charlie Cocuzza, MSC's offensive coordinator. Briggs is a sophomore who possesses a rife-like arm. "I see our leadership on offense, coming from the returning veterans."

Friction will be to establish a good balance between the run and pass and give the players equal time. MSC's front line must be ready, and if they have any doubts they will be settled by Saturday.

Defensively, the Indians' leadership will come from Bob Daly, co-captain and three year member of the squad. "I feel the whole team has alot more at stake..."

Despite losing 18 players to graduation, such as quarterback Mark Casale and tackle Mike DeTroya, head coach Rick Giacola has a positive outlook for the upcoming football season. Giacola compiled a 7-2-1 record last year in his rookie season as a head coach.

According to Giacola, the only major change that has taken place is the organization of the squad. "I was more prepared for such things as recruiting and the field operations, he explained. "As far as football, things have stayed the same." Giacola is expecting a lot of improvement from the kicking game. Joe Perri, a third year veteran, will handle the extra point and kickoff duties, and Tony Sweet, the returning tight end, will most likely be the MSC punter.

"Offensively we will lack experience because of the young kids we have, but they are skilled and enthusiastic individuals that are excited about the season," commented Giacola. A few of the returning veterans will be running backs Archie Peterson, who saw time when Bobby Vannoy was injured last season, and Pat Luzi, who was the backup to Jerry Wassell, MVP of last years Pride Bowl. "Walter is young, but he has been working very hard and will show his leadership on the field," explained Charlie Cocuzza, MSC's offensive coordinator. Briggs is a sophomore who possesses a rife-like arm. "I see our leadership on offense, coming from the returning veterans."

Equally important will be the development of the offensive line, which will be led by captains Bob Knudson and Charlie Cocuzza. "We made mistakes in our inner squad scrimmage, but the enthusiasm and team spirit held up throughout it," added Giacola. One of Cocuzza's objectives for the season will be to establish a good balance between the run and pass and give the players equal time. MSC's front line must be ready, and if they have any doubts they will be settled by Saturday.

MSC vs. Bucknell

By "The Jet"

It was a long, cramped, three and a half hour ride going to Bucknell University in Pennsylvania and coming back was just as long, as well. There was more time spent on the bus, than at the playing site, but the long ride and scrimmage that was played Saturday, proved to be a successful trek. Bucknell University is an NCAA division I-AA football club, but that didn't make a difference for the Indians. After Bucknell scored first on 10 plays, the Indians countered back immediately when Archie Peterson broke to the outside for a 76 yard touchdown run on the first play of the drive, but he nearly did it again in the fourth quarter when he rambled 57 yards to the Bucknell 26 yard line, which eventually led to another MSC score.

The Indians did fall to the Bisons by an unofficial score of 38-31, but it was a loss that the team together, as well as giving the players a chance to prove themselves to the coaching staff. Each player was given the chance to play. For the veterans it was preparation for the season, and for the rookies it was experience that will help them in the future.

Joe Perri, MSC's place kicker, proved to be ready for action. Last year he had a fair season overall, but in the scrimmage he produced two extra points out of two attempts and had a 36 yard field goal. Perri appears to be ready for the season and his contributions will be a vital part of the game.

Defensively, the Indians had their problems, but as the game went on the problems seemed to iron themselves out. Co-captain Bob Daly and Steve Scioscia both had seven tackles and four assisted tackles and one sack for the Indians. Tackle Pete Guzzi had two tackles and two assisted tackles, but suffered a dislocated finger while hunting down a Bison quarterback for a sack. Guzzi continued to play in the game and will hopefully be ready for Wagner.

There definitely seems to be alot of integrity, aggression, enthusiasm, and plain old guts connected with this squad.
